There is no requirement to routinely report to the USPTO office when a participant has changed their official duty station to the primary alternate worksite. The change in official duty station may impact a participant's pay and benefits because locality pay is based on

OGC TELEWORK PROGRAM

March 2022

the location of the official duty station. See Sections IV.A.2, IV.B.1, and IV.C.2 for additional information on changing the official duty station.

Table 1 provides an overview of implications for regular and recurring reporting requirements to the USPTO office, employee pay and benefits, and travel expenses associated with changing the official duty station.

Table 1: Official Duty Station Implications

Key Elements	Teleworking < 50 Miles from Alexandria, VA		Teleworking > 50 Miles from Alexandria, VA
	Routine: 5 days per week (Hoteling)	Remote: 50-Mile	Routine: 5 days per week (Hoteling)	Remote: TEAP
USPTO Program Reference	Routine: 5 days per week (Hoteling)	Remote: 50-Mile	Routine: 5 days per week (Hoteling)	Remote: TEAP
Official Worksite & Duty Station	USPTO Office	Primary Alternate Worksite	USPTO Office	Primary Alternate Worksite
Pay & Benefits	Locality Pay of USPTO Office	Locality Pay for City of Primary Alternate Worksite	Locality Pay of USPTO Office	Locality Pay for City of Primary Alternate Worksite
Regular and Recurring Reporting Requirement	Two Times per Bi-week	None	Two Times per Bi-week	None
Travel for Voluntary Trips to USPTO Office or for Reporting Requirement	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office
Travel for Mandatory Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office	For bargaining unit employees, employee Pays for the first Trip up to 5 Days, USPTO Pays thereafter. Non-bargaining unit employees: TBD.

- Process for Changing the Official Duty Station. A remote telework participant will select one of two program options that permit a change of their official duty station, depending on the location of the approved primary alternate worksite. If the participant lives within a 50 mile radius of the USPTO office, they will select the 50-mile program option and follow the procedures in Section IV.B.1. If the participant lives outside of a 50 mile radius from the USPTO office, they will select the TEAP program option and follow the procedures in Section IV.C. The 50 miles is a point-to-point straight line distance from 600 Dulany Street,

OGC TELEWORK PROGRAM

March 2022

Alexandria, VA, 22314.

When changing the official duty station, participants are responsible for maintaining accurate human resource information as outlined in the Employee Human Resources Records Responsibilities document located on the Telework Resources website and at Appendix C.

3. Offices. Remote telework participants will not have an assigned office at the USPTO office and may use hoteling space, if available, when working at the USPTO office.
4. Part Time Employees. Part time employees who encumber a position eligible for remote telework, may telework 100 percent of their part time work schedule. Part time employees should consult guidelines on part time work schedules in the applicable collective bargaining agreement, labor contract, or other union agreements related to part time work.

B. Remote Telework Participants Working within 50 miles of the USPTO Office⁸

1. Official Duty Station Changes. Participants who live within a 50-mile radius⁹ of the USPTO office may request to change their official duty station to their approved primary alternate worksite (e.g., home address), which will be designated as their official worksite. A change in the participant's official duty station eliminates the requirement to report to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week and changes the participant's pay (including locality pay) to the location of the primary alternate worksite, which may be a different locality pay than the USPTO office. Information on locality pay is available by checking the relevant pay tables found at the Office of Personnel Management's website. Questions about other potential changes to pay and benefits (e.g., health and life insurance, thrift savings plan, etc.) may be directed to the OHR at (571) 272-6000 or HumanResources_USPTO@uspto.gov.

All changes to duty station are voluntary and for the convenience of the participant. See participant responsibilities in Section IV.A.2. All changes to the official duty station must be pre-approved by the USPTO. If a participant's primary alternate worksite (e.g., home address) is within a 50-mile radius of the Alexandria office, a 50-mile radius telework program option may be selected. The participant's supervisor approves the request in ETIS and initiates a PAR to change the duty station in the designated USPTO human resources system.

⁸ This category of remote telework is sometimes referred to as the "50-Mile Program".

⁹ The 50-mile radius is determined by ETIS.

OGC TELEWORK PROGRAM

March 2022

Generally, participants should request approval three weeks in advance of any change in the official duty station or move. This will provide the supervisor and OHR with sufficient time to process and apply an effective date for the duty station change. The USPTO will not pay for moving costs associated with changes in official duty station.

2. Working at the USPTO Office. Participants may occasionally voluntarily work at the USPTO office. Participants working at the USPTO office are encouraged to reserve hoteling space to perform their official duties. Participants may also be required to occasionally report to the USPTO office to address business needs and office coverage for non-portable work activities, attend training, meetings, or other team-, Office-, or Business Unit-wide events.
3. Travel Expenses and Travel Time. When a participant's official worksite is their home address or other approved alternate worksite within a 50-mile radius of the USPTO office, they will not be reimbursed for any travel or related expenses for commuting between their official worksite and the USPTO office regardless of whether the trips are mandatory or voluntary. All such trips, regardless of the location of the official worksite, will not be on duty time.

C. TEAP Option for Remote Participants Working more than 50 miles from the USPTO Office¹⁰

1. Telework Enhancement Act Program (TEAP). TEAP allows participants teleworking five days per week whose position is TEAP eligible and who live greater than 50 miles from the USPTO office to decide, for their own convenience, to change their duty station to an approved telework location in the local commuting area of the city in which they live, if their position is designated as TEAP eligible. See participant responsibilities outlined Section IV.A.3. The participant must travel to the USPTO office for mandatory trips when directed by the Office, and TEAP permits the participant to waive their right to travel expenses for a reasonable number of mandatory trips to the office (5 U.S.C. § 5711(f); 5 U.S.C. § 5711(g)). Bargaining unit employees eligible for and participating in TEAP are responsible for paying for one mandatory trip per fiscal year for up to a maximum of five calendar days, which will be the first trip of the fiscal year. Participants who telework five days per week and who wish to participate in TEAP should refer to the TEAP Operating Procedures for program specifics.
2. TEAP Operating Procedures. The USPTO maintains a TEAP with operating procedures applicable to all USPTO employees. Employees who enroll in TEAP will abide by TEAP Operating Procedures. Highlights of certain aspects of TEAP are outlined below. The information contained herein is not intended to substitute or supersede the TEAP Operating Procedures.

¹⁰ This category of remote telework option is referred to as TEAP.

OGC TELEWORK PROGRAM

March 2022

- a. TEAP Eligibility.¹¹ All telework participants who encumber positions eligible for TEAP may apply to TEAP if they meet the TEAP eligibility requirements (e.g., changing the official duty station, waiving travel reimbursements, etc.). Generally, participants should be approved for TEAP three weeks in advance of any change in the official duty station or move.
- b. TEAP Application and Approval. If a participant's primary alternate worksite (e.g., home address) is outside of a 50-mile radius of the Alexandria office, a TEAP telework program option may be selected. The participant's supervisor approves the request in ETIS and initiates a PAR to change the duty station in the designated USPTO human resources system.
- c. TEAP Pay and Benefits. Participation in TEAP may impact the participant's pay, due to locality pay differences from the USPTO office. Information on locality pay is available by checking the relevant pay tables found at the Office of Personnel Management's website. The TEAP Operating Procedures outline other potential changes to benefits (e.g., health and life insurance, thrift savings plan, etc.) and state taxes. Questions about pay and benefits may be directed to the OHR at (571) 272-6000 or HumanResources_USPTO@uspto.gov.
- d. TEAP Relocation Expenses. Participation in TEAP is voluntary. No employee relocation expenses will be paid to participants.
- e. TEAP Moves and Withdrawal. A participant must use ETIS to notify their immediate supervisor and the Telework Program coordinator of all moves to a different primary alternate worksite (official worksite) or withdrawal from the program. Generally, participants should request approval three weeks in advance of any change in the official duty station or move. This will provide the supervisor and OHR with sufficient time to process and apply an effective date for the duty station change. The USPTO will not pay for moving costs associated with changes in official duty station. See the TEAP Operating Procedures for specific instructions.
- f. TEAP Mandatory Trips. The TEAP Operating Procedures outline procedures and requirements for mandatory trips. For bargaining unit employees¹², TEAP participants will incur one mandatory trip up to a maximum of five calendar days that is participant

¹¹ At the inception of this agreement, no OGC positions are designated as TEAP-eligible, but they may be in the future.

¹² The number of trips at employee expense for nonbargaining unit employees is yet to be determined.

OGC TELEWORK PROGRAM

March 2022

paid per fiscal year and all trips beyond that number will be paid by the Agency. OGC will endeavor to combine reasons for trips and limit the number of trips per year to a reasonable number, in line with the participant's job duties. The participant's time for travel will be compensated based on the most efficient manner of travel as defined by Federal travel regulations.

- g. TEAP Voluntary Trips. Trips to the USPTO office are defined as voluntary when they are discretionary on the part of the participant and visitation/travel is not required by OGC. No travel expenses or travel time will be provided for voluntary trips. Voluntary trips to the USPTO office do not count towards the maximum number of mandatory trips. See TEAP Operating Procedures for further guidance on voluntary trips.

V. Temporary Medical Exception

- A. Description of Program. Management will consider requests from employees to work from home or another alternate worksite based on a serious temporary or short-term medical need of the employee or a family member which would:
 - 1. Significantly impair or preclude the employee from working at (or traveling to) the USPTO office;
 - 2. Ordinarily require the employee to use leave to be away from the USPTO office without the ability to telework; and
 - 3. Allow the employee to work from the alternate work site.
- B. Flexibility: In addition to the flexibility of where to work, the employee may request additional telework days, up to and including teleworking five days per week and specific hours of work.
- C. Application. The request may be from a person not eligible to telework (based on position eligibility), or from a current teleworker to expand or change the number of days of telework or change their telework program option. If the request is from an employee whose position is not normally eligible to telework and is not covered by an existing telework agreement, the employee must sign a telework agreement. Eligibility requirements based on position may be waived because the eligibility for the temporary medical exception is based upon specific need.
- D. Approval. Requests under these circumstances (known as a Temporary Medical Exception) must be submitted to the employee's immediate supervisor (or designee) as soon as the need for the temporary medical exception is known by the employee. The supervisor or designee will promptly forward the request with any comments (to include their proposal for the terms of the medical telework) to the Business Unit Head or Deputy Business Unit Head or designee. Decisions to grant or deny requests will be made by the Business Unit Head, Deputy, or designee and communicated to the employee in writing promptly, generally within one or two weeks, and taking into consideration the date on which the employee requests to begin telework. The reason(s) for any denial will be included in the response.

OGC TELEWORK PROGRAM

March 2022

In determining whether to approve a request under this section, the supervisor must consider:

1. The work available for the employee to perform from a remote location as well as the ability to successfully complete assigned tasks in accordance with the employee's performance appraisal plan;
2. Whether or not the employee will have appropriate remote access to USPTO IT systems and the likelihood that the employee can be successful in working remotely;
3. The employee's ability to work without the disruption of providing childcare, eldercare, or medical needs (the employee may mid-day flex, if on an appropriate work schedule, to accomplish these activities); and
4. The impact of the employee's absence from the USPTO office on other employees as well as the ability of OGC to meet its business needs.

Approval to telework under this exception will be up to the duration of the medical need, depending on the work available to be performed at the approved alternate work site. In all instances, the telework granted pursuant to this medical exception may not exceed 4 months without renewed approval. However, the approval may be reviewed at any time and may be extended, adjusted, or revoked: a.) if the medical circumstances have changed; or b.) when participation is based on the medical needs of a family member and business unit needs have changed significantly). Approval of these requests for a temporary medical exception is separate and independent of the Agency's reasonable accommodation process and is not considered evidence of the Agency perceiving or regarding an employee as disabled under the Rehabilitation Act. Nothing in this section precludes or limits the ability of employees to request a reasonable accommodation nor limits the ability of supervisors to refer employees to the Reasonable Accommodation Program Office/OEEOD for assistance when appropriate.

- E. Documentation. Upon request, employees must submit medical documentation) from a health care provider supporting the request for a temporary medical exception.

OGC TELEWORK PROGRAM

March 2022

1. The statement or documentation will:
 - a. State the general nature of the medical need and why the employee should be excused from working at the USPTO office (treatment of the employee or a family member outside of the commuting area will satisfy this requirement).
 - b. Confirm that the employee can perform work.
 - c. Include either of the following:
 - i. If the employee has the medical condition—that the employee is fit for duty at the alternate work site, including any limitations that may apply; or,
 - ii. If a family member has the medical condition—
 - (A) state that the family member will not require constant attention, or
 - (B) the employee may indicate on the application that other people will provide care when the employee is working.
 - d. The expected duration of the need based on the medical condition.
2. The employee will not be required to reveal any details about the medical condition other than the general nature of the condition as set out in the medical documentation described in Section V.E.1., and OGC may not require the employee or family member to sign a release for their medical information.
3. OGC will treat as confidential any medical information given by an employee in support of the medical telework request, and may only disclose such information subject to its Privacy Act and Rehabilitation Act obligations for work-related reasons on a need to know basis.
4. The purpose of the health care provider's statement and/or documentation is to verify the existence of the medical reason asserted in the temporary medical request, that the employee could not reasonably be expected to work at the USPTO office or that working from an alternate worksite would help alleviate the medical condition or assist with recuperation, and that the employee is fit for duty at the alternate location. OGC will not substitute its own judgment for the medical judgment of the health care provider with respect to the validity of the medical condition, its duration, or how medical telework will alleviate the condition or help the employee (or family member) to recuperate (so long as there are sufficient details in the statement for OGC to understand the basis for the recommendations).

OGC TELEWORK PROGRAM

March 2022

- F. Work Performed. Because of the added flexibility in terms of eligibility, scheduling and/or number of telework days and hours, the participant and the supervisor will discuss the work to be done, the hours to be worked (including both the number of hours per day and the time of these hours), and any changes in circumstances affecting the arrangement. The terms of the medical telework will be documented in writing and signed by the employee and supervisor or exchanged via email.

OGC TELEWORK PROGRAM

March 2022

Safety Guidelines for the Alternate Worksite(s)

Employees may use the following guidelines to assist them in a review of the overall safety and adequacy of their alternate worksite. The following are only recommendations, and do not encompass every situation that may be encountered. Employees are encouraged to obtain professional assistance with issues concerning appropriate electrical service and circuit capacity for residential worksites.

1. Develop and practice a fire evacuation plan for use in the event of an emergency.
2. Check your smoke detectors regularly and replace any batteries as needed.
3. Have a working fire extinguisher conveniently located at your alternate worksite (in the room where you work or appropriately located to help with evacuation), and check the charge regularly.
4. Computers are heavy. Place them on sturdy, level, well-maintained furniture.
5. Choose office chairs that provide good supporting backrests and allow adjustments to fit you comfortably.
6. Locate your computer to eliminate noticeable glare from windows and lighting. Place the computer monitor at a height that is comfortable and does not produce neck or back strain. Locate computer keyboards at heights that do not cause wrist strain or place the keyboard on an adjustable surface.
7. Install sufficient lighting in locations to reduce glare on the work surface.
8. Arrange file cabinets so that opened drawers do not block ingress and egress.
9. Be sure to leave space for ingress and egress, where possible, to reduce tripping hazards.
10. Be sure electrical equipment is connected to grounded outlets.
11. Avoid fire hazards by not overloading electrical circuits.
12. Inspect and repair carpeting with frayed edges or loose seams. Avoid using throw rugs that can cause triggering hazards in your workspace.
13. Locate computers, phones, and other electrical equipment in a manner that keeps power cords out of walkways.
14. Lock (CTRL+ALT+DEL) computers after the workday is over.
15. Keep your workspace clean and avoid clutter which can cause fire and tripping hazards.
16. Use proper lifting techniques when moving or lifting heavy equipment and furniture.
17. Report accidents and injuries immediately to your supervisor.

OGC TELEWORK PROGRAM

March 2022

ETIS Employee Information and Certification Language

The document summarizes the various conditions, understandings, and certifications required by an employee who applies for and enrolls into a USPTO telework program. The information will appear on screens during the ETIS application process.

General guidance and provisions of telework at USPTO

1. All pay, leave, and travel entitlements will be based on the participant's official duty station.
2. The participant must follow established USPTO procedures when requesting and taking leave, compensatory time or credit hours.
3. The participant agrees to complete surveys and attend focus group meetings and interviews to help evaluate the telework program.
4. For participants with government provided equipment: Upon reasonable advance notice by the agency, the participant will permit USPTO employees and contractors to access the alternate worksite during normal working hours on a day that the participant is working at home for the purpose of installing, repairing, maintaining, or removing equipment, software, or other USPTO property, or to investigate an accident or a Workers' Compensation claim or to investigate other work-related or safety problems arising from the administration of the telework program. The parties may mutually agree to a time outside of these hours.
5. The participant agrees to comply with USPTO instructions regarding the return or removal of program materials.
6. The government will not be liable for damages to a participant's personal or real property during the course of performance of official duties or while using government equipment in the participant's residence, except to the extent the government is liable by the Federal Tort Claims Act or claims arising under the Military Personnel and Civilians Employees Claims Act, or other laws.
7. All office policies and procedures and responsibilities remain in effect during a telework program unless the terms of the program agreement or guidelines specifically indicate a difference.
8. Participants who change their primary alternate worksite while participating in the program are required to update their primary alternate worksite address in the Enterprise Telework Information System (<https://etis.uspto.gov>). Participants must also keep their approved secondary alternate site location updated, but this does not constitute a relocation.
9. In accordance with USPTO CIO standards, participants in any telework program must have internet service provided by cable or fiber optic with minimum internet speeds of 15 Megabytes per second of download speed and 4 Megabytes per second of upload speed. The participant agrees that her/his internet speeds at the alternate worksite(s) meet or exceed this requirement, unless a lower speed is authorized by an underlying agreement.

OGC TELEWORK PROGRAM

March 2022

Employee Responsibilities Related to Human Resource Information

I understand the following:

1. I am responsible for keeping my residential address and duty station up-to-date in the Employee Personal Page (EPP) and ETIS systems;
2. I am responsible for reviewing my benefits coverage (health insurance, dental and vision plans, and long term care insurance), and ensuring the options I have selected provide coverage in my desired location. If I relocate out of the coverage area and wish to elect a new health benefit plan, I must notify the Office of Human Resources (OHR) to make a new election;
3. I am responsible for ensuring that the correct state taxes are withheld from my salary. If I move, I understand it is my responsibility to submit a change request through OHR according to the established processing timelines. If I fail to ensure the proper taxes are withheld from my salary, it is my responsibility to work with my state(s) to make any necessary corrections. The OHR will not make retroactive adjustments or withholdings. More information on how to change your state tax exemption can be found here;
4. Because I am responsible for making sure that taxes are being paid to the appropriate jurisdiction and that my pay is based on the location of my duty station, reviewing my earnings and leave statements is the best way of identifying any issues as early as possible;
5. If applicable, I will work with my supervisor to ensure a "Change in Duty Station" Personnel Action Request (PAR) is initiated in the HRConnect system before the effective date. I also understand that the change in duty station cannot be made effective until OHR has processed the request. If I fail to timely update my address or duty station, it may impact my locality pay and result in an erroneous salary overpayment. I will be required to refund any overpayment to the USPTO.
6. Questions regarding benefits, compensation or personnel action processing may be directed to HumanResources_USPTO@uspto.gov or by telephone at 571-272-6000.

Safeguarding USPTO information and equipment

1. The participant will protect Government/USPTO records from unauthorized disclosure or damage and will comply with the Privacy Act requirements set forth in the Privacy Act of 1974, Public Law 93-579, codified at 5 U.S.C. Section 522a.
2. The participant will ensure that Government/USPTO records taken from the USPTO are accessed only by authorized personnel.
3. The participant will safeguard documents, data files and equipment during transit and at the alternate worksite(s).
4. The participant must return all documents, data files, work products, drafts and notes to the USPTO upon participant ending participation in the program.

OGC TELEWORK PROGRAM

March 2022

Maintaining USPTO Virtual Private Network Connection Requirements

I certify that I have read the USPTO VPN Connection Requirements* and that my internet connection(s) are compliant.

* You may be required to show proof that the Internet Service Provider(s) you use at the alternative worksite(s) comply with the VPN Connection Requirements. Note: some employees with slower speeds may meet the requirements based on being covered by agreements negotiated with the union representing the participant.

Conditions for Participating in Telework

As a condition of participation in the Telework Program, I agree to the following:

1. I have read and agree to adhere to the program requirements, including agreements and guidelines as appropriate, of the Telework Program.
2. I acknowledge that all pay, leave and travel entitlements will be based on my official duty station.

Final Certifications Upon Signing

- By signing, I certify that I have read and will comply with the [Business Unit Telework Program] provisions and the Employee Responsibilities included on page 2 of 3.
- If my telework program offers TEAP¹³ as an option and I have selected TEAP as my option, my signature also certifies that: I have read and will comply with the TEAP Operating Procedures; my participation is for my convenience, and, I waive my right to travel reimbursement as outlined in the TEAP Operating Procedures

¹³ Telework Enhancement Act Program

OGC TELEWORK PROGRAM

March 2022

USPTO New Employee Telework Agreement

The following constitutes an agreement between the U. S. Patent & Trademark Office and _____ (name of employee).

Type of Telework

Based on conversations with my supervisor I have been informed that I am eligible for and select: (choose one)

_____ Routine Telework (I will be allowed to telework a specified number of days and I will be in the USPTO facilities a specified number of days per week.

_____ Remote Work: I will work all of my hours from my home or other alternate work site and I am not expected to routinely report to a USPTO office or facility.

_____ Remote Work within 50 miles of the USPTO office or facility: I will work all of my hours from my home or an alternate work site that is located within 50 miles of the USPTO office or facility.

Location of Alternate Work Site:

The USPTO needs to know the location of your alternate work site. Please chose one of the statements below:

_____ The address I submitted with my new employee orientation documents is the location of my alternate work site.

_____ I intend to work from a different location than the address I submitted. I will call my supervisor and provide the information within the next two days.

The phone number at the alternate work site is: _____ (provide a mobile number if there is no land line)

Official Duty Station

Your Official Duty Station may determine your pay or other benefits. If you will work at the USPTO headquarters or another USPTO facility on a routine basis, your Official Duty Station will be the city and state of the USPTO facility. If you are a remote worker, your Official Duty Station will be the city and state of your alternate work site.

Discussions with Supervisor

This agreement references a number of policies, agreements, and other requirements. The Agency acknowledges that you do not have the ability to review these documents until you are an official employee of the Agency. Therefore, your supervisor will discuss any of these issues with you to help you understand his or her expectations and your requirements. You will have access to the material once you have access to the USPTO Intranet.

OGC TELEWORK PROGRAM

March 2022

Agreement Terms

- 1) This agreement becomes effective once you have signed the agreement and when you begin working for the USPTO. The Agreement does not require a signature of an Agency Representative.
- 2) This is a temporary agreement that will be in effect no longer than two months. The agreement expires on the earlier of you signing a new telework agreement appropriate for your position and business unit within the USPTO or 2 months after you begin working for the USPTO.
- 3) The employee may telework up to full-time under this agreement, with the extent of authorized telework determined by the employee's business unit. The Agency retains the authority to direct the employee to report to the official duty station as required. 50 Mile radius participants may be required to come to the USPTO as needed. Employees should communicate with their supervisor regarding the assignment of work while teleworking.
- 4) Employees agree to inform their supervisor of their work schedule at the beginning of each day or on a biweekly basis either by email or using the status function in Microsoft Teams, and to update the supervisor as soon as practicable of any changes to the schedule. The employee must comply with all rules and policies governing work schedules while teleworking.
- 5) The employee is required to have Internet Service with a download speed of at least 15 Mbps and an upload speed of at least 4 Mbps at the alternate work site.
- 6) Telework is not authorized when the employee is providing care to any individual. Employees shall have dependent care arrangements so that the employee's ability to work at the alternate worksite is not adversely affected. A dependent may be at the alternate worksite while the employee teleworks if those dependents are independently pursuing their own activities or otherwise provided for by a caretaker. For any time that the employee claims as work time, their attention must be oriented to work activities and not dependent care.
- 7) All pay, leave, and travel entitlements will be based on the employee's Official Duty Station.
- 8) Participants agree to comply with USPTO instructions regarding the return or removal of Agency materials. The employee will ensure that only authorized personnel access the materials provided by or taken from the USPTO.

OGC TELEWORK PROGRAM

March 2022

- 9) The employee must return all USPTO files, work product, drafts, and notes to the USPTO within two business days of the employee ending participation in the program, regardless of whether participation ends voluntarily or at the direction of the Agency.
- 10) Assigned duties may only be performed at the approved alternate work site or official duty station. Documents under secrecy orders or containing national security markings cannot be remotely accessed or removed from the USPTO work site.
- 11) The employee will safeguard and protect the confidentiality of patent applications and information therein in accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 122 and any private information (including information covered by the Privacy Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552a).
- 12) Signing and returning this agreement does not confer the right to telework when the employee is in a position that has not been approved for telework or to increase the amount of telework from what has been authorized by the USPTO.

I certify that I have read and will comply with the aforementioned provisions.

Print name

Employee's Signature

Date

An /s/ followed by the employee's name will be a sufficient signature for this document, or the employee may print, sign, scan and return the agreement.

Please return this agreement to your supervisor

Ref. #	OFFICE	POSITION	UNION	SERIES	GRADE	POSITIONS ON BOARD	POS. VACANT	TOTAL POSITIONS	Position Eligibility ($,1,2,3,4, or 5 days/wk)	Explanation for on-campus obligations	If 5 days, is Position Eligible for Remote or TEAP?	Explanation for not eligible for TEAP
1	OED	Paralegal	NTEU 243	0950	12	2	0	2	4	Customer Support Services to USPTO internal and external customers (e.g. exhibit preparation, document handling, etc.)	N/A	N/A
2	OED	Enrollment Specialist	NTEU 243	0301	11	4	0	4	4	Customer Support Services to USPTO internal and external customers (e.g. on-campus support to customers, document preparation and mail processing for office correspondence, etc.)	N/A	N/A
3	OED	Enrollment Specialist	NTEU 243	0301	12	2	0	2	4	Customer Support Services to USPTO internal and external customers (e.g. on-campus support to customers, document preparation and mail processing for office correspondence, etc.)	N/A	N/A
4	SO	Paralegal	NTEU 243	0950	12	7	1	8	4	Paralegal Specialists are responsible for obtaining and organizing hard copies of files, legal support for attorneys that must be done on-site (document gathering/ review, briefs, etc.), and notary services for the USPTO.	N/A	N/A
5	SO	Legal Assistant	NTEU 243	0986	8	3	0	3	2	Legal assistants greet and direct visitors, bind legal briefs that must be submitted to the court, copying/printing of documents, reviewing and entering paper notices of suit, and obtaining and routing incoming mail and legal documents for the Office of the Solicitor.	N/A	N/A
6	SO	Librarian	POPA	1410	13	1	0	1	4	The Librarian maintains the OGC library in the MDW building, receives physical content, and organizes the library shelves. Also responsible for checking resources in/out when requested from internal and external customers.	N/A	N/A

Memorandum of Understanding

April 12, 2022

The parties to this Memorandum of Understanding (MOU), and the United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO or Agency) and National Treasury Employees Union, Chapter 243 (NTEU 243), agree to this MOU covering the terms and implementation of a telework program for Trademarks. The parties have worked collaboratively to develop the terms of the program, which are attached to this MOU along with a list of position eligibility. This MOU covers NTEU 243 bargaining unit members working in Trademarks. This agreement supersedes any other Trademark telework agreement covering Trademark NTEU 243 employees. In addition, the parties agree as follows:

- 1. Meeting of Bargaining Obligations: acknowledges that the Agency has met its notice and bargaining obligations regarding the implementation of the Program.
- 2. Implementation of Program: The Program will begin implementation during the notice period provided to employees regarding the reopening of the Alexandria Headquarters of the USPTO. Employees who have completed all of the actions necessary to participate in the program during that period will begin their new telework arrangement once the Office is no longer on maximum telework.
- 3. Reviewing Positions for Eligibility: No later than May of each year Trademarks will notify NTEU 243 of all bargaining unit positions it has identified as eligible for telework, the number of days per week each position is eligible to telework, and whether a position is eligible to telework five days per week or is eligible for TEAP. Trademarks will meet with NTEU 243 to discuss these determinations, including any positions Trademarks has identified as ineligible for telework and the reason(s) therefor. Trademarks will publish individual Position Eligibility lists after discussing eligibility determinations with the Union.

4. Future Discussions and Cooperation:

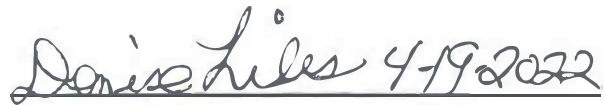

- a. The parties agree that they will meet periodically at the request of either party to discuss proposed changes to the Program. The Party wishing to propose a change in the Program will contact the other party to set up a meeting to discuss the topic. The parties will agree to further meetings as long as resolution of any issue(s) remain a possibility through informal and collaborative efforts.
- b. Changes agreed upon by the parties will be implemented as soon as practicable and reasonable notice will be given to the participants.
- c. If agreement is not reached informally pursuant to the provisions above, either party may reopen this agreement after one year from implementation, by giving notice to the other party of their request to renegotiate.

For the USPTO

For NTEU 243

Users, Vavonese, Dan
Digitally signed by Users, Vavonese, Dan
Date: 2022.04.19 18:12:51 -04'00'

Dan Vavonese Date
Deputy Commissioner for Trademark Operations

 4-19-2022

Denise Liles Date
Acting President, NTEU 243

Trademarks

NTEU 243

Telework Program

April 2022

Table of Contents

I. Provisions Applicable to all Telework Participants	1
A. Introduction	1
B. Eligibility	3
C. Application	6
D. Worksites	11
E. Equipment, Tools, and Supplies.....	13
F. Collaboration and Engagement.....	17
G. Schedules and Time and Attendance.....	177
H. In-person Events.....	188
I. Performance Management	20
J. Miscellaneous Provisions.....	21
II. Provisions Applicable to Situational Telework Participants	222
A. Requesting Situational Telework... ..	22
B. Offices.....	22
C. Part Time Employees.....	22
III. Provisions Applicable to Routine Telework Participants	222
A. Overview.....	22
B. Routine Telework Participants Teleworking One to Four Days per Week.....	23
C. Routine Telework Participants teleworking Five Days per Week.....	24
D. Part Time Employees.....	25
IV. Provisions Applicable to Remote Telework Participants	255
A. Provisions Applicable to all Remote Telework Participants	255
B. Remote Telework Participants Working within 50 miles of the USPTO Office	277
C. TEAP Option for Remote Participants Working more than 50 miles from the USPTO Office .	288
V. Temporary Medical Exception	2929
Appendix A: Safety Guidelines for the Alternate Worksite(s)	33
Appendix B: ETIS Employee Information and Certification Language	34
Appendix C: USPTO New Employee Telework Agreement	37
Appendix D: Work Schedule for Trademark Info Specialists in Trademark Assistance Center.....	40

All page numbers refer to the page number in the footer, which is different than the page number of the electronic document.

I. Provisions Applicable to all Telework Participants

A. Introduction

1. Program Overview. The NTEU 243 Telework Program (Program) allows eligible employees to perform assigned duties at an approved telework location, including their home. The Program is designed to deliver on the missions of Trademarks and its customers while providing employees with workplace flexibility. The Program includes three telework options: situational, routine, and remote. Participation in the Program is voluntary and does not change the conditions of employment except as specified in these provisions.

Section I of this document is applicable to all Program participants (participants). Section II outlines additional provisions applicable to participants who elect situational telework. Section III outlines additional provisions applicable to participants who elect routine telework for one to five days per week, including participants who encumber positions eligible for remote telework and voluntarily elect routine telework. Section IV outlines additional provisions applicable to participants who elect remote telework. Section V outlines provisions for a temporary medical exception to leverage telework options for which their position is otherwise not eligible.

2. Definitions. The following definitions are used for the purposes of the Program:
 - a. USPTO office is defined as the USPTO headquarters in Alexandria, VA, unless otherwise designated as another location.
 - b. Official duty station is the city/town and state in which an employee's official worksite is located. For purposes of this program, the official duty station will always be in the United States (currently defined as the 50 United States, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico). An employee's official duty station is the location that is documented on the most recent SF-50, Notification of Personnel Action.
 - c. Official worksite is the location where an employee regularly performs their assigned duties. This may be a USPTO office or a primary alternate worksite¹.
 - d. Alternate worksite is an approved telework location. Approval must be received in advance of teleworking from an alternate worksite. A teleworking employee may have both a primary alternate worksite (i.e., the principal telework location, likely an employee's home) and one or more secondary alternate worksites (e.g., a relative's home, or a vacation or second property). See Section I.D. for alternate worksite requirements.

¹ If an employee is required to report at least two times each bi-weekly pay period to the USPTO office, the USPTO office remains the official worksite, regardless of whether that is the location where the employee performs most of their work.

- e. Situational telework is defined as performing assigned duties at an approved alternate worksite occasionally and on a case-by-case basis (i.e., the employee does not telework on an ongoing and regular telework schedule). Supervisory approval is required each time the employee teleworks. Situational telework may also be referred to as episodic, intermittent, or ad-hoc. A participant's official worksite, and therefore official duty station, will remain as the USPTO office. See Section II for situational telework provisions.
- f. Routine telework is defined as performing assigned duties at an approved alternate worksite on an approved ongoing and regular telework schedule. The participant routinely teleworks for one to five days per week and performs assigned duties at the USPTO office for four days to one (1) day² per week. The participant works at both the alternate worksite and at the USPTO office during each bi-week. The number of days eligible for telework are determined assuming a five-day workweek. This does not preclude an employee from using work schedule flexibilities to work less than the number of days eligible for telework at the approved alternate worksite, so long as the participant is working at the USPTO office in accordance with the expected number of days defined in the position eligibility. A participant's official worksite, and therefore official duty station, will remain as the USPTO office. See Section III for routine telework provisions.
- g. Remote telework is defined as performing assigned duties at an approved alternate worksite for five days per week (e.g. all hours in a bi-week) without a requirement to routinely report to the USPTO office. A remote telework participant decides, for their convenience, to change their official duty station (and therefore official worksite) from the USPTO office to the city/town and state of their primary alternate worksite (e.g., the participant's home) thereby eliminating the need to report to the office on a bi-weekly basis.³ See Section IV for remote telework provisions.
- h. Telework Enhancement Act Program (TEAP) is a remote telework option that allows participants who live greater than 50 miles from the USPTO office to decide, for their convenience, to change their official duty station from the USPTO office to the city/town and state of their approved telework location (e.g., the participant's home). The participant must travel to the USPTO office for a minimal number of mandatory trips when directed by the USPTO. When enrolled in TEAP, the participant waives their right to travel expenses for the minimal number of mandatory trips to the office (5 U.S.C. § 5711(f); 5 U.S.C. § 5711(g)). See Section IV.C. for additional details.

² If an employee is required to report at least two times each bi-weekly pay period to the USPTO office, the reporting requirement is met by working in the USPTO office for a minimum of 15 minutes per week.

³ If an employee teleworks five days per week and maintains the USPTO office as their official duty station, they are participating in routine telework and must report to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week. See [Section III.C.1]

B. Eligibility

1. Activities Not Suitable for Telework. Positions generally eligible for telework are those positions with a sufficient volume of tasks that are suitable to be performed at an alternate worksite. Examples of the type of work that cannot be performed at an alternate worksite and will therefore limit the number of days a position is eligible for telework are:
 - a. Activities that require physical face-to-face personal contacts;
 - b. Activities that are restricted to a certain location;
 - c. Intake or distribution of postal mail or otherwise working with paper-based documentation not maintained in electronic format that are not portable and must not be duplicated;
 - d. Hands-on contact with machinery, equipment, vehicles, or files; or
 - e. Direct handling of classified or other secure materials that are not appropriate to access remotely.
2. Position Eligibility. The number of days a position is eligible to telework will be determined by evaluating the daily volume of tasks that are suitable to be performed at an alternate worksite and the daily volume of tasks that must be performed at the USPTO office. There are nine possible outcomes for each position's eligibility determination, based on a five-day workweek:
 - a. Not eligible for telework: the position's duties can only effectively be performed at the USPTO office.
 - b. Situational Telework: the position's duties are typically only able to be effectively performed at the USPTO office, but occasionally the employee's duties and the USPTO's needs are capable of being modified on a case-by-case basis to support non-routine performances of duties at an approved alternate worksite.

c. Routine Telework:

- i. 1 day per week: the position's duties, and the USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 1 day per week of routine telework. Employees in the position are expected to work at the USPTO office at least 4 days per week.
- ii. 2 days per week: the position's duties, and USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 2 days per week of routine telework. Employees in the position are expected to work at the USPTO office at least 3 days per week.
- iii. 3 days per week: the position's duties, and the USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 3 days per week of routine telework. Employees in the position are expected to work at the USPTO office at least 2 days per week.
- iv. 4 days per week: the position's duties, and USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 4 days per week of routine telework. Employees in the position are expected to work at the USPTO office at least 1 day per week.
- v. 5 days per week: the position's duties, and the USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 5 days per week of routine telework. If an employee chooses this telework option they maintain the USPTO office as their official duty station and they must report to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week for 15 minutes for each occurrence to meet the recurring reporting requirement. This option is sometimes referred to as hoteling. See [Section III.C.]

d. Remote Telework:

- i. 50-Mile Program (5 days per week): the position's duties, and the USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 5 days per week of remote telework⁴. If an employee who lives within 50-miles of the USPTO office chooses this option, their approved alternate worksite becomes their official duty station and they are not required to report to the USPTO office on a regular basis. See [Section IV.B.]
- ii. TEAP (5 days per week): the position's duties, and USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 5 days per week of remote telework at an alternate worksite greater than 50 miles from the USPTO office. Assigned duties can be performed at the alternate worksite in all but a few instances per year with sufficient notice given to the participant to return to the USPTO office. See [Section IV.C.]

⁴ If an employee teleworks five days per week and maintains the USPTO office as their official duty station, they are not participating in 50mi or TEAP and are participating in routine telework and must report to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week to meet the recurring reporting requirement. See [Section III.C.1.]

3. Review Positions for Eligibility. Annually, Trademarks will review positions to determine the number of days each position is eligible for telework. In addition, each position eligible to telework five days per week will be evaluated for TEAP eligibility. A position eligible for TEAP is one that the position's duties, and USPTO's needs, are not expected to require the participant to report to the office for extended or multiple periods of time (e.g., no more than three times per year). Once a position is deemed eligible for TEAP, the TEAP eligibility will not be removed if a participant occupying the position is enrolled in TEAP.
4. Individual Eligibility. Employees in a position deemed telework eligible are eligible to telework after they satisfy the minimum requirements outlined in the provisions of the Program See requirements at [1.C.2.] and they meet the statutory eligibility requirements See Section [1.B.5.]. The number of days a position is deemed eligible for telework will decree the maximum number of days an employee is eligible to telework.
5. Statutory Eligibility⁵. An employee is not eligible to participate in the Program if they: 1) have been officially disciplined for being absent without permission (i.e., absent without leave (AWOL)) for more than five days in any calendar year, or 2) have been officially disciplined for violations of subpart G of the Standard of Ethical Conduct of Employees of the Executive Branch for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties.
6. Position Changes. Employees joining Trademarks from another USPTO position will be required to apply for participation in the Program, subject to their new position's eligibility determination. Employees moving from one position to another within Trademarks are not required to reapply to the Program, but may be required to adjust their selected telework option and/or telework days based on their new position's eligibility and/or Trademarks needs, as the case may be. The employee must discuss their schedule, the assigned duties to be performed at the alternate worksite, duty station and reporting requirements, and agreed-upon methods for communication and collaboration with their new position's supervisor.

⁵ Telework Enhancement Act of 2010, as amended, 5 U.S.C § 6502(a)(2).

C. Application

1. Request. An employee may participate in the Program to the maximum extent permitted by their position eligibility, or participate less than the maximum permissible, if applicable. (E.g., an employee in a position eligible for four days of telework per week may elect to participate on a four day per week basis, a fewer number of days per week, or not to telework at all.)

As described in I.C.2., below, employees wishing to participate in the Program will submit a request through the USPTO's Enterprise Telework Information System \(ETIS\), specifying the program option and number of days per week they wish to telework, as follows:

- a. Situational. As described in Section II, participants in this telework option generally report to the USPTO office five days per week, but are authorized to occasionally telework, up to the maximum number of days per week for which their position is eligible, as the employees' duties and/or circumstances make desirable.
- b. Routine: one day per week. As described in Section III.B., participants in this option report to the USPTO office four days per week. When at the USPTO office, a one day per week participant will maintain their status quo office.
- c. Routine: two days per week. As described in Section III.B., participants in this option report to the USPTO office three days per week. When at the USPTO office, a two day per week participant will maintain their status quo office.
- d. Routine: three days per week. As described in Section III.B., participants in this option report to the USPTO office two days per week. When at the USPTO office, a three day per week participant will share an office with another employee.
- e. Routine: four days per week. As described in Section III.B., participants in this option report to the USPTO office one day per week. When at the USPTO office, a four day per week participant will share an office with another employee.
- f. Five days per week. If electing to telework five days per week, a participant is presented with three five day per week program options. One option is routine telework and the other two are remote telework, as follows:
 - i. Routine: Hoteling. As described in Section III.C., participants in this option report to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week for a minimum of 15 minutes at each occurrence on a schedule of their choosing. Participants will relinquish their USPTO designated office and, when at the USPTO office to meet the minimum reporting requirement, a five day per week routine telework participant will use temporary or "hoteling" office space.

- ii. Remote: 50-Mile. As described in Section IV.B., participants in this option elect to designate their approved alternate worksite within 50 miles of the USPTO office as their official worksite and official duty station. The participant has no routine reporting requirement to the USPTO office. The participant will relinquish their USPTO designated office and, when occasionally at the USPTO office, a remote telework participant will use temporary or “hoteling” office space.
- iii. Remote: TEAP. As described in Section IV.C., participants in this option elect to designate their approved alternate worksite greater than 50 miles from the USPTO office as the participant’s official worksite and official duty station. The participant has no routine reporting requirement to the USPTO office. The participant is responsible for paying for one of no more than a few mandatory trips to the office per fiscal year. The participant will relinquish their USPTO designated office and, when occasionally at the USPTO office, a remote telework participant will use temporary or “hoteling” office space.

2. Requirements. All employees who wish to participate in the Program must meet or complete the following requirements. Additional information about each item is located at the referenced section of this document.

- a. Be in an eligible position. See [Section I.B.]
- b. Read the Program Guidelines (this document).
- c. Hold a conversation with your immediate supervisor to discuss:
 - i. The desired telework program option and schedule based on position eligibility. See Sections [I.B., I.C.1. I.G., and III.B.1.]
 - ii. The assigned duties to be performed at the alternate worksite(s), See Sections [I.B., III.A., and III.B.]
 - iii. Trademarks work schedule operating parameters, including agreed-upon methods for communication and collaboration. See Sections [I.E.3., I.F., and I.G.1.]
 - iv. Worksites, including the primary alternate worksite, the official worksite, and whether there will be more than one alternate worksite. See [Section I.D.]
 - v. If teleworking three or four days per week, which requires a participant to share an office, discuss office move and sharing logistics to execute the move. See [Section III.B.3.]

- vi. If teleworking five days per week, which requires a participant to relinquish their office, discuss the process for moving out of their office and reserving a hoteling room. See Sections [III.C.2. and IV.A.3.]
 - d. Review the alternate worksite(s) safety and security guidelines located on the USPTO Telework Resources website. See Sections [I.D.5. and I.D.6. and Appendix A.]
 - e. Secure approved internet service. See [Section I.E.2.]
 - f. Complete USPTO Teleworker Training: Telework Effectiveness and submit your certificate to your supervisor and the Business Unit Telework Coordinator. See [Section I.C.5.]
 - g. Submit an application for telework through the ETIS.
 - i. New employees will receive a New Employee Temporary Telework Agreement with the new hire welcome packet that must be signed before teleworking (see Appendix C). New employee information is loaded into the ETIS approximately three weeks after an employee's start date. The temporary agreement must be replaced by a permanent application and agreement through the ETIS within two months after the employee's start date.
 - h. Request and receive applicable telework equipment. The universal laptop and SecurID are the minimum equipment required to begin teleworking. See Sections [I.C.5. and I.E.1.]
 - i. If applying for a remote telework option, work with your supervisor to obtain approval and complete the Office of Human Resources (OHR) procedures to change your official duty station. See [Section IV.]
 - j. If applying to telework five days per week and not changing your duty station from the USPTO office, discuss the recurring reporting requirement with your immediate supervisor. See [Section III.C.1.]
3. Approval.
- a. Decisions to grant or deny telework requests will be made by the participant's immediate supervisor based on whether the position is eligible, whether the employee meets the requirements to participate in the Program See [Section I.C.2.], and whether the employee's request is otherwise consistent with the Program. The maximum number of days per week an employee may participate will be based on the number of days the position is eligible for telework.

or from five days per week with a reporting requirement to the 50-mile program).

Participants who encumber positions eligible to telework less than five days per week must discuss schedule changes with their supervisor if requesting to reduce the number of days working at the USPTO Office.

Otherwise, to allow for office arrangements, participants will notify their supervisor and the Telework Program coordinator via email at least two weeks in advance of modifying a telework program option from less than four days per week telework to five days per week telework or withdrawing from the program; and four weeks in advance of changing status from five days per week telework to less than four days per week telework. For exigent circumstances the Office will process employee requests in less than 4 weeks by providing hoteling or temporary office space to the employee until a permanent workspace can be arranged.

See Section III. B. 2. for guidance on temporary schedule changes.

D. Worksites

1. Locations. Participants will designate a primary alternate worksite as the location where hours will be worked while not at the USPTO office. If a participant desires, they may designate an additional location as a secondary alternate worksite. All alternate worksites must be located in the fifty (50) states of the United States, the District of Columbia, or Puerto Rico. The designation of a participant's official worksite is dependent on the designation of a participant's official duty station, as follows:
 - a. A situational telework participant's official worksite is the USPTO office.
 - b. A routine telework participant's official worksite is the USPTO office.
 - c. A remote telework participant's (i.e., a 50-mile or TEAP option⁶) official worksite is their primary alternate worksite (home or other approved telework location) because the participant has changed their official duty station to the city/town and state of their primary alternate worksite.
2. Alternate Worksites. An alternate worksite may be the participant's home or other approved appropriate location. The participant must designate a room or location in their alternate worksite for placement and use of the equipment provided for the Program.

⁶ A five day per week telework participant who chooses to maintain the USPTO office as their official duty station (i.e., non-50-mile and non-TEAP) is a routine telework participant. See Section III.C.1. for requirements to report the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week.

Participants are responsible for purchasing and maintaining all office furniture at the alternate worksites.

Participants are responsible for ensuring compliance with all local laws or rules governing an office in their home. Participants who are renters are responsible for ensuring that their lease allows the installation of all the necessary equipment and connection services (e.g., compliant internet service) for the Program.

Participants are responsible for any utility cost, cooling, heating, and lighting at the alternate worksites. Participants are responsible for any re-wiring, updating, and improvements necessary to bring the electrical connections in an alternate worksite up to the required standards.

3. Working at a Secondary Alternate Worksite. Secondary alternate worksites are subject to the rules outlined in Section I.D.2. above. Participants must request approval to work at a secondary alternate worksite through ETIS prior to working from that location.

Requests are not necessary for each use of a secondary alternate worksite once the secondary alternate worksite is approved through ETIS. However, the participant must communicate the routine and recurring schedule with their immediate supervisor.

The amount of time spent working at the secondary alternate worksite cannot exceed 6 months in any 12-month period otherwise the secondary alternate worksite should be changed to become the primary alternate worksite. Employees must track their time at alternate worksites; if the intended stay at any secondary alternate worksite exceeds 6 months in a 12-month period, then the participant's supervisor initiates a Personnel Action Request (PAR) to change the duty station in the designated USPTO human resources system. See Section IV.A.2. for additional guidance on changing your duty station. The participant should also update their residence address in EPP, as applicable.

A participant whose official worksite is at the USPTO office will generally not be permitted to work at a secondary alternate worksite that is outside of a 50-mile radius of their USPTO office for a full bi-week or more at a time, unless the participant reports to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week See [Section III.C.1.], meets one of the exceptions in 5 C.F.R. § 531.605\(d\)\(2\), or has been granted a temporary medical exception See [Section V].

4. Transporting Equipment. When a participant has been approved to work at a secondary alternate worksite they are responsible for safely and securely transporting equipment to and from the alternate worksites See [Section I.E.7.]. The participant is also responsible for determining the equipment necessary to successfully perform their official duties at the secondary alternate worksite. A participant will only be issued one set of telework equipment in accordance with the standards outlined in Section I.E.1.

5. Safety Guidelines. All participants will review the alternate worksite(s) safety and security guidelines located on the USPTO Telework Program website. See [Appendix A.]
6. Security. All alternate worksites must meet security and privacy requirements, including those established and occasionally updated by OCIO regarding IT security See [Section I.E.4]. Participants are not permitted to work in a public area, e.g., a coffee shop, an airport terminal, or outside in a park.
7. Inspection. The participant will permit other USPTO employees and contractors to access the alternate worksite during the hours from 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM, Monday-Friday (excluding holidays) upon two business days' notice to the participant. Accessing the alternate worksite will be for the purpose of installing, repairing, maintaining, or removing work equipment, software, or other USPTO property, to investigate an accident or a worker's compensation claim, or to investigate other work related or safety problems arising from the administration of the Program. The parties may mutually agree to a time outside of these hours.

E. Equipment, Tools, and Supplies

1. Standard Equipment. Participants will be provided with a standard suite of IT equipment necessary to perform official assigned duties remotely at the primary alternate worksite as soon as practicable after the approval of the telework request. A participant may decline deployment of equipment if, after consultation with their supervisor, they deem the equipment is not necessary to productively perform official assigned duties at the primary alternate worksite (e.g., no printer, one monitor instead of two, etc.). Standard equipment includes the following:
 - a. 5 days per week: A universal laptop; docking station; two monitors; webcam; printer (provided the supervisor deems it necessary to perform assigned official duties); telephone headset; keyboard; mouse; SecurID (FOB) or other means of alternate authentication; fingerprint reader⁷; and other related peripherals.
 - b. 3 and 4 days per week: A universal laptop, docking station, two monitors, webcam, telephone headset, SecurID (FOB) or other means of alternate authentication, keyboard, mouse, and other related peripherals. A printer may be issued if the immediate supervisor deems it necessary to perform assigned official duties. Immediate supervisor approvals must be provided to the Telework Coordinator before printers will be deployed. If a participant is issued an approved printer to use at the alternate worksite, the employee will relinquish their personal office printer and use a shared network printer.

⁷ Fingerprint readers will be provided to TEAP participants, only.

- c. 2 days per week or less. A universal laptop, docking station, one monitor, webcam, telephone headset, SecurID (FOB) or other means of alternate authentication, keyboard, mouse, and other related peripherals.
- d. Situational telework. A universal laptop and SecurID (FOB) or other means of alternate authentication.

To ensure a seamless customer experience, participants are required to use USPTO assigned phone numbers for communication with colleagues and customers.

Necessary equipment will be provided to the participant as soon as practicable after the approval of the telework request. The universal laptop and SecureID (FOB), or other designated authentication technology, is the minimum equipment required to begin teleworking.

2. Internet Service.

- a. Requirements. All participants must have high-speed broadband internet service such as cable or fiber optic that meets USPTO's virtual private network \(VPN\) connection requirements at all alternate worksites. Wired connectivity is recommended. Employees may choose to work either wired or wirelessly, but must be able to connect with a wired connection as needed to improve connectivity or upon OCIO request (e.g., in responding to a service request or to facilitate updates).
- b. Internet Service (IS) Reimbursement. Given that participants who telework five days per week have relinquished their USPTO office, they are eligible for IS cost reimbursement at their approved alternate worksite(s) in accordance with the USPTO ISP Reimbursement Policy.

- 3. Collaboration Tools. Participants must use USPTO collaboration tools in accordance with the USPTO's Time and Attendance Tools, Communication, and Collaboration \(TACC\) Policy, or any policy that supersedes it. Collaboration tools include, but are not limited to: instant messaging and chat; document/desktop sharing and whiteboard features; virtual meeting tools; video communication and conferencing equipment; and presence indicator. Employees will be required to use their video communication tools (i.e., camera) in accordance with NTEU negotiated agreements for specific meetings and when their active participation during such meeting is required.

4. IT Security. Participants are responsible for the security of Federal government property, information, and information systems at all alternate worksites. If not properly implemented, telework may introduce vulnerabilities into USPTO systems and networks. To prevent security incidents, participants are required to protect information and information systems commensurate with risk and complete the annual USPTO mandatory IT Security Awareness Training.

Information associated with official business should be stored in controlled, accessible, and safeguarded locations. Participants should store information in places that are adequately accessible to other colleagues (with a need to know) and backed up (e.g., shared drives, SharePoint) and refrain from desktop storage. Participants will not store USPTO information on personal devices or accounts.

The creation of paper copies containing sensitive information should be minimized to the greatest extent possible while teleworking. Most home or non-industrial shredders do not meet the General Services Administration's (GSA) approved cross-cut shredder requirement; therefore, these paper files must be stored in a locked drawer or room until participants can return to campus and utilize GSA-approved shredders. Please contact the USPTO Records Officers or CUI Managers if you have hard copies at your alternate worksite and are unable to adequately secure and store the documents until you can return to the USPTO. Please email CUI@uspto.gov with any questions related to properly disposing of records.

- a. Care must be taken to ensure records subject to the Privacy Act (5 U.S.C. § 552a, Records Maintained on Individuals) and sensitive but non-classified data are not disclosed to anyone except those who have authorized access to perform their duties. Participants should refer to the Rules of the Road.
- b. Participants are responsible for the security of all official information, protection of any government furnished equipment and property, and the execution of the mission of the USPTO at the alternate worksite(s) in accordance with existing USPTO and DOC policies.
- c. Any USPTO owned equipment is for official use only. Use of the equipment for private purposes is prohibited except as permitted by the USPTO Rules of the Road. Family members and friends of Participants are not authorized to use any government furnished equipment.
- d. Participants are to comply with all security related USPTO policies including the USPTO Rules of the Road. These policies may be found on the USPTO intranet website.

5. USPTO Equipment Failures. Participants are to contact the USPTO Service Desk to report Agency-provided equipment or software failures or problems, including connecting via the VPN, as soon as they are discovered and follow the procedures provided by the Service Desk. In the event that VPN or Agency provided equipment problems (including USPTO power outages) prohibit working at an alternate worksite, the participant must notify their immediate supervisor. The participant may consult with their immediate supervisor to determine if there is non-equipment related work available at the alternate worksite and determine how to record time. See Section I.G.7. for guidance about non-weather related equipment failures at the alternate worksite(s) (e.g., participant power outages and interruptions in internet access) and Section I.I.1 for weather related outages.
6. Ownership and Maintenance. USPTO maintains ownership and control of any and all equipment, software, other materials, and data provided to the participant by the agency. The USPTO acts as the insurer for damage, theft, or other loss (e.g., fire, flood, etc.) of the USPTO equipment and materials only. Equipment provided by the Agency will be serviced and maintained by the Agency.
7. Safeguarding Assets. All participants are responsible for reasonably safeguarding and protecting government issued equipment. The accountability and security of IT resources See [Section I.E.4] extends to your alternate worksite(s), residence, other approved telework location, and/or other areas in which you use, travel with, and store the equipment. When a participant chooses to work at a secondary alternate worksite they are responsible for safely and securely transporting equipment to and from the alternate worksites. Reasonable safeguards must be consistently exercised to ensure that government property is not vulnerable to any negligence or potential criminal activity. When a participant is assigned a piece of equipment, including the Universal Laptop, the participant is responsible for reasonable safeguards of its physical safety, as well as the data stored on it. Suggestions for safeguarding equipment and procedures for reporting lost, stolen, or damaged equipment are available on the USPTO's Asset Management website.

Participants will provide property custodians with all information requested to inventory assets and will provide timely notice of equipment changes and issues.

8. Returning Equipment. Any equipment provided to the participant for use at the alternate worksite(s) should be returned to the Agency generally within five business days from the end of the participant's participation in the Program, unless exigent circumstances exist. Any equipment that was deployed to the participant and is not needed to perform official duties should be returned as soon as the participant deems the equipment as unnecessary.

A participant returning equipment must notify the Telework Coordinator to facilitate the return.

The USPTO may require return or exchange of Agency provided equipment. Except for remote telework participants enrolled in TEAP, participants may be required to report to the USPTO office to receive equipment or to repair or exchange equipment.

9. Supplies. Participants enrolled in TEAP who have been issued a printer will use the TEAP Operating Procedures to request toner and paper required to carry out official assigned duties. Unless otherwise defined, TEAP participants are expected to pick up all other small office supplies while on a trip to the USPTO office.

Also, unless otherwise defined, all other telework participants may pick up small office supplies required to carry out their official assigned duties from the USPTO office and those who have been issued a printer may pick up paper and toner from the USPTO office.

- F. Collaboration and Engagement. Employee engagement is a priority for Trademarks and to facilitate collaboration and successful interactive relationships employees should leverage collaboration tools, such as video conferencing, instant messaging or chat tools, and other USPTO approved collaboration software to stay connected. Employees are permitted to upload a workplace appropriate picture of themselves in USPTO collaboration tools so that colleagues and customers can associate names and faces.

G. Schedules and Time and Attendance

1. Work Schedules. Employees teleworking five days per week must elect to work the Increased Flexitime Schedule (IFS).
2. Timesheets. Participants will use the "Telework Home" transaction code (or other designated method to report telework time) with the appropriate PPA codes to indicate in the time and attendance system which days were worked at the alternate worksite(s) and the number of hours worked at the USPTO office and alternate worksite(s) each day.
3. Holidays. Participants working at an alternate worksite will be granted the same holidays as employees at the USPTO office, unless otherwise determined by the Office of Personnel Management. Early dismissal of USPTO employees or closure of the USPTO office for non-emergency conditions, such as on the day prior to a Federal holiday, will be granted to participants working at an alternate worksite.
4. Overtime and Compensatory Time. Overtime and compensatory time may be worked at an alternate worksite so long as the time has been approved by the participant's supervisor prior to working the additional hours.

5. Leave. All forms of approved leave, including compensatory time, may be used on days on which the participant is scheduled to work at the USPTO office or approved alternate worksite. Leave, however, may not be used on a regular basis to avoid working at the USPTO office on a non-telework day or to avoid meeting a routine telework participant's twice per bi-week reporting requirement See [Section III.C.1.].
6. Multiple Locations in a Given Day. A participant may work at the USPTO office and/or multiple alternate worksites on the same day. A participant who chooses to work at multiple locations on the same day must notify their immediate supervisor and comply with the requirements of the policy on communication and collaboration with respect to posting work hours (to include time zone, if outside of Eastern Time zone) regardless of where they work. Participants must mid-day flex (if on IFP/S) or take leave to accommodate travel time required for commuting to and from the various work sites. See [Section III.B. for routine telework schedule requirements.]
7. Inability to Work at an Alternate worksite. If an employee is prevented from working at an alternate worksite for reasons other than inclement weather (e.g., non-weather related power or internet outage at the alternate worksite or lack of dependent care), the participant must either (1) report to the USPTO office to perform official duties if not a TEAP participant, (2) obtain approval to work at a secondary alternate worksite, (3) if on IFP/S, change their work schedule by reducing the number of hours worked on that day, or (4) request appropriate leave, at the participant's option. If able to work, the participant may also consult with their immediate supervisor to determine if there is non-equipment related work available at the alternate worksite. The participant will not be reimbursed for any travel or related expenses for commuting between their alternate worksite(s) and the USPTO office and all trips will not be on duty time. See Section I.E.5. for guidance related to a USPTO equipment failure and Section I.I.1. for weather related conditions.

H. In-person Events

1. Virtual First. When technology is available, and consistent with the purpose of the event, meetings will be held so that participants working remotely can participate fully via video conference.
2. Mandatory Attendance. Participants may be required to report to the USPTO office to address business needs and office coverage for non-portable work activities, attend training, meetings, or other individual, team-, Office-, or Business Unit-wide events. Participants will be given as much notice as possible of any meeting or activity that they must attend in person. Absent exigent circumstances, participants will not be required to report to the USPTO office on the same day that notice is provided to the participant and the USPTO will endeavor to meet the notification timelines outlined below.

- a. Office coverage to address business needs or non-portable work activities: Generally, for participants not enrolled in TEAP, notice to report to the USPTO office will not be less than two days.
- b. Group meetings: Group meetings are defined as team, organizational (e.g.: section, branch, division, office), or business unit-wide meetings, to include training. For these planned events, the Agency has a goal of 4 weeks' notice, but at least 3 weeks' notice will be provided prior to the date of the meeting or training. This provides notification in accordance with TEAP operating procedures to ensure TEAP participants have adequate time to plan for a mandatory employee-paid trip.

All decisions to hold mandatory, in-person meetings will be approved by a Deputy Commissioner for Trademarks. Changes to Operating Status and Unscheduled Telework (e.g., Inclement Weather)

3. Office Closures, Early Departures and Delayed Arrivals Due to Weather or Safety Events.
When a foreseeable weather or safety event causes the agency to close or authorize late arrival or early departure, any employee with a signed telework agreement (i.e., a Program participant) must be prepared to telework, flex around the full or partial closure, and/or take leave. Except as provided below, no employee with a signed telework agreement of any type (regular, situational, etc.) may receive Weather and Safety leave, regardless of whether the employee was scheduled to telework that day. In order to telework during a weather or safety event, participants must have their Universal Laptop at their alternate worksite. Unscheduled telework due to a closure, early dismissal, or delayed arrival due to weather or safety events will not count against the allowable telework days provided by this Program.

If weather related physical conditions affect the alternate worksite in a way that limits the employee's ability to perform their duties (e.g., power or internet outages at the participant's alternate worksite or the USPTO office), the employee may request Weather and Safety administrative leave or to work at a secondary alternate worksite. Participants may telework at an alternate worksite where there are dependents or others. However, for any time that the employee claims as work time, their attention must be oriented to work activities and not dependent care. If dependent care prohibits the ability to perform telework for some portion of the work day during an office closure, early dismissal or delayed arrival, an employee may use a combination of flex time and unscheduled leave, with supervisory approval, to meet any dependent care needs and still accomplish work. See Section I.K.1. for additional information on dependent care.

Weather and Safety leave may be available to a Program participant if the participant was not prepared to telework at their approved alternate worksite because either (1) the weather or safety event that caused the agency to close or authorize late arrival or early departure was not foreseeable or (2) reasonable circumstances prevented the employee from preparing to telework (e.g., the participant had been on leave until the day of the weather event, and the participant was not able to obtain their laptop before the weather or safety event). Find additional information on weather and safety leave at Leave Administration, Appendix A: Impact of Weather and Safety Events on the Alexandria Campus and Randolph Square Building.

4. Unscheduled Leave or Unscheduled Telework. In the event OPM or USPTO declares that Federal agencies are open for the entire day with the option for “unscheduled leave or unscheduled telework,” Program participants may report to the USPTO office, telework on a non-telework day (if consistent with the employee’s work obligations), take unscheduled annual leave, or use a combination of work and annual leave to account for all of the regularly scheduled hours of the workday. A decision to telework on a day in which unscheduled telework is allowed will not count against the allowable telework days provided by this Program.

I. Performance Management.

Participants are expected to perform assigned duties and responsibilities at the alternate worksite. It is important that the alternate worksite be free from distractions that would impair a participant’s ability to perform official duties and provide the same time and level of attention to the work product as is available at the USPTO office. Participants will have their performance evaluated under the criteria set out in their performance appraisal plan. If the participant lacks sufficient work for a telework day, they should consult with the supervisor to see if there is additional work that can be done at the alternate worksite. If there is not enough work that can be done at the alternate worksite, the employee must work at the USPTO office or use leave to cover the hours for which there is no work. Participants shall provide details of work accomplished upon the request of their supervisor.

Participants who are on a Performance Improvement Plan (PIP) will not be required to change their telework arrangement due to the PIP. Whether the participant's official worksite is the USPTO office or an approved alternate worksite, a participant who is on a PIP will be required to commit to be available to receive assistance and training. The assistance may be provided at the USPTO office or virtually. The supervisor and the participant will attempt to find an agreeable time for the assistance to be provided, including providing reasonable notification in accordance with the intent of Section I.H.2. The supervisor, however, retains the right to direct the participant to attend meetings or training at the USPTO office, including one-on-one training.

J. Miscellaneous Provisions.

1. Dependent Care. No telework arrangement is authorized which allows the participant to provide care to any individual during work hours. Participants shall have dependent care arrangements so that the participant's ability to work at the alternate worksite is not adversely affected. A dependent may be at the alternate worksite while the participant teleworks if those dependents are independently pursuing their own activities or otherwise provided for by a caretaker. For any time that the employee claims as work time, their attention must be oriented to work activities and not dependent care.
2. Transit Subsidy. Participants continue to remain eligible for transit subsidies as set forth in the USPTO Public Transit Subsidy Program.
3. FECA and Alternate Worksite Injury. Participants are covered under the Federal Employee's Compensation Act (FECA) if injured in the course of actually performing official duties at the alternate worksite. In order for a participant to be able to file a claim for worker's compensation, the participant who has an accident or injury while working at the alternate worksite must notify their immediate supervisor and report the accident or injury to a designated USPTO official in accordance with FECA requirements. Upon notification, the USPTO may investigate any reported accidents and injuries.
4. Property Liability. The USPTO will not be liable for damages to a participant's personal or real property during the course of performing official duties or while using Government equipment in the participant's residence, except to the extent the Government is held liable by the Federal Tort Claims Act, claims arising under the Military Personnel and Civilian Employees Claims Act, or other laws.
5. Protecting Records. Participants will apply approved safeguards to protect Agency records from unauthorized disclosure or damage and will comply with the Privacy Act requirements set forth in the Privacy Act of 1974, Public Law 93-579, codified at 5 U.S.C. Section 552a. See Section I.E.4. for additional IT Security requirements.

Participants are required to use electronic versions of documents and data whenever practical. When this is not practical, and solely for the purposes of this Program, participants will be permitted to remove USPTO copies of documents from the USPTO office in order to perform their officially assigned duties at an alternate worksite, unless such files have been identified by management as being inappropriate for removal from the USPTO office. The participant is responsible for the transportation and safeguarding of the documents and files to and from the USPTO office and alternate worksite(s). Original or official files may not be removed from the USPTO office unless specifically approved by the Agency.

When the USPTO has an unusual need for a document or file or other information that is located at the alternate worksite, the participant may be directed to provide the requested document, file or other information to the USPTO office within one business day by delivery means determined by the Agency. An unusual need is one that does not occur on a regular basis and cannot wait for the participant's scheduled return to the USPTO office or be resolved through other means.

6. Union Activities. Stewards and union officials may perform Union representational activities on official or bank time while teleworking.
7. Personal Information. Agency personnel will not divulge the addresses and private home or mobile telephone numbers of participants to the public or any other USPTO personnel who do not have a legitimate business need to know such information.

II. Provisions Applicable to Situational Telework Participants

- A. Requesting Situational Telework. A situational telework participant is expected to perform their assigned duties at the USPTO office regularly. Situational telework must be requested in advance and approved by the immediate supervisor. Requests for situational telework must include the dates the participant will telework and the work that will be performed at the alternate worksite on those dates.

Participants currently teleworking situationally in a position that is eligible for routine or remote telework who would like to move to routine or remote telework must modify their telework application in ETIS and follow the application procedures in Section I.C.9. Additional information on routine telework may be found at Section III and additional information on remote telework may be found at Section IV.

- B. Offices. Participants selecting a situational telework program option will retain their status quo office.
- C. Part Time Employees. Part-time employees who encumber a position eligible for situational or routine telework may participate in situational telework.

III. Provisions Applicable to Routine Telework Participants

- A. Overview. A routine telework participant's official duty station remains the USPTO office and requires the participant to work at the USPTO office for a specified amount of time each week or bi-week as designated by their position eligibility determination.
 1. Participants electing to telework one to four days per week will work at the USPTO office for four to one day(s) per week.

2. Participants electing to telework five days per week may elect either to retain the USPTO office as their official duty station and remain a routine teleworker or, if the participant's primary alternate worksite is located within 50 miles of the USPTO office, change the location of their official duty station to the primary alternate worksite in accordance with the procedures outlined in Section IV.B. and become a remote teleworker.

B. Routine Telework Participants Teleworking One to Four Days per Week

1. Telework Schedule. Participants eligible for routine or remote telework may request to telework one to four days per week, up to the number of days permitted by their position's eligibility determination. Participants electing this option are expected to perform their assigned duties at the USPTO office for one to four day(s) per week, as set forth in their position eligibility determination. Participants who select this option must consult with their immediate supervisor to define a telework schedule that identifies regular days to perform duties at the USPTO office each bi-week. For participants whose essential functions include duties that must be done at the USPTO office, the amount of time spent at the USPTO office on a non-telework day must be long enough to complete those essential functions and if a participant chooses to work at multiple locations on the same day they must notify their immediate supervisor. Participants may not use IFP/S flexibilities or any combination of leave to regularly avoid any in-office requirements. Participants are not precluded from teleworking on fewer days than their position's eligible number of days. The day(s) a participant elects to perform assigned duties in the office will be the same each week and must be scheduled in advance and approved by the immediate supervisor to ensure office coverage.

On a situational basis, a one to four day per week routine telework participant's immediate supervisor may allow an employee to work additional days at an alternate worksite (i.e., supplemental situational telework) in accordance with the provisions for situational telework See [Section II]. Supplemental situational telework must be requested in advance and approved by the immediate supervisor. Requests for supplemental situational telework must include the dates the participant will telework in addition to the routine telework and the work that will be performed at the alternate worksite on those dates.

2. Telework Schedule Changes. Changes in USPTO office day(s) for participants whose position is eligible for routine telework one to four days per week must be requested in advance and approved by the immediate supervisor. These requests may be for a one-time change or for a permanent switch in the days performing assigned duties in the USPTO office. See Section I.C.7., I.C.8., and I.C.9. for permanent program changes. Trademarks may require temporary adjustments to USPTO office day(s) schedules to address business needs and office coverage for non-portable work activities.

Participants currently teleworking one to four days per week in a position that is eligible to telework five days per week who would like to move to five days per week telework must modify their telework application in ETIS and follow the application procedures in Section I.C.7., I.C.8., and I.C.9. Additional information on five day per week routine telework may be found at Section III.C. and on five day per week remote telework may be found at Section IV.

3. Offices. Routine telework participants who select a telework program option that places the participant at the USPTO office for two days per week or less will be required to share an office with another employee. Participants who share an office may coordinate their on-campus days, such that one of them uses the office at a time. Participants who select a telework program option that places the participant at the USPTO office for three days per week or more will remain their status quo office arrangements.

A Program participant whose selected telework program option places them in a shared office, and who changes the terms of their telework program and agreement in any way that places them at the USPTO office for three days per week or more, will be reassigned to an unshared office. A participant may have to remain in their shared office until individual office space is available.

The participant will be assigned an office as determined by their seniority consistent with existing Union agreements for office space. The employee should be issued the space they are entitled to within three months of notifying their immediate supervisor and Telework Program coordinator of the change.

C. Routine Telework Participants Teleworking Five Days per Week

1. Reporting Requirement. An employee who elects to telework five days per week and maintains the USPTO office as their official duty station is required to report to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week. Participants shall work at the USPTO Office for a minimum of 15 minutes for each occurrence in a manner consistent with IFP work schedule rules as to days and hours of work. All forms of approved leave, including compensatory time, may be used to meet the required hour(s) on this day but leave may not be used on a regular basis to avoid the requirements of this paragraph to work at the USPTO office two times per bi-week.
2. Offices. Routine telework participants who telework five days per week will not have an assigned office at the USPTO office and will reserve hoteling space on campus when working at the USPTO office, including when meeting the regular bi-weekly reporting requirement.

3. Travel Expenses and Travel Time. When a participant’s official duty station is the USPTO office, all travel between home and the USPTO office is considered commuting time and will not be reimbursed.

D. Part Time Employees. Part-time employees who encumber a position eligible for routine telework for less than five days per week may participate in telework. The percentage of time that may be worked at the alternate work site will be prorated as determined by the percentage of the employee’s part-time schedule compared to a full-time schedule, times the number of days. Part time employees who encumber a position eligible for remote telework for five days per week, may telework 100 percent of their part time work schedule (the requirement to routinely report to the USPTO office two times a bi-week remains). Part time employees should consult guidelines on part time work schedules in the applicable collective bargaining agreement, labor contract, or other union agreements related to part time work.

IV. Provisions Applicable to Remote Telework Participants

A. Provisions Applicable to all Remote Telework Participants

1. Overview. A participant who elects to telework five days per week may elect to either retain the USPTO office as their official duty station in accordance with Section III.C. or change the location of their official duty station to the primary alternate worksite.

There is no requirement to routinely report to the USPTO office when a participant has changed their official duty station to the primary alternate worksite. The change in official duty station may impact a participant's pay and benefits because locality pay is based on the location of the official duty station. See Sections IV.A.2, IV.B.1, and IV.C.2 for additional information on changing the official duty station.

Table 1 provides an overview of implications for regular and recurring reporting requirements to the USPTO office, employee pay and benefits, and travel expenses associated with changing the official duty station.

Table 1: Official Duty Station Implications

Key Elements	Teleworking < 50 Miles from Alexandria, VA		Teleworking > 50 Miles from Alexandria, VA
	USPTO Program Reference	Routine: 5 days per week (Hoteling)	Remote: 50-Mile	Routine: 5 days per week (Hoteling)

Key Elements	Teleworking < 50 Miles from Alexandria, VA		Teleworking > 50 Miles from Alexandria, VA
	USPTO Office	Primary Alternate Worksite	USPTO Office	Primary Alternate Worksite
Official Worksite & Duty Station	USPTO Office	Primary Alternate Worksite	USPTO Office	Primary Alternate Worksite
Pay & Benefits	Locality Pay of USPTO Office	Locality Pay for City of Primary Alternate Worksite	Locality Pay of USPTO Office	Locality Pay for City of Primary Alternate Worksite
Regular and Recurring Reporting Requirement	Two Times per Bi-week	None	Two Times per Bi-week	None
Travel for Voluntary Trips to USPTO Office or for Reporting Requirement	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office
Travel for Mandatory Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for the first Trip up to 5 Days, USPTO Pays Thereafter

2. Process for Changing the Official Duty Station. A remote telework participant will select one of two program options that permit a change of their official duty station, depending on the location of the approved primary alternate worksite. If the participant lives within a 50 mile radius of the USPTO office, they will select the 50-mile program option and follow the procedures in Section IV.B.1. If the participant lives outside of a 50 mile radius from the USPTO office, they will select the TEAP program option and follow the procedures in Section IV.C. The 50 miles is a point-to-point straight line distance from 600 Dulany Street, Alexandria, VA, 22314.

When changing the official duty station, participants are responsible for maintaining accurate human resource information as outlined in the ETIS Employee Information and Certification Language document located at Appendix B.

3. Offices. Remote telework participants will not have an assigned office at the USPTO office and may use hoteling space, if available, when working at the USPTO office.
4. Part Time Employees. Part time employees who encumber a position eligible for remote telework, may telework 100 percent of their part time work schedule. Part time employees should consult guidelines on part time work schedules in the applicable collective bargaining agreement, labor contract, or other union agreements related to part time work.

B. Remote Telework Participants Working within 50 miles of the USPTO Office⁸

1. Official Duty Station Changes. Participants who live within a 50-mile radius⁹ of the USPTO office may request to change their official duty station to their approved primary alternate worksite (e.g., home address), which will be designated as their official worksite. A change in the participant's official duty station eliminates the requirement to report to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week and changes the participant's pay (including locality pay) to the location of the primary alternate worksite, which may be a different locality pay than the USPTO office. Information on locality pay is available by checking the relevant pay tables found at the Office of Personnel Management's website. Questions about other potential changes to pay and benefits (e.g., health and life insurance, thrift savings plan, etc.) may be directed to the OHR at (571) 272-6000 or HumanResources_USPTO@uspto.gov.

All changes to duty station are voluntary and for the convenience of the participant. See participant responsibilities in Section IV.A.2. All changes to the official duty station must be pre-approved by the USPTO. If a participant's primary alternate worksite (e.g., home address) is within a 50-mile radius of the Alexandria office, a 50-mile radius telework program option may be selected. The participant's supervisor approves the request in ETIS and initiates a PAR to change the duty station in the designated USPTO human resources system.

Generally, participants should request approval three weeks in advance of any change in the official duty station or move. This will provide the supervisor and OHR with sufficient time to process and apply an effective date for the duty station change. The USPTO will not pay for moving costs associated with changes in official duty station.

2. Working at the USPTO Office. Participants may occasionally voluntarily work at the USPTO office. Participants working at the USPTO office are encouraged to reserve hoteling space to perform their official duties. Participants may also be required to occasionally report to the USPTO office to address business needs and office coverage for non-portable work activities, attend training, meetings, or other team-, Office-, or Business Unit-wide events.
3. Travel Expenses and Travel Time. When a participant's official worksite is their home address or other approved alternate worksite within a 50-mile radius of the USPTO office, they will not be reimbursed for any travel or related expenses for commuting between their official worksite and the USPTO office regardless of whether the trips are mandatory or voluntary. All such trips, regardless of the location of the official worksite, will not be on duty time.

⁸ This category of remote telework is sometimes referred to as the "50-Mile Program".

⁹ The 50-mile radius is determined by https://www.gpsvisualizer.com/calculators#distance_address.

C. TEAP Option for Remote Participants Working more than 50 miles from the USPTO Office¹⁰

1. Telework Enhancement Act Program (TEAP). TEAP allows participants teleworking five days per week whose position is TEAP eligible and who live greater than 50 miles from the USPTO office to decide, for their own convenience, to change their duty station to an approved telework location in the local commuting area of the city in which they live. See participant responsibilities outlined Section IV.A.2. The participant must travel to the USPTO office for mandatory trips when directed by the Office, and TEAP permits the participant to waive their right to travel expenses for a reasonable number of mandatory trips to the office (5 U.S.C. § 5711(f); 5 U.S.C. § 5711(g)). The participant is responsible for paying for one mandatory trip per fiscal year for up to a maximum of five calendar days, which will be the first trip of the fiscal year. Participants who telework five days per week and who wish to participate in TEAP should refer to the TEAP Operating Procedures for program specifics.
2. TEAP Operating Procedures. The USPTO maintains a TEAP with operating procedures applicable to all USPTO employees. Employees who enroll in TEAP will abide by TEAP Operating Procedures. Highlights of certain aspects of TEAP are outlined below. The information contained herein is not intended to substitute or supersede the TEAP Operating Procedures.
 - a. TEAP Eligibility. All telework participants who encumber positions eligible for TEAP may apply to TEAP if they meet the TEAP eligibility requirements (e.g., changing the official duty station, waiving travel reimbursements, etc.). Generally, participants should be approved for TEAP three weeks in advance of any change in the official duty station or move.
 - b. TEAP Application and Approval. If a participant's primary alternate worksite (e.g., home address) is outside of a 50-mile radius of the Alexandria office, a TEAP telework program option may be selected. The participant's supervisor approves the request in ETIS and initiates a PAR to change the duty station in the designated USPTO human resources system.
 - c. TEAP Pay and Benefits. Participation in TEAP may impact the participant's pay, due to locality pay differences from the USPTO office. Information on locality pay is available by checking the relevant pay tables found at the Office of Personnel Management's website. The TEAP Operating Procedures outline other potential changes to benefits (e.g., health and life insurance, thrift savings plan, etc.) and state taxes. Questions about pay and benefits may be directed to the OHR at (571) 272-6000 or HumanResources_USPTO@uspto.gov.

¹⁰ This category of remote telework option is referred to as TEAP.

- d. TEAP Relocation Expenses. Participation in TEAP is voluntary. No employee relocation expenses will be paid to participants.
- e. TEAP Moves and Withdrawal. A participant must use ETIS to notify their immediate supervisor and the Telework Program coordinator of all moves to a different primary alternate worksite (official worksite) or withdrawal from the program. Generally, participants should request approval three weeks in advance of any change in the official duty station or move. This will provide the supervisor and OHR with sufficient time to process and apply an effective date for the duty station change. The USPTO will not pay for moving costs associated with changes in official duty station. See the TEAP Operating Procedures for specific instructions.
- f. TEAP Mandatory Trips. The TEAP Operating Procedures outline procedures and requirements for mandatory trips. The TEAP participants will incur one mandatory trip up to a maximum of five calendar days that is participant paid per fiscal year. All trips beyond that number will be paid by the Agency. Trademarks will endeavor to combine reasons for trips and limit the number of trips per year to a reasonable number. The participant's time for travel will be compensated based on the most efficient manner of travel as defined by Federal travel regulations.
- g. TEAP Voluntary Trips. Trips to the USPTO office are defined as voluntary when they are discretionary on the part of the participant and visitation/travel is not required by Trademarks. No travel expenses or travel time will be provided for voluntary trips. Voluntary trips to the USPTO office do not count towards the maximum number of mandatory trips. See TEAP Operating Procedures for further guidance on voluntary trips.

V. Temporary Medical Exception

- A. Description of Program. Management will consider requests from employees to work from home or another alternate worksite based on a serious temporary or short-term medical need of the employee or a family member which would:
 - 1. Significantly impair or preclude the employee from working at (or traveling to) the USPTO office;

2. Ordinarily require the employee to use leave to be away from the USPTO office without the ability to telework; and
 3. Allow the employee to work from the alternate work site.
- B. Flexibility: In addition to the flexibility of where to work, the employee may request additional telework days, up to and including teleworking five days per week and specific hours of work.
- C. Application. The request may be from a person not eligible to telework (based on position eligibility), or from a current teleworker to expand or change the number of days of telework or change their telework program option. If the request is from an employee whose position is not normally eligible to telework and is not covered by an existing telework agreement, the employee must sign a telework agreement. Eligibility requirements based on position may be waived because the eligibility for the temporary medical exception is based upon specific need.
- D. Approval. Requests under these circumstances (known as a Temporary Medical Exception) must be submitted to the employee's immediate supervisor (or designee) as soon as the need for the temporary medical exception is known by the employee. The supervisor or designee will promptly forward the request with any comments (to include their proposal for the terms of the medical telework) to the Business Unit Head or Deputy Business Unit Head or designee. Decisions to grant or deny requests will be made by the Business Unit Head, Deputy, or designee and communicated to the employee in writing promptly, generally within one or two weeks, and taking into consideration the date on which the employee requests to begin telework. The reason(s) for any denial will be included in the response.

In determining whether to approve a request under this section, the supervisor must consider:

1. The work available for the employee to perform from a remote location as well as the ability to successfully complete assigned tasks in accordance with the employee's performance appraisal plan;
2. Whether or not the employee will have appropriate remote access to USPTO IT systems and the likelihood that the employee can be successful in working remotely;
3. The employee's ability to work without the disruption of providing childcare, eldercare, or medical needs (the employee may mid-day flex, if on an appropriate work schedule, to accomplish these activities); and
4. The impact of the employee's absence from the USPTO office on other employees as well as the ability of Trademarks to meet its business needs.

Approval to telework under this exception will be up to the duration of the medical need, depending on the work available to be performed at the approved alternate work site. In all instances, the telework granted pursuant to this medical exception may not exceed 4 months without renewed approval. However, the approval may be reviewed at any time and may be extended, adjusted, or revoked: a.) if the medical circumstances have changed; or b.) when participation is based on the medical needs of a family member and business unit needs have changed significantly). Approval of these requests for a temporary medical exception is separate and independent of the Agency's reasonable accommodation process and is not considered evidence of the Agency perceiving or regarding an employee as disabled under the Rehabilitation Act. Nothing in this section precludes or limits the ability of employees to request a reasonable accommodation nor limits the ability of supervisors to refer employees to the Reasonable Accommodation Program Office/OEEOD for assistance when appropriate.

E. Documentation. Upon request, employees must submit medical documentation) from a health care provider supporting the request for a temporary medical exception.

1. The statement or documentation will: --
 - a. State the general nature of the medical need and why the employee should be excused from working at the USPTO office (treatment of the employee or a family member outside of the commuting area will satisfy this requirement).
 - b. Confirm that the employee can perform work.
 - c. Include either of the following:
 - i. If the employee has the medical condition—that the employee is fit for duty at the alternate work site, including any limitations that may apply; or,
 - ii. If a family member has the medical condition—
 - (A) state that the family member will not require constant attention, or
 - (B) the employee may indicate on the application that other people will provide care when the employee is working.
 - d. The expected duration of the need based on the medical condition.
2. The employee will not be required to reveal any details about the medical condition other than the general nature of the condition as set out in the medical documentation described in Section V.E.1, and Trademarks may not require the employee or family member to sign a release for their medical information.

3. Trademarks will treat as confidential any medical information given by an employee in support of the medical telework request, and may only disclose such information subject to its Privacy Act and Rehabilitation Act obligations for work-related reasons on a need to know basis.
 4. The purpose of the health care provider's statement and/or documentation is to verify the existence of the medical reason asserted in the temporary medical request, that the employee could not reasonably be expected to work at the USPTO office or that working from an alternate worksite would help alleviate the medical condition or assist with recuperation, and that the employee is fit for duty at the alternate location. Trademarks will not substitute its own judgment for the medical judgment of the health care provider with respect to the validity of the medical condition, its duration, or how medical telework will alleviate the condition or help the employee (or family member) to recuperate (so long as there are sufficient details in the statement for Trademarks to understand the basis for the recommendations).
- F. Work Performed. Because of the added flexibility in terms of eligibility, scheduling and/or number of telework days and hours, the participant and the supervisor will discuss the work to be done, the hours to be worked (including both the number of hours per day and the time of these hours), and any changes in circumstances affecting the arrangement. The terms of the medical telework will be documented in writing and signed by the employee and supervisor or exchanged via email.

TRADEMARKS NTEU 243 TELEWORK PROGRAM

April 2022

Safety Guidelines for the Alternate Worksite(s)

Employees may use the following guidelines to assist them in a review of the overall safety and adequacy of their alternate worksite. The following are only recommendations, and do not encompass every situation that may be encountered. Employees are encouraged to obtain professional assistance with issues concerning appropriate electrical service and circuit capacity for residential worksites.

1. Develop and practice a fire evacuation plan for use in the event of an emergency.
2. Check your smoke detectors regularly and replace any batteries as needed.
3. Have a working fire extinguisher conveniently located at your alternate worksite (in the room where you work or appropriately located to help with evacuation), and check the charge regularly.
4. Computers are heavy. Place them on sturdy, level, well-maintained furniture.
5. Choose office chairs that provide good supporting backrests and allow adjustments to fit you comfortably.
6. Locate your computer to eliminate noticeable glare from windows and lighting. Place the computer monitor at a height that is comfortable and does not produce neck or back strain. Locate computer keyboards at heights that do not cause wrist strain or place the keyboard on an adjustable surface.
7. Install sufficient lighting in locations to reduce glare on the work surface.
8. Arrange file cabinets so that opened drawers do not block ingress and egress.
9. Be sure to leave space for ingress and egress, where possible, to reduce tripping hazards.
10. Be sure electrical equipment is connected to grounded outlets.
11. Avoid fire hazards by not overloading electrical circuits.
12. Inspect and repair carpeting with frayed edges or loose seams. Avoid using throw rugs that can cause triggering hazards in your workspace.
13. Locate computers, phones, and other electrical equipment in a manner that keeps power cords out of walkways.
14. Lock (CTRL+ALT+DEL) computers after the workday is over.
15. Keep your workspace clean and avoid clutter which can cause fire and tripping hazards.
16. Use proper lifting techniques when moving or lifting heavy equipment and furniture.
17. Report accidents and injuries immediately to your supervisor.

TRADEMARKS NTEU 243 TELEWORK PROGRAM

April 2022

ETIS Employee Information and Certification Language

The document summarizes the various conditions, understandings, and certifications required by an employee who applies for and enrolls into a USPTO telework program. The information will appear on screens during the ETIS application process.

General guidance and provisions of telework at USPTO

1. All pay, leave, and travel entitlements will be based on the participant's official duty station.
2. The participant must follow established USPTO procedures when requesting and taking leave, compensatory time or credit hours.
3. The participant agrees to complete surveys and attend focus group meetings and interviews to help evaluate the telework program.
4. For participants with government provided equipment: Upon reasonable advance notice by the agency, the participant will permit USPTO employees and contractors to access the alternate worksite during normal working hours on a day that the participant is working at home for the purpose of installing, repairing, maintaining, or removing equipment, software, or other USPTO property, or to investigate an accident or a Workers' Compensation claim or to investigate other work-related or safety problems arising from the administration of the telework program. The parties may mutually agree to a time outside of these hours.
5. The participant agrees to comply with USPTO instructions regarding the return or removal of program materials.
6. The government will not be liable for damages to a participant's personal or real property during the course of performance of official duties or while using government equipment in the participant's residence, except to the extent the government is liable by the Federal Tort Claims Act or claims arising under the Military Personnel and Civilians Employees Claims Act, or other laws.
7. All office policies and procedures and responsibilities remain in effect during a telework program unless the terms of the program agreement or guidelines specifically indicate a difference.
8. Participants who change their primary alternate worksite while participating in the program are required to update their primary alternate worksite address in the Enterprise Telework Information System (<https://etis.uspto.gov>). Participants must also keep their approved secondary alternate site location updated, but this does not constitute a relocation.
9. In accordance with USPTO CIO standards, participants in any telework program must have internet service provided by cable or fiber optic with minimum internet speeds of 15 Megabits per second of download speed and 4 Megabits per second of upload speed. The participant agrees that her/his internet speeds at the alternate worksite(s) meet or exceed this requirement, unless a lower speed is authorized by an underlying agreement.

TRADEMARKS NTEU 243 TELEWORK PROGRAM

April 2022

Employee Responsibilities Related to Human Resource Information

I understand the following:

1. I am responsible for keeping my residential address and duty station up-to-date in the Employee Personal Page (EPP) and ETIS systems;
2. I am responsible for reviewing my benefits coverage (health insurance, dental and vision plans, and long term care insurance), and ensuring the options I have selected provide coverage in my desired location. If I relocate out of the coverage area and wish to elect a new health benefit plan, I must notify the Office of Human Resources (OHR) to make a new election;
3. I am responsible for ensuring that the correct state taxes are withheld from my salary. If I move, I understand it is my responsibility to submit a change request through OHR according to the established processing timelines. If I fail to ensure the proper taxes are withheld from my salary, it is my responsibility to work with my state(s) to make any necessary corrections. The OHR will not make retroactive adjustments or withholdings. More information on how to change your state tax exemption can be found here;
4. Because I am responsible for making sure that taxes are being paid to the appropriate jurisdiction and that my pay is based on the location of my duty station, reviewing my earnings and leave statements is the best way of identifying any issues as early as possible;
5. If applicable, I will work with my supervisor to ensure a "Change in Duty Station" Personnel Action Request (PAR) is initiated in the HRConnect system before the effective date. I also understand that the change in duty station cannot be made effective until OHR has processed the request. If I fail to timely update my address or duty station, it may impact my locality pay and result in an erroneous salary overpayment. I will be required to refund any overpayment to the USPTO.
6. Questions regarding benefits, compensation or personnel action processing may be directed to HumanResources_USPTO@uspto.gov or by telephone at 571-272-6000.

Safeguarding USPTO information and equipment

1. The participant will protect Government/USPTO records from unauthorized disclosure or damage and will comply with the Privacy Act requirements set forth in the Privacy Act of 1974, Public Law 93-579, codified at 5 U.S.C. Section 522a.
2. The participant will ensure that Government/USPTO records taken from the USPTO are accessed only by authorized personnel.
3. The participant will safeguard documents, data files and equipment during transit and at the alternate worksite(s).
4. The participant must return all documents, data files, work products, drafts and notes to the USPTO upon participant ending participation in the program.

TRADEMARKS NTEU 243 TELEWORK PROGRAM

April 2022

Maintaining USPTO Virtual Private Network Connection Requirements

I certify that I have read the USPTO VPN Connection Requirements* and that my internet connection(s) are compliant.

* You may be required to show proof that the Internet Service Provider(s) you use at the alternative worksite(s) comply with the VPN Connection Requirements. Note: some employees with slower speeds may meet the requirements based on being covered by agreements negotiated with the union representing the participant.

Conditions for Participating in Telework

As a condition of participation in the Telework Program, I agree to the following:

1. I have read and agree to adhere to the program requirements, including agreements and guidelines as appropriate, of the Telework Program.
2. I acknowledge that all pay, leave and travel entitlements will be based on my official duty station.

Final Certifications Upon Signing

- By signing, I certify that I have read and will comply with the [Business Unit Telework Program] provisions and the Employee Responsibilities included on page 2 of 3.
- If my telework program offers TEAP¹¹ as an option and I have selected TEAP as my option, my signature also certifies that: I have read and will comply with the TEAP Operating Procedures; my participation is for my convenience, and, I waive my right to travel reimbursement as outlined in the TEAP Operating Procedures.

¹¹ Telework Enhancement Act Program

TRADEMARKS NTEU 243 TELEWORK PROGRAM

April 2022

USPTO New Employee Telework Agreement

The following constitutes an agreement between the U. S. Patent & Trademark Office and _____ (name of employee).

Type of Telework

Based on conversations with my supervisor I have been informed that I am eligible for and select: (choose one)

_____ Routine Telework (I will be allowed to telework a specified number of days and I will be in the USPTO facilities a specified number of days per week.

_____ Remote Work: I will work all of my hours from my home or other alternate work site and I am not expected to routinely report to a USPTO office or facility.

_____ Remote Work within 50 miles of the USPTO office or facility: I will work all of my hours from my home or an alternate work site that is located within 50 miles of the USPTO office or facility.

Location of Alternate Work Site:

The USPTO needs to know the location of your alternate work site. Please chose one of the statements below:

_____ The address I submitted with my new employee orientation documents is the location of my alternate work site.

_____ I intend to work from a different location than the address I submitted. I will call my supervisor and provide the information within the next two days.

The phone number at the alternate work site is: _____ (provide a mobile number if there is no land line)

Official Duty Station

Your Official Duty Station may determine your pay or other benefits. If you will work at the USPTO headquarters or another USPTO facility on a routine basis, your Official Duty Station will be the city and state of the USPTO facility. If you are a remote worker, your Official Duty Station will be the city and state of your alternate work site.

Discussions with Supervisor

This agreement references a number of policies, agreements, and other requirements. The Agency acknowledges that you do not have the ability to review these documents until you are an official employee of the Agency. Therefore, your supervisor will discuss any of these issues with you to help you understand his or her expectations and your requirements. You will have access to the material once you have access to the USPTO Intranet.

TRADEMARKS NTEU 243 TELEWORK PROGRAM

April 2022

Agreement Terms

- 1) This agreement becomes effective once you have signed the agreement and when you begin working for the USPTO. The Agreement does not require a signature of an Agency Representative.
- 2) This is a temporary agreement that will be in effect no longer than two months. The agreement expires on the earlier of you signing a new telework agreement appropriate for your position and business unit within the USPTO or 2 months after you begin working for the USPTO.
- 3) The employee may telework up to full-time under this agreement, with the extent of authorized telework determined by the employee's business unit. The Agency retains the authority to direct the employee to report to the official duty station as required. 50 Mile radius participants may be required to come to the USPTO as needed. Employees should communicate with their supervisor regarding the assignment of work while teleworking.
- 4) Employees agree to inform their supervisor of their work schedule at the beginning of each day or on a biweekly basis either by email or using the status function in Microsoft Teams, and to update the supervisor as soon as practicable of any changes to the schedule. The employee must comply with all rules and policies governing work schedules while teleworking.
- 5) The employee is required to have Internet Service with a download speed of at least 15 Mbps and an upload speed of at least 4 Mbps at the alternate work site.
- 6) Telework is not authorized when the employee is providing care to any individual. Employees shall have dependent care arrangements so that the employee's ability to work at the alternate worksite is not adversely affected. A dependent may be at the alternate worksite while the employee teleworks if those dependents are independently pursuing their own activities or otherwise provided for by a caretaker. For any time that the employee claims as work time, their attention must be oriented to work activities and not dependent care.
- 7) All pay, leave, and travel entitlements will be based on the employee's Official Duty Station.
- 8) Participants agree to comply with USPTO instructions regarding the return or removal of Agency materials. The employee will ensure that only authorized personnel access the materials provided by or taken from the USPTO.
- 9) The employee must return all USPTO files, work product, drafts, and notes to the USPTO within two business days of the employee ending participation in the program, regardless of whether participation ends voluntarily or at the direction of the Agency.

TRADEMARKS NTEU 243 TELEWORK PROGRAM

April 2022

- 10) Assigned duties may only be performed at the approved alternate work site or official duty station. Documents under secrecy orders or containing national security markings cannot be remotely accessed or removed from the USPTO work site.
- 11) The employee will safeguard and protect the confidentiality of patent applications and information therein in accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 122 and any private information (including information covered by the Privacy Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552a).
- 12) Signing and returning this agreement does not confer the right to telework when the employee is in a position that has not been approved for telework or to increase the amount of telework from what has been authorized by the USPTO.

I certify that I have read and will comply with the aforementioned provisions.

Print name

Employee's Signature

Date

An /s/ followed by the employee's name will be a sufficient signature for this document, or the employee may print, sign, scan and return the agreement.

Please return this agreement to your supervisor

Position Title	PP-Series-Grade	# Telework Days	Barg. Unit	TEAP Eligibility
Legal Instrument Examiner	GS-0963-09	5	243	Yes
Trademark Information Specialist	GS-0301-09	5	243	Yes
Audio Visual Production Specialist	GS-2210-13	5	243	No
Lead Visual Information Specialist	GS-1804-14	5	243	No
Legal Instrument Exam	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
Legal Instrument Exam	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
Legal Instrument Examiner	GS-0963-09	5	243	Yes
Legal Instrument Examiner	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
Legal Instrument Examiner	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
LIE	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
LIE	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
LIE	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
LIE	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
LIE	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
LIE	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
LIE	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
LIE	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
LIE	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
LIE	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
LIE	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
LIE	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
LIE	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
LIE	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
LIE	GS-0963-07	5	243	Yes
PARALEGAL SPECIALIST	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
PARALEGAL SPECIALIST	GS-0950-11	5	243	Yes
PARALEGAL SPECIALIST	GS-0950-11	5	243	Yes
PARALEGAL SPECIALIST	GS-0950-11	5	243	Yes
PARALEGAL SPECIALIST	GS-0950-11	5	243	Yes
PARALEGAL SPECIALIST	GS-0950-11	5	243	Yes
PARALEGAL SPECIALIST	GS-0950-11	5	243	Yes
PARALEGAL SPECIALIST	GS-0950-11	5	243	Yes
PARALEGAL SPECIALIST	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
PARALEGAL SPECIALIST	GS-0950-11	5	243	Yes
PARALEGAL SPECIALIST	GS-0950-11	5	243	Yes
Paralegal Specialist	GS-0950-11	5	243	Yes
Paralegal Specialist	GS-0950-11	5	243	Yes
Paralegal Specialist	GS-0950-09	5	243	Yes
Paralegal Specialist	GS-0950-12	5	243	Yes
Paralegal Specialist	GS-0950-12	5	243	Yes
Paralegal Specialist	GS-0950-11	5	243	Yes
SPVY TM Business Operations Spec (Data Mgt)	GS-2210-12	5	243	Yes
Sr Paralegal Specialist	GS-0950-12	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-09	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-09	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-09	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-09	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-09	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-09	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-09	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0950-11	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-09	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
TM Specialist	GS-0301-09	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Analyst	GS-0301-14	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Analyst	GS-0301-14	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Analyst	GS-2210-14	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Analyst	GS-0301-14	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Analyst	GS-2210-14	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Analyst	GS-2210-14	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Analyst	GS-0301-14	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Operations Specialist	GS-0301-13	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Operations Specialist	GS-2210-13	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Operations Specialist	GS-2210-13	0	243	Yes
Trademark Business Operations Specialist	GS-0301-13	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Operations Specialist	GS-2210-14	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Operations Specialist	GS-2210-13	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Operations Specialist	GS-0301-13	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Operations Specialist	GS-0301-12	5	243	Yes

Trademark Business Operations Specialist	GS-0301-13	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Operations Specialist	GS-0301-13	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Operations Specialist	GS-2210-13	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Operations Specialist	GS-2210-13	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Operations Specialist	GS-0301-13	5	243	Yes
Trademark Business Operations Specialist	GS-0301-12	5	243	Yes
Trademark Information Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
Trademark Information Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
Trademark Information Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
Trademark Information Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
Trademark Information Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
Trademark Information Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
Trademark Information Specialist	GS-0301-09	5	243	Yes
Trademark Information Specialist	GS-0301-09	5	243	Yes
Trademark Information Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
Trademark Information Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
Trademark Information Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
Trademark Information Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
Trademark Information Specialist	GS-0301-09	5	243	Yes
Trademark Information Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
Trademark Information Specialist	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
Trademark Specialist(MPU)	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
Trademark Specialist(MPU)	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
Trademark Specialist(MPU)	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
Trademark Specialist(MPU)	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
Trademark Specialist(MPU)	GS-0301-11	5	243	Yes
Trademark Specialist(MPU)	GS-301-09	5	243	Yes
VISUAL INFO SPEC (MULTIMEDIA)	GS-1084-13	5	243	No
Visual Information Specialist	GS-1084-13	5	243	No
Visual Information Specialist	GS-1084-13	5	243	No
Visual Information Specialist	GS-1084-13	5	243	No
Visual Information Specialist	GS-1084-13	5	243	No
Visual Information Specialist	GS-1084-13	5	243	No
				113 Total

APPENDIX D

Re: Work Schedule for Trademark Information Specialists In the Trademark Assistance Center (TAC)

The United States Patent & Trademark Office (USPTO or Agency) and the National Treasury Employees Union, Chapter 243 (NTEU or Union), agree to the following terms regarding the Telework program for Trademarks TIS NTEU 243 Bargaining Unit employees in the Trademark Assistance Center.

1. The Trademark Assistance Center (TAC) provides service for Trademarks external customers between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. EST, Monday through Friday. Employees in TAC are assigned tour of duty hours between the operational hours of 8:30am and 8:00pm, EST and may only telework between those hours Monday through Friday whether at the alternate or official duty station.
2. The parties agree this Appendix D does not supersede the cover MOU.

DECISION ON AGENCY-HEAD REVIEW

Agency-head review under 5 USC 7114 (c) has been completed on the Memorandum of Understanding between NTEU Chapter 243 ("NTEU 243") and USPTO ("Agency") covering the terms and implementation of a telework program for the Chief Administrative Office, which was executed by NTEU 243 and the Agency on May 24, 2022. Under the authority delegated to me by the General Counsel, on July 19, 2018:

I approve this Agreement as in accordance with the Federal Service Labor-Management Relations Statute, 5 USC 7101, et seq., and other applicable laws, rules and regulations.

I disapprove this Agreement as inconsistent with the Federal Service Labor-Management Relations Statute, 5 USC 7101, et seq., and/or other applicable laws, rules and regulations.

David Shewchuk

Deputy General Counsel for General Law

United States Patent and Trademark Office

Date: 27 May 2022

Cc: Tabitha G. Macko

Sonya Penn

Kathryn Siehndel

Memorandum of Understanding

May 24, 2022

The parties to this Memorandum of Understanding (MOU), National Treasury Employees Union, Chapter 243 (NTEU 243) and the United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO or Agency), agree to this MOU covering the terms and implementation of a telework program for Chief Administrative Office (CAO) NTEU 243 bargaining unit employees. The parties have worked collaboratively to develop the terms of the program, which are attached to this MOU as Appendix A (the Program) along with a list of position eligibility as Appendix B. This MOU covers NTEU 243 bargaining unit members working in CAO. This agreement supersedes any other CAO telework agreement covering CAO NTEU 243 employees. In addition, the parties agree as follows:

- 1. Meeting of Bargaining Obligations: acknowledges that the Agency has met its notice and bargaining obligations regarding the implementation of the Program.
- 2. Implementation of Program: The Program will begin implementation during the notice period provided to employees regarding the reopening of the Alexandria Headquarters of the USPTO. Employees who have completed all of the actions necessary to participate in the program during that period will begin their new telework arrangement once the Office is no longer on maximum telework.
- 3. Reviewing Positions for Eligibility: No later than May of each year, CAO will notify NTEU 243 of all bargaining unit positions it has identified as eligible for telework, the number of days per week each position is eligible to telework, and whether a position eligible to telework five days per week is also eligible for TEAP. CAO will meet with NTEU 243 to discuss these determinations, including any positions CAO has identified as ineligible for telework and the reason(s) therefore. CAO will publish individual Position Eligibility lists after discussing eligibility determinations with the Union.

Position Title	Pay Plan/Series/Grade/Step	Current # Days/Week Teleworking	New Proposal	Change	Bargaining Unit Code and Desc	Office
BLDG MGMT SPECLST	GS-1176-12/08	2	2	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
BLDG MGMT SPECLST	GS-1176-12/08	2	2	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
BLDG MGMT SPECLST	GS-1176-12/09	2	2	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
BLDG MGMT SPECLST	GS-1176-09/01	2	2	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
BLDG MGMT SPECLST	GS-1176-12/10	2	2	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
BLDG MGMT SPECLST	GS-1176-12/01	2	2	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
BLDG MGMT SPECLST	GS-1176-09/10	2	2	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
BLDG MGMT SPECLST	GS-1176-09/05	2	2	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
BLDG MGMT SPECLST	GS-1176-12/01	2	2	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION SPECLST	GS13	5	5	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
CONFERENCE SERVICES MANAGER	GS-0301-13/04	0	1	1	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
SPACE & TELECOMMUN SPECLST/SPACE PROJ MGMT SPECLST	GS-0301-13/10	2	3	1	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
SPACE & MOVE SPECIALIST	GS-0301-12/04	2	2	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
SPACE & MOVE SPECIALIST	GS-0301-12/04	2	2	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
SPACE & MOVE SPECIALIST	GS-0301-11/01	2	2	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
SPACE & TELECOMMUN SPECLST	GS-0301-13/03	2	3	1	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
SPACE & TELECOMMUN SPECLST	GS-0301-13/07	2	3	1	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
SPACE & TELECOMMUN SPECLST	GS-0301-13/04	2	3	1	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
PROJECT MANAGER	GS-0301-13/10	2	3	1	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
SPACE MANAGEMENT SPECIALIST	GS-0301-13/01	2	3	1	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
SPACE MANAGEMENT SPECIALIST	GS-0301-13/07	2	3	1	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
SPACE MANAGEMENT SPECIALIST	GS-0301-12/13	2	3	1	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
SPACE MGMT ASST	GS-0303-05/02	0	1	1	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
PROG ANAL	GS-0343-12/10	2	3	1	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
PROP DISPOS SPECLST	GS-1104-13/04	2	3	1	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
PRTG SPECLST	GS-1654-12/09	2	3	1	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
MATERIALS HANDLER SUPERVISOR	WS-6907-04/03	0	0	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
MGMT & PROG ANAL	GS-0343-13/09	2	0	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
MOTOR VEHCL OPERTR	WG-5703-06/05	0	0	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
MOTOR VEHCL OPERTR	WG-5703-06/03	0	0	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
MOVE SPECIALIST	GS-0301-11/03	1	1	1	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
MTRLS HNDLR	WG-6907-05/03	0	0	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
MTRLS HNDLR	WG-6907-05/03	0	0	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
MTRLS HNDLR	WG-6907-05/02	0	0	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
MTRLS HNDLR	WG-6907-05/03	0	0	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
SUPPORT SERVICES SPECIALIST	GS-0342-12/07	2	3	1	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
CONTACT REPR	GS-0962-07/10	0	2	2	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
CONTACT REPR	GS-0962-07/10	2	2	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
CONTACT REPR	GS-0962-07/10	0	2	2	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
CONTACT REPR	GS-0962-07/10	2	2	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
SUPVY CONTACT REPRESENTATIVE	GS-0962-11/05	2	2	0	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
ASSET MANAGEMENT PROGRAM SPECIALIST	GS-0301-13/03	2	3	1	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
SUPV ASSET MANAGEMENT PROGRAM SPECIALI	GS-0301-14/01	2	3	1	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
QUALITY CONTROL MONITOR	GS-0301-09/10	2	3	1	2318 - NTEU CHAPTER 243	OAS
Electronic Records Management Specialist	GS-0301-14/7	2	3	1	NTEU 243	CAO Front Office
Records Management Specialist	GS-0301-13/5	1	3	2	NTEU 243	CAO Front Office
Government Information Specialist	GS-0306-13/1	0	4	4	NTEU 243	CAO Front Office
Government Information Specialist	GS-0306-12/1	0	4	4	NTEU 243	CAO Front Office
		71	65	33

Office of Chief Administrative Officer
Telework Program
May 2022

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

Table of Contents

I. Provisions Applicable to all Telework Participants	1
A. Introduction	1
B. Eligibility	2
C. Application	5
D. Worksites	10
E. Equipment, Tools, and Supplies.....	12
F. Collaboration and Engagement.....	16
G. Schedules and Time and Attendance.....	16
H. In-person Events.....	17
I. Changes to Operating Status and Unscheduled Telework (e.g., Inclement Weather).....	18
J. Performance Management	19
K. Miscellaneous Provisions.....	19
II. Provisions Applicable to Situational Telework Participants	21
III. Provisions Applicable to Routine Telework Participants	21
IV. Temporary Medical Exception	25
Appendix A: Safety Guidelines for the Alternate Worksite(s)	28
Appendix B: ETIS Employee Information and Certification Language	29
Appendix C: USPTO New Employee Telework Agreement	32

All page numbers refer to the page number in the footer, which is different than the page number of the electronic document.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

I. Provisions Applicable to all Telework Participants

A. Introduction

1. Program Overview. The CAO Telework Program (Program) allows eligible employees to perform assigned duties at an approved telework location, including their home. The Program is designed to deliver on the missions of the CAO and its customers while providing employees with workplace flexibility. The Program includes two telework options: situational, and routine. Participation in the Program is voluntary and does not change the conditions of employment except as specified in these provisions.

Section I of this document is applicable to all Program participants (participants). Section II outlines additional provisions applicable to participants who elect situational telework. Section III outlines additional provisions applicable to participants who elect routine telework for one to five days per week. Section IV outlines provisions for a temporary medical exception to leverage telework options for which their position is otherwise not eligible.

2. Definitions. The following definitions are used for the purposes of the Program:
 - a. USPTO office is defined as the USPTO headquarters in Alexandria, VA, unless otherwise designated as another location.
 - b. Official duty station is the city/town and state in which an employee's official worksite is located. For purposes of this program, the official duty station will always be in the United States (currently defined as the 50 United States, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico). An employee's official duty station is the location that is documented on the most recent SF-50, Notification of Personnel Action.
 - c. Official worksite is the location where an employee regularly performs their assigned duties. This will be the USPTO office in Alexandria, VA.
 - d. Alternate worksite is an approved telework location. Approval must be received in advance of teleworking from an alternate worksite. A teleworking employee may have both a primary alternate worksite (i.e., the principal telework location, likely an employee's home) and one or more secondary alternate worksites (e.g., a relative's home, or a vacation or second property). See Section I.D. for alternate worksite requirements.
 - e. Situational telework is defined as performing assigned duties at an approved alternate worksite occasionally and on a case-by-case basis (i.e., the employee does not telework on an ongoing and regular telework schedule). Supervisory approval is required each time the employee teleworks. Situational telework may also be referred to as episodic, intermittent, or ad-hoc. A participant's official worksite, and therefore official duty station, will remain as the USPTO office. See Section II for situational telework provisions.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

- f. Routine telework is defined as performing assigned duties at an approved alternate worksite on an approved ongoing and regular telework schedule. The participant routinely teleworks for one to five days per week and performs assigned duties at the USPTO office for four days to one (1) day¹ per week. The participant works at both the alternate worksite and at the USPTO office during each bi-week. The number of days eligible for telework are determined assuming a five-day workweek. This does not preclude an employee from using work schedule flexibilities to work less than the number of days eligible for telework at the approved alternate worksite, so long as the participant is working at the USPTO office in accordance with the expected number of days defined in the position eligibility. A participant's official worksite, and therefore official duty station, will remain as the USPTO office. See Section III for routine telework provisions.

B. Eligibility

1. Activities Not Suitable for Telework. Positions generally eligible for telework are those positions with a sufficient volume of tasks that are suitable to be performed at an alternate worksite. Examples of the type of work that cannot be performed at an alternate worksite and will therefore limit the number of days a position is eligible for telework are:
 - a. Activities that require physical face-to-face personal contacts;
 - b. Activities that are restricted to a certain location;
 - c. Intake or distribution of postal mail;
 - d. Working with paper-based documentation not maintained in electronic format that is not portable and must not be duplicated such as processing or staging of records;
 - e. Hands-on contact with machinery, equipment, vehicles, or files; or

¹ If an employee is required to report at least two times each bi-weekly pay period to the USPTO office, the reporting requirement is met by working in the USPTO office for a minimum of 15 minutes per week.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

- f. Direct handling of classified or other secure materials that are not appropriate to access remotely.
2. Position Eligibility. The number of days a position is eligible to telework will be determined by evaluating the daily volume of tasks that are suitable to be performed at an alternate worksite and the daily volume of tasks that must be performed at the USPTO office.
 - a. Not eligible for telework: the position's duties can only effectively be performed at the USPTO office.
 - b. Situational Telework: the position's duties are typically only able to be effectively performed at the USPTO office, but occasionally the employee's duties and the USPTO's needs are capable of being modified on a case-by-case basis to support non-routine performances of duties at an approved alternate worksite.
 - c. Routine Telework:
 - i. 1 day per week: the position's duties, and the USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 1 day per week of routine telework. Employees in the position are expected to work at the USPTO office at least 4 days per week.
 - ii. 2 days per week: the position's duties, and USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 2 days per week of routine telework. Employees in the position are expected to work at the USPTO office at least 3 days per week.
 - iii. 3 days per week: the position's duties, and the USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 3 days per week of routine telework. Employees in the position are expected to work at the USPTO office at least 2 days per week.
 - iv. 4 days per week: the position's duties, and USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 4 days per week of routine telework. Employees in the position are expected to work at the USPTO office at least 1 day per week.
 - v. 5 days per week: the position's duties, and the USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 5 days per week of routine telework. If an employee chooses this telework option they maintain the USPTO office as their official duty station and they must report to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week for 15 minutes for each occurrence to meet the recurring reporting requirement. This option is sometimes referred to as hoteling. See [Section III.C.]

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

Telework Program Options

Telework
Situational	Routine
Portable duties eligible to be performed via telework on an occasional or infrequent basis.	Partial Telework	Full Telework
	Up to 4 days telework per week (adjusted for part time employees)	Full extent of work schedule
	With regular and routine Reporting Requirement
	Supplemental Situational telework is available. You will retain office if teleworking for 1 or 2 days per week; you must share office if teleworking for 3 or 4 days per week.	Room Reservation requirement

3. Review Positions for Eligibility. Annually, the CAO will review positions to determine the number of days each position is eligible for telework.
4. Individual Eligibility. Employees in a position deemed telework eligible are eligible to telework after they satisfy the minimum requirements outlined in the provisions of the Program See requirements at [1.C.2.] and they meet the statutory eligibility requirements See Section [1.B.5.]. The number of days a position is deemed eligible for telework will decree the maximum number of days an employee is eligible to telework.
5. Statutory Eligibility². An employee is not eligible to participate in the Program if they: 1) have been officially disciplined for being absent without permission (i.e., absent without leave (AWOL)) for more than five days in any calendar year, or 2) have been officially disciplined for violations of subpart G of the Standard of Ethical Conduct of Employees of the Executive Branch for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties.

² Telework Enhancement Act of 2010, as amended, 5 U.S.C § 6502(a)(2).

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

6. Position Changes. Employees joining the CAO from another USPTO position will be required to apply for participation in the Program, subject to their new position's eligibility determination. Employees moving from one position to another within either CAO are not required to reapply to the Program, but may be required to adjust their selected telework option and/or telework days based on their new position's eligibility and/or the CAO needs, as the case may be. The employee must discuss their schedule, the assigned duties to be performed at the alternate worksite, duty station and reporting requirements, and agreed-upon methods for communication and collaboration with their new position's supervisor.

C. Application

1. Request. An employee may participate in the Program to the maximum extent permitted by their position eligibility, or participate less than the maximum permissible, if applicable. (E.g., an employee in a position eligible for four days of telework per week may elect to participate on a four day per week basis, a fewer number of days per week, or not to telework at all.)

As described in I.C.2, below, employees wishing to participate in the Program will submit a request through the USPTO's Enterprise Telework Information System \(ETIS\), specifying the program option and number of days per week they wish to telework, as follows:

- a. Situational. As described in Section II, participants in this telework option generally report to the USPTO office five days per week, but are authorized to occasionally telework, up to the maximum number of days per week for which their position is eligible, as the employees' duties and/or circumstances make desirable.
- b. Routine: one day per week. As described in Section III.B, participants in this option report to the USPTO office four days per week. When at the USPTO office, a one day per week participant will maintain their status quo office.
- c. Routine: two days per week. As described in Section III.B, participants in this option report to the USPTO office three days per week. When at the USPTO office, a two day per week participant will maintain their status quo office.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

- d. Routine: three days per week. As described in Section III.B., participants in this option report to the USPTO office two days per week. When at the USPTO office, a three day per week participant will share an office with another employee.
 - e. Routine: four days per week. As described in Section III.B., participants in this option report to the USPTO office one day per week. When at the USPTO office, a four day per week participant will share an office with another employee.
 - f. Five days per week. If electing to telework five days per week, a participant is presented with only one five day per week program option as follows:
 - i. Routine: Hoteling. As described in Section III.C., participants in this option report to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week for a minimum of 15 minutes at each occurrence on a schedule of their choosing. Participants will relinquish their USPTO designated office and, when at the USPTO office to meet the minimum reporting requirement, a five day per week routine telework participant will use temporary or "hoteling" office space.
2. Requirements. All employees who wish to participate in the Program must meet or complete the following requirements. Additional information about each item is located at the referenced section of this document.
- a. Be in an eligible position. See [Section I.B.]
 - b. Read the Program Guidelines (this document).
 - c. Hold a conversation with your immediate supervisor to discuss:
 - i. The desired telework program option and schedule based on position eligibility. See Sections [I.B., I.C.1, I.G., and III.B.1]
 - ii. The assigned duties to be performed at the alternate worksite(s), See Sections [I.B., III.A., and III.B.]
 - iii. CAO work schedule operating parameters, including agreed-upon methods for communication and collaboration. See Sections [I.E.3., I.F., and I.G.1]
 - iv. Worksites, including the primary alternate worksite, the official worksite, and whether there will be more than one alternate worksite. See [Section I.D.]

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

- v. If teleworking three or four days per week, which requires a participant to share an office, discuss office move and sharing logistics to execute the move. [See Section III.B.3.]
 - vi. If teleworking five days per week, which requires a participant to relinquish their office, discuss the process for moving out of their office and reserving a hoteling room. [See Sections III.C.2.]
 - d. Review the alternate worksite(s) safety and security guidelines located on the USPTO Telework Resources website. [See Sections I.D.5. and I.D.6. and Appendix A.]
 - e. Secure approved internet service. [See Section I.E.2.]
 - f. Complete USPTO Teleworker Training: Telework Effectiveness and submit your certificate to your supervisor and the Business Unit Telework Coordinator. [See Section I.C.5.]
 - g. Submit an application for telework through the ETIS.
 - i. New employees will receive a New Employee Temporary Telework Agreement with the new hire welcome packet that must be signed before teleworking (see Appendix C). New employee information is loaded into the ETIS approximately three weeks after an employee's start date. The temporary agreement must be replaced by a permanent application and agreement through the ETIS within two months after the employee's start date.
 - h. Request and receive applicable telework equipment. The universal laptop and SecurID are the minimum equipment required to begin teleworking. [See Sections I.C.5. and I.E.1.]
 - i. If applying to telework five days per week discuss the recurring reporting requirement with your immediate supervisor. [See Section III.C.1.]
3. Approval.
- a. Decisions to grant or deny telework requests will be made by the participant's immediate supervisor based on whether the position is eligible, whether the employee meets the requirements to participate in the Program [See Section I.C.2.], and whether the employee's request is otherwise consistent with the Program. The maximum number of days per week an employee may participate will be based on the number of days the position is eligible for telework.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

- b. Decisions on requests to grant or deny a telework request will be made promptly using the ETIS, generally within one week of submission of the request. Decisions to grant will include the number of days the employee is permitted to telework per week. Decisions to deny will include the reason for denial. An employee may appeal a decision to deny to the second level supervisor with a copy to the Business Unit Telework Coordinator.
 - c. Employees approved to telework who are not already teleworking or onboarding virtually will be authorized to begin telework the first full pay period after completing the required training and receiving the minimum amount of equipment to telework. The immediate supervisor may permit teleworking sooner at their discretion. Refer to Section I.C.9. for additional guidance about modifications to telework program options.
4. Telework Agreement. All participants must have an approved telework agreement denoting the telework option selected and signed by the employee and supervisor to begin telework. The telework agreement will be completed when applying for telework through the ETIS.
5. Equipment Deployment. All participants must receive the minimum amount of equipment to perform official duties at the alternate worksite before teleworking. Follow the steps outlined below to request and receive your equipment. Participants will be provided with the minimum amount of equipment as soon as practicable after the approval of the telework request. See [Section I.E.1]
 - a. Contact the Telework Coordinator after completing Section I.C.2 steps a. through g.
 - b. The Telework Coordinator will send the employee a Telework Equipment Deployment spreadsheet template to finalize in accordance with the guidelines included in Section I.E.1.
 - c. Deliver the completed spreadsheet to immediate supervisor for approval.
 - d. The supervisor will review the spreadsheet for compliance with equipment listed in Section I.E.1 and submit it to the Telework Coordinator representing their approval.
 - e. The Telework Coordinator will request the equipment.
 - f. The employee will be notified when the equipment is ready to be delivered or retrieved from the USPTO Telework Depot.
 - g. If on-boarding as a new employee with the USPTO virtually, before the on-board date the employee will be contacted by the OHR, the employee's supervisor, and/or the Telework Coordinator to arrange for equipment deployment. The Telework

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

Coordinator will work with the employee's supervisor to define equipment needs and request equipment deployment.

- i. The USPTO, OCIO will ship equipment to the employee to be received at least two days prior to the start date.
 - ii. The USPTO, OCIO will also deliver the employee's network account information and SecurID or other means of alternate authentication once the employee is sworn in.
6. Training. All participants teleworking for the first time must complete telework training before an employee is permitted to telework. If on-boarding as a new employee with the USPTO virtually, Training should be completed no later than two weeks after the employee's start date. The employee may contact the Telework Coordinator for assistance in locating the training. Managers should also complete Manager Training: Telework Effectiveness. The Office will ensure that such training is made available promptly to all participants whose requests to telework are approved.
 7. Telework Agreement Updates. Participants will use the ETIS to update their telework agreement when participant telework information changes and annually for recertification, including that the participant reviewed the safety guidelines for alternate worksite(s). The Agency will remind all participants of the recertification requirement annually. The safety guidelines are posted on the Telework Program Office website and at Appendix A. Participants are responsible for updating the ETIS and telework agreement to ensure the Program option and address(es) of the alternate worksite(s) are accurate at all times.
 8. Participant Telework Program Changes. The participant's telework schedule should reflect the program option selected in ETIS and recorded on the telework agreement. If a participant is regularly teleworking or working in the office on a schedule different than the program option selected, the participant or the supervisor should initiate a conversation about modifying the telework program option selected in ETIS using the procedures outlined in Section I.C.9., below.
 9. Modifications. Participants may permanently modify their telework program option by selecting telework program option and days up to the maximum number of days for which the position is eligible using the ETIS. There are no advance notification requirements for participants whose positions are eligible to telework five days per week and who request to update their telework program option in a manner that does not impact office arrangements (e.g., changing from one day to two days per week telework)

Participants who encumber positions eligible to telework less than five days per week

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

must discuss schedule changes with their supervisor if requesting to reduce the number of days working at the USPTO Office.

Otherwise, to allow for office arrangements, participants will notify their supervisor and the Telework Program coordinator via email at least two weeks in advance of modifying a telework program option from four days or less telework per week to five days' telework per week or withdrawing from the program; and four weeks in advance of changing status from five, four, or three days' telework per week to less than three days' telework per week. For exigent circumstances the Office will process employee requests in less than 4 weeks by providing hoteling or temporary office space to the employee until a permanent workspace can be arranged.

See Section III. B. 2. for guidance on temporary schedule changes.

D. Worksites

1. Locations. Participants will designate a primary alternate worksite as the location where hours will be worked while not at the USPTO office. If a participant desires, they may designate an additional location as a secondary alternate worksite. All alternate worksites must be located in the fifty (50) states of the United States, the District of Columbia, or Puerto Rico. The designation of a participant's official worksite is dependent on the designation of a participant's official duty station, as follows:
 - a. A situational telework participant's official worksite is the USPTO office.
 - b. A routine telework participant's official worksite is the USPTO office.
2. Alternate Worksites. An alternate worksite may be the participant's home or other approved appropriate location. The participant must designate a room or location in their alternate worksite for placement and use of the equipment provided for the Program. Participants are responsible for purchasing and maintaining all office furniture at the alternate worksites.

Participants are responsible for ensuring compliance with all local laws or rules governing an office in their home. Participants who are renters are responsible for ensuring that their lease allows the installation of all the necessary equipment and connection services (e.g., compliant internet service) for the Program.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

Participants are responsible for any utility cost, cooling, heating, and lighting at the alternate worksites. Participants are responsible for any re-wiring, updating, and improvements necessary to bring the electrical connections in an alternate worksite up to the required standards.

3. Working at a Secondary Alternate Worksite. Secondary alternate worksites are subject to the rules outlined in Section I.D.2. above. Participants must request approval to work at a secondary alternate worksite through ETIS prior to working from that location.

Requests are not necessary for each use of a secondary alternate worksite once the secondary alternate worksite is approved through ETIS. However, the participant must communicate the routine and recurring schedule with their immediate supervisor.

The amount of time spent working at the secondary alternate worksite cannot exceed 6 months in any 12-month period otherwise the secondary alternate worksite should be changed to become the primary alternate worksite. Employees must track their time at alternate worksites; if the intended stay at any secondary alternate worksite exceeds 6 months in a 12-month period, then the participant's supervisor initiates a Personnel Action Request (PAR) to change the duty station in the designated USPTO human resources system. The participant should also update their residence address in EPP, as applicable.

A participant whose official worksite is at the USPTO office will generally not be permitted to work at a secondary alternate worksite that is outside of a 50-mile radius of their USPTO office for a full bi-week or more at a time, unless the participant reports to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week [See Section III.C.1.], meets one of the exceptions in 5 C.F.R. § 531.605\(d\)\(2\), or has been granted a temporary medical exception [See Section IV].

4. Transporting Equipment. When a participant has been approved to work at a secondary alternate worksite they are responsible for safely and securely transporting equipment to and from the alternate worksites [See Section I.E.7.]. The participant is also responsible for determining the equipment necessary to successfully perform their official duties at the secondary alternate worksite. A participant will only be issued one set of telework equipment in accordance with the standards outlined in Section I.E.1.
5. Safety Guidelines. All participants will review the alternate worksite(s) safety and security guidelines located on the USPTO Telework Program website. [See Appendix A.]
6. Security. All alternate worksites must meet security and privacy requirements, including those established and occasionally updated by OCIO regarding IT security [See Section

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

1.E.4.J. Participants are not permitted to work in a public area, e.g., a coffee shop, an airport terminal, or outside in a park.

7. Inspection. The participant will permit other USPTO employees and contractors to access the alternate worksite during the hours from 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM, Monday-Friday (excluding holidays) upon two business days' notice to the participant. Accessing the alternate worksite will be for the purpose of installing, repairing, maintaining, or removing work equipment, software, or other USPTO property, to investigate an accident or a worker's compensation claim, or to investigate other work related or safety problems arising from the administration of the Program. The parties may mutually agree to a time outside of these hours.

E. Equipment, Tools, and Supplies

1. Standard Equipment. Participants will be provided with a standard suite of IT equipment necessary to perform official assigned duties remotely at the primary alternate worksite as soon as practicable after the approval of the telework request. A participant may decline deployment of equipment if, after consultation with their supervisor, they deem the equipment is not necessary to productively perform official assigned duties at the primary alternate worksite (e.g., no printer, one monitor instead of two, etc.). Standard equipment includes the following:
 - a. 5 days per week: A universal laptop; docking station; two monitors; webcam; printer (provided the supervisor deems it necessary to perform assigned official duties); telephone headset; keyboard; mouse; SecurID (FOB) or other means of alternate authentication; and other related peripherals.
 - b. 3 and 4 days per week. A universal laptop, docking station, two monitors, webcam, telephone headset, SecurID (FOB) or other means of alternate authentication, keyboard, mouse, and other related peripherals. A printer may be issued if the immediate supervisor deems it necessary to perform assigned official duties. Immediate supervisor approvals must be provided to the Telework Coordinator before printers will be deployed. If a participant is issued an approved printer to use at the alternate worksite, the employee will relinquish their personal office printer and use a shared network printer.
 - c. 2 days per week or less. A universal laptop, docking station, one monitor, webcam, telephone headset, SecurID (FOB) or other means of alternate authentication, keyboard, mouse, and other related peripherals.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

- d. Situational telework. A universal laptop and SecurID (FOB) or other means of alternate authentication.

To ensure a seamless customer experience, participants are required to use USPTO assigned phone numbers for communication with colleagues and customers.

Necessary equipment will be provided to the participant as soon as practicable after the approval of the telework request. The universal laptop and SecureID (FOB), or other designated authentication technology, is the minimum equipment required to begin teleworking.

2. Internet Service.

- a. Requirements. All participants must have high-speed broadband internet service such as cable or fiber optic that meets USPTO's virtual private network (VPN) connection requirements at all alternate worksites. Wired connectivity is recommended. Employees may choose to work either wired or wirelessly, but must be able to connect with a wired connection as needed to improve connectivity or upon OCIO request (e.g., in responding to a service request or to facilitate updates).

- b. Internet Service (IS) Reimbursement. Given that participants who telework five days per week have relinquished their USPTO office, they are eligible for IS cost reimbursement at their approved alternate worksite(s) in accordance with the USPTO ISP Reimbursement Policy.

3. Collaboration Tools. Participants must use USPTO collaboration tools in accordance with the USPTO's Time and Attendance Tools, Communication, and Collaboration (TACC) Policy, or any policy that supersedes it. Collaboration tools include, but are not limited to: instant messaging and chat; document/desktop sharing and whiteboard features; virtual meeting tools; video communication and conferencing equipment; and presence indicator. Employees will be required to use their video communication tools (i.e., camera) in accordance with NTEU 243 negotiated agreements for specific meetings and when their active participation during such meeting is required.

4. IT Security. Participants are responsible for the security of Federal government property, information, and information systems at all alternate worksites. If not properly implemented, telework may introduce vulnerabilities into USPTO systems and networks. To prevent security incidents, participants are required to protect information and information systems commensurate with risk and complete the annual USPTO mandatory IT Security Awareness Training.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

Information associated with official business should be stored in controlled, accessible, and safeguarded locations. Participants should store information in places that are adequately accessible to other colleagues (with a need to know) and backed up (e.g., shared drives, SharePoint) and refrain from desktop storage. Participants will not store USPTO information on personal devices or accounts.

The creation of paper copies containing sensitive information should be minimized to the greatest extent possible while teleworking. Most home or non-industrial shredders do not meet the General Services Administration's (GSA) approved cross-cut shredder requirement; therefore, these paper files must be stored in a locked drawer or room until participants can return to campus and utilize GSA-approved shredders. Please contact the USPTO Records Officers or CUI Managers if you have hard copies at your alternate worksite and are unable to adequately secure and store the documents until you can return to the USPTO. Please email CUI@uspto.gov with any questions related to properly disposing of records.

- a. Care must be taken to ensure records subject to the Privacy Act (5 U.S.C. § 552a, Records Maintained on Individuals) and sensitive but non-classified data are not disclosed to anyone except those who have authorized access to perform their duties. Participants should refer to the Rules of the Road.
 - b. Participants are responsible for the security of all official information, protection of any government furnished equipment and property, and the execution of the mission of the USPTO at the alternate worksite(s) in accordance with existing USPTO and DOC policies.
 - c. Any USPTO owned equipment is for official use only. Use of the equipment for private purposes is prohibited except as permitted by the USPTO Rules of the Road. Family members and friends of Participants are not authorized to use any government furnished equipment.
 - d. Participants are to comply with all security related USPTO policies including the USPTO Rules of the Road. These policies may be found on the USPTO intranet website.
5. USPTO Equipment Failures. Participants are to contact the USPTO Service Desk to report Agency-provided equipment or software failures or problems, including connecting via the VPN, as soon as they are discovered and follow the procedures provided by the Service Desk. In the event that VPN or Agency provided equipment problems (including USPTO power outages) prohibit working at an alternate worksite, the participant must notify their immediate supervisor. The participant may consult with their immediate supervisor to determine if there is non-equipment related work available at the alternate worksite and determine how to record time. See Section I.G.7 for guidance about non-weather related equipment failures at the alternate worksite(s) (e.g., participant power outages and interruptions in internet access) and Section I.I.1 for weather related outages.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

6. Ownership and Maintenance. USPTO maintains ownership and control of any and all equipment, software, other materials, and data provided to the participant by the agency. The USPTO acts as the insurer for damage, theft, or other loss (e.g., fire, flood, etc.) of the USPTO equipment and materials only. Equipment provided by the Agency will be serviced and maintained by the Agency.
7. Safeguarding Assets. All participants are responsible for reasonably safeguarding and protecting government issued equipment. The accountability and security of IT resources See [Section I.E.4] extends to your alternate worksite(s), residence, other approved telework location, and/or other areas in which you use, travel with, and store the equipment. When a participant chooses to work at a secondary alternate worksite they are responsible for safely and securely transporting equipment to and from the alternate worksites. Reasonable safeguards must be consistently exercised to ensure that government property is not vulnerable to any negligence or potential criminal activity. When a participant is assigned a piece of equipment, including the Universal Laptop, the participant is responsible for reasonable safeguards of its physical safety, as well as the data stored on it. Suggestions for safeguarding equipment and procedures for reporting lost, stolen, or damaged equipment are available on the USPTO's Asset Management website.

Participants will provide property custodians with all information requested to inventory assets and will provide timely notice of equipment changes and issues.

8. Returning Equipment. Any equipment provided to the participant for use at the alternate worksite(s) should be returned to the Agency generally within five business days from the end of the participant's participation in the Program, unless exigent circumstances exist. Any equipment that was deployed to the participant and is not needed to perform official duties should be returned as soon as the participant deems the equipment as unnecessary.

A participant returning equipment must notify the Telework Coordinator to facilitate the return.

The USPTO may require return or exchange of Agency provided equipment. Participants may be required to report to the USPTO office to receive equipment or to repair or exchange equipment.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

9. Supplies.

Telework participants may pick up small office supplies required to carry out their official assigned duties from the USPTO office and those who have been issued a printer may pick up paper and toner from the USPTO office.

F. Collaboration and Engagement. Employee engagement is a priority for the CAO to facilitate collaboration and successful interactive relationships employees should leverage collaboration tools, such as video conferencing, instant messaging or chat tools, and other USPTO approved collaboration software to stay connected. Employees are permitted to upload a workplace appropriate picture of themselves in USPTO collaboration tools so that colleagues and customers can associate names and faces.

G. Schedules and Time and Attendance

1. Work Schedules. Employees teleworking one or more days per week must elect to work the Increased Flexitime Schedule (IFS) work schedule.
2. Timesheets. Participants will use the "Telework Home" transaction code (or other designated method to report telework time) with the appropriate PPA codes to indicate in the time and attendance system which days were worked at the alternate worksite(s) and the number of hours worked at the USPTO office and alternate worksite(s) each day.
3. Holidays. Participants working at an alternate worksite will be granted the same holidays as employees at the USPTO office, unless otherwise determined by the Office of Personnel Management. Early dismissal of USPTO employees or closure of the USPTO office for non-emergency conditions, such as on the day prior to a Federal holiday, will be granted to participants working at an alternate worksite.
4. Overtime and Compensatory Time. Overtime and compensatory time may be worked at an alternate worksite so long as the time has been approved by the participant's supervisor prior to working the additional hours.
5. Leave. All forms of approved leave, including compensatory time, may be used on days on which the participant is scheduled to work at the USPTO office or approved alternate worksite. Leave, however, may not be used on a regular basis to avoid working at the USPTO office on a non-telework day or to avoid meeting a routine telework participant's twice per bi-week reporting requirement See [Section III.C.1].
6. Multiple Locations in a Given Day. A participant may work at the USPTO office and/or multiple alternate worksites on the same day. A participant who chooses to work at multiple locations on the same day must notify their immediate supervisor and comply with the requirements of the policy on communication and collaboration with respect to posting work hours (to include time zone, if outside of Eastern Time zone) regardless of where they work. Participants must mid-day flex (if on IFS) or take leave to accommodate travel time required for commuting to and from the various work sites. See [Section III.B. for routine telework schedule requirements.]

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

7. Inability to Work at an Alternate worksite. If an employee is prevented from working at an alternate worksite for reasons other than inclement weather (e.g., non-weather related power or internet outage at the alternate worksite or lack of dependent care), the participant must either (1) report to the USPTO office to perform official duties, (2) obtain approval to work at a secondary alternate worksite, (3) if on IFS, change their work schedule by reducing the number of hours worked on that day, or (4) request appropriate leave, at the participant's option. If able to work, the participant may also consult with their immediate supervisor to determine if there is non-equipment related work available at the alternate worksite. The participant will not be reimbursed for any travel or related expenses for commuting between their alternate worksite(s) and the USPTO office and all trips will not be on duty time. See Section I.E.5. for guidance related to a USPTO equipment failure and Section I.I.1. for weather related conditions.

H. In-person Events

1. Virtual First. When technology is available, and consistent with the purpose of the event, meetings will be held so that participants working remotely can participate fully via video conference.
2. Mandatory Attendance. Participants may be required to report to the USPTO office to address business needs and office coverage for non-portable work activities, attend training, meetings, or other individual, team-, Office-, or Business Unit-wide events. Participants will be given as much notice as possible of any meeting or activity that they must attend in person. Absent exigent circumstances, participants will not be required to report to the USPTO office on the same day that notice is provided to the participant and the USPTO will endeavor to meet the notification timelines outlined below.
 - a. Office coverage to address business needs or non-portable work activities: Generally, notice to report to the USPTO office will not be less than two days.
 - b. Group meetings: Group meetings are defined as team, organizational (e.g.: section, branch, division, office), or business unit-wide meetings, to include training. Each team will work with their supervisor to determine a schedule that aligns with the regular work hours of the team members. Employees should notify supervisors and team members in advance of any recurring meetings that he/she is unable to attend. Any employee who will be unavailable for a meeting must work collaboratively with his/her supervisor to ensure that the employee obtains any information discussed in that meeting.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

I. Changes to Operating Status and Unscheduled Telework (e.g., Inclement Weather)

1. Office Closures, Early Departures and Delayed Arrivals Due to Weather or Safety Events. When a foreseeable weather or safety event causes the agency to close or authorize late arrival or early departure, any employee with a signed telework agreement (i.e., a Program participant) must be prepared to telework, flex around the full or partial closure, and/or take leave. Except as provided below, no employee with a signed telework agreement of any type (regular, situational, etc.) may receive Weather and Safety leave, regardless of whether the employee was scheduled to telework that day. In order to telework during a weather or safety event, participants must have their Universal Laptop at their alternate worksite. Unscheduled telework due to a closure, early dismissal, or delayed arrival due to weather or safety events will not count against the allowable telework days provided by this Program.

If weather related physical conditions affect the alternate worksite in a way that limits the employee's ability to perform their duties (e.g., power or internet outages at the participant's alternate worksite or the USPTO office), the employee may request Weather and Safety administrative leave or to work at a secondary alternate worksite. Participants may telework at an alternate worksite where there are dependents or others. However, for any time that the employee claims as work time, their attention must be oriented to work activities and not dependent care. If dependent care prohibits the ability to perform telework for some portion of the work day during an office closure, early dismissal or delayed arrival, an employee may use a combination of flex time and unscheduled leave, with supervisory approval, to meet any dependent care needs and still accomplish work. See Section I.K.1. for additional information on dependent care.

Weather and Safety leave may be available to a Program participant if the participant was not prepared to telework at their approved alternate worksite because either (1) the weather or safety event that caused the agency to close or authorize late arrival or early departure was not foreseeable or (2) reasonable circumstances prevented the employee from preparing to telework (e.g., the participant had been on leave until the day of the weather event, and the participant was not able to obtain their laptop before the weather or safety event). Find additional information on weather and safety leave at Leave

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

Administration, Appendix A: Impact of Weather and Safety Events on the Alexandria Campus and Randolph Square Building.

2. Unscheduled Leave or Unscheduled Telework. In the event OPM or USPTO declares that Federal agencies are open for the entire day with the option for "unscheduled leave or unscheduled telework," Program participants may report to the USPTO office, telework on a non-telework day (if consistent with the employee's work obligations), take unscheduled annual leave, or use a combination of work and annual leave to account for all of the regularly scheduled hours of the workday. A decision to telework on a day in which unscheduled telework is allowed will not count against the allowable telework days provided by this Program.

J. Performance Management.

Participants are expected to perform assigned duties and responsibilities at the alternate worksite. It is important that the alternate worksite be free from distractions that would impair a participant's ability to perform official duties and provide the same time and level of attention to the work product as is available at the USPTO office. Participants will have their performance evaluated under the criteria set out in their performance appraisal plan. If the participant lacks sufficient work for a telework day, they should consult with the supervisor to see if there is additional work that can be done at the alternate worksite. If there is not enough work that can be done at the alternate worksite, the employee must work at the USPTO office or use leave to cover the hours for which there is no work. Participants shall provide details of work accomplished upon the request of their supervisor.

Participants who are on a Performance Improvement Plan (PIP) will not be required to change their telework arrangement due to the PIP. Whether the participant's official worksite is the USPTO office or an approved alternate worksite, a participant who is on a PIP will be required to commit to be available to receive assistance and training. The assistance may be provided at the USPTO office or virtually. The supervisor and the participant will attempt to find an agreeable time for the assistance to be provided, including providing reasonable notification in accordance with the intent of Section 1.H.2. The supervisor, however, retains the right to direct the participant to attend meetings or training at the USPTO office, including one-on-one training.

K. Miscellaneous Provisions.

1. Dependent Care. No telework arrangement is authorized which allows the participant to provide care to any individual during work hours. Participants shall have dependent care arrangements so that the participant's ability to work at the alternate worksite is not adversely affected. A dependent may be at the alternate worksite while the participant teleworks if those dependents are independently pursuing their own activities or otherwise provided for by a caretaker. For any time that the employee claims as work time, their attention must be oriented to work activities and not dependent care.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

2. Transit Subsidy. Participants continue to remain eligible for transit subsidies as set forth in the USPTO Public Transit Subsidy Program.
3. FECA and Alternate Worksite Injury. Participants are covered under the Federal Employee's Compensation Act (FECA) if injured in the course of actually performing official duties at the alternate worksite. In order for a participant to be able to file a claim for worker's compensation, the participant who has an accident or injury while working at the alternate worksite must notify their immediate supervisor and report the accident or injury to a designated USPTO official in accordance with FECA requirements. Upon notification, the USPTO may investigate any reported accidents and injuries.
4. Property Liability. The USPTO will not be liable for damages to a participant's personal or real property during the course of performing official duties or while using Government equipment in the participant's residence, except to the extent the Government is held liable by the Federal Tort Claims Act, claims arising under the Military Personnel and Civilian Employees Claims Act, or other laws.
5. Protecting Records. Participants will apply approved safeguards to protect Agency records from unauthorized disclosure or damage and will comply with the Privacy Act requirements set forth in the Privacy Act of 1974, Public Law 93-579, codified at 5 U.S.C. Section 552a. See Section I.E.4 for additional IT Security requirements.

Participants are required to use electronic versions of documents and data whenever practical. When this is not practical, and solely for the purposes of this Program, participants will be permitted to remove USPTO copies of documents from the USPTO office in order to perform their officially assigned duties at an alternate worksite, unless such files have been identified by management as being inappropriate for removal from the USPTO office. The participant is responsible for the transportation and safeguarding of the documents and files to and from the USPTO office and alternate worksite(s). Original or official files may not be removed from the USPTO office unless specifically approved by the Agency.

When the USPTO has an unusual need for a document or file or other information that is located at the alternate worksite, the participant may be directed to provide the requested document, file or other information to the USPTO office within one business day by delivery means determined by the Agency. An unusual need is one that does not occur on a regular basis and cannot wait for the participant's scheduled return to the USPTO office or be resolved through other means.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

6. Union Activities. Stewards and union officials may perform Union representational activities on official or bank time while teleworking.
7. Personal Information. Agency personnel will not divulge the addresses and private home or mobile telephone numbers of participants to the public or any other USPTO personnel who do not have a legitimate business need to know such information.

II. Provisions Applicable to Situational Telework Participants

- A. Requesting Situational Telework. A situational telework participant is expected to perform their assigned duties at the USPTO office regularly. Situational telework must be requested in advance and approved by the immediate supervisor. Requests for situational telework must include the dates the participant will telework and the work that will be performed at the alternate worksite on those dates.

Participants currently teleworking situationally in a position that is eligible for routine telework who would like to move to routine telework must modify their telework application in ETIS and follow the application procedures in Section I.C.9. Additional information on routine telework may be found at Section III.

- B. Offices. Participants selecting a situational telework program option will retain their status quo office.
- C. Part Time Employees. Part-time employees who encumber a position eligible for situational or routine telework may participate in situational telework.

III. Provisions Applicable to Routine Telework Participants

- A. Overview. A routine telework participant's official duty station remains the USPTO office and requires the participant to work at the USPTO office for a specified amount of time each week or bi-week as designated by their position eligibility determination.
 1. Participants electing to telework one to four days per week will work at the USPTO office for four to one day(s) per week.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

2. Participants electing to telework five days per week will retain the USPTO office as their official duty station and remain a routine teleworker.

B. Routine Telework Participants Teleworking One to Four Days per Week

1. Telework Schedule. Participants eligible for routine telework may request to telework one to four days per week, up to the number of days permitted by their position's eligibility determination. Participants electing this option are expected to perform their assigned duties at the USPTO office for one to four day(s) per week, as set forth in their position eligibility determination. Participants who select this option must consult with their immediate supervisor to define a telework schedule that identifies regular days to perform duties at the USPTO office each bi-week. For participants whose essential functions include duties that must be done at the USPTO office, the amount of time spent at the USPTO office on a non-telework day must be long enough to complete those essential functions and if a participant chooses to work at multiple locations on the same day they must notify their immediate supervisor. Participants may not use IFS flexibilities or any combination of leave to regularly avoid any in-office requirements. Participants are not precluded from teleworking on fewer days than their position's eligible number of days. The day(s) a participant elects to perform assigned duties in the office will be the same each week and must be scheduled in advance and approved by the immediate supervisor to ensure office coverage.

On a situational basis, a one to four day per week routine telework participant's immediate supervisor may allow an employee to work additional days at an alternate worksite (i.e., supplemental situational telework) in accordance with the provisions for situational telework See [Section III]. Supplemental situational telework must be requested in advance and approved by the immediate supervisor. Requests for supplemental situational telework must include the dates the participant will telework in addition to the routine telework and the work that will be performed at the alternate worksite on those dates.

2. Telework Schedule Changes. Changes in USPTO office day(s) for participants whose position is eligible for routine telework one to four days per week must be requested in advance and approved by the immediate supervisor. These requests may be for a one-time change or for a permanent switch in the days performing assigned duties in the USPTO office. See Section I.C.7., I.C.8., and I.C.9. for permanent program changes. The CAO may require temporary adjustments to USPTO office day(s) schedules to address business needs and office coverage for non-portable work activities.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

Participants currently teleworking one to four days per week in a position that is eligible to telework five days per week who would like to move to five days per week telework must modify their telework application in ETIS and follow the application procedures in Section I.C.7, I.C.8, and I.C.9. Additional information on five day per week routine telework may be found at Section III.C.

3. Offices. Routine telework participants who select a telework program option that places the participant at the USPTO office for two days per week or less will be required to share an office with another employee. Participants who share an office may coordinate their on-campus days, such that one of them uses the office at a time. Participants who select a telework program option that places the participant at the USPTO office for three days per week or more will remain their status quo office arrangements.

A Program participant whose selected telework program option places them in a shared office, and who changes the terms of their telework program and agreement in any way that places them at the USPTO office for three days per week or more, will be reassigned to an unshared office. A participant may have to remain in their shared office until individual office space is available.

The participant will be assigned an office as determined by their seniority consistent with existing Union agreements for office space. The employee should be issued the space they are entitled to within three months of notifying their immediate supervisor and Telework Program coordinator of the change.

C. Routine Telework Participants Teleworking Five Days per Week

1. Reporting Requirement. An employee who elects to telework five days per week and maintains the USPTO office as their official duty station is required to report to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week. Participants shall work at the USPTO Office for a minimum of 15 minutes for each occurrence in a manner consistent with IFS work schedule rules as to days and hours of work. All forms of approved leave, including compensatory time, may be used to meet the required hour(s) on this day but leave may not be used on a regular basis to avoid the requirements of this paragraph to work at the USPTO office two times per bi-week.
2. Offices. Routine telework participants who telework five days per week will not have an assigned office at the USPTO office and will reserve hoteling space on campus when working at the USPTO office, including when meeting the regular bi-weekly reporting requirement.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

3. Travel Expenses and Travel Time. When a participant's official duty station is the USPTO office, all travel between home and the USPTO office is considered commuting time and will not be reimbursed.

- D. Part Time Employees. Part-time employees who encumber a position eligible for routine telework for less than five days per week may participate in telework. The percentage of time that may be worked at the alternate work site will be prorated as determined by the percentage of the employee's part-time schedule compared to a full-time schedule, times the number of days. Part time employees who encumber a position eligible for routine telework for five days per week, may telework 100 percent of their part time work schedule (the requirement to routinely report to the USPTO office two times a bi-week remains). Part time employees should consult guidelines on part time work schedules in the applicable collective bargaining agreement, labor contract, or other union agreements related to part time work.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

IV. Temporary Medical Exception

- A. Description of Program. Management will consider requests from employees to work from home or another alternate worksite based on a serious temporary or short-term medical need of the employee or a family member which would:
1. Significantly impair or preclude the employee from working at (or traveling to) the USPTO office;
 2. Ordinarily require the employee to use leave to be away from the USPTO office without the ability to telework; and
 3. Allow the employee to work from the alternate work site.
- B. Flexibility: In addition to the flexibility of where to work, the employee may request additional telework days, up to and including teleworking five days per week and specific hours of work.
- C. Application. The request may be from a person not eligible to telework (based on position eligibility), or from a current teleworker to expand or change the number of days of telework or change their telework program option. If the request is from an employee whose position is not normally eligible to telework and is not covered by an existing telework agreement, the employee must sign a telework agreement. Eligibility requirements based on position may be waived because the eligibility for the temporary medical exception is based upon specific need.
- D. Approval. Requests under these circumstances (known as a Temporary Medical Exception) must be submitted to the employee's immediate supervisor (or designee) as soon as the need for the temporary medical exception is known by the employee. The supervisor or designee will promptly forward the request with any comments (to include their proposal for the terms of the medical telework) to the Business Unit Head or Deputy Business Unit Head or designee. Decisions to grant or deny requests will be made by the Business Unit Head, Deputy, or designee and communicated to the employee in writing promptly, generally within one or two weeks, and taking into consideration the date on which the employee requests to begin telework. The reason(s) for any denial will be included in the response.

In determining whether to approve a request under this section, the supervisor must consider:

1. The work available for the employee to perform from a remote location as well as the ability to successfully complete assigned tasks in accordance with the employee's performance appraisal plan;

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

2. Whether or not the employee will have appropriate remote access to USPTO IT systems and the likelihood that the employee can be successful in working remotely;
3. The employee's ability to work without the disruption of providing childcare, eldercare, or medical needs (the employee may mid-day flex, if on an appropriate work schedule, to accomplish these activities); and
4. The impact of the employee's absence from the USPTO office on other employees as well as the ability of the OCFO or OCIO to meet its business needs.

Approval to telework under this exception will be up to the duration of the medical need, depending on the work available to be performed at the approved alternate work site. In all instances, the telework granted pursuant to this medical exception may not exceed 4 months without renewed approval. However, the approval may be reviewed at any time and may be extended, adjusted, or revoked: a.) if the medical circumstances have changed; or b.) when participation is based on the medical needs of a family member and business unit needs have changed significantly). Approval of these requests for a temporary medical exception is separate and independent of the Agency's reasonable accommodation process and is not considered evidence of the Agency perceiving or regarding an employee as disabled under the Rehabilitation Act. Nothing in this section precludes or limits the ability of employees to request a reasonable accommodation nor limits the ability of supervisors to refer employees to the Reasonable Accommodation Program Office/OEEOD for assistance when appropriate.

- E. Documentation. Upon request, employees must submit medical documentation) from a health care provider supporting the request for a temporary medical exception.
 1. The statement or documentation will: --
 - a. State the general nature of the medical need and why the employee should be excused from working at the USPTO office (treatment of the employee or a family member outside of the commuting area will satisfy this requirement).
 - b. Confirm that the employee can perform work.
 - c. Include either of the following:
 - i. If the employee has the medical condition—that the employee is fit for duty at the alternate work site, including any limitations that may apply; or,
 - ii. If a family member has the medical condition—
 - (A) state that the family member will not require constant attention, or

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

- (B) the employee may indicate on the application that other people will provide care when the employee is working.
 - d. The expected duration of the need based on the medical condition.
 - 2. The employee will not be required to reveal any details about the medical condition other than the general nature of the condition as set out in the medical documentation described in Section V.E.1, and the CAO may not require the employee or family member to sign a release for their medical information.
 - 3. The CAO will treat as confidential any medical information given by an employee in support of the medical telework request, and may only disclose such information subject to its Privacy Act and Rehabilitation Act obligations for work-related reasons on a need to know basis.
 - 4. The purpose of the health care provider's statement and/or documentation is to verify the existence of the medical reason asserted in the temporary medical request, that the employee could not reasonably be expected to work at the USPTO office or that working from an alternate worksite would help alleviate the medical condition or assist with recuperation, and that the employee is fit for duty at the alternate location. The CAO will not substitute its own judgment for the medical judgment of the health care provider with respect to the validity of the medical condition, its duration, or how medical telework will alleviate the condition or help the employee (or family member) to recuperate (so long as there are sufficient details in the statement for the CAO to understand the basis for the recommendations).
- F. Work Performed. Because of the added flexibility in terms of eligibility, scheduling and/or number of telework days and hours, the participant and the supervisor will discuss the work to be done, the hours to be worked (including both the number of hours per day and the time of these hours), and any changes in circumstances affecting the arrangement. The terms of the medical telework will be documented in writing and signed by the employee and supervisor or exchanged via email.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

Safety Guidelines for the Alternate Worksite(s)

Employees may use the following guidelines to assist them in a review of the overall safety and adequacy of their alternate worksite. The following are only recommendations, and do not encompass every situation that may be encountered. Employees are encouraged to obtain professional assistance with issues concerning appropriate electrical service and circuit capacity for residential worksites.

1. Develop and practice a fire evacuation plan for use in the event of an emergency.
2. Check your smoke detectors regularly and replace any batteries as needed.
3. Have a working fire extinguisher conveniently located at your alternate worksite (in the room where you work or appropriately located to help with evacuation), and check the charge regularly.
4. Computers are heavy. Place them on sturdy, level, well-maintained furniture.
5. Choose office chairs that provide good supporting backrests and allow adjustments to fit you comfortably.
6. Locate your computer to eliminate noticeable glare from windows and lighting. Place the computer monitor at a height that is comfortable and does not produce neck or back strain. Locate computer keyboards at heights that do not cause wrist strain or place the keyboard on an adjustable surface.
7. Install sufficient lighting in locations to reduce glare on the work surface.
8. Arrange file cabinets so that opened drawers do not block ingress and egress.
9. Be sure to leave space for ingress and egress, where possible, to reduce tripping hazards.
10. Be sure electrical equipment is connected to grounded outlets.
11. Avoid fire hazards by not overloading electrical circuits.
12. Inspect and repair carpeting with frayed edges or loose seams. Avoid using throw rugs that can cause triggering hazards in your workspace.
13. Locate computers, phones, and other electrical equipment in a manner that keeps power cords out of walkways.
14. Lock (CTRL+ALT+DEL) computers after the workday is over.
15. Keep your workspace clean and avoid clutter which can cause fire and tripping hazards.
16. Use proper lifting techniques when moving or lifting heavy equipment and furniture.
17. Report accidents and injuries immediately to your supervisor.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

ETIS Employee Information and Certification Language

The document summarizes the various conditions, understandings, and certifications required by an employee who applies for and enrolls into a USPTO telework program. The information will appear on screens during the ETIS application process.

General guidance and provisions of telework at USPTO

1. All pay, leave, and travel entitlements will be based on the participant's official duty station.
2. The participant must follow established USPTO procedures when requesting and taking leave, compensatory time or credit hours.
3. The participant agrees to complete surveys and attend focus group meetings and interviews to help evaluate the telework program.
4. For participants with government provided equipment: Upon reasonable advance notice by the agency, the participant will permit USPTO employees and contractors to access the alternate worksite during normal working hours on a day that the participant is working at home for the purpose of installing, repairing, maintaining, or removing equipment, software, or other USPTO property, or to investigate an accident or a Workers' Compensation claim or to investigate other work-related or safety problems arising from the administration of the telework program. The parties may mutually agree to a time outside of these hours.
5. The participant agrees to comply with USPTO instructions regarding the return or removal of program materials.
6. The government will not be liable for damages to a participant's personal or real property during the course of performance of official duties or while using government equipment in the participant's residence, except to the extent the government is liable by the Federal Tort Claims Act or claims arising under the Military Personnel and Civilians Employees Claims Act, or other laws.
7. All office policies and procedures and responsibilities remain in effect during a telework program unless the terms of the program agreement or guidelines specifically indicate a difference.
8. Participants who change their primary alternate worksite while participating in the program are required to update their primary alternate worksite address in the Enterprise Telework Information System (<https://etis.uspto.gov>). Participants must also keep their approved secondary alternate site location updated, but this does not constitute a relocation.
9. In accordance with USPTO CIO standards, participants in any telework program must have internet service provided by cable or fiber optic with minimum internet speeds of 15 Megabits per second of download speed and 4 Megabits per second of upload speed. The participant agrees that her/his internet speeds at the alternate worksite(s) meet or exceed this requirement, unless a lower speed is authorized by an underlying agreement.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

Employee Responsibilities Related to Human Resource Information

I understand the following:

1. I am responsible for keeping my residential address and duty station up-to-date in the Employee Personal Page (EPP) and ETIS systems;
2. I am responsible for reviewing my benefits coverage (health insurance, dental and vision plans, and long term care insurance), and ensuring the options I have selected provide coverage in my desired location. If I relocate out of the coverage area and wish to elect a new health benefit plan, I must notify the Office of Human Resources (OHR) to make a new election;
3. I am responsible for ensuring that the correct state taxes are withheld from my salary. If I move, I understand it is my responsibility to submit a change request through OHR according to the established processing timelines. If I fail to ensure the proper taxes are withheld from my salary, it is my responsibility to work with my state(s) to make any necessary corrections. The OHR will not make retroactive adjustments or withholdings. More information on how to change your state tax exemption can be found here;
4. Because I am responsible for making sure that taxes are being paid to the appropriate jurisdiction and that my pay is based on the location of my duty station, reviewing my earnings and leave statements is the best way of identifying any issues as early as possible;
5. If applicable, I will work with my supervisor to ensure a "Change in Duty Station" Personnel Action Request (PAR) is initiated in the HRConnect system before the effective date. I also understand that the change in duty station cannot be made effective until OHR has processed the request. If I fail to timely update my address or duty station, it may impact my locality pay and result in an erroneous salary overpayment. I will be required to refund any overpayment to the USPTO.
6. Questions regarding benefits, compensation or personnel action processing may be directed to HumanResources_USPTO@uspto.gov or by telephone at 571-272-6000.

Safeguarding USPTO information and equipment

1. The participant will protect Government/USPTO records from unauthorized disclosure or damage and will comply with the Privacy Act requirements set forth in the Privacy Act of 1974, Public Law 93-579, codified at 5 U.S.C. Section 522a.
2. The participant will ensure that Government/USPTO records taken from the USPTO are accessed only by authorized personnel.
3. The participant will safeguard documents, data files and equipment during transit and at the alternate worksite(s).
4. The participant must return all documents, data files, work products, drafts and notes to the USPTO upon participant ending participation in the program.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

Maintaining USPTO Virtual Private Network Connection Requirements

I certify that I have read the USPTO VPN Connection Requirements* and that my internet connection(s) are compliant.

* You may be required to show proof that the Internet Service Provider(s) you use at the alternative worksite(s) comply with the VPN Connection Requirements. Note: some employees with slower speeds may meet the requirements based on being covered by agreements negotiated with the union representing the participant.

Conditions for Participating in Telework

As a condition of participation in the Telework Program, I agree to the following:

1. I have read and agree to adhere to the program requirements, including agreements and guidelines as appropriate, of the Telework Program.
2. I acknowledge that all pay, leave and travel entitlements will be based on my official duty station.

Final Certifications Upon Signing

- By signing, I certify that I have read and will comply with the [Business Unit Telework Program] provisions and the Employee Responsibilities included on page 2 of 3.
- If my telework program offers TEAP³ as an option and I have selected TEAP as my option, my signature also certifies that: I have read and will comply with the TEAP Operating Procedures; my participation is for my convenience, and, I waive my right to travel reimbursement as outlined in the TEAP Operating Procedures.

³ Telework Enhancement Act of 2010, as amended, 5 U.S.C § 6502(a)(2).

³ Telework Enhancement Act Program

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

USPTO New Employee Telework Agreement

The following constitutes an agreement between the U. S. Patent & Trademark Office and _____ (name of employee).

Type of Telework

Based on conversations with my supervisor I have been informed that I am eligible for and select: (choose one)

_____ Routine Telework (I will be allowed to telework a specified number of days and I will be in the USPTO facilities a specified number of days per week.

_____ Remote Work: I will work all of my hours from my home or other alternate work site and I am not expected to routinely report to a USPTO office or facility.

_____ Remote Work within 50 miles of the USPTO office or facility: I will work all of my hours from my home or an alternate work site that is located within 50 miles of the USPTO office or facility.

Location of Alternate Work Site:

The USPTO needs to know the location of your alternate work site. Please chose one of the statements below:

_____ The address I submitted with my new employee orientation documents is the location of my alternate work site.

_____ I intend to work from a different location than the address I submitted. I will call my supervisor and provide the information within the next two days.

The phone number at the alternate work site is: _____ (provide a mobile number if there is no land line)

Official Duty Station

Your Official Duty Station may determine your pay or other benefits. If you will work at the USPTO headquarters or another USPTO facility on a routine basis, your Official Duty Station will be the city and state of the USPTO facility. If you are a remote worker, your Official Duty Station will be the city and state of your alternate work site.

Discussions with Supervisor

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

This agreement references a number of policies, agreements, and other requirements. The Agency acknowledges that you do not have the ability to review these documents until you are an official employee of the Agency. Therefore, your supervisor will discuss any of these issues with you to help you understand his or her expectations and your requirements. You will have access to the material once you have access to the USPTO Intranet.

Agreement Terms

- 1) This agreement becomes effective once you have signed the agreement and when you begin working for the USPTO. The Agreement does not require a signature of an Agency Representative.
- 2) This is a temporary agreement that will be in effect no longer than two months. The agreement expires on the earlier of you signing a new telework agreement appropriate for your position and business unit within the USPTO or 2 months after you begin working for the USPTO.
- 3) The employee may telework up to full-time under this agreement, with the extent of authorized telework determined by the employee's business unit. The Agency retains the authority to direct the employee to report to the official duty station as required. 50 Mile radius participants may be required to come to the USPTO as needed. Employees should communicate with their supervisor regarding the assignment of work while teleworking.
- 4) Employees agree to inform their supervisor of their work schedule at the beginning of each day or on a biweekly basis either by email or using the status function in Microsoft Teams, and to update the supervisor as soon as practicable of any changes to the schedule. The employee must comply with all rules and policies governing work schedules while teleworking.
- 5) The employee is required to have Internet Service with a download speed of at least 15 Mbps and an upload speed of at least 4 Mbps at the alternate work site.
- 6) Telework is not authorized when the employee is providing care to any individual. Employees shall have dependent care arrangements so that the employee's ability to work at the alternate worksite is not adversely affected. A dependent may be at the alternate worksite while the employee teleworks if those dependents are independently pursuing their own activities or otherwise provided for by a caretaker. For any time that the employee claims as work time, their attention must be oriented to work activities and not dependent care.
- 7) All pay, leave, and travel entitlements will be based on the employee's Official Duty Station.

CAO TELEWORK PROGRAM

May 2022

- 8) Participants agree to comply with USPTO instructions regarding the return or removal of Agency materials. The employee will ensure that only authorized personnel access the materials provided by or taken from the USPTO.
- 9) The employee must return all USPTO files, work product, drafts, and notes to the USPTO within two business days of the employee ending participation in the program, regardless of whether participation ends voluntarily or at the direction of the Agency.
- 10) Assigned duties may only be performed at the approved alternate work site or official duty station. Documents under secrecy orders or containing national security markings cannot be remotely accessed or removed from the USPTO work site.
- 11) The employee will safeguard and protect the confidentiality of patent applications and information therein in accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 122 and any private information (including information covered by the Privacy Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552a).
- 12) Signing and returning this agreement does not confer the right to telework when the employee is in a position that has not been approved for telework or to increase the amount of telework from what has been authorized by the USPTO.

I certify that I have read and will comply with the aforementioned provisions.

Print name

Employee's Signature

Date

An /s/ followed by the employee's name will be a sufficient signature for this document, or the employee may print, sign, scan and return the agreement.

Please return this agreement to your supervisor

Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) on the Trademark Work at Home (TWAH) and Trademark Trial and Appeal Board Work at Home (TTABWAH) Program for Trademark Examining Attorneys and Trademark Trial and Appeal Board (TTAB) Interlocutory Attorneys

This MOU between the U.S. Patent & Trademark Office (“USPTO” or “Office”) and the National Treasury Employees Union Chapter 245 (“NTEU” or “Union”), collectively referred to as the Parties, establishes the terms and conditions for implementing the TWAH and TTABWAH Program for Trademark Examining Attorneys and TTAB Interlocutory Attorneys (“Program”). This MOU incorporates by reference the TWAH and TTABWAH Program Guidelines (“Guidelines”) and the terms of the collective bargaining agreement between the Office and the Union (“CBA”) and other agreements between the Office and NTEU that are not superseded by this MOU.

1. The TWAH and TTABWAH Program for Trademark Examining Attorneys and TTAB Interlocutory Attorneys with one set of Guidelines.

2. The term of this MOU will be two years from implementation and will be in effect beginning April 11, 2022.

3. This Program will not change the conditions of employment established by past practice, law, rule, regulation, and the CBA, except that a past practice, rule, or CBA provision in conflict with this MOU shall be superseded by this MOU. Participants will remain responsible for meeting all performance plan requirements. Furthermore, the Telework Enhancement Act of 2010 (“TEA”) applies to this Program. Therefore, this MOU will not negate any provisions of the TEA.

4. The parties to this agreement have met in pre-decisional involvement regarding the implementation of the TWAH and TTABWAH Program for Trademark Examining Attorneys and TTAB Interlocutory Attorneys. The Union acknowledges that the Office’s obligation to negotiate over the implementation of the Program as set forth in this MOU and the attached Guidelines have been fully satisfied.

5. Nothing herein should be construed to waive any rights of the Union or the Office regarding future modifications to the Programs.

6. Participation in the Program is voluntary.

For the USPTO
 Users, Vavonese, Dan
 Digitally signed by Users, Vavonese, Dan
 Date: 2022.04.07 12:37:20 -04'00'

Dan Vavonese
 Deputy Commissioner, Trademark Operations
 Users, Rogers, Gerard
 Digitally signed by Users, Rogers, Gerard
 Date: 2022.04.07 12:54:26 -04'00'

Gerard Rogers
 Chief Judge, TTAB

For NTEU 245
 Users, Besch, Jay
 Digitally signed by Users, Besch, Jay
 Date: 2022.04.07 10:44:35 -04'00'

Jay Besch
 President, NTEU 245

OCFO and OCIO Telework Program for The Office of the Chief Financial Officer and
The Office of the Chief Information Officer, a Memorandum of Understanding

March 03, 2022

The parties to this Memorandum of Understanding (MOU), the National Treasury Employees Union Chapter 243 (NTEU 243), the Patent Office Professional Association (POPA), and the United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO or Agency) agree to this MOU covering the terms and implementation of a telework program for the Office of the Chief Financial Officer (OCFO) and the Office of the Chief Information Officer (OCIO). The parties have worked collaboratively to develop the terms of the program, which are attached to this MOU as Appendix A (the Program) along with a list of position eligibility as Appendix B. This MOU covers bargaining unit members from both NTEU 243 and POPA working in the OCFO and the OCIO. This agreement supersedes any other telework agreements covering OCFO and/or OCIO employees. In addition, the parties agree as follows:

1. Meeting of Bargaining Obligations: NTEU 243 and POPA acknowledge that the Agency has met its notice and bargaining obligations regarding the implementation of the Program.
2. Implementation of Program: The Program will begin implementation during the notice period provided to employees regarding the reopening of the Alexandria Headquarters of the USPTO. Employees who have completed all of the actions necessary to participate in the program during that period will begin their new telework arrangement once the Office is no longer on maximum telework.
3. Reviewing Positions for Eligibility: No later than May of each year the OCFO and OCIO will notify NTEU 243 and POPA of all bargaining unit positions it has identified as eligible for telework, the number of days per week each position is eligible to telework, and whether a position eligible to telework five days per week is also eligible for TEAP. The OCFO and OCIO will meet with NTEU 243 and POPA to discuss these determinations, including any positions the OCFO or OCIO have identified as ineligible for telework and the reason(s) therefore. The OCFO and OCIO will publish individual Position Eligibility lists after discussing eligibility determinations with the Unions.

4. Future Discussions and Cooperation:

- a. The parties agree that they will meet periodically at the request of any party to discuss proposed changes to the Program. The Party wishing to propose a change in the Program will contact the other parties to set up a meeting to discuss the topic. The parties will agree to further meetings as long as resolution of any issue(s) remain a possibility through informal and collaborative efforts.
- b. Changes agreed upon by all parties will be implemented as soon as practicable and reasonable notice will be given to the participants.
- c. If agreement is not reached informally pursuant to the provisions above, any party may reopen this agreement after one year from implementation, by giving notice to the other parties of their request to renegotiate.

Signatures

For the USPTO

For the Unions

Cheryl Newberger
OCIO

Date

Denise Liles
NTEU 243

Date

Michelle Picard
OCFO

Date

Kathleen Duda
POPA

3/3/2022

Date

OCFO and OCIO

Telework Program 2.0

March 2022

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

Table of Contents

I. Provisions Applicable to all Telework Participants	1
A. Introduction.....	1
B. Eligibility.....	3
C. Application.....	6
D. Worksites.....	11
E. Equipment, Tools, and Supplies.....	13
F. Collaboration and Engagement.....	17
G. Schedules and Time and Attendance.....	18
H. In-person Events.....	19
I. Changes to Operating Status and Unscheduled Telework (e.g., Inclement Weather).....	20
J. Performance Management.....	21
K. Miscellaneous Provisions.....	21
II. Provisions Applicable to Situational Telework Participants.....	23
III. Provisions Applicable to Routine Telework Participants.....	23
IV. Provisions Applicable to Remote Telework Participants.....	26
A. Provisions Applicable to all Remote Telework Participants.....	26
B. Remote Telework Participants Working within 50 miles of the USPTO Office.....	28
C. TEAP Option for Remote Participants Working more than 50 miles from the USPTO Office.....	29
V. Temporary Medical Exception.....	31
Appendix A: Safety Guidelines for the Alternate Worksite(s).....	34
Appendix B: ETIS Employee Information and Certification Language.....	35
Appendix C: USPTO New Employee Telework Agreement	38

All page numbers refer to the page number in the footer, which is different than the page number of the electronic document.

I. Provisions Applicable to all Telework Participants

A. Introduction

1. Program Overview. The OCFO and OCIO Telework Program (Program) allows eligible employees to perform assigned duties at an approved telework location, including their home. The Program is designed to deliver on the missions of the OCFO, OCIO, and its customers while providing employees with workplace flexibility. The Program includes three telework options: situational, routine, and remote. Participation in the Program is voluntary and does not change the conditions of employment except as specified in these provisions.

Section I of this document is applicable to all Program participants (participants). Section II outlines additional provisions applicable to participants who elect situational telework. Section III outlines additional provisions applicable to participants who elect routine telework for one to five days per week, including participants who encumber positions eligible for remote telework and voluntarily elect routine telework. Section IV outlines additional provisions applicable to participants who elect remote telework. Section V outlines provisions for a temporary medical exception to leverage telework options for which their position is otherwise not eligible.

2. Definitions. The following definitions are used for the purposes of the Program:
 - a. USPTO office is defined as the USPTO headquarters in Alexandria, VA, unless otherwise designated as another location.
 - b. Official duty station is the city/town and state in which an employee's official worksite is located. For purposes of this program, the official duty station will always be in the United States (currently defined as the 50 United States, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico). An employee's official duty station is the location that is documented on the most recent SF-50, Notification of Personnel Action.
 - c. Official worksite is the location where an employee regularly performs their assigned duties. This may be a USPTO office or a primary alternate worksite¹.
 - d. Alternate worksite is an approved telework location. Approval must be received in advance of teleworking from an alternate worksite. A teleworking employee may have both a primary alternate worksite (i.e., the principal telework location, likely an employee's home) and one or more secondary alternate worksites (e.g., a relative's home, or a vacation or second property). See Section I.D. for alternate worksite requirements.

¹ If an employee is required to report at least two times each bi-weekly pay period to the USPTO office, the USPTO office remains the official worksite, regardless of whether that is the location where the employee performs most of their work.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

- e. Situational telework is defined as performing assigned duties at an approved alternate worksite occasionally and on a case-by-case basis (i.e., the employee does not telework on an ongoing and regular telework schedule). Supervisory approval is required each time the employee teleworks. Situational telework may also be referred to as episodic, intermittent, or ad-hoc. A participant's official worksite, and therefore official duty station, will remain as the USPTO office. See Section II for situational telework provisions.
- f. Routine telework is defined as performing assigned duties at an approved alternate worksite on an approved ongoing and regular telework schedule. The participant routinely teleworks for one to five days per week and performs assigned duties at the USPTO office for four days to one (1) day² per week. The participant works at both the alternate worksite and at the USPTO office during each bi-week. The number of days eligible for telework are determined assuming a five-day workweek. This does not preclude an employee from using work schedule flexibilities to work less than the number of days eligible for telework at the approved alternate worksite, so long as the participant is working at the USPTO office in accordance with the expected number of days defined in the position eligibility. A participant's official worksite, and therefore official duty station, will remain as the USPTO office. See Section III for routine telework provisions.
- g. Remote telework is defined as performing assigned duties at an approved alternate worksite for five days per week (e.g. all hours in a bi-week) without a requirement to routinely report to the USPTO office. A remote telework participant decides, for their convenience, to change their official duty station (and therefore official worksite) from the USPTO office to the city/town and state of their primary alternate worksite (e.g., the participant's home) thereby eliminating the need to report to the office on a bi-weekly basis.³ See Section IV for remote telework provisions.
- h. Telework Enhancement Act Program (TEAP) is a remote telework option that allows participants who live greater than 50 miles from the USPTO office to decide, for their convenience, to change their official duty station from the USPTO office to the

² If an employee is required to report at least two times each bi-weekly pay period to the USPTO office, the reporting requirement is met by working in the USPTO office for a minimum of 15 minutes per week.

³ If an employee teleworks five days per week and maintains the USPTO office as their official duty station, they are participating in routine telework and must report to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week. See [Section III.C.1] city/town and state of their approved telework location (e.g., the participant's home). The participant must travel to the USPTO office for a minimal number of mandatory trips when directed by the USPTO. When enrolled in TEAP, the participant waives their right to travel expenses for the minimal number of mandatory trips to the office (5 U.S.C. § 5711(f); 5 U.S.C. § 5711(g)). See Section IV.C, for additional details.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

B. Eligibility

1. Activities Not Suitable for Telework. Positions generally eligible for telework are those positions with a sufficient volume of tasks that are suitable to be performed at an alternate worksite. Examples of the type of work that cannot be performed at an alternate worksite and will therefore limit the number of days a position is eligible for telework are:
 - a. Activities that require physical face-to-face personal contacts;
 - b. Activities that are restricted to a certain location;
 - c. Intake or distribution of postal mail or otherwise working with paper-based documentation not maintained in electronic format that are not portable and must not be duplicated;
 - d. Hands-on contact with machinery, equipment, vehicles, or files; or
 - e. Direct handling of classified or other secure materials that are not appropriate to access remotely.
2. Position Eligibility. The number of days a position is eligible to telework will be determined by evaluating the daily volume of tasks that are suitable to be performed at an alternate worksite and the daily volume of tasks that must be performed at the USPTO office. There are nine possible outcomes for each position's eligibility determination, based on a five-day workweek:
 - a. Not eligible for telework: the position's duties can only effectively be performed at the USPTO office.
 - b. Situational Telework: the position's duties are typically only able to be effectively performed at the USPTO office, but occasionally the employee's duties and the USPTO's needs are capable of being modified on a case-by-case basis to support non-routine performances of duties at an approved alternate worksite.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

c. Routine Telework:

- i. 1 day per week: the position's duties, and the USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 1 day per week of routine telework. Employees in the position are expected to work at the USPTO office at least 4 days per week.
- ii. 2 days per week: the position's duties, and USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 2 days per week of routine telework. Employees in the position are expected to work at the USPTO office at least 3 days per week.
- iii. 3 days per week: the position's duties, and the USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 3 days per week of routine telework. Employees in the position are expected to work at the USPTO office at least 2 days per week.
- iv. 4 days per week: the position's duties, and USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 4 days per week of routine telework. Employees in the position are expected to work at the USPTO office at least 1 day per week.
- v. 5 days per week: the position's duties, and the USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 5 days per week of routine telework. If an employee chooses this telework option they maintain the USPTO office as their official duty station and they must report to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week for 15 minutes for each occurrence to meet the recurring reporting requirement. This option is sometimes referred to as hoteling. See [Section III.C.]

d. Remote Telework:

- i. 50-Mile Program (5 days per week): the position's duties, and the USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 5 days per week of remote telework⁴. If an employee who lives within 50-miles of the USPTO office chooses this option, their approved alternate worksite becomes their official duty station and they are not required to report to the USPTO office on a regular basis. See [Section IV.B.]
- ii. TEAP (5 days per week): the position's duties, and USPTO's needs, are suitable for allowing 5 days per week of remote telework at an alternate worksite greater than 50 miles from the USPTO office. Assigned duties can be performed at the

⁴ If an employee teleworks five days per week and maintains the USPTO office as their official duty station, they are not participating in 50mi or TEAP and are participating in routine telework and must report to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week to meet the recurring reporting requirement. See [Section III.C.1]

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

alternate worksite in all but a few instances per year with sufficient notice given to the participant to return to the USPTO office. See [Section IV.C.]

3. Review Positions for Eligibility. Annually, the OCFO and OCIO will review positions to determine the number of days each position is eligible for telework. In addition, each position eligible to telework five days per week will be evaluated for TEAP eligibility. A position eligible for TEAP is one that the position's duties, and USPTO's needs, are not expected to require the participant to report to the office for extended or multiple periods of time (e.g., no more than three times per year). Once a position is deemed eligible for TEAP, the TEAP eligibility will not be removed if a participant occupying the position is enrolled in TEAP.
4. Individual Eligibility. Employees in a position deemed telework eligible are eligible to telework after they satisfy the minimum requirements outlined in the provisions of the Program See requirements at [1.C.2.] and they meet the statutory eligibility requirements See Section [1.B.5.]. The number of days a position is deemed eligible for telework will decree the maximum number of days an employee is eligible to telework.
5. Statutory Eligibility⁵. An employee is not eligible to participate in the Program if they: 1) have been officially disciplined for being absent without permission (i.e., absent without leave (AWOL)) for more than five days in any calendar year, or 2) have been officially disciplined for violations of subpart G of the Standard of Ethical Conduct of Employees of the Executive Branch for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties.
6. Position Changes. Employees joining the OCFO or OCIO from another USPTO position will be required to apply for participation in the Program, subject to their new position's eligibility determination. Employees moving from one position to another within either OCFO or OCIO are not required to reapply to the Program, but may be required to adjust their selected telework option and/or telework days based on their new position's eligibility and/or the OCFO's or OCIO's needs, as the case may be. The employee must discuss their schedule, the assigned duties to be performed at the alternate worksite, duty station and reporting requirements, and agreed-upon methods for communication and collaboration with their new position's supervisor.

⁵ Telework Enhancement Act of 2010, as amended, 5 U.S.C § 6502(a)(2).

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

C. Application

1. Request. An employee may participate in the Program to the maximum extent permitted by their position eligibility, or participate less than the maximum permissible, if applicable. (E.g., an employee in a position eligible for four days of telework per week may elect to participate on a four day per week basis, a fewer number of days per week, or not to telework at all.)

As described in I.C.2., below, employees wishing to participate in the Program will submit a request through the USPTO's Enterprise Telework Information System \(ETIS\), specifying the program option and number of days per week they wish to telework, as follows:

- a. Situational. As described in Section II, participants in this telework option generally report to the USPTO office five days per week, but are authorized to occasionally telework, up to the maximum number of days per week for which their position is eligible, as the employees' duties and/or circumstances make desirable.
- b. Routine: one day per week. As described in Section III.B., participants in this option report to the USPTO office four days per week. When at the USPTO office, a one day per week participant will maintain their status quo office.
- c. Routine: two days per week. As described in Section III.B., participants in this option report to the USPTO office three days per week. When at the USPTO office, a two day per week participant will maintain their status quo office.
- d. Routine: three days per week. As described in Section III.B., participants in this option report to the USPTO office two days per week. When at the USPTO office, a three day per week participant will share an office with another employee.
- e. Routine: four days per week. As described in Section III.B., participants in this option report to the USPTO office one day per week. When at the USPTO office, a four day per week participant will share an office with another employee.
- f. Five days per week. If electing to telework five days per week, a participant is presented with three five day per week program options. One option is routine telework and the other two are remote telework, as follows:
 - i. Routine: Hoteling. As described in Section III.C., participants in this option report to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week for a minimum of 15 minutes at each occurrence on a schedule of their choosing. Participants will relinquish their USPTO designated office and, when at the USPTO office to meet the minimum reporting requirement, a five day per week routine telework participant will use temporary or “hoteling” office space.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

- ii. Remote: 50-Mile. As described in Section IV.B., participants in this option elect to designate their approved alternate worksite within 50 miles of the USPTO office as their official worksite and official duty station. The participant has no routine reporting requirement to the USPTO office. The participant will relinquish their USPTO designated office and, when occasionally at the USPTO office, a remote telework participant will use temporary or “hoteling” office space.
- iii. Remote: TEAP. As described in Section IV.C., participants in this option elect to designate their approved alternate worksite greater than 50 miles from the USPTO office as the participant’s official worksite and official duty station. The participant has no routine reporting requirement to the USPTO office. The participant is responsible for paying for one of no more than a few mandatory trips to the office per fiscal year. The participant will relinquish their USPTO designated office and, when occasionally at the USPTO office, a remote telework participant will use temporary or “hoteling” office space.

2. Requirements. All employees who wish to participate in the Program must meet or complete the following requirements. Additional information about each item is located at the referenced section of this document.

- a. Be in an eligible position. See [Section I.B.]
- b. Read the Program Guidelines (this document).
- c. Hold a conversation with your immediate supervisor to discuss:
 - i. The desired telework program option and schedule based on position eligibility. See Sections [I.B., I.C.1., I.G., and III.B.1.]
 - ii. The assigned duties to be performed at the alternate worksite(s), See Sections [I.B., III.A., and III.B.]
 - iii. OCFO and OCIO work schedule operating parameters, including agreed-upon methods for communication and collaboration. See Sections [I.E.3., I.F., and I.G.1.]
 - iv. Worksites, including the primary alternate worksite, the official worksite, and whether there will be more than one alternate worksite. See [Section I.D.]

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

- v. If teleworking three or four days per week, which requires a participant to share an office, discuss office move and sharing logistics to execute the move. See [Section III.B.3.]
 - vi. If teleworking five days per week, which requires a participant to relinquish their office, discuss the process for moving out of their office and reserving a hoteling room. See Sections [III.C.2. and IV.A.3.]
 - d. Review the alternate worksite(s) safety and security guidelines located on the USPTO Telework Resources website. See Sections [I.D.5. and I.D.6. and Appendix A.]
 - e. Secure approved internet service. See [Section I.E.2.]
 - f. Complete USPTO Teleworker Training: Telework Effectiveness and submit your certificate to your supervisor and the Business Unit Telework Coordinator. See [Section I.C.5.]
 - g. Submit an application for telework through the ETIS.
 - i. New employees will receive a New Employee Temporary Telework Agreement with the new hire welcome packet that must be signed before teleworking (see Appendix C). New employee information is loaded into the ETIS approximately three weeks after an employee's start date. The temporary agreement must be replaced by a permanent application and agreement through the ETIS within two months after the employee's start date.
 - h. Request and receive applicable telework equipment. The universal laptop and SecurID are the minimum equipment required to begin teleworking. See Sections [I.C.5. and I.E.1.]
 - i. If applying for a remote telework option, work with your supervisor to obtain approval and complete the Office of Human Resources (OHR) procedures to change your official duty station. See [Section IV.]
 - j. If applying to telework five days per week and not changing your duty station from the USPTO office, discuss the recurring reporting requirement with your immediate supervisor. See [Section III.C.1.]
3. Approval.
- a. Decisions to grant or deny telework requests will be made by the participant's immediate supervisor based on whether the position is eligible, whether the employee meets the requirements to participate in the Program See [Section I.C.2.], and whether the employee's request is otherwise consistent with the Program. The maximum number of days per week an employee may participate will be based on the number of days the position is eligible for telework.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

- b. Decisions on requests to grant or deny a telework request will be made promptly using the ETIS, generally within one week of submission of the request. Decisions to grant will include the number of days the employee is permitted to telework per week. Decisions to deny will include the reason for denial. An employee may appeal a decision to deny to the second level supervisor with a copy to the Business Unit Telework Coordinator.
 - c. Employees approved to telework who are not already teleworking or onboarding virtually will be authorized to begin telework the first full pay period after completing the required training and receiving the minimum amount of equipment to telework. The immediate supervisor may permit teleworking sooner at their discretion. Refer to Section I.C.9. for additional guidance about modifications to telework program options.
4. Telework Agreement. All participants must have an approved telework agreement denoting the telework option selected and signed by the employee and supervisor to begin telework. The telework agreement will be completed when applying for telework through the ETIS. Participants who opt for remote telework are required to change their duty station See [Section IV] and acknowledge that (a) they will not be reimbursed for travel between their alternate worksite and the USPTO office except as specified in Section IV, and (b) a duty station change could impact pay and benefits.
 5. Equipment Deployment. All participants must receive the minimum amount of equipment to perform official duties at the alternate worksite before teleworking. Follow the steps outlined below to request and receive your equipment. Participants will be provided with the minimum amount of equipment as soon as practicable after the approval of the telework request. See [Section I.E.1.]
 - a. Contact the Telework Coordinator after completing Section I.C.2 steps a. through g.
 - b. The Telework Coordinator will send the employee a Telework Equipment Deployment spreadsheet template to finalize in accordance with the guidelines included in Section I.E.1.
 - c. Deliver the completed spreadsheet to immediate supervisor for approval.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

- d. The supervisor will review the spreadsheet for compliance with equipment listed in Section I.E.1 and submit it to the Telework Coordinator representing their approval.
 - e. The Telework Coordinator will request the equipment.
 - f. The employee will be notified when the equipment is ready to be delivered or retrieved from the USPTO Telework Depot.
 - g. If on-boarding as a new employee with the USPTO virtually, before the on-board date the employee will be contacted by the OHR, the employee's supervisor, and/or the Telework Coordinator to arrange for equipment deployment. The Telework Coordinator will work with the employee's supervisor to define equipment needs and request equipment deployment.
 - i. The USPTO, OCIO will ship equipment to the employee to be received at least two days prior to the start date.
 - ii. The USPTO, OCIO will also deliver the employee's network account information and SecurID or other means of alternate authentication once the employee is sworn in.
6. Training. All participants teleworking for the first time must complete telework training before an employee is permitted to telework. If on-boarding as a new employee with the USPTO virtually, Training should be completed no later than two weeks after the employee's start date. The employee may contact the Telework Coordinator for assistance in locating the training. Managers should also complete Manager Training: Telework Effectiveness. The Office will ensure that such training is made available promptly to all participants whose requests to telework are approved.
7. Telework Agreement Updates. Participants will use the ETIS to update their telework agreement when participant telework information changes and annually for recertification, including that the participant reviewed the safety guidelines for alternate worksite(s). The Agency will remind all participants of the recertification requirement annually. The safety guidelines are posted on the Telework Program Office website and at Appendix A. Participants are responsible for updating the ETIS and telework agreement to ensure the Program option and address(es) of the alternate worksite(s) are accurate at all times.
8. Participant Telework Program Changes. The participant's telework schedule should reflect the program option selected in ETIS and recorded on the telework agreement. If a participant is regularly teleworking or working in the office on a schedule different than the program option selected, the participant or the supervisor should initiate a conversation about modifying the telework program option selected in ETIS using the procedures outlined in Section I.C.9, below.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

9. Modifications. Participants may permanently modify their telework program option by selecting telework program option and days up to the maximum number of days for which the position is eligible using the ETIS. There are no advance notification requirements for participants whose positions are eligible to telework five days per week and who request to update their telework program option in a manner that does not impact office arrangements (e.g., changing from one day to two days per week telework or from five days per week with a reporting requirement to the 50-mile program).

Participants who encumber positions eligible to telework less than five days per week must discuss schedule changes with their supervisor if requesting to reduce the number of days working at the USPTO Office.

Otherwise, to allow for office arrangements, participants will notify their supervisor and the Telework Program coordinator via email at least two weeks in advance of modifying a telework program option from less than four days per week telework to five days per week telework or withdrawing from the program; and four weeks in advance of changing status from five days per week telework to less than four days per week telework. For exigent circumstances the Office will process employee requests in less than 4 weeks by providing hoteling or temporary office space to the employee until a permanent workspace can be arranged.

See Section III. B. 2 for guidance on temporary schedule changes.

D. Worksites

1. Locations. Participants will designate a primary alternate worksite as the location where hours will be worked while not at the USPTO office. If a participant desires, they may designate an additional location as a secondary alternate worksite. All alternate worksites must be located in the fifty (50) states of the United States, the District of Columbia, or Puerto Rico. The designation of a participant's official worksite is dependent on the designation of a participant's official duty station, as follows:
 - a. A situational telework participant's official worksite is the USPTO office.
 - b. A routine telework participant's official worksite is the USPTO office.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

- c. A remote telework participant's (i.e., a 50-mile or TEAP option⁶) official worksite is their primary alternate worksite (home or other approved telework location) because the participant has changed their official duty station to the city/town and state of their primary alternate worksite.
2. Alternate Worksites. An alternate worksite may be the participant's home or other approved appropriate location. The participant must designate a room or location in their alternate worksite for placement and use of the equipment provided for the Program. Participants are responsible for purchasing and maintaining all office furniture at the alternate worksites.

Participants are responsible for ensuring compliance with all local laws or rules governing an office in their home. Participants who are renters are responsible for ensuring that their lease allows the installation of all the necessary equipment and connection services (e.g., compliant internet service) for the Program.

Participants are responsible for any utility cost, cooling, heating, and lighting at the alternate worksites. Participants are responsible for any re-wiring, updating, and improvements necessary to bring the electrical connections in an alternate worksite up to the required standards.

3. Working at a Secondary Alternate Worksite. Secondary alternate worksites are subject to the rules outlined in Section I.D.2. above. Participants must request approval to work at a secondary alternate worksite through ETIS prior to working from that location.

Requests are not necessary for each use of a secondary alternate worksite once the secondary alternate worksite is approved through ETIS. However, the participant must communicate the routine and recurring schedule with their immediate supervisor.

The amount of time spent working at the secondary alternate worksite cannot exceed 6 months in any 12-month period otherwise the secondary alternate worksite should be changed to become the primary alternate worksite. Employees must track their time at alternate worksites; if the intended stay at any secondary alternate worksite exceeds 6 months in a 12-month period, then the participant's supervisor initiates a Personnel Action Request (PAR) to change the duty station in the designated USPTO human resources system. See Section IV.A.2. for additional guidance on changing your duty station. The participant should also update their residence address in EPP, as applicable.

⁶ A five day per week telework participant who chooses to maintain the USPTO office as their official duty station (i.e., non-50-mile and non-TEAP) is a routine telework participant. See Section III.C.1. for requirements to report the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

A participant whose official worksite is at the USPTO office will generally not be permitted to work at a secondary alternate worksite that is outside of a 50-mile radius of their USPTO office for a full bi-week or more at a time, unless the participant reports to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week See [Section III.C.1.], meets one of the exceptions in 5 C.F.R. § 531.605\(d\)\(2\), or has been granted a temporary medical exception See [Section V.].

4. Transporting Equipment. When a participant has been approved to work at a secondary alternate worksite they are responsible for safely and securely transporting equipment to and from the alternate worksites See [Section I.E.7.]. The participant is also responsible for determining the equipment necessary to successfully perform their official duties at the secondary alternate worksite. A participant will only be issued one set of telework equipment in accordance with the standards outlined in Section I.E.1.
5. Safety Guidelines. All participants will review the alternate worksite(s) safety and security guidelines located on the USPTO Telework Program website. See [Appendix A.]
6. Security. All alternate worksites must meet security and privacy requirements, including those established and occasionally updated by OCIO regarding IT security See [Section I.E.4.]. Participants are not permitted to work in a public area, e.g., a coffee shop, an airport terminal, or outside in a park.
7. Inspection. The participant will permit other USPTO employees and contractors to access the alternate worksite during the hours from 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM, Monday-Friday (excluding holidays) upon two business days' notice to the participant. Accessing the alternate worksite will be for the purpose of installing, repairing, maintaining, or removing work equipment, software, or other USPTO property, to investigate an accident or a worker's compensation claim, or to investigate other work related or safety problems arising from the administration of the Program. The parties may mutually agree to a time outside of these hours.

E. Equipment, Tools, and Supplies

1. Standard Equipment. Participants will be provided with a standard suite of IT equipment necessary to perform official assigned duties remotely at the primary alternate worksite as soon as practicable after the approval of the telework request. A participant may decline deployment of equipment if, after consultation with their supervisor, they deem the equipment is not necessary to productively perform official assigned duties at the primary alternate worksite (e.g., no printer, one monitor instead of two, etc.). Standard equipment includes the following:

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

- a. 5 days per week: A universal laptop; docking station; two monitors; webcam; printer (provided the supervisor deems it necessary to perform assigned official duties); telephone headset; keyboard; mouse; SecurID (FOB) or other means of alternate authentication; fingerprint reader⁷; and other related peripherals.
- b. 3 and 4 days per week. A universal laptop, docking station, two monitors, webcam, telephone headset, SecurID (FOB) or other means of alternate authentication, keyboard, mouse, and other related peripherals. A printer may be issued if the immediate supervisor deems it necessary to perform assigned official duties. Immediate supervisor approvals must be provided to the Telework Coordinator before printers will be deployed. If a participant is issued an approved printer to use at the alternate worksite, the employee will relinquish their personal office printer and use a shared network printer.
- c. 2 days per week or less. A universal laptop, docking station, one monitor, webcam, telephone headset, SecurID (FOB) or other means of alternate authentication, keyboard, mouse, and other related peripherals.
- d. Situational telework. A universal laptop and SecurID (FOB) or other means of alternate authentication.

To ensure a seamless customer experience, participants are required to use USPTO assigned phone numbers for communication with colleagues and customers.

Necessary equipment will be provided to the participant as soon as practicable after the approval of the telework request. The universal laptop and SecureID (FOB), or other designated authentication technology, is the minimum equipment required to begin teleworking.

2. Internet Service.

- a. Requirements. All participants must have high-speed broadband internet service such as cable or fiber optic that meets USPTO's virtual private network \(VPN\) connection requirements at all alternate worksites. Wired connectivity is recommended. Employees may choose to work either wired or wirelessly, but must be able to connect with a wired connection as needed to improve connectivity or upon OCIO request (e.g., in responding to a service request or to facilitate updates).

⁷ Fingerprint readers will be provided to TEAP participants, only.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

- b. Internet Service (IS) Reimbursement. Given that participants who telework five days per week have relinquished their USPTO office, they are eligible for IS cost reimbursement at their approved alternate worksite(s) in accordance with the USPTO ISP Reimbursement Policy.
3. Collaboration Tools. Participants must use USPTO collaboration tools in accordance with the USPTO's Time and Attendance Tools, Communication, and Collaboration \(TACC\) Policy, or any policy that supersedes it. Collaboration tools include, but are not limited to: instant messaging and chat; document/desktop sharing and whiteboard features; virtual meeting tools; video communication and conferencing equipment; and presence indicator. Employees will be required to use their video communication tools (i.e., camera) in accordance with POPA and NTEU 243 negotiated agreements for specific meetings and when their active participation during such meeting is required.
4. IT Security. Participants are responsible for the security of Federal government property, information, and information systems at all alternate worksites. If not properly implemented, telework may introduce vulnerabilities into USPTO systems and networks. To prevent security incidents, participants are required to protect information and information systems commensurate with risk and complete the annual USPTO mandatory IT Security Awareness Training.

Information associated with official business should be stored in controlled, accessible, and safeguarded locations. Participants should store information in places that are adequately accessible to other colleagues (with a need to know) and backed up (e.g., shared drives, SharePoint) and refrain from desktop storage. Participants will not store USPTO information on personal devices or accounts.

The creation of paper copies containing sensitive information should be minimized to the greatest extent possible while teleworking. Most home or non-industrial shredders do not meet the General Services Administration's (GSA) approved cross-cut shredder requirement; therefore, these paper files must be stored in a locked drawer or room until participants can return to campus and utilize GSA-approved shredders. Please contact the USPTO Records Officers or CUI Managers if you have hard copies at your alternate worksite and are unable to adequately secure and store the documents until you can return to the USPTO. Please email CUI@uspto.gov with any questions related to properly disposing of records.

- a. Care must be taken to ensure records subject to the Privacy Act (5 U.S.C. § 552a, Records Maintained on Individuals) and sensitive but non-classified data are not disclosed to anyone except those who have authorized access to perform their duties. Participants should refer to the Rules of the Road.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

- b. Participants are responsible for the security of all official information, protection of any government furnished equipment and property, and the execution of the mission of the USPTO at the alternate worksite(s) in accordance with existing USPTO and DOC policies.
 - c. Any USPTO owned equipment is for official use only. Use of the equipment for private purposes is prohibited except as permitted by the USPTO Rules of the Road. Family members and friends of Participants are not authorized to use any government furnished equipment.
 - d. Participants are to comply with all security related USPTO policies including the USPTO Rules of the Road. These policies may be found on the USPTO intranet website.
5. USPTO Equipment Failures. Participants are to contact the USPTO Service Desk to report Agency-provided equipment or software failures or problems, including connecting via the VPN, as soon as they are discovered and follow the procedures provided by the Service Desk. In the event that VPN or Agency provided equipment problems (including USPTO power outages) prohibit working at an alternate worksite, the participant must notify their immediate supervisor. The participant may consult with their immediate supervisor to determine if there is non-equipment related work available at the alternate worksite and determine how to record time. See Section I.G.7 for guidance about non-weather related equipment failures at the alternate worksite(s) (e.g., participant power outages and interruptions in internet access) and Section I.I.1 for weather related outages.
6. Ownership and Maintenance. USPTO maintains ownership and control of any and all equipment, software, other materials, and data provided to the participant by the agency. The USPTO acts as the insurer for damage, theft, or other loss (e.g., fire, flood, etc.) of the USPTO equipment and materials only. Equipment provided by the Agency will be serviced and maintained by the Agency.
7. Safeguarding Assets. All participants are responsible for reasonably safeguarding and protecting government issued equipment. The accountability and security of IT resources See [Section I.E.4] extends to your alternate worksite(s), residence, other approved telework location, and/or other areas in which you use, travel with, and store the equipment. When a participant chooses to work at a secondary alternate worksite they are responsible for safely and securely transporting equipment to and from the alternate worksites. Reasonable safeguards must be consistently exercised to ensure that government property is not vulnerable to any negligence or potential criminal activity. When a participant is assigned a piece of equipment, including the Universal Laptop, the participant is responsible for reasonable safeguards of its physical safety, as well as the data stored on it. Suggestions for safeguarding equipment and procedures for reporting lost, stolen, or damaged equipment are available on the USPTO's Asset Management website.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

Participants will provide property custodians with all information requested to inventory assets and will provide timely notice of equipment changes and issues.

8. Returning Equipment. Any equipment provided to the participant for use at the alternate worksite(s) should be returned to the Agency generally within five business days from the end of the participant's participation in the Program, unless exigent circumstances exist. Any equipment that was deployed to the participant and is not needed to perform official duties should be returned as soon as the participant deems the equipment as unnecessary.

A participant returning equipment must notify the Telework Coordinator to facilitate the return.

The USPTO may require return or exchange of Agency provided equipment. Except for remote telework participants enrolled in TEAP, participants may be required to report to the USPTO office to receive equipment or to repair or exchange equipment.

9. Supplies. Participants enrolled in TEAP who have been issued a printer will use the TEAP Operating Procedures to request toner and paper required to carry out official assigned duties. Unless otherwise defined, TEAP participants are expected to pick up all other small office supplies while on a trip to the USPTO office.

Also, unless otherwise defined, all other telework participants may pick up small office supplies required to carry out their official assigned duties from the USPTO office and those who have been issued a printer may pick up paper and toner from the USPTO office.

- F. Collaboration and Engagement. Employee engagement is a priority for the OCFO and the OCIO and to facilitate collaboration and successful interactive relationships employees should leverage collaboration tools, such as video conferencing, instant messaging or chat tools, and other USPTO approved collaboration software to stay connected. Employees are permitted to upload a workplace appropriate picture of themselves in USPTO collaboration tools so that colleagues and customers can associate names and faces. See the OCFO and OCIO Work

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

Schedule Operating Parameters for further information on communication, collaboration, and customer engagement.

G. Schedules and Time and Attendance

1. Work Schedules. Employees teleworking five days per week must elect to work the Increased Flexitime Program (IFP) or Increased Flexitime Schedule (IFS) work schedules. See the OCFO and OCIO Work Schedule Operating Parameters for further information on business hours and work hours.
2. Timesheets. Participants will use the "Telework Home" transaction code (or other designated method to report telework time) with the appropriate PPA codes to indicate in the time and attendance system which days were worked at the alternate worksite(s) and the number of hours worked at the USPTO office and alternate worksite(s) each day.
3. Holidays. Participants working at an alternate worksite will be granted the same holidays as employees at the USPTO office, unless otherwise determined by the Office of Personnel Management. Early dismissal of USPTO employees or closure of the USPTO office for non-emergency conditions, such as on the day prior to a Federal holiday, will be granted to participants working at an alternate worksite.
4. Overtime and Compensatory Time. Overtime and compensatory time may be worked at an alternate worksite so long as the time has been approved by the participant's supervisor prior to working the additional hours.
5. Leave. All forms of approved leave, including compensatory time, may be used on days on which the participant is scheduled to work at the USPTO office or approved alternate worksite. Leave, however, may not be used on a regular basis to avoid working at the USPTO office on a non-telework day or to avoid meeting a routine telework participant's twice per bi-week reporting requirement See [Section III.C.1.].
6. Multiple Locations in a Given Day. A participant may work at the USPTO office and/or multiple alternate worksites on the same day. A participant who chooses to work at multiple locations on the same day must notify their immediate supervisor and comply with the requirements of the policy on communication and collaboration with respect to posting work hours (to include time zone, if outside of Eastern Time zone) regardless of where they work. Participants must mid-day flex (if on IFP/S) or take leave to accommodate travel time required for commuting to and from the various work sites. See [Section III.B. for routine telework schedule requirements.]

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

7. Inability to Work at an Alternate worksite. If an employee is prevented from working at an alternate worksite for reasons other than inclement weather (e.g., non-weather related power or internet outage at the alternate worksite or lack of dependent care), the participant must either (1) report to the USPTO office to perform official duties if not a TEAP participant, (2) obtain approval to work at a secondary alternate worksite, (3) if on IFP/S, change their work schedule by reducing the number of hours worked on that day, or (4) request appropriate leave, at the participant's option. If able to work, the participant may also consult with their immediate supervisor to determine if there is non-equipment related work available at the alternate worksite. The participant will not be reimbursed for any travel or related expenses for commuting between their alternate worksite(s) and the USPTO office and all trips will not be on duty time. See Section I.E.5 for guidance related to a USPTO equipment failure and Section I.I.1 for weather related conditions.

H. In-person Events

1. Virtual First. When technology is available, and consistent with the purpose of the event, meetings will be held so that participants working remotely can participate fully via video conference.
2. Mandatory Attendance. Participants may be required to report to the USPTO office to address business needs and office coverage for non-portable work activities, attend training, meetings, or other individual, team-, Office-, or Business Unit-wide events. Participants will be given as much notice as possible of any meeting or activity that they must attend in person. Absent exigent circumstances, participants will not be required to report to the USPTO office on the same day that notice is provided to the participant and the USPTO will endeavor to meet the notification timelines outlined below.
 - a. Office coverage to address business needs or non-portable work activities: Generally, for participants not enrolled in TEAP, notice to report to the USPTO office will not be less than two days.
 - b. Group meetings: Group meetings are defined as team, organizational (e.g.: section, branch, division, office), or business unit-wide meetings, to include training. For these planned events, the Agency has a goal of 4 weeks' notice, but at least 3 weeks' notice will be provided prior to the date of the meeting or training. This provides notification in accordance with TEAP operating procedures to ensure TEAP participants have adequate time to plan for a mandatory employee-paid trip.

All decisions to hold mandatory, in-person meetings will be approved by the Deputy Chief Financial Officer for the OCFO, the Deputy Chief Information Officer for the OCIO, or their delegate(s).

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

I. Changes to Operating Status and Unscheduled Telework (e.g., Inclement Weather)

1. Office Closures, Early Departures and Delayed Arrivals Due to Weather or Safety Events.

When a foreseeable weather or safety event causes the agency to close or authorize late arrival or early departure, any employee with a signed telework agreement (i.e., a Program participant) must be prepared to telework, flex around the full or partial closure, and/or take leave. Except as provided below, no employee with a signed telework agreement of any type (regular, situational, etc.) may receive Weather and Safety leave, regardless of whether the employee was scheduled to telework that day. In order to telework during a weather or safety event, participants must have their Universal Laptop at their alternate worksite. Unscheduled telework due to a closure, early dismissal, or delayed arrival due to weather or safety events will not count against the allowable telework days provided by this Program.

If weather related physical conditions affect the alternate worksite in a way that limits the employee's ability to perform their duties (e.g., power or internet outages at the participant's alternate worksite or the USPTO office), the employee may request Weather and Safety administrative leave or to work at a secondary alternate worksite. Participants may telework at an alternate worksite where there are dependents or others. However, for any time that the employee claims as work time, their attention must be oriented to work activities and not dependent care. If dependent care prohibits the ability to perform telework for some portion of the work day during an office closure, early dismissal or delayed arrival, an employee may use a combination of flex time and unscheduled leave, with supervisory approval, to meet any dependent care needs and still accomplish work. See Section I.K.1 for additional information on dependent care.

Weather and Safety leave may be available to a Program participant if the participant was not prepared to telework at their approved alternate worksite because either (1) the weather or safety event that caused the agency to close or authorize late arrival or early departure was not foreseeable or (2) reasonable circumstances prevented the employee from preparing to telework (e.g., the participant had been on leave until the day of the weather event, and the participant was not able to obtain their laptop before the weather or safety event). Find additional information on weather and safety leave at Leave Administration, Appendix A: Impact of Weather and Safety Events on the Alexandria Campus and Randolph Square Building.

- ### 2. Unscheduled Leave or Unscheduled Telework.
- In the event OPM or USPTO declares that Federal agencies are open for the entire day with the option for "unscheduled leave or unscheduled telework," Program participants may report to the USPTO office, telework on a non-telework day (if consistent with the employee's work obligations), take unscheduled annual leave, or use a combination of work and annual leave to account for all of the regularly scheduled hours of the workday. A decision to telework on a day in which unscheduled telework is allowed will not count against the allowable telework days provided by this Program.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

J. Performance Management.

Participants are expected to perform assigned duties and responsibilities at the alternate worksite. It is important that the alternate worksite be free from distractions that would impair a participant's ability to perform official duties and provide the same time and level of attention to the work product as is available at the USPTO office. Participants will have their performance evaluated under the criteria set out in their performance appraisal plan. If the participant lacks sufficient work for a telework day, they should consult with the supervisor to see if there is additional work that can be done at the alternate worksite. If there is not enough work that can be done at the alternate worksite, the employee must work at the USPTO office or use leave to cover the hours for which there is no work. Participants shall provide details of work accomplished upon the request of their supervisor.

Participants who are on a Performance Improvement Plan (PIP) will not be required to change their telework arrangement due to the PIP. Whether the participant's official worksite is the USPTO office or an approved alternate worksite, a participant who is on a PIP will be required to commit to be available to receive assistance and training. The assistance may be provided at the USPTO office or virtually. The supervisor and the participant will attempt to find an agreeable time for the assistance to be provided, including providing reasonable notification in accordance with the intent of Section I.H.2. The supervisor, however, retains the right to direct the participant to attend meetings or training at the USPTO office, including one-on-one training.

K. Miscellaneous Provisions.

1. Dependent Care. No telework arrangement is authorized which allows the participant to provide care to any individual during work hours. Participants shall have dependent care arrangements so that the participant's ability to work at the alternate worksite is not adversely affected. A dependent may be at the alternate worksite while the participant teleworks if those dependents are independently pursuing their own activities or otherwise provided for by a caretaker. For any time that the employee claims as work time, their attention must be oriented to work activities and not dependent care.
2. Transit Subsidy. Participants continue to remain eligible for transit subsidies as set forth in the USPTO Public Transit Subsidy Program.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

3. FECA and Alternate Worksite Injury. Participants are covered under the Federal Employee's Compensation Act (FECA) if injured in the course of actually performing official duties at the alternate worksite. In order for a participant to be able to file a claim for worker's compensation, the participant who has an accident or injury while working at the alternate worksite must notify their immediate supervisor and report the accident or injury to a designated USPTO official in accordance with FECA requirements. Upon notification, the USPTO may investigate any reported accidents and injuries.
4. Property Liability. The USPTO will not be liable for damages to a participant's personal or real property during the course of performing official duties or while using Government equipment in the participant's residence, except to the extent the Government is held liable by the Federal Tort Claims Act, claims arising under the Military Personnel and Civilian Employees Claims Act, or other laws.
5. Protecting Records. Participants will apply approved safeguards to protect Agency records from unauthorized disclosure or damage and will comply with the Privacy Act requirements set forth in the Privacy Act of 1974, Public Law 93-579, codified at 5 U.S.C. Section 552a. See Section I.E.4. for additional IT Security requirements.

Participants are required to use electronic versions of documents and data whenever practical. When this is not practical, and solely for the purposes of this Program, participants will be permitted to remove USPTO copies of documents from the USPTO office in order to perform their officially assigned duties at an alternate worksite, unless such files have been identified by management as being inappropriate for removal from the USPTO office. The participant is responsible for the transportation and safeguarding of the documents and files to and from the USPTO office and alternate worksite(s). Original or official files may not be removed from the USPTO office unless specifically approved by the Agency.

When the USPTO has an unusual need for a document or file or other information that is located at the alternate worksite, the participant may be directed to provide the requested document, file or other information to the USPTO office within one business day by delivery means determined by the Agency. An unusual need is one that does not occur on a regular basis and cannot wait for the participant's scheduled return to the USPTO office or be resolved through other means.

6. Union Activities. Stewards and union officials may perform Union representational activities on official or bank time while teleworking.

7. Personal Information. Agency personnel will not divulge the addresses and private home or mobile telephone numbers of participants to the public or any other USPTO personnel who do not have a legitimate business need to know such information.

II. Provisions Applicable to Situational Telework Participants

- A. Requesting Situational Telework. A situational telework participant is expected to perform their assigned duties at the USPTO office regularly. Situational telework must be requested in advance and approved by the immediate supervisor. Requests for situational telework must include the dates the participant will telework and the work that will be performed at the alternate worksite on those dates.

Participants currently teleworking situationally in a position that is eligible for routine or remote telework who would like to move to routine or remote telework must modify their telework application in ETIS and follow the application procedures in Section I.C.9. Additional information on routine telework may be found at Section III and additional information on remote telework may be found at Section IV.

- B. Offices. Participants selecting a situational telework program option will retain their status quo office.
- C. Part Time Employees. Part-time employees who encumber a position eligible for situational or routine telework may participate in situational telework.

III. Provisions Applicable to Routine Telework Participants

- A. Overview. A routine telework participant's official duty station remains the USPTO office and requires the participant to work at the USPTO office for a specified amount of time each week or bi-week as designated by their position eligibility determination.
 1. Participants electing to telework one to four days per week will work at the USPTO office for four to one day(s) per week.
 2. Participants electing to telework five days per week may elect either to retain the USPTO office as their official duty station and remain a routine teleworker or, if the participant's primary alternate worksite is located within 50 miles of the USPTO office, change the location of their official duty station to the primary alternate worksite in accordance with the procedures outlined in Section IV.B, and become a remote teleworker.

B. Routine Telework Participants Teleworking One to Four Days per Week

1. Telework Schedule. Participants eligible for routine or remote telework may request to telework one to four days per week, up to the number of days permitted by their position's eligibility determination. Participants electing this option are expected to perform their assigned duties at the USPTO office for one to four day(s) per week, as set forth in their position eligibility determination. Participants who select this option must consult with their immediate supervisor to define a telework schedule that identifies regular days to perform duties at the USPTO office each bi-week. For participants whose essential functions include duties that must be done at the USPTO office, the amount of time spent at the USPTO office on a non-telework day must be long enough to complete those essential functions and if a participant chooses to work at multiple locations on the same day they must notify their immediate supervisor. Participants may not use IFP/S flexibilities or any combination of leave to regularly avoid any in-office requirements. Participants are not precluded from teleworking on fewer days than their position's eligible number of days. The day(s) a participant elects to perform assigned duties in the office will be the same each week and must be scheduled in advance and approved by the immediate supervisor to ensure office coverage.

On a situational basis, a one to four day per week routine telework participant's immediate supervisor may allow an employee to work additional days at an alternate worksite (i.e., supplemental situational telework) in accordance with the provisions for situational telework See [Section III]. Supplemental situational telework must be requested in advance and approved by the immediate supervisor. Requests for supplemental situational telework must include the dates the participant will telework in addition to the routine telework and the work that will be performed at the alternate worksite on those dates.

2. Telework Schedule Changes. Changes in USPTO office day(s) for participants whose position is eligible for routine telework one to four days per week must be requested in advance and approved by the immediate supervisor. These requests may be for a one-time change or for a permanent switch in the days performing assigned duties in the USPTO office. See Section I.C.7., I.C.8., and I.C.9. for permanent program changes. The OCFO or OCIO may require temporary adjustments to USPTO office day(s) schedules to address business needs and office coverage for non-portable work activities.

Participants currently teleworking one to four days per week in a position that is eligible to telework five days per week who would like to move to five days per week telework must modify their telework application in ETIS and follow the application procedures in Section I.C.7., I.C.8., and I.C.9. Additional information on five day per week routine telework may be found at Section III.C. and on five day per week remote telework may be found at Section IV.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

3. Offices. Routine telework participants who select a telework program option that places the participant at the USPTO office for two days per week or less will be required to share an office with another employee. Participants who share an office may coordinate their on-campus days, such that one of them uses the office at a time. Participants who select a telework program option that places the participant at the USPTO office for three days per week or more will remain their status quo office arrangements.

A Program participant whose selected telework program option places them in a shared office, and who changes the terms of their telework program and agreement in any way that places them at the USPTO office for three days per week or more, will be reassigned to an unshared office. A participant may have to remain in their shared office until individual office space is available.

The participant will be assigned an office as determined by their seniority consistent with existing Union agreements for office space. The employee should be issued the space they are entitled to within three months of notifying their immediate supervisor and Telework Program coordinator of the change.

C. Routine Telework Participants Teleworking Five Days per Week

1. Reporting Requirement. An employee who elects to telework five days per week and maintains the USPTO office as their official duty station is required to report to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week. Participants shall work at the USPTO Office for a minimum of 15 minutes for each occurrence in a manner consistent with IFP work schedule rules as to days and hours of work. All forms of approved leave, including compensatory time, may be used to meet the required hour(s) on this day but leave may not be used on a regular basis to avoid the requirements of this paragraph to work at the USPTO office two times per bi-week.
2. Offices. Routine telework participants who telework five days per week will not have an assigned office at the USPTO office and will reserve hoteling space on campus when working at the USPTO office, including when meeting the regular bi-weekly reporting requirement.
3. Travel Expenses and Travel Time. When a participant's official duty station is the USPTO office, all travel between home and the USPTO office is considered commuting time and will not be reimbursed.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

- D. Part Time Employees. Part-time employees who encumber a position eligible for routine telework for less than five days per week may participate in telework. The percentage of time that may be worked at the alternate work site will be prorated as determined by the percentage of the employee's part-time schedule compared to a full-time schedule, times the number of days. Part time employees who encumber a position eligible for remote telework for five days per week, may telework 100 percent of their part time work schedule (the requirement to routinely report to the USPTO office two times a bi-week remains). Part time employees should consult guidelines on part time work schedules in the applicable collective bargaining agreement, labor contract, or other union agreements related to part time work.

IV. Provisions Applicable to Remote Telework Participants

A. Provisions Applicable to all Remote Telework Participants

- 1. Overview. A participant who elects to telework five days per week may elect to either retain the USPTO office as their official duty station in accordance with Section III.C. or change the location of their official duty station to the primary alternate worksite.

There is no requirement to routinely report to the USPTO office when a participant has changed their official duty station to the primary alternate worksite. The change in official duty station may impact a participant's pay and benefits because locality pay is based on the location of the official duty station. See Sections IV.A.2, IV.B.1, and IV.C.2 for additional information on changing the official duty station.

Table 1 provides an overview of implications for regular and recurring reporting requirements to the USPTO office, employee pay and benefits, and travel expenses associated with changing the official duty station.

Table 1: Official Duty Station Implications

Key Elements	Teleworking < 50 Miles from Alexandria, VA		Teleworking > 50 Miles from Alexandria, VA
	USPTO Program Reference	Routine: 5 days per week (Hoteling)	Remote: 50-Mile	Routine: 5 days per week (Hoteling)
Official Worksite & Duty Station	USPTO Office	Primary Alternate Worksite	USPTO Office	Primary Alternate Worksite
Pay & Benefits	Locality Pay of USPTO Office	Locality Pay for City of Primary Alternate Worksite	Locality Pay of USPTO Office	Locality Pay for City of Primary Alternate Worksite

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

Key Elements	Teleworking < 50 Miles from Alexandria, VA		Teleworking > 50 Miles from Alexandria, VA
Regular and Recurring Reporting Requirement	Two Times per Bi-week	None	Two Times per Bi-week	None
Travel for Voluntary Trips to USPTO Office or for Reporting Requirement	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office
Travel for Mandatory Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for all Trips to USPTO Office	Employee Pays for the first Trip up to 5 Days, USPTO Pays Thereafter

- Process for Changing the Official Duty Station. A remote telework participant will select one of two program options that permit a change of their official duty station, depending on the location of the approved primary alternate worksite. If the participant lives within a 50 mile radius of the USPTO office, they will select the 50-mile program option and follow the procedures in Section IV.B.1. If the participant lives outside of a 50 mile radius from the USPTO office, they will select the TEAP program option and follow the procedures in Section IV.C. The 50 miles is a point-to-point straight line distance from 600 Dulany Street, Alexandria, VA, 22314.

When changing the official duty station, participants are responsible for maintaining accurate human resource information as outlined in the ETIS Employee Information and Certification Language document located at Appendix B.

- Offices. Remote telework participants will not have an assigned office at the USPTO office and may use hoteling space, if available, when working at the USPTO office.
- Part Time Employees. Part time employees who encumber a position eligible for remote telework, may telework 100 percent of their part time work schedule. Part time employees should consult guidelines on part time work schedules in the applicable collective bargaining agreement, labor contract, or other union agreements related to part time work.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

B. Remote Telework Participants Working within 50 miles of the USPTO Office⁸

1. Official Duty Station Changes. Participants who live within a 50-mile radius⁹ of the USPTO office may request to change their official duty station to their approved primary alternate worksite (e.g., home address), which will be designated as their official worksite. A change in the participant's official duty station eliminates the requirement to report to the USPTO office at least two times per bi-week and changes the participant's pay (including locality pay) to the location of the primary alternate worksite, which may be a different locality pay than the USPTO office. Information on locality pay is available by checking the relevant pay tables found at the Office of Personnel Management's website. Questions about other potential changes to pay and benefits (e.g., health and life insurance, thrift savings plan, etc.) may be directed to the OHR at (571) 272-6000 or HumanResources_USPTO@uspto.gov.

All changes to duty station are voluntary and for the convenience of the participant. See participant responsibilities in Section IV.A.2. All changes to the official duty station must be pre-approved by the USPTO. If a participant's primary alternate worksite (e.g., home address) is within a 50-mile radius of the Alexandria office, a 50-mile radius telework program option may be selected. The participant's supervisor approves the request in ETIS and initiates a PAR to change the duty station in the designated USPTO human resources system.

Generally, participants should request approval three weeks in advance of any change in the official duty station or move. This will provide the supervisor and OHR with sufficient time to process and apply an effective date for the duty station change. The USPTO will not pay for moving costs associated with changes in official duty station.

2. Working at the USPTO Office. Participants may occasionally voluntarily work at the USPTO office. Participants working at the USPTO office are encouraged to reserve hoteling space to perform their official duties. Participants may also be required to occasionally report to the USPTO office to address business needs and office coverage for non-portable work activities, attend training, meetings, or other team-, Office-, or Business Unit-wide events.
3. Travel Expenses and Travel Time. When a participant's official worksite is their home address or other approved alternate worksite within a 50-mile radius of the USPTO office, they will not be reimbursed for any travel or related expenses for commuting between their official worksite and the USPTO office regardless of whether the trips are mandatory

⁸ This category of remote telework is sometimes referred to as the "50-Mile Program".

⁹ The 50-mile radius is determined by https://www.gpsvisualizer.com/calculators#distance_address.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

or voluntary. All such trips, regardless of the location of the official worksite, will not be on duty time.

C. TEAP Option for Remote Participants Working more than 50 miles from the USPTO Office¹⁰

1. Telework Enhancement Act Program (TEAP). TEAP allows participants teleworking five days per week whose position is TEAP eligible and who live greater than 50 miles from the USPTO office to decide, for their own convenience, to change their duty station to an approved telework location in the local commuting area of the city in which they live. See participant responsibilities outlined Section IV.A.2. The participant must travel to the USPTO office for mandatory trips when directed by the Office, and TEAP permits the participant to waive their right to travel expenses for a reasonable number of mandatory trips to the office (5 U.S.C. § 5711(f); 5 U.S.C. § 5711(g)). The participant is responsible for paying for one mandatory trip per fiscal year for up to a maximum of five calendar days, which will be the first trip of the fiscal year. Participants who telework five days per week and who wish to participate in TEAP should refer to the TEAP Operating Procedures for program specifics.
2. TEAP Operating Procedures. The USPTO maintains a TEAP with operating procedures applicable to all USPTO employees. Employees who enroll in TEAP will abide by TEAP Operating Procedures. Highlights of certain aspects of TEAP are outlined below. The information contained herein is not intended to substitute or supersede the TEAP Operating Procedures.
 - a. TEAP Eligibility. All telework participants who encumber positions eligible for TEAP may apply to TEAP if they meet the TEAP eligibility requirements (e.g., changing the official duty station, waiving travel reimbursements, etc.). Generally, participants should be approved for TEAP three weeks in advance of any change in the official duty station or move.
 - b. TEAP Application and Approval. If a participant's primary alternate worksite (e.g., home address) is outside of a 50-mile radius of the Alexandria office, a TEAP telework program option may be selected. The participant's supervisor approves the request in ETIS and initiates a PAR to change the duty station in the designated USPTO human resources system.
 - c. TEAP Pay and Benefits. Participation in TEAP may impact the participant's pay, due to locality pay differences from the USPTO office. Information on locality pay is available by checking the relevant pay tables found at the Office of Personnel Management's

¹⁰ This category of remote telework option is referred to as TEAP.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

website. The TEAP Operating Procedures outline other potential changes to benefits (e.g., health and life insurance, thrift savings plan, etc.) and state taxes. Questions about pay and benefits may be directed to the OHR at (571) 272-6000 or HumanResources_USPTO@uspto.gov.

- d. TEAP Relocation Expenses. Participation in TEAP is voluntary. No employee relocation expenses will be paid to participants.
- e. TEAP Moves and Withdrawal. A participant must use ETIS to notify their immediate supervisor and the Telework Program coordinator of all moves to a different primary alternate worksite (official worksite) or withdrawal from the program. Generally, participants should request approval three weeks in advance of any change in the official duty station or move. This will provide the supervisor and OHR with sufficient time to process and apply an effective date for the duty station change. The USPTO will not pay for moving costs associated with changes in official duty station. See the TEAP Operating Procedures for specific instructions.
- f. TEAP Mandatory Trips. The TEAP Operating Procedures outline procedures and requirements for mandatory trips. The TEAP participants will incur one mandatory trip up to a maximum of five calendar days that is participant paid per fiscal year. All trips beyond that number will be paid by the Agency. The OCFO and OCIO will endeavor to combine reasons for trips and limit the number of trips per year to a reasonable number. The participant's time for travel will be compensated based on the most efficient manner of travel as defined by Federal travel regulations.
- g. TEAP Voluntary Trips. Trips to the USPTO office are defined as voluntary when they are discretionary on the part of the participant and visitation/travel is not required by the OCFO or the OCIO. No travel expenses or travel time will be provided for voluntary trips. Voluntary trips to the USPTO office do not count towards the maximum number of mandatory trips. See TEAP Operating Procedures for further guidance on voluntary trips.

V. Temporary Medical Exception

- A. Description of Program. Management will consider requests from employees to work from home or another alternate worksite based on a serious temporary or short-term medical need of the employee or a family member which would:
1. Significantly impair or preclude the employee from working at (or traveling to) the USPTO office;
 2. Ordinarily require the employee to use leave to be away from the USPTO office without the ability to telework; and
 3. Allow the employee to work from the alternate work site.
- B. Flexibility: In addition to the flexibility of where to work, the employee may request additional telework days, up to and including teleworking five days per week and specific hours of work.
- C. Application. The request may be from a person not eligible to telework (based on position eligibility), or from a current teleworker to expand or change the number of days of telework or change their telework program option. If the request is from an employee whose position is not normally eligible to telework and is not covered by an existing telework agreement, the employee must sign a telework agreement. Eligibility requirements based on position may be waived because the eligibility for the temporary medical exception is based upon specific need.
- D. Approval. Requests under these circumstances (known as a Temporary Medical Exception) must be submitted to the employee's immediate supervisor (or designee) as soon as the need for the temporary medical exception is known by the employee. The supervisor or designee will promptly forward the request with any comments (to include their proposal for the terms of the medical telework) to the Business Unit Head or Deputy Business Unit Head or designee. Decisions to grant or deny requests will be made by the Business Unit Head, Deputy, or designee and communicated to the employee in writing promptly, generally within one or two weeks, and taking into consideration the date on which the employee requests to begin telework. The reason(s) for any denial will be included in the response.

In determining whether to approve a request under this section, the supervisor must consider:

1. The work available for the employee to perform from a remote location as well as the ability to successfully complete assigned tasks in accordance with the employee's performance appraisal plan;

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

2. Whether or not the employee will have appropriate remote access to USPTO IT systems and the likelihood that the employee can be successful in working remotely;
3. The employee's ability to work without the disruption of providing childcare, eldercare, or medical needs (the employee may mid-day flex, if on an appropriate work schedule, to accomplish these activities); and
4. The impact of the employee's absence from the USPTO office on other employees as well as the ability of the OCFO or OCIO to meet its business needs.

Approval to telework under this exception will be up to the duration of the medical need, depending on the work available to be performed at the approved alternate work site. In all instances, the telework granted pursuant to this medical exception may not exceed 4 months without renewed approval. However, the approval may be reviewed at any time and may be extended, adjusted, or revoked: a.) if the medical circumstances have changed; or b.) when participation is based on the medical needs of a family member and business unit needs have changed significantly). Approval of these requests for a temporary medical exception is separate and independent of the Agency's reasonable accommodation process and is not considered evidence of the Agency perceiving or regarding an employee as disabled under the Rehabilitation Act. Nothing in this section precludes or limits the ability of employees to request a reasonable accommodation nor limits the ability of supervisors to refer employees to the Reasonable Accommodation Program Office/OEEOD for assistance when appropriate.

E. Documentation. Upon request, employees must submit medical documentation) from a health care provider supporting the request for a temporary medical exception.

1. The statement or documentation will: --
 - a. State the general nature of the medical need and why the employee should be excused from working at the USPTO office (treatment of the employee or a family member outside of the commuting area will satisfy this requirement).
 - b. Confirm that the employee can perform work.
 - c. Include either of the following:
 - i. If the employee has the medical condition—that the employee is fit for duty at the alternate work site, including any limitations that may apply; or,
 - ii. If a family member has the medical condition—
 - (A) state that the family member will not require constant attention, or

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

- (B) the employee may indicate on the application that other people will provide care when the employee is working.
 - d. The expected duration of the need based on the medical condition.
 - 2. The employee will not be required to reveal any details about the medical condition other than the general nature of the condition as set out in the medical documentation described in Section V.E.1., and the OCFO and OCIO may not require the employee or family member to sign a release for their medical information.
 - 3. The OCFO and OCIO will treat as confidential any medical information given by an employee in support of the medical telework request, and may only disclose such information subject to its Privacy Act and Rehabilitation Act obligations for work-related reasons on a need to know basis.
 - 4. The purpose of the health care provider's statement and/or documentation is to verify the existence of the medical reason asserted in the temporary medical request, that the employee could not reasonably be expected to work at the USPTO office or that working from an alternate worksite would help alleviate the medical condition or assist with recuperation, and that the employee is fit for duty at the alternate location. The OCFO or OCIO will not substitute its own judgment for the medical judgment of the health care provider with respect to the validity of the medical condition, its duration, or how medical telework will alleviate the condition or help the employee (or family member) to recuperate (so long as there are sufficient details in the statement for the OCFO or OCIO to understand the basis for the recommendations).
- F. Work Performed. Because of the added flexibility in terms of eligibility, scheduling and/or number of telework days and hours, the participant and the supervisor will discuss the work to be done, the hours to be worked (including both the number of hours per day and the time of these hours), and any changes in circumstances affecting the arrangement. The terms of the medical telework will be documented in writing and signed by the employee and supervisor or exchanged via email.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

Safety Guidelines for the Alternate Worksite(s)

Employees may use the following guidelines to assist them in a review of the overall safety and adequacy of their alternate worksite. The following are only recommendations, and do not encompass every situation that may be encountered. Employees are encouraged to obtain professional assistance with issues concerning appropriate electrical service and circuit capacity for residential worksites.

1. Develop and practice a fire evacuation plan for use in the event of an emergency.
2. Check your smoke detectors regularly and replace any batteries as needed.
3. Have a working fire extinguisher conveniently located at your alternate worksite (in the room where you work or appropriately located to help with evacuation), and check the charge regularly.
4. Computers are heavy. Place them on sturdy, level, well-maintained furniture.
5. Choose office chairs that provide good supporting backrests and allow adjustments to fit you comfortably.
6. Locate your computer to eliminate noticeable glare from windows and lighting. Place the computer monitor at a height that is comfortable and does not produce neck or back strain. Locate computer keyboards at heights that do not cause wrist strain or place the keyboard on an adjustable surface.
7. Install sufficient lighting in locations to reduce glare on the work surface.
8. Arrange file cabinets so that opened drawers do not block ingress and egress.
9. Be sure to leave space for ingress and egress, where possible, to reduce tripping hazards.
10. Be sure electrical equipment is connected to grounded outlets.
11. Avoid fire hazards by not overloading electrical circuits.
12. Inspect and repair carpeting with frayed edges or loose seams. Avoid using throw rugs that can cause triggering hazards in your workspace.
13. Locate computers, phones, and other electrical equipment in a manner that keeps power cords out of walkways.
14. Lock (CTRL+ALT+DEL) computers after the workday is over.
15. Keep your workspace clean and avoid clutter which can cause fire and tripping hazards.
16. Use proper lifting techniques when moving or lifting heavy equipment and furniture.
17. Report accidents and injuries immediately to your supervisor.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

ETIS Employee Information and Certification Language

The document summarizes the various conditions, understandings, and certifications required by an employee who applies for and enrolls into a USPTO telework program. The information will appear on screens during the ETIS application process.

General guidance and provisions of telework at USPTO

1. All pay, leave, and travel entitlements will be based on the participant's official duty station.
2. The participant must follow established USPTO procedures when requesting and taking leave, compensatory time or credit hours.
3. The participant agrees to complete surveys and attend focus group meetings and interviews to help evaluate the telework program.
4. For participants with government provided equipment: Upon reasonable advance notice by the agency, the participant will permit USPTO employees and contractors to access the alternate worksite during normal working hours on a day that the participant is working at home for the purpose of installing, repairing, maintaining, or removing equipment, software, or other USPTO property, or to investigate an accident or a Workers' Compensation claim or to investigate other work-related or safety problems arising from the administration of the telework program. The parties may mutually agree to a time outside of these hours.
5. The participant agrees to comply with USPTO instructions regarding the return or removal of program materials.
6. The government will not be liable for damages to a participant's personal or real property during the course of performance of official duties or while using government equipment in the participant's residence, except to the extent the government is liable by the Federal Tort Claims Act or claims arising under the Military Personnel and Civilians Employees Claims Act, or other laws.
7. All office policies and procedures and responsibilities remain in effect during a telework program unless the terms of the program agreement or guidelines specifically indicate a difference.
8. Participants who change their primary alternate worksite while participating in the program are required to update their primary alternate worksite address in the Enterprise Telework Information System (<https://etis.uspto.gov>). Participants must also keep their approved secondary alternate site location updated, but this does not constitute a relocation.
9. In accordance with USPTO CIO standards, participants in any telework program must have internet service provided by cable or fiber optic with minimum internet speeds of 15 Megabytes per second of download speed and 4 Megabytes per second of upload speed. The participant agrees that her/his internet speeds at the alternate worksite(s) meet or exceed this requirement, unless a lower speed is authorized by an underlying agreement.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

Employee Responsibilities Related to Human Resource Information

I understand the following:

1. I am responsible for keeping my residential address and duty station up-to-date in the Employee Personal Page (EPP) and ETIS systems;
2. I am responsible for reviewing my benefits coverage (health insurance, dental and vision plans, and long term care insurance), and ensuring the options I have selected provide coverage in my desired location. If I relocate out of the coverage area and wish to elect a new health benefit plan, I must notify the Office of Human Resources (OHR) to make a new election;
3. I am responsible for ensuring that the correct state taxes are withheld from my salary. If I move, I understand it is my responsibility to submit a change request through OHR according to the established processing timelines. If I fail to ensure the proper taxes are withheld from my salary, it is my responsibility to work with my state(s) to make any necessary corrections. The OHR will not make retroactive adjustments or withholdings. More information on how to change your state tax exemption can be found here;
4. Because I am responsible for making sure that taxes are being paid to the appropriate jurisdiction and that my pay is based on the location of my duty station, reviewing my earnings and leave statements is the best way of identifying any issues as early as possible;
5. If applicable, I will work with my supervisor to ensure a "Change in Duty Station" Personnel Action Request (PAR) is initiated in the HRConnect system before the effective date. I also understand that the change in duty station cannot be made effective until OHR has processed the request. If I fail to timely update my address or duty station, it may impact my locality pay and result in an erroneous salary overpayment. I will be required to refund any overpayment to the USPTO.
6. Questions regarding benefits, compensation or personnel action processing may be directed to HumanResources_USPTO@uspto.gov or by telephone at 571-272-6000.

Safeguarding USPTO information and equipment

1. The participant will protect Government/USPTO records from unauthorized disclosure or damage and will comply with the Privacy Act requirements set forth in the Privacy Act of 1974, Public Law 93-579, codified at 5 U.S.C. Section 522a.
2. The participant will ensure that Government/USPTO records taken from the USPTO are accessed only by authorized personnel.
3. The participant will safeguard documents, data files and equipment during transit and at the alternate worksite(s).
4. The participant must return all documents, data files, work products, drafts and notes to the USPTO upon participant ending participation in the program.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

Maintaining USPTO Virtual Private Network Connection Requirements

- I certify that I have read the USPTO VPN Connection Requirements* and that my internet connection\(s\) are compliant.

* You may be required to show proof that the Internet Service Provider(s) you use at the alternative worksite(s) comply with the VPN Connection Requirements. Note: some employees with slower speeds may meet the requirements based on being covered by agreements negotiated with the union representing the participant.

Conditions for Participating in Telework

As a condition of participation in the Telework Program, I agree to the following:

1. I have read and agree to adhere to the program requirements, including agreements and guidelines as appropriate, of the Telework Program.
2. I acknowledge that all pay, leave and travel entitlements will be based on my official duty station.

Final Certifications Upon Signing

- By signing, I certify that I have read and will comply with the [Business Unit Telework Program] provisions and the Employee Responsibilities included on page 2 of 3.
- If my telework program offers TEAP¹¹ as an option and I have selected TEAP as my option, my signature also certifies that: I have read and will comply with the TEAP Operating Procedures; my participation is for my convenience, and, I waive my right to travel reimbursement as outlined in the TEAP Operating Procedures.

¹¹ Telework Enhancement Act Program

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

USPTO New Employee Telework Agreement

The following constitutes an agreement between the U. S. Patent & Trademark Office and _____ (name of employee).

Type of Telework

Based on conversations with my supervisor I have been informed that I am eligible for and select: (choose one)

_____ Routine Telework (I will be allowed to telework a specified number of days and I will be in the USPTO facilities a specified number of days per week.

_____ Remote Work: I will work all of my hours from my home or other alternate work site and I am not expected to routinely report to a USPTO office or facility.

_____ Remote Work within 50 miles of the USPTO office or facility: I will work all of my hours from my home or an alternate work site that is located within 50 miles of the USPTO office or facility.

Location of Alternate Work Site:

The USPTO needs to know the location of your alternate work site. Please choose one of the statements below:

_____ The address I submitted with my new employee orientation documents is the location of my alternate work site.

_____ I intend to work from a different location than the address I submitted. I will call my supervisor and provide the information within the next two days.

The phone number at the alternate work site is: _____ (provide a mobile number if there is no land line)

Official Duty Station

Your Official Duty Station may determine your pay or other benefits. If you will work at the USPTO headquarters or another USPTO facility on a routine basis, your Official Duty Station will be the city and state of the USPTO facility. If you are a remote worker, your Official Duty Station will be the city and state of your alternate work site.

Discussions with Supervisor

This agreement references a number of policies, agreements, and other requirements. The Agency acknowledges that you do not have the ability to review these documents until you are an official employee of the Agency. Therefore, your supervisor will discuss any of these issues with you to help you understand his or her expectations and your requirements. You will have access to the material once you have access to the USPTO Intranet.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

Agreement Terms

- 1) This agreement becomes effective once you have signed the agreement and when you begin working for the USPTO. The Agreement does not require a signature of an Agency Representative.
- 2) This is a temporary agreement that will be in effect no longer than two months. The agreement expires on the earlier of you signing a new telework agreement appropriate for your position and business unit within the USPTO or 2 months after you begin working for the USPTO.
- 3) The employee may telework up to full-time under this agreement, with the extent of authorized telework determined by the employee's business unit. The Agency retains the authority to direct the employee to report to the official duty station as required. 50 Mile radius participants may be required to come to the USPTO as needed. Employees should communicate with their supervisor regarding the assignment of work while teleworking.
- 4) Employees agree to inform their supervisor of their work schedule at the beginning of each day or on a biweekly basis either by email or using the status function in Microsoft Teams, and to update the supervisor as soon as practicable of any changes to the schedule. The employee must comply with all rules and policies governing work schedules while teleworking.
- 5) The employee is required to have Internet Service with a download speed of at least 15 Mbps and an upload speed of at least 4 Mbps at the alternate work site.
- 6) Telework is not authorized when the employee is providing care to any individual. Employees shall have dependent care arrangements so that the employee's ability to work at the alternate worksite is not adversely affected. A dependent may be at the alternate worksite while the employee teleworks if those dependents are independently pursuing their own activities or otherwise provided for by a caretaker. For any time that the employee claims as work time, their attention must be oriented to work activities and not dependent care.
- 7) All pay, leave, and travel entitlements will be based on the employee's Official Duty Station.
- 8) Participants agree to comply with USPTO instructions regarding the return or removal of Agency materials. The employee will ensure that only authorized personnel access the materials provided by or taken from the USPTO.
- 9) The employee must return all USPTO files, work product, drafts, and notes to the USPTO within two business days of the employee ending participation in the program, regardless of whether participation ends voluntarily or at the direction of the Agency.

OCFO AND OCIO TELEWORK PROGRAM 2.0

March 2022

- 10) Assigned duties may only be performed at the approved alternate work site or official duty station. Documents under secrecy orders or containing national security markings cannot be remotely accessed or removed from the USPTO work site.
- 11) The employee will safeguard and protect the confidentiality of patent applications and information therein in accordance with 35 U.S.C. § 122 and any private information (including information covered by the Privacy Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552a).
- 12) Signing and returning this agreement does not confer the right to telework when the employee is in a position that has not been approved for telework or to increase the amount of telework from what has been authorized by the USPTO.

I certify that I have read and will comply with the aforementioned provisions.

Print name

Employee's Signature

Date

An /s/ followed by the employee's name will be a sufficient signature for this document, or the employee may print, sign, scan and return the agreement.

Please return this agreement to your supervisor

Ref. #	OFFICE	POSITION	UNION	SERIES	GRADE	POSITIONS ON BOARD	POSITIONS VACANT	TOTAL POSITIONS	Position Eligibility (S,1,2,3,4, or 5 days/wk)	If 5 days, is Position Eligible for Remote: TEAP	Explanation for not eligible for TEAP	Explanation for not eligible for 5 days
1	OF	Accountant (AP & AR)	POPA	0510	GS-12	1		1	5 days	No	Minor non portable job functions that may require the position to work in the office occasionally.	N/A
2	OF	Accountant (Fees)	POPA	0510	GS-11	1		1	5 days	No	Minor non portable job functions that may require the position to work in the office occasionally.	N/A
3	OF	Accountant (Fees)	POPA	0510	GS-12	1		1	5 days	No	Minor non portable job functions that may require the position to work in the office occasionally.	N/A
4	OF	Accountant (Fees)	POPA	0510	GS-13	1		1	5 days	No	Minor non portable job functions that may require the position to work in the office occasionally.	N/A
5	OF	Accountant (Cost Accounting)	POPA	0510	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
6	OF	Accountant (Cost Accounting)	POPA	0510	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
7	OF	Accountant (Reporting & Analysis)	POPA	0510	GS-09	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
8	OF	Accountant (Reporting & Analysis)	POPA	0510	GS-11	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
9	OF	Accountant (Reporting & Analysis)	POPA	0510	GS-12	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
10	OF	Accountant (Reporting & Analysis)	POPA	0510	GS-13	7		7	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
11	OF	Senior Accountant (IT)	POPA	0510	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
12	OP	Contract Specialist	POPA	1102	GS-09	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
13	OP	Contract Specialist	POPA	1102	GS-11	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
14	OP	Contract Specialist	POPA	1102	GS-12	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
15	OP	Contract Specialist	POPA	1102	GS-13	19	5	24	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
16	OP	Contract Specialist	POPA	1102	GS-14	13	8	21	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
17	OP	Procurement Analyst (Liaison)	POPA	1102	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
18	OP	Procurement Analyst (Policy)	POPA	1102	GS-13	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
19	OP	Procurement Analyst (Policy)	POPA	1102	GS-14	4		4	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
20	OPB	Economist	POPA	0110	GS-09	2	1	3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
21	OPB	Economist	POPA	0110	GS-11	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
22	OPB	Economist	POPA	0110	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
23	OPB	Economist	POPA	0110	GS-14	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
24	OPB	Statistician	POPA	1530	GS-09	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
25	OPB	Statistician	POPA	1530	GS-14	2	3	5	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A

OFFICE OF THE CFO -- TELEWORK ELIGIBILITY SPREADSHEET as of November 12, 2021

NTEU 243

Ref. #	OFFICE	POSITION	UNION	SERIES	GRADE	POSITIONS ON BOARD	POSITIONS VACANT	TOTAL POSITIONS	Position Eligibility (S,1,2,3,4, or 5 days/wk)	If 5 days, is Position Eligible for Remote: TEAP	Explanation for not eligible for TEAP	Explanation for not eligible for 5 days
1	OF	Accounting Technician (Fees)	NTEU 243	0525	GS-07	1		1	2 days	N/A	N/A	A majority of job duties include recording fee payments submitted via checks and money orders.
2	OF	Financial Analyst (AP & AR - Deposits)	NTEU 243	0501	GS-13	1		1	5 days	No	Performs non portable job functions to process and prepare USPTO check and money orders for deposit.	N/A
3	OF	Financial Analyst (AP & AR)	NTEU 243	0501	GS-12	3		3	5 days	No	Minor non portable job functions that may require the position to work in the office occasionally.	N/A
4	OF	Financial Analyst (AP & AR)	NTEU 243	0501	GS-13	4	1	5	5 days	No	Minor non portable job functions that may require the position to work in the office occasionally.	N/A
5	OF	Financial Analyst (Fees)	NTEU 243	0501	GS-14	1		1	5 days	No	Coordinating daily operations of division with minor non portable job functions that may require work in the office occasionally.	N/A
6	OF	Financial Analyst (Fees)	NTEU 243	0501	GS-11	1		1	5 days	No	Performs non portable job functions to process and prepare USPTO check and money orders for deposit.	N/A
7	OF	Financial Analyst (Fees)	NTEU 243	0501	GS-12	1		1	5 days	No	Performs non portable job functions to process and prepare USPTO check and money orders for deposit.	N/A
8	OF	Management and Program Analyst (Travel - Passport)	NTEU 243	0343	GS-12	1		1	5 days	No	Position is a passport acceptance agent that requires reporting to the office occasionally, by appointment.	N/A
9	OF	Management and Program Analyst (Travel - Passport)	NTEU 243	0343	GS-13	1		1	5 days	No	Position is a passport acceptance agent that requires reporting to the office occasionally, by appointment.	N/A
10	OF	Management and Program Analyst (Travel)	NTEU 243	0343	GS-09		1	1	5 days	No	Minor non portable job functions that may require the position to work in the office occasionally.	N/A
11	OF	Management and Program Analyst (Travel)	NTEU 243	0343	GS-11	1		1	5 days	No	Minor non portable job functions that may require the position to work in the office occasionally.	N/A
12	OF	Management and Program Analyst (Travel)	NTEU 243	0343	GS-12	1		1	5 days	No	Minor non portable job functions that may require the position to work in the office occasionally.	N/A
13	OF	Management and Program Analyst (Travel)	NTEU 243	0343	GS-13	2		2	5 days	No	Minor non portable job functions that may require the position to work in the office occasionally.	N/A
14	OF	Financial Analyst (Cost Accounting)	NTEU 243	0501	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
15	OF	Financial Analyst (Cost Accounting)	NTEU 243	0501	GS-14	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
16	OFMS	Financial Analyst (IT)	NTEU 243	0501	GS-12	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
17	OFMS	Financial Analyst (IT)	NTEU 243	0501	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
18	OFMS	Financial Systems Analyst	NTEU 243	0501	GS-13	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
19	OFMS	Financial Systems Analyst	NTEU 243	0501	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
20	OFMS	IT Specialist	NTEU 243	2210	GS-13	6		6	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A

Ref. #	OFFICE	POSITION	UNION	SERIES	GRADE	POSITIONS ON BOARD	POSITIONS VACANT	TOTAL POSITIONS	Position Eligibility (S,1,2,3,4, or 5 days/wk)	If 5 days, is Position Eligible for Remote: TEAP	Explanation for not eligible for TEAP	Explanation for not eligible for 5 days
21	OFMS	IT Specialist	NTEU 243	2210	GS-14	19	6	25	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
22	OP	Management and Program Analyst (Procurement)	NTEU 243	0343	GS-13	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
23	OP	Management and Program Analyst (Procurement)	NTEU 243	0343	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
24	OP	Procurement Technician	NTEU 243	1106	GS-07	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
25	OPB	Audit Liaison Specialist	NTEU 243	0301	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
26	OPB	Budget Analyst	NTEU 243	0560	GS-11	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
27	OPB	Budget Analyst	NTEU 243	0560	GS-12	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
28	OPB	Budget Analyst	NTEU 243	0560	GS-13	5	1	6	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
29	OPB	Budget Analyst	NTEU 243	0560	GS-14	8	2	10	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
30	OPB	Management and Program Analyst (Audit)	NTEU 243	0343	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
31	OPB	Management and Program Analyst (Budget and Performance)	NTEU 243	0343	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A

Ref#	POSITION	UNION	GRADE	POSITIONS ON BOARD	POSITIONS VACANT	TOTAL POSITIONS	Eligibility (0,5,1,2,3,4, or 5 days/wk)	If 5 days, is Position Eligible for Remote: TEAP	Explanation for not eligible for TEAPP	Explanation for not eligible for 5 days
1	I00011 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
2	I00094 - ITSPEC (INET)	NTEU 243	GS-14	2	1	3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
3	I00101 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
4	I00103 - ITSPEC (DATAMGT)	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
5	I00108 - ITSPEC	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
6	I00109 - ITSPEC	NTEU 243	GS-13	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
7	I00112 - LIB TECHNCN	NTEU 243	GS-8	1		1	3 days	N/A	N/A	Position is public facing when PSF is open and most major duties of this position require the staff member to be on site to respond to public visitors to the facility.
8	I00115 - PROG MGMT ASST	NTEU 243	GS-7	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
9	I00116 - TECHNCL INF SPECLST	NTEU 243	GS-12	1		1	3 days	N/A	N/A	This position would be required to provide training to the public on certain scheduled days which would require their being in the facility. Serving as a second level expert is public searching and to be there to assist with concerns of the public should a situation occur. this situation can rarely be anticipated when a senior staff member is needed but must be addressed in person. However, many of the tasks of this position can be completed from an off site location as attending meeting concerning the systems, writing reports, handouts and manual are better done in an environment without interruptions.
10	I00118 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
11	I00119 - PROG MGMT ASST	NTEU 243	GS-7	1		1	5 days	No	Must report to office to Assist with supply management for in office employees, provide assistance to the Program Analyst	N/A
12	I00128 - ITSPEC (DATAMGT)	NTEU 243	GS-12	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
13	I00131 - DATA CONT TECHNCN	NTEU 243	GS-9	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
14	I00132 - ITSPEC (INET)	NTEU 243	GS-12	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
15	I00186 - LEG INSTRMTS EXAMNR	NTEU 243	GS-7	9	2	11	5 days	No	1 individual visit office 1 day a pay period to process mail, index paper and fax assignments, and process checks	N/A
16	I00207 - ITSPEC (OS/SYSADMIN)	NTEU 243	GS-14	4		4	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
17	I00208 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-14	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
18	I00211 - ITSPEC (OS/SYSADMIN)	NTEU 243	GS-14	4		4	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
19	I00213 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
20	I00215 - ITSPEC (SYSANALYSIS)	NTEU 243	GS-13	2		2	5 days	No	Frequent quarterly visits to both Alexandria and Manassas to perform Data Center operation functions as well as quality control of on-site contractors.	N/A
21	I00219 - ITSPEC (APPSW/SYSADMIN)	NTEU 243	GS-13	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
22	I00240 - ITSPEC (APPSW/OS)	NTEU 243	GS-14	6		6	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
23	I00243 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
24	I00251 - ITSPEC (APPSW/OS)	NTEU 243	GS-14	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
25	I00256 - ITSPEC (NETWORK)	NTEU 243	GS-15	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
26	I00259 - ITSPEC (OS/SYSADMIN)	NTEU 243	GS-14	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
27	I00262 - ITSPEC (OS/SYSADMIN)	NTEU 243	GS-15	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
28	I00274 - ITSPEC (NETWORK)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
29	I00330 - ITSPEC (INET)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
30	I00365 - IT PROJ MGR	NTEU 243	GS-14	4		4	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
31	I00372 - ITSPEC (APPSW/SYSADMIN)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
32	I00500 - ITSPEC	NTEU 243	GS-11	1		1	2 days	N/A	N/A	On site duties include: AV, conferencing and customer support. As needed work on inventory, ad hoc kiosk support
33	I00534 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
34	I00546 - ITSPEC (INET)	NTEU 243	GS-14	4		4	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
35	I00547 - TECHNCLGY TRNSFR SPECLST	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
36	I00548 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-14	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
37	I00605 - IT PROJ MGR	NTEU 243	GS-14	4		4	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
38	I00610 - ITSPEC (DATAMGT)	NTEU 243	GS-12	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
39	I00611 - ITSPEC (OS/SYSADMIN)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
40	I00635 - ITSPEC (NETWORK)	NTEU 243	GS-14	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
41	I00670 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-13	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
42	I00728 - ITSPEC (INET)	NTEU 243	GS-12	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
43	I00755 - ITSPEC (DATAMGT)	NTEU 243	GS-12	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
44	I00780 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-13	4		4	3 days	N/A	N/A	N/A
45	I00791 - PROG MGMT SPECLST	NTEU 243	GS-11	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
46	I00821 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-14	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
47	I00838 - ITSPEC (OS/SYSADMIN)	NTEU 243	GS-14	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
48	I00841 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-11	2		2	1 day	N/A	N/A	Provide daily on campus support for PTA, network and Patent Group printers
49	I00851 - ITSPEC (APPSW/OS)	NTEU 243	GS-14	13		13	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
50	I00982 - BUDG ANAL	NTEU 243	GS-12	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
51	I01007 - USABILITY AND DESIGN SPECIALIST	NTEU 243	GS-14	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
52	I01020 - IT PROJ MGR	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
53	I01023 - ITSPEC (DATAMGT)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
54	I01046 - ITSPEC (NETWORK)	NTEU 243	GS-14	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A

Ref#	POSITION	UNION	GRADE	POSITIONS ON BOARD	POSITIONS VACANT	TOTAL POSITIONS	Eligibility (0,5,1,2,3,4, or 5 days/wk)	If 5 days, is Position Eligible for Remote: TEAP	Explanation for not eligible for TEAPP	Explanation for not eligible for 5 days
55	I01052 - ITSPEC (APPSW/SYSADMIN)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
56	I01082 - ITSPEC	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
57	I01086 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
58	I01098 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	No	Works directly with desktop hardware and required to come to campus more than 3 times per year to obtain new hardware for testing purposes and to help troubleshoot issues contractors cannot solve	N/A
59	I01106 - ITSPEC (SYSANALYSIS)	NTEU 243	GS-13	2	1	3	5 days	No	Frequent quarterly visits to both Alexandria and Manassas to perform Data Center operation functions as well as quality control of on-site contractors.	N/A
60	I01108 - ITSPEC (INFOSEC)	NTEU 243	GS-12	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
61	I01149 - IT ACQUISITIONS SPECIALIST	NTEU 243	GS-12	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
62	I01160 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-11	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
63	I01216 - IT PROJ MGR	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
64	I01247 - PROG MGMT SPECLST	NTEU 243	GS-9	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
65	I01249 - ITSPEC	NTEU 243	GS-9	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
66	I01251 - LEAD ITSPEC	NTEU 243	GS-11	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
67	I01344 - ITSPEC	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
68	I01356 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-14	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
69	I01384 - ITSPEC (APPSW/OS)	NTEU 243	GS-15	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
70	I01417 - ITSPEC (SYSANALYSIS)	NTEU 243	GS-14	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
71	I01425 - ITSPEC (APPSW/OS)	NTEU 243	GS-13	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
72	I01427 - ITSPEC (PLCYPLN)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
73	I01438 - ITSPEC (ENT ARCHIT)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1	1	2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
74	I01515 - ITSPEC (OS/SYSADMIN)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
75	I01517 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
76	I01518 - ITSPEC	NTEU 243	GS-13	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
77	I01540 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-12	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
78	I01541 - IT PROJ MGR	NTEU 243	GS-13	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
79	I01572 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	No	Works directly with desktop hardware and required to come to campus more than 3 times per year to obtain new hardware for testing purposes and to help troubleshoot issues contractors cannot solve	N/A
80	I01574 - IT PROJ MGR	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
81	I01660 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-9	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
82	I01688 - ITSPEC (SYSANALYSIS/OS)	NTEU 243	GS-15	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
83	I01695 - ITSPEC (OS/SYSADMIN)	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
84	I01710 - ITSPEC (APPSW/SYSADMIN)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
85	I01725 - IT ACQUISITIONS SPECIALIST	NTEU 243	GS-9	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
86	I01750 - ITSPEC (APPSW/OS)	NTEU 243	GS-12	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
87	I01760 - ITSPEC	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
88	I01807 - ITSPEC (INFOSEC)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
89	I01847 - ITSPEC (NETWORK)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
90	I01848 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-13	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
91	I01921 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-11	1		1	5 days	No	This position will occasionally need to back up their peers in ETC and Tier III & IV onsite. It will require 3 or more occasions to work onsite.	N/A
92	I01962 - ITSPEC (OS/SYSADMIN)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
93	I01965 - ITSPEC (ENT ARCHIT)	NTEU 243	GS-11	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
94	I02204 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-11	1		1	2 days	N/A		On site duties include: inventory control, equipment handling and in-person customer support
95	I02280 - ITSPEC	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
96	I02289 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-11	1		1	5 days	No	This position will occasionally need to back up their peers in ETC and Tier III & IV onsite. It will require 3 or more occasions to work onsite.	N/A
97	I02340 - ITSPEC (OS/APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
98	I02341 - ITSPEC (APPSW/OS)	NTEU 243	GS-14	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
99	I02344 - IT SPECIALIST (OS/APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
100	I02359 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-9	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
101	I02360 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-7	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
102	I02364 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-12	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
103	I02403 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-11	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
104	I02407 - TELECOMMUN SPECLST (NETWORK CA)	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	No	Frequent quarterly visits to both Alexandria and Manassas to perform Data Center operation functions as well as quality control of on-site contractors.	N/A
105	I02425 - PROG ANAL	NTEU 243	GS-11	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
106	I02456 - ITSPEC (SYSADMIN/CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-12	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
107	I02505 - ITSPEC (APPSW/OS)	NTEU 243	GS-14	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
108	I02510 - ITSPEC (OS/SYSADMIN)	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
109	I02512 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-11	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
110	I02635 - ITSPEC (INET)	NTEU 243	GS-11	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A

Ref#	POSITION	UNION	GRADE	POSITIONS ON BOARD	POSITIONS VACANT	TOTAL POSITIONS	Eligibility (0,5,1,2,3,4, or 5 days/wk)	If 5 days, is Position Eligible for Remote: TEAP	Explanation for not eligible for TEAPP	Explanation for not eligible for 5 days
111	L93121 - LEG INSTRMNTS EXAMNR DTRNS	NTEU 243	GS-7	1		1	0 days	N/A	N/A	The Legal Instrument Examiners/Certifiers: Certify paper patent and trademark documents, printed from various databases throughout USPTO. These certifiers are required to sign each certification statement (CS) with a wet signature, all certifiers must ensure the documentation for each order is correct and is of great quality before signing. Certifiers is also responsible for gathering information to ensure trademark registration are complete and have the correct status before sign CS. All documents are paper.
112	L94008 - LEGAL INSTRUMENT EXAMINER	NTEU 243	GS-7	4		4	0 days	N/A	N/A	The Legal Instrument Examiners/Certifiers: Certify paper patent and trademark documents, printed from various databases throughout USPTO. These certifiers are required to sign each certification statement (CS) with a wet signature, all certifiers must ensure the documentation for each order is correct and is of great quality before signing. Certifiers is also responsible for gathering information to ensure trademark registration are complete and have the correct status before sign CS. All documents are paper.
113	L94011 - LEGAL INSTRUMENT EXAMINER (APPL)	NTEU 243	GS-7	1		1	0 days	N/A	N/A	The Legal Instrument Examiners/Certifiers: Certify paper patent and trademark documents, printed from various databases throughout USPTO. These certifiers are required to sign each certification statement (CS) with a wet signature, all certifiers must ensure the documentation for each order is correct and is of great quality before signing. Certifiers is also responsible for gathering information to ensure trademark registration are complete and have the correct status before sign CS. All documents are paper.
114	L97135 - LEAD LEG INSTRMNTS EXAMNR	NTEU 243	GS-8	1		1	0 days	N/A	N/A	The Legal Instrument Examiners/Certifiers: Certify paper patent and trademark documents, printed from various databases throughout USPTO. These certifiers are required to sign each certification statement (CS) with a wet signature, all certifiers must ensure the documentation for each order is correct and is of great quality before signing. Certifiers is also responsible for gathering information to ensure trademark registration are complete and have the correct status before sign CS. All documents are paper.
115	L99100 - MGMT & PROG ANAL	NTEU 243	GS-12	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
116	P00025 - Customer Service Representative	NTEU 243	GS-7	4		4	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
117	P00088 - Quality Control Specialist	NTEU 243	GS-9	3		3	0 days	N/A	N/A	Quality Control Specialist(QCS): responsible for monitoring the entire production pipeline throughout our process, 100% quality check (QC) of all IIE's completed certifications before cover bind and delivery to customers. QCS is responsible for handling customer special request, researching difficult documents and handled quality control of all file wrappers and all documents are in paper format Patent and Trademarks. Which require physical presence to QC each document for accuracy. All request for certified copies are QC before shipping/mailling to customers.
118	P02091 - PROG ANAL	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
119	P02115 - LEG INSTRMNTS EXAMNR	NTEU 243	GS-7	1		1	0 days	N/A	N/A	The Legal Instrument Examiners/Certifiers: Certify paper patent and trademark documents, printed from various databases throughout USPTO. These certifiers are required to sign each certification statement (CS) with a wet signature, all certifiers must ensure the documentation for each order is correct and is of great quality before signing. Certifiers is also responsible for gathering information to ensure trademark registration are complete and have the correct status before sign CS. All documents are paper.
120	P06237 - ITSPEC (OS/SYSADMIN)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
121	P07287 - ITSPEC (NETWORK)	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
122	P09311 - IT PROJ MGR	NTEU 243	GS-15	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
123	P09338 - LEG INSTRMNTS EXAMNR	NTEU 243	GS-7	1		1	0 days	N/A	N/A	The Legal Instrument Examiners/Certifiers: Certify paper patent and trademark documents, printed from various databases throughout USPTO. These certifiers are required to sign each certification statement (CS) with a wet signature, all certifiers must ensure the documentation for each order is correct and is of great quality before signing. Certifiers is also responsible for gathering information to ensure trademark registration are complete and have the correct status before sign CS. All documents are paper.
124	P10523 - PROG ANAL	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
125	P11715 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-14	6		6	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
126	P11716 - ITSPEC (SYSANALYSIS)	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
127	P11721 - IT ACQUISITIONS SPECIALIST	NTEU 243	GS-13	9		9	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
128	P11722 - IT ACQUISITIONS SPECIALIST	NTEU 243	GS-14	5		6	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
129	P11736 - IT PROJ MGR	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
130	P11738 - ITSPEC (DATAMGT)	NTEU 243	GS-13	1	1	2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
131	P11739 - ITSPEC	NTEU 243	GS-11	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
132	P11748 - BUDG ANAL	NTEU 243	GS-13	4		4	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
133	P11764 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-14	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
134	P11765 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-13	4		4	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
135	P11767 - ITSPEC	NTEU 243	GS-14	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
136	P11776 - IT PROJ MGR	NTEU 243	GS-15	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
137	P11778 - IT PROJ MGR	NTEU 243	GS-14	4	2	6	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
138	P11781 - PROG ANAL	NTEU 243	GS-12	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
139	P11782 - ITSPEC (NETWORK)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A

Ref#	POSITION	UNION	GRADE	POSITIONS ON BOARD	POSITIONS VACANT	TOTAL POSITIONS	Eligibility (0,5,1,2,3,4, or 5 days/wk)	If 5 days, is Position Eligible for Remote: TEAP	Explanation for not eligible for TEAPP	Explanation for not eligible for 5 days
140	P11803 - ITSPEC (SYSANALYSIS/APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-13	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
141	P11818 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-13	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
142	P11827 - ITSPEC	NTEU 243	GS-15	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
143	P11860 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
144	P11907 - ITSPEC	NTEU 243	GS-12	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
145	P11930 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-14	4	1	5	3 days	N/A	N/A	In ETC there are over 500 physical workstations leased, to maintain which requires some physical presence. The image occasionally requires troubleshooting different configurations with physical setup. As Tier III / Tier IV we must troubleshoot and find fixes and global solutions which occasionally requires troubleshooting different configurations with physical setup. This position requires 2 days per week in person to ensure tasks are completed.
146	P11935 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-13	3		3	3 days	N/A	N/A	On-site availability is required to perform physical oversight and quality control in support all IT equipment deployments and move service activities in tandem with our on-site technical service contractors.
147	P11937 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-12	3		3	1 day	N/A	N/A	Provide daily on campus support for PTA, network and Patent Group printers
148	P11938 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-13	3		3	1 day	N/A	N/A	Provide daily on campus support for PTA, network and Patent Group printers
149	P12015 - ITSPEC (OS/SYSADMIN)	NTEU 243	GS-12	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
150	P12022 - ITSPEC (SYSANALYSIS/APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-14	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
151	P12026 - ITSPEC (OS/APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-14	5		5	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
152	P12039 - ITSPEC (DATAMGT)	NTEU 243	GS-14	16		16	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
153	P12101 - ITSPEC (ENT ARCHIT)	NTEU 243	GS-14	6		6	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
154	P12114 - IT PROGRAM MANAGER	NTEU 243	GS-15	5		5	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
155	P12128 - PROG ANAL	NTEU 243	GS-12	1		1	5 days	No	Need to report to office for Property Custodian duties, physically see equipment to record CD's, equipment management and supply management	N/A
156	P12138 - ITSPEC (OS/SYSADMIN)	NTEU 243	GS-14	8		8	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
157	P12209 - IT PROJ MGR	NTEU 243	GS-14	10		10	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
158	P12259 - DEPLOYMENT ASSESSMENT COORD	NTEU 243	GS-14	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
159	P12268 - ITSPEC (DATAMGT)	NTEU 243	GS-13	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
160	P12288 - PROG ANAL	NTEU 243	GS-13	2	1	3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
161	P12289 - PROG ANAL	NTEU 243	GS-14	3	1	4	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
162	P12365 - PROG ANAL	NTEU 243	GS-15	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
163	P12368 - ITSPEC (SYSANALYSIS/APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-13	7		7	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
164	P12369 - ITSPEC (SYSANALYSIS/APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-14	28	2	30	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
165	P12370 - ITSPEC (SYSANALYSIS/APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-15	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
166	P12409 - ITSPEC (SYSANALYSIS/APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-14	2	3	5	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
167	P12410 - PROJ MGR	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
168	P12957 - LEGAL ADMINSTVE SPECIALIS (ASSIGN)	NTEU 243	GS-9	3	1	4	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
169	P13462 - IT PROJ MGR	NTEU 243	GS-13	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
170	P13511 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-14	4	1	5	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
171	P13519 - ITSPEC (DATAMGT)	NTEU 243	GS-14	6		6	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
172	P13554 - ITSPEC (APPSW)	NTEU 243	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
173	P13632 - ITSPEC (CUSTSPT)	NTEU 243	GS-12	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
174	P99021 - TECHNCL WRI EDIT	NTEU 243	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
175	P99155 - QUAL CONT ASST	NTEU 243	GS-7	1		1	0 days	N/A	N/A	Quality Control Specialist(QCS): responsible for monitoring the entire production pipeline throughout our process. 100% quality check (QC) of all UE's completed certifications before cover bind and delivery to customers. QCS is responsible for handling customer special request, researching difficult documents and handled quality control of all file wrappers and all documents are in paper format Patent and Trademarks. Which require physical presence to QC each document for accuracy. All request for certified copies are QC before shipping/ mailing to customers.

Ref#	POSITION	UNION	Grade	POSITIONS ON BOARD	POSITIONS VACANT	TOTAL POSITIONS	Position Eligibility (0,5,1,2,3,4, or 5 days/wk)	If 5 days, is Position eligible for TEAPP (Y/N)	Explanation for not eligible for TEAPP	Explanation for not eligible for 5 days
1	I00255 - COMPR ENGR	POPA	GS-14	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
2	I00303 - COMPR SCNTST	POPA	GS-14	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
3	I00741 - COMPR SCNTST	POPA	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
4	I00996 - COMPR SCNTST	POPA	GS-14	8		8	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
5	I01036 - COMPR SCNTST	POPA	GS-12	3		3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
6	I01039 - COMPR SCNTST	POPA	GS-14	2	1	3	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
7	I01468 - COMPR SCNTST	POPA	GS-13	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
8	I01522 - COMPR SCNTST	POPA	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
9	I01853 - COMPR SCNTST	POPA	GS-14	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
10	I01862 - COMPR SCNTST	POPA	GS-13	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
11	I02287 - COMPR SCNTST	POPA	GS-13	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
12	P08935 - COMPR ENGR	POPA	GS-15	1	1	2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
13	P11763 - COMPUTER ENGINEER (NETWORKS)	POPA	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
14	P11889 - ENGRG PSYCH	POPA	GS-14	1		1	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
15	P12051 - COMPR SCNTST	POPA	GS-14	2		2	5 days	Yes	N/A	N/A
16	P13466 - LIBRN	POPA	GS-13	4		4	4 days	N/A	N/A	Shipping and receiving; production of materials requiring use of high-capacity color printers, on-campus training (seminars), access PSF historic collections for research requests, access and maintain program records.

Department of Defense
Supplemental Documents

Department of Defense
January 2024 Submission

From: Speight, Nancy A SES OSD OUSD P-R \(USA\)
To: MBX OMB futureofwork
Cc: Goldrich, Zev N SES OSD OUSD P-R \(USA\); Thompson, Valerie W CIV OSD OUSD P-R \(USA\); Ray, Deborah L CIV DODHRA DCPAS \(USA\); Han, Sang Moon CIV OSD \(USA\); Speight, Nancy A SES OSD OUSD P-R \(USA\)
Subject: IMPLEMENTATION DATA CALL OUTLINING ALL REMAINING STEPS THAT THE AGENCY WILL TAKE TO REACH INTENDED WORK ENVIRONMENT POSTURES
Date: Monday, January 29, 2024 9:46:32 AM
Attachments: DOD Telework Data Call_01022024_Validated.xlsx

Good morning,

Upon OMB's release of M-23-15 last spring, DoD focused on finalizing actions that were already underway to codify/update policy on telework and remote work (DoDI 1035.01), which was released earlier this month.

The update did not "change" policy, but formally recognized remote work in policy. There is no established implementation timeline since the policy did not establish new workforce behavior requirements from the Components, and Components have been able to implement without disruption.

Regarding in-person presence, during the pandemic DoD did not see a drastic long-term absence of in-person presence in its buildings (as compared to many of our fellow federal agencies, who actually shuttered their offices in DC).

DoD's most recent in-person numbers show the following (which reflects % of total civilian payroll hours of work conducted "in person"):

- Air Force/Space Force: 85% in person nationally; 77% in person within the NCR
- Army: 82% in person nationally; 72% in person within the NCR
- Navy/Marines: 81% in person nationally; 71% in person within the NCR
- 4th Estate: 73% in person nationally; 77% in person within the NCR

Attached is a copy of DoD's most recent validated telework data submission to OPM. As you are aware, these are being provided every two weeks in support of OMB Memo M-23-15 (re Organizational Health and Organizational Performance) and shows consistent in-person numbers since the start of this reporting requirement.

Please let us know if you require any additional information in response to this requirement.

V/r,
Nancy

Nancy Anderson Speight
Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense
Office of the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense Civilian Personnel Policy

1500 Defense Pentagon
Rm. 5D636
Washington, DC 20301-1500
nancy.a.speight.civ@mail.mil
703-571-9282 (Office number)
202-967-5433 (Office cell)

Department of Defense
Telework Policy(s)

P

DOD INSTRUCTION 5.

TELEWORK AND REMOTE WORK

Originating Component: Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness

Effective: P January 8, 2024

Releasability: C P Cleared for public release. Available on the Directives Division Website at <https://www.esd.whs.mil/DD/>.

Reissues and Cancels: DoD Instruction 5. , “Telework Policy,” April 4, 2022

Approved by: P Ashish S. Vazirani, Acting Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness

Purpose: In accordance with the authority in DoD Directives 524.2 and 4.25, this issuance:

- Establishes policy, assigns responsibilities, and prescribes procedures for implementing DoD telework and remote work programs.
- Implements the provisions of: P
 - Sections 65 through 65.6 of Title 5, United States Code (5 U.S.C.).
 - Sections 201 and 206 of Title 7, U.S.C.
 - Section 59 of Public Law 106-46.

T B L E O F C O N T E N T S

SECTION 1: GENERAL ISSUANCE INFORMATION	4
1.1. Applicability.	4
1.2. Policy. A	4
1.3. Information Collections.	5 A
SECTION 2: RESPONSIBILITIES.....	6
2.1. Assistant Secretary of Defense for Manpower and Reserve Affairs (ASD(M&RA)).....	6
2.2. Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Civilian Personnel Policy.....	6
2.3. Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Military Personnel Policy.....	7
2.4. Director, Department of Defense Human Resources Activity.....	7
2.5. USD(I&S).	7
2.6. DoD CIO.	7
2.7. OSD and DoD Component Heads.	8
SECTION 3: TELEWORK	10
3.1. Program Scope. A	10
a. Types.	10
b. Official Worksite.	10
3.2. Eligibility.	10
a. Position Suitability.	10
b. Employee or Service Member Eligibility. A	11 A
3.3. Telework Agreements.....	12
3.4. Temporary Situations..... A	12
3.5. Emergency Events.	13
3.6. Dependent Care.....	13
3.7. Training.....	14
3.8. Security Considerations.	14
3.9. Equipment and Office Supplies. A	15
a. General.	15
b. GFE.	16
c. Services. A	16
d. Software.	16
e. Authorized Uses.	16
f. Personally Owned Devices. A	16
g. Infrastructure.....	17
h. Liability.....	17
3.10. Telework Centers.....	17
3.11. Work Schedules and Compensation. A	17
3.12. Time and Attendance.	18
3.13. Telework and Travel.....	18
3.14. Performance Management.	18 A
3.15. Termination of Telework.	19
3.16. Roles and Requirements.	20
a. Supervisor or Commander. A	20
b. Employees..... A	20

c Service Members	21
3 17 Workers' Compensation .	21
SECTION 4: REMOTE WORK	23
4 1 Program Scope	23
a Conditions	23
b Verification Requirements	23
c Operational Requirements .	23
4 2 Eligibility	24
4 3 Remote Work Agreements .	25
4 4 Official Worksite	27
4 5 Work Schedules	27
4 6 Time and Attendance	27
4 7 Travel/Relocation Expenses for Civilian Employees .	27
4 8 Performance Management	28
4 9 Security Considerations	28
4 10 Equipment and Office Supplies	28
4 11 Roles and Requirements	28
a Supervisor or Commander	28
b Employee	30
c Service Member	30
4 12 Termination of Remote Work	31
4 13 Workers' Compensation	31
SECTION 5: DOMESTIC EMPLOYEES TEMPORARILY WORKING FROM OVERSEAS PURSUANT TO DETO ARRANGEMENTS	32
5 1 Additional Requirements for Domestic Employees	32
5 2 Coordination of DETO Arrangements	32
5 3 Eligibility	32
5 4 Locality Pay	33
5 5 Agreements	33
a Requirements	33
b Duration	34
c Amendments	34
d Termination	34
e Workers' Compensation .	34
GLOSSARY	35
G 1 Acronyms	35
G 2 Definitions .	36
REFERENCES	39
FIGURES
Figure 1 Sample Remote Work Agreement .	25

SECTION 1: GENERAL ISSUANCE INFORMATION

1.1. APPLICABILITY.

This issuance applies to:

a. OSD, the Military Departments, the Office of the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Joint Staff, the Combatant Commands, the Office of Inspector General of the Department of Defense, the Defense Agencies, the DoD Field Activities, and all other organizational entities within the DoD (referred to collectively in this issuance as the “DoD Components”).

b. Employees and Service members as indicated in this issuance and at the discretion of the OSD and DoD Component heads. L a. Telework and remote work:

1.2. POLICY.

(1) Are not interchangeable terms.

(2) Promote workforce efficiency, emergency preparedness, maximum mission readiness, and quality of life when implemented throughout the DoD.

(3) Should occur to the broadest extent possible by eligible employees or Service members. L

(4) Are workplace flexibilities, not a right or entitlement.

(5) Allow for continued operations during a crisis or national emergency (e.g., pandemic, severe weather events, natural disaster).

(6) Create employment and return-to-work opportunities for veterans, people with disabilities, spouses of Service members, and employees facing relocation. L

b. Telework and remote work may be used to:

(1) Retain valuable employees with hard-to-replace, mission essential skills.

(2) Promote career continuity for employees who are military spouses and relocating due to assignment of Service member spouses.

(3) Recruit employees with specialized skills for hard-to-fill vacancies.

(4) Reduce costs associated with filling vacancies.

(5) Reduce costs associated with training.

(6) Achieve real property and other business cost reductions.

(7) Increase work-life balance, resulting in increased morale.

(8) Increase employment opportunities for individuals with disabilities, as a routine or situational arrangement pursuant to Sections 791 and 794a of Title 29, U.S.C. (also known as “The Rehabilitation Act of 1973,” as amended).

1.3. INFORMATION COLLECTIONS.

The Department of Defense (DD) Form 2946, “Department of Defense Telework Agreement,” available on the DoD Forms Management Program Website at <https://www.esd.whs.mil/Directives/forms/> referred to in Paragraph 2.7.1., has been assigned Office of Management and Budget (OMB) control number 0704-0611 in accordance with the procedures in Volume 2 of DoD Manual 8910.01. The expiration date of this information collection can be found on the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs website at <https://www.reginfo.gov/public/do/PRASearch>. L

SECTION 2: RESPONSIBILITIES

2.1. ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF DEFENSE FOR MANPOWER AND RESERVE AFFAIRS (ASD(M&RA)).

Under the authority, direction, and control of the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness, the ASD(M&RA) has overall responsibility for the development of DoD civilian and military personnel policy covered by this issuance.

2.2. DEPUTY ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF DEFENSE FOR CIVILIAN PERSONNEL POLICY.

Under the authority, direction, and control of the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness, through the ASD(M&RA), the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Civilian Personnel Policy:

- a. Supports the development of civilian personnel policy covered by this issuance and monitors its execution by DoD Components, ensuring consistent implementation and application throughout the DoD. L
- b. Designates the DoD Telework Managing Officer who:
 - (1) Develops and implements telework and remote work policies.
 - (2) Serves as an advisor for DoD leadership and the Chief Human Capital Officer.
 - (3) Provides advice and guidance and serves as a resource to Component representatives, managers, and employees.
 - (4) Serves as the primary point of contact for the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) on telework and remote work matters.
 - (5) Monitors and evaluates DoD's telework and remote work programs for compliance with this issuance and Section 6505 of Title 5, U.S.C.
 - (6) Develops telework and remote work training and marketing materials as necessary.
- c. Consults with the DoD Chief Information Officer (CIO) on telework information technology requirements.
- d. Consults with the Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence and Security (USD(I&S)) L on telework and remote work security policies and procedures.

2.3. DEPUTY ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF DEFENSE FOR MILITARY PERSONNEL POLICY.

Under the authority, direction, and control of the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness, through the ASD(M&RA), the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Military Personnel Policy supports the development of military personnel policy covered by this issuance and monitors its execution by DoD Components, ensuring consistent implementation and application throughout DoD.

2.4. DIRECTOR, DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE HUMAN RESOURCES ACTIVITY.

Under the authority, direction, and control of the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness, and in addition to the responsibilities in Paragraph 2.7., the Director, Department of Defense Human Resources Activity:

- a. Supports the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Civilian Personnel Policy and the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Military Personnel Policy, as appropriate, in the execution of the duties and responsibilities in this issuance.
- b. Prepares consolidated reports on DoD-wide employee telework and remote work participation rates as well as eligibility for telework and remote work status reports.
- c. Coordinates with the DoD Telework Managing Officer to:
 - (1) Assess the progress made toward telework and remote work participation goals during the reporting period.
 - (2) Assess other DoD goals relating to telework and remote work (e.g., the impact of telework and remote work on emergency preparedness, recruitment, and retention).
- d. Submits the consolidated telework data call report to OPM for the annual Status of Telework in the Federal Government Report to Congress.

2.5. USD(I&S).

In addition to the responsibilities in Paragraph 2.7., the USD(I&S):

- a. Develops policies and procedures related to operations security, information security, insider threat, and foreign intelligence risks in the telework and remote work environment.
- b. Develops policies and procedures related to the issuance, control, and use of classified telework devices. L

2.6. DOD CIO.

In addition to the responsibilities in Paragraph 2.7., the DoD CIO: L

- a. Develops strategies and provides guidance for enterprise information technology capabilities and data security required to support telework and remote work.
- b. Oversees the evaluation and approval of new and emerging technologies that facilitate telework and remote work for DoD-wide use, as appropriate.
- c. Establishes criteria and guidelines for using and protecting government furnished equipment (GFE) and non-GFE, including personally owned equipment, that access DoD information systems and networks to perform telework and remote work.

2.7. OSD AND DOD COMPONENT HEADS.

The OSD and DoD Component heads:

- a. Develop, implement, monitor, operate, and assess telework and remote work programs in accordance with the law; this issuance; the policies, procedures, and guidance issued by the DoD CIO and USD(I&S); Component-specific guidance; and other applicable DoD policies.
- b. Delegate authority for telework and remote work implementation to subordinate authorities as appropriate.
- c. Designate a Component telework coordinator or manager to:
 - (1) Maintain the Component telework and remote work programs for compliance with this issuance in accordance with Sections 6501 through 6506 of Title 5, U.S.C., as applicable. L
 - (2) Serve as an advisor for Component leadership.
 - (3) Serve as a resource for supervisors and employees or Service members.
- d. Actively promote telework and remote work within their respective Components and identify and eliminate barriers to program execution through education and training.
- e. Identify telework and remote work eligible civilian positions, as mission allows. Document the telework and remote work eligibility in the position record in the Defense Civilian Personnel Data System or equivalent human resources system.
- f. Make telework and remote work civilian employee position determinations when establishing new positions or filling vacant positions that were not previously designated for telework and remote work eligibility.
- g. Ensure employees and Service members are notified of their eligibility for telework and remote work.
- h. Establish annual Component telework and remote work participation goals, track employee or Service member participation, and monitor goal progress.
- i. Define the local commuting area, as it will impact eligible reimbursable expenses.

j. Provide civilian employee eligibility and participation data to the Defense Civilian Personnel Advisory Service for submission to OPM for the annual Status of Telework in the Federal Government Report to Congress, which is available at <https://telework.gov/reports-studies/reports-to-congress/annual-reports>. L

k. Require training on telework procedures for telework and remote work eligible employees and Service members prior to beginning telework. L

l. Require all telework participants to complete DD Form 2946.

m. Require all authorized remote work employees or Service members to sign a remote work agreement.

n. Monitor domestic employee teleworking overseas (DETO) arrangement requests and provide data to the Defense Civilian Personnel Advisory Service.

o. Coordinate with the human resources office to ensure compliance and fulfillment of collective bargaining obligations, as appropriate. L

SECTION 3: TELEWORK

3.1. PROGRAM SCOPE.

Telework is an alternative workplace arrangement under which an employee or Service member performs the duties and responsibilities of the assigned position and other authorized activities from an approved alternative worksite but is required to report to the agency's worksite on a regular and recurring basis.

a. Types.

(1) Routine.

Telework is performed from an alternative worksite on regularly scheduled telework day(s) as specified in a written telework agreement between the employee or Service member and the supervisor.

(2) Situational.

Situational telework is authorized on a case-by-case basis as the need arises, such as to prepare for continuity of operations (COOP), perform special projects, complete complex tasks, conduct web-based training, allow for recovery from illness or an injury, tend to personal situations, or when opting for unscheduled telework when OPM announces the Federal Government operating status, in the area of the employee's regular worksite as, "Open with an Option for Unscheduled Leave or Unscheduled Telework." Situational telework may also be authorized for routine teleworkers in such circumstances on regularly scheduled in-office days.

b. Official Worksite.

(1) The official worksite for teleworkers remains the agency's worksite as long as they are regularly scheduled to report to the agency's worksite at least twice each bi-weekly pay period.

(2) In the case of mobile work in which an employee's or Service member's work involves recurring travel to various worksites (e.g., site audits, site inspections, investigations), the employee or Service member does not have to report to the agency's worksite twice each pay period as long as the regularly performed work is within the same locality pay area as the agency's worksite.

3.2. ELIGIBILITY.

a. Position Suitability.

(1) Telework position eligibility criteria will be applied impartially and consistently without consideration of prohibited factors such as race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, or genetic information. Job functions alone, not managerial preference, determine telework position eligibility.

(2) Generally, positions which require the employee or Service member to handle, discuss, or process classified material will be identified as ineligible for routine telework. Such positions may be eligible for routine telework only in the following circumstances.

(a) Telework will be performed at an alternative worksite, located in the United States, that is a facility accredited by DoD for the handling, discussion, and processing of the classified material necessary to perform official duties. The DoD will not accredit new facilities solely for purposes of telework.

(b) Telework will be performed at an alternative worksite, located in the United States, and all of the following criteria are met.

1. The duties of the position do not require more than occasional handling, discussion, or processing of classified materials.

2. When the duties involve classified materials at the collateral Secret level, a classified telework device is provided as GFE, in accordance with the procedures established by the DoD CIO and the USD(I&S), or the employee or Service member is required to timely report to a facility that has been accredited for the handling, discussion, and processing of the classified material necessary to perform the duties of the position.

3. When the duties involve classified materials at the Top Secret, sensitive compartmented information, or special access program levels, the employee or Service member is required to timely report to a facility that has been accredited for the handling, discussion, and processing of the classified material necessary to perform the duties of the position.

(c) Employee is eligible to participate in a DETO arrangement as described in Section 5.

b. Employee or Service Member Eligibility.

(1) Each DoD Component will determine the eligibility of all employees or Service members to participate in telework. Supervisors will consider employees' or Service members' performance and conduct in making eligibility determinations. Telework will be permitted to the maximum extent possible without diminished individual or organizational performance.

(2) Supervisors must restrict telework pursuant to Section 6502 of Title 5, U.S.C., if the employee or Service member has been officially disciplined for the following disqualifying misconduct: K

(a) Being absent without permission for more than 5 days in any calendar year.

(b) Viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornographic material on a government computer or while performing Federal Government duties.

(3) Foreign national employee or Service member eligibility will be jointly determined by the relevant overseas Service Component commander or supervisor in accordance with the joint committee process applicable to the country concerned, and consistent with applicable host nation laws and regulations, as well as international agreements and implementing arrangements.

(4) Telework is a discretionary workplace flexibility. The decision to telework is voluntary, except for employees who are in positions designated as mission essential. Employees designated as mission essential may be required to telework from an alternative worksite such as their home or a telework center during an emergency.

3.3. TELEWORK AGREEMENTS.

Section 6502(b)(2) of Title 5, U.S.C., mandates an approved written agreement be in place for K any employee to participate in telework. Therefore, every telework participant must complete a DD Form 2946, regardless of whether telework is routine or situational. Service members may also use DD Form 2946 to document their written agreement. If an employee indicates routine telework on the DD Form 2946, that same agreement will further provide for situational telework as requested and approved.

a. The DD Form 2946 will include Component-specific guidance and instructions regarding authorization of use of classified and controlled unclassified information (CUI) data at the telework location. If authorized, the proper encryption, storage, safeguarding, and return of such information and data will be consistent with Paragraph 3.8.

b. Telework agreements will be reviewed by employees and Service members at least every 2 years and submitted to their supervisors for approval.

c. Employees or Service members designated as mission essential must complete a DD Form 2946 if telework is required in the case of a COOP event, office closure, inclement weather, or national emergency.

d. Components will ensure a new DD Form 2946 is completed by employees and Service members if any information on the form changes (e.g., change in supervisor, telework days, or alternative worksite location).

3.4. TEMPORARY SITUATIONS.

In certain temporary situations, such as an office closure or severe weather emergency, a Component may waive the requirement to report to the regular worksite twice a bi-weekly pay period. In such situations, even though the employee works from an alternative worksite, the regular worksite remains the employee's official worksite because the Component expects the employee to return to the regular worksite after the temporary event. Examples of appropriate temporary telework situations include:

a. An extended office closure or other operating status announcement, national or local emergency, a public health crisis, the activation of a COOP, an issued order of evacuation, or any similar scenario when an employee may be unable to commute to or otherwise be unable to return to the regular worksite. K

b. Recovery from an injury or medical condition or other extended period of approved absence from work during which the employee will not be able to report to the regular worksite at least twice a bi-weekly pay period.

c. A period during which the employee is in temporary duty travel status away from the regular worksite.

d. A period during which an employee accepts a detail to work at a location other than the alternative worksite on the telework agreement.

e. A period during which OPM announces the Federal Government operating status, in the area of the employee's regular worksite as, "Open with an Option for Unscheduled Leave or Unscheduled Telework."

3.5. EMERGENCY EVENTS.

a. Some situations may require an employee to work from home whether or not they are bound by a telework agreement or identified as eligible to telework. These situations are not true telework arrangements. Examples of emergencies that may prompt telework include but are not limited to:

(1) Any period during which employees are evacuated under Subpart D of Part 550 of Title 5, Code of Federal Regulations, including a pandemic health crisis as described in Section 550.409(a) of Title 5, Code of Federal Regulations, or other public emergency, if an evacuation order has been issued.

(2) When OPM, the Secretary of Defense, or their respective designee announces government offices are open with the option for unscheduled telework when weather conditions or other circumstances disrupt commuting and/or compromise employee or Service member safety in reporting to the worksite.

b. If the teleworker is unable to communicate with their supervisor to request excusal from duty and cannot maintain their telework status, they must follow the Component's emergency guidance, orders, and procedures contained in the COOP and other applicable emergency management plans.

3.6. DEPENDENT CARE. K

a. While performing official duties, teleworkers are expected to arrange for dependent care just as they would if they were working at an agency worksite; however, telework may be used as part of a more flexible work arrangement. Employees may perform telework with a child or other person requiring care or supervision present at the alternative worksite, provided the employee is not engaging in dependent care activities while performing official duties.

b. Permissible telework arrangements may include authorizing an employee to telework while another individual provides dependent care, to take intermittent paid or unpaid leave to fulfill dependent care responsibilities during the workday, and to work a flexible schedule that permits an employee to complete a full workday while completing dependent care responsibilities.

c. Telework arrangements must comply with all workplace policies, including those applicable to tours of duty, flexible work schedules, time and attendance, and performance and conduct.

3.7. TRAINING.

Supervisors, employees, and Service members authorized to telework will complete telework training before signing the DD Form 2946.

a. At a minimum, employees must complete telework training every 2 years. Comprehensive OPM telework training courses for employees and Service members are available at the OPM telework website.

b. Supervisors must complete supervisory telework training every 2 years. Telework K training for managers will satisfy employee training requirements.

c. Employees, Service members, supervisors, and leaders may participate in telework training on duty time.

3.8. SECURITY CONSIDERATIONS.

Employees or Service members must comply with criteria and guidelines established by the DoD CIO and their respective Component for using both GFE and non-GFE and for access to DoD information systems and networks while working from an approved alternative worksite. Employees and Service members are responsible for safeguarding all DoD information, protecting GFE and U.S. Government (USG) property, and performing assigned duties while working from an alternative worksite, in support of Component mission requirements. Government-furnished computer equipment, software, and communications, with appropriate security measures, are required for any alternative worksite arrangement that involves CUI data.

a. Employees and Service members participating in alternative worksite arrangements will not take classified hardcopy documents to their approved alternative worksite, unless authorized in accordance with the volumes of DoD Manual 5200.01 and documented in their applicable agreement. Employees who have been issued an authorized classified telework device will only use it to process electronic classified documents, or hold classified conversations, in accordance with the policy and procedures issued by the USD(I&S). If classified telework is authorized at an approved security location, teleworkers or remote workers will comply with the procedures established by the DoD Component regarding such work, including the use of proper encryption, storage, safeguarding, and return of such information and data contained in Paragraph 3.8.

b. Employees and Service members must protect CUI as defined in DoD Instruction (DoDI) 5200.01 including Privacy Act data consistent with the guidance set forth in Section 552a of Title 5, U.S.C., also known as the Privacy Act of 1974, and classified data, and in compliance with all criteria and guidelines for information, electronic, and all other applicable security disciplines consistent with DoD Manual 5400.07 and DoD Component policy.

(1) DoD policy strictly prohibits personally identifiable information (PII) transmission over personal e-mail. PII must be transmitted securely between government email accounts using digital signatures and encryption.

(2) Employees performing work from an alternative worksite who access PII may only do so on encrypted GFE requiring two-factor authentication for access, in accordance with OMB Memorandum 19-17.

(3) Extraction of PII from DoD systems onto non-GFE used for teleworking is prohibited unless approved by a manager and logged and erased in accordance with the requirements of OMB Memorandum M-17-15.

c. Employees and Service members must select designated workspaces that will ensure that their work-related conversations cannot be overheard or observed by smart home devices (e.g., voice assistants, voice-activated appliances). Smart home devices may need to be removed or unplugged from the workspace to prevent any incident.

d. Employees and Service members who are approved to work from home must protect non-public DoD information discussed in voice, or via video conversations, and information shown on computer screen displays from other individuals present in the residence (e.g., spouses, children, roommates). This can be done by prohibiting the issuance of classified telework devices to employees and Service members with foreign national cohabitants; requiring automatic, timer-based screen locks; orienting computer displays away from the views of others; removing common access card or Secret Internet Protocol Router tokens from computers when stepping away; and taking voice and video calls in isolated spaces.

e. Employees and Service members who are approved to work from home must comply with criteria and guidelines established by their respective Component for keeping USG property and information safe and secure. Restrictions may apply to employees or Service members located outside the continental United States as determined by DoD Component criteria and guidelines.

3.9. EQUIPMENT AND OFFICE SUPPLIES.

Teleworkers must comply with equipment usage requirements set forth in DD Form 2946. The General Services Administration offers guidelines for equipment and support that Components may provide to teleworkers on page 13845 of Volume 71, Federal Register.

a. General.

(1) DoD Components should provide the necessary equipment and office supplies to employees and Service members who telework on a regular and recurring basis.

(2) Equipment and supplies may be furnished by Components to employees and Service members who telework on a situational basis when practicable.

(3) DoD Components will not provide internet access for teleworking employees, except in rare instances when such access is required for national defense purposes.

b. GFE.

The local Component commander or supervisor will determine the appropriateness of furnishing and installing GFE and software. The Component's designated information technology or facilities provider will be responsible for the service and maintenance of GFE. Examples of GFE that a Component may furnish include:

- (1) Computer equipment such as a desktop, laptop, or mobile devices, and peripheral K equipment such as printers and external storage devices.
- (2) Office furnishings such as desks and chairs.
- (3) Facsimile machines.
- (4) Videoconference equipment.
- (5) Any other equipment the agency deems necessary by individuals performing telework.

c. Services.

Components may pay for services in connection to GFE including subscription fees or service charges required for the GFE to perform its intended purpose. Operating costs associated with the worker using their personal residence as the alternative worksite including home maintenance, insurance, or utilities (e.g., heat, electricity) will not be assumed by the DoD.

d. Software.

DoD remote access software may be installed onto government-furnished and personally owned computers to enable access to unclassified DoD systems and networks consistent with criteria and guidelines established by the DoD CIO and the employee or Service member's respective DoD Component requirements.

e. Authorized Uses.

Employees and Service members must use GFE for official and authorized purposes only. Family members and friends of employees or Service members are not authorized to use GFE or materials. GFE must be returned to the DoD Component at the conclusion of telework arrangements or at the Component's request.

f. Personally Owned Devices.

(1) Use of personally owned peripherals (e.g., monitors, keyboards, and mice) with GFE must comply with the criteria and guidelines for using personal equipment established by the DoD CIO and the employee's or Service member's respective DoD Component requirements.

(2) Teleworkers are responsible for the installation, repair, and maintenance of all personally owned equipment and other incremental costs associated with the residential alternative worksite.

g. Infrastructure. K

DoD Components may use appropriated funds to install infrastructure to support telework in a private residence consistent with the guidance set forth in Section 1348 of Title 31, U.S.C. This may include: K

- (1) Telephone lines.
- (2) Cell phones.
- (3) Monthly expenses related to GFE in Paragraph 3.9.b.

h. Liability.

The DoD is not liable for damages to the employee's or Service member's personal or real property while the employee or Service member is working at home. Exceptions exist pursuant to: K

- (1) Sections 2671-2680 of Title 28, U.S.C., also known as "The Federal Tort Claims Act".
- (2) Section 3721 of Title 31, U.S.C., also known as "The Military Personnel and Civilian Employees Claims Act."

3.10. TELEWORK CENTERS.

- a. DoD Components are authorized, consistent with Section 587 of Title 40, U.S.C., to fund costs associated with renting space, including equipment and utilities, at telework centers as practicable.
- b. Components may provide employees or Service members with a cell phone or calling card to cover long distance telephone charges while working at a telework center.
- c. Security requirements prescribed in this issuance apply to all employees or Service members who telework, including those who telework from telework centers.

3.11. WORK SCHEDULES AND COMPENSATION.

- a. Employees or Service members who telework must be at an approved alternative worksite, as listed on their DD Form 2946, (or, in the case of mobile work, at their assigned location) or in an approved leave status during their scheduled tour of duty unless properly authorized by their supervisor to be at a different alternative worksite on a temporary basis.
- b. Employees who telework may also participate in alternative work schedules in accordance with DoD and Component policy, subject to supervisor's approval. In many cases, alternative work schedules can enhance the effectiveness of telework.

c. Premium pay provisions (e.g., overtime and compensatory time) that apply to work at the regular worksite also apply to Government employees who telework.

3.12. TIME AND ATTENDANCE.

Employees must account for time spent in a telework status in the same manner as if the employee reported for work at the regular worksite.

a. Supervisors will establish appropriate procedures for documenting hours of regular work, telework, and hours of leave as otherwise consistent with their Component-specific policies. DoD Components will document telework hours in their official time and attendance system.

b. Employees must record dates and times spent in a telework status so that Components can track telework usage. Supervisors must ensure that employees distinguish telework hours between routine versus situational.

c. Supervisors approve leave for teleworkers consistent with applicable law, rule, regulation, and DoD policy.

d. Weather and safety leave will not be provided to a telework eligible employee who is not prevented from working safely at an appropriate alternative worksite during severe weather or other emergency situation.

3.13. TELEWORK AND TRAVEL.

Teleworkers are eligible for travel reimbursement consistent with the Joint Travel Regulations (JTR) and Component-specific policy.

3.14. PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT.

a. Employees who telework will be treated the same as those not teleworking for the purposes of periodic appraisals of job performance, training, rewarding, reassigning, promoting, reducing in grade, retaining and removal, and other acts requiring management discretion.

b. The performance standards for duties of teleworking employees and Service members will be the same as the performance standards for similar duties of on-site employees and Service members who perform the same job.

c. As with any supervisory relationship, work assignments performed or training K accomplished while on telework will be discussed, understood, and acknowledged.

d. Supervisors will communicate expectations of telework arrangements, including work assignments, office coverage, and the method of communication to teleworking and non-teleworking employees and Service members in the workgroup.

e. Supervisors will put procedures in place to maintain communication across all members of a workgroup.

f. Supervisors are responsible for the effective functioning of the workgroup. However, employees and Service members are responsible for their availability and information sharing with the workgroup. Supervisors, employees, and Service members are mutually responsible for ensuring the success of the telework arrangement.

g. Supervisors of bargaining unit employees will review the Component's collective bargaining agreement(s) to ensure that telework is conducted consistently with the agreement.

h. When a supervisor observes an employee's or Service member's performance falling below fully successful performance, the supervisor may consider pursuing a performance improvement plan prior to modifying, suspending, or terminating a telework agreement.

3.15. TERMINATION OF TELEWORK.

Either a supervisor or teleworker may terminate a telework agreement. A supervisor may consider the following when deciding to terminate a telework agreement: it no longer meets mission requirements or the needs of the workgroup, the agreement has negatively impacted individual or agency performance, misconduct, issuance of an official disciplinary action, non-compliance with the terms of the telework agreement, or for other business-based reasons to meet mission requirements.

a. When terminating an employee's or Service member's telework agreement, the supervisor will provide written justification on DD Form 2946 and will include information about when the requestor may reapply or actions the requestor may take for a subsequent telework request to be approved.

(1) When practicable, the supervisor will provide a written notice, at least 2 weeks before expecting a teleworking employee or Service member to stop participating in routine telework and return to the official worksite.

(2) In the case of performance matters, supervisors will document and demonstrate that the individual's teleworking directly and negatively impacts individual performance or the performance of the workgroup and remediation can be best accomplished by terminating the telework agreement.

(3) Supervisors may immediately terminate a telework agreement without notice when an employee or Service member becomes ineligible to telework consistent with Paragraphs 3.2.b.(1) and (2).

b. Employees may grieve termination of telework agreements through Component administrative grievance procedures where such procedures are available. Bargaining unit employees may file a grievance through negotiated grievance procedures, when otherwise not excluded. Service members may request reconsideration through their appropriate chain of command consistent with Component-specific policy.

3.16. ROLES AND REQUIREMENTS. K

a. Supervisor or Commander.

- (1) Determines employee or Service member eligibility for routine or situational telework in accordance with Paragraph 3.2., Component guidance, and collective bargaining agreements, as applicable.
- (2) Approves, denies, or reassesses requests for telework based upon mission requirements, misconduct, official disciplinary actions within the last 2 years, and the needs of the workgroup, or other business-based reasons and as otherwise consistent with Paragraph 3.15.
- (3) Notifies employees or Service members of their eligibility to participate in a telework program.
- (4) Indicates position and employee eligibility in the appropriate official system of record.
- (5) Ensures employees or Service members complete and maintain telework training every 2 years, and complete, sign, and maintain a DD Form 2946.
- (6) Participates in supervisor telework training before approving employees' or Service members' telework agreements. Implements the telework program consistent with the requirements of this issuance and Component guidance.
- (7) Ensures teleworkers and onsite staff are treated equitably.
- (8) Maintains adequate worksite coverage during business hours so that mission operations continue efficiently and effectively.
- (9) Holds teleworkers accountable for safeguarding and ensuring appropriate use of GFE.

b. Employees.

- (1) Participate in telework training before entering into a written telework agreement in accordance with the requirements in Paragraph 3.7.a. K
- (2) Complete DD Form 2946 detailing the location(s) of the alternative worksite comparable to the requirements of Paragraph 3.3. and Component guidance.
- (3) Protect all CUI, as defined in DoDI 5200.48 and including Privacy Act data, and classified information (where applicable and authorized at a secure alternative location). Comply with all criteria and guidelines for information and electronic security consistent with Paragraphs 3.8. and Component guidance.
- (4) Safeguard and ensure appropriate use of GFE consistent with Paragraph 3.9.b. and Component guidance.

(5) Work at the official worksite on approved scheduled telework days if directed by management.

(6) Contact supervisor and obtain approval when:

(a) Government offices close to the public. Teleworkers who are unable to telework due to a personal situation or other circumstances will request the appropriate category of leave or request to be excused from duty.

(b) The regular worksite office is open and circumstances prevent the employee from teleworking. The employee must report to the regular worksite or request leave.

(c) Requesting situational telework or appropriate leave to accommodate unanticipated personal circumstances.

(d) Component leadership provides the option of unscheduled leave or unscheduled telework.

(7) Maintain a required performance level of at least fully successful or equivalent.

(8) Code and report approved telework time in the Component's time and attendance system.

(9) Report any work-related accident or injury occurring at the alternative worksite and provide the supervisor with medical documentation related to the accident or injury.

(10) Adhere to Component's mandatory training or drug testing requirements.

c. Service Members.

Service member responsibilities are at the discretion of the OSD and DoD Component heads, unless otherwise indicated in this issuance.

3.17. WORKERS' COMPENSATION.

a. Chapter 81 of Title 5, U.S.C., also known and referred to in this issuance as "The Federal Employees' Compensation Act (FECA)" covers employees when injured or suffering from work-related illnesses while conducting official government business at the approved alternative worksite. Employees should notify their supervisor if injured while teleworking and provide their supervisor with medical documentation related to the injury in a manner consistent with law, regulation, and policy. Employees may pursue claims in accordance with Volume 810 of DoDI 1400.25.

b. Chapter 18 of Title 33, U.S.C., also known and referred to in this issuance as "The Longshore and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act" covers nonappropriated fund (NAF) employees. Employees should notify their supervisor if injured while teleworking and provide their supervisor with medical documentation related to the injury consistent with law, regulation, and policy. NAF employees may pursue claims in accordance with Volume 1408 of DoDI 1400.25. K

SECTION 4: REMOTE WORK

4.1. PROGRAM SCOPE.

Remote work is an alternative work arrangement that involves an employee or Service member performing their official duties at an approved alternative worksite away from an agency worksite, without regularly returning to the agency worksite during each pay period. K

a. Conditions.

- (1) Employee or Service member requests remote work;
- (2) The employee position is identified as remote work eligible at the time of recruitment; or
- (3) A position previously designated as ineligible for remote work is re-evaluated and determined to be eligible for remote work.

b. Verification Requirements.

Remote workers must have a designated workspace that is safe and conducive for the performance of their duties at the approved alternative worksite. Verification will be accomplished using a remote work agreement which requires pre-approval of any changes in the remote work location and completion of a safety checklist, and through ongoing oversight of K remote work arrangements.

c. Operational Requirements.

Components must develop and foster a culture that supports remote work while successfully achieving mission and meeting operational requirements through transparency, open communication, trust, and the use of technology.

- (1) Prior to approving remote work, Components will consider:
 - (a) Potential impact to administrative and operational functions including delivery of quality customer service and subsequent perceptions of inequitable treatment between on-site and remote working employees.
 - (b) Potential personnel and organization cost implications:
 1. Changes in locality pay.
 2. Cost of travel.
 3. Future agency directed changes in regular worksite (including potential permanent change of station costs).

4. Transit subsidies.

(c) Potential social impact to employees or Service members who may experience difficulties in a remote situation due to reduced social interaction.

(2) Supervisors will consider:

(a) Equity of work assignments.

(b) Sufficient office coverage as applicable.

(c) Performance management through focusing on goals and outcomes.

(d) Frequent communication regarding tasks and projects. K

(e) Expenses associated with shipping materials to remote workers.

(f) Logistics of handling GFE during issuance and repairs.

(g) Availability of resources located at a nearby installation or other official worksites that can provide support and ensure accountability of remote workers.

4.2. ELIGIBILITY.

a. A remote work arrangement may not be approved unless it meets all of the telework eligibility criteria described in Paragraph 3.2., to include criteria applicable to positions involving classified material.

b. Positions that are eligible for telework may not be suitable for remote work. After initially determining whether the position and employee are eligible for telework, DoD Components will consider the following factors before determining remote work eligibility:

(1) Number of remote work arrangements the work unit can accommodate.

(2) Need for in-person interaction or shared experiences.

(3) Availability of resources, to include those listed below, to ensure the remote worker will be provided the same opportunity for assignments and consistency of workload as peers at the official worksite.

(a) Standards and guidelines which promote fair and equitable application of remote work duties. K

(b) Tools to manage workload and facilitate collaboration with coworkers.

(c) Activities to engage remote workers with on-site coworkers.

(d) Communication channels for announcements or changes in policies. K

Figure 1. Sample Remote Work Agreement, Continued

Pay Entitlements All pay entitlements (including locality-based pay) and other government benefits are based on the new official remote worksite identified above.
Request for Change of Remote Worksite Employee requests to change remote worksite location, including any associated costs, temporary arrangements, and other relevant information. Requester: _____ Date: _____ Approved by: _____ Date: _____ For: _____
Employee Signature _____ Date _____
Supervisor Information <input type="checkbox"/> Approved <input type="checkbox"/> Denied <input type="checkbox"/> Other Supervisor Signature: _____ _____

- a. DoD Component remote work agreements will include but are not limited to:
- (1) Whether the employee or supervisor initiated the request.
 - (2) Alternative worksite location and locality pay area if it differs from the regular worksite.
 - (3) Hours of work.
 - (4) Sources for obtaining supplies, location of the common access card facility, or other relevant resources and locations that support completion of assigned duties.
 - (5) Whether travel and relocation costs will be paid by the Component.
 - (6) Clearly outline the terms of termination, including any associated costs.
 - (7) Agency specific remote work policy and applicable collective bargaining requirements.
- b. An employee’s request to change the terms of a current remote work arrangement (e.g., move to a new alternative worksite location) must be approved in advance and requires the employee to submit a new remote work agreement to document the new agreement terms. A new remote work agreement must be approved before the employee implements the requested change.

4.4. OFFICIAL WORKSITE. K

The official worksite is the location where the employee regularly performs their duties. The approved alternative worksite that is listed on the remote work agreement will become the official worksite. Remote work arrangements will require a documented change in the official worksite to the approved alternative worksite.

- a. The servicing human resources office will complete a Standard Form (SF) 50, “Notification of Personnel Action” (located at <https://www.gsa.gov/reference/forms>), or the equivalent NAF personnel action, documenting the approved alternative worksite location.
- b. Reassignment of an employee from the regular worksite to the approved alternative worksite may result in a change to the employee’s locality pay and may impact a reduction in force since the approved alternative worksite may be in a different competitive area than the regular worksite.

4.5. WORK SCHEDULES.

- a. Remote workers must establish a work schedule consistent with Component policy, subject to supervisory approval. Supervisors must consider coverage for the appropriate time zone relative to the mission objectives.
- b. Supervisors must ensure remote workers request changes to their work schedule and then communicate those approved changes to peers and customers.
- c. Remote workers are permitted to participate in available flexible work schedules in accordance with DoD and Component policy, subject to supervisory approval.

4.6. TIME AND ATTENDANCE.

- a. Remote workers are responsible for accurately reporting their working hours using their Component’s official time and attendance system.
- b. Remote workers will adhere to their approved work schedule as recorded in the DoD Component’s time and attendance system and their organization’s published guidance on hours of duty, work schedules, and tours of duty, unless otherwise approved by their supervisor.
- c. Remote workers must account for work and non-work hours during tour of duty and take appropriate paid or unpaid leave to account for time spent away from normal work-related duties. The provisions of Paragraph 3.6. regarding dependent care are also applicable to remote workers. K

4.7. TRAVEL/RELOCATION EXPENSES FOR CIVILIAN EMPLOYEES.

- a. All relocation requests, approvals, denials, and associated responsibility for costs must be documented in writing. K

b. An employee-requested relocation to a remote work location is for the employee's own convenience and benefit. Pursuant to Chapter 2 of the JTR, the agency is prohibited from paying relocation expenses to a new remote work location. In accordance with the JTR, if approved to work remotely, the employee agrees to waive any rights to moving expenses if directed to return to the regular worksite based on a decline in performance or for misconduct. Accordingly, the employee is responsible for incurring such expenses when directed to return to the regular worksite due to a decline in performance or for misconduct.

4.8. PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT.

Supervisors, employees, and Service members will adhere to the guidance contained in Paragraph 3.14.

a. Remote workers will be treated the same as on-site employees for the purposes of periodic appraisals of job performance, training, rewarding, reassigning, promoting, reducing in grade, retaining and removal, and other acts requiring management discretion.

b. If a Component determines that the remote work arrangement is negatively impacting the employee's performance, the Component may wish to pursue a performance improvement plan that can be done remotely at the remote work site versus requiring the remote worker to work onsite.

4.9. SECURITY CONSIDERATIONS.

Regardless of the worksite, it is the responsibility of employees and Service members to keep Government property and DoD information safe, secure, and separated from their personal property and information. Remote workers will adhere to the guidance contained in Paragraph 3.8.

4.10. EQUIPMENT AND OFFICE SUPPLIES.

DoD Components should provide the necessary equipment and office supplies for use with GFE for remote workers based on the nature and type of work performed. Supervisors, employees, and Service members must comply with equipment usage requirements contained in Paragraph 3.9. The General Services Administration offers guidelines for equipment and support that Components may provide to remote workers on Page 13845 of Volume 71, Federal Register.

4.11. ROLES AND REQUIREMENTS. K

a. Supervisor or Commander.

(1) Using the criteria in Paragraph 4.2., assesses whether the duties and responsibilities K of the position can be performed remotely and considers the impact to mission.

(2) Budgets for potential travel costs associated with reasonable travel to and from the employee or Service member's permanent remote worksite and the regular worksite.

(3) Determines employee or Service member eligibility for remote work consistent with the requirements of Paragraph 4.2., Component guidance, and collective bargaining agreements, as applicable.

(4) Notifies employees or Service members of their eligibility for remote work. K

(5) Indicates position and employee eligibility in the appropriate official system of record.

(6) Participates in Component-required remote work training before approval of an employee or Service member's remote work agreement consistent with the requirements of this issuance, Component guidance, or at least once every 2 years.

(7) Establishes clear criteria to evaluate and approve or disapprove remote work agreements to avoid unfair or inequitable practices.

(8) Approves or denies requests for remote work based upon mission requirements, misconduct, for non-compliance with the terms of the remote work agreement, official disciplinary actions within the last 2 years, the needs of the workgroup, or for other business-based reasons.

(9) Drafts, signs, and maintains a remote work agreement comparable to the requirements of Paragraph 3.3.

(10) Returns decisions on requests for remote work, including new requests or modifications to existing agreements, within 30 calendar days of receipt where practicable.

(11) Justifies, in writing, the basis for the denial of remote work requests.

(a) Supervisors must provide written basis for the denial and if appropriate, include information about when the requestor may reapply and actions the requestor may take for a subsequent remote work request to be approved.

(b) Employees may grieve termination of remote work agreements through Component administrative grievance procedures where such procedures are available. Bargaining unit employees may file a grievance through negotiated grievance procedures, when otherwise not excluded. Service members may request reconsideration through their appropriate chain of command as consistent with Component-specific policy.

(12) Holds employees and Service member accountable for safeguarding and ensuring appropriate use of GFE.

(13) Ensures remote workers have the software needed to complete their duties, which may include collaboration software to attend virtual meetings with customers, peers, or management.

(14) Reiterate security requirements for computer systems access with the remote worker in a virtual environment.

b. Employee.

(1) Participates in Component-required telework training before entering into a written remote work agreement consistent with the requirements of this issuance, Component guidance, or at least once every 2 years.

(2) Completes Component's remote work agreement form detailing the location of the alternative worksite comparable to the requirements contained in Paragraph 3.3. and Component guidance. If requesting remote work at home, completes a self-certification safety checklist and makes sure any areas used for remote work comply with safety requirements.

(3) Completes and submits appropriate tax documents in accordance with Federal and State laws.

(4) Reports any work-related accident or injury occurring at the alternative worksite and provides the supervisor with medical documentation related to the accident or injury.

(5) Protects all CUI as defined in DoDI 5200.48 and classified data as defined in DoDI 5200.01, including Privacy Act data, and complies with all criteria and guidelines for information and electronic security contained in Paragraph 3.8. and Component guidance.

(6) Safeguards and ensures appropriate use of GFE contained in Paragraph 3.9. and Component guidance.

(7) Codes and reports approved work hours in the Component time and attendance system.

(8) Obtains supervisor's verbal or written approval to work at a location other than the approved alternative worksite prior to making any arrangements and reporting to work (e.g., temporary arrangements).

(9) Requests any changes to alternative remote work location 30 calendar days in advance.

(10) Attends required meetings the same as peers located at the official worksite. K

(11) Adheres to mandatory training requirements.

(12) Adheres to mandatory drug testing requirements.

c. Service Member.

Service member responsibilities are at the discretion of the OSD and DoD Component heads, K unless otherwise indicated in this issuance.

4.12. TERMINATION OF REMOTE WORK. K

a. The supervisor or commander may terminate a remote work agreement, if it no longer meets mission requirements or the needs of the workgroup, for misconduct, for non-compliance with the terms of the remote work agreement, or for other business-based reasons. The employee or Service member may also request to terminate a remote work agreement.

(1) The person who initiates the termination of a remote work agreement must provide notification of cancellation at least 30 calendar days before the effective date. The notice of cancellation will include any relevant justification or reason for the cancellation.

(2) Responsibility for costs associated with reassigning the remote worker from the alternative work site to the regular work site will be consistent with the terms of the remote work agreement, the JTR, and any other applicable law, regulation, or policy. Additional requirements are set forth in Paragraph 4.7.

b. Employees may grieve termination of remote work arrangements through Component administrative grievance procedures where such procedures are available. Bargaining unit employees may file a grievance through negotiated grievance procedures, when otherwise not excluded. Service members may request reconsideration through their appropriate chain of command as consistent with Component-specific policy.

4.13. WORKERS' COMPENSATION.

Remote workers pursuing claims under FECA or the Longshore and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act will follow guidance in Paragraph 3.17.

K

SECTION 5: DOMESTIC EMPLOYEES TEMPORARILY WORKING FROM OVERSEAS PURSUANT TO DETO ARRANGEMENTS

5.1. ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS FOR DOMESTIC EMPLOYEES.

Pursuant to Section 4802 of Title 22, U.S.C., the Secretary of State has security responsibility for USG personnel whose alternative worksite is a foreign location that is not the location of the employee's regular worksite. Such arrangements require Department of State (DoS) approval pursuant to its DETO program. Generally, the DoS does not approve DETO arrangements involving alternative worksites that are not within 25 miles of a U.S. Embassy or Consulate or a U.S. military installation with permanently assigned forces. Additional security requirements and threat assessments apply.

5.2. COORDINATION OF DETO ARRANGEMENTS.

a. Employees are not authorized to perform the duties of a position whose regular worksite is located in the United States at an alternative worksite in a foreign location without an approved DETO arrangement. In addition to prerequisites otherwise applicable to telework and remote work arrangements, DETO arrangements require coordination with the Component DETO coordinator. A DETO arrangement cannot begin until all required official approvals have been obtained, including all required signatures on the DETO agreement and chief of mission (COM) approval via the National Security Decision Directive (NSDD) 38 or eCountry Clearance process.

b. DoD Components will designate a DETO coordinator to serve as a central point of contact to coordinate DETO arrangements for employees of the DoD Component. Component DETO coordinators may direct inquiries concerning DETO policy and coordination requirements to the DoD DETO coordinator at the Benefits, Wage and NAF Policy Branch of the Defense Civilian Personnel Advisory Service by emailing dodhra.mc-alex.dcpas.mbx.dod-worklife@mail.mil. OSD Component DETO coordinators will coordinate with the DoD DETO coordinator before contacting the DoS.

c. Employees and supervisors may direct inquiries to their Component's telework coordinator, human resources office, or DETO coordinator.

5.3. ELIGIBILITY.

a. Employees may be permitted to temporarily perform work requirements and duties from an approved overseas location pursuant to an approved DETO agreement in the following circumstances.

(1) The employee is eligible to perform telework or remote work from an approved alternative worksite.

(2) The employee is one of the following:

(a) On the orders of a sponsoring USG employee who is or will be assigned (not temporary duty) to a U.S. mission abroad under COM authority or to a U.S. military installation with permanently assigned forces.

(b) Not on the orders of a sponsoring USG employee but the alternative worksite is within 25 miles of a U.S. Embassy or Consulate or a U.S. military installation with permanently assigned forces and the location of the alternative worksite is rated low or medium by the DoS for crime, terrorism, and political violence.

(3) The duties of the position do not require access to, and/or the handling of, classified materials, unless the employing Component has arranged for the employee to obtain appropriately secure access to such materials at an alternative worksite located at a U.S. Embassy or Consulate or at a U.S. military installation with permanently assigned forces.

(4) The employing Component determines it is in the best interests of the Component, and funding is available, to pay for any additional costs (e.g., International Cooperative Administrative Support Services Program) necessary to support the DETO arrangement.

(5) The employee's duties do not involve reporting on or playing any substantive role in policy or administrative issues pertaining to the country from which the employee would work.

b. DETO arrangements are a discretionary workplace flexibility, not an employee entitlement. DoD Components will consider DETO arrangements on a case-by-case basis and establish DETO policies for enforcement and administration.

5.4. LOCALITY PAY.

Effective January 1, 2023, DETO employees are entitled to locality pay in accordance with Section 9717 of Public Law 117-263. The locality payment is equal to the lesser of the amount of Title 5 locality pay the employee would have been paid if the official duty station of the employee had not been changed to an overseas location under the DETO arrangement or the amount of overseas locality pay the employee would be paid if the employee were an eligible member of the Foreign Service, as continued to be authorized under Section 9802(c) of the Fiscal Year 2023 National Defense Authorization Act. Information about how to calculate DETO locality pay is available at <https://www.opm.gov/policy-data-oversight/pay-leave/pay-administration/fact-sheets/domestic-employees-teleworking-overseas-deto-locality-pay/>. L

5.5. AGREEMENTS.

a. Requirements.

The requirements for DETO agreements are the same as those in Paragraph 3.3. In addition L to the specified DoD requirements, DoS requirements apply. DETO coordinators may obtain templates and information about DoS procedures by emailing the DoD DETO coordinator.

b. Duration. L

DETO agreements will be of limited duration, subject to the following criteria:

- (1) DETO arrangements may not exceed the initial overseas assignment duration of an L employee's USG sponsor.
- (2) A sponsored DETO arrangement may not exceed 5 years.
- (3) An independent DETO arrangement may not exceed 3 years.
- (4) DETO arrangements may not exceed the initial DoS approved DETO ending date, unless all required official approvals for an extension have been obtained, including all required signatures on the DETO agreement and COM approval via the NSDD 38 or eCountry Clearance process.

c. Amendments.

Supervisors may amend the DETO agreement at any time by providing written justification based on the needs of the office and with prior notification to the employee of 60 calendar days. Supervisors must work with the Component DETO coordinator to ensure that all required official approvals for an amendment have been obtained, including all required signatures on the DETO agreement and COM approval via the NSDD 38 or eCountry Clearance process.

d. Termination.

- (1) Either the employee or supervisor may cancel a DETO agreement before its L prescribed termination date. The notice of cancelation will:
 - (a) Provide justification for the cancelation.
 - (b) Be in writing.
 - (c) Be submitted to the Component DETO coordinator and all parties to the DETO agreement at least 30 calendar days before the effective date of cancellation.
- (2) Supervisors may cancel agreements which no longer meet mission requirements or the needs of the workgroup, for misconduct, for non-compliance with the terms of the DETO agreement, or for other business-based reasons. L
- (3) The DoD or Component DETO coordinator will ensure that the DoS is notified of the L termination.

e. Workers' Compensation.

Employees on approved DETO arrangements pursuing claims under FECA or the onshore and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act will follow the guidance contained in Paragraph 3.17. and the requirements for overseas claims. L

GLO ARY

G.1. ACRONYM . S

ACRONYM	MEANING
ASD(M&RA)	Assistant Secretary of Defense for Manpower and Reserve Affairs
CIO	chief information officer
COM	chief of mission
COOP S	continuity of operations
CUI	controlled unclassified information
DD	Department of Defense (form)
DETO	domestic employee teleworking overseas
DoDI	DoD instruction
DoS	Department of State
FECA	Federal Employees' Compensation Act
GFE	government furnished equipment
JTR	Joint Travel Regulations
NAF	nonappropriated fund
NSDD	National Security Decision Directive
OMB	Office of Management and Budget
OPM	Office of Personnel Management
PII S	personally identifiable information
SF	standard form
	S
U.S.C.	United States Code
USD(I&S) S	Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence and Security
USG	U.S. Government S

G.2. DEFINITIONS.

These terms and their definitions are for the purpose of this issuance.

TERM	DEFINITION
alternative work schedule	An umbrella term that refers to compressed work schedules and flexible work schedules.
alternative worksite	A management-approved telework or remote work site.
alternative worksite arrangement	An approved alternative worksite that is listed in a telework or remote work agreement.
COOP D	An effort to ensure that the capability exists to continue component-essential functions across a wide range of natural disasters or local or national declared emergencies.
CUI D	A categorical designation that refers to sensitive information that isn't classified, but still needs some level of protection and safeguarding. The designation CUI replaces the term "sensitive but unclassified."
day D	Associated with an employee's tour of duty that is established by their agency in accordance with Sections 6101(a)(3), 6122, and 6127 of Title 5, U.S.C.
dependent care D	Services that provide support and nurturing of persons who cannot meet their own needs, such as children or functionally impaired adults. D
ETO	A USG employee assigned to a domestic position with an alternative work arrangement permitting work to be performed at an approved worksite in an overseas location for a limited period of time. D eligibility D	Characteristics of a job position and an employee or a Service member that identify suitability for teleworking or remote working as determined by the supervisor or other appropriate management official in an employee's or a Service member's chain of command. D employee D	A DoD government employee, including foreign national employees, paid from appropriated or NAF funds.

TER M	DEFINITION M
independent DETO	An USG employee, not on the orders of a USG sponsoring Service member or employee, assigned to a domestic position with an alternative work arrangement permitting work to be performed in an overseas location for a limited period of time.
mission essential M	Job position functions that enable the Federal Government to continue to provide the necessary, vital services during time of need.
mission-essential duties	Job position functions that are identified as critical to performance of the mission.
mobile work M	Work which is characterized by routine and regular travel to conduct work in customer or other worksites as opposed to a single authorized alternative worksite.
official worksite M	The official Federal agency location for most employees and Service members, including teleworkers. For remote workers, the official worksite is the alternative worksite to which the supervisor and the employee or Service member have agreed. The official worksite is generally the location of an employee's duty location as documented on an employee's SF 50 or equivalent.
official disciplinary action M	A disciplinary action that results in the placement of a document in an employee's official personnel file.
regular worksite M	Location where an employee or Service member would work absent a telework or remote agreement. Also called the agency worksite.
remote work M	An alternative work arrangement in which an employee or Service member works from an approved alternative worksite within or outside the locality pay area of an agency worksite and is not expected to return to an agency worksite on a regular basis during each pay period.
remote work agreement M	A written agreement between the supervisor and employee or Service member that outlines duties, obligations, M responsibilities, and conditions of the remote work arrangement.

TER M	DEFINITION
remote worksite M	Alternative worksite location where an employee performs assigned official duties in a remote work arrangement. This is also the remote worker's official worksite and must be reflected on the employee's SF 50 or equivalent NAF personnel action.
routine telework M	A telework arrangement with an approved, ongoing schedule during which an employee or Service member reports to the official worksite at least 2 days a bi-weekly pay period.
situational telework	An approved telework arrangement that is not a part of an ongoing schedule and occurs occasionally. It is also referred to as episodic, intermittent, unscheduled, or ad hoc telework. Telework is also considered situational even though it may occur continuously for a specific period. M sponsored DETO	A USG employee on the orders of a USG sponsoring Service member or employee assigned to a domestic position with an alternative work arrangement permitting work to be performed in an overseas location for a limited period of time.
supervisor M	Government management official, commander, or Service member who has direct responsibility for directing and managing employee or Service member work and for approving and denying employee or Service member telework or remote work agreements. M
telework agreement	A written agreement, completed and signed by an employee or Service member and the authorized management official(s) or commanders via the DD Form 2946, that outlines the terms and conditions of the telework arrangement.
telework center	A facility that provides a geographically convenient office setting with workstations and other office facilities and services that are used by employees or Service members from more than one organization. M

REFEREN ES

- Code of Federal Regulations, Title 5
- DoD Directive 1400.25, “DoD Civilian Personnel Management System,” November 25, 1996
- DoD Directive 5124.02, “Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness (USD(P&R)),” June 23, 2008
- DoD Instruction 1400.25, Volume 810, “DoD Civilian Personnel Management System: Injury Compensation,” April 12, 2005
- DoD Instruction 1400.25, Volume 1408, “DoD Civilian Personnel Management System: Insurance and Annuities for Nonappropriated Fund Employees,” August 28, 2020, as amended
- DoD Instruction 5200.01, “DoD Information Security Program and Protection of Sensitive Compartmented Information (SCI),” April 21, 2016, as amended
- DoD Instruction 5200.48, “Controlled Unclassified Information (CUI),” March 6, 2020
- DoD Manual 5200.01, “DoD Information Security Program,” dates vary by volume
- DoD Manual 5400.07, “DoD Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) Program,” January 25, 2017
- DoD Manual 8910.01, Volume 2, “DoD Information Collections Manual: Procedures for DoD Public Information Collections,” June 30, 2014, as amended
- Federal Register, Volume 71, Page 13845, March 17, 2006
- Joint Travel Regulations (JTR), current edition
- Office of Management and Budget Memorandum M-17-15, “Rescission of Memoranda Relating to Identity Management,” January 19, 2017
- Office of Management and Budget Memorandum 19-17, “Enabling Mission Delivery through Improved Identity, Credential, and Access Management,” May 21, 2019
- National Security Decision Directive 38, “Staffing at Diplomatic Missions and Their Overseas Constituent Posts,” June 2, 1982
- Public Law 106-346, Section 359, “Department of Transportation and Related Agencies Appropriations Act 2001,” October 23, 2000
- Public Law 117-263, Section 9717, “James M. Inhofe National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2023,” December 23, 2022
- United States Code, Title 5
- United States Code, Title 22, Section 4802
- United States Code, Title 28
- United States Code, Title 29
- United States Code, Title 31
- United States Code, Title 33, Chapter 18 (also known as “The Longshore and Harbor Workers’ Compensation Act”)
- United States Code, Title 37
- United States Code, Title 40, Section 587

Department of Defense
Collective Bargaining Agreement(s) –
Telework Provisions

Department of Defense (DoD) Input to BDR 24-24 3b:

Current Labor Agreements: Excerpts of current collective bargaining agreements or additional whole documents that agencies have executed with their bargaining units on the topic of telework. Specifically, agencies are asked to please provide only documents wholly related to telework (e.g., a specific agreement) and excerpts of larger documents (e.g., 1-2 pages of a given CBA) that specifically discuss telework. Agencies are not expected to provide copies of any agreements that are either expired or no longer in force.

Response: DoD has approximately 1,200 active bargaining units. OPM maintains a searchable database of collective bargaining agreements between agencies and Federal sector unions. DoD submitted agreements are available for viewing at this site (714 currently). The database contains term agreements, which are often submitted upon renegotiation. Older agreements may not be included. The site for the OPM database is Collective Bargaining Agreements \(opm.gov\).

Should Congress require excerpts from CBAs, DoD will require a significant amount of additional time to review and provide extract documents for formal submission.

Department of Education
Supplemental Documents

Department of Education
January 2024 Submission

WORK ENVIRONMENT IMPLEMENTATION DATA CALL
January 26, 2024

OMB issued its Organizational Health and Performance Memorandum (M-23-15) last spring as guidance for agencies as they reevaluate their work environment posture to increase in-person presence while optimizing organizational health and performance. As the White House Chief of Staff and OMB have continued to emphasize in the Cabinet, PMC, and other forums, it is essential for agency leaders to be paying close attention to implementation progress and ensuring that updated Work Environment policies are having the intended impact.

In line with M-23-15, OMB requests that agencies that are still implementing in-person presence goals respond to this implementation data call outlining all remaining steps that the agency will take to reach intended work environment postures.

Agencies should provide:

1. Timelines with firm deadlines for your agency to reach its in-person presence objectives (i.e., a steady state where, in general, total work hours for all headquarters and headquarters-equivalent personnel that are eligible for telework are completed, on average, as much in-person as they are in telework environments).
2. Updates or additional steps your agency must take to complete execution equitably and consistently across their workforce.
3. Description of your agency's approach to tracking and ensuring implementation with policies. Agency responses here should outline how senior leaders are tracking implementation progress and ensuring that staff comply with stated agency policies, to include optimizing in-person and telework time.

Request. Please send a written update that answers these questions. Agencies may provide additional detail or narrative on top of these answers. Responses are due via email to futureofwork@omb.eop.gov no later than January 26, 2024.

Department of Education Response
January 26, 2024

1. Timelines with firm deadlines for your agency to reach its in-person presence objectives (i.e., a steady state where, in general, total work hours for all headquarters and headquarters-equivalent personnel that are eligible for telework are completed, on average, as much in-person as they are in telework environments).

On September 8, 2023, the Department of Education (ED) initiated a three-phased implementation timeline to increase in-person presence. To date, we have complete two of the three phases.

- PHASE I: November 6, 2023: Senior Executives, managers, and supervisors in hybrid positions began reporting to an ED facility a minimum of two days per week or four days per pay period.

- PHASE II: January 8, 2024: All remaining non-supervisory non-bargaining unit employees in hybrid positions began reporting to an ED facility a minimum of two days per week or four days per pay period.
- PHASE III: To Be Determined: The transition date for bargaining unit employees has not been set at this time as the agency continues to navigate the bargaining process. The agency is also reaching out to other agencies to explore other options to expedite the bargaining unit return-to-work transition.
- Note: Once we complete Phase III, our agency-wide remote percentage will have dropped by 36% from 66% to 30%, and our National Capital Region will meet the required 50% onsite work goal.

Final Telework Position Designations
Onsite (Situational)	Telework	Remote	Total	% Onsite (Situational)	% Telework	% Remote
459	2324	1185	3968	11%	59%	30%

2. Updates or additional steps your agency must take to complete execution equitably and consistently across their workforce.

The largest barrier the agency faces to completing execution is finalizing negotiations for bargaining unit employees, which represent 57% of total employees. Again, we will be reaching out to other agencies to identify other options to expedite the transition.

In addition, we are strengthening processes to internally review and assess effective execution of implementation of employees who have returned to work in Phase I and Phase II. More details on the steps we will take are detailed in the below section.

3. Description of your agency’s approach to tracking and ensuring implementation with policies. Agency responses here should outline how senior leaders are tracking implementation progress and ensuring that staff comply with stated agency policies, to include optimizing in-person and telework time.

The agency is leading and monitoring the transition implementation by:

- Tracking the number of employees updating their telework agreements to reflect the new schedules and briefing ED senior leadership on identified trends and required corrective actions, if needed.
- Reviewing identification card swipes into ED facilities in the National Capital Region and providing feedback to senior leaders regarding their trends and required follow up actions.
- Reviewing the increase in onsite use of information technology resources and providing additional resources and support for employees as needed.
- Tracking workload and progress on strategic initiatives and engaging with leadership and employee teams accordingly to drive expected outcomes.

- Increasing in person employee engagement activities across all offices including more cross agency social and networking events.
- Integrating organizational health discussions into the agency's quarterly performance review discussions and providing feedback to senior leaders accordingly.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION TO OMB WORK ENVIRONMENT IMPLEMENTATION DATA CALL
May 23, 2024

1. Timelines with firm deadlines for your agency to reach its in-person presence objectives (i.e., a steady state where, in general, total work hours for all headquarters and headquarters-equivalent personnel that are eligible for telework are completed, on average, as much in-person as they are in telework environments).

On September 8, 2023, the Department of Education (ED) initiated a three-phased implementation timeline to increase in-person presence for telework (hybrid) designated positions to a minimum of 4 days per pay period as outlined in the January 2024 OMB Work Environment Check-in (copy attached).

- PHASE I: November 6, 2023: Senior Executives, managers, and supervisors in hybrid positions began reporting to an ED facility a minimum of two days per week or four days per pay period.
- PHASE II: January 8, 2024: All remaining non-supervisory non-bargaining unit employees in hybrid positions began reporting to an ED facility a minimum of two days per week or four days per pay period.
- PHASE III: To Be Determined: The transition date for bargaining unit employees has not been set and remains pending completion of bargaining. On April 15, 2024, term negotiations of the Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) commenced with the American Federation of Government Employees (AFGE). Telework is a part of the CBA and will be included in mid-term negotiations. While the agency invited the union to sever telework from mid-term negotiations, AFGE elected to keep telework within the term negotiations.

An update to the required in person presence for non-bargaining unit employees occurred on March 12, 2024, when the Department of Education Secretary Miguel Cardona announced an increase of in person presence from 4 to 5 days for telework (hybrid) designated positions. The requirement was effective on April 22, 2024, for Senior Executives, managers, supervisors, and non-supervisory non bargaining unit employees. On March 28, 2024, Secretary Cardona sent a message to all employees stating that bargaining unit employees occupying telework (hybrid) designated positions would be expected to return to 5 days of in office presence effective May 20, 2024, subject to fulfilling bargaining obligations. The union declined to engage in bargaining separate from term negotiations.

2. Updates or additional steps your agency must take to complete execution equitably and consistently across their workforce.

- The largest barrier the agency faces to completing execution is finalizing negotiations for bargaining unit employees. In January, we reported that bargaining unit employees make up 57% of total employees; however, that has now increased to 61% due to an ongoing review of position eligibility for inclusion in the bargaining unit in accordance with President Biden's Executive Order (EO) 14025, Worker Organizing and Empowerment, issued on April 26, 2021. Specifically, AFGE filed two petitions requesting a total 734 non-bargaining unit positions be reviewed for inclusion in the bargaining unit. The percent of bargaining unit positions may increase again pending the outcome of the review and associated FLRA hearing.

- As stated above, telework is a part of the CBA and will be included in term negotiations. While the agency invited the union to sever telework from term negotiations, AFGE elected to keep telework within the term negotiations.

3. Description of your agency's approach to tracking and ensuring implementation with policies.

Agency responses here should outline how senior leaders are tracking implementation progress and ensuring that staff comply with stated agency policies, to include optimizing in-person and telework time.

The agency continues to monitor the transition implementation by:

- tracking the number of employees updating their telework agreements to reflect the new schedules and briefing ED senior leadership on identified trends and required corrective actions, if needed.
- reviewing identification card swipes into ED facilities in the National Capital Region and providing feedback to senior leaders regarding their trends and required follow up actions.
- reviewing the increase in onsite use of information technology resources and providing additional resources and support for employees as needed.
- tracking workload and progress on strategic initiatives and engaging with leadership and employee teams accordingly to drive expected outcomes.
- increasing in person employee engagement activities across all offices including more cross agency social and networking events.
- Integrated organizational health discussions into the agency's quarterly strategic review and provided feedback to senior leaders accordingly.

Department of Education
Telework Policy(s)

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION HUMAN CAPITAL POLICY	HCP: 368-1 DATE: November 4, 2021
--	---

This policy is current as of October 26, 2021. This policy supersedes Human Capital Policy 368-1, Telework Program dated October 1, 2018.

TELEWORK AND REMOTE WORK PROGRAM

TABLE OF CONTENTS

I. AUTHORITY 2

II. APPLICABILITY 2

III. PURPOSE 2

IV. POLICY 2

V. DEFINITIONS 2

VI. RESPONSIBILITIES 5

VII. DESCRIPTION OF THE PROGRAM 9

VIII. PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS/GUIDELINES 13

APPENDIX 25

I. AUTHORITY

The contents of this Human Capital Policy (HCP or Policy) conform to, and shall be used in conjunction with applicable labor obligations, laws, rules, regulations, and government-wide guidance and directives (e.g., issued by the Office of Personnel Management (OPM), including, but not limited to, the following:

- The controlling agreement between the U.S. Department of Education (the Department or ED) and American Federation of Government Employees (AFGE);
- Public Law (P.L.) 111-292, Telework Enhancement Act of 2010, dated November 18, 2010;
- OPM Guide to Telework in the Federal Government, dated April 2011;
- General Services Administration FMR Bulletin 2006-B3, dated March 17, 2006;
- Part 531 of Title 5 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR), §531.605(d), determining an employee's official worksite; and,
- The WebTA Quick Reference Guide for Timekeepers, Telework Indicator Code.

II. APPLICABILITY

This Policy applies to all ED employees. Notwithstanding, the Office of Inspector General (OIG) determines the applicability of the Telework Program on OIG positions in accordance with OPM guidance.

III. PURPOSE

This Policy assigns responsibilities and prescribes procedural requirements for the Department's Telework and Remote Work Program (Program). It is intended to be an innovative tool for managing an organization more effectively and increasing the productivity, morale, and retention of employees. It also supports the Department's continuity of operations in event of weather-related issues or other emergencies.

IV. POLICY

It is the policy of ED that all eligible employees, including supervisors and managers, may be authorized to participate in the Program to the extent practical for the employee's work unit and as long as participation does not negatively impact employee or organizational performance and meets the position and employee criteria as outlined in Section VIII of this

Policy.

As outlined in this Policy, ED employees with signed Telework/Remote Work Agreements are required to work or request leave when normal business operations cannot be carried out at the official worksite location due to weather-related or emergency situations.

Alternative Worksite locations may include:

- The designated address as outlined on the signed Telework/Remote Work Agreement; and,
- Any other location that is approved by the supervisor in advance and is equipped with standard office technology and equipment (see Section VIII for additional information) sufficient to perform assigned work in a safe and secure environment.

This Policy restricts Telework/Remote Work Arrangements to the United States and its territories and possessions. Existing Overseas Telework Arrangements may remain in effect for the duration of the signed Telework/Remote Agreement and may not be extended.

Employees who were grandfathered into a 100 percent telework/remote work agreement signed prior to May 31, 2018, remain approved for remote work.

V. DEFINITIONS

Administrative Closing: The closing of Federal offices when hazardous weather or other emergency situations dictate that a Government office(s) should be closed for a portion of a workday or the entire workday.

Alternative Worksites: Places where individuals perform official duties away from their official duty station. The worksite can be, but is not limited to, the employee's home, or another location approved in advance sufficient for the individual employee to perform his/her assigned work.

Continuity of Operations Program (COOP): An effort within individual agencies to ensure they can continue to perform Mission Essential Functions (MEFs) and Primary Mission Essential Functions (PMEFs) during a wide range of emergencies, including localized acts of nature, accidents, and technological or attack-related emergencies.

Discretionary Closing: The release of employees from duty for all or part of the day at the official worksite as a discretionary benefit from management, such as closing early the day before a holiday.

ED Facility/ED Worksite: An office space utilized by ED.

Eligibility: The designation used to describe the basic criteria for participating in the Program.

Emergency/Essential Workers: Employees who conduct a range of operations and services that are typically essential to continue critical infrastructure operations.

Local Commuting Area: The geographic area that includes the population center and surrounding localities in which people live and can reasonably be expected to travel back and forth daily to their place of employment. (See Appendix)

Official Duty Station: The city or town, county, and state in which the employee works on a regular basis. For most employees, this will be the location of the employee's official worksite. Pay is determined based on an employee's duty station. Duty Station information is located in blocks 38 and 39 of the Notification of Personnel Action Standard Form (SF)-50. Additional information on policies for duty station changes and telework schedule expectations can be found in Section VII.

Official Worksite: The location of record where the employee regularly performs their duties. For an employee covered by a Telework/Remote Agreement who is not required to report to the regular worksite at least twice a pay period on a regular and recurring basis, the official worksite is the address designated in their Telework/Remote Work Agreement, a satellite facility, or any other location approved by their supervisor, except in certain temporary situations. The employee's official worksite must be documented on the employee's SF-50. See Duty Station blocks 38 and 39 of the SF-50 showing the city/county and state in which the official worksite is located.

Operating Status: The notification that provides Federal employees with the daily state of government operations and procedures for Government-wide emergencies or special events that create a disruption. The operating status announcements are applicable for any emergency or special event that causes a disruption inside the "Washington Capital Beltway."

For additional information refer to the Administrative Communications System (OM 5-102, Continuity Program for additional information.

Position of Record: The employee's official position (defined by grade, occupational series, employing agency, Law Enforcement Officer (LEO) status, and any other condition that determines coverage under a pay schedule (other than official worksite), as documented on the employee's most recent Notification of Personnel Action (SF-50 or equivalent) and current position description. A position to which an employee is temporarily detailed is not documented as a position of record.

Program Participant: An employee who has an approved Telework/Remote Work Agreement.

Reasonable Accommodation: Any change in the work environment or in the way things are customarily done that enables a qualified individual with a disability to enjoy equal employment opportunities.

The Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (Sections 501 and 504) requires that agencies provide reasonable accommodation to a qualified individual with a disability unless the agency can demonstrate that the accommodation would impose an undue hardship to the operations of its program. For additional information see Section VII, B, or the Department's Reasonable Accommodation Handbook (OFO-O 03).

Remote work: An arrangement in which an employee is scheduled to perform work at an alternative worksite and is not expected to report to an ED worksite on a regular and recurring basis. A remote work employee is not assigned government workspace. This applies to employees working within and outside the commuting area of an ED worksite based on the locality pay table.

Routine Telework: A telework arrangement that is on an on-going regular and recurring basis. Work schedules will be consistent with work schedules policy and/or controlling agreement between ED and AFGE.

Situational (Ad-hoc) Telework: Telework that is approved on a case-by-case basis, where the hours worked were not part of a previously approved, ongoing, and regular telework schedule. This includes emergency telework. Examples of situational telework include telework as a result of inclement weather, doctor appointment, or special work assignments.

Telework: A work flexibility arrangement under which an employee performs the duties and responsibilities of such employee's position, and other authorized activities, from an approved worksite other than the location from which the employee would normally work absent a Telework/Remote Work Agreement. This flexible arrangement requires the employee to physically report to their official worksite at least twice each pay period.

Telework/Remote Work Agreement: A written agreement, completed and signed by the participating employee and appropriate authorizing official(s), that outlines the terms and conditions of the telework arrangement. A signed Telework/Remote Work Agreement is required to participate in the Program.

Telework-Ready: A Program participant that: (a) is equipped with standard office technology and equipment (i.e., computer, secure Internet connection, telephone access,) sufficient to perform assigned work in a safe and secure environment at the alternate worksite; (b) has portable work that can be performed at an alternative worksite for all, or part of, the employee's regularly scheduled tour of duty for the day on which telework will be performed; and (c) has an approved Telework/Remote Work Agreement. Telework-Ready employees may be on a remote work, routine, or a situational (ad-hoc) agreement.

Unscheduled Telework: The option for a Telework-Ready (which includes having portable work that can be performed at an alternative worksite) employee to telework with prior supervisory approval when severe weather conditions or other circumstances disrupt or prevent employees from commuting or reporting to their official duty station.

VI. RESPONSIBILITIES

A. The Office of Human Resources (OHR) is responsible for the following:

- Overseeing the implementation of and providing guidance on the Program policy;
- Ensuring that annual telework reports are submitted to the Chief Human Capital Officers Council and OPM;
- Using information and data on telework to support the strategic management of human capital;
- Providing expertise and guidance to ED leadership;
- Ensuring positions are appropriately classified as telework eligible;
- Ensuring ED Job Opportunity Announcements (JOAs) reflect whether the position is eligible for telework;
- Ensuring HCPs are updated and accurate based on current applicable regulations;
- Conducting periodic evaluations of the Program to ensure compliance with this HCP and applicable regulations;
- Serving as the Telework Managing Officer;
- Evaluating the impact of the Program on the efficiency and effectiveness of work operations within organizations; and,
- Submitting telework data to OPM and other organizations upon request.

B. Principal Operating Component (POC) (Assistant Secretary/Approving Official of the POC or their designees) are responsible for:

- Determining the eligibility of all positions and employees within their respective organizations to participate in the Program, including eligibility to participate in remote work, routine and situational telework, in accordance with this policy;
- Establishing telework strategy which ensures consistency within their organization;
- Authorizing participation in the Program within their organization;
- Ensuring implementation of the Program to the fullest extent possible without adverse impact on employee or organizational performance;

- Reviewing and approving Telework/Remote Work Agreements, as appropriate;
- Maintaining a list of participants and associated telework records (e.g., agreements, trainings, and denials);
- Providing OHR with the necessary information for annual reporting;
- Ensuring that participants adhere to this policy;
- Ensuring appropriate funding and Government furnished equipment (GFE) is made available to Program participants (See Section VIII, J);
- Working with supervisors to remove any managerial, logistical, or organizational barriers to the successful implementation and maintenance of the Program;
- Determining the need to temporarily suspend the Program, within their respective organization, when operational exigencies require employees to report to their official worksite;
- Contacting the approving supervisor to discuss any incomplete forms; and,
- Collaborating with OHR to ensure POC employee SF-50s reflect the correct information.

C. Supervisors are responsible for:

- Recommending to the approving official positions, within the POC/Office head approved strategy, that are suitable and eligible for the Program;
- Ensuring applicable employees are aware of Program eligibility;
- Accepting and making recommendations to the approving official for approval or disapproval of employee requests to participate in the Program, no later than 5 working days upon receipt of the request;
- Ensuring that assigned employee bi-weekly timesheets accurately reflect telework and work schedules;
- Reviewing and recommending approval or disapproval of employee requests for changes to a Telework/Remote Work Agreements;
- Providing equitable treatment of employees when recommending approval or disapproval of employee requests to participate in the Program, requests for participation in remote work or routine and situational telework, and changes to Telework/Remote Work Agreements;

- Completing annual Supervisors Telework Training on the Program prescribed by the Department before entering into a Telework/Remote Work Agreement with employees;
- Providing equitable treatment of employees, as required by 5 U.S.C. §6503(a)(3), regardless of whether employees participate in the Program or not, in decisions which affect conditions of employment consistent with applicable law, OPM regulation, and Department policy, including, but not limited to:
 - Periodic appraisals of job performance;
 - Training, rewarding, reassigning, promoting, reducing in grade, retaining, and removing employees; and,
 - Work requirements.
- Not requiring a greater level of reporting on daily assignments/work completion from employees participating in the Telework Program than they require of non-participating employees;
- Not retaliating or otherwise taking adverse actions towards employees on the basis of their requests or decisions for participation or nonparticipation in the program;
- Discussing the Telework/Remote Work Agreement with the employee and collaborating to resolve any challenges that may occur;
- Ensuring that SF-50 forms accurately reflect the official duty station of assigned employees;
- Effectively executing supervisory management duties (performance management);
- Clearly defining and communicating work assignments and expectations to all employees and providing regular and frequent review of the work of employees to ensure they meet performance requirements;
- Effectively addressing and resolving conduct issues; and,
- Establishing and communicating the expected use of approved software, hardware, and services to foster team effectiveness, virtual office functions (e.g., virtual drop-ins and telepresence) and communications.

D. Employees are responsible for:

- Submitting a Program participation request to their supervisor;

- Completing the Program training, obtaining the certificate of training completion, and providing a copy to their first-level supervisor along with any request for Program participation consideration;
- Ensuring that their bi-weekly timesheet accurately reflects the supervisor approved telework and work schedule;
- Adhering to and operating under the provisions of an approved Telework/Remote Work Agreement, including observing hours of work in accordance with the Telework/Remote Work Agreement and established Department policies;
- Complying with OPM regulations, and Department policies for requesting approval of leave or unscheduled telework;
- Complying with all Government laws, regulations, and Department policies while working at an approved alternative worksite;
- Collaborating with their supervisor to ensure all forms are completed and accurately reflect the official worksite of assigned employee;
- Providing prompt notification to the supervisor whenever any problems arise at the approved alternative worksite which adversely affect the employee's ability to work;
- Submitting an updated Telework/Remote Work Agreement for major changes (i.e., a change in the designated telework day or change in telework location);
- Exhibiting appropriate conduct in accordance with all laws and ED policies;
- Ensuring timely engagement with supervisors, peers, and other employees and external stakeholders; and,
- Understanding how to use, and using the approved hardware, tools, software, and services, as specified by their supervisor, to ensure the efficiency of the team and provide as seamless a working experience as possible. Whenever possible, the employee shall leverage technology to provide an equivalent experience as if working from the office.

VII. DESCRIPTION OF THE PROGRAM

(See Section VI, D for specific information about employee responsibilities.)

- A. ED's Job Opportunity Announcements must reflect Program eligibility for the position. The selectee's offer letter must include Program eligibility information.
- B. Participation in the Program is voluntary, subject to approval by the supervisor, and approving official, and is available to all employees who meet the Program requirements (See Section VIII, Part A).
- C. Prior to participating in the Program, and unless waived pursuant to 5 U.S.C. §6503, both the employee and the employee's supervisor must each complete telework training. The employee must upload the telework training certificate to the automated system.
- D. It is important to distinguish between ordinary requests for telework and requests for telework as a reasonable accommodation for a qualified individual with a disability. For additional information on reasonable accommodations, please refer to the Department's Reasonable Accommodation Handbook. (OFO-O 03)
- E. The Program is not intended to serve as a substitute for childcare, daycare, elder care, or any other type of dependent care.
- F. Employees approved to participate in the Program may telework to the extent practicable for the employee's work unit, subject to the supervisor's approval.
- G. Duty station: An employee's official worksite is normally the location of an employee's position of record where the employee regularly performs their duties. However, if an employee is not scheduled to report to an ED Facility at least twice each pay period on a regular and recurring basis, then the remote worksite is the official duty station and the employee's pay must be based on the locality pay applicable to the remote work site.
 - 1. All pay, leave, and travel entitlements will be based on the employee's official duty station.
 - 2. In circumstances where the official duty station is reassigned to an alternative worksite, trips are "official business," and the employee is entitled to travel reimbursement.
- H. The Program options are:
 - 1. Telework
 - a. Routine Telework: The employee works on an on-going regular and recurring basis from home or an alternative worksite one or more days per week and has an ED worksite as a duty location. Supervisors may initiate or approve changes to routine telework to meet ED's operational or an employee's needs. Pursuant to 5 CFR §531.605(d)(2)(4), participants must, at a minimum, physically report into the official ED worksite twice each pay period in order to maintain the locality pay of the official ED worksite. This requirement, subject to the supervisor's approval, can be met by reporting to the worksite one day per week or twice in one week of a pay period.

Employees with this type of telework schedule may be required to report to their duty location on an as needed basis, as determined by the Department.

Example: The employee teleworks four (4) days per week and reports to their official worksite (Atlanta Regional office) one (1) day per week resulting in two days per pay period at the official worksite.

- b. Situational (Ad-hoc) Telework: Telework that is approved on a case-by-case basis, where the hours worked were not part of a previously approved, ongoing, and regular telework schedule. This includes emergency telework.

Example: The employee requests to telework as a result of inclement weather, medical appointment, or special work assignments.

2. Remote Work

Remote Work: The employee works 100 percent from their home or alternative worksite and is not required to report to an ED worksite. Since the employee does not report to an ED worksite at least twice a pay period, the employee's official worksite is their official duty station and their locality pay may be impacted.

Example 1: The employee's official worksite/duty location is Washington, D.C., and they submit a request for remote work from their home in Miami, Florida. If the employee is approved for remote work, their duty location must change to Miami, Florida. Their locality pay will be impacted. Transportation expenses in and around the official worksite, which do not include expenses for travel to the agency worksite, may be reimbursed as a local travel expense in accordance with the ED's Directive on travel (see Handbook for Travel, OCIO 16) and the controlling agreement between ED and AFG. Temporary duty (TDY) travel away from the official worksite (i.e., more than 50 miles away) must be authorized in accordance with the Federal Travel Regulations (FTR).

Example 2: The agency worksite is a location in Washington, DC, which is in the Washington-Baltimore locality pay area. The employee's official worksite under remote work is at the employee's residence in Urbana, MD (in Frederick County, MD), which is also in the Washington-Baltimore locality pay area and, for the purposes of this example, the agency has established a 50-mile official station radius for local travel reimbursement. The agency worksite in Washington, DC, is within the 50-mile official station radius for Urbana, MD.

Locality pay: Since the employee does not report to the agency worksite at least twice each pay period on a regular and recurring basis, the employee's official worksite for locality pay purposes is in Urbana, MD. (See 5 CFR §531.605(d)(3).) The agency must document this worksite as the employee's "duty station" on an SF-50, and the employee will receive the locality rate associated with the Washington-Baltimore locality pay area. (see 5 CFR §531.605(a)(3))

Travel reimbursement: Transportation expenses in and around the Urbana, MD worksite, which include expenses for travel to the ED worksite, may be reimbursed as a local travel expense in accordance with agency policy and the controlling agreement between ED and AFGE. Temporary duty (TDY) travel away from the Urbana, MD worksite (i.e., more than 50 miles away) must be authorized in accordance with the FTR. Eligibility for per diem is based on FTR §301-11.1.

- I. After the POC makes the positional eligibility determination to participate in the Program, pursuant to Section VI(B), employees should submit a written request to their supervisor of their intention to change their official worksite/alternative worksite/duty station. This request should be followed by an official request via their Telework/Remote Work Agreement. An appropriate personnel action must be processed by OHR before the employee changes their official worksite /alternative worksite/duty station if there is a locality pay change. If there is no locality pay change, the employee must update their Telework/Remote Work Agreement to document the new address as the official worksite /alternative worksite. A supervisor will approve or deny a request to change an official worksite/duty station in writing, and if applicable, submit approved requests to OHR, within ten (10) work days prior to the effective date related to the request. Supervisors may not unreasonably deny a request. If the request is denied, the supervisor must provide the reasons why the position did not meet the requirements in Section VIII(A)(1) and/or the employee did not meet the eligibility criteria in Section VIII(A)(2), in writing.
- J. Management shall make the determination in writing for the telework schedule based on the nature of the work and the ability to complete the work virtually or the necessity for ED worksite presence.

Any disputes regarding the telework schedule determination can be brought forward via the appropriate grievance process.

K. Telework and Alternative Work Schedules (AWS)

1. Program participants, with supervisor approval, may participate in AWS.
2. Employees participating in Routine Telework and an AWS must work from an ED worksite location a minimum of twice each pay period.

For example, an employee on a 5-4-9 compressed work schedule (CWS) in combination with a Routine Telework/Remote Work Agreement may have the following schedule: Week 1: The employee teleworks four days and reports to the official worksite on the fifth day; and Week 2: The employee teleworks three days, reports to the official worksite on the fourth day; and has the fifth day off.

Likewise, an employee on a 4/10 CWS in combination with a Routine Telework/Remote Work Agreement may telework three days and report to the official worksite on the fourth day of each week.

For information regarding Work Schedules refer to HCP 610-3.

- L. Part-time employees may participate in the Program. For information regarding the Part-time Employment Program refer to HCP 340-1.
- M. All Program participants are required to telework on the day(s) when OPM declares or announces that Federal offices are closed due to an emergency and telework-ready employees must follow their agency's policies. If a Program participant is not Telework-Ready (see Definition of Telework-Ready) on a day that Federal Offices are closed, the Program participant must request leave.
- N. Employees who perform scheduled or unscheduled telework shall start and complete their normal workday without regard to OPM or Federal Executive Board announcements of delayed opening, early departure, or immediate departure after the workday has begun.
- O. The Telework/Remote Work Agreement may be terminated or altered by an employee's supervisor if the employee no longer meets the required criteria. (see Section VIII, B.3.a for additional information.)
- P. A Telework/Remote Work Agreement, a Technology Assessment Worksheet, completion of Program training, and an Employee Self- Certification Safety Checklist, are required for all employees in the Program, regardless of whether it is routine, situational (ad-hoc), or remote work.
- Q. Employees with approved Telework/Remote Work Agreements must obtain written approval from their supervisors prior to temporarily working from an alternative worksite other than the designated and pre-approved alternative worksite.
- R. For changes in-worksites expected to last fewer than sixty (60) calendar days, employees must send an email or written request to their supervisor notifying them of the temporary change. The requirement for teleworking employees to physically report into the official ED worksite twice each pay period still applies.

For changes expected to last more than 60 calendar days, employees must revise the Telework/Remote Work Agreement to reflect the new worksite.

- S. Employees must have an approved Telework/Remote Work Agreement in place to telework when an "unscheduled telework" option is offered by OPM. Additionally, the employee must have sufficient work to perform remotely. "Unscheduled telework" must be approved by the supervisor, preferably in advance, or as soon as feasible.

- T. Participation in the Program is a benefit and a privilege, not a right, even if the employee’s position is considered “eligible” by OPM and Department standards.
- U. The supervisor must consider the request and make recommendations to the approving official for approval or disapproval of the employee’s request to participate in the Program no later than 10 working days from the date of receipt of the request. If the request is denied, the supervisor must provide, in writing, the requirement in Section VIII.A that serves as the basis for the denial and provide appropriate grievance process rights.
- V. Departmental policies on tour of duty, work schedules, and leave apply to all employees participating in the Program. The supervisor must approve the employee’s work schedule, including the days and times that the employee will work at the official worksite (where applicable) and at the alternative worksite.

The approval will be consistent with the requirements of the specific organization, Department policies, regulations, and Government-wide policy.

- W. The provisions for working extra hours while an employee is at an official worksite also apply to an employee who is on a Telework/Remote Work Agreement. Employees may only work extra hours if they receive prior approval from their supervisors.
- X. As part of contingency planning, in the event of a pandemic or other emergency, all managers and supervisors will ensure that employees who have been designated as “emergency/essential” have approved Telework/Remote Work Agreements in place.

The Telework/Remote Work Agreement will be annotated to be activated only during a Nationally declared emergency or an emergency which requires activation of the COOP or BCP. Supervisors should perform periodic “dry run tests” with “emergency/essential” employees working at the alternative worksites, prior to an emergency situation, to ensure effective working conditions and communications.

Employees identified as “back-up” to emergency/essential employees should also have approved Telework/Remote Work Agreements in place, which will be activated only during a declared emergency. All supervisors and employees, including those who are participating in the Program, must adhere to all of the guidance contained in both this and the COOP which can found at Departmental Directive, OM: 5-102, Continuity Program.

During any period that the Department is operating under the COOP, the COOP shall supersede this policy.

VIII. PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS/GUIDELINES

A. APPROVAL CRITERIA

The decision to approve the employee’s request to participate in the Program will be made by the approving official or designee and the supervisor, based upon the following criteria:

1. POSITION CRITERIA

- a. Whether a position is suitable for the Program depends on the specific job duties. The job title, type of appointment, work schedule, or grade are not factors in determining if a position is suitable for the Program. Employees in supervisory or managerial positions are eligible to participate in the Program as long as they meet the position and employee eligibility criteria.
- b. A position is suitable for the Program, if:
 - 1) Work activities are portable and can be performed effectively outside the office;
 - 2) Job assignments are easily quantifiable or primarily project oriented;
 - 3) Contact with other employees and customers is predictable;
 - 4) In person contact is limited or not required;
 - 5) The technology needed to effectively perform the job off-site is available;
 - 6) Cyclical work does not present a problem (Note: Employees may be requested or required (where applicable) to work at an ED worksite to assist workload increases.) (see Section VIII.B.2.a for additional information); and,
 - 7) Privacy Act concerns can be adequately addressed.
- c. A position may NOT be suitable for the Program if:
 - 1) The position requires daily face-to-face contact with the supervisor, other employees/peers, customers/stakeholders, or the public;
 - 2) The employee's position requires in person security or facilities management work;
 - 3) The position requires handling directly, on a daily basis, classified materials that cannot be transmitted over the internet or taken out of the office without risk of breach; or,
 - 4) The position requires the usage of any special facilities or equipment that are deemed necessary to perform the job.

2. EMPLOYEE ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

The following characteristics will help determine an employee's eligibility for participation in the Program:

- a. The employee has NOT been disciplined for being absent without permission for more than five (5) days in any calendar year (January 1–December 31) (5 U.S.C. §6502(a)(2)(A)).
- b. The employee has NOT been disciplined for violations of subpart G (“Misuse of Position”) of the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties.
- c. The employee is NOT on a leave restriction at the time of the request for eligibility.
- d. The employee can satisfy the alternative worksite requirements.

Note: For all specific telework requirements, please refer to 5 U.S.C. §§6502\(a\), \(b\).

B. TELEWORK/REMOTE WORK AGREEMENTS

1. GENERAL

- a. The Telework/Remote Work Agreement is a written agreement between the employee and the supervisor requiring each to adhere to applicable guidelines and policies. Once submitted for approval, the Telework/Remote Work Agreement constitutes a request to participate in the Program. Employees are not authorized to telework until the Program training has been completed, and the Telework/Remote Work Agreement is approved.
- b. The Telework/Remote Work Agreement will cover items such as: the voluntary nature of the arrangement; length of the telework assignment; whether it is a remote work, routine, or situational agreement; hours and days of duty at each worksite; responsibilities for timekeeping, leave approval, and requests for overtime and compensatory time; performance expectations; proper use and safeguarding of Government property and records; standards of conduct; and, completion of required Program evaluation materials.
- c. Prior to participating in the Program, the employee must complete: the automated Telework/Remote Work Agreement, including the Telework/Remote Work Schedule; the Technology Assessment Worksheet; and the Employee Self-certification Safety checklist.
- d. The Department shall renew Telework/Remote Work Agreements unless the conditions outlined in Section VIII(B)(2) and (3) arise.

2. CHANGES TO TELEWORK/REMOTE WORK AGREEMENT

- a. If an employee (within the local commuting area of an ED worksite) is required to report to the ED worksite for a finite pre-determined period, the supervisor will provide the Program participant with at least 5 business days advance notice.
- b. If the employee is a remote worker, and they are not within the local commuting area of an ED worksite, the supervisor will provide the employee with at least 15 business days advance notice.

Items to take into consideration include traveling distance, caregiving responsibilities, and mode of transportation. Program participants and supervisors must discuss these items in advance as in some cases there may not be sufficient time for the employee to report to the ED worksite. In circumstances where unforeseen mission necessity exists, less notice may be provided within reason. Upon receipt of notice, employees will take reasonable efforts to report to the ED worksite. If it is not practicable for the employee to report to the ED worksite, the employee may not be required to report.

- c. A teleworker may request to telework on an alternate day when the teleworker is required to report to the ED worksite on a regularly scheduled telework day.
- d. When a Program participant is required to work at an ED worksite (for example, to attend an on-site meeting), the employee should plan to be in the office for the entire workday.
- e. Ad-hoc requests by the employee to change their scheduled telework day in a particular week or pay period must be submitted in writing to, and approved in advance, by the supervisor.
- f. Ad-hoc requests to telework on an as needed basis (such as on an occasional, one-time, or irregular day that is separate from any regularly scheduled telework) must be submitted in writing to, and approved in advance by, the supervisor.
- g. A permanent change in the telework arrangement requires a revised Telework/Remote Work Agreement and Program approval. The changes should be completed as soon as feasible.

For example, if the employee currently has a routine telework day on Monday but now wants to permanently change that schedule to a routine telework day on Thursday, this change will require a new Telework/Remote Work Agreement.

- h. If a new supervisor is assigned, a review of assigned employee Telework/Remote Work Agreements must be conducted, and Telework/Remote Work Agreements may be revised in the event that the new supervisor determines current Program participation impacts the needs of the organization.

If this occurs, the new supervisor must provide written reasoning, pursuant to Section VIII(A), for the change to the employee's Telework/Remote Work agreement. ED will fulfill all Labor obligations prior to implementing any change.

- i. Telework and remote work arrangements must be consistent with the management needs of the position and organization. Consequently, Program participation is contingent on position eligibility.

When an employee changes positions within ED, there is no automatic transfer of Program participation.

3. TERMINATION OF TELEWORK/REMOTE WORK AGREEMENTS

Supervisors and managers will counsel employees regarding potential/perceived Program violations. Employees should work with their supervisors to effectively address/resolve any issues as soon as possible.

- a. An employee can terminate their Telework/Remote Work Agreement at any time. In the event that the employee elects to terminate their Telework/Remote Work Agreement, the request for termination is effective the pay period following the submission of the Program termination request. Upon termination of the Telework/Remote Work Agreement, the employee will be eligible to reapply to the Program.
- b. When a manager decides to terminate a Telework/Remote Work Agreement consistent with POC determined position eligibility, a manager must be able to document and demonstrate the employee's conduct violates the requirements established in the Telework Enhancement Act or ED policy and thus results in ineligibility for the Program. ED will fulfill appropriate Labor obligations prior to implementing any change.
- c. Managers will make a bona fide effort to counsel employees about specific problems before cancelling an employee's participation in Telework. In most instances, the supervisor or employee should provide 30 calendar days advance written notice of Program participation changes. As a general rule, a manager should provide official notice to the employee before termination of a Telework Agreement. The notice should:
 - 1) Be in writing;
 - 2) Provide an explanation;

- 3) Include an effective date;
 - 4) Follow agency policies, procedures, and labor agreements for denial/termination of telework requests; and,
 - 5) Include any appeals/grievance procedures available to the employee.
- d. An employee may reapply to participate in the Program once the conditions outlined in Section VIII(3)(b) have concluded.

C. TIME AND ATTENDANCE

1. GENERAL

- a. For purposes of documenting time and attendance:
 - 1) Program participants work schedules must be validated by the end of the pay period.
 - 2) If the Government is open and OPM announces that employees have the option to take “unscheduled leave” or “unscheduled telework,” each Program participant must notify their supervisor prior to performing unscheduled telework or using unscheduled leave.
 - 3) Managers and Supervisors cannot require Program participants to participate in unscheduled telework and may also deny the request for unscheduled telework or unscheduled leave based on the needs of the office.
 - 4) Any unscheduled telework declared by OPM or as an integral part of ED’s plans for COOP and Business Continuity Plan (BCP) will not count against the routine scheduled telework workday that an employee will have for that particular week.

2. LEAVE

- a. Annual leave, sick leave, or leave without pay shall be requested and approved in accordance with existing laws and regulations, and Departmental policies.
- b. Telework and/or Remote Work are not replacements for childcare or, elder care. Employees who have care responsibilities should examine all work hours flexibilities so that work responsibilities and caregiving responsibilities may both be addressed. Employees will be required to utilize leave if the employee is unable to successfully meet work responsibilities due to their care responsibilities.
- c. In the event that a Program participant is on pre-approved paid leave or have notified their supervisor of their intent to use unscheduled leave on a day when OPM declares that federal offices are closed due to weather-related issues or emergency circumstances, the Program participant will be charged leave accordingly. However, there may be instances that warrant a change in leave status (e.g., employee is scheduled to use sick leave for a medical appointment and appointment is canceled, employee has scheduled annual leave but is a Program participant, is Telework-Ready, and agrees to perform telework in lieu of the scheduled leave).

3. CERTIFICATION AND OVERSIGHT OF TIME AND ATTENDANCE

- a. Proper monitoring and certification of employee work time are critical to the success of the Program. Supervisors must require employees to use the correct Program Indicator codes when recording time and attendance.
- b. Employees on Telework/Remote Work Agreements must report their work hours with the appropriate Program Indicator Code in WebTA or the current time and attendance reporting system. (Refer to WebTA or the current time and attendance reporting system for additional information for a listing of the Program codes.)

4. ADMINISTRATIVE LEAVE, DISMISSALS, DELAYED ARRIVAL, AND EMERGENCY CLOSINGS

- a. During an OPM-declared emergency situation, such as closing due to severe weather, Program participants are required to work or use leave for any period during which work is not performed.
- b. If a Program participant does not meet the definition of Telework-Ready (i.e., (a) a current, written Telework/Remote Work Agreement in place; (b) possesses the appropriate equipment (i.e., computer, Internet connection, and telephone access) at the alternate worksite, and (c) has portable work that can be performed at an alternative worksite for all, or part of, the employee's regularly scheduled tour of duty for the day), and the employee is not a Remote Worker, the employee must take leave for all or any portion of the day the employee ceases to be Telework-Ready.
- c. If for any reason beyond the employee's control (such as a power failure, network failure, or natural disaster), they cannot perform work at home or at an approved telework or remote work location, the supervisor will grant administrative leave, consistent with Department Leave policy (HCP 630-1) or the controlling agreement with AFGE.
 - 1) If management announces a discretionary closing, employees who are teleworking or remote working on the day of a discretionary closing are considered on duty and will receive the same discretionary benefit as employees who reported to their official worksite.
- d. For information regarding the use of Leave see HCP 630-1, Leave Administration

5. PAY FOR TELEWORK

- a. Employees who perform work (including telework) during their regular tour of duty on a day when the building is closed (or when other employees are dismissed early) are NOT entitled to receive overtime pay, credit hours, or compensatory time off for performing work during their regularly scheduled non-overtime hours. (For additional information refer to HCP 550-3, Premium Pay.)
- b. Employees are in a pay status while working at an alternative worksite. If the employee works overtime, credit hours, or compensatory time that has been approved in advance, he or she will be compensated in accordance with applicable law, OPM regulation, and Department policy.

6. TELEWORK IN EMERGENCY SITUATIONS

- a. If a disruption in government operations requires activation of the COOP or a POC's BCP, employees designated as "emergency employees" will work in accordance with those plans.
- b. In emergency situations, Washington, D.C., area employees should follow OPM operating status announcements and any additional agency-specific procedures when an emergency occurs. For ED building specific emergencies, notifications will be sent via email and by contacting the 866-I-AM-OK-ED line.

When regional offices are affected by a Government-wide emergency, each regional office's Designated Safety Official, or their representative, will make the decision regarding operating status. (For additional information, refer to the Departmental Directive OFO-O: 2-104, Occupant Emergency Organizations and Plans.)

D. FAIR LABOR STANDARDS ACT (FLSA)

The existing rules under 5 U.S.C. §5542 and the FLSA that govern overtime also apply to employees working under a Telework and Remote Work arrangement. However, employees must seek pre-approval for any overtime consistent with the Department's policies and procedures for overtime. (For additional information refer to HCP 550-3, Premium Pay.)

E. INJURIES, CONTINUATION OF PAY AND WORKERS' COMPENSATION

Program participants are covered by the Federal Employees Compensation Act, ("Workers' Compensation") for continuation of pay or workers compensation for on-the-job injury or occupational illness while they are teleworking or remote working.

F. REASONABLE ACCOMMODATION

1. When an employee requests that they be allowed to telework as an accommodation for their disability, this request will be evaluated by the employee's immediate supervisor as a reasonable accommodation request, not as a regular telework request.

2. Any employee seeking to request telework as a reasonable accommodation should follow the procedures in the Handbook for Reasonable Accommodations.
3. The immediate supervisor will follow the Department's reasonable accommodation procedures to make a decision to grant or deny the request. Please see the Department's Reasonable Accommodation Handbook for information on how to request a reasonable accommodation.
4. All employees with any reasonable accommodations shall be provided with all of their approved accommodations.

G. SPECIAL SALARY RATE

The employee's official duty station serves as the basis for determining special salary rates.

H. PREMIUM PAY

The normal rules apply for night differentials, Sunday, and holiday pay whether work is accomplished at the official worksite or alternative worksite. Official work schedules determine the entitlement to premium pay.

I. FACILITIES LOGISTICS

1. HOME/ALTERNATIVE WORKSITE OFFICE SPACE

- a. Employees workstation for performance at the alternative worksite. Requirements will vary depending on the nature of the work and the equipment needed to perform the work. At a minimum, an employee must be able to communicate by telephone and by email (with computer equipment as noted in section I.2. below) with the supervisor and other employees during the telework day and have access to broadband internet at the alternative worksite.
- b. Failure to maintain a safe work environment in accordance with these provisions is grounds for terminating participation in the Program.

2. UTILITY EXPENSES

The Department will not pay utility costs associated with working from home or another alternative worksite, including the costs of broadband internet and telephone service.

3. ASSIGNED ED WORKSTATION

- a. Employees who report to an ED facility two days per pay period or more will have a designated, and fully functional workspace.
- b. Employees who are approved to participate in remote work will be provided with an fully functional, individual, workspace at an ED facility for the employee's use on day(s) that the employee must report to an ED facility.
- c. If sufficient workstations exist, employees may retain their assigned workstation to increase efficiency for the work unit. Employees with assigned workstations who will no longer have assigned workstations pursuant to this Program will be provided with a minimum of 30 working days to remove and/or relocate items in their assigned workstation.

J. TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND EQUIPMENT

1. TELEPHONES

The Department will not be responsible for ensuring employees are telework ready (i.e., secure Internet connection and telephone access.).

The payment of funds for telework equipment will be permitted if the budget allows for such.

2. COMPUTERS, GOVERNMENT-OWNED OR ACQUIRED EQUIPMENT, ETC.

Government-owned or government-acquired property, including computers, software, and other telecommunications equipment, should be used by employees at their alternative worksites. Employees must comply with all Departmental Office of the Chief Information Officer (OCIO) policies.

- a. OCIO will ensure ED employees have adequate IT equipment (laptops and software) to perform telework and remote work and will communicate with POCs regarding budgetary information.¹
- b. Employees and supervisors must identify any materials necessary to complete work assignments at the alternative worksite and ensure the participating employee has access to those items.
- c. Program participants do not relinquish any entitlement to reimbursement for appropriately authorized expenses incurred while conducting business for the Department as provided for by law or implementing regulations.

¹ POCs may submit requests for additional IT equipment such as GFE mobile phones or Wi-Fi. To facilitate the provision of off-site technical assistance for Government-owned equipment and software, POCs are urged to supply employees with laptops, software, wifi devices, and communications software, that is compatible with and comparable to that used in the office worksite.

K. COMPUTER SECURITY REQUIREMENTS

1. HARDWARE/SOFTWARE

Only hardware/software configurations approved by the Federal Government and authorized by an approving official for the alternative worksite shall be installed on government-owned property. If the employee is using government-owned property, under no circumstances should the employee be allowed to add non-Government owned or unauthorized hardware or software to the home worksite station. For additional information refer to the Administrative Communication System: OCIO: 3-110, Software Asset Management and Acquisition Policy.

2. SECURITY COMPLIANCE

Program participants must comply with organizational security procedures and ensure adequate security measures are in place to protect any government-furnished equipment or information/data from being damaged, stolen, or accessed by unauthorized individuals. Employees must ensure compliance with reporting requirement of security incidents, such as theft or loss of information/GFE equipment and, malware/ransomware.

For additional security requirements regarding telework and use of personal electronic devices, contact the Information Assurance Services (IAS) Policy and Planning Team.

L. PRIVACY ACT AND SENSITIVE DATA

1. DISCLOSURE

Program participants must ensure that records subject to the Privacy Act of 1974 and other sensitive data are not disclosed or exposed to anyone except those who possess authority to access such information in order to perform their duties.

2. ACCESS

Access to sensitive materials must be consistent with regulations on Production or Disclosure of Information or Materials (34 C.F.R. Parts 5 and 5b, the Privacy Act of 1974, 5 U.S.C. §552a, and the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. §552)

M. TAX BENEFITS

Generally, an employee who uses a portion of their home for telework or remote work does not qualify for any Federal tax deductions. However, employees should consult their tax advisors or the Internal Revenue Service for information on tax laws and interpretations that address their specific circumstances.

For additional information on the Program, please visit the Program web page on the connectED website.

For information on the Government Telework guidance, please see the OPM website.

APPENDIX

The Appendix provides guidance on the local commuting area for each ED facility and should be used as a guide in determining whether an employee’s duty location is within, or outside of, the local commuting area of an ED facility.

ED Facility Location	Counties within the Local Commuting Area*
Boston, MA	Norfolk County, MA; Plymouth County, MA; Suffolk County, MA; Middlesex County, MA; Essex County, MA; Rockingham County, NH; Strafford County, NH; Worcester County, MA; Windham County, CN; Bristol County, MA; Bristol County, RI; Kent County, RI; Newport County, RI; Providence County, RI; Washington County, RI; Merrimack County, NH; Belknap County, NH; Hillsborough County, NH; Barnstable County, MA
New York, NY	Bergen County, NJ; Essex County, NJ; Hudson County, NJ; Hunterdon County, NJ; Middlesex, NJ; Monmouth County, NJ; Morris County, NJ; Ocean County, NJ; Passaic County, NJ; Sussex County, NJ; Union County, NJ; Somerset County, NJ; Bronx County, NY; Dutchess County, NY; Kings County, NY; New York County, NY; Orange County, NY; Putnam County, NY; Queens County, NY; Richmond County, NY; Rockland County, NY; Westchester County, NY; Suffolk County; Nassau County; Pike County, PA
Philadelphia, PA	Burlington County, NJ; Camden County, NJ; Gloucester County, NJ; Salem County, NJ; Bucks County, PA; Chester County, PA; Delaware County, PA; Montgomery County, PA; New Castle County, DE; Cecil County, MD; Philadelphia County/City. PA
Atlanta, GA	Barrow County, GA; Bartow County, GA; Butts County, GA; Carroll County, GA; Cherokee County, GA; Clayton County, GA; Cobb County, GA; Coweta County, GA; Dawson County, GA DeKalb County, GA; Douglas County, GA; Fayette County, GA Forsyth County, GA; Fulton County, GA; Gwinnett County, GA Haralson County, GA; Heard County, GA; Henry County, GA Jasper County, GA; Lamar County, GA; Meriwether County, GA Morgan County, GA; Newton County, GA; Paulding County,

	GA Pickens County, GA; Pike County, GA; Rockdale County, GA Spalding County, GA; Walton County, GA
Chicago, IL	Cook County, IL; DeKalb County, IL; DuPage County, IL; Grundy County, IL; Kane County, IL; Kendall County, IL; Lake County, IL McHenry County, IL; Will County, IL; Jasper County, IN; Lake County, IN; Newton County, IN; Porter County, IN; Kenosha County, WI
Cleveland, OH	Cuyahoga County, OH; Geauga County, OH; Lake County, OH; Lorain County, OH; Medina County, OH
Kansas City, MO	Bates County, MO; Caldwell County, MO; Cass County, MO Clay County, MO; Clinton County, MO; Jackson County, MO; Johnson County, KS; Leavenworth County, KS; Linn County, KS; Lafayette County, MO; Miami County, KS; Platte County, MO; Ray County, MO; Wyandotte County, KS
Dallas, TX	Collin County, TX; Dallas County, TX; Denton County, TX; Ellis County, TX; Hood County, TX; Hunt County, TX; Johnson County, TX; Kaufman County, TX; Parker County, TX; Rockwall County, TX; Somervell County, TX; Tarrant County, TX; Wise County, TX
Denver, CO	Adams County, CO; Arapahoe County, Co; Broomfield County/city, CO; Clear Creek County, CO; Denver County/city, CO; Douglas County, CO; Elbert County, CO; Gilpin County, CO; Jefferson County, CO; Park County, CO
San Francisco, CA	Alameda County, CA; Contra Costa County, CA; Marin County, CA; San Francisco County/city, CA; San Mateo County, CA
Seattle, WA	King County, WA; Pierce County, WA; Snohomish County, WA
Washington, D.C.	Arlington County, VA; Clarke County, VA; Culpeper County, VA; Fairfax County, VA; Fauquier County, VA; Loudoun County, VA; Prince William County, VA; Rappahannock County, VA Spotsylvania County, VA; Stafford County, VA; Warren County, VA Alexandria City, VA; Fairfax City, VA; Falls Church City, VA

	Fredericksburg City, VA; Manassas City, VA; Manassas Park City, VA; Frederick, MD; Howard County, MD; Montgomery County, MD; Prince George's County, MD; Calvert County, MD; Charles County, MD; Jefferson County, VA; District of Columbia; Jefferson County, WVA
--	--

Department of Education
Collective Bargaining Agreement(s) –
Telework Provisions

AFGE

INTERIM
COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT
BETWEEN THE U.S. DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION AND AMERICAN FEDERATION OF GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES LOCAL 252
October 20, 2022

Table of Contents

ARTICLE 1: PARTIES TO THE AGREEMENT AND DEFINITION OF UNIT.....	4
ARTICLE 2: PURPOSE.....	6
ARTICLE 3: DEFINITIONS AND APPLICATIONS.....	7
ARTICLE 4: COPIES AND DISTRIBUTION OF AGREEMENT.....	13
ARTICLE 5: EFFECTIVE DATE AND DURATION OF AGREEMENT AND NEGOTIATION OF SUBSEQUENT AGREEMENTS.....	14
ARTICLE 6: EMPLOYEE RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES.....	15
ARTICLE 7: EMPLOYER-UNION RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES.....	19
ARTICLE 8: LABOR-MANAGEMENT NEGOTIATING PROCEDURES.....	27
ARTICLE 9: MID-TERM NEGOTIATIONS AT THE LOCAL LEVEL.....	31
ARTICLE 10: REORGANIZATION IMPLEMENTATION PROCEDURES, PHYSICAL MOVES.....	32
ARTICLE 11: CONTRACTING.....	36
ARTICLE 12: UNION-MANAGEMENT PARTICIPATION DURING THE TERM OF THE AGREEMENT.....	38
ARTICLE 13: UNION PARTICIPATION ON COMMITTEES.....	40
ARTICLE 14: UNION REPRESENTATIVES AND OFFICIAL TIME.....	43
ARTICLE 15: USE OF OFFICIAL FACILITIES.....	48
ARTICLE 16: VOLUNTARY ALLOTMENT FOR PAYMENT OF UNION DUES.....	51
ARTICLE 17: MERIT STAFFING AND PROMOTIONS.....	55
ARTICLE 18: CAREER LADDER.....	66
ARTICLE 19: NON-COMPETITIVE REASSIGNMENTS AND DETAILS.....	69
ARTICLE 20: RELEASE DATES.....	71
ARTICLE 21: REDUCTION IN FORCE.....	72
ARTICLE 22: POSITION DESCRIPTIONS AND CLASSIFICATION ACTIONS.....	81
ARTICLE 23: PERFORMANCE APPRAISALS.....	84
ARTICLE 24: WITHIN-GRADE INCREASES.....	92
ARTICLE 25: AWARDS, QUALITY STEP INCREASES, AND EMPLOYEE SUGGESTIONS.....	95
ARTICLE 26: EMPLOYEE DEVELOPMENT AND TRAINING.....	100
ARTICLE 27: EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY.....	103
ARTICLE 28: EMPLOYEES WITH DISABILITIES.....	109
ARTICLE 29: EXCEPTED SERVICE.....	111
ARTICLE 30: PART-TIME AND TERM EMPLOYEES.....	113

ARTICLE 31: RESEARCH PROGRAMS AND DEMONSTRATION PROJECTS.....	114
ARTICLE 32: OVERTIME	115
ARTICLE 33: CHILD AND ELDER CARE.....	120
ARTICLE 34: SAFETY AND HEALTH	122
ARTICLE 35: WORKERS COMPENSATION.....	126
ARTICLE 36: MEDICAL DETERMINATION.....	128
ARTICLE 37: OFFICIAL TRAVEL	130
ARTICLE 38: DIRECTED MEMBERSHIP, LICENSURE AND CERTIFICATION.....	138
ARTICLE 39: LEAVE	139
ARTICLE 40: ALTERNATIVE WORK SCHEDULES	152
ARTICLE 41: ACTIONS FOR MISCONDUCT OR UNACCEPTABLE PERFORMANCE.....	153
ARTICLE 42: GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE.....	160
ARTICLE 43: ARBITRATION.....	169
ARTICLE 44: TELEWORK.....	174
APPENDIX 1: DOUGLAS FACTORS.....	175
APPENDIX 2: HCP 610-3 WORK SCHEDULES.....	176
APPENDIX 3: HCP 368-1 TELEWORK AND REMOTE WORK PROGRAM.....	204

ARTICLE 44: TELEWORK

PLEASE SEE APPENDIX 3 FOR THE NEGOTIATED TELEWORK AND REMOTE WORK PROGRAM AND ITS MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING.

APPENDIX 3: HCP 368-1, TELEWORK AND REMOTE WORK PROGRAM

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION HUMAN CAPITAL POLICY	HCP: 368-1 DATE: November 4, 2021
--	---

This policy is current as of October 26, 2021. This policy supersedes Human Capital Policy 368-1, Telework Program dated October 1, 2018.

TELEWORK AND REMOTE WORK PROGRAM

TABLE OF CONTENTS

I. AUTHORITY 2

II. APPLICABILITY 2

III. PURPOSE 2

IV. POLICY 2

V. DEFINITIONS 2

VI. RESPONSIBILITIES 5

VII. DESCRIPTION OF THE PROGRAM 9

VIII. PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS/GUIDELINES 13

APPENDIX 25

I. AUTHORITY

The contents of this Human Capital Policy (HCP or Policy) conform to, and shall be used in conjunction with applicable labor obligations, laws, rules, regulations, and government-wide guidance and directives (e.g., issued by the Office of Personnel Management (OPM), including, but not limited to, the following:

- The controlling agreement between the U.S. Department of Education (the Department or ED) and American Federation of Government Employees (AFGE);
- Public Law (P.L.) 111-292, Telework Enhancement Act of 2010, dated November 18, 2010;
- OPM Guide to Telework in the Federal Government, dated April 2011;
- General Services Administration FMR Bulletin 2006-B3, dated March 17, 2006;
- Part 531 of Title 5 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR), §531.605(d), determining an employee’s official worksite; and,
- The WebTA Quick Reference Guide for Timekeepers, Telework Indicator Code.

II. APPLICABILITY

This Policy applies to all ED employees. Notwithstanding, the Office of Inspector General (OIG) determines the applicability of the Telework Program on OIG positions in accordance with OPM guidance.

III. PURPOSE

This Policy assigns responsibilities and prescribes procedural requirements for the Department’s Telework and Remote Work Program (Program). It is intended to be an innovative tool for managing an organization more effectively and increasing the productivity, morale, and retention of employees. It also supports the Department’s continuity of operations in event of weather-related issues or other emergencies.

IV. POLICY

It is the policy of ED that all eligible employees, including supervisors and managers, may be authorized to participate in the Program to the extent practical for the employee’s work unit and as long as participation does not negatively impact employee or organizational performance and meets the position and employee criteria as outlined in Section VIII of this

Policy.

As outlined in this Policy, ED employees with signed Telework/Remote Work Agreements are required to work or request leave when normal business operations cannot be carried out at the official worksite location due to weather-related or emergency situations.

Alternative Worksite locations may include:

- The designated address as outlined on the signed Telework/Remote Work Agreement; and,
- Any other location that is approved by the supervisor in advance and is equipped with standard office technology and equipment (see Section VIII for additional information) sufficient to perform assigned work in a safe and secure environment.

This Policy restricts Telework/Remote Work Arrangements to the United States and its territories and possessions. Existing Overseas Telework Arrangements may remain in effect for the duration of the signed Telework/Remote Agreement and may not be extended.

Employees who were grandfathered into a 100 percent telework/remote work agreement signed prior to May 31, 2018, remain approved for remote work.

V. DEFINITIONS

Administrative Closing: The closing of Federal offices when hazardous weather or other emergency situations dictate that a Government office(s) should be closed for a portion of a workday or the entire workday.

Alternative Worksites: Places where individuals perform official duties away from their official duty station. The worksite can be, but is not limited to, the employee's home, or another location approved in advance sufficient for the individual employee to perform his/her assigned work.

Continuity of Operations Program (COOP): An effort within individual agencies to ensure they can continue to perform Mission Essential Functions (MEFs) and Primary Mission Essential Functions (PMEFs) during a wide range of emergencies, including localized acts of nature, accidents, and technological or attack-related emergencies.

Discretionary Closing: The release of employees from duty for all or part of the day at the official worksite as a discretionary benefit from management, such as closing early the day before a holiday.

ED Facility/ED Worksite: An office space utilized by ED.

Eligibility: The designation used to describe the basic criteria for participating in the Program.

Emergency/Essential Workers: Employees who conduct a range of operations and services that are typically essential to continue critical infrastructure operations.

Local Commuting Area: The geographic area that includes the population center and surrounding localities in which people live and can reasonably be expected to travel back and forth daily to their place of employment. (See Appendix)

Official Duty Station: The city or town, county, and state in which the employee works on a regular basis. For most employees, this will be the location of the employee's official worksite. Pay is determined based on an employee's duty station. Duty Station information is located in blocks 38 and 39 of the Notification of Personnel Action Standard Form (SF)-50. Additional information on policies for duty station changes and telework schedule expectations can be found in Section VII.

Official Worksite: The location of record where the employee regularly performs their duties. For an employee covered by a Telework/Remote Agreement who is not required to report to the regular worksite at least twice a pay period on a regular and recurring basis, the official worksite is the address designated in their Telework/Remote Work Agreement, a satellite facility, or any other location approved by their supervisor, except in certain temporary situations. The employee's official worksite must be documented on the employee's SF-50. See Duty Station blocks 38 and 39 of the SF-50 showing the city/county and state in which the official worksite is located.

Operating Status: The notification that provides Federal employees with the daily state of government operations and procedures for Government-wide emergencies or special events that create a disruption. The operating status announcements are applicable for any emergency or special event that causes a disruption inside the "Washington Capital Beltway."

For additional information refer to the Administrative Communications System (OM 5-102, Continuity Program for additional information.

Position of Record: The employee's official position (defined by grade, occupational series, employing agency, Law Enforcement Officer (LEO) status, and any other condition that determines coverage under a pay schedule (other than official worksite), as documented on the employee's most recent Notification of Personnel Action (SF-50 or equivalent) and current position description. A position to which an employee is temporarily detailed is not documented as a position of record.

Program Participant: An employee who has an approved Telework/Remote Work Agreement.

Reasonable Accommodation: Any change in the work environment or in the way things are customarily done that enables a qualified individual with a disability to enjoy equal employment opportunities.

The Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (Sections 501 and 504) requires that agencies provide reasonable accommodation to a qualified individual with a disability unless the agency can demonstrate that the accommodation would impose an undue hardship to the operations of its program. For additional information see Section VII, B, or the Department's Reasonable Accommodation Handbook (OFO-O 03).

Remote work: An arrangement in which an employee is scheduled to perform work at an alternative worksite and is not expected to report to an ED worksite on a regular and recurring basis. A remote work employee is not assigned government workspace. This applies to employees working within and outside the commuting area of an ED worksite based on the locality pay table.

Routine Telework: A telework arrangement that is on an on-going regular and recurring basis. Work schedules will be consistent with work schedules policy and/or controlling agreement between ED and AFGE.

Situational (Ad-hoc) Telework: Telework that is approved on a case-by-case basis, where the hours worked were not part of a previously approved, ongoing, and regular telework schedule. This includes emergency telework. Examples of situational telework include telework as a result of inclement weather, doctor appointment, or special work assignments.

Telework: A work flexibility arrangement under which an employee performs the duties and responsibilities of such employee's position, and other authorized activities, from an approved worksite other than the location from which the employee would normally work absent a Telework/Remote Work Agreement. This flexible arrangement requires the employee to physically report to their official worksite at least twice each pay period.

Telework/Remote Work Agreement: A written agreement, completed and signed by the participating employee and appropriate authorizing official(s), that outlines the terms and conditions of the telework arrangement. A signed Telework/Remote Work Agreement is required to participate in the Program.

Telework-Ready: A Program participant that: (a) is equipped with standard office technology and equipment (i.e., computer, secure Internet connection, telephone access,) sufficient to perform assigned work in a safe and secure environment at the alternate worksite; (b) has portable work that can be performed at an alternative worksite for all, or part of, the employee's regularly scheduled tour of duty for the day on which telework will be performed; and (c) has an approved Telework/Remote Work Agreement. Telework-Ready employees may be on a remote work, routine, or a situational (ad-hoc) agreement.

Unscheduled Telework: The option for a Telework-Ready (which includes having portable work that can be performed at an alternative worksite) employee to telework with prior supervisory approval when severe weather conditions or other circumstances disrupt or prevent employees from commuting or reporting to their official duty station.

VI. RESPONSIBILITIES

A. The Office of Human Resources (OHR) is responsible for the following:

- Overseeing the implementation of and providing guidance on the Program policy;
- Ensuring that annual telework reports are submitted to the Chief Human Capital Officers Council and OPM;
- Using information and data on telework to support the strategic management of human capital;
- Providing expertise and guidance to ED leadership;
- Ensuring positions are appropriately classified as telework eligible;
- Ensuring ED Job Opportunity Announcements (JOAs) reflect whether the position is eligible for telework;
- Ensuring HCPs are updated and accurate based on current applicable regulations;
- Conducting periodic evaluations of the Program to ensure compliance with this HCP and applicable regulations;
- Serving as the Telework Managing Officer;
- Evaluating the impact of the Program on the efficiency and effectiveness of work operations within organizations; and,
- Submitting telework data to OPM and other organizations upon request.

B. Principal Operating Component (POC) (Assistant Secretary/Approving Official of the POC or their designees) are responsible for:

- Determining the eligibility of all positions and employees within their respective organizations to participate in the Program, including eligibility to participate in remote work, routine and situational telework, in accordance with this policy;
- Establishing telework strategy which ensures consistency within their organization;
- Authorizing participation in the Program within their organization;
- Ensuring implementation of the Program to the fullest extent possible without adverse impact on employee or organizational performance;

- Reviewing and approving Telework/Remote Work Agreements, as appropriate;
- Maintaining a list of participants and associated telework records (e.g., agreements, trainings, and denials);
- Providing OHR with the necessary information for annual reporting;
- Ensuring that participants adhere to this policy;
- Ensuring appropriate funding and Government furnished equipment (GFE) is made available to Program participants (See Section VIII, J);
- Working with supervisors to remove any managerial, logistical, or organizational barriers to the successful implementation and maintenance of the Program;
- Determining the need to temporarily suspend the Program, within their respective organization, when operational exigencies require employees to report to their official worksite;
- Contacting the approving supervisor to discuss any incomplete forms; and,
- Collaborating with OHR to ensure POC employee SF-50s reflect the correct information.

C. Supervisors are responsible for:

- Recommending to the approving official positions, within the POC/Office head approved strategy, that are suitable and eligible for the Program;
- Ensuring applicable employees are aware of Program eligibility;
- Accepting and making recommendations to the approving official for approval or disapproval of employee requests to participate in the Program, no later than 5 working days upon receipt of the request;
- Ensuring that assigned employee bi-weekly timesheets accurately reflect telework and work schedules;
- Reviewing and recommending approval or disapproval of employee requests for changes to a Telework/Remote Work Agreements;
- Providing equitable treatment of employees when recommending approval or disapproval of employee requests to participate in the Program, requests for participation in remote work or routine and situational telework, and changes to Telework/Remote Work Agreements;

- Completing annual Supervisors Telework Training on the Program prescribed by the Department before entering into a Telework/Remote Work Agreement with employees;
- Providing equitable treatment of employees, as required by 5 U.S.C. §6503(a)(3), regardless of whether employees participate in the Program or not, in decisions which affect conditions of employment consistent with applicable law, OPM regulation, and Department policy, including, but not limited to:
 - Periodic appraisals of job performance;
 - Training, rewarding, reassigning, promoting, reducing in grade, retaining, and removing employees; and,
 - Work requirements.
- Not requiring a greater level of reporting on daily assignments/work completion from employees participating in the Telework Program than they require of non-participating employees;
- Not retaliating or otherwise taking adverse actions towards employees on the basis of their requests or decisions for participation or nonparticipation in the program;
- Discussing the Telework/Remote Work Agreement with the employee and collaborating to resolve any challenges that may occur;
- Ensuring that SF-50 forms accurately reflect the official duty station of assigned employees;
- Effectively executing supervisory management duties (performance management);
- Clearly defining and communicating work assignments and expectations to all employees and providing regular and frequent review of the work of employees to ensure they meet performance requirements;
- Effectively addressing and resolving conduct issues; and,
- Establishing and communicating the expected use of approved software, hardware, and services to foster team effectiveness, virtual office functions (e.g., virtual drop-ins and telepresence) and communications.

D. Employees are responsible for:

- Submitting a Program participation request to their supervisor;

- Completing the Program training, obtaining the certificate of training completion, and providing a copy to their first-level supervisor along with any request for Program participation consideration;
- Ensuring that their bi-weekly timesheet accurately reflects the supervisor approved telework and work schedule;
- Adhering to and operating under the provisions of an approved Telework/Remote Work Agreement, including observing hours of work in accordance with the Telework/Remote Work Agreement and established Department policies;
- Complying with OPM regulations, and Department policies for requesting approval of leave or unscheduled telework;
- Complying with all Government laws, regulations, and Department policies while working at an approved alternative worksite;
- Collaborating with their supervisor to ensure all forms are completed and accurately reflect the official worksite of assigned employee;
- Providing prompt notification to the supervisor whenever any problems arise at the approved alternative worksite which adversely affect the employee's ability to work;
- Submitting an updated Telework/Remote Work Agreement for major changes (i.e., a change in the designated telework day or change in telework location);
- Exhibiting appropriate conduct in accordance with all laws and ED policies;
- Ensuring timely engagement with supervisors, peers, and other employees and external stakeholders; and,
- Understanding how to use, and using the approved hardware, tools, software, and services, as specified by their supervisor, to ensure the efficiency of the team and provide as seamless a working experience as possible. Whenever possible, the employee shall leverage technology to provide an equivalent experience as if working from the office.

VII. DESCRIPTION OF THE PROGRAM

(See Section VI, D for specific information about employee responsibilities.)

- A. ED's Job Opportunity Announcements must reflect Program eligibility for the position. The selectee's offer letter must include Program eligibility information.
- B. Participation in the Program is voluntary, subject to approval by the supervisor, and approving official, and is available to all employees who meet the Program requirements (See Section VIII, Part A).
- C. Prior to participating in the Program, and unless waived pursuant to 5 U.S.C. §6503, both the employee and the employee's supervisor must each complete telework training. The employee must upload the telework training certificate to the automated system.
- D. It is important to distinguish between ordinary requests for telework and requests for telework as a reasonable accommodation for a qualified individual with a disability. For additional information on reasonable accommodations, please refer to the Department's Reasonable Accommodation Handbook. (OFO-O 03)
- E. The Program is not intended to serve as a substitute for childcare, daycare, elder care, or any other type of dependent care.
- F. Employees approved to participate in the Program may telework to the extent practicable for the employee's work unit, subject to the supervisor's approval.
- G. Duty station: An employee's official worksite is normally the location of an employee's position of record where the employee regularly performs their duties. However, if an employee is not scheduled to report to an ED Facility at least twice each pay period on a regular and recurring basis, then the remote worksite is the official duty station and the employee's pay must be based on the locality pay applicable to the remote work site.
 - 1. All pay, leave, and travel entitlements will be based on the employee's official duty station.
 - 2. In circumstances where the official duty station is reassigned to an alternative worksite, trips are "official business," and the employee is entitled to travel reimbursement.
- H. The Program options are:
 - 1. Telework
 - a. Routine Telework: The employee works on an on-going regular and recurring basis from home or an alternative worksite one or more days per week and has an ED worksite as a duty location. Supervisors may initiate or approve changes to routine telework to meet ED's operational or an employee's needs. Pursuant to 5 CFR §531.605(d)(2)(4), participants must, at a minimum, physically report into the official ED worksite twice each pay period in order to maintain the locality pay of the official ED worksite. This requirement, subject to the supervisor's approval, can be met by reporting to the worksite one day per week or twice in one week of a pay period.

Employees with this type of telework schedule may be required to report to their duty location on an as needed basis, as determined by the Department.

Example: The employee teleworks four (4) days per week and reports to their official worksite (Atlanta Regional office) one (1) day per week resulting in two days per pay period at the official worksite.

- b. Situational (Ad-hoc) Telework: Telework that is approved on a case-by-case basis, where the hours worked were not part of a previously approved, ongoing, and regular telework schedule. This includes emergency telework.

Example: The employee requests to telework as a result of inclement weather, medical appointment, or special work assignments.

2. Remote Work

Remote Work: The employee works 100 percent from their home or alternative worksite and is not required to report to an ED worksite. Since the employee does not report to an ED worksite at least twice a pay period, the employee's official worksite is their official duty station and their locality pay may be impacted.

Example 1: The employee's official worksite/duty location is Washington, D.C., and they submit a request for remote work from their home in Miami, Florida. If the employee is approved for remote work, their duty location must change to Miami, Florida. Their locality pay will be impacted. Transportation expenses in and around the official worksite, which do not include expenses for travel to the agency worksite, may be reimbursed as a local travel expense in accordance with the ED's Directive on travel (see Handbook for Travel, OCIO 16) and the controlling agreement between ED and AFGE. Temporary duty (TDY) travel away from the official worksite (i.e., more than 50 miles away) must be authorized in accordance with the Federal Travel Regulations (FTR).

Example 2: The agency worksite is a location in Washington, DC, which is in the Washington-Baltimore locality pay area. The employee's official worksite under remote work is at the employee's residence in Urbana, MD (in Frederick County, MD), which is also in the Washington-Baltimore locality pay area and, for the purposes of this example, the agency has established a 50-mile official station radius for local travel reimbursement. The agency worksite in Washington, DC, is within the 50-mile official station radius for Urbana, MD.

Locality pay: Since the employee does not report to the agency worksite at least twice each pay period on a regular and recurring basis, the employee's official worksite for locality pay purposes is in Urbana, MD. (See 5 CFR §531.605(d)(3).) The agency must document this worksite as the employee's "duty station" on an SF-50, and the employee will receive the locality rate associated with the Washington-Baltimore locality pay area. (see 5 CFR §531.605(a)(3))

Travel reimbursement: Transportation expenses in and around the Urbana, MD worksite, which include expenses for travel to the ED worksite, may be reimbursed as a local travel expense in accordance with agency policy and the controlling agreement between ED and AFG. Temporary duty (TDY) travel away from the Urbana, MD worksite (i.e., more than 50 miles away) must be authorized in accordance with the FTR. Eligibility for per diem is based on FTR §301-11.1.

- I. After the POC makes the positional eligibility determination to participate in the Program, pursuant to Section VI(B), employees should submit a written request to their supervisor of their intention to change their official worksite/alternative worksite/duty station. This request should be followed by an official request via their Telework/Remote Work Agreement. An appropriate personnel action must be processed by OHR before the employee changes their official worksite /alternative worksite/ duty station if there is a locality pay change. If there is no locality pay change, the employee must update their Telework/Remote Work Agreement to document the new address as the official worksite /alternative worksite. A supervisor will approve or deny a request to change an official worksite/duty station in writing, and if applicable, submit approved requests to OHR, within ten (10) work days prior to the effective date related to the request. Supervisors may not unreasonably deny a request. If the request is denied, the supervisor must provide the reasons why the position did not meet the requirements in Section VIII(A)(1) and/or the employee did not meet the eligibility criteria in Section VIII(A)(2), in writing.
- J. Management shall make the determination in writing for the telework schedule based on the nature of the work and the ability to complete the work virtually or the necessity for ED worksite presence.
Any disputes regarding the telework schedule determination can be brought forward via the appropriate grievance process.
- K. Telework and Alternative Work Schedules (AWS)
 1. Program participants, with supervisor approval, may participate in AWS.
 2. Employees participating in Routine Telework and an AWS must work from an ED worksite location a minimum of twice each pay period.
For example, an employee on a 5-4-9 compressed work schedule (CWS) in combination with a Routine Telework/Remote Work Agreement may have the following schedule:
Week 1: The employee teleworks four days and reports to the official worksite on the fifth day; and Week 2: The employee teleworks three days, reports to the official worksite on the fourth day; and has the fifth day off.

Likewise, an employee on a 4/10 CWS in combination with a Routine Telework/Remote Work Agreement may telework three days and report to the official worksite on the fourth day of each week.

For information regarding Work Schedules refer to HCP 610-3.

- L. Part-time employees may participate in the Program. For information regarding the Part-time Employment Program refer to HCP 340-1.
- M. All Program participants are required to telework on the day(s) when OPM declares or announces that Federal offices are closed due to an emergency and telework-ready employees must follow their agency's policies. If a Program participant is not Telework-Ready (see Definition of Telework-Ready) on a day that Federal Offices are closed, the Program participant must request leave.
- N. Employees who perform scheduled or unscheduled telework shall start and complete their normal workday without regard to OPM or Federal Executive Board announcements of delayed opening, early departure, or immediate departure after the workday has begun.
- O. The Telework/Remote Work Agreement may be terminated or altered by an employee's supervisor if the employee no longer meets the required criteria. (see Section VIII, B.3.a for additional information.)
- P. A Telework/Remote Work Agreement, a Technology Assessment Worksheet, completion of Program training, and an Employee Self- Certification Safety Checklist, are required for all employees in the Program, regardless of whether it is routine, situational (ad-hoc), or remote work.
- Q. Employees with approved Telework/Remote Work Agreements must obtain written approval from their supervisors prior to temporarily working from an alternative worksite other than the designated and pre-approved alternative worksite.
- R. For changes in-worksites expected to last fewer than sixty (60) calendar days, employees must send an email or written request to their supervisor notifying them of the temporary change. The requirement for teleworking employees to physically report into the official ED worksite twice each pay period still applies.

For changes expected to last more than 60 calendar days, employees must revise the Telework/Remote Work Agreement to reflect the new worksite.

- S. Employees must have an approved Telework/Remote Work Agreement in place to telework when an "unscheduled telework" option is offered by OPM. Additionally, the employee must have sufficient work to perform remotely. "Unscheduled telework" must be approved by the supervisor, preferably in advance, or as soon as feasible.

- T. Participation in the Program is a benefit and a privilege, not a right, even if the employee's position is considered "eligible" by OPM and Department standards.
- U. The supervisor must consider the request and make recommendations to the approving official for approval or disapproval of the employee's request to participate in the Program no later than 10 working days from the date of receipt of the request. If the request is denied, the supervisor must provide, in writing, the requirement in Section VIII.A that serves as the basis for the denial and provide appropriate grievance process rights.
- V. Departmental policies on tour of duty, work schedules, and leave apply to all employees participating in the Program. The supervisor must approve the employee's work schedule, including the days and times that the employee will work at the official worksite (where applicable) and at the alternative worksite.

The approval will be consistent with the requirements of the specific organization, Department policies, regulations, and Government-wide policy.

- W. The provisions for working extra hours while an employee is at an official worksite also apply to an employee who is on a Telework/Remote Work Agreement. Employees may only work extra hours if they receive prior approval from their supervisors.
- X. As part of contingency planning, in the event of a pandemic or other emergency, all managers and supervisors will ensure that employees who have been designated as "emergency/essential" have approved Telework/Remote Work Agreements in place.

The Telework/Remote Work Agreement will be annotated to be activated only during a Nationally declared emergency or an emergency which requires activation of the COOP or BCP. Supervisors should perform periodic "dry run tests" with "emergency/essential" employees working at the alternative worksites, prior to an emergency situation, to ensure effective working conditions and communications.

Employees identified as "back-up" to emergency/essential employees should also have approved Telework/Remote Work Agreements in place, which will be activated only during a declared emergency. All supervisors and employees, including those who are participating in the Program, must adhere to all of the guidance contained in both this and the COOP which can found at Departmental Directive, OM: 5-102, Continuity Program.

During any period that the Department is operating under the COOP, the COOP shall supersede this policy.

VIII. PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS/GUIDELINES

A. APPROVAL CRITERIA

The decision to approve the employee's request to participate in the Program will be made by the approving official or designee and the supervisor, based upon the following criteria:

1. POSITION CRITERIA

- a. Whether a position is suitable for the Program depends on the specific job duties. The job title, type of appointment, work schedule, or grade are not factors in determining if a position is suitable for the Program. Employees in supervisory or managerial positions are eligible to participate in the Program as long as they meet the position and employee eligibility criteria.
- b. A position is suitable for the Program, if:
 - 1) Work activities are portable and can be performed effectively outside the office;
 - 2) Job assignments are easily quantifiable or primarily project oriented;
 - 3) Contact with other employees and customers is predictable;
 - 4) In person contact is limited or not required;
 - 5) The technology needed to effectively perform the job off-site is available;
 - 6) Cyclical work does not present a problem (Note: Employees may be requested or required (where applicable) to work at an ED worksite to assist workload increases.) (see Section VIII.B.2.a for additional information); and,
 - 7) Privacy Act concerns can be adequately addressed.
- c. A position may NOT be suitable for the Program if:
 - 1) The position requires daily face-to-face contact with the supervisor, other employees/peers, customers/stakeholders, or the public;
 - 2) The employee's position requires in person security or facilities management work;
 - 3) The position requires handling directly, on a daily basis, classified materials that cannot be transmitted over the internet or taken out of the office without risk of breach; or,
 - 4) The position requires the usage of any special facilities or equipment that are deemed necessary to perform the job.

2. EMPLOYEE ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

The following characteristics will help determine an employee's eligibility for participation in the Program:

- a. The employee has NOT been disciplined for being absent without permission for more than five (5) days in any calendar year (January 1–December 31) (5 U.S.C. §6502(a)(2)(A)).
- b. The employee has NOT been disciplined for violations of subpart G (“Misuse of Position”) of the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties.
- c. The employee is NOT on a leave restriction at the time of the request for eligibility.
- d. The employee can satisfy the alternative worksite requirements.

Note: For all specific telework requirements, please refer to 5 U.S.C. §§6502\(a\), \(b\).

B. TELEWORK/REMOTE WORK AGREEMENTS

1. GENERAL

- a. The Telework/Remote Work Agreement is a written agreement between the employee and the supervisor requiring each to adhere to applicable guidelines and policies. Once submitted for approval, the Telework/Remote Work Agreement constitutes a request to participate in the Program. Employees are not authorized to telework until the Program training has been completed, and the Telework/Remote Work Agreement is approved.
- b. The Telework/Remote Work Agreement will cover items such as: the voluntary nature of the arrangement; length of the telework assignment; whether it is a remote work, routine, or situational agreement; hours and days of duty at each worksite; responsibilities for timekeeping, leave approval, and requests for overtime and compensatory time; performance expectations; proper use and safeguarding of Government property and records; standards of conduct; and, completion of required Program evaluation materials.
- c. Prior to participating in the Program, the employee must complete: the automated Telework/Remote Work Agreement, including the Telework/Remote Work Schedule; the Technology Assessment Worksheet; and the Employee Self-certification Safety checklist.
- d. The Department shall renew Telework/Remote Work Agreements unless the conditions outlined in Section VIII(B)(2) and (3) arise.

2. CHANGES TO TELEWORK/REMOTE WORK AGREEMENT

- a. If an employee (within the local commuting area of an ED worksite) is required to report to the ED worksite for a finite pre-determined period, the supervisor will provide the Program participant with at least 5 business days advance notice.
- b. If the employee is a remote worker, and they are not within the local commuting area of an ED worksite, the supervisor will provide the employee with at least 15 business days advance notice.

Items to take into consideration include traveling distance, caregiving responsibilities, and mode of transportation. Program participants and supervisors must discuss these items in advance as in some cases there may not be sufficient time for the employee to report to the ED worksite. In circumstances where unforeseen mission necessity exists, less notice may be provided within reason. Upon receipt of notice, employees will take reasonable efforts to report to the ED worksite. If it is not practicable for the employee to report to the ED worksite, the employee may not be required to report.

- c. A teleworker may request to telework on an alternate day when the teleworker is required to report to the ED worksite on a regularly scheduled telework day.
- d. When a Program participant is required to work at an ED worksite (for example, to attend an on-site meeting), the employee should plan to be in the office for the entire workday.
- e. Ad-hoc requests by the employee to change their scheduled telework day in a particular week or pay period must be submitted in writing to, and approved in advance, by the supervisor.
- f. Ad-hoc requests to telework on an as needed basis (such as on an occasional, one-time, or irregular day that is separate from any regularly scheduled telework) must be submitted in writing to, and approved in advance by, the supervisor.
- g. A permanent change in the telework arrangement requires a revised Telework/Remote Work Agreement and Program approval. The changes should be completed as soon as feasible.

For example, if the employee currently has a routine telework day on Monday but now wants to permanently change that schedule to a routine telework day on Thursday, this change will require a new Telework/Remote Work Agreement.

- h. If a new supervisor is assigned, a review of assigned employee Telework/Remote Work Agreements must be conducted, and Telework/Remote Work Agreements may be revised in the event that the new supervisor determines current Program participation impacts the needs of the organization.

If this occurs, the new supervisor must provide written reasoning, pursuant to Section VIII(A), for the change to the employee's Telework/Remote Work agreement. ED will fulfill all Labor obligations prior to implementing any change.

- i. Telework and remote work arrangements must be consistent with the management needs of the position and organization. Consequently, Program participation is contingent on position eligibility.

When an employee changes positions within ED, there is no automatic transfer of Program participation.

3. TERMINATION OF TELEWORK/REMOTE WORK AGREEMENTS

Supervisors and managers will counsel employees regarding potential/perceived Program violations. Employees should work with their supervisors to effectively address/resolve any issues as soon as possible.

- a. An employee can terminate their Telework/Remote Work Agreement at any time. In the event that the employee elects to terminate their Telework/Remote Work Agreement, the request for termination is effective the pay period following the submission of the Program termination request. Upon termination of the Telework/Remote Work Agreement, the employee will be eligible to reapply to the Program.
- b. When a manager decides to terminate a Telework/Remote Work Agreement consistent with POC determined position eligibility, a manager must be able to document and demonstrate the employee's conduct violates the requirements established in the Telework Enhancement Act or ED policy and thus results in ineligibility for the Program. ED will fulfill appropriate Labor obligations prior to implementing any change.
- c. Managers will make a bona fide effort to counsel employees about specific problems before cancelling an employee's participation in Telework. In most instances, the supervisor or employee should provide 30 calendar days advance written notice of Program participation changes. As a general rule, a manager should provide official notice to the employee before termination of a Telework Agreement. The notice should:
 - 1) Be in writing;
 - 2) Provide an explanation;

- 3) Include an effective date;
 - 4) Follow agency policies, procedures, and labor agreements for denial/termination of telework requests; and,
 - 5) Include any appeals/grievance procedures available to the employee.
- d. An employee may reapply to participate in the Program once the conditions outlined in Section VIII(3)(b) have concluded.

C. TIME AND ATTENDANCE

1. GENERAL

- a. For purposes of documenting time and attendance:

- 1) Program participants work schedules must be validated by the end of the pay period.
- 2) If the Government is open and OPM announces that employees have the option to take “unscheduled leave” or “unscheduled telework,” each Program participant must notify their supervisor prior to performing unscheduled telework or using unscheduled leave.
- 3) Managers and Supervisors cannot require Program participants to participate in unscheduled telework and may also deny the request for unscheduled telework or unscheduled leave based on the needs of the office.
- 4) Any unscheduled telework declared by OPM or as an integral part of ED’s plans for COOP and Business Continuity Plan (BCP) will not count against the routine scheduled telework workday that an employee will have for that particular week.

2. LEAVE

- a. Annual leave, sick leave, or leave without pay shall be requested and approved in accordance with existing laws and regulations, and Departmental policies.
- b. Telework and/or Remote Work are not replacements for childcare or, elder care. Employees who have care responsibilities should examine all work hours flexibilities so that work responsibilities and caregiving responsibilities may both be addressed. Employees will be required to utilize leave if the employee is unable to successfully meet work responsibilities due to their care responsibilities.
- c. In the event that a Program participant is on pre-approved paid leave or have notified their supervisor of their intent to use unscheduled leave on a day when OPM declares that federal offices are closed due to weather-related issues or emergency circumstances, the Program participant will be charged leave accordingly. However, there may be instances that warrant a change in leave status (e.g., employee is scheduled to use sick leave for a medical appointment and appointment is canceled, employee has scheduled annual leave but is a Program participant, is Telework-Ready, and agrees to perform telework in lieu of the scheduled leave).

3. CERTIFICATION AND OVERSIGHT OF TIME AND ATTENDANCE

- a. Proper monitoring and certification of employee work time are critical to the success of the Program. Supervisors must require employees to use the correct Program Indicator codes when recording time and attendance.
- b. Employees on Telework/Remote Work Agreements must report their work hours with the appropriate Program Indicator Code in WebTA or the current time and attendance reporting system. (Refer to WebTA or the current time and attendance reporting system for additional information for a listing of the Program codes.)

4. ADMINISTRATIVE LEAVE, DISMISSALS, DELAYED ARRIVAL, AND EMERGENCY CLOSINGS

- a. During an OPM-declared emergency situation, such as closing due to severe weather, Program participants are required to work or use leave for any period during which work is not performed.
- b. If a Program participant does not meet the definition of Telework-Ready (i.e., (a) a current, written Telework/Remote Work Agreement in place; (b) possesses the appropriate equipment (i.e., computer, Internet connection, and telephone access) at the alternate worksite, and (c) has portable work that can be performed at an alternative worksite for all, or part of, the employee's regularly scheduled tour of duty for the day), and the employee is not a Remote Worker, the employee must take leave for all or any portion of the day the employee ceases to be Telework-Ready.
- c. If for any reason beyond the employee's control (such as a power failure, network failure, or natural disaster), they cannot perform work at home or at an approved telework or remote work location, the supervisor will grant administrative leave, consistent with Department Leave policy (HCP 630-1) or the controlling agreement with AFGE.
 - 1) If management announces a discretionary closing, employees who are teleworking or remote working on the day of a discretionary closing are considered on duty and will receive the same discretionary benefit as employees who reported to their official worksite.
- d. For information regarding the use of Leave see HCP 630-1, Leave Administration

5. PAY FOR TELEWORK

- a. Employees who perform work (including telework) during their regular tour of duty on a day when the building is closed (or when other employees are dismissed early) are NOT entitled to receive overtime pay, credit hours, or compensatory time off for performing work during their regularly scheduled non-overtime hours. (For additional information refer to HCP 550-3, Premium Pay.)
- b. Employees are in a pay status while working at an alternative worksite. If the employee works overtime, credit hours, or compensatory time that has been approved in advance, he or she will be compensated in accordance with applicable law, OPM regulation, and Department policy.

6. TELEWORK IN EMERGENCY SITUATIONS

- a. If a disruption in government operations requires activation of the COOP or a POC's BCP, employees designated as "emergency employees" will work in accordance with those plans.
- b. In emergency situations, Washington, D.C., area employees should follow OPM operating status announcements and any additional agency-specific procedures when an emergency occurs. For ED building specific emergencies, notifications will be sent via email and by contacting the 866-I-AM-OK-ED line.

When regional offices are affected by a Government-wide emergency, each regional office's Designated Safety Official, or their representative, will make the decision regarding operating status. (For additional information, refer to the Departmental Directive OFO-O: 2-104, Occupant Emergency Organizations and Plans.)

D. FAIR LABOR STANDARDS ACT (FLSA)

The existing rules under 5 U.S.C. §5542 and the FLSA that govern overtime also apply to employees working under a Telework and Remote Work arrangement. However, employees must seek pre-approval for any overtime consistent with the Department's policies and procedures for overtime. (For additional information refer to HCP 550-3, Premium Pay.)

E. INJURIES, CONTINUATION OF PAY AND WORKERS' COMPENSATION

Program participants are covered by the Federal Employees Compensation Act, ("Workers' Compensation") for continuation of pay or workers compensation for on-the-job injury or occupational illness while they are teleworking or remote working.

F. REASONABLE ACCOMMODATION

1. When an employee requests that they be allowed to telework as an accommodation for their disability, this request will be evaluated by the employee's immediate supervisor as a reasonable accommodation request, not as a regular telework request.

2. Any employee seeking to request telework as a reasonable accommodation should follow the procedures in the Handbook for Reasonable Accommodations.
3. The immediate supervisor will follow the Department's reasonable accommodation procedures to make a decision to grant or deny the request. Please see the Department's Reasonable Accommodation Handbook for information on how to request a reasonable accommodation.
4. All employees with any reasonable accommodations shall be provided with all of their approved accommodations.

G. SPECIAL SALARY RATE

The employee's official duty station serves as the basis for determining special salary rates.

H. PREMIUM PAY

The normal rules apply for night differentials, Sunday, and holiday pay whether work is accomplished at the official worksite or alternative worksite. Official work schedules determine the entitlement to premium pay.

I. FACILITIES LOGISTICS

1. HOME/ALTERNATIVE WORKSITE OFFICE SPACE

- a. Employees workstation for performance at the alternative worksite. Requirements will vary depending on the nature of the work and the equipment needed to perform the work. At a minimum, an employee must be able to communicate by telephone and by email (with computer equipment as noted in section I.2. below) with the supervisor and other employees during the telework day and have access to broadband internet at the alternative worksite.
- b. Failure to maintain a safe work environment in accordance with these provisions is grounds for terminating participation in the Program.

2. UTILITY EXPENSES

The Department will not pay utility costs associated with working from home or another alternative worksite, including the costs of broadband internet and telephone service.

3. ASSIGNED ED WORKSTATION

- a. Employees who report to an ED facility two days per pay period or more will have a designated, and fully functional workspace.
- b. Employees who are approved to participate in remote work will be provided with an fully functional, individual, workspace at an ED facility for the employee's use on day(s) that the employee must report to an ED facility.
- c. If sufficient workstations exist, employees may retain their assigned workstation to increase efficiency for the work unit. Employees with assigned workstations who will no longer have assigned workstations pursuant to this Program will be provided with a minimum of 30 working days to remove and/or relocate items in their assigned workstation.

J. TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND EQUIPMENT

1. TELEPHONES

The Department will not be responsible for ensuring employees are telework ready (i.e., secure Internet connection and telephone access.).

The payment of funds for telework equipment will be permitted if the budget allows for such.

2. COMPUTERS, GOVERNMENT-OWNED OR ACQUIRED EQUIPMENT, ETC.

Government-owned or government-acquired property, including computers, software, and other telecommunications equipment, should be used by employees at their alternative worksites. Employees must comply with all Departmental Office of the Chief Information Officer (OCIO) policies.

- a. OCIO will ensure ED employees have adequate IT equipment (laptops and software) to perform telework and remote work and will communicate with POCs regarding budgetary information.¹
- b. Employees and supervisors must identify any materials necessary to complete work assignments at the alternative worksite and ensure the participating employee has access to those items.
- c. Program participants do not relinquish any entitlement to reimbursement for appropriately authorized expenses incurred while conducting business for the Department as provided for by law or implementing regulations.

¹ POCs may submit requests for additional IT equipment such as GFE mobile phones or Wi-Fi. To facilitate the provision of off-site technical assistance for Government-owned equipment and software, POCs are urged to supply employees with laptops, software, wifi devices, and communications software, that is compatible with and comparable to that used in the office worksite.

K. COMPUTER SECURITY REQUIREMENTS

1. HARDWARE/SOFTWARE

Only hardware/software configurations approved by the Federal Government and authorized by an approving official for the alternative worksite shall be installed on government-owned property. If the employee is using government-owned property, under no circumstances should the employee be allowed to add non-Government owned or unauthorized hardware or software to the home worksite station. For additional information refer to the Administrative Communication System: OCIO: 3-110, Software Asset Management and Acquisition Policy.

2. SECURITY COMPLIANCE

Program participants must comply with organizational security procedures and ensure adequate security measures are in place to protect any government-furnished equipment or information/data from being damaged, stolen, or accessed by unauthorized individuals. Employees must ensure compliance with reporting requirement of security incidents, such as theft or loss of information/GFE equipment and, malware/ransomware.

For additional security requirements regarding telework and use of personal electronic devices, contact the Information Assurance Services (IAS) Policy and Planning Team.

L. PRIVACY ACT AND SENSITIVE DATA

1. DISCLOSURE

Program participants must ensure that records subject to the Privacy Act of 1974 and other sensitive data are not disclosed or exposed to anyone except those who possess authority to access such information in order to perform their duties.

2. ACCESS

Access to sensitive materials must be consistent with regulations on Production or Disclosure of Information or Materials (34 C.F.R. Parts 5 and 5b, the Privacy Act of 1974, 5 U.S.C. §552a, and the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. §552)

M. TAX BENEFITS

Generally, an employee who uses a portion of their home for telework or remote work does not qualify for any Federal tax deductions. However, employees should consult their tax advisors or the Internal Revenue Service for information on tax laws and interpretations that address their specific circumstances.

For additional information on the Program, please visit the Program web page on the connectED website.

For information on the Government Telework guidance, please see the OPM website.

APPENDIX

The Appendix provides guidance on the local commuting area for each ED facility and should be used as a guide in determining whether an employee’s duty location is within, or outside of, the local commuting area of an ED facility.

ED Facility Location	Counties within the Local Commuting Area*
Boston, MA	Norfolk County, MA; Plymouth County, MA; Suffolk County, MA; Middlesex County, MA; Essex County, MA; Rockingham County, NH; Strafford County, NH; Worcester County, MA; Windham County, CN; Bristol County, MA; Bristol County, RI; Kent County, RI; Newport County, RI; Providence County, RI; Washington County, RI; Merrimack County, NH; Belknap County, NH; Hillsborough County, NH; Barnstable County, MA
New York, NY	Bergen County, NJ; Essex County, NJ; Hudson County, NJ; Hunterdon County, NJ; Middlesex, NJ; Monmouth County, NJ; Morris County, NJ; Ocean County, NJ; Passaic County, NJ; Sussex County, NJ; Union County, NJ; Somerset County, NJ; Bronx County, NY; Dutchess County, NY; Kings County, NY; New York County, NY; Orange County, NY; Putnam County, NY; Queens County, NY; Richmond County, NY; Rockland County, NY; Westchester County, NY; Suffolk County; Nassau County; Pike County, PA
Philadelphia, PA	Burlington County, NJ; Camden County, NJ; Gloucester County, NJ; Salem County, NJ; Bucks County, PA; Chester County, PA; Delaware County, PA; Montgomery County, PA; New Castle County, DE; Cecil County, MD; Philadelphia County/City. PA
Atlanta, GA	Barrow County, GA; Bartow County, GA; Butts County, GA; Carroll County, GA; Cherokee County, GA; Clayton County, GA; Cobb County, GA; Coweta County, GA; Dawson County, GA DeKalb County, GA; Douglas County, GA; Fayette County, GA Forsyth County, GA; Fulton County, GA; Gwinnett County, GA Haralson County, GA; Heard County, GA; Henry County, GA Jasper County, GA; Lamar County, GA; Meriwether County, GA Morgan County, GA; Newton County, GA; Paulding County,

	GA Pickens County, GA; Pike County, GA; Rockdale County, GA Spalding County, GA; Walton County, GA
Chicago, IL	Cook County, IL; DeKalb County, IL; DuPage County, IL; Grundy County, IL; Kane County, IL; Kendall County, IL; Lake County, IL McHenry County, IL; Will County, IL; Jasper County, IN; Lake County, IN; Newton County, IN; Porter County, IN; Kenosha County, WI
Cleveland, OH	Cuyahoga County, OH; Geauga County, OH; Lake County, OH; Lorain County, OH; Medina County, OH
Kansas City, MO	Bates County, MO; Caldwell County, MO; Cass County, MO Clay County, MO; Clinton County, MO; Jackson County, MO; Johnson County, KS; Leavenworth County, KS; Linn County, KS; Lafayette County, MO; Miami County, KS; Platte County, MO; Ray County, MO; Wyandotte County, KS
Dallas, TX	Collin County, TX; Dallas County, TX; Denton County, TX; Ellis County, TX; Hood County, TX; Hunt County, TX; Johnson County, TX; Kaufman County, TX; Parker County, TX; Rockwall County, TX; Somervell County, TX; Tarrant County, TX; Wise County, TX
Denver, CO	Adams County, CO; Arapahoe County, Co; Broomfield County/city, CO; Clear Creek County, CO; Denver County/city, CO; Douglas County, CO; Elbert County, CO; Gilpin County, CO; Jefferson County, CO; Park County, CO
San Francisco, CA	Alameda County, CA; Contra Costa County, CA; Marin County, CA; San Francisco County/city, CA; San Mateo County, CA
Seattle, WA	King County, WA; Pierce County, WA; Snohomish County, WA
Washington, D.C.	Arlington County, VA; Clarke County, VA; Culpeper County, VA; Fairfax County, VA; Fauquier County, VA; Loudoun County, VA; Prince William County, VA; Rappahannock County, VA Spotsylvania County, VA; Stafford County, VA; Warren County, VA Alexandria City, VA; Fairfax City, VA; Falls Church City, VA

	Fredericksburg City, VA; Manassas City, VA; Manassas Park City, VA; Frederick, MD; Howard County, MD; Montgomery County, MD; Prince George's County, MD; Calvert County, MD; Charles County, MD; Jefferson County, VA; District of Columbia; Jefferson County, WVA
--	--

MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING

The following constitutes an agreement between the Department of Education ("Agency") and the American Federation of Government Employees, AFL-CIO ("AFGE") on the Agency's Telework and Remote Work Program Policy

- I. AFGE and the Agency agree that telework offers many benefits that include but are not limited to improved employee productivity, lower absenteeism, reduced need for office space, and improved morale. Telework is a versatile approach to managing Federal human capital costs and improving employee quality of life. By use of Telework, the Agency has the ability to increase employee retention and help meet Agency quality, e-Government, production, and efficiency targets for several years. The Telework initiatives also help the Agency fulfill Continuity of Operations (COOP) planning requirements for Federal Agencies.
2. The Principal Office Component (POC) will make position eligibility determinations for Telework and Remote Work Program eligibility for all positions at within the POC, and the Supervisors will notify employees of their eligibility determination in writing. If a bargaining unit position is deemed as ineligible, the Employer will also notify the Union of this eligibility determination. POCs or equivalent offices will work with supervisors and the Union to remove managerial, logistical, organizational, or other barriers to complete implementation and successful functioning. Supervisors will implement the telework and remote work Program in their organization to the fullest extent possible.
3. The Agency will fulfill appropriate Labor obligations prior to implementing any change in telework policy or telework program for any employee or groups of employees.
4. In developing or modifying the telework policy, the Agency will provide the union with the opportunity for pre-decisional involvement.
5.
 - a. Employees within the commuting area who have requested and been approved to be on remote work agreements may take office supplies and equipment from their Principal Office Component workstation such as their monitor, keyboard, mouse, and office chair. If retrieving equipment from office space is not feasible for an employee outside the commuting area, the employee may request supplies and equipment be shipped at the Department's expense.
 - b. On a quarterly basis, ED will provide basic office supplies to employees who work remotely (e.g. staples, note pads, pens, paper clips, binder clips, highlighters, Post-It notes, file folders, and accordion files), as needed.
 - c. Also, ED will provide reliable software phonedlines and headset that will allow employees to effectively carry out ED business for employees who telework or work remotely who do not have a government cell phone and are required to have frequent calls with external customers.
 - d. Program participants do not relinquish any entitlement to submit reimbursement claims for appropriately authorized expenses incurred while conducting business for the Department as submitted through an OF-1164 and contingent upon Departmental budget. Examples of appropriately authorized expenses incurred during or after March 2020 until program implementation include but are not limited to office chairs; home internet upgrades; desks; printers; printer ink; monitors, and desk lamps, with appropriate documentation.

A telework-ready employee has completed the required telework training, has an approved Telework Agreement in place, and has the required work equipment listed in the Technology Assessment Worksheet to perform duties at the approved alternate worksite. After implementation of the ED Telework and Remote Work Program for bargaining unit employees, if a bargaining unit employee needs work equipment, they should first submit a written request to their Supervisor. If ED cannot provide the work equipment, employees can then submit their claim for reimbursement through an OF-1164.

e. Employee requests, under this section, will not be unreasonably denied.

6. The Parties will begin negotiations on the Department of Education Work Schedules Policy the week of November 8, 2021.

ED bargaining unit employees will continue to be offered expanded core hours, to include maxi-flex, until the parties reach an agreement on the new ED Work Schedule Policy. The below chart outlines expanded core hours options and basic rules for their application.

Basic Workweek	12:00 am - 11:59 pm, Monday through Saturday
Core Hours	6:00 am - 11:30 am; OR 9:30 am - 3:00 pm; OR 12:30 pm - 6:00 pm
Credit Hours	No daily limitation May be earned between 12:00 am to 11:59 pm, Sunday through Saturday No change to twenty-four (24) credit hour maximum carryover limitation
Minimum Weekly Workdays	No minimum number of workdays in a workweek under some Flexible Work Schedules

7. The terms agreed upon for the negotiation of the Work Schedules Policy will serve as the language to address this matter in this mediation and any other negotiation/agreement, to include the Return to the Workplace Plan.

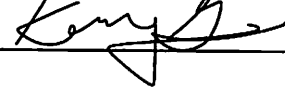

For AFGE

Cathie McQuiston

Date: 10/15/21

For the Department of Education

Date: 10/15/21

Department of Energy
Supplemental Documents

Department of Energy
January 2024 Submission

WORK ENVIRONMENT IMPLEMENTATION DATA CALL

January 26, 2024

(1) Timelines with firm deadlines for your agency to reach its in-person presence objectives (i.e., a steady state where, in general, total work hours for all headquarters and headquarters-equivalent personnel that are eligible for telework are completed, on average, as much in-person as they are in telework environments).

Prior to re-entry in March 2022, Departmental Elements (DE) completed a position-by-position analysis to determine how duties can be executed to best accomplish mission to resume normal operations. Based on the assessment, DOE employees entered into new tele/remote work agreements as part of re-entry.

This past June, a DOE review of all telework agreements found employees in the National Capital Region are scheduled to be onsite more than 50 percent of the time on average, and DOE employees in the field are scheduled to be onsite almost 60 percent of the time. Based on these existing agreements, DEs are retaining their existing approach to manage tele/remote work agreements focusing on optimizing the hybrid work environment and compliance. Current time and attendance data also reflects telework employees reporting on-site 54-59 percent of the time.

This past fall, DEs developed Work Environment Plans (WEP) that evaluated how their organization has operated since re-entry and considered additional best practices for successfully operating in a hybrid work environment, including meaningful in-person work, strong organizational health and mission accomplishment. The 40 DE plans were evaluated by the Secretary's office and based on this review, the Department plans to issue a memo to DEs reiterating expectations previously communicated last August by the Secretary. The memo, expected to be release in early February, impresses upon the importance that supervisors ensure employees to report to work consistent with their current telework agreement. The message also conveys that many positions will require levels higher of in-person work based on the type of duties, however the default assumption for position designations is to have an onsite presence of no less than 4 days a pay period. Supervisors may adjust the in-office days based on the duties and business requirements. Finally, the memo reiterates the need for strong metrics for organizational performance that will be monitored. DEs will also update their WEPs each year.

DOE will also launch a new automated DOE-wide tele/remote work system that will roll out in February. Supervisors will reassess position designations based on their WEP which factored in lessons learned since re-entry, mission requirements, and the need to ensure the long-term health of organizations. New telework agreements will be put in place based on this assessment. In general, telework agreements will be updated by the end of April, although exact timing will depend on whether there are any grievances filed by the labor union.

(2) Updates or additional steps your agency must take to complete execution equitably and consistently across their workforce.

DOE has one governing policy that outlines telework and remote work requirements which has been clearly communicated in multiple ways including directly by the Secretary. DOE updated this policy in October 2023 to reflect the most recent guidance. Following DOE's overarching policy, the DEs are responsible for and best positioned to determine if a position is not telework eligible or can support telework or remote work (i.e., position designations). DOE's telework policy is consistent with OPM regulations regarding the twice a pay period reporting requirement for telework positions. This policy also elevated the decision for positions to be designated as remote to the Head of the Departmental Element or their designee. DOE's telework policy provides flexibility to the DEs to determine what works best to accomplish their mission.

(3) Description of your agency's approach to tracking and ensuring implementation with policies. Agency responses here should outline how senior leaders are tracking implementation progress and ensuring that staff comply with stated agency policies, to include optimizing in-person and telework time.

The Secretary's 2023 August message to the workforce reiterated that employees must report to work consistent with their current telework agreement. Supervisors are expected to hold their employees accountable accordingly. DEs have been provided guidance and training on the procedure for reporting telework hours and communicated this information to their employees and timekeepers. This will again be reiterated in the forthcoming memo to be issued in February.

Additionally, launch of the electronic tele/remote work system will enable more efficient tracking of agreements. Additionally, the CFO is examining systems to ensure DOE can more accurately track and monitor time and attendance data.

WORK ENVIRONMENT IMPLEMENTATION DATA CALL

May 31, 2024

- (1) Timelines with firm deadlines for your agency to reach its in-person presence objectives (i.e., a steady state where, in general, total work hours for all headquarters and headquarters-equivalent personnel that are eligible for telework are completed, on average, as much in-person as they are in telework environments).

As previously reported in DOE's January 2024 WEP update, the Deputy Secretary issued a memorandum to the Heads of Departmental Elements (HDEs) in February that reiterated expectations previously communicated by the Secretary in August 2023. Concurrently, DOE launched its new automated DOE-wide tele/remote work system.

- (2) Updates or additional steps your agency must take to complete execution equitably and consistently across their workforce.

No changes.

- (3) Description of your agency's approach to tracking and ensuring implementation with policies. Agency responses here should outline how senior leaders are tracking implementation progress and ensuring that staff comply with stated agency policies, to include optimizing in-person and telework time.

Consistent with the Secretary's 2023 August, the February 2024 Deputy Secretary's memorandum reiterated the importance of employees reporting onsite consistent with their telework agreement, and to code attendance accurately in the timecards. The memorandum directed HDEs to ensure their employees are adhering to this. DEs have been provided guidance and training on the procedure for reporting telework and remote work hours and communicated this information to their employees and timekeepers. Supervisors are expected to hold their employees accountable accordingly.

Additionally, DOE's automated tele/remote work system now allows for more efficient tracking of agreements. DOE is in the process of developing a dashboard to release to managers. The CFO continues to explore systems to ensure DOE can more accurately track and monitor time and attendance data.

Department of Energy
Telework Policy(s)

Department of Energy

Washington, DC 20585

April 12, 2024

MEMORANDUM FOR HEADS OF DEPARTMENTAL ELEMENTS

FROM: ERIN MOORE
CHIEF HUMAN CAPITAL OFFICER

SUBJECT: Policy Memorandum #106B, Department of Energy's Tele/Remote Work Program

This Policy Memorandum (PM) establishes implementing guidance for the Department of Energy's (DOE) Tele/Remote Work Program and Agreements. This PM supersedes PM#106A, Department of Energy's Telework/Remote Work Program, dated February 23, 2023, and should be read concurrently with DOE Order \(O\) 314.1A, Telework and Remote Work Program, or successor order.

This PM has been updated to include the new time code ("TR") all remote employees—including those on temporary remote agreements—must use in DOE's time and attendance system to codify when they are working remotely to meet new government-wide OPM requirements.

Questions concerning this PM should be directed to the Department's Tele/Remote Work Program Manager at DOE-Tele-Remote-Work-Policy@hq.doe.gov.

Copy to: Directors of Servicing Human Resources Offices and Shared Service Centers

APRIL 2024

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF
Human Capital
OFFICER

INTEGRITY - INNOVATION - COLLABORATION - ACCOUNTABILITY - RESPECT - EXCELLENCE

POLICY MEMORANDUM #106B

DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY'S TELE/REMOTE WORK PROGRAM

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Purpose..... 1

Cancellations 1

Applicability 1

Equivalencies/Exemptions..... 1

Labor Relations Obligations..... 1

Background..... 2

Requirements 2

Roles and Responsibilities 14

Additional Information 16

References..... 16

List of Attachments 17

 Attachment 1: Key Terms and Definitions 18

 Attachment 2: DOE’s Telework Agreement..... 20

 Attachment 3: DOE’s Remote Work Agreement 21

 Attachment 4: Temporary Remote Work Addendum 22

 Attachment 5: Remote Work Arrangement Analysis Tool 23

 Attachment 6: Tele/Remote Work Coding Time and Attendance Examples 24

 Attachment 7: Tele/Remote Work Required Training..... 27

 Attachment 8: Self-Certification Safety Checklist..... 28

PURPOSE

This Policy Memorandum (PM) establishes implementing guidance for the Department of Energy's (DOE) Tele/Remote Work Program and Agreements. This PM supersedes Desk Reference on DOE-Flex \(July 2011\) and should be read concurrently with DOE Order \(O\) 314.1A, Telework and Remote Work Program, or successor order.

CANCELLATIONS

This PM replaces PM #106A, Department of Energy's Telework/Remote Work Program, dated February 23, 2024.

APPLICABILITY

- 1) With the exception of the Exemptions/Equivalencies listed below, this guidance applies to all DOE Federal employees with Tele/Remote Work Agreements. While this guidance does not apply to contractors, leaders should consider these provisions when optimizing space and when devising contractor workplace flexibility requirements.
- 2) The Administrator of the National Nuclear Security Administration (NNSA) must ensure that NNSA employees comply with their responsibilities under this PM. Nothing in this PM will be construed to interfere with the NNSA Administrator's authority under section 3212\(d\) of Public Law \(P.L.\) 106-65 to establish Administration specific policies, unless disapproved by the Secretary.

EQUIVALENCIES/EXEMPTIONS

- 1) Equivalency: In accordance with the responsibilities and authorities assigned by Executive Order \(EO\) 12344, codified at 50 U.S.C. § 2406 and 50 U.S.C. § 2511, and to ensure consistency through the joint Navy/DOE Nuclear Propulsion Program, the Deputy Administrator for Naval Reactors (Director) will implement and oversee requirements and practices pertaining to this PM for activities under the Director's cognizance, as deemed appropriate.
- 1) Exemption: Except where noted in this PM, this guidance does not apply if Tele/Remote Work is approved as part of a reasonable accommodation (RA) request in accordance with the processes and procedures outlined in PM #100B, Reasonable Accommodation, or successor PM.

LABOR RELATIONS OBLIGATIONS

- 1) Departmental Elements (DE) with employees covered by a collective bargaining agreement (CBA) must meet their labor obligations under the Federal Service Labor-Management Relations Statute if implementation of the policy impacts the conditions of employment of bargaining unit employees.
- 2) Nothing in this PM shall change any CBA in effect on the date of this PM unless the change is necessary to implement new Federal statute. In the event any provisions of this PM conflict with the terms of any CBA in effect on the date of this PM, the terms of the CBA shall prevail.
- 3) Consult your Servicing Labor Relations Office to determine if collective bargaining obligations are required to be met prior to implementation.

BACKGROUND

The Telework Enhancement Act of 2010 (the Act) requires executive branch agencies to establish policies under which eligible employees are authorized to telework. Under current law, remote work is left to the discretion of agency heads, pursuant to their inherent authority to direct the affairs of their agency. See 5 U.S.C. §§ 301 and 302. DOE is committed to creating a flexible and agile workforce that is better able to respond to local and world events and highlights DOE's core values and principles of diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility. Through Tele/Remote Work, DOE will shape a workplace that achieves a reduced carbon footprint, improves recruitment and retention, reduces facility costs, and assists in a better work-life balance for employees while promoting enhanced mission accomplishment.

Management retains the discretion to determine employee eligibility to participate in DOE's Tele/Remote Work Program, subject to mission needs and the limitations and requirements described in this policy, the Act, and applicable Office of Personnel Management (OPM) guidance.

Maintaining a viable Tele/Remote Work-enabled workforce requires practice and regularly testing equipment and procedures to ensure employees are effective and efficient while performing duties at an alternative worksite. Accordingly, effective Tele/Remote Work arrangements require a supportive culture that promotes transparency, communication, trust, use of technology, and effective performance management.

REQUIREMENTS

A. GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

- 1) The implementing guidelines within this PM supersede all previously issued DOE Desk References, procedures, guidance, organizational handbooks, and implementing documents (program-specific or otherwise).
- 2) All DOE employees are responsible for safeguarding and maintaining records as required by the Privacy Act, the Freedom of Information Act, and other applicable laws and regulations.
- 3) Participating DEs must follow the requirements outlined in DOE O 314.1A.
- 4) All employees and supervisors must have an approved Tele/Remote Work Agreement in place prior to engaging in Tele/Remote Work (see Attachment 1, DOE Telework Agreement, and Attachment 2, DOE Remote Work Agreement). The DE Tele/Remote Work Coordinator (TWC) must have access to the agreements.
- 5) Official Duty Stations for employees assigned to Telework Agreements must be determined as provided in 5 CFR § 531.605. Official Duty Stations for employees assigned to Remote Work Agreements must be determined as provided in 5 CFR § 531.605 except for 5 CFR § 531.605(d) and (e). Please see Section H below for additional information.
- 6) Unless the position is ineligible for telework, DOE O 314.1A strongly encourages all employees to have at least a Situational Telework Agreement¹ in place. Employees can only have one Telework Agreement in place at a time. If an employee has a Routine Telework Agreement in place, it covers any situational telework day(s) the supervisor may approve during the pay period.

¹ If an employee's duties during an emergency event are different from their normal duties, include a description of those duties with the employee's situational Telework Agreement.

- 7) In accordance with Executive Order 14100, Advancing Economic Security for Military and Veteran Spouses, Military Caregivers, and Survivors, DEs are encouraged to consider Tele/Remote Work flexibilities for employees who are spouses of a military service member; caregivers of military service members or veterans; or spouses of reservists or national guard service members. Flexibility under these arrangements may be necessary when employees are changing geographic locations, facing deployment, or caring for a wounded, ill, and/or injured service member, or veteran.

B. JOB OPPORTUNITY ANNOUNCEMENTS

- 1) Job Opportunity Announcements (JOAs) must clearly explain when positions are eligible for telework or remote work opportunities.
- 2) When remote work is probable, the JOA must identify whether the position is Remote (Restricted) or Remote (All-US). When the JOA is Remote (All-US), the SHRO/SSC must clear Interagency Career Transition Assistance Plan (ICTAP) nationwide.
- 3) Candidates selected for Telework Eligible or Remote (Restricted) positions that require them to relocate may, with supervisory approval, temporarily work from their current location for up to 3 months until they relocate to their Official Duty Station identified in the JOA. Due to extenuating employee circumstances, the supervisor may grant a longer timeframe to relocate typically not to exceed 6 months.
 - a. Under this provision, the employee is placed on a Telework Agreement for the Official Duty Station as advertised in the JOA. In this case, the supervisor is authorizing an exception to the twice a pay period reporting requirement for the employee.
 - b. Once the employee relocates, a new Telework Agreement may be needed if the frequency of the telework days changes. If the employee will be in a Remote (Restricted) position, a Remote Agreement must be put in place.

C. REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

- 1) The Department maintains Position Tele/Remote Work Designations and Employee Tele/Remote Work Designations in DOE's Corporate Human Resources System (CHRIS) personnel system.
- 2) All agencies are required to document an employee's Tele/Remote Work status and report it to OPM on a biweekly basis. DOE complies with this requirement through the Employee Telework/Remote Work Designations.
 - a. The Employee's Telework/Remote Work Designation in CHRIS is based on their approved Tele/Remote Work Agreement in DOE's Telework and Remote Work Automated Collection System (TRACS).
 - b. If not using TRACS, TWCs are responsible for manually updating the Employee Telework/Remote Work Designations in CHRIS.
- 3) The Employee's Tele/Remote Work Designation (see Section F) is also reflected in the Position Allocation Report (PAR) which is accessible within the Position Management \(PM\) Dashboard.

The PAR provides Tele/Remote Work status and metrics related to authorized positions, as documented within CHRIS. The PM Dashboard is updated daily to provide real-time metrics from CHRIS.

- 4) TWCs must routinely review TRACS, the PAR, and CHRIS, and request updates as needed to ensure accuracy for both Position and Employee Tele/Remote Work Designations.
- 5) The Department remains subject to monthly, semi-annual, annual, and ad-hoc data calls from OPM and the Office of Management and Budget (OMB). OPLER-PD will notify TWCs when information for ad-hoc requests or reports is required.

D. DOE'S TELEWORK AND REMOTE WORK AUTOMATED COLLECTION SYSTEM (TRACS)

- 1) DOE's TRACS is located on the HC Portal on the MyEnergy platform. TRACS enables the fully electronic completion of both Telework and Remote Work Agreements—complete with electronic signatures, routing, automatic email notifications of status changes, interactive form logic, and centralized storage of Tele/Remote Work Agreements and data.
- 2) Except for Bonneville Power Administration and Western Area Power Administration, all DEs must use TRACS to codify (and recertify) all Tele/Remote Work Agreements, including Temporary Remote Work Addendums (see Attachment 4) and the required annual recertifications of Telework Agreements.
- 3) In TRACS, all updates to supervisory reporting relationships are made through ePerformance (except for NNSA). When making updates, TWCs should verify supervisory information in ePerformance and work with the Performance Management Liaison within their DE. Once updated in ePerformance, this data will update in TRACS as well as in the PAR on the PM Dashboard within two weeks.
- 4) TWCs play a critical role in the administration of TRACS and serve as the DE's first tier support and subject matter expert on the system.
- 5) TWCs must actively monitor and ensure TRACS is updated when new employees start, reassignments take place, and agreements are complete.
- 6) When a new supervisor assumes management of a group, all existing Tele/Remote Work Agreements in the group should be reviewed by the new supervisor.
 - a. New supervisors may modify (or cancel) the existing Tele/Remote Work Agreement—except Reasonable Accommodation Agreements—according to their expectations or business needs following a discussion with the employee and compliance with applicable notice requirements outlined in DOE O 314.1A.
 - b. Supervisors must consult with the Servicing Employee Relations Office before modifying, suspending, or terminating Tele/Remote Work Agreements.
- 7) Employees must initiate a new Tele/Remote Agreement in TRACS in the following scenarios:
 - a. Initial placement (e.g., new federal hire or new to DOE); and
 - b. Moving between DEs (e.g., Office of Management to HC).

- 8) Employees may also need to initiate a new Tele/Remote Work Agreement in TRACS for a temporary or permanent position change (e.g., detail, reassignment, promotion). Examples when new Tele/Remote Agreements must be initiated in a DE include:
 - a. When the employee's new position reports to a different supervisor
 - i. Between Offices at HQ (e.g., Office of Field Operations [EM-3] to Office of Corporate Services [EM-5])
 - ii. Between field sites (e.g., EM Consolidated Business Center to EM Savannah River Site)
 - iii. Between HQ and Field Sites (e.g., NE Office of Nuclear Facilities Management to NE-ID Operations Office)
 - b. Where the new position reports to the same supervisor but the Position Tele/Remote Work Designation for the new position is more restrictive than the current position.
 - c. If the employee's supervisor and the Position Tele/Remote Work Designation remains the same for their current and new position, the supervisor may elect to retain the agreement in place if everything will remain the same. This is at the supervisor's discretion.
- 9) Employees must initiate a new Telework Agreement in TRACS if the employee:
 - a. Changes from a Situational Telework Agreement where they occasionally telework on a non-routine basis to a telework status where they routinely telework on specific days (e.g., Periodic Routine (1 to 2 days a pay period)); or
 - b. Changes from a Situational Telework Agreement (or Regular Telework Agreement) because they have a need to telework for medical reasons.
- 10) Employees must initiate a new Remote Work Agreement in TRACS if the employee is approved to change their Official Remote Worksites, even if that change does not modify the locality pay.
 - a. The employee must obtain approval from their supervisor, as well as any additional internal approval procedures established by the DE, at least 60 calendar days in advance of the start of the arrangement. Supervisors may waive the 60-day advance notice requirement if the employee's circumstances make 60-day notice impracticable.
 - b. All changes to Official Remote Worksites must be approved in advance and aligned to when the employee moves to the new location.

E. POSITION TELE/REMOTE WORK DESIGNATIONS

- 1) The Position Tele/Remote Work Designation documents the position's Tele/Remote Work eligibility regardless of the incumbent. This information must be populated for both encumbered and vacant positions.
- 2) Remote Position Designations require Head of Departmental Element (HDE) or Principal Deputy approval, must factor in the long-term health of the organization, and should be used discriminately. Upon vacancy, all Remote Position Designations must be reevaluated to determine if the designation is still appropriate to ensure mission execution and organizational health.

- 3) For newly established positions, the Position Tele/Remote Work Designation is established during the classification process. Position Tele/Remote Work Designations must be reevaluated when a position becomes vacant.
 - a. To make updates to established encumbered or vacant GS positions, DEs must work with their SHRO/SSC.
 - b. Adjustments to Position Tele/Remote Work Designations must be made prior to advertising to reflect the appropriate level of onsite work.
- 4) TWCs cannot update the Position Tele/Remote Work Designation in CHRIS; however, TWCs are responsible for ensuring they are accurately codified in CHRIS. Please see the Position Allocation Management Resource Manager Guide on HCnet for additional information.
- 5) DOE’s Position Tele/Remote Work Designations² are as follows:

CHRIS Designation	Definition
Full Time (FT) Remote (All-US)	Position can support full-time remote work and the employee’s Official Remote Worksite may be located anywhere in the United States (i.e., may be outside of the locality pay area of the Official DOE Worksite), or outside the U.S. if the employee has a valid Domestic Employees Teleworking Overseas (DETO) agreement approved by DOE and Department of State. The employee is not required to report to the Official DOE Worksite every pay period but may be required to do so for work that cannot be performed remotely. Employees, other than those on DETO agreements, are eligible for travel reimbursement when reporting to the DOE Worksite if their Official Remote Worksite is located outside the local commuting area (LCA) of the Official DOE Worksite. Travel for employees on DETO Agreements is subject to the terms of the DETO Agreement.
FT Remote (Restricted)	Position can support full-time remote work, but the employee’s Official Remote Worksite must be located within the locality pay area of the DOE Worksite or must be a realistic commuting distance from the Official DOE Worksite for areas outside of a defined locality pay area (i.e., Rest of the United States locality pay area). The employee is not required to report to the Official DOE Worksite every pay period but may be required to do so with some regularity (e.g., a few times a quarter) for work that cannot be performed remotely. Employees are eligible for travel reimbursement when reporting to the Official DOE Worksite if their Official Remote Worksite is located outside the LCA of the Official DOE Worksite.
More than 50% Telework	Position is eligible to telework on a fixed, regular, and reoccurring basis more than 50% of the time during a pay period (i.e., 6 to 8 days a pay period for full-time employees). Teleworking employees work offsite, typically at home, with their duty station being an Official DOE Worksite.
Periodic Routine Telework up to 50%	Position is eligible to telework on a fixed, regular, and reoccurring basis up to 50% of the pay period (i.e., 1 to 5 days a pay period for full-time employees).

² These new designations will be available in the next update of CHRIS (scheduled for release by the end of March 2024).

Situational Telework Only	Position can telework on a situational basis (i.e., a case-by-case basis), and any telework hours are not part of an ongoing and regular telework schedule.
Not Eligible for Telework	The position is not eligible for telework unless for a national emergency (e.g., COVID-19).

F. EMPLOYEE TELE/REMOTE WORK DESIGNATIONS

- 1) Employee Tele/Remote Work Designations in CHRIS are based on the approved Tele/Remote Work Agreement in TRACS. Updates to Employee Tele/Remote Work Designations will flow directly into CHRIS based on the agreement in TRACS.
 - a. TWCs are responsible for updating CHRIS only for those employees whose positions are ineligible for telework and those employees who decline to sign a telework agreement.
 - b. These employees must be codified in CHRIS as “Non-Teleworker.”
- 2) DOE’s Employee Tele/Remote Work Designations³ are as follows:

CHRIS Designation	Definition
Routine More than 50% (6 to 8 days)	The employee has a fixed, ongoing, regular telework schedule and is authorized to telework 6 to 8 days per pay period for non-medical reasons.
Routine (3 to 5 days)	The employee has a fixed, ongoing, regular telework schedule and is authorized to telework 3 to 5 days per pay period for non-medical reasons.
Periodic Routine (1 to 2 days)	The employee has a fixed, ongoing, regular telework schedule and is authorized to telework 1 or 2 days per pay period for non-medical reasons.
Medical	A limited arrangement used only for definitive periods of confinement, rehabilitation, or recuperation from an illness or injury of the employee or a family member (when the employee is needed for care) and may be a full-time or part-time arrangement depending on the medical situation.
Situational Only	The employee does not have a scheduled ongoing, regular telework day. Telework is approved on a case-by-case basis for a special project or unscheduled event (e.g., dentist appointment or not physically well enough to come into the office but still able to perform work). This is sometimes referred to as “ad hoc” telework. This arrangement is distinct from a Reasonable Accommodation.
FT Remote (ALL-US)	The employee is on a full-time remote work arrangement anywhere in the United States, or overseas with a valid DETO agreement. Remote work is distinct from telework and results in a change in duty station location to reflect the Official Remote Worksite (i.e., typically the employee’s home).
FT Remote (Restricted)	The employee is on a full-time remote work arrangement, but the employee’s Official Remote Worksite must be located within the locality pay area of the DOE

³ These designations will be available in the next update of CHRIS (targeted release by the end of March 2024).

	Worksite or must be a realistic commuting distance from the DOE Worksite for areas outside of a defined locality pay area (i.e., Rest of the US locality pay area).
Temp FT Remote (ALL-US)	A temporary remote work arrangement typically established at the request of the employee to accommodate specific personal circumstances (e.g., to support an employee’s temporary relocation during their spouse’s military deployment). This temporary remote agreement allows the employee to be located anywhere in the United States. Unlike typical remote work arrangements, eligibility for temporary remote work is based on personal circumstances versus the duties and responsibilities of the position. This arrangement is distinct from Medical Telework and tele/remote work as a reasonable accommodation.
Temp FT Remote (Restricted)	A temporary remote work arrangement typically established at the request of the employee to accommodate specific personal circumstances (e.g., to support an employee’s temporary relocation during their spouse’s military deployment). This temporary remote agreement requires the employee to be located within the locality pay area of the DOE Worksite or within a realistic commuting distance from the DOE Worksite for Rest of U.S. Locality Areas. Unlike typical remote work arrangements, eligibility for temporary remote work is based on personal circumstances versus the duties and responsibilities of the position. This arrangement is distinct from Medical Telework and tele/remote work as a reasonable accommodation.
Non-Teleworker	The employee is not eligible for telework OR an employee chooses not to sign a telework agreement.

- 3) Generally, Employee Tele/Remote Work Designations must align with their Position Tele/Remote Work Designation at the same or lower level. For example:
 - a. No change is needed if a Position Tele/Remote Work Designation is Routine More than 50% (6 to 8 days) and the Employee Tele/Remote Work Designation is Periodic Routine (1 to 2 days). This is because employees can have a schedule with less telework (or no remote work) than their position supports.
 - b. A change is required for the Position Tele/Remote Work Designation in CHRIS if the Position Tele/Remote Work Designation is Periodic Routine Telework up to 50% but the Employee Tele/Remote Work Designation is Routine More than 50% (6 to 8 days). This is because employees should not be on a more flexible Tele/Remote Work Agreement than their position supports.
 - c. No change is required for a Position Tele/Remote Work Designation if the employee is on a Medical Telework Agreement, a Temporary Remote Work Addendum, or has a Tele/Remote Work Agreement in place due to an approved Reasonable Accommodation.

G. TELE/REMOTE WORK CODING FOR TIME AND ATTENDANCE

- 1) Tele/Remote Work hours must be recorded in the Department’s Time and Attendance System (ATAAPS) or equivalent time keeping system. Please see the Tele/Remote Work Coding for Time and Attendance on HCnet for additional information.

- 2) Teleworkers and remote employees must use one of the reason codes listed below in the Environment/Hazard field in ATAAPS. The table below illustrates the timekeeping codes used for teleworking and remote work.

Telework or Remote Work Arrangement	Time Keeping Codes in the Environment/Hazard field in ATAAPS
Routine/Recurring Telework	TW
Situational Telework	TS
Medical Telework	TM
Remote Work (Restricted) and (All-US)	TR

- 3) Remote employees use the TR to code their work hours when working remotely (unless on leave, etc.) except when reporting to a DOE facility, on official travel, or attending in-person training/conference⁴.
- 4) TS must be used to code any ad hoc telework days approved by the supervisor (e.g., medical appointment, project) including additional or alternate days that deviate from the fixed telework schedule for employees on routine telework agreements.
- 5) Employees who have Tele/Remote Work approved as a Reasonable Accommodation must code their time consistent with the approved accommodation. That is, the employee completes a Tele/Remote Agreement consistent with the approved Reasonable Accommodation and is coded in CHRIS using the Telework or Remote work code that represents their actual work situation. These employees should not be coded as “Medical Telework” to ensure confidentiality.
- 6) Please refer to Attachment 6 for examples and various illustrations for recording Tele/Remote Work arrangements.

H. OFFICIAL DUTY STATION DETERMINATIONS

- 1) 5 U.S.C. § 5304 authorizes locality payments in defined geographic areas for Federal employees eligible for locality payments.
- 2) The employee’s Official Duty Station (i.e., official worksite) impacts items such as pay, taxes, benefits, bargaining status, travel compensation, and other entitlements.
- 3) Generally, the Official Duty Station is the location of an employee’s position of record where the employee regularly performs their duties.
- 4) For teleworkers, their Official Duty Station is typically the Official DOE Worksite. An employee can find the location of their Official Duty Station (i.e., duty station) in blocks 38 and 39 of the SF-50, Notification of Personnel Action.

⁴ Please see the Tele/Remote Work Coding for Time and Attendance on HCnet for the most current T&A coding information.

- a. If a teleworker is scheduled to physically report at least twice each biweekly pay period on a regular and recurring basis, their Official Duty Station (i.e., duty station) is the location of the Official DOE Worksite for the employee's position regardless of where they actually reside.
 - b. When an employee's work involves recurring travel, or when the employee's work location varies on a recurring basis, DOE will determine the Official Duty Station subject to the requirement that the Official Duty Station must be in a locality pay area in which the employee regularly performs work.
- 5) For remote employees, their Official Duty Station is known as their Official Remote Worksite and is where the employee regularly performs their duties (i.e., the employee's residence). A remote employee's Official DOE Worksite is the DOE duty station where work activities would be performed in the absence of a Remote Work Agreement.
- a. Typically, a remote employee's Official DOE Worksite is the reporting worksite of either the HDE (e.g., Washington, DC or Germantown, MD) or the Field Site Manager (e.g., Pittsburgh, PA for NETL or Aiken, SC for Savannah River).
 - b. TWCs must advise remote employees of the location (i.e., city and state) they need to record as their Official DOE Worksite in TRACS.
- 6) Under 5 U.S.C. Chapter 57, when an employee receives relocation expenses to relocate to either a permanent or temporary worksite, the worksite associated with the relocation becomes the employee's Official Duty Station.
- 7) When an employee is temporarily reassigned or temporarily promoted to another position in a different geographic area, the temporary work location is considered the Official Duty Station for pay purposes and becomes the employee's duty station for the duration of the temporary reassignment or promotion. However, duty station changes are not required when an employee is detailed to another position outside of their geographic area because details are not considered a position of record in accordance with 5 CFR 536.103.
- 8) In accordance with 5 CFR § 531.605\(d\)\(2\), teleworkers may be relieved from reporting twice a pay period to the Official DOE Worksite by their supervisor in appropriate situations of a temporary nature, such as the following:
- a. Recovering from an injury or medical condition;
 - b. An emergency temporarily prevents the teleworker from physically reporting to their Official DOE Worksite;
 - c. An extended absence from work (e.g., paid leave);
 - d. In a temporary duty travel status away from the Official DOE Worksite; or
 - e. Temporarily detailed to a location that is not covered in their telework agreement.
- 9) When a supervisor grants an exception for an employee in accordance with 5 CFR § 531.605\(d\)\(2\) to the twice a pay period onsite reporting requirement, there is no specific time limit defined in the regulations for how long an exception may be granted.
- a. Approval for temporary exceptions can only be used in cases where the employee will return to their Official DOE Worksite in the near future. Supervisors must treat people fairly and equitably when making determinations.

- b. Because the temporary exception allows a supervisor to waive duty station requirements (i.e., the employee can telework in different location that may have a higher or lower locality pay than their Official DOE Worksite), supervisors must review their approval on a regular and recurring basis (e.g., at least monthly) to confirm granting the temporary exception is still appropriate because the employee is anticipated to return to the Official DOE Worksite in the near future.
 - c. At the conclusion of an approved temporary exception, typically a teleworker must report to their Official DOE Worksite as provided in their telework agreement.
- 10) A teleworker could be charged absence without leave (AWOL) and be subject to disciplinary action (up to and including removal from federal service) if the teleworker fails to report for duty at their Official DOE Worksite without an administratively acceptable reason (e.g., sick, annual leave) for their absence.
- 11) Telework is not applicable to a remote employee, and the telework regulations at 5 CFR § 531.605(d) and (e) do not apply for Remote Work.
- 12) If an employee on a Remote Work Agreement wants to change their Official Remote Worksite, even if that change does not modify the locality pay, the employee must obtain approval from their supervisor, as well as any additional internal approval procedures established by the DE.
- a. The supervisor is responsible for submitting a request at least one pay period in advance that a “Change in Duty Station” personnel action is required.
 - b. If approved, a new Remote Work Agreement must be signed by all parties prior to moving and effecting the associated personnel action. The employee is not authorized to move without the supervisor’s written approval in the Remote Work Agreement. Moving without written supervisor approval may result in disciplinary action up to and including removal from federal service.
- 13) When a remote employee requests to temporarily work at a location other than their Official Remote Worksite for a long duration, the remote employee must complete a Temporary Remote Work Addendum and provide the location of the temporary Official Remote Worksite. A request for personnel action is required to change the employee’s duty station. The supervisor is responsible for submitting the personnel request.
- 14) Items such as pay, taxes, benefits, bargaining status, travel compensation, updates to SF-50, and other entitlements may be impacted by a temporary change in Remote Work location. This is different from the telework exceptions provided at 5 CFR § 531.605\(d\)\(2\) and addressed above in (8) because the Temporary Remote Work Addendum changes the employee’s Official Remote Worksite temporarily which may affect locality pay, etc.
- a. Employees must obtain approval from their supervisor, as well as any additional internal approval procedures established by the DE to enter into a Temporary Remote Work Addendum.
 - b. After the conclusion date of the Temporary Remote Work Addendum, the remote employee’s Official Remote Worksite reverts to the location provided in the employee’s Remote Work Agreement.
 - c. The employee must initiate a new Remote Work Agreement in TRACS. A request for a personnel action is required to change the employee’s duty station back to the original duty station. The supervisor is responsible for submitting the personnel request.

- 15) Short temporary changes to a remote employee's work location (e.g., working at the home of a family member adjacent to a holiday) do not require a Temporary Remote Work Addendum or a new Remote Agreement and can be approved on an ad hoc basis by the supervisor provided the employee is expected to return to their Official Remote Worksite in the near future.

I. CHANGES IN DUTY STATIONS

- 1) DEs are encouraged to use HC's Remote Work Arrangement Analysis Tool (see Attachment 5) to analyze the cost savings of new or modified Remote Work Agreements.
- 2) A Change in Duty Station may also impact travel reimbursement requirements for remote employees. The proximity of travel from the employee's Official Remote Worksite determines whether an expense is reimbursed as a temporary duty (TDY) travel expense, as described in the Federal Travel Regulation (FTR) in 41 CFR Part 301-11.
 - a. This based on the Local Commuting Area (LCA), which is defined by GSA as the 50- mile radius surrounding the Official Remote Worksite.
 - b. Additional information is located in Section 4.E.9 in DOE O 314.1A and example scenarios are provided in OPM's CPM-2023-16, Guidance on Hours of Work for Telework and Remote Work Employees.
- 3) Personnel actions are required when an employee changes their duty station and geographic location. It is the responsibility of the supervisor and the DE to initiate a personnel action request in a timely manner to ensure employees are appropriately paid.
 - a. These personnel action requests must be submitted via workflow in CHRIS at least one pay period in advance of the effective date.
 - b. It is the responsibility of the SHRO/SSC to process the personnel action after receiving the request.
 - c. It is the responsibility of the employee to monitor their leave and earnings statement (LES) and notify their supervisor and SHRO/SSC if their duty station change is not processed timely.
- 4) Employees must obtain approval from their supervisor, as well as any additional internal approval procedures established by the DE, at least 60 days in advance of the proposed date of change unless the supervisor grants an exception for a shorter time frame due to extenuating employee circumstances.
 - a. If these personnel actions are not processed in a timely manner, the employee may incur a debt.
 - b. Unless there are extenuating circumstances, any overpayments in locality pay will not be waived as employees are expected to perform basic due diligence when reviewing their leave and earnings statement (LES) to verify their pay and deductions.
- 5) Employees are responsible for updating their mailing address in myPay.
- 6) Duty station changes are required when an employee:
 - a. Starts a Remote Work Agreement (i.e., transitions from a teleworker to a remote employee) because their duty station changes from the Official DOE Worksite to their

- residence (i.e., Official Remote Worksite) even if the employee does not change their current locality pay area;
- b. Moves while on a Remote Work Agreement changing their city, county, or state even if the employee does not change their current locality pay area; and
 - c. Terminates a Remote Work Agreement because their duty station changes to the Official DOE Worksite even if the employee does not change their current locality pay area.
- 7) Exception for Personnel Actions for Duty Station Changes: If an employee works and lives in the same city, county, and state as their Official DOE Worksite (or moves while on a remote agreement within the same city, county, and state), no personnel action is needed. For example, if an employee is entering into a Remote Work Agreement and their Official DOE Worksite is Germantown, MD and the employee currently lives in Germantown, MD, then no personnel action is required.
- 8) HC's guidance for processing Personnel Actions due to Changes in Geographic Locations for HC-SSC Customers on HCnet provides the requirements for processing personnel actions due to changes in an Official Remote Worksite. SHRO/SSCs should use the Mass Process for Change in Duty Personnel Actions for Remote Agreements to process changes for 16 or more employees.

J. REALISTIC COMMUTING DISTANCE REQUIREMENTS

- 1) Generally, realistic commuting distance as defined in DOE O 314.1A only applies to employees assigned to Remote (Restricted) Agreements.
- 2) Employees assigned to Telework Agreements are treated like employees not on Telework Agreements and report onsite as required. Teleworkers are not required to live within a specific commuting distance unless their position requires them to live within proximity for mission-related purposes (e.g., Building Management Specialist, Maintenance Technician).
- 3) Employees assigned to Telework Agreements must report onsite timely, based on their pre-approved work schedule, regardless of the distance of their permanent residence.
- 4) When employees experience challenges to reporting onsite timely or maintaining their assigned work schedule due to the distance of their permanent residence, supervisors must consult with Servicing Employee Relations Office for more guidance.

K. DOMESTIC EMPLOYEES TELEWORKING OVERSEAS (DETO)

- 1) The Department's DETO Program is administered under PM #108, Domestic Employees Teleworking Overseas.
- 2) While "DETO" has telework in the acronym, a DETO Agreement is a temporary overseas remote work arrangement that allows Federal employees to perform the duties of their domestic DOE position of record from an approved overseas location. A DETO Agreement is the required form to allow a DOE employee to work remotely in an approved overseas location.
- 3) DETO Agreements are strictly voluntary for employees and at the discretion of the DE. Any associated expenses (e.g., relocation expenses) are the responsibility of the employee and are not funded by DOE. DE management has the discretion to authorize, suspend, change, or cancel DETO Agreements when doing so is in the best interest of the Department. Department of State

(DOS) must approve all requests to approve, suspend, change, extend, and cancel DETO Agreements.

- 4) OPLER-PD and NNSA's Office of International Operations manage and coordinate DETO Agreements in accordance with PM #108.

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

All stakeholders must follow the roles and responsibilities outlined in DOE 314.1A. This section provides additional roles and responsibilities related to the implementing guidelines identified in this PM.

A. CHIEF HUMAN CAPITAL OFFICER WILL:

- 1) Establish DOE's annual Tele/Remote Work participation rate goals;
- 2) Encourage the use of Tele/Remote Work, as appropriate, in support of annual Tele/Remote Work goals; and
- 3) Administer TRACS (OBO-HRIT) to ensure proper operation and maintenance of the system and coordinate with the system owner Office of the Chief Information Officer (IM).

B. OFFICE OF POLICY, LABOR AND EMPLOYEE RELATIONS, POLICY DIVISION WILL:

- 1) Develop, promulgate, implement, and provide advice on policies, standards, and procedures consistent with applicable laws and regulations;
- 2) Serve as the Department's Program Manager for Tele/Remote Work;
- 3) Maintain and provide supplemental guidance concerning this PM as needed to maintain compliance with laws, Government-wide rules and regulations, and Departmental Program changes; and
- 4) Evaluate the effectiveness of Tele/Remote Work, considering feedback received from TWCs and advise on program management.

C. TELE/REMOTE WORK COORDINATORS WILL:

- 1) Evaluate the effectiveness of Tele/Remote Work, considering feedback provided by supervisors within their DE, and provide feedback to the Department's Tele/Remote Work Program Manager, as needed;
- 2) Maintain an accurate account of employees participating in Tele/Remote Work;
- 3) Inform the Department's Tele/Remote Work Program Manager via Tele/Remote Work participation reports when someone is removed or no longer eligible to Tele/Remote Work;
- 4) Oversee the DE's completion of Tele/Remote Work Agreements in TRACS or other electronic system and serve as the DE's first tier support and subject matter expert on the system;
- 5) Ensure Position and Employee Tele/Remote Work designations are properly codified in CHRIS; and
- 6) Ensure employees and supervisors submit annual telework recertifications in accordance with this PM.

D. SERVICING HUMAN RESOURCES OFFICES AND SHARED SERVICE CENTERS WILL:

- 1) Follow all applicable policies and procedures relevant to this PM;
- 2) Ensure telework and remote work eligibility and information is included in all applicable JOAs;
- 3) Ensure Tele/Remote Work eligibility is documented in CHRIS when building positions and processing personnel actions (SF-50s);
- 4) Answer inquiries and concerns related to Telework; and
- 5) Ensure position data reflects employee's eligibility in CHRIS for OPM Enterprise Human Resources Integration (EHRI) reporting.

E. SUPERVISORS/MANAGERS WILL:

- 1) Ensure employees have work assignments appropriate for Tele/Remote Work;
- 2) Submit timely workflow actions (i.e., SF-50) when changing Official Duty Stations for Remote employees;
- 3) Collaborate with TWC to ensure annual recertifications are complete;
- 4) Notify (annually) emergency designated employees in writing of the requirement to report to the official DOE worksite or work from an alternative worksite when Government operations are disrupted;
- 5) Set expectations regarding communication with Tele/Remote Work employees;
- 6) Effectively manage Tele/Remote Work employees to maintain compliance with their Tele/Remote Work Agreements, and take appropriate steps to address or terminate the Agreement if non-compliance is not promptly corrected;
- 7) Ensure employees' time and attendance is accurately reflected in ATAAPS using the appropriate telework codes;
- 8) Ensure Tele/Remote Work does not diminish DOE operations;
- 9) Evaluate the effectiveness of Tele/Remote Work, considering input from their employees, and provide feedback to the applicable TWC, as needed;
- 10) Consult with the Servicing Employee Relations Office before modifying, suspending, or terminating Tele/Remote Work Agreements;
- 11) Provide employees with appropriate notice before suspending, terminating, or modifying a Tele/Remote Work Agreement in accordance with the requirements of this PM and any applicable CBA;
- 12) Determine what resources will be provided to eligible employees who can Tele/Remote Work under normal and/or emergency work situations and provide agreed upon resources; and
- 13) Ensure that program information, Official Use Only (OUO; including personally identifiable information), Unclassified Controlled Nuclear Information (UCNI), and information and communications systems are protected, and ensure that documents with the potential to contain classified information are not transmitted electronically until they have been reviewed by a "Derivative Classifier" in accordance with DOE O 475.2B, Identifying Classified Information, or successor.

F. EMPLOYEES WILL:

- 1) Obtain supervisory approval to modify or terminate a Tele/Remote Work Agreement or change their Official Remote Worksite in accordance with the requirements of this PM and any internal DE approval requirements;
- 2) Report to the Official DOE Worksite when their request to Telework is denied or their Telework Arrangement is suspended or terminated, in accordance with the requirements of this PM;
- 3) Evaluate the effectiveness of the Tele/Remote Work and provide feedback to their supervisor, as needed;
- 4) Obtain advance supervisory approval before making a change to living arrangements that would necessitate a “Change in Duty Station” personnel action to change in their Official Remote Worksite;
- 5) Notify their RM when a “Change in Duty Station” personnel action is needed due to an approved change in living arrangements that would necessitate a change to their Official Remote Worksite;
- 6) Monitor their LES to ensure their Official Duty Station is accurately reflected and notify their supervisor and RM if changes are needed;
- 7) Code their time and attendance to accurately reflect the appropriate Tele/Remote status each day;
- 8) Ensure their alternative worksite has the appropriate resources available to support Tele/Remote Work and meets established safety criteria;
- 9) Protect information used at the alternative worksite in accordance with established DOE policies, practices, and procedures, and comply with all DOE information technology and cybersecurity guidelines;
- 10) Use and maintain Government Furnished Equipment (GFE) in accordance with established DOE policies, practices, and procedures and return GFE upon termination of the Tele/Remote Work Agreement; and
- 11) Follow their DE’s procedures for reporting changes in commuting methods/patterns as a result of their Telework schedule when receiving transit benefits.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Questions concerning this PM should be directed to the Department’s Tele/Remote Work Program DOE-Tele-Remote-Work-Policy@hq.doe.gov.

REFERENCES

- 1) Telework Enhancement Act
- 2) Federal Employees’ Compensation Act
- 3) 5 CFR § 531.605 – Determining an Employee’s Official Worksite
- 4) 5 CFR § 591.205 – Which Areas are Nonforeign Areas?
- 5) 41 CFR Parts 300-304 – Federal Travel Regulation System

- 6) OPM 2021 Guide to Telework and Remote Work in the Federal Government
- 7) Telework.gov
- 8) CPM-2023-16, Guidance on Hours of Work for Telework and Remote Work Employees
- 9) CPM 2021-17, Additional Guidance on Post-Reentry Personnel Policies and Work Environment
- 10) CPM 2020-17, Federal Holidays and Human Resources Flexibilities for Employees Located in the Washington, DC, Area during the Week of Inauguration
- 11) DOE O 150.1B, Continuity Programs
- 12) DOE O 314.1A, Telework and Remote Work Program, or successor Order
- 13) DOE O 331.1D, Employee Performance Management and Recognition Program
- 14) DOE O 333.1, Administering Work Force Discipline, Adverse and Performance Based Actions
- 15) DOE O 342.1A, Agency Administrative Grievance Policy and Procedures
- 16) DOE M 552.1-1A, U.S. Department of Energy Travel Manual
- 17) PM #13A, Reemployment Priority List
- 18) PM #82, Weather and Safety Leave
- 19) PM #100B, Reasonable Accommodation
- 20) PM #108, Domestic Employees Teleworking Overseas

LIST OF ATTACHMENTS

- 1) Key Terms and Definitions
- 2) Telework Agreement
- 3) Remote Work Agreement
- 4) Temporary Remote Work Addendum
- 5) Remote Work Analysis Tool
- 6) Tele/Remote Work Time and Attendance Reason Codes
- 7) Tele/Remote Work Required Training
- 8) Self-Certification Safety Checklist

ATTACHMENT 1: KEY TERMS AND DEFINITIONS

Please refer to DOE O 314.1A for a comprehensive list of Definitions pertinent to the Department's Tele/Remote Work Program.

DOMESTIC EMPLOYEES TELEWORKING OVERSEAS (DETO) AGREEMENT

A temporary overseas remote work arrangement that allows Federal employees to perform the duties of their domestic DOE position of record from an approved overseas location. DETO Agreements require DOE approval with final approval from the Department of State. A DETO Agreement is not required when an employee is working remotely from non-foreign locations (e.g., territories).

MEDICAL TELEWORK

A limited telework arrangement where an employee may be allowed to telework when the position may not otherwise permit for telework or telework more often than typically authorized. A Medical Telework Agreement must be completed by the employee and approved by the supervisor prior to the employee beginning the medical telework arrangement. Medical Telework is an appropriate arrangement for an employee's medical condition (e.g., definitive periods of confinement, rehabilitation, recuperation) or that of a family member when the employee is expected to provide care for the family member throughout the specified period. A medical arrangement must be supported by acceptable documentation from the applicable medical service provider and provided in advance of medical telework starting unless there is an emergency. The duration of a Medical Telework Agreement is determined by the specified period that the arrangement is in effect but cannot be longer than four months. It may be reduced or extended only once for an additional four-month period, depending on the circumstances. When on a Medical Telework Agreement, an employee is not required to change their duty station.

OFFICIAL DOE WORKSITE

An official DOE location where work activities are based, generally considered a centralized location of an employee's assigned organization. This is the duty station for a teleworking employee's position of record and where the employee is scheduled to report a minimum of two days per pay period on a regular and recurring basis unless a temporary exception is made by the employee's supervisor in accordance with 5 CFR § 531.605(d)(2).

OFFICIAL REMOTE WORKSITE

The remote location (usually the employee's residence) from which an employee on a Remote Work Agreement regularly performs work.

REMOTE (ALL-US)

A designation that a position can support full-time remote work from anywhere in the U.S. With supervisory approval, the employee's Official Remote Worksite may be located anywhere in the United States and U.S. Territories (i.e., may be outside of the locality pay area of the DOE Worksite) provided the employee can guarantee a secured and continuous internet connection.

REMOTE (RESTRICTED)

A designation that a position can support full-time remote work, but the employee's Official Remote Worksite must be located within the locality pay area of the DOE Worksite or must be a realistic commuting distance from the DOE Worksite for areas outside of a defined locality pay area (i.e., Rest of the United States locality pay area).

ROUTINE TELEWORK

A voluntary telework arrangement wherein the employee is authorized to telework at least one specific day per pay period on an ongoing, regular schedule for non-medical reasons (e.g., the first Tuesday of the pay period). This is codified on a Routine Telework Agreement. The employee is authorized to telework at an approved alternative worksite on scheduled telework days. The employee must report physically to their Official DOE Worksite at least twice each biweekly pay period on a regular and reoccurring basis. With an approved Routine Telework Agreement, the employee may also telework situationally (i.e., on an ad-hoc basis) with supervisory approval.

SITUATIONAL-ONLY TELEWORK

A telework arrangement wherein telework is approved on a case-by-case basis during the pay period. This is codified on a Situational-Only Telework Agreement. The employee is expected to report onsite daily to the Official DOE Worksite unless a situational telework day is approved for specific non-recurring assignments, special projects, or unscheduled events (i.e., dentist appointment or not physically well enough to come into the office but still able to perform work). Situational telework can also occur in response to a weather or safety event that prevents reporting to the regular workplace.

TEMPORARY REMOTE WORK

A remote work arrangement that is typically established at the request of the employee to accommodate specific personal circumstances (e.g., to support an employee's temporary relocation during their spouse's military deployment) and is only temporary, in nature, usually 12 months or less. This is codified on a Temporary Remote Work Agreement, which consists of a Remote Work Agreement and a Temporary Remote Work Addendum. Unlike regular remote work arrangements, eligibility for temporary remote work is based on personal circumstances vice the duties and responsibilities of the position. This arrangement is distinct from Medical Telework. When on a temporary Remote Work Agreement, an employee is required to change their duty station.

ATTACHMENT 2: DOE'S TELEWORK AGREEMENT

DOE's Telework Agreement can also be accessed by visiting the Policy Memo #106A HCnet page.

ATTACHMENT 3: DOE'S REMOTE WORK AGREEMENT

DOE's Telework Agreement can also be accessed by visiting the Policy Memo #106A HCnet page.

ATTACHMENT 4: TEMPORARY REMOTE WORK ADDENDUM

DOE's Temporary Remote Work Addendum can also be accessed via the Policy Memo #106A HCnet page.

ATTACHMENT 5: REMOTE WORK ARRANGEMENT ANALYSIS TOOL

DOE's Remote Work Arrangement Analysis Tool can also be accessed via the Policy Memo #106A HCnet page.

ATTACHMENT 6: TELE/REMOTE WORK CODING TIME AND ATTENDANCE EXAMPLES

Below are various illustrations for scheduling/coding telework arrangements using the appropriate time keeping codes. Please see the Tele/Remote Work Coding for Time and Attendance on HCnet.

REMOTE SCHEDULE EXAMPLES

This is the remote employee’s approved schedule (i.e., the employee is not required to report onsite on a regular and reoccurring basis during the pay period).

Monday Week 1 Remote TR	Tuesday Week 1 Remote TR	Wednesday Week 1 Remote TR	Thursday Week 1 Remote TR	Friday Week 1 Remote TR
Monday Week 2 Remote TR	Tuesday Week 2 Remote TR	Wednesday Week 2 Remote TR	Thursday Week 2 Remote TR	Friday Week 2 Remote TR

One pay period, the remote employee works onsite for 3 days, is on travel, or attends in-person training.

Monday Week 1 Remote TR	Tuesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 1 Remote TR	Friday Week 1 Remote TR
Monday Week 2 Remote TR	Tuesday Week 2 Remote TR	Wednesday Week 2 Remote TR	Thursday Week 2 Remote TR	Friday Week 2 Onsite RG

TELEWORK SCHEDULE EXAMPLES

STRAIGHT 8-HOUR SCHEDULE – ROUTINE MORE THAN 50% (6 TO 8 DAYS)

This is the employee’s approved telework schedule.

Monday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW
Monday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Wednesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 2 Onsite RG

One pay period, the employee must come onsite during their routine telework day and cannot switch their telework day to another day during the pay period.

Monday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW
Monday Week 2 Onsite RG	Tuesday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Wednesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 2 Onsite RG

Another pay period, the employee is approved for 2 situational telework days (e.g., medical appointments, projects).

Monday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 1 Situational Telework TS	Wednesday Week 1 Situational Telework TS	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW
Monday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Wednesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 2 Onsite RG

Another pay period, the supervisor grants the employee an exception to the twice a pay period reporting requirement (per 5 CFR § 531.605(d)(2)) because the employee is visiting family.

Monday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 1 Situational Telework TS	Wednesday Week 1 Situational Telework TS	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW
Monday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Wednesday Week 2 Situational Telework TS	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 2 Situational Telework TS

ALTERNATE WORK SCHEDULE (5/4-9) – ROUTINE MORE THAN 50% (6 TO 8 DAYS)

Monday Week 1 Regular Day Off	Tuesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW
Monday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Wednesday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 2 Onsite (8 hr. day) RG

ALTERNATE WORK SCHEDULE (4/10) – ROUTINE TELEWORK (3 TO 5 DAYS)

Monday Week 1 Regular Day Off	Tuesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW
Monday Week 2 Routine Day Off	Tuesday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Wednesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 2 Onsite RG

EXCEPTION TO THE TWICE A PAY PERIOD REPORTING REQUIREMENT – PERIODIC ROUTINE TELEWORK (1 TO 2 DAYS)

The supervisor grants the employee an exception to the twice a pay period reporting requirement (per 5 CFR § 531.605(d)(2)).

Monday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 1 Situational Telework TS	Wednesday Week 1 Situational Telework TS	Thursday Week 1 Situational Telework TS	Friday Week 1 Situational Telework TS
Monday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 2 Situational Telework TS	Wednesday Week 2 Situational Telework TS	Thursday Week 2 Situational Telework TS	Friday Week 2 Situational Telework TS

WHEN EMPLOYEES REPORT ONSITE DURING ROUTINE TELEWORK DAYS

Supervisors have the right to modify an employee's work schedule based on mission needs (e.g., to accommodate a meeting, meet a critical deadline). To the extent practicable, supervisors should provide employees with advance notice. When this occurs, a supervisor can allow an employee to change their routine telework day within the same pay period as illustrated below.

STRAIGHT 8 HOUR SCHEDULE

Routine telework days are Monday, Thursday, and Friday.

Monday Week 1 Routine Telework RG	Tuesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework TW
Monday Week 2 Routine Telework TW	Tuesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework TW	Friday Week 2 Routine Telework TW

The Supervisor allows the employee to telework on Tuesday instead of Monday (Week 1) to accommodate the employee reporting onsite Monday for a work obligation.

Monday Week 1 Onsite RG	Tuesday Week 1 Situational Telework TS	Wednesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework TW
Monday Week 2 Routine Telework TW	Tuesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework TW	Friday Week 2 Routine Telework TW

ALTERNATE WORK SCHEDULE (5/4-9)

Regular Day Off (RDO) is Monday of Week 1. Routine telework days are Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Monday Week 1 Regular Day Off	Tuesday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Wednesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW
Monday Week 2 Onsite RG	Tuesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 2 Situational Telework TS	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW

The supervisor allows the employee to telework on Wednesday instead of Tuesday (Week 2) to accommodate the employee reporting onsite Tuesday for a work obligation.

Monday Week 1 Regular Day Off	Tuesday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Wednesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW
Monday Week 2 Onsite RG	Tuesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 2 Situational Telework TS	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW

ATTACHMENT 7: TELE/REMOTE WORK REQUIRED TRAINING

DOE's Tele/Remote Work Required Training can be accessed via the Policy Memo #106A HCnet page.

ATTACHMENT 8: SELF-CERTIFICATION SAFETY CHECKLIST

DOE's Self-Certification Safety Checklist can also be accessed via the Policy Memo #106A HCnet page.

U.S. Department of Energy
Washington, DC

ORDER

DOE O 314.1A

Approved: 10-13-2023

SUBJECT: TELEWORK AND REMOTE WORK PROGRAM

1. PURPOSE.

- a. To establish the requirements and responsibilities for administering the Department of Energy's (DOE) Telework and Remote Work (tele/remote) Program in accordance with Telework Enhancement Act of 2010, Public Law 111-292, and Supplemental Guidance from the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) and the Office of the Chief Human Capital Officer (HC).
- b. The Telework Enhancement Act of 2010 (the Act) requires executive branch agencies to establish policies that authorizes eligible employees to telework. Under current law, the Secretary establishes remote work policies pursuant to the inherent authority to direct the affairs of their agency per 5 U.S.C. §§ 301 and 302.
- c. DOE is committed to creating a flexible and agile workforce that enables DOE to respond to local and world events and that highlights DOE's core values and principles of diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility. Through tele/remote work, DOE will shape a workplace that ensures mission accomplishment, achieves a reduced carbon footprint, improves recruitment and retention, and reduces facility costs.
- d. This Order should be read in conjunction with Office of the Chief Human Capital (HC) Policy Memorandum \(PM\) #106, Telework/Remote Work, or successor PM, which includes implementing guidance and templates.

2. CANCELS/SUPERSEDES. DOE O 314.1, DOE-FLEX: DOE'S Telework Program, dated 2-11-2013.

3. APPLICABILITY.

a. Departmental Applicability.

- (1) This directive applies to all Departmental Elements (DE) and employees in all pay plans.
- (2) Employees who are currently covered by collective bargaining agreements (CBA) should review the applicable tele/remote work section of the CBA for any additional requirements specific to bargaining unit employees.
- (3) The Administrator of the National Nuclear Security Administration (NNSA) must ensure NNSA employees comply with their responsibilities

AVAILABLE ONLINE AT:
www.directives.doe.gov

INITIATED BY:
Office of Human Capital

A1191

under this directive. Nothing in this directive will be construed to interfere with the NNSA Administrator's authority under section 3212(d) of Public Law (P.L.) 10665 to establish Administration specific policies, unless disapproved by the Secretary.

- b. DOE Contractors. This program does not apply to contractors.
- c. Equivalencies/Exemptions for DOE O 314.1A.
 - (1) Employees under a tele/remote work agreement due to a reasonable accommodation provided under PM #100B, Reasonable Accommodation, or its successor, are exempt from this Order. DE(s) must follow the provisions of this Order unless doing so violates Federal regulations or requirements.
 - (2) Equivalency. In accordance with the responsibilities and authorities assigned by Executive Order 12344, codified at 50 U.S.C. §§ sections 2406 and 2511 and to ensure consistency throughout the joint Navy/DOE Naval Nuclear Propulsion Program, the Deputy Administrator for Naval Reactors (Director) will implement and oversee requirements and practices pertaining to this Directive for activities under the Director's cognizance, as deemed appropriate.

4. REQUIREMENTS.

- a. General.
 - (1) In accordance with the Act, HC manages the Tele/Remote Work Program, and the Chief Human Capital Officer (CHCO) serves as the Telework Managing Officer (TMO).
 - (2) The Tele/Remote Work Program will be managed in a fair and equitable manner without regard to race; ethnicity; color; religion; gender (including pregnancy and gender identity); national origin; age; disability; political affiliation; sexual orientation; genetic information; marital or family status, personal favoritism; membership or non-membership in an employee organization, or holding of office in an employee organization; or any other non-merit based factor.
 - (3) DEs must establish a tele/remote work posture that is fully aligned with their program's organization health and performance requirements.
 - (4) This information supersedes all previously issued DOE Desk References, procedures, guidance, organizational handbooks, and implementing documents (program-specific or otherwise), except for any covered topics that were negotiated under Collective Bargaining Agreements (CBA(s)).

- (a) If there is a conflict between the CBAs covering bargaining unit employees (BUEs) and any provision of this Order, the negotiated CBA shall prevail, provided the negotiated terms conform to Federal law and regulation.
- (5) Where this Order is silent or conflicts with law, any discretionary decision is subject to law and Office of Personnel Management (OPM) regulations or guidance. When provisions of this Order differ from changes in law or OPM regulations/guidance, the changes in law or regulations/guidance will supersede.
- (6) Tele/remote work can be an appropriate reasonable accommodation (RA) for an employee with a disability. The initiation or termination of a tele/remote work agreement that is in place due to an approved RA must be made in accordance with PM #100B, Reasonable Accommodation, or its successor.
- (7) Tele/remote work must not diminish employee performance or DOE operations; it should facilitate, not impede, the accomplishment of work.
- (8) The duties of the position, nature of work, and mission of the DE determine if a position can support telework or working remotely; it is not based on an individual manager's preference. Changes to a position's tele/remote designation must be made using sound business reasons. Positions need to be fairly and equitably categorized across the DE.
- (9) Each DOE DE must designate a tele/remote work coordinator (TWC).
- (10) All employees and supervisors must have an appropriate tele/remote work agreement in place prior to starting tele/remote work. A copy of the signed tele/remote work agreement must be shared with the DE's TWC.
- (11) Employees on tele/remote work agreements must follow duty station requirements as provided in 5 CFR 531.605 as well as PM #106, or its successor. Paragraphs (d) and (e) in 5 CFR 531.605 do not apply to employees on Remote Work Agreements.
- (12) Employees who are directly engaged in performing the duties of their jobs at their workstation (e.g., desk) are covered by the Federal Employees' Compensation Act, regardless of whether the work is performed on DOE's premises or at an alternative worksite. As such, employees must immediately report to their supervisor any job-related incident that results in or has the potential to cause injury or illness. Supervisors must investigate all reports immediately following notification in accordance with DOE's Workers' Compensation Program.
- (13) Employees must protect information used at their alternative worksites and manage records in accordance with established DOE policies, practices, procedures, and comply with all DOE information technology and cybersecurity guidelines.

- (14) Supervisors must set expectations for teleworking/remote employees regarding methods and frequency of communication (between employees and supervisors, coworkers, customers, etc.).
- (15) Employees cannot tele/remote work with the intent of or for the sole purpose of meeting their dependent or elder care responsibilities while performing official duties; however, telework may be used as part of a more flexible work arrangement to facilitate an employee's ability to manage both work and dependent or elder care.
- (16) All DOE Job Opportunity Announcements (JOAs) must indicate whether the respective position is eligible for telework or the type of remote work (Remote (All US) or Remote (Restricted)).
- (17) Geographically, if approved by the DE and other relevant stakeholders, DOE's tele/remote work program may be authorized in all areas considered to be under the sovereignty of the United States (U.S.) including U.S. territories and commonwealth designations.
- (18) The Department will establish an annual telework participation rate goal. The telework participation goal excludes remote work. DE(s) may establish other participation goals in support of related DE programs.

b. Eligibility.

- (1) Employee participation in tele/remote work is subject to management approval; management has the discretion to cancel tele/remote work agreements when doing so is in the best interest of the Department.
- (2) Supervisors must notify their employees of their eligibility or ineligibility to tele work (ineligibility must be documented in writing).
- (3) Employees may request a tele/remote work agreement in writing. For decisions regarding eligibility for tele/remote work, bargaining unit employees may file a negotiated grievance in accordance with their applicable CBA. Non-bargaining unit employees may file an administrative grievance in accordance with DOE O 342.1A, Agency Administrative Grievance Policy and Procedures.
- (4) Positions must be designated as tele/remote work-eligible based on their duties, responsibilities, and overall goals for organizational health and performance. Designating a position as eligible for remote work must be thoughtfully deliberated and positions analyzed on a case-by-case basis. In addition to the factors below, a variety of matters, including team dynamics, long-term organizational health and performance impacts need to be considered when determining if a position is eligible for remote work. Additional examples of duties that may render a position ineligible for tele/remote work include:

- (a) Daily, direct handling of secure materials;
- (b) Daily onsite activity that cannot be handled remotely or at an alternative worksite (e.g., customer or stakeholder interface, construction, facility operations, hands-on contact with machinery, equipment, or vehicles); and
- (c) Operating and maintaining transmission lines.

c. Ineligibility.

- (1) Current Federal employees who received a permanent disciplinary action in their electronic Official Personnel File (eOPF) from any federal agency are prohibited from teleworking if:
 - (a) They have been officially disciplined for being absent without official leave (AWOL) for more than five days in any calendar year; or
 - (b) They have been officially disciplined for violations of subpart G of the Standards of Ethical Conduct of Employees of the Executive Branch for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing Federal Government duties consistent with the guidance set forth in section 2635.704 of title 5, Code of Federal Regulations (CFR).
- (2) Current Federal employees are not authorized to be on tele/remote work agreement or will have their tele/remote work agreement terminated if:
 - (a) An employee's performance continues to diminish employee or organizational mission or goals, even after attempts to mitigate poor performance have been attempted;
 - (b) An employee is unable to access the Department's network or an employee's access does not meet the network requirements (e.g., security, bandwidth, service reliability) and no other work of equal or higher priority that is acceptable to the supervisor can be performed at an alternative worksite; or
 - (c) An employee does not comply with the terms of the tele/remote work agreement.

- (3) When denying, suspending, or terminating a tele/remote work agreement, management must document and demonstrate the reasons for making such a determination.
- (4) Employees in positions not eligible for tele/remote work may become eligible in emergency situations. In the event of an emergency, an employee whose request to tele/remote work has been denied, suspended, or canceled may receive a temporary exception to tele/remote work during an emergency.

d. Telework Requirements.

- (1) Telework arrangements include Routine, Situational-Only, and Medical Telework Agreements.
- (2) Except in certain emergency situations as declared by the TMO or the Secretary, an employee's participation in telework is voluntary.
- (3) All employees should have a Situational-Only Telework Agreement in place unless the position is designated as ineligible for telework or the employee is otherwise not authorized to have a tele/remote work agreement.
- (4) The Official DOE Worksite for an employee on a telework agreement is the location of the DOE Worksite for their position of record and is documented on the employee's Standard Form 50 (SF-50) as the Official Duty Station.
- (5) Management determines the type of telework arrangement(s), the situation(s) in which, and the frequency an employee or group of employees may telework. This is codified on a Telework Agreement.
- (6) Unless a temporary exception is made by the employee's supervisor in accordance with 5 CFR 531.605\(d\)\(2\), employees on a Routine Telework Agreement must be scheduled and report physically to their Official DOE Worksite at least twice each biweekly pay period on a regular and recurring basis.
- (7) A Routine Telework Agreement also covers any situational telework day(s) an employee may have to take during a pay period (e.g., car troubles, temporary emergency) if those situational telework days are approved by their supervisor. Those situational telework days must be properly coded in the appropriate official timekeeping system.
- (8) If an employee is on a Routine Telework Agreement and is later placed on a Situational-Only Telework Agreement, the former Routine Telework Agreement must be terminated.

- (9) If an employee needs a medical telework arrangement, the former Routine (or Situational-Only) Telework Agreement must be terminated, if one existed, and a Medical Telework Agreement must be put in place. Once the Medical Telework Agreement expires, a new Routine (or Situational-Only) Telework Agreement must be put back in place.
- (10) The most recently signed Telework Agreement supersedes any formerly signed Telework Agreement and Telework Agreements must be recertified on an annual basis.
- (11) If an employee is placed on investigative leave, management may require the employee to telework and perform duties like the duties the employee performs onsite or other duties, as appropriate, if such a requirement would not:
 - (a) Pose a threat to the employee or others;
 - (b) Result in the destruction of evidence relevant to an investigation;
 - (c) Result in the loss of or damage to Government property; or
 - (d) Otherwise jeopardize legitimate Government interests.
- (12) Management may direct an employee to report to the Official DOE Worksite or other location on a day, or part of a day, that the employee would otherwise telework. Notice of such direction should be given as far in advance as possible. The employee has no claim to telework on another day during the current pay period unless an alternative day during the pay period is approved; however, the supervisor will make every effort to establish a mutually agreeable adjustment in the employee's telework schedule.
- (13) Telework arrangements could affect employee eligibility for parking. Similarly, transit subsidy benefits can only be used exclusively for commuting from home-to-work and from work-to-home.
 - (a) The use of transit benefits is prohibited for employees when in a non-pay, leave, or telework status.
 - (b) Employees are expected to follow the DE procedures for reporting changes in commuting methods/patterns and may have their transit benefits reduced because of their telework schedule.
- (14) To ensure proper space utilization, teleworking employees may be subject to hoteling (i.e., using shared space) depending on the number of days they are regularly scheduled to report onsite.

- (15) Work assignments to be performed or training to be accomplished while on telework should be mutually understood in advance.
 - (16) Management may suspend a Telework Agreement, in writing, at any time with reasonable notice in the following situations:
 - (a) To mitigate diminished employee or organizational performance if the employee's performance has dropped below the Meets Expectations or equivalent. If attempts to mitigate performance are unsuccessful, management must terminate the Telework Agreement.
 - (b) When there is an adverse impact on the organization's operations, including inadequate office coverage, a security violation, or inappropriate conduct.
 - (c) In these situations, the supervisor must immediately contact the Servicing Employee Relations Specialist for guidance.
 - (17) If an employee's request to telework is denied, or their Telework Agreement is suspended or terminated, the employee is required to report to the Official DOE Worksite as scheduled and instructed by management.
 - (a) If the employee fails to report to their Official DOE Worksite as scheduled and instructed, the supervisor must immediately contact the Servicing Employee Relations Specialist for guidance.
 - (b) Failure to report to the Official DOE Worksite may result in disciplinary or adverse action, up to and including removal from Federal employment.
 - (18) The employee can end their Telework Agreement at any time by giving their supervisor reasonable notice and returning to their Official DOE Worksite. If office space is unavailable at their Official DOE Worksite, the termination of the Telework Agreement may be delayed until the appropriate physical workspace can be made available.
 - (19) Employees and supervisors must recertify Telework Agreements annually and submit recertifications to their TWC. The TWC must codify this in the personnel system to meet the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) reporting requirements.
- e. Remote Work Requirements.
- (1) Remote work arrangements include both Remote (All-US) and Remote (Restricted) Agreements.

- (2) HDEs must ensure new positions designated as Remote (Restricted) or Remote (All-US) are approved at a senior-level within their DE (i.e., no lower than a Field Site Manager or Principal Deputy or equivalent for Headquarters DEs) to ensure consistent application and mission requirements can be met within their DE.
- (3) Employees on a Remote Work Agreement can work anywhere listed in 5 CFR § 531.603.
- (4) The Official Remote Worksite is the location where an employee covered by a Remote Work Agreement primarily works on a recurring basis. For pay purposes, and in accordance with 5 CFR § 531.605 (except for paragraphs (d) and (e)), the employee's Official Remote Worksite must be documented on their Standard Form 50 (SF-50) as their Official Duty Station.
- (5) Employees on Remote Work Agreements are not eligible for parking or transit subsidy benefits.
- (6) Annual certification of permanent Remote Work Agreements are not required. Temporary Remote Work Agreement \(doe.gov\) cannot exceed one year in duration unless an extension is granted in writing by the supervisor.
- (7) JOAs must include remote work eligibility as a condition of Federal employment if the position is eligible and the duties support a remote work arrangement.
- (8) For currently occupied positions, remote work cannot be mandated as a condition of employment without a signed Remote Work Agreement. When signing a Remote Work Agreement for the first time, a personnel action is required even if an employee is not relocating from their current residence. The personnel action must be processed through the employee's Servicing Human Resources Office/Shared Service Center (SHRO/SSC).
- (9) Employees on Remote Work Agreements are not expected to report to an Official DOE Worksite on a regular and recurring basis (e.g., every pay period), but may be required to do so with some regularity as determined by their supervisor (e.g., a few times a quarter) for work that cannot be performed remotely. Similarly, employees on Remote Work Agreements may occasionally be required to report to other non-DOE locations for work-related activities, such as training.
 - (a) The proximity of travel from the employee's Official Remote Worksite determines whether an expense is reimbursed as a temporary duty (TDY) travel expense, as described in the Federal Travel Regulation (FTR) in 41 CFR Part 301-11. This based on the Local Commuting Area (LCA) which is defined by GSA as the 50-mile radius surrounding the Official Remote Worksite.

- (b) A remote employee who travels outside the LCA of their Official Remote Worksite (i.e., more than 50 miles) to report to a DOE facility, or another location to engage in other work-related activities (e.g., training, meeting); and who meets the requirements of 41 CFR Part 301-11 is eligible for TDY and may be eligible for compensatory time off for travel, as well as per diem expenses (if the travel exceeds 12 hours) in accordance with the FTR. Travel authorizations are required for travel outside the LCA in accordance with DOE Manual \(M\) 552.1-1A, U.S. Department of Energy Travel Manual.
- (c) Travel authorizations are not required for travel within the LCA in accordance with DOE M 552.1-1A.

1 A remote employee who travels within the LCA of their Official Remote Worksite (i.e., 50 miles or less) to report to a DOE facility is not eligible for TDY or local travel reimbursement, or compensatory time off for travel in accordance with DOE M 552.1-1A.

2 A remote employee who travels within the LCA of their Official Remote Worksite (i.e., 50 miles or less) to engage in other work-related activities (e.g., training, offsite meetings) held outside of a DOE facility is not eligible for TDY or compensatory travel time off for traveling in accordance with DOE M 552.1-1A. However, the remote employee may be eligible for local travel reimbursement (i.e., actual cost of train, bus, or mileage for use of Privately Own Vehicle (POV), including any unusual parking fees to and from their Official Remote Worksite).

(10) DEs are encouraged to conduct a formal and complete assessment of benefits and cost to determine if a remote arrangement is mission-enabling and efficient.

- (a) This review must consider any impact on the mission needs of the organization.
- (b) The review can also consider business reasons including retention of high performing employees, recruitment needs, or DOE real estate and other business cost reductions.
- (c) DEs should also consider the cost of any periodic travel to the Official DOE Worksite if it would be outside the LCA of an employee's Official Remote Worksite, as well as the cost of travel to other locations where the employee is reasonably expected to travel from their Official Remote Worksite as compared to travel costs from the Official DOE Worksite.

- (d) DEs can use HC's Remote Work Arrangement Analysis Tool to analyze the cost savings of a new or modified Remote Work Agreement to provide applicable justifications for approving or denying remote work requests.
- (11) When an employee enters into a Remote Work Agreement and is subject to a management-directed reassignment for any reason, including diminishment of performance, and the employee chooses to separate instead of accepting the management-directed reassignment, the reassignment is not considered involuntary and will not include severance pay.
- (12) Management has the right to disapprove, terminate, or modify Remote Work Agreements in writing at any time due to business necessity (e.g., increased cost, changing organizational/business needs, workforce reshaping, position abolishment, transfer of function, other reasons unrelated to employee conduct or performance) with reasonable notice.
- (a) If an employee's Official Remote Worksite is within the LCA of an appropriate Official DOE Worksite, the employee can be given a management-directed reassignment to a position at the same grade and pay at the Official DOE Worksite. In such cases, employees must be given 30 days advance notice.
 - (b) If an employee's Official Remote Worksite is not within the LCA of an appropriate Official DOE Worksite, the employee can be given a management-directed reassignment to a position at the same grade and pay at the Official DOE Worksite. In such cases, employees must be given 60 days advance notice and any relocation costs will be the responsibility of DOE in accordance with the FTR and applicable DOE policies.
 - (c) If there is no suitable position available, or if the employee declines the position offered or the offer to move to the Official DOE Worksite, management may propose the employee's removal for failure to accept a management-directed reassignment. In which case, the proposed removal will be consistent with applicable regulations, policies, and CBAs. The employee will be entitled to transition assistance in accordance with DOE's PM #13A, Reemployment Priority List, and DOE's Career Transition Assistance Plan (CTAP).

- (13) Management cannot automatically terminate or modify Remote Work Agreements based on employee performance or conduct issues.
 - (a) In the event of performance or conduct issues, supervisors must follow the requirements of DOE O 331.1D, Employee Performance Management and Recognition Program, and DOE O 333.1, Administering Work Force Discipline, Adverse and Performance-Based Actions.
 - (b) Unacceptable performance, misconduct, or the failure to protect Government records and/or sensitive information may result in disciplinary action, suspension, or removal from Federal service, or the revocation of access to Government systems.
 - (c) If it is determined by management that a Remote Work Agreement outside the LCA of the employee's Official DOE Worksite needs to be terminated/modified to address performance or conduct issues, any associated expenses (e.g., relocation expenses) will be the responsibility of the employee and will not be funded by DOE.
- (14) If an employee requests to establish, modify, or terminate a Remote Work Agreement, including a temporary remote work arrangement, any expenses (e.g., relocation expenses) will be the responsibility of the employee and will not be funded by DOE.
- (15) Any "Change in Duty Station" personnel action can result in the employee being assigned to a new competitive area for the purposes of reduction in force (RIF) or transfer of function procedures. The employee will be assigned to a new competitive area (as described in Section g below) based on their tier-one organization (sub-agency) and its geographical component.
- (16) If an employee wants to end a Remote Work Agreement, they must obtain approval from their supervisor, and any other internal approval established by their DE at least 60 days in advance.
 - (a) SHRO/SSCs must be notified at least one pay period in advance that a "Change in Duty Station" personnel action is required on the employee's behalf.
 - (b) When a Remote Work Agreement is terminated at the employee's request and office space is available at an appropriate Official DOE Worksite, the employee will return to the worksite. If office space is unavailable at their Official DOE Worksite, the termination of the Remote Work Agreement may be delayed until the appropriate physical workspace can be made available.

- (17) If an employee wants to change their Official Remote Worksite and such change will result in a change in locality pay, the employee must obtain approval from their supervisor, as well as any additional internal approval procedures established by the DE.
- (a) The employee must provide notice at least 60 days in advance of the proposed date of the change. SHRO/SSCs must be notified at least one pay period in advance that a “Change in Duty Station” personnel action is required.
 - (b) The employee’s pay, taxes, benefits, and entitlements are determined based on their Official Remote Worksite and such change may result in loss of monetary benefit or an increase in costs for the DE.
 - (c) Unless there are extenuating circumstances, supervisors have 30 calendar days to approve or deny an employee’s request to move. Supervisors must consult with the applicable SHRO/SSC and GC prior to denying such a request.
 - (d) If approved, a new Remote Work Agreement must be signed by all parties prior to moving and effecting the associated personnel action. The employee is not authorized to move without the supervisor’s written approval in the Remote Work Agreement. Moving without written supervisor approval may result in disciplinary action up to and including removal from federal service.
- (18) If an employee on a Remote Work Agreement wants to change their Official Remote Worksite, even if that change does not modify the locality pay, the employee must obtain approval from their supervisor, as well as any additional internal approval procedures established by the DE.
- (a) The employee must provide notice at least 60 days in advance of the proposed date of the change. SHRO/SSCs must be notified at least one pay period in advance that a “Change in Duty Station” personnel action is required.
 - (b) Changing an address even if the move does not result in a change of City, County or State is a change to the Official Remote Worksite.
 - (c) Changes in counties require an update to an employee’s Official Remote Worksite (via SF-50) even if locality pay does not change.
 - (d) The change in the employee’s Official Remote Worksite may result in an increase in travel costs for the DE if the employee moves outside of the LCA of the Official DOE Worksite.

- (e) Unless there are extenuating circumstances, supervisors have 30 calendar days to approve or deny an employee's request to move. Supervisors must consult with the applicable SHRO/SSC and GC prior to denying such a request.
 - (f) If approved, a new Remote Work Agreement must be signed by all parties prior to moving and effecting the associated personnel action. The employee is not authorized to move without the supervisor's written approval in the Remote Work Agreement. Moving without written supervisor approval may result in disciplinary action up to and including removal from federal service.
- (19) If an employee wants to work remotely on a temporary basis due to specific personal circumstances (e.g., to support an employee's temporary relocation during their spouse's military deployment, or while they care for a family member), the employee must obtain approval from their supervisor, as well as any additional internal DE approval procedures, at least 60 calendar days in advance of the start of the arrangement, or as soon as practicable if due to an emergency.
- (a) Temporary Remote Work Agreements cannot exceed six months in duration unless an extension is granted in writing by the supervisor and any additional internal DE approval procedures.
 - (b) For the duration of the Temporary Remote Work Agreement, the employee's Official Duty Station on their SF-50 must be changed to reflect their Official Remote Worksite as indicated on the Temporary Remote Work Agreement. This change may result in a loss of monetary benefit in some cases or an increase in costs for the DE.
 - (c) The Official Duty Station will revert to the original DOE Worksite of the employee's position of record at the expiration of the Temporary Remote Work Agreement. SHRO/SSCs must be notified at least one pay period in advance that a "Change in Duty Station" personnel action is required.
 - (d) An employee's work duties and responsibilities may be adjusted for the duration of the Temporary Remote Work Agreement to support remote work in accordance with mission requirements.
 - (e) Unless there are extenuating circumstances, supervisors have 30 calendar days to approve or deny an employee's request to be covered by a Temporary Remote Work Agreement. Supervisors must consult with the applicable SHRO/SSC and GC prior to granting or denying such a request.

- (f) If approved, a Temporary Remote Work Agreement, which consists of a Remote Work Agreement and a Temporary Remote Work Addendum, must be signed by all parties prior to moving and effecting the associated personnel action. The employee is not authorized to move without the supervisor's written approval in the Remote Work Agreement and Temporary Remote Work Addendum. Moving without written supervisor approval may result in disciplinary action up to and including removal from federal service.

f. Competitive Area.

- (1) Competitive areas for employees covered by a Remote Work Agreement will reflect the city and state of the employee's reporting DE.
 - (a) For example: an HC employee who lives in Denver, Colorado and works for HC, whose Official DOE Worksite is in Washington, DC, will be assigned to the Washington, DC, competitive area.
 - (b) SHRO/SSCs must submit a competitive area request form to the HC Policy Division when processing SF-50s for new Official Duty Stations commensurate with this section's requirements.

g. Continuity of Operations (COOP) Plans and Emergency Events.

- (1) Telework is an integral part of DOE's COOP at all levels. During any period where an organization is operating under a COOP, the COOP will supersede this Directive, HC PM #106 or its successor, and the provisions of the tele/remote work agreement.
- (2) When changes in the operating status of the Federal Government or a DOE facility or a COOP event impact the normal operations of the Official DOE Worksite/Official Remote Worksite, it is expected that employees on tele/remote work agreements will continue to perform under their tele/remote work agreement. This applies even when such an event occurs on days when employees would normally report to the Official DOE Worksite.
 - (c) Employees on approved tele/remote work agreements are not eligible for Weather and Safety Leave (WSL) in accordance with 5 CFR § 630.1605, unless there are extenuating circumstances preventing them from working from their alternative worksites.
 - (d) The final decision to approve WSL rests with the supervisor and will be based upon several factors, such as the nature of the employee's interactions with the worksite affected by the dismissal or closure; the nature and severity of the emergency situation; the duration of the situation; and other circumstances that are common or unique to a given emergency (e.g., power outages, travel delays).

- (3) If there are factors present that prevent or impact an employee's ability to effectively perform their duties at home (e.g., care of small children when schools or care facilities are closed due to weather or an emergency event), a teleworking/remote employee must account for work and non-work hours during their tour of duty and take appropriate leave (paid or unpaid) for time spent away from normal work-related activities.
- (4) Certain emergency-designated employees may be required to report onsite during emergency situations to perform their official duties; such employees are ineligible for telework during emergencies.
- (5) At least annually, supervisors must notify emergency-designated employees in writing of the requirement for them to report to the Official DOE Worksite or work from an alternative worksite when Government operations are disrupted.
- (6) If an employee's duties during an emergency event are different from their normal duties, supervisors should include a description of those duties with the employee's Situational-Only Telework Agreement.
- (7) In the event of an emergency, employees in positions not eligible for telework may become eligible on a temporary basis. Similarly, an employee whose request to telework has been denied, suspended, or canceled may receive a temporary exception to telework during an emergency.
- (8) Any employee designated as a member of their organization's Continuity Emergency Response Group will be required to have at least a Situational-Only Telework Agreement in place, in accordance with DOE O 150.1, Continuity Programs.
- (9) An employee's Official DOE Worksite/Official Remote Worksite does not change when the employee does not perform work at that site due to an emergency.
- (10) If a teleworking/remote employee is forced to evacuate, they must report the new location (city and state) from which they are teleworking to their supervisor.

h. Performance Management.

- (2) Tele/remote work employees and onsite employees must be treated equally for the purposes of work requirements, performance standards and expectations, periodic appraisals of job performance, training, awards, reassignment, promotion, reduction in grade, retention, and other personnel actions requiring management discretion.

- (3) Consistent with onsite personnel, employees must be held accountable for the results they are expected to produce while tele/remote working.

i. Work Schedules and Hours of Duty.

- (4) Time spent working, whether onsite or in a tele/remote work status, must be accounted for and reported in the appropriate official timekeeping system (e.g., ATAAPS). Additionally, time not spent working during the employee's tour of duty must be accounted for and reported appropriately.
 - (a) Supervisors must ensure reported time adheres to DOE O 322.1C, Pay and Leave Administration and Hours of Duty, or successor policy.
 - (b) Certifying officials must ensure any time reported for pay purposes in a tele/remote work status includes the proper reason pay code in the official timekeeping system.
- (5) Time spent in a tele/remote work status is official duty time; employees are expected to perform DOE business only.
- (6) Employees must ensure all hours are reported for pay purposes, including regular tours of duty, overtime, compensatory time, or credit hours earned, during which an employee teleworks.
- (7) DEs can use additional tools/technology to validate time and attendance. Such tools/technology are subject to collective bargaining obligations.
- (8) Employees on tele/remote work agreements must be at their alternative worksite (or another location, as approved by their supervisor) during their scheduled tour of duty or approved work hours.
- (9) With supervisory approval, employees may modify certain aspects of their approved work hours while in a tele/remote work status (e.g., begin the workday earlier and end earlier than on those days when they would normally work within a flexible work schedule).
- (10) Tele/remote work and alternative work schedules are different work flexibility arrangements; concurrent use is permissible and encouraged when compatible with mission requirements and individual performance, and in accordance with DE requirements.
- (11) All premium pay provisions that apply to work at the DOE Official Worksite also apply to employees who perform tele/remote work. For example, tele/remote work employees may work overtime only when specifically ordered and or approved in advance by the supervisor.

j. Domestic Employee Teleworking Overseas (DETO) Agreement.

- (1) A DETO Agreement is a temporary overseas remote work arrangement that allows Federal employees to perform the duties of their domestic DOE position of record from an approved overseas location.
- (2) The authority to work remotely overseas on a DETO Agreement is limited and subject to internal and external approvals from various stakeholders including final approval from the Department of State (DOS).
- (3) All DETO Agreements must be approved by DOS prior to working remotely overseas. All DOE employees seeking a DETO Agreement must be vetted with NNSA's Office of International Operations, which will consult with the relevant DOS Regional Bureau Executive Office prior to submitting a request.
- (4) Employees working remotely from Hawaii or U.S. territories (Puerto Rico, American Samoa, Guam, Northern Marina Islands, and the U.S. Virgin Islands) are not required to have a signed DETO Agreement.
- (5) Remote working from an overseas location on a DETO Agreement is distinct from other work flexibilities which may allow an employee who is overseas for a short duration (e.g., vacation) to check email, touch base with a supervisor, call into a meeting or log into a work account to accomplish work. Further, employees on official travel orders (i.e., TDY) are typically allowed to log in and perform DOE work while overseas without a formal DETO Agreement. Prior to authorizing this type of work flexibility overseas, DEs must consult with the Office of Chief Information Officer (OCIO) and follow any applicable OCIO policies.
- (6) HC PM#108, Domestic Employees Teleworking Overseas provides implementing guidelines for authorizing DETO Agreements.

k. Equipment, Supplies, and Connectivity.

- (1) The Department may provide Government Furnished Equipment (GFE) and office supplies necessary for employees conducting official Government business while in a tele/remote work status.
 - (a) Employees must use and maintain GFE in accordance with established DOE policies, practices, and procedures and return GFE to DOE upon termination of their tele/remote work agreement.

- (b) The DE is responsible for maintaining GFE records and is responsible for paying for the cost of returning the DE's GFE.
- (2) Employees are responsible for ensuring their home workstation space is safe. Employees must take any necessary corrective actions to eliminate potential safety hazards in the home workstation prior to tele/remote working.
- (c) Employees are required to complete Self-Certification Safety Checklist (see PM#106 or successor) prior to signing a tele/remote work agreement and certify their home workstation will be maintained in a safe, hazard-free condition, and be as free from distraction as possible.
- (3) Employees are responsible for ensuring their approved Official Remote Worksite or alternate telework worksite has the requirements and appropriate resources available to support tele/remote work.
- (4) DOE is not responsible for operating costs; home maintenance; insurance; utilities; internet access; or service, maintenance, damage, or replacement of privately owned equipment used for tele/remote work purposes, including personal printer supplies/paper; or any other incidental costs not expressly authorized. Authorized costs must be approved in writing by the supervisor prior to incurring them.
- (5) If an employee experiences a connectivity problem and is unable to work, the employee must inform their supervisor immediately and routinely try to reconnect to determine if issues have been resolved.
- (d) If the problem is due to DOE-related networking issues (e.g., Citrix, Global Protect, VPN problems), the employee's timecard should be coded as tele/remote working.
 - (e) If the problem is due to issues at the tele/remote worksite (e.g., home internet is down, a power outage occurs), the supervisor will consider all factors, including but not limited to, the nature of the circumstances, any work assignments that can still be performed under the circumstances, and whether leave, administrative leave, or another duty status is appropriate.
 - (f) If an employee expects to experience longer than normal connectivity issues (e.g., all day or several days) and requests administrative leave or WSL, the supervisor may request documentation of the disruption prior to approving the leave request. Depending on the situation (i.e., assuming it is safe to travel), attempts should be made to telework from an alternate location with connectivity prior to requesting administrative or WSL.

1. Training.

- (1) Employees and supervisors must complete all required training prior to signing a tele/remote work agreement.
- (2) Employees and supervisors must certify they completed all required training on the tele/remote work agreement.

5. RESPONSIBILITIES.

a. Chief Human Capital Officer.

- (1) Serve as DOE's TMO, the primary point of contact with OPM on tele/remote work matters on behalf of DOE.
- (2) Administer the DOE Tele/Remote Work Program and develop and issue implementing guidance via policy memorandums or other appropriate mechanisms (e.g., tele/remote work agreements, templates) in accordance with applicable regulations, guidance, and requirements.
- (3) Review and incorporate major legislation and OPM policy changes into DOE's implementing tele/remote work guidance.
- (4) Serve as an advisor to agency leadership.
- (5) Serve as a resource for managers and employees.
- (6) Oversee the collection and reporting of data responsive to OPM reporting requirements.

b. Heads of Departmental Elements (HDE) (or Designees).

- (1) Identify a TWC(s) who will assist with administering the Tele/Remote Work Program for the DE.
- (2) Ensure new positions designated as Remote (Restricted) or Remote (All-US) are approved at a senior-level within their DE (i.e., no lower than a Field Site Manager or Principal Deputy or equivalent for Headquarters DEs) to ensure consistent application and mission requirements can be met within their DE.
- (3) If needed, develop DE specific policy that aligns with this Directive and HC implementing guidance via HC PM #106 or its successor. The DE specific policy may include a plan for effectively managing tele/remote work in their respective organizations.

- c. DOE COOP Manager.
 - (1) Work collaboratively with HC to ensure telework is an integrated part of the Department's COOP Plan.

- d. DOE Tele/Remote Work Program Manager (HC Policy Division/Office of Policy, Labor and Employee Relations).
 - (1) Maintain and provide supplemental guidance concerning the Department's Tele/Remote Work Program.
 - (2) In coordination with the TWC, evaluate the effectiveness of DOE's Tele/Remote Work Program, considering feedback received from stakeholders.
 - (3) Serve as a resource for TWCs.
 - (4) Coordinate, collect and report tele/remote work data to OPM and other agencies, as needed.
 - (5) Maintain Department-level tele/remote work participation reports.

- e. DE Tele/Remote Work Coordinators (TWC).
 - (1) Collect and maintain copies of tele/remote work agreements; when an electronic telework system is used, the system will serve as the repository for agreements.
 - (2) Ensure employees and supervisors complete all required training prior to implementing a tele/remote work agreement and maintain copies of training certificates for respective employees.
 - (3) Update new or revised position telework/remote work designations and employee telework/remote work agreements in Corporate Human Resources Information System (CHRIS) or the official HR system every pay period.
 - (4) Maintain and provide guidance concerning the tele/remote work plan for their DE.
 - (5) Submit tele/remote work participation reports and annual telework recertification statistics/reports to the DOE Tele/Remote Work Program Manager.

- f. Servicing Human Resources Offices and Shared Services Centers.
 - (1) Process personnel actions (SF-50) for employees on Remote Work Agreements.

- (2) Maintain and update competitive areas in accordance with Reduction-in-Force Policy and workforce reshaping procedures.
- (3) Process tele/remote work position designations to ensure accurate documentation in CHRIS or the official HR system when building positions and processing personnel actions.
- (4) Ensure JOAs indicate whether the respective position is tele/remote work (Restricted or All) eligible.
- (5) Ensure new employees are aware of the Department's work-life programs, including tele/remote work.
- (6) Review an employee's eOPF to determine if there is an official permanent disciplinary action leading to permanent ineligibility of telework due to:
 - (a) Being AWOL for more than 5 days in any calendar year; or
 - (b) Violations of subpart G of the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties.

g. Supervisors.

- (1) Complete all required tele/remote work training prior to approving a tele/remote work agreement.
- (2) For each position or group of similarly situated positions, determine whether any portion of work can be performed at an alternative worksite and, if so, the type of tele/remote work agreement consistent with the DE's tele/remote work approach.
- (3) Notify all employees of their eligibility or ineligibility to tele/remote work—if ineligible, provide the business reason(s) based on the exclusions identified above.
- (4) Review and approve tele/remote work agreements prior to employees beginning tele/remote work.
- (5) Submit requests for duty station changes to the applicable SHRO/SSC at least a pay period in advance of the proposed effective date to ensure for processing.
- (6) Effectively manage tele/remote working employees to maintain compliance with their tele/remote work agreements and take appropriate steps to terminate the agreement if non-compliance is not promptly corrected.

- (7) Ensure tele/remote work does not diminish employee performance or DOE operations.
- (8) Consult with the Servicing Local Reasonable Accommodation Coordinator and/or Employee Relations Specialist when employee requests telework as a reasonable accommodation pursuant to the Americans with Disabilities Act, as amended, in a timely and efficient manner based on the Department's Reasonable Accommodation Policy.
- (9) Ensure and certify tele/remote work hours for employees are accurately recorded in the official timekeeping system.
- (10) Absent extenuating circumstances or temporary exceptions made in accordance with 5 CFR 531.605(d)(2), ensure employees are adhering to the work scheduled defined on their telework form.

h. Employees.

- (1) Complete all required training prior to entering into a tele/remote work agreement.
- (2) Ensure a tele/remote work agreement has been submitted and approved prior to beginning the work arrangement.
- (3) Comply with the terms of the tele/remote work agreement.
- (4) Comply with supervisory expectations regarding methods and frequency of communication.
- (5) Protect information used at the alternative worksite in accordance with established DOE policies, practices, and procedures, and comply with all DOE information technology and cybersecurity guidelines.
- (6) Use and maintain GFE in accordance with established DOE policies, practices, and procedures and return GFE to DOE upon termination of the tele/remote work agreement.
- (7) Follow their DE's procedures for reporting changes in commuting methods/patterns because of their telework schedule.
- (8) Request a change to a duty station or telework or remote work agreement in accordance with the procedures set forth in this Order.
- (9) Record all tele/remote work hours accurately in the official timekeeping system.

6. INVOKED STANDARDS. This Order does not invoke any DOE technical standards or industry standards as required methods. Note: DOE O 251.1D, Appendix J provides a definition for “invoked technical standard.”

7. DEFINITIONS.
 - a. Alternate Worksite. An employee’s approved telework site. For a remote worker, it is their approved Official Remote Worksite.

 - b. Domestic Employees Teleworking Overseas (DETO) Agreement: A temporary overseas remote work arrangement that allows Federal employees to perform the duties of their domestic DOE position of record from an approved overseas location. DETO Agreements require DOE approval with final approval from the Department of State. A DETO Agreement is not required when an employee is working remotely from non-foreign locations (e.g., territories).

 - c. Local Commuting Area. Defined by GSA as the 50-mile radius surrounding the DOE Worksite or a remote worker’s Official Remote Worksite. Remote employees are eligible for travel reimbursement when reporting to the DOE Worksite if their Official Remote Worksite is outside of the 50-mile LCA of a DOE Worksite.

 - d. Medical Telework. A limited telework arrangement where an employee may be allowed to telework when the position may not otherwise permit for telework or telework more often than typically authorized. A Medical Telework Agreement must be completed by the employee and approved by the supervisor prior to the employee beginning the medical telework arrangement. Medical Telework is an appropriate arrangement for an employee’s medical condition (e.g., definitive periods of confinement, rehabilitation, recuperation) or that of a family member when the employee is expected to provide care for the family member throughout the specified period. A medical arrangement must be supported by acceptable documentation from the applicable medical service provider and provided in advance of medical telework starting unless there is an emergency. The duration of a medical telework agreement is determined by the specified period that the arrangement is in effect but cannot be longer than four months. It may be reduced or extended only once for an additional four-month period, depending on the circumstances. When on a Medical Telework Agreement, an employee is not required to change their duty station.

 - e. Official Remote Worksite. The remote location (usually employee’s residence) from which an employee on a Remote Work Agreement regularly performs.

 - f. Official DOE Worksite. An official DOE location where work activities are based, generally considered a centralized location of an employee’s assigned organization. This is the duty station for a teleworking employee’s position of record and where the employee is scheduled to report a minimum of two days per pay period on a regular and recurring basis unless a temporary exception is made by the employee's supervisor in accordance with 5 CFR § 531.605(d)(2).

- g. Realistic Commuting Distance. The distance a Remote (Restricted) employee might reasonably be expected to commute from their Official Remote Worksite to a DOE Worksite with some regularity (e.g., a few times a quarter) is generally no more than 2.5 hours commuting time or approximately 125 miles in distance. Field sites may define its own reasonable commuting distance based on mission needs and location.
- h. Remote Work Agreement. A written document signed by the employee and DOE to authorize an employee to work remotely—either Remote (All-US) or Remote (Restricted). This written document outlines the terms, conditions, and expectations of remote work and defines the Official Remote Worksite.
- i. Remote Work Arrangement. A work arrangement in which the employee continually works from an approved remote worksite (usually the employee's residence) and is not expected to report to an Official DOE Worksite on a regular and recurring basis. This arrangement is codified on a Remote Work Agreement. A remote work is distinct from telework and results in a change in duty station location to reflect the Official Remote Worksite.
- j. Remote (All US). A designation that a position can support full-time remote work from anywhere in the U.S. With supervisory approval, the employee's Official Remote Worksite may be located anywhere in the United States and U.S. Territories (i.e., may be outside of the locality pay area of the DOE Worksite) provided the employee can guarantee a secured and continuous internet connection.
- k. Remote (Restricted). A designation that a position can support full-time remote work, but the employee's Official Remote Worksite must be located within the locality pay area of the DOE Worksite or must be a realistic commuting distance from the DOE Worksite for areas outside of a defined locality pay area (i.e., Rest of the United States locality pay area).
- l. Routine Telework. A voluntary telework arrangement wherein the employee is authorized to telework at least one specific day per pay period on an ongoing, regular schedule for non-medical reasons (e.g., the first Tuesday of the pay period). This is codified on a Routine Telework Agreement. The employee is authorized to telework at an approved alternative worksite on scheduled telework days. The employee must report physically to their Official DOE Worksite at least twice each biweekly pay period on a regular and reoccurring basis. With an approved Routine Telework Agreement, the employee may also telework situationally (i.e., on an ad-hoc basis) with supervisory approval.
- m. Situational-Only Telework. A telework arrangement wherein telework is approved on a case-by-case basis during the pay period. This is codified on a Situational-Only Telework Agreement. The employee is expected to report onsite daily to the Official DOE Worksite unless a situational telework day is approved for specific non-recurring assignments, special projects, or unscheduled events (i.e., dentist appointment or not physically well enough to come into the office but still able to perform work). Situational telework can also occur in response to a weather or safety event that prevents reporting to the regular workplace.

- n. Telework Agreement. A written document signed by the employee and the supervisory to authorize an employee to telework and specifies if the employee is on a Routine, Situational-Only, or Medical Telework. This written document outlines the terms, conditions, and expectations while on telework.
- o. Telework Arrangement. A work arrangement that allows an employee to perform the duties and responsibilities of their position and other authorized activities from an approved worksite other than the Official DOE Worksite. At a minimum, teleworkers are required to report to the Official DOE Worksite at least twice per pay period in accordance with 5 CFR § 531.605(d)(2).
- p. Temporary Remote Work. A remote work arrangement that is typically established at the request of the employee to accommodate specific personal circumstances (e.g., to support an employee's temporary relocation during their spouse's military deployment) and is only temporary, in nature, usually 12 months or less. This is codified on a Temporary Remote Work Agreement, which consists of a Remote Work Agreement and a Temporary Remote Work Addendum. Unlike regular remote work arrangements, eligibility for temporary remote work is based on personal circumstances vice the duties and responsibilities of the position. This arrangement is distinct from Medical Telework. When on a temporary remote work agreement, an employee is required to change their duty station.

8. REFERENCES.

- a. 5 CFR 550, Subpart D – Payments During Evacuations
- b. 5 CFR 531.605 – Determining an Employee's Official Worksite
- c. 5 U.S.C. § 6502 – Executive Agencies Telework Requirement
- d. 41 CFR 300-304 – Federal Travel Regulation System
- e. OPM Guide to Telework in the Federal Government
- f. Telework Enhancement Act
- g. Federal Employees' Compensation Act
- h. DOE O 150.1 – Continuity Programs, or successor

- i. DOE O 322.1 – Pay and Leave Administration and Hours of Duty, or successor
 - j. DOE O 331.1 – Employee Performance Management and Recognition Program, or successor
 - k. DOE O 333.1 – Administering Work Force Discipline, Adverse and Performance Based Actions, or successor
 - l. DOE O 342.1 – Agency Administrative Grievance Policy and Procedures, or successor
 - m. DOE M 552.1-1 – U.S. Department of Energy Travel Manual, or successor
 - n. DOE HC PM #13A – Reemployment Priority List, or successor
 - o. DOE HC PM #82 – Weather and Safety Leave, or successor
 - p. DOE HC PM #100B – Reasonable Accommodation, or successor
 - q. DOE HC PM #106 – Department of Energy’s Telework/Remote Work Program, or successor
 - r. DOE HC PM #108 – Domestic Employees Teleworking Overseas, or successor
9. CONTACT. Office of the Chief Human Capital Officer at HC.Policy@hq.doe.gov.

BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF ENERGY:

DAVID M. TURK
Deputy Secretary

TELEWORK AGREEMENT

SECTION 1 General Information

Employee Name
Departmental Element and Routing Symbol
Supervisor Name
Supervisor Title
Employee's Title, Series, Grade
Official DOE Reporting Worksite (i.e., DOE worksite of employee's position of record)
Employee's Telework Site (e.g., employee's home address, to include street, city, state, and zip code)	Street: City: State: Select Zip code:

SECTION 2 Type of Telework Agreement

(Select only one type of agreement as a Routine Agreement includes the ability to telework situationally with Supervisory approval)

Situational:	<input type="checkbox"/>	Routine:	<input type="checkbox"/>
--------------	--------------------------	----------	--------------------------

Complete the information below (must add up to 10 days)

Telework % per pay period (for Routine or Medical)	<input type="checkbox"/> Periodic Routine (1 to 2 days)	<input type="checkbox"/> Routine (3 to 5 days)	<input type="checkbox"/> Routine More than 50% (6 to 8 days)	<input type="checkbox"/> 100% (only Medical)
Number of scheduled telework days per pay period:				Select
Number of Alternate Work Schedule (AWS) days per pay period:				Select
Total number of days at the Employee's Official DOE Worksite per pay period:				Select

SECTION 3 Supervisory Requirements

I discussed and approved the recurring schedule with the Employee.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
--	------------------------------	-----------------------------

I completed the one-time required Supervisory Training. Yes No

Second Level Supervisor Approval Needed? Second Level Supervisor Name:

SECTION 4 Employee Requirements and Terms and Conditions

Review the below terms and conditions and check the appropriate boxes. Telework may not be authorized if the employee does not comply with all items listed below.

I completed the one-time required Employee Training. Yes No

I reviewed the Self-Certification Safety Checklist (PM #106, Attachment 8) and certify my home space is safe, free from hazards, and meets the requirements in the checklist. I will take necessary corrective actions to eliminate potential safety hazards in my home workstation prior to teleworking. Yes No

I understand that in the event of inclement weather or a COOP incident, employees who are regularly scheduled to perform telework or have the means to situationally telework must be prepared to telework, or take unscheduled leave, or a combination of both for the entire workday. Yes No

I am volunteering to telework. Yes No

I have enough portable work for the type of telework being proposed. Yes No

I will adhere to all telework program guidelines and policies. Yes No

I understand that I must maintain a meets expectations or higher performance rating throughout the performance period for continued participation in telework. Yes No

I can work independently and will maintain constant communication with my Supervisor, coworkers, and customers that will enable a relatively seamless transition from onsite to offsite. Yes No

I understand that I am (or will be) considered ineligible to telework if I have been officially disciplined for being absent without leave (AWOL) for more than 5 days, or been officially disciplined for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties. Yes No

My Official Duty Station will remain as indicated on my most recent SF-50, block 39. The Official Duty Station will be used to determine pay rates, travel entitlements, and withholding of state income tax. I understand all guidelines applicable to the Official Duty Station are equally applicable to home or satellite worksite. Yes No

I agree to work the original agreed upon or management revised work schedule. My Supervisor reserves the right to alter my work schedule to accommodate business needs. I recognize that I may be asked to come into the office on a scheduled telework day. If required to come into the office, the decision will ordinarily be based on agency mission and business-related needs, with a reasonable period of notice. Yes No

I understand telework time is official duty time and I am expected to perform DOE business only. Yes No

I will obtain my Supervisor's approval of all leave or earning credit hours or overtime/ compensatory time, pursuant to Federal regulations and/or union Collective Bargaining Agreements. Employees covered by the provisions of Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) agree that they will not work overtime at the alternate work site unless ordered or authorized by their Supervisor. Yes No

I will report regular time spent teleworking under the appropriate time reporting codes in the official timekeeping system. Yes No

Employment (teleworking) at my telework site is treated the same as employment at the traditional work site for all purposes, including Federal Employees Compensation Act (FECA). I agree to report to my Supervisor immediately any job-related incident that results in or has the potential to cause injury, illness, or property damage and to complete any required forms. Yes No

I understand that DOE will not be responsible for operating costs; insurance; utilities; internet access; or service, maintenance, damage, or replacement of privately owned equipment used for tele/remote work purposes, unless caused by DOE resources; or any other incidental costs not expressly authorized. Authorized costs must be approved in writing by the Supervisor prior to incurring them.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
I will protect information used at my teleworking site in accordance with established DOE policies, practices, and procedures, and will comply with all DOE information technology and cybersecurity guidelines.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
My use of any Government Furnished Equipment while teleworking will be in accordance with established DOE policies, practices, and procedures. I understand and agree that DOE property will be used for official DOE business only.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF DOE'S TELEWORK AGREEMENT

1) INTRODUCTION:

This Telework Agreement is between the Employee and the Departmental Element. The Telework Agreement specifies the terms and conditions under which the Employee will participate in DOE's telework program. This Telework Agreement does not create an entitlement.

2) DEFINITIONS:

Below are the definitions of the various types of telework arrangements.

TELEWORK: A workplace flexibility that allows an employee to perform the duties and responsibilities of their position and other authorized activities from an approved worksite other than the Official Reporting Worksite (i.e., DOE Worksite). In accordance with 5 CFR § 531.605, the official worksite for an employee covered by a Telework Agreement is the location of the Official Reporting Worksite for the Employee's position (i.e., the place where the Employee would normally work absent a Telework Agreement). At a minimum, teleworkers are required to report to the Official Reporting Worksite at least twice per pay period in accordance with 5 CFR § 531.605(d)(2). In the case of an employee whose work location varies on a recurring basis, the employee need not report at least twice per pay period to the Official Reporting Worksite as long as the employee is performing work within the same locality pay area as the Official Reporting Worksite.

ROUTINE: A voluntary work arrangement that occurs as part of an ongoing, regular schedule wherein the Employee is authorized to telework at least one day per pay period for non-medical reasons. The Employee is authorized to telework at an approved alternative worksite on scheduled days and work at the Official Reporting Worksite on other days during each pay period. If the Employee is on a standard Monday through Friday 8-hour work schedule, a maximum of eight (8) days a pay period can be scheduled as telework. If the Employee is on a 5-4-9 Flexible Work Schedule, a maximum of seven (7) days a pay period may be scheduled telework. With an approved Routine Telework Agreement, the Employee may also telework situationally or on an ad-hoc basis with Supervisory approval. Routine telework agreements may be in effect indefinitely, as long as the Employee's duties or responsibilities do not change significantly, but they are subject to annual review and recertification.

SITUATIONAL: A work arrangement wherein telework is approved on a case-by-case basis and the hours worked are not part of an ongoing and regular telework schedule. This is sometimes referred to as "ad hoc" telework, where the employee may be approved for situational telework for specific non-recurring assignments, special projects, or unscheduled events (i.e., dentist appointment or not physically well enough to come into the office but still able to perform work). Situational telework can also occur in response to a weather or safety event that prevents reporting to the regular workplace. Situational telework arrangement may be in effect indefinitely if the employee's duties and/or responsibilities do not change significantly but are subject to annual review and recertification.

MEDICAL: A limited telework arrangement where an employee may be allowed to telework when the position may not otherwise permit for telework or telework more often than typically authorized. A Medical Telework Agreement must be completed by the employee and approved by the supervisor prior to the employee beginning the Medical Telework Arrangement. Medical Telework is an appropriate arrangement for an employee's medical condition (e.g., definitive periods of confinement, rehabilitation, recuperation) or that of a family member when the employee is expected to provide care for the family member throughout the specified period. A medical arrangement must be supported by acceptable documentation from the applicable medical service provider and provided in advance of medical telework starting, unless there is an emergency. The duration of a Medical Telework Agreement is determined by the specified period that the arrangement is in effect, but cannot be longer than four months. It may be reduced or extended only once for an additional four-month period, depending on the circumstances. When on a Medical Telework Agreement, an employee is not required to change their duty station.

3) EFFECTIVE DATE, DURATION, AND TERMINATION:

This Telework Agreement is effective upon signature from the Supervisor and second-level Supervisor, if applicable. ROUTINE and SITUATIONAL Telework Agreements are generally good for a year and require annual recertification. MEDICAL Telework Agreements are time-bound based on the unique situation.

This Telework Agreement may be terminated by either party. Termination or suspension of the Telework Agreement by DOE is not a disciplinary or adverse action.

The Employee may terminate this Telework Agreement at any time by giving the Employee's Supervisor reasonable notice and returning to the Employee's Official Reporting Worksite. The Employee understands that appropriate notice must be given to management and there may be delays to ensure appropriate physical arrangements are available at the Employee's Official Reporting Worksite.

Management has the right to terminate or modify this Telework Agreement at any time with reasonable notice.

Management will inform the Employee of the reason for termination. Termination for reasons of misconduct or the failure to protect Government records and/or sensitive information may also result in disciplinary action and/or suspension, or the revocation of access to Government systems.

4) APPLICABLE POLICY AND GUIDANCE:

The Employee and Supervisor agree all policies and practices that apply at the Employee's Official Reporting Worksite apply to the Employee when teleworking. The following policy documents apply: DOE Order 314.1, DOE-Flex: DOE's Telework Program, or successor order; Policy Memorandum #106, Telework/Remote Work Program, which supplements the Office of Personnel Management's 2021 Guide to Telework and Remote Work in the Federal Government; the Departmental Element's telework guidance; and DOE O 206.1, Department of Energy Privacy Program, which addresses protecting personally identifiable information (PII). The Employee is bound by the Standards of Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch and the Department's supplement thereto while working at a telework site. For bargaining unit employees, in the event any provision(s) of this telework agreement conflict with the terms of an applicable negotiated collective bargaining agreement, the terms of the negotiated agreement shall prevail.

5) EMPLOYEE'S RESPONSIBILITIES:

While teleworking, the Employee will:

- Perform work assigned by their Supervisor;
- Ensure that the appropriate resources are available or accessible to perform those assignments at the telework site;
- Notify office/division Supervisor and co-workers that the Employee is teleworking and provide a work schedule and phone number for the day;
- Forward the office telephone to the telework site or provide a voicemail greeting message that informs callers how (and when) to contact the Employee;
- Ensure the Microsoft Outlook Calendar is accurate and updated;
- Use designated communication and collaboration tools (e.g., Microsoft Teams, webcams) as determined by their Supervisor;
- Promptly notify their Supervisor and follow their pre-approved standard operating procedure for requesting approval of leave if there is an emergency or an interruption to their normally scheduled workday;
- Upon request of the Supervisor, provide appropriate notification when starting and ending work and of any change in availability during the duty day;
- Be reasonably accessible during scheduled hours of work;
- Safeguard DOE equipment, PII, and records, and use such equipment and records for official business only;
- Maintain any DOE-issued equipment used to perform work at a telework site and refrain from utilizing such equipment for personal reasons except on a de minimis basis;
- Ensure equipment is kept in a safe location, remains up-to-date on system upgrades, and is free from unauthorized software or applications;
- Maintain a reasonably safe working environment, keeping it hazard-free and normally free from distractions;
- Ensure that the time spent on telework is accurately and properly recorded in DOE's time and attendance system; and

- Ensure that unclassified work products are properly safeguarded and safely conveyed between their telework site and any other location, and that classified work products are not taken to the telework site.

6) DEPARTMENTAL ELEMENT'S RESPONSIBILITIES:

In support of telework, the Departmental Element will:

- Provide agreed upon resources to support the Employee while teleworking;
- Ensure the time the Employee teleworks is accurately and properly recorded in DOE's time and attendance system; and
- Except for suspected or known security violations, provide reasonable notice to the Employee when conducting a routine inspection at the Employee's Alternate Telework Site. As needed, inspections at the Employee's Alternate Telework Site are to ensure that equipment and sensitive information are appropriately protected at the Employee's Alternate Telework Site.

7) RESOURCES PROVIDED:

The Departmental Element may furnish Government Funded Equipment (GFE) resources at their discretion, along with network access permissions and associated equipment. The Employee agrees to maintain the GFE resources provided and to report problems with accessing the Departmental Element network, supplied equipment, or software to Departmental Element's appropriate contact or the IT Help Desk and their Supervisor. Employee-provided equipment, services, and operating costs, such as internet, home maintenance, insurance, or utilities that are associated with the Employee's using their home as the telework site are at the Employee's expense, unless specifically authorized by the Departmental Element. Upon termination of this Telework Agreement, all supplied GFE must be returned to the Departmental Element who will be responsible for the return costs.

8) WORK EXPECTATIONS AND PERFORMANCE:

The current fiscal year performance plan applies to this Telework Agreement. The Employee and Supervisor understand that the same Critical Elements apply while on telework as at the Employee's Official Reporting Worksite and that the Employee will be treated the same at all worksites. The Employee understands that if their Supervisor determines that the Employee's performance has dropped below the Meets Expectations (ME) or equivalent Fully Successful level, the Employee may be required to stop teleworking during a Performance Improvement Period as determined by their Supervisor with concurrence from the Employee Relations specialist. If applicable, any additional work expectations other than those identified above in Section 5 may be addressed below (300 character limit per text box):

-
-

9) WORK SCHEDULE:

The Employee's daily hours of duty while teleworking will be the same as at the Employee's Official Reporting Worksite unless a deviation is approved or directed by their Supervisor. The Employee will promptly notify their Supervisor and follow their pre-approved standard operating procedure for requesting approval of leave if there is an emergency or an interruption to their normally scheduled workday. Upon request of the Supervisor, the Employee will notify their Supervisor when starting and ending work, of any change in availability (e.g., departure for and return from an appointment or a conference call that will tie up the telephone for a while). The Employee understands that they may be required to telework outside of their normal work schedule in the case of a temporary emergency situation.

The Employee understands that if their Supervisor determines that a change in the Employee's telework schedule is necessary due to operational needs (e.g., the Supervisor's or a coworker's absence, a face-to-face meeting or conference, examination of materials that cannot be taken from the worksite, to serve as a witness), the Supervisor may direct the Employee to be at the Employee's Official Reporting Worksite or other location on a day, or part of a day that the Employee would otherwise telework. Notice of this direction should be given as far in advance as possible. The Employee further understands that there is no claim on another day during the current pay period or any other pay period to substitute another day or days on telework unless an alternative day during the pay period is approved; however, the Supervisor will make every effort to establish a mutually agreeable adjustment in the Employee's telework schedule. The detailed work schedule on the next page may be completed (optional) to document the biweekly schedule of the Employee.

For AWS days, select "00" in Start and End Hours and Minutes and check the "AWS" checkbox
 The schedule below reflects an agreement between the Employee and Supervisor.

Work Week	Day	Hours				Location
		Start		End		Official DOE Worksite	Home	AWS
Week 1	Monday	Hours	Minutes	Hours	Minutes	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
	Tuesday	Hours	Minutes	Hours	Minutes	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
	Wednesday	Hours	Minutes	Hours	Minutes	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
	Thursday	Hours	Minutes	Hours	Minutes	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
	Friday	Hours	Minutes	Hours	Minutes	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Week 2	Monday	Hours	Minutes	Hours	Minutes	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
	Tuesday	Hours	Minutes	Hours	Minutes	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
	Wednesday	Hours	Minutes	Hours	Minutes	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
	Thursday	Hours	Minutes	Hours	Minutes	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
	Friday	Hours	Minutes	Hours	Minutes	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

10) TIME AND ATTENDANCE REPORTING:

Time spent working, whether onsite or in a telework status, must be accounted for and reported in the appropriate official Departmental timekeeping system (e.g., ATAAPS). Time not spent working during the employee's tour of duty must also be accounted for and reported appropriately. Established rules and procedures apply for authorizing, approving, earning, and using annual leave, sick leave, overtime, or compensatory time, etc. The Employee's time and attendance must be certified by the certifying official so that there is an accounting for all hours included in the work schedule.

In ATAAPS, Employees must code their time as TW for Routine Telework, TS for Situational Telework, and TM for Medical Telework.

MEDICAL telework will be coded into the timekeeping system based on the number of hours worked each day during the approved period for the medical arrangement. Employees on a medical telework arrangement may need to submit a leave request each pay period if on an approved absence if working intermittently or part-time.

Overtime will not be permitted except when expressly authorized and confirmed in writing in advance. If available, credit hours may be earned in accordance with Departmental Element's policies and procedures.

If the Employee experiences a connectivity problem due to DOE-related issues (e.g., Citrix or VPN problems), the Employee's timecard should be coded as teleworking. If the Employee experiences a connectivity problem due to issues at their home (e.g., home internet is down or there is a power outage) and they are unable to telework, they may be granted administrative leave or Weather and Safety Leave (WSL), as appropriate, or may be directed to return to their Official Reporting Worksite.

In both situations, the Employee must inform their Supervisor immediately and routinely try to re-connect to determine if issues have been resolved. If the Employee expects to experience longer than normal connectivity issues at their home (e.g., all day or several days) and request administrative or WSL, the Supervisor may request documentation of the disruption prior to granting the requested leave.

11) PARKING AND TRANSIT SUBSIDY:

The Employee understands that the telework arrangement may affect their eligibility for parking. Transit subsidy benefits are used exclusively for commuting from home-to-work and from work-to-home. The use of transit benefits is prohibited for the Employee when in a non-pay, leave, or telework status. The Employee is expected to follow the Departmental Element's procedures to report the change and may have their benefits reduced as a result of their telework schedule.

12) ADMINISTRATIVE DISMISSALS AND CLOSURES:

When changes in the Operating Status of the Federal Government or a DOE facility impact the normal operations of the Employee's Official Reporting Worksite, it is expected that the Employee will telework; they are not eligible for WSL (5 CFR § 630.1605) because they are able to work from their approved telework site, unless an unanticipated condition prevents them from working. The final decision to approve WSL rests with the Supervisor and will be based upon several factors, such as the nature of the Employee's interactions with the worksite affected by the dismissal or closure, the nature and severity of the emergency situation, the duration of the situation, and other circumstances that are common or unique to a given emergency (i.e., power outages, travel delays).

When "Federal Offices are Closed to the Public" or a DOE Facility is closed, the Employee is not expected to report to the Official Reporting Worksite but is expected to telework if on any type of an active Telework Agreement. The Employee is expected to work to the greatest extent feasible.

When the Federal Government is operating under an "Unscheduled Leave or Unscheduled Telework" status, the Employee must inform their Supervisor of the intent to telework in accordance with the Departmental Element's procedures and request to use unscheduled leave or unscheduled telework. The Employee may use annual leave, earned compensatory time off, earned credit hours (if applicable), leave without pay, or telework. If the Employee is scheduled to telework on the day of the announcement, they are expected to begin telework on time, request to modify their hours, or request unscheduled leave unless excused.

In the event of an administrative delayed arrival (i.e., the Operating Status is "Federal Offices are Open – XX Hour(s) Late with the Option for Unscheduled Leave or Unscheduled Telework"), the Employee scheduled to telework should begin work on time and work their normal work schedule, unless excused due to exigent circumstances (e.g., granted WSL because the Employee is unable to perform work due to circumstances beyond their control such as a power outage). The Employee should discuss a change to their work schedule due to the nature of the situation causing the change in Operating Status (e.g., their alarm didn't go off because of a power outage prior to their start time, they need to take a child to school when the school also has a delayed start time, they need to clean off their vehicle or driveway to commute to work).

In the event of an administrative early dismissal (i.e., the Operating Status is "Federal Offices are Open – XX Hour Early Departure"), and the Employee is teleworking, the Employee should continue to telework. When continuing work is not practical or feasible for some or the entire remaining work schedule, the Employee will be excused (e.g., granted WSL).

13) LIABILITY:

The Employee understands that their telework location must meet the safety criteria listed on the Self-Certification Safety Checklist and be maintained in a safe, hazard-free condition, as free from distractions as possible. The Employee has discussed with their Supervisor any inability to meet various criteria on the Safety Checklist and has resolved or mitigated any issues appropriately.

The Employee understands and assumes full responsibility for any damage to personal or real property that may occur because of the Employee's working at the telework site, except to the extent that DOE is held liable by the Federal Tort Claims Act or the Military Personnel and Civilian Employees Claims Act. The Employee further understands that if injured during authorized hours of work at the telework site while performing assignments, the Employee is not covered by the Federal Employee Compensation Act (workers' compensation) unless the injury occurs while performing authorized work. The Employee agrees to notify their Supervisor promptly of any accident or injury that occurs at the telework site and complete any required forms. Officials of the Departmental Element and/or the Department of Labor may investigate such a report immediately. Additional information on liability may be obtained from legal support staff.

Approval and Certification understand that the above information is truthful and accurate as of this date, but that applicable policies and guidelines may

Anticipated Termination Date for a MEDICAL Arrangement

Employee Signature and Date
Supervisor Signature and Date
Second Level Supervisor Signature and Date (optional)

PRIVACY ACT STATEMENT

The Telework Enhancement Act of 2010 (Public Law 111-292), Section 6120 of Title 5 to the United States Code, and Executive Memorandum of July 11, 1994 (59 FR 36017) authorizes collection of this information. Signing this notice is voluntary, but failure to sign it may preclude the authorization for the Employee to telework. The primary use of the information contained in this notice is by applicable management officials and supporting administrative staffs, human resource staffs, and the applicable Departmental Element's Telework Coordinator to record this Telework Agreement. There are no additional uses that may be made of the information collected in the Telework Agreement. The official copy of this notice, which is a category of record included in the OPM/GOVT-1 General Personnel Records system, is maintained by the applicable Telework Coordinator.

FEBRUARY 2024

QUESTIONS: Contact HC Policy

VISIT US: HCnet.doe.gov

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

DOE's Remote Work Arrangement Analysis Tool

DOE's Remote Work Analysis Tool is used to analyze the costs or savings of a new or modification to an existing remote work arrangement and provide applicable justifications for remote work arrangements when required.

Cells in this color must be completed. Some have drop-down boxes

Cells in this color autopopulate based on previously entered information. DO NOT CHANGE THE FORMULAS IN THESE cells

Section 1 - Background Information

Entering Position Info Data

Enter the applicable information into the appropriate cells.

Type of Remote Work Arrangement

This is a drop-down. Select "New" for a brand new Remote Work arrangement or "Modification" if a change is being made to the Official Remote Worksite

Length of Remote Work Arrangement

This is a drop-down. Select "Short-Term" if this is an agreement for less than 1 year. Select "Long-term" if this agreement will last 1 year or more. If "Long-term" is selected, the beginning and ending dates for the Short-Term agreement can remain blank.

Original Start Date of Remote Work Agreement

Complete this section if "Modification" was chosen in the Type of Remote Work Arrangement. Otherwise, leave blank.

Section 2: Locality Pay Calculations

Please use the link to OPM's Locality Pay Tables to complete this section. The full address must be provided for the Employee's Requested Official Remote Worksite

Locality Pay Area (defined by OPM's Pay Tables)

In these two sections, enter the Pay Table as defined by OPM (e.g., Washington-Baltimore-Arlington for the National Capital Region or Rest of the US)

Locality Percent

Enter the locality percent for applicable locality pay area. For example, in the Washington-Baltimore-Arlington area enter 31.53% for 2022. This is located at the top of the salary table on OPM's website. For the Rest of the US, enter 16.2% for 2022.

Current Official DOE Worksite Salary

Enter the total salary the Employee is earning. For GS, it corresponds to their Grade and Step. For the Rest of US, enter $77,488 if the Employee is a GS-12, Step 1. If they are located in the DC area, enter $87,198.

Requested Official DOE Remote Worksite Salary

Enter the new salary the Employee would earn if they relocate to the new locality pay area. It may be higher, lower, or the same as the Employee's current Official DOE Worksite.

Salary Difference

Will be automatically calculated based on what is entered in the Current and Requested Worksite Salary

Section 3: Travel Budget Estimate

Please use the link to GSA's Per Diem Rate to complete this section. Use the location of the typical DOE Worksite that the Employee would travel to the most. Can leave this section blank if the employee will not be expected to routinely travel to the DOE Worksite. Any regularly scheduled business travel will not be considered in the cost estimate. The management estimate of the percents must add up to 100%.

Business travel is not included in the cost/savings analysis because those travel expenses would be incurred even if the Employee were not

Percentage of Time Employee will work from Requested Official Remote Worksite

Provide a management estimate as a percent. May be 100% if the Employee won't typically be required to travel to a DOE Worksite. Any training events that require travel do not need to be included in this estimate.

Percent of Time Employee will work at the DOE's Worksite

Provide a management estimate as a percent. May be 0% if the Employee won't typically be required to travel to a DOE Worksite. Any training events that require travel do not need to be included in this estimate. If 0%, the rest of this section does not need to be completed.

Percentage of Time Employee will be on business travel

Provide a management estimate as a percent. The cost of business travel will not be factored into the cost analysis. May be 0% if the Employee won't typically go on official business travel.

Section 4: Additional Costs/Savings

Enter any savings as a negative amount so it will subtract.

Transit Subsidy Savings (annually)

Enter the estimated annual cost savings if the Employee was receiving SEET benefits to travel to the Official DOE Worksite.

Travel Savings - based on proximity to customers, etc.

Enter the estimated annual cost savings if the Employee will now be closer to customers which will save DOE money for business travel. This may be completed if to justify that relocating is benefiting DOE because the business travel costs may be lower from the Employee's new location.

Other, if applicable

Replace the text in the "Other, if applicable" rows if there is an added savings or cost that should be considered. Please explain this in Section 6.

Section 5: Cost-Benefit Analysis

This section will automatically calculate from previously entered information in the above sections.

Section 6: Justification

Please provide a justification/explanation for applicable items included in Section 4

This section should explain the costs or savings that were entered into Section 4. No additional explanation is required for savings related to SEET benefits.

Please provide a justification for a Remote Work Arrangement that is more costly as identified in Section 5

This section should explain why the Remote Work Arrangement is appropriate if it will cost DOE more than 10% than it does currently. The justification for a Remote Work arrangement with more than a 10% higher cost must be based on the organizational or business benefits of the work arrangement.

Such benefits might include retaining a valuable employee with unique qualifications who may need to depart the agency absent the remote work arrangement, negative impact to DOE, customers, or business if the position were to become vacant, hiring efforts to recruit or retain candidates for similar positions, avoided costs from PCS or relocation incentives provided for the person to relocate.

The justification should also discuss the likelihood the employee will leave DOE (e.g., relocation of spouse, job offer, etc.) absent a remote agreement and the unique qualifications or positive attributes (e.g., consistently high performance).

The justification cannot be based solely on accommodating an employee's personal situation, unless the work arrangement is part of a reasonable accommodation for a medical condition or disability.

REMOTE WORK AGREEMENT

SECTION 1 General Information

Employee Name
Departmental Element and Routing Symbol
Supervisor Name
Supervisor Title
Employee's Title, Series, Grade
Official DOE Worksite (i.e., DOE worksite of employee's position of record absent a remote agreement)
Employee's Official Remote Worksite (i.e., employee's home address, to include street, city, county, state, and zip code)	Street:
	City:
	State: Select	Zip code:
	County:
Official Remote Worksite within the Local Commuting Area (50-mile radius) from the Official DOE Worksite?	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No

SECTION 2 Type of Remote Work Agreement

FT Remote (Restricted):	<input type="checkbox"/>	FT Remote (ALL US):	<input type="checkbox"/>
Temporary (If yes, a Temporary Remote Work Addendum must be completed)	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No	If temporary, date of expiration (Not to exceed one year from start)

SECTION 3 Supervisor Requirements

I completed the one-time required Supervisory Training .	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
If required by your Departmental Element, the Remote Work Arrangement Analysis Tool has been completed.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
Second Level Supervisor Approval Needed? <input type="checkbox"/>	Second Level Supervisor Name:

SECTION 4 Employee Requirements and Terms and Conditions of DOE's Remote Work Agreement
Review the below terms and conditions and check the appropriate boxes. Remote work may not be authorized if the employee does not comply with all items listed below.

I completed the one-time required Employee Training .	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
I reviewed the Self-Certification Safety Checklist (PM #106, Attachment 8) and certify my home workstation space is safe, free from hazards, and meets the requirements in the checklist. I will take necessary corrective actions to eliminate potential safety hazards in my home workstation prior to remote working.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
My Official Remote Worksite has the appropriate resources available to support remote work.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
My position has been designated as remote work eligible. I am agreeing to remote work from a location other than my agency's location. I understand by entering into this remote work agreement, remote work becomes a condition of employment.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
I will adhere to all guidelines and policies related to working remotely and will comply with the terms of this agreement at all times.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
I can work independently and will maintain constant communication with my Supervisor, coworkers, and customers.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
I understand that I am (or will be) considered ineligible to remote work if I have been officially disciplined for being absent without leave (AWOL) for more than 5 days, or been officially disciplined for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
I understand my Official Remote Worksite will become my Official Duty Station and certain location-based pay entitlements, such as locality payments, special rate supplements, and withholding of state income tax, are based on my Official Remote Worksite. I understand DOE will update my Official Duty Station via Notification of Personnel Action (Standard Form 50). I understand all guidelines applicable to the Official Duty Station are equally applicable to my Official Remote Worksite. I have reviewed the OPM General Schedule (GS) & Locality Pay Tables and understand and agree to any change in pay that a change in duty station may cause.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
I agree to work the original agreed upon or management revised work schedule. My Supervisor reserves the right to alter my work schedule to accommodate business needs.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
I recognize that I may be asked to report to the DOE Worksite occasionally (for Remote [All US] Agreements) or with some regularity (for Remote [Restricted] Agreements). In such cases, DOE will adhere to all applicable travel reimbursement requirements, as promulgated by the Federal Travel Regulations and DOE Manual (M) 552.1-1A, U.S. Department of Energy Travel Manual .	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
I understand remote work time is official duty time and I am expected to perform DOE business only.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
I will obtain my Supervisor's approval before taking leave, performing overtime, or earning credit hours/compensatory time, pursuant to Federal regulations and/or union Collective Bargaining Agreements. Employees covered by the provisions of Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) agree that they will not work overtime at the alternate worksite unless ordered or authorized by their Supervisor.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
Employment at the Official Remote Worksite is treated the same as employment at the traditional work site for all purposes, including Federal Employees Compensation Act (FECA). I agree to report to my Supervisor immediately any job-related incident that results in or has the potential to cause injury, illness, or property damage and to complete any required forms.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
I understand that DOE will not be responsible for operating costs; home maintenance; insurance; utilities; internet access; or service, maintenance, damage, or replacement of privately owned equipment used for tele/remote work purposes, unless caused by DOE resources; or any other	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No incidental costs not expressly authorized. Authorized costs must be approved in writing by the Supervisor prior to incurring them.

I will protect information used at my Official Remote Worksite in accordance with established DOE policies, practices, and procedures, and will comply with all DOE technology and cybersecurity guidelines.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
I will report remote work hours using the appropriate time reporting codes in the official timekeeping system.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
My use of Government Furnished Equipment will be in accordance with established DOE policies, practices, and procedures and will return it upon termination of my remote work arrangement. I understand and agree that DOE property will be used for official DOE business only.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
I will request my Supervisor's approval prior to modifying or terminating this agreement or changing my Official Remote Worksite.	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF DOE'S REMOTE WORK AGREEMENT

1) INTRODUCTION:

This Remote Work Agreement is between the Employee, Supervisor, and the Departmental Element. The Remote Work Agreement specifies the terms and conditions under which the Employee will participate in DOE's Remote Work Program.

The Terms and Conditions of any locally established Remote Work Agreement need to be considered along with applicable Collective Bargaining Agreement(s).

2) DEFINITIONS:

Below are the definitions of the various types of Remote Work arrangements:

REMOTE WORK: A work arrangement in which the employee continually works from an approved remote worksite (usually the employee's residence) and is not expected to report to an Official DOE Worksite on a regular and recurring basis. The employee's Official Remote Worksite may be within or outside the Local Commuting Area (LCA) of a DOE Worksite. For pay purposes, and in accordance with 5 CFR § 531.605, except for paragraphs (d) and (e), the employee's Official Remote Worksite must be documented on their Standard Form 50 (SF-50) as their Official Duty Station. The LCA is defined as the 50-mile radius from a remote worker's Official Remote Worksite. Remote employees are eligible for travel reimbursement when reporting to the DOE Worksite if their Official Remote Worksite is outside of the LCA of a DOE Worksite.

REMOTE WORK (RESTRICTED): A designation that a position can support full-time remote work, but the employee's Official Remote Worksite must be located within the locality pay area of the Official DOE Worksite or must be a realistic commuting distance from the DOE Worksite for areas outside of a defined locality pay area (i.e., Rest of the United States locality pay area). Under this arrangement, the employee is not required to report to the DOE Worksite every pay period but may be required to do so with some regularity (e.g., a few times a quarter) for work that cannot be performed remotely. When approving Remote (Restricted) arrangements, Supervisors and DEs should take into consideration the increased costs associated with Official Remote Worksites located outside the LCA of the Official DOE Worksite, as employees on such agreements are eligible for travel reimbursement.

REMOTE (ALL US): A designation that a position can support full-time remote work and the employee's Official Remote Worksite may be located anywhere listed in 5 CFR § 531.603.

3) CONDITION OF EMPLOYMENT:

Upon acceptance of this Agreement, the Employee's ability to work remotely becomes a condition of employment for this position. Failing to maintain any condition of employment, including the ability to work remotely, may result in administrative action including removal from Federal service, in accordance with appropriate due process procedures.

4) TERMINATION OF A REMOTE WORK AGREEMENT:

The Employee may request to terminate the Remote Work Agreement. If office space exists at an appropriate DOE Worksite, the Employee will return to the Official DOE Worksite, which will become their Official Worksite. If office space is unavailable at the Official DOE Worksite, there may be delays to ensure appropriate physical arrangements are made available. Requests to terminate this Remote Work Agreement must be approved by the Employee's Supervisor, as well as any additional required approvals established by their Departmental Element. Any expenses associated with the termination of this Remote Work Agreement at the Employee's request (e.g., relocation expenses), will be the responsibility of the Employee and will not be funded by DOE. The Employee must make a request to terminate this Remote Work Agreement at least 60 days in advance of the proposed termination date. If approved to terminate the Remote Work Agreement, a "Change in Duty Station" personnel action must be processed, as outlined below in Section 5, to change the Employee's Official Remote Worksite to the appropriate Official DOE Worksite.

Management has the right to terminate or modify this Remote Work Agreement in writing at any time due to business necessity (e.g., increased cost, changing organizational/business needs, workforce reshaping, position abolishment, transfer of function, or other reasons unrelated to the Employee's conduct or performance), with reasonable notice. A termination of a Remote Work Agreement that is in place due to a Reasonable Accommodation must receive review and concurrence from the Office of General Counsel prior to effecting. If DOE terminates this Remote Work Agreement due to business necessity, the Employee may be given a management-directed reassignment to a position at the same grade and pay at an appropriate Official DOE Worksite. When the employee's Official Remote Worksite is within the LCA of the Official DOE Worksite, employees will be given 30 days advance notice. When the Employee's Official Remote Worksite is not within the LCA of the Official DOE Worksite, the Employee will be given 60 days advance notice, and relocation costs will be the responsibility of DOE in accordance with the Federal Travel Regulations (FTR) and applicable DOE policies.

If there is no suitable position locally available or if the Employee declines the position offered or the offer to move to the Official DOE Worksite, management may propose the Employee's removal for failure to accept a management-directed reassignment. The proposed removal will be consistent with applicable regulations, policies, and collective bargaining agreements. The Employee will be entitled to transition assistance in accordance with DOE's Policy Memorandum 13A, Reemployment Priority List, and DOE's Career Transition Assistance Plan (CTAP).

Termination of this Remote Work Agreement due to unacceptable performance, misconduct, or the failure to protect Government records and/or sensitive information may result in disciplinary action, suspension, or removal from Federal service, or the revocation of access to Government systems. Failure to comply with the terms of this Remote Work Agreement may also result in disciplinary action if warranted. If it is determined a remote work agreement needs to be terminated/modified to address performance or conduct issues, any associated expenses (e.g., relocation expenses) will be the responsibility of the employee and will not be funded by DOE.

If the Employee is subject to a management-directed reassignment for any reason, including diminishment of performance, and the employee chooses to separate instead of accepting the management-directed reassignment, the reassignment will not be considered involuntary therefore will not include severance pay.

5) CHANGE IN OFFICIAL REMOTE WORKSITE:

The Employee must request and receive approval to change their established Official Remote Worksite even if that change does not result in a change in locality pay. This is necessary as a change to the Official Remote Worksite can affect the Employee's pay, taxes, benefits, and entitlements, and/or result in an increase in travel costs for the Departmental Element. The Employee must request to change their Official Remote Worksite at least 60 days in advance of the proposed date of the change.

A personnel action (i.e., SF-50) is required to officially change the Employee's Official Remote Worksite, including when changing an address does not result in a change to the Employee's City, County, or State. If entering into a Remote Work Agreement for the first time, a Change in Duty Station personnel action is required even if the Employee is not relocating from their current residence. The personnel action must be processed through the Employee's Servicing Human Resources Office/Shared Service Center (SHRO/SSC).

DOE will not cover relocation expenses from an Employee-driven request. The Employee will be responsible for relocation costs resulting from their request for remote work or their request to change their Official Remote Worksite. The Employee may relocate at their own expense from their current residence after obtaining requisite approvals from their Supervisor and Departmental Element. If approved, a new Remote Work Agreement must be signed by all parties, prior to moving and effecting the associated personnel action, and the Employee's supervisor or the Departmental Element POC must submit the following information into Workflow:

- Employee's full name;
- Departmental Element's name;
- Proposed effective date;
- New duty station with complete physical street address (street name, city, state, county, and zip code); and
- Written Supervisory approval.

6) FOLLOW-ON ACTIONS REQUIRED FROM A CHANGE IN OFFICIAL REMOTE WORKSITE:

Once a change in Official Remote Worksite is approved, it is the Employee's responsibility to complete the following actions:

Transfer of Government Property: It is the Employee's responsibility to ensure the safe transport of all assigned DOE property including IT equipment to the new Official Remote Worksite.

Federal Employees Health Benefit (FEHB) or Federal Employee Dental and Vision Insurance Program (FEDVIP): If the Employee moves to a geographical area not covered by their health benefits plan, the Employee must elect a new plan. (See instructions on back of the SF 2809, Health Benefits Election Form.) The Employee must contact their SHRO/SSC within 60 days of the effective date of the Change in Official Remote Worksite to process their change in FEHB. If enrolled, the Employee must also notify their FEHB provider and dental/vision (FEDVIP at www.benefeds.com).

Taxes: It is the Employee's responsibility to complete new state (e.g., W-4) and/or local tax withholding forms. If the Employee moved within their current state, no state tax change is necessary. Upon receipt of the eOPF notification indicating the SF-50 that changes the Employee's duty station, the Employee must take one of the following actions:

- (1) Change their state taxes in myPay as soon as possible, if moving to another taxable state;
- (2) If the employee moved to a non-taxable state such as FL or TX or if they need to add local taxes, contact DOE Payroll at PayrollCSAHelpDesk@hq.doe.gov immediately for assistance; or
- (3) If the employee moved within their current state, no state tax change is necessary.

The Employee is responsible for filing and paying all state taxes and/or penalties, if applicable. The Employee is solely responsible for any and all tax implications attributable to this Remote Work Agreement. DOE is making no representations concerning any tax consequences by entering into this Agreement.

Parking and Transit Subsidy: The Employee is not eligible for parking or transit subsidy benefits (i.e., SEET) if they are working remotely because there are no covered commuting costs. It is the Employee's responsibility to end their enrollment, if any, in any SEET benefits which can be completed in the Employee Self Service \(ESS\) site located under the "Benefits" header, titled "SEET Program."

Change of Address: It is the Employee's responsibility to update their home address with DOE via the myPay site by clicking on the Correspondence Address tab. DOE Payroll will notify TSP of the employee's address change once the update has processed.

7) TRAVEL:

The Employee may be required by their Supervisor to report to an Official DOE Worksite or report to other non-DOE location for work-related activities (such as training) to carry out the functions of their job. The proximity of travel from the Employee's Official Remote Worksite determines whether an expense is reimbursed as a temporary duty (TDY) travel expense, as described in the FTR in 41 CFR parts 301-311.

An Employee who is required to travel outside the LCA from their Official Remote Worksite and who meets the requirements of 41 CFR parts 301-311 is eligible for TDY and may be eligible for compensatory time off for travel, as well as per diem expenses (if the travel exceeds 12 hours) paid by DOE in accordance with the FTR. Travel authorizations are required for travel outside the LCA, in accordance with DOE Manual (M) 552.1A, U.S. Department of Energy Travel Manual.

An Employee who is required to travel within the LCA of their Official Remote Worksite to report to an Official DOE Worksite is not eligible for TDY or local travel reimbursement, in accordance with DOE M 552.1A, nor are they eligible for compensatory time off for travel.

An Employee who travels within the LCA of their Official Remote Worksite to engage in other work-related activities (e.g., training) outside of a DOE facility is not eligible for TDY or compensatory time off for travel in accordance with DOE M 552.1A. However, the Employee may be eligible for local travel reimbursement. Travel authorizations are not required for travel within the LCA, in accordance with DOE M 552.1A.

8) APPLICABLE POLICY AND GUIDANCE:

The Employee and Supervisor agree that all policies and practices that apply at the Employee's Official DOE Worksite apply to the Employee when working remotely. The following policy documents apply: DOE O 314.1, DOE-Flex: DOE's Telework Program, or successor order; Policy Memorandum #106, Telework/Remote Work (or successor), which supplements the Office of Personnel Management's 2021 Guide to Telework and Remote Work in the Federal Government; the Departmental Element's remote work guidance; and DOE O 206.1, Department of Energy Privacy Program, which addresses protecting personally identifiable information (PII). The Employee is bound by the Standards of Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch and the Department's supplement thereto while working at their Official Remote Worksite.

9) RESOURCES PROVIDED AND OFFICIAL REMOTE WORKSITE CONDITIONS:

The Departmental Element may furnish Government Funded Equipment (GFE) resources at their discretion, along with network access permissions and associated equipment. The Employee agrees to maintain the GFE resources provided and to report problems with accessing the Departmental Element's network, supplied equipment, or software to Departmental Element's point of contact or IT Help Desk and their Supervisor.

The Employee is responsible for ensuring their approved Official Remote Worksite has the requirements and appropriate resources available to support full-time remote work. DOE is not responsible for operating costs; home maintenance; insurance; utilities; internet access; or service, maintenance, damage, or replacement of privately owned equipment used for tele/remote work purposes, including personal printer supplies/paper; or any other incidental costs not expressly authorized. The Employee is responsible for funding these expenses unless specifically authorized by the Departmental Element. The Employee is responsible for consulting with their own tax professional or the IRS to determine if these expenses could be claimed on their personal income taxes. The Employee is responsible for having a dedicated area conducive for performing remote work and attending virtual meetings. The Employee will ensure their Official Remote Worksite will allow them to maintain a safe work environment free from hazards and distractions and provide for secured protection of GFE and information required to perform their duties.

The Employee is responsible for safeguarding and maintaining DOE GFE, PII, and records in accordance with established DOE policies, practices, and procedures. The Employee must ensure GFE is kept in a safe location, remains up to date on system upgrades, and is free from unauthorized software or applications. The Employee will ensure that unclassified work products are properly safeguarded and safely conveyed between their Official Remote Worksite and any other location, and that classified work products are not taken to the Official Remote Worksite.

10) DEPARTMENTAL ELEMENT'S RESPONSIBILITIES:

In support of Remote work, the Departmental Element will:

- Provide the agreed upon resources to support the Employee while remote working;
- Ensure the time an Employee works remotely is accurately and properly recorded in DOE's time and attendance system;
- Except for suspected or known security violations, provide reasonable notice to the Employee when conducting an inspection at the Employee's Official Remote Worksite; and
- Upon termination of this Agreement, pay for all supplied GFE to be returned to the Departmental Element.

11) WORK EXPECTATIONS AND PERFORMANCE:

When performing remote work, the Employee will be treated equal to onsite employees for the purposes of work requirements, performance standards and expectations, periodic appraisals of job performance, training, awards, reassignment, promotion, reduction in grade, retention, and other personnel actions requiring management discretion.

The Employee will perform work assignments as agreed with their Supervisor. The Employee will use any designated communication and collaboration tools (e.g., Microsoft Teams, webcams) as determined by their Supervisor and ensure the Microsoft Outlook Calendar is accurate and updated. During scheduled hours of work, the Employee will be reasonably accessible (e.g., either responding promptly to management's attempts to contact them or responding within the time expected if the Employee were at an Official DOE Worksite).

The Employee will promptly notify their Supervisor and follow their pre-approved standard operating procedures for requesting approval of leave if there is an emergency or an interruption to their normally scheduled workday. Upon request of the Supervisor, the Employee will provide appropriate notification when starting and ending work and of any change in availability during the duty day.

The Employee will not be required to end their Remote Work Agreement during a Performance Improvement Period (PIP) if the Employee's Supervisor determines that the Employee's performance has dropped below the Meets Expectations (ME) or equivalent Fully Successful level.

If applicable, any additional work expectations may be addressed below (300 character limit per text box):

-
-

12) WORK SCHEDULE:

The Supervisor is responsible for ensuring the Employee's daily hours of duty on the Remote Work schedule does not adversely impact the Departmental Element's mission, objectives, operations, work productivity, customer, and public service requirements. The Employee's daily hours of duty will be approved by their Supervisor. The Employee understands that they may be required to remote work outside of their normal work schedule in the case of a temporary emergency. Overtime will not be permitted except when expressly authorized and confirmed in writing in advance. If available, credit hours may be earned in accordance with Departmental Element's policies and procedures. The Employee must work during their approved work hours and request leave according to their Departmental Element's procedures.

13) TIME AND ATTENDANCE REPORTING:

Time spent working, whether onsite or in remote work status, must be accounted for and reported in the appropriate official Departmental timekeeping system (e.g., ATAAPS). Time not spent working during the employee's tour of duty must also be accounted for and reported appropriately. Established rules and procedures apply for authorizing, approving, earning, and using annual leave, sick leave, overtime, compensatory time, etc. The employee's time and attendance must be certified by the certifying official so that there is an accounting for all hours included in the work schedule.

If an Employee experiences a connectivity problem due to DOE-related issues (e.g., Citrix or VPN problems), the Employee's timecard should be coded as remote working. If an Employee experiences a connectivity problem due to issues at their home (e.g., home internet is down or there is a power outage) and they are unable to work, the Supervisor will consider all circumstances, including but not limited to the nature of the circumstances, any work assignments that can still be performed considering the circumstances, and whether leave, excused absence, or another duty status is appropriate.

The Employee must inform their Supervisor immediately and routinely try to re-connect and/or to determine if issues have been resolved. If an Employee expects to experience longer than normal connectivity issues at their home (e.g., all day or several days) and requests administrative leave or Weather and Safety Leave (WSL), the Supervisor may request documentation of the disruption prior to granting the requested leave. Depending on the situation (i.e., assuming it is safe to travel), attempts should be made to telework from an alternate location with connectivity prior to requesting administrative leave or WSL.

14) ADMINISTRATIVE DISMISSALS AND CLOSURES:

When changes in the Operating Status of the Federal Government or a DOE facility impact the normal operations of the Official DOE Worksite, it is expected that the Employee will work as scheduled at their Official Remote Worksite. The Employee is not eligible for WSL (5 CFR § 630.1605) because they are able to work from their home unless an unanticipated condition prevents them from working. The final decision to approve WSL rests with the Supervisor and will be based upon the nature and severity of the emergency, the duration of the situation, and other circumstances that are associated with a given emergency (e.g., power outages).

15) LIABILITY:

The Employee understands that their Official Remote Worksite must meet the safety criteria listed on the Self-Certification Safety Checklist and be maintained in a safe, hazard-free condition, and as free from distractions as possible. The Employee has discussed any inability to meet various criteria on the Safety Checklist with their Supervisor and has resolved or mitigated any issues appropriately. The Employee understands and assumes full responsibility for any damage to personal or real property that may occur because of the Employee's working at Official Remote Worksite, except to the extent that DOE is held liable by the Federal Tort Claims Act or the Military Personnel and Civilian Employees Claims Act. The Employee further understands that if injured while performing assignments during authorized hours of work at the Official Remote Worksite, the Employee is only covered by the Federal Employee Compensation Act (workers' compensation) if the injury occurs while performing authorized work. The Employee agrees to promptly notify their Supervisor of any accident or injury that occurs at the Official Remote Worksite and complete any required forms. Officials of the Departmental Element and/or the Department of Labor may investigate such a report immediately. Additional information on liability may be obtained from legal support staff.

SECTION 5
Approval and Certification

This Agreement is between the Employee and the Departmental Element in DOE. The Agreement specifies the terms and conditions under which the Employee will participate in a Remote Work Agreement. This Agreement does not create an entitlement. The Parties agree that the terms of this Agreement do not preclude Agency officials from taking appropriate administrative action to address unacceptable performance, misconduct, or any other administrative issue in a manner appropriate to the circumstances and in accordance with applicable DOE guidelines.

The Parties agree that this is a joint Agreement and constitutes the entire Agreement between the Employee and DOE; there are no other terms, conditions, or representations other than those enumerated herein. This Agreement becomes effective on the date of last signature below.

The Employee's position is identified for remote work. This Agreement is voluntarily entered into by DOE and the Employee and is essential to establish, approve, and understand a Remote Work Agreement. All Parties have not been induced to enter into this Agreement by any promises or representations other than those expressly stated in the Agreement. All Parties understand the terms of the Agreement and have not been coerced in any manner into entering into this Agreement.

The signatures below certify that the Parties have read, understood, and agree with the terms and conditions of this Remote Work Agreement. The Parties understand that the above information is truthful and accurate as of this date, but that applicable policies and guidelines may change or be added without amending this Agreement accordingly. The Parties will of these changes. In the event of such changes, the Parties agree that this Agreement will be subject to them.

Employee Signature and Date
Supervisor Signature and Date
Second Level Supervisor Signature and Date (optional)

PRIVACY ACT STATEMENT

The Telework Enhancement Act of 2010 (Public Law 111-292), Section 6120 of Title 5 to the United States Code, and Executive Memorandum of July 11, 1994 (59 FR 36017) authorizes collection of this information. Signing this notice is voluntary, but failure to sign it may preclude the authorization for the Employee to work remotely. The primary use of the information contained in this notice is by applicable management officials and supporting administrative staffs, human resource staffs, and the applicable Departmental Element's Telework/Remote work Coordinator to record this Agreement. There are no additional uses that may be made of the information collected in the Agreement. The official copy of this notice, which is a category of record included in the OPM/GOVT-1 General Personnel Records system, is maintained by the applicable Telework/Remote Coordinator.

ATTACHMENT 6: TELE/REMOTE WORK CODING TIME AND ATTENDANCE EXAMPLES

Below are various illustrations for scheduling/coding telework arrangements using the appropriate time keeping codes. Please see the Tele/Remote Work Coding for Time and Attendance on HCnet.

REMOTE SCHEDULE EXAMPLES

This is the remote employee’s approved schedule (i.e., the employee is not required to report onsite on a regular and reoccurring basis during the pay period).

Monday Week 1 Remote TR	Tuesday Week 1 Remote TR	Wednesday Week 1 Remote TR	Thursday Week 1 Remote TR	Friday Week 1 Remote TR
Monday Week 2 Remote TR	Tuesday Week 2 Remote TR	Wednesday Week 2 Remote TR	Thursday Week 2 Remote TR	Friday Week 2 Remote TR

One pay period, the remote employee works onsite for 3 days, is on travel, or attends in-person training.

Monday Week 1 Remote TR	Tuesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 1 Remote TR	Friday Week 1 Remote TR
Monday Week 2 Remote TR	Tuesday Week 2 Remote TR	Wednesday Week 2 Remote TR	Thursday Week 2 Remote TR	Friday Week 2 Onsite RG

TELEWORK SCHEDULE EXAMPLES

STRAIGHT 8-HOUR SCHEDULE – ROUTINE MORE THAN 50% (6 TO 8 DAYS)

This is the employee’s approved telework schedule.

Monday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW
Monday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Wednesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 2 Onsite RG

One pay period, the employee must come onsite during their routine telework day and cannot switch their telework day to another day during the pay period.

Monday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW
Monday Week 2 Onsite RG	Tuesday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Wednesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 2 Onsite RG

Another pay period, the employee is approved for 2 situational telework days (e.g., medical appointments, projects).

Monday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 1 Situational Telework TS	Wednesday Week 1 Situational Telework TS	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW
Monday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Wednesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 2 Onsite RG

Another pay period, the supervisor grants the employee an exception to the twice a pay period reporting requirement (per 5 CFR § 531.605(d)(2)) because the employee is visiting family.

Monday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 1 Situational Telework TS	Wednesday Week 1 Situational Telework TS	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW
Monday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Wednesday Week 2 Situational Telework TS	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 2 Situational Telework TS

ALTERNATE WORK SCHEDULE (5/4-9) – ROUTINE MORE THAN 50% (6 TO 8 DAYS)

Monday Week 1 Regular Day Off	Tuesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW
Monday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Wednesday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 2 Onsite (8 hr. day) RG

ALTERNATE WORK SCHEDULE (4/10) – ROUTINE TELEWORK (3 TO 5 DAYS)

Monday Week 1 Regular Day Off	Tuesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW
Monday Week 2 Routine Day Off	Tuesday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Wednesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 2 Onsite RG

EXCEPTION TO THE TWICE A PAY PERIOD REPORTING REQUIREMENT – PERIODIC ROUTINE TELEWORK (1 TO 2 DAYS)

The supervisor grants the employee an exception to the twice a pay period reporting requirement (per 5 CFR § 531.605(d)(2)).

Monday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 1 Situational Telework TS	Wednesday Week 1 Situational Telework TS	Thursday Week 1 Situational Telework TS	Friday Week 1 Situational Telework TS
Monday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Tuesday Week 2 Situational Telework TS	Wednesday Week 2 Situational Telework TS	Thursday Week 2 Situational Telework TS	Friday Week 2 Situational Telework TS

WHEN EMPLOYEES REPORT ONSITE DURING ROUTINE TELEWORK DAYS

Supervisors have the right to modify an employee's work schedule based on mission needs (e.g., to accommodate a meeting, meet a critical deadline). To the extent practicable, supervisors should provide employees with advance notice. When this occurs, a supervisor can allow an employee to change their routine telework day within the same pay period as illustrated below.

STRAIGHT 8 HOUR SCHEDULE

Routine telework days are Monday, Thursday, and Friday.

Monday Week 1 Routine Telework RG	Tuesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework TW
Monday Week 2 Routine Telework TW	Tuesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework TW	Friday Week 2 Routine Telework TW

The Supervisor allows the employee to telework on Tuesday instead of Monday (Week 1) to accommodate the employee reporting onsite Monday for a work obligation.

Monday Week 1 Onsite RG	Tuesday Week 1 Situational Telework TS	Wednesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework TW
Monday Week 2 Routine Telework TW	Tuesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework TW	Friday Week 2 Routine Telework TW

ALTERNATE WORK SCHEDULE (5/4-9)

Regular Day Off (RDO) is Monday of Week 1. Routine telework days are Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Monday Week 1 Regular Day Off	Tuesday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Wednesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW
Monday Week 2 Onsite RG	Tuesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 2 Situational Telework TS	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW

The supervisor allows the employee to telework on Wednesday instead of Tuesday (Week 2) to accommodate the employee reporting onsite Tuesday for a work obligation.

Monday Week 1 Regular Day Off	Tuesday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Wednesday Week 1 Onsite RG	Thursday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 1 Routine Telework Day TW
Monday Week 2 Onsite RG	Tuesday Week 2 Onsite RG	Wednesday Week 2 Situational Telework TS	Thursday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW	Friday Week 2 Routine Telework Day TW

ATTACHMENT 7

TELE/REMOTE WORK REQUIRED TRAINING

In accordance with the 2010 Telework Enhancement Act, employees and Supervisors are required to complete the following training prior to entering into a tele/remote work agreement. The training is intended to ensure both teleworkers and supervisors of teleworkers are familiar with relevant policies and appropriate practices associated with telework. Completion of the required training will be documented on the Telework or Remote Work Form by the employee and Supervisor affirming they completed the required training.

Required Training

- Review the information and materials on Telework Training - Telework.gov website, and take the Employee Training or Manager Training, as appropriate.
 - i. Telework Fundamentals - Employee Training
 - ii. Telework Fundamentals - Manager Training
- If applicable, review the tele/remote work guidance specific for your Departmental Element

Optional Training

- Review the DOE Order on Tele/Remote Work
- Review the applicable section on tele/remote work in the Collective Bargaining Agreement (for employees in Bargaining Unit positions).
- DOE O 206.1 Chg1 \(MinChg\), Department of Energy Privacy Program, or successor, regarding protecting personally identifiable information (PII) and information systems
- Discuss tele/remote work expectations with your supervisor

TELEWORK/REMOTE WORK SAFETY CHECKLIST

Participating employees may use the following checklist to assist them in a survey of the overall safety and adequacy of their telework site. The following are only recommendations, and do not encompass every situation that may be encountered. Employees are encouraged to obtain professional assistance with issues concerning appropriate electrical service and circuit capacity for residential worksites.

- Practice a fire evacuation plan for use in the event of an emergency.
- Check your smoke detectors regularly and replace batteries once a year.
- Always have a working fire extinguisher conveniently located in your home, and check the charge regularly.
- Computers can be heavy. Always place them on sturdy, level, well maintained furniture.
- Use a sturdy chair that provides good support and can be adjusted.
- Choose office chairs that provide good supporting backrests and allow adjustments to fit you comfortably.
- Locate your computer to eliminate noticeable glare from windows and lighting. Place computer monitor at height that is comfortable and does not require neck or back strain. Locate computer keyboards at heights that do not require wrist strain or place the keyboard on an adjustable surface.
- Install sufficient lighting in locations that reduce glare at the work surface.
- Arrange file cabinets so that open drawers do not block aisles.
- Be sure to leave aisle space where possible to reduce tripping hazards.
- Always make sure electrical equipment is connected to grounded outlets.
- Avoid fire hazards by never overloading electrical circuits.
- Inspect and repair carpeting with frayed edges or loose seams. Avoid using throw rugs that can cause tripping hazards in your work space.
- Locate computers, phones and other electrical equipment in a manner that keeps power cords out of walkways.
- Always power down computers after the workday is over and always turn off all electrical equipment during thunderstorms.
- Keep your work area clean and avoid clutter, which can cause fire and tripping hazards.
- Do not allow non-government employees to operate or repair government owned equipment.
- Always keep government files and information in a secure place and do not advertise your home office to strangers.
- Always use proper lifting techniques when moving or lifting heavy equipment and furniture.
- Always report accidents and injuries immediately to your supervisor.

Signature

MARCH 2024, VERSION 1

QUESTIONS: Contact Human Capital Policy Division

VISIT Us: oplercorrespondence@hq.doe.gov

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF

ENERGY

A1241

INTEGRITY - INNOVATION - COLLABORATION - ACCOUNTABILITY - RESPECT - EXCELLENCE

MANAGING TELEWORKING EFFECTIVELY

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- BACKGROUND1
- TALKING POINTS TO “HAVE THE CHAT”1
 - Discuss Responsibilities and Expectations..... 1
 - Discuss Performance Requirements..... 1
 - Discuss Work Schedule 2
 - Discuss Collaboration Tools..... 2
 - Discuss Performance Requirements..... 3
- TIPS FOR WORKING IN A REMOTE TEAM3
 - Know Specific Goals and Objectives 3
 - Establish team Operating agreements 4
 - Decide how best to work with your team 4
 - Utilize a shared database, share drive or sharepoint..... 4
 - Deal with conflict immediately 4
 - Foster an inclusive and rewarding environment..... 4
 - Use collaboration tools..... 4
 - Maintain interpersonal connections via “virtual coffee breaks” 5
- IMPORTANCE OF KNOWLEDGE SHARING5
 - Clarify team focus and telework “fit” 6
 - Conduct inclusive meetings..... 6
 - Foster a strong community environment..... 6
 - Share institutional knowledge 6
 - Offer mentoring or buddy systems 6
- BEST PRACTICES FOR TELEWORKING EMPLOYEES.....7
- AVAILABLE RESOURCES7
- APPENDIX A – LEARNING NUCLEUS RESOURCES8

BACKGROUND

This document provides overarching guidance to supervisors and managers to manage the hybrid and remote working environment effectively. Please note, the terms “telework” and “teleworker” are used but for the purposes of this document, these terms are considered interchangeable with “remote work” and “remote worker.”

This guidance is a compilation of best practices from various government agencies who have robust telework programs in place. Regardless of telework or working in the physical workplace, there is an expectation and commitment between the supervisor and employee to enable the missions and achieve the goals of the Department of Energy and the Departmental Elements. The expectation is a teleworker is as reliable and productive working offsite as when reporting to a physical workplace.

TALKING POINTS TO “HAVE THE CHAT”

Integral to meeting the Department’s goals while in a hybrid environment is ensuring there is a stage-setting conversation between the supervisor and teleworker. Managing at a distance requires the same basic processes as managing an onsite staff. However, a bit more discipline is required from a supervisory engagement perspective. To help establish an effective work performance while on telework, be sure to “have the chat.” Talking points to “have the chat” should include the following:

- Discuss responsibilities and expectations.
- Discuss performance requirements.
- Discuss work schedule.
- Discuss collaboration tool utilization to support the continuation of effective working relationships.
- Discuss frequency and manner of supervisor contact.

DISCUSS RESPONSIBILITIES AND EXPECTATIONS

While the teleworker’s position responsibilities and related expectations are not any different when moving from the workplace to the home, it is imperative to confirm this consistency or clarify any distinctions. When giving assignments, clearly define what is to be accomplished and the schedule for completing the tasks. The performance review is not the appropriate time for the supervisor to reveal or the employee to discover that the teleworker did not fulfill the supervisor’s expectations.

Do not treat teleworkers differently than onsite employees as it relates to work requirements (e.g., do not require only teleworkers to provide detailed work reports of completed duties). Managers should keep in mind that the performance standards for telework employees must be the same as the performance standards for non-telework employees. A clear discussion of objectives must take place up front between you and your entire team, not just those who telework.

DISCUSS PERFORMANCE REQUIREMENTS

It is important for employees to maintain a fully satisfactory performance rating. What is required to achieve that? Performance management involves two distinct operations: Specifying attainable work objectives and standards AND reviewing performance and giving feedback.

It is essential to establish procedures to measure whether your teleworkers are productive. These procedures need to be the same you already use for your entire team no matter where they work—and if you do not have solid performance measures for your group, now is a great opportunity to develop them. Our measurements must reflect the nature of work and should not be overly simplistic in a widget-counting sense. You can measure productivity by establishing specific objectives for your employees to meet, individually and as a group. You then judge the group’s performance, and the performances of individual employees, according to how well they meet these objectives.

It is important to remember managers must hold teleworkers to the same performance standards as non-teleworking employees. All employees are accountable for the results they produce. Teleworkers often take advantage of the quiet, uninterrupted time at home to work on large projects that will span over a long period of time, such as writing a report. These types of tasks will not be completed in a single telework day. Supervisors should consider factors such as the quality of the work produced, the timeliness of work products submitted, and the timeliness and appropriateness of employee communication with the office.

Just like any other employee, teleworkers should not have to guess your intentions. Be clear with your teleworkers about your assessment of their performance and provide feedback often. Keep these five tried-and-true feedback guidelines in mind.

- 1) Be descriptive. Describe what the person did (“You have three mistakes in the budget for the next quarter.”), and do not use subjective labels such as “This is sloppy work.”
- 2) Limit feedback to priority changes. Do not try to fix everything at once, but begin with the changes that will account for the most improvement and most value. Remember to provide positive feedback when work is done well.
- 3) Give feedback sooner rather than later. Do not wait for “the right time” because the employee might make the same mistake over and over again in the meantime.
- 4) Give positive feedback. Describe what needs to be changed, but also describe what is being done well so the employee can repeat it and will know that you have recognized a job well done
- 5) Praise in public, criticize in private. This statement is long-standing wisdom about giving feedback. All of us like to hear good news about what we have done when our peers are around—but the negative feedback is not meant for public knowledge.

DISCUSS WORK SCHEDULE

Ensure that the teleworker’s hours are in concert with the needs of your team, and as appropriate, customer(s). Along with the flexibility to work at one’s most productive time of day and experience improved work-life balance especially if caring for dependents, it is important that the teleworker remain integrated into the team, available, and accessible. If your team has employees in different time zones, work schedules should be flexible enough so that all team members have the opportunity to interact and collaborate during the workday.

DISCUSS COLLABORATION TOOLS

Effective telework requires the necessary technological support to foster success. A key provision is using collaboration tools to facilitate communication (e.g., Microsoft Teams, Zoom). It is critical the supervisor, teleworker, and coworkers utilize the available collaboration tools and overcome any challenges to one’s comfort level with and knowledge of the tools. Repeated disruptions to telework scheduling, which are largely based upon a refusal to take advantage of supportive technology, should be discussed between the supervisor and teleworker. If necessary, please contact your servicing HR office.

DISCUSS PERFORMANCE REQUIREMENTS

Telework by its very nature is a change for everyone and a key to succeeding as a manager of teleworkers is communicating effectively with your staff. Some staff members need, and benefit from, a daily check-in with you to review what they are doing or have done that day, what their next task is, and what problems they might be experiencing. Other teleworkers may require less frequent contact with the manager, but instead need to collaborate regularly with coworkers.

Part of managing change well is ensuring that there is a workable understanding and practice of maintaining contact between the teleworker and supervisor. How often will you communicate? What means of communication will you utilize: email, telephone, virtual meetings?

Teleworkers should have the same responsiveness when working out of the office as they do in the office. Predictable access is more important than instant access in most cases. You probably do not need to be able to reach your teleworkers immediately all the time (remember, you cannot even do that in the office), but you do need to be able to agree on a time when you will be able to reach them, or at least hear back from them if you leave a voicemail or send an email. Your teleworkers should be reachable in roughly the same ways with the same expectation for timely response as your in-office workers. Supervisors should be aware when employees start and end work, any change in availability (e.g., departure for and return from an appointment or a conference call that will tie up the telephone for a while), and of any change in contact information.

TIPS FOR WORKING IN A REMOTE TEAM

The Department is committed to your successful utilization of effective telework practices. This involves employing various activities and tools to manage a distributed team consisting of onsite and remote employees. At the beginning of the telework arrangement and throughout, embracing the following tips will benefit the supervisor and the teleworker as you strive to “pull it all together.”

- Know specific goals and objectives.
- Establish team operating agreements.
- Decide how best to work within your team.
- Utilize a shared database, share drive or SharePoint.
- Deal with conflict immediately.
- Foster an inclusive and rewarding environment.
- Use collaboration tools.

KNOW SPECIFIC GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

Regardless of whether responsibilities and related expectations have shifted in the transition from an onsite to remote worksite, it is important to be clear about performance goals and objectives. Do not treat teleworkers differently than onsite employees as it relates to work requirements. What is the purpose of the team and/or project, and what is your employee’s place within it? What is their contribution? What is your team expected to deliver? As was mentioned in the “Have the Chat,” the performance review is not the appropriate time for the supervisor to reveal or the employee to discover that role expectations were not fulfilled.

ESTABLISH TEAM OPERATING AGREEMENTS

With clarity regarding the team's purpose, it can be beneficial to develop actual team agreements or charters that document how the team is going to work together. Whatever the level of formality is used for these agreements, they should be clear, comprehensive, inclusive, and understood by all. Include your employees when developing these agreements to obtain buy-in and perspective. Does your team have an operating agreement or charter?

DECIDE HOW BEST TO WORK WITH YOUR TEAM

Striving to maintain team effectiveness, integration, and accessibility is important to determining how best the team can work together. This determination should be based upon team vision, business function, demonstrated capacity, performance observation, schedules and employee input. Do your employees know where they fit within your team?

UTILIZE A SHARED DATABASE, SHARE DRIVE OR SHAREPOINT

The facilitation of knowledge sharing is critical to collaboration and work fulfillment for any team, and the value that it brings to a virtual team is magnified. Developing and utilizing tools with shared access to relevant information will foster inclusion, teamwork, and task completion. If you have questions about what shared tools may be available to your team, please contact your CIO representative.

DEAL WITH CONFLICT IMMEDIATELY

Despite the differences, the diversity of perspectives may bring richness to your work process, product, or relationships. Just as in the office environment, conflict should be addressed and remedied immediately. Address the situation at hand quickly and work towards a solution. Remember harassment, bullying and other offensive, unwelcome, and prohibited behaviors can occur both in telework and physical office settings.

FOSTER AN INCLUSIVE AND REWARDING ENVIRONMENT

The work environment should value the potential, capability, and contributions of all team members regardless of location, as well as recognize their accomplishments. Check in with your employees to ensure they feel included and develop mutually beneficial solutions in an effort to facilitate improved inclusion.

USE COLLABORATION TOOLS

It is vital that all personnel, supervisors, and employees alike, utilize the tools that are made available to them. They facilitate team communication and collaboration, thereby eliminating the barriers created by geographic distance. While using this technology may stretch a person's comfort zone, it is a necessary component of embracing telework and also counteracts isolation and provides for a more personal interaction.

How we verbally and non-verbally communicate must adjust to ensure our communication style remains effective while teleworking. Something that may have worked in an onsite setting may not be conducive to a virtual setting. Between video conferencing (Microsoft Teams/Zoom) and conference calls, the audio component sometimes gets overlooked. Consider setting ground rules for engagement, such as:

- Do not speak all at one time but rather one at a time
- Do not interrupt the person speaking. Because of audio feedback, the speaker's words may get cut off abruptly and you will not hear what was said
- Place your phone on mute when not speaking to minimize background noise
- Use active-listening skills. It's ok to ask the speaker, "so what I heard was..."
- Speak clearly and concisely and plan what you want to say in advance when presenting
- Listen carefully and ask if someone who has NOT spoken wishes to contribute

Zoom, and Microsoft Teams are collaborative tools with audio and video features that enable us to communicate with other employees in lieu of face-to-face interactions. These are vital tools and should be leveraged as often as possible for meetings. When "sharing your desktop" as a presenter or host, you may also want to close out of your email or change your preferences to not have email notifications show on your desktop screen.

Strongly encourage Webcams while on these platforms versus simply connecting via a conference calls. When meetings or tag-ups are held virtually, you and your employees can still see each other and remain connected. Strongly consider setting the expectation that Webcams should be used for all meetings. When in these platforms, you can set your screen so that you can see a grid view of all attendees at once. Tips for using Webcams:

- When speaking, look at the camera which will give the effect that you are speaking directly to the person (e.g., do not look out the window or at your computer monitor unless your camera is there).
- Be mindful that others are watching (i.e., your actions should be the same as attending an onsite meeting with professional dress and demeanor).

MAINTAIN INTERPERSONAL CONNECTIONS VIA "VIRTUAL COFFEE BREAKS"

The lessening or absence of face-to-face contact not only impacts the process of work fulfillment, it alters the availability of social connections. In your ongoing efforts to strengthen relationships and build teams, do not lose sight of the value of these connections. Previously you may have walked to Starbucks or shared lunch together, you can agree to connect over coffee while in separate locations.

IMPORTANCE OF KNOWLEDGE SHARING

With the expansion of telework, it is critical for both supervisors and teleworkers to recognize that knowledge sharing is vital. The implementation of strong communication will facilitate mission accomplishment, collaboration, work fulfillment, team building, and employee motivation.

Ensure information and knowledge sharing is a customary practice in conducting business regardless of where your employees are located. Some telework proponents have discovered the added importance and value of providing read-ahead materials for virtual meetings. This can be facilitated using collaboration tools and shared systems (e.g., share drives, SharePoint) to enable the partnership in completing tasks. Effective telework management and implementation can be improved by practicing the following knowledge sharing checklist guidelines.

- Clarify team focus and teleworker “fit.”
- Conduct inclusive meetings.
- Foster a strong community environment.
- Share institutional knowledge.
- Offer mentoring or buddy systems.

CLARIFY TEAM FOCUS AND TELEWORK “FIT”

It is imperative to be clear about the team focus and related performance goals/objectives. As mentioned in the “Tips for Remote Work,” it can be advantageous to develop team agreements that document how the team is going to work together. Striving to maintain team effectiveness, integration, and accessibility is important to determine how best the team can work together and how each individual teleworker “fits” within the achievement of identified goals. It is the supervisor’s responsibility to ensure that all team members know how they fit and contribute within work teams.

CONDUCT INCLUSIVE MEETINGS

The work environment should value the potential, capability, and contributions of all team members regardless of location, as well as recognize their accomplishments. This requires the facilitation of meeting participation and the utilization of collaboration tools, such as those which facilitate conference calling amongst a distributed workforce. Strongly consider the use of Webcams in these meetings to help foster a connection between the team.

FOSTER A STRONG COMMUNITY ENVIRONMENT

Where there is a “disconnect” with any member(s) of the team, it is essential to conduct employee, supervisor, or team dialogue to facilitate improved inclusion. Honoring the guidance for conducting inclusive meetings will also foster community building as employees are recognized for their contributions, both as individuals and as part of the team. “Everyone has a seat at the table (even if it is 1,200 miles away...) and is responsible for the professional sharing of information, fulfillment of work, and building of relationships.

SHARE INSTITUTIONAL KNOWLEDGE

Sharing institutional knowledge is central to overall information sharing while also being critical to collaboration and work fulfillment. The history of an employee, practices, or processes establishes a “record” of information, experience, and perspective based upon the lessons learned during that time period. This information can provide a valuable foundation for next steps informing what to avoid as well as what to ensure when operating within the work culture. Whether working with an onsite or distributed workforce, facilitating a connection and access to this information is vital.

OFFER MENTORING OR BUDDY SYSTEMS

As a complement to the professional relationships established in the interest of task completion, intentional practices can be put in place through the establishment of mentoring or buddy systems. Consider buddying up a seasoned employee who have been on your team with a new employee or buddying up an employee who is onsite with a remote worker to foster more collaboration. Mentoring should include both virtual and in-person visits to worksites to focus on career growth and leadership development. The processes engaged facilitate information transfer, knowledge sharing, and professional development.

BEST PRACTICES FOR TELEWORKING EMPLOYEES

Below are identified best practices for employees to use while teleworking:

- Self-motivate and self-manage; be results-oriented and work independently
- Be flexible and a team player
- Understand your supervisor's expectations
 - Be readily available to your supervisor, team members, and customers during your work schedule; respond in a timely manner
 - Understand your performance goals and job requirements
 - Discuss frequency and manner of supervisor contact and stick to it
 - Work with your supervisor on how often and in what detail he/she would like to know of project updates
- Be a strong communicator
 - Focus on communication: timeliness, clarity, meaning, dependability, and inclusiveness
 - Establish a communication plan with your supervisor and team members
 - Use and understand the collaboration tools available to connect with supervisor and team
 - Strongly consider using Webcams to facilitate interpersonal connections
- Build a great track record and earn your supervisor's trust.

AVAILABLE RESOURCES

Training and development opportunities that are available through the Department's learning management system, Learning Nucleus are provided in Appendix A. These include:

- Career Development Tools: Learning Nucleus contains an expansive catalog of courses and tools aimed at strengthening job-related skills and supporting the upskilling and reskilling our workforce. This includes the Mentoring Module, Competency Assessments, and Individual and Executive Development Plans, which can all be executed virtually.
- Telework-Related Resources: The list below includes resources available in Learning Nucleus to help employees and supervisors maximize effectiveness in a virtual work environment. Included are virtual courses, video vignettes, and books.

APPENDIX A – LEARNING NUCLEUS RESOURCES

Course Title	Course #	Type	Duration
Telework for Government Employees	69974	Skillsoft	60 min
Establishing Effective Virtual Teams	58917	Skillsoft	30 Min
Facing Virtual Team Challenges	58918	Skillsoft	30 Min
Contributing as a Virtual Team Member	75009	Skillsoft	20 Min
Video Title	Video #	Type	Duration
Face-to-Face Versus Virtual Management by Sue Powell	78964	Video	2 Min
Leading Effectively in a Virtual Environment by Eddie Obeng	77705	Video	3 Min
Virtual Meetings That Work by Rick Lent	104221	Video	2 Min
Managing Conflict in High Performance Teams by Howard Guttman	80844	Video	3 Min
Leading a Virtual Collaborative Team by Tamara Erickson	49868	Video	3 Min
Managing a Virtual or Matrix Team by Jason Jeffay	115271	Video	2 Min
Leading More Effectively Remotely by Kevin Eikenberry	132576	Video	4 Min
Leading Virtual Meetings by Keith Ferrazzi	96453	Video	3 Min
Book Title	Book #	Type	Duration
Projects Without Boundaries: Successfully Leading Teams and Managing Projects in a Virtual World	120271	Book	352 Pages
Virtual Team Success: A Practical Guide for Working and Leading from a Distance	41055	Book	224 Pages
Virtual Leadership: Practical Strategies for Getting the Best Out of Virtual Work and Virtual Teams	115194	Book	248 Pages
Interact and Engage! 50+ Activities for Virtual Training, Meetings, and Webinars	97497	Book	233 Pages
Uniting the Virtual Workforce: Transforming Leadership and Innovation in the Globally Integrated Enterprise	45642	Audiobook	5 hours

PERSONNEL ACTIONS DUE TO CHANGES IN GEOGRAPHIC LOCATIONS FOR HC-SSC CUSTOMERS

In accordance with Policy Memorandum #106, Telework/Remote Work, remote work is a work arrangement in which the employee continually works from an approved Official Remote Worksite (usually the employee's residence) that is within or outside the local commuting area (LCA) of an Official DOE Worksite. The LCA is defined as a 50-mile radius surrounding an employee's Official Remote Worksite.

Remote work is distinct from telework and, since the work is not at an Official DOE Worksite, it may require a change in an employee's duty station that may affect their pay, benefits, and taxes.

DUTY STATION CHANGES (NO CHANGE IN PAY)

A Change in Duty Station personnel action occurs when an employee's geographic location of their worksite changes and no other change to the position is needed (i.e., pay stays the same). OPM defines a change in a geographic location when a change in city/town, county, or State occurs, even if there is no affect to an employee's pay.

Change in Duty Station personnel actions are necessary to ensure an employee's Official Remote Worksite is accurate. If there are more than 16 employees who require a Change in Duty Station, Departmental Elements should use the mass process for efficiency.

The below process must be followed when an employee has a geographical location change but no change in pay:

- Resource Managers must initiate a CHRIS Non-Recruit Workflow action for a Change in Duty Station when an employee is approved to become remote based on the duty station identified on the telework agreement. This is also necessary if a remote employee moves from one remote duty station to another.
- The Remote Work Agreement must be attached to the Change in Duty Station Non-Recruit Workflow action to indicate approval to process the action and verify the correct duty station is entered in CHRIS.
- The Office of Recruitment and Advisory Services (ORAS) in the HC-SSC will support smaller Departmental Elements that do not typically generate their own CHRIS Non-Recruit Workflow actions. In these cases, a request for the duty stations change should be sent to HRnonrecruit@hc.doe.gov along with a copy of the Remote Work Agreement.
- Change in Duty Station personnel actions will be processed effective the pay period after the Workflow action is received in OHROC. Duty Stations actions cannot be processed retroactively.
- Employees will receive an eOPF email Notification of Personnel Action, SF-50, to document the Change in Duty Station.

DUTY STATION CHANGES (RESULTS IN CHANGES IN PAY)

If an employee changes their geographic location and it results in a pay adjustment (e.g., the new duty station is in a different pay locality area), it cannot be processed using the Change in Duty Station personnel action. This change must be processed as a General Pay Adjustment.

Instead, the below process must be followed when an employee is relocating, and their pay will change:

- Resource Managers must email the current Position Description (PD) to Classification in the Hiring Services Division in OHROC and request an update to the PD to change the employee's duty location.
- After the PD is updated, Resource Managers must initiate a CHRIS Non-Recruit HR Workflow action for a General Pay Adjustment and indicate in the remarks section it is due to a change in the duty station from old duty station to new duty station (e.g., a change in duty station from Dallas, TX, to Boulder, CO).
- The Remote Work Agreement and the updated PD must be attached to the General Pay Adjustments Non-Recruit Workflow action to indicate approval to process the action and verify the correct salary and duty station is entered in CHRIS.
- The ORAS will support smaller Departmental Elements that do not typically generate their own CHRIS Non-Recruit Workflow actions. In these cases, a request for General Pay Adjustment should be sent to HRnonrecruit@hc.doe.gov along with a copy of the Remote Work Agreement and updated PD.
- General Pay Adjustment actions will be processed effective the pay period after the Workflow action is received in OHROC. These actions cannot be processed retroactively.
- Employees will receive an eOPF email Notification of Personnel Action, SF-50, to document the General Pay Adjustment.

STATE OR LOCAL TAXES CHANGES

The employee is responsible for initiating changes for their state or local taxes when there is a geographical location change. The employee will receive an eOPF Notification that the Change in Duty Station or General Pay Adjustment SF-50 has been processed and added to their eOPF folder. If applicable, the employee must take one of the following actions:

- Change their state taxes in myPay as soon as possible if they moved to another taxable state.
- If the employee moved to a non-taxable state such as FL or TX or if the employee needs to add local taxes, please contact DOE Payroll at payrollcsrhelpdesk@hq.doe.gov immediately for assistance.
- If the employee moved within their current state, no state tax change is necessary.

The employee is responsible for filing and paying all state and local taxes and/or penalties, if applicable. The employee is solely responsible for any and all tax implications attributable to a Remote Work Agreement.

HEALTH BENEFITS CHANGES

Federal Employees Health Benefit (FEHB) or Federal Employee Dental and Vision Insurance Program (FEDVIP): If the employee moves to a geographical area not covered by their current health benefits plan, the employee must elect a new plan. Please see instructions on SF2809 - Health Benefits Election Form \(opm.gov\). The employee must email Benefits in the Employee Services Division in OHROC within 60 days of the effective date of the Change in Official Remote Worksite to process their change in FEHB. If enrolled, the employee must also notify their FEHB provider and dental/vision (FEDVIP at www.benefeds.com).

MARCH 2022 V.1

QUESTIONS: Contact HC Communications

VISIT Us: HCnet.doe.gov

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

A1253

Department of Energy

Washington, DC 20585

September 13, 2023

MEMORANDUM FOR HEADS OF DEPARTMENTAL ELEMENTS

FROM: ERIN MOORE
CHIEF HUMAN CAPITAL OFFICER

SUBJECT: Policy Memorandum #108, Domestic Employees Teleworking Overseas

Section 6202 of the Fiscal Year 2022 National Defense Authorization Act (Public Law 117–81, December 27, 2021) requires all Federal agencies to establish a policy under which employees may be permitted to temporarily perform work requirements and duties from approved overseas locations. To satisfy the requirement, this policy memorandum (PM) establishes the Department of Energy's (DOE) requirements for authorizing and submitting requests to work remotely in overseas locations, which is referred to across the Federal government as Domestic Employees Teleworking Overseas (DETO).

This information supplements the requirements established by the Department of State, which holds exclusive authority for approving DETO Agreements for Federal employees.

Accordingly, this PM should be read in conjunction with DOE Order \(DOE O\)313.3, Management and Funding of the Department's Overseas Presence, DOE O 314.1B, DOE Telework and Remote Work Program, and PM #106, Department of Energy's Telework/Remote Work Program, or successor Orders/PM.

Questions concerning this PM should be directed to the Department's Tele/Remote Work Program Manager in the Office of Policy, Labor and Employee Relations at DOE-Tele-Remote-Work-Policy@hq.doe.gov.

INTEGRITY - INNOVATION - COLLABORATION - ACCOUNTABILITY - RESPECT - EXCELLENCE

POLICY MEMORANDUM #108

DOMESTIC EMPLOYEES TELEWORKING OVERSEAS (DETO)

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Purpose..... 2

Applicability 2

Exemptions 2

Labor Relations Obligations..... 2

Background..... 2

Requirements 3

Roles and Responsibilities 13

Additional Information 15

References..... 15

List of Attachments 16

 Attachment 1: Key Definitions..... 17

 Attachment 2: Frequently Asked Questions for DETO Agreements..... 18

 Attachment 3: DETO Agreement 19

PURPOSE

This policy memorandum (PM) establishes the Department of Energy's (DOE) requirements for authorizing telework in overseas locations, otherwise referred to as Domestic Employees Teleworking Overseas (DETO). This PM also provides guidelines for submitting requests to telework overseas, which, if approved, will allow DOE employees to serve on DETO agreements while working remotely in an approved overseas location.

Accordingly, this PM should be read in conjunction with DOE Order \(DOE O\)313.3, Management and Funding of the Department's Overseas Presence, DOE O 314.1B, DOE Telework and Remote Work Program, and PM #106, Department of Energy's Telework/Remote Work Program, or successor Orders/PM.

APPLICABILITY

- 1) This policy applies to all Federal DOE positions designated as "remote work eligible" except where indicated in exemptions section below.
- 2) The Administrator of the National Nuclear Security Administration (NNSA) must ensure that NNSA employees comply with their responsibilities under this policy memorandum. Nothing in this policy memorandum will be construed to interfere with the NNSA Administrator's authority under section 3212\(d\) of Public Law \(P.L.\) 106 65 to establish Administration specific policies, unless disapproved by the Secretary.
- 3) In accordance with the responsibilities and authorities assigned by Executive Order \(EO\) 12344, codified at 50 U.S.C. § 2406 and 50 U.S.C. § 2511, and to ensure consistency through the joint Navy/DOE Nuclear Propulsion Program, the Deputy Administrator for Naval Reactors (Director) will implement and oversee requirements and practices pertaining to this policy memorandum for activities under the Director's cognizance, as deemed appropriate.

EXEMPTIONS

- 1) Political appointees and employees serving on schedule C appointments are ineligible to serve on DETO Agreements.
- 2) Employees whose duties include reporting on or playing any substantive role in the policy or administrative issues pertaining to the country from which they would live in during a DETO Agreement are ineligible to serve on DETO Agreements in that country.

LABOR RELATIONS OBLIGATIONS

- 1) Nothing in this PM shall change any collective bargaining agreement in effect on the date of this PM. In the event any provisions of this PM conflict with the terms of any collective bargaining agreement (CBA) in effect on the date of this PM, the terms of the CBA shall prevail.

BACKGROUND

A Federal employee assigned to a DETO Agreement works remotely from an approved overseas location for a specific duration. The employee's duty station is changed to reflect the approved overseas location; however, the employee's position of record remains a domestically assigned position and their domestic reporting structure remains the same.

On June 7, 2016, the Department of State (DOS) issued a Memorandum for All Department and Agency Executive Secretaries, Requirements for Executive Branch Employees Teleworking in Foreign Locations. DOS's memorandum provides Federal policy for authorizing DETO Agreements and provides minimum requirements, which must be included in an agency's DETO policy. The DOS memorandum applies to all Federal Executive Branch agencies considering DETO Agreements for respective agency employees. The DOS policy requirements are in addition to the requirements addressed in the Telework Enhancement Act of 2010, supporting U.S. Office of Personnel Management requirements.

Additionally, section 6202 of the Fiscal Year 2022 National Defense Authorization Act (Public Law 117–81, December 27, 2021) requires all Federal agencies to “establish a policy enumerating the circumstances under which employees may be permitted to temporarily perform work requirements and duties from approved overseas locations”.

While DETO Agreements are becoming more common in the Federal government, they are considered on a case-by-case basis due to increased security concerns and costs to employing agencies. DETO arrangements should be authorized sparingly.

REQUIREMENTS

A. GENERAL REQUIREMENTS:

- 1) The Department will administer the provision of this PM fairly and equitably, without regard to race, ethnicity, color, religion, gender (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, age, disability, political affiliation, sexual orientation, genetic information, marital or family status, personal favoritism, membership, or non-membership in an employee organization, or holding of office in an employee organization, or any other non-merit-based factor.
- 2) Where this PM is silent, the Department's discretion is subject to law and DOS and OPM regulations or guidance. When provisions of this PM differ from changes in law, regulation or updated guidance, the changes supersede.
- 3) The Office of the Chief Human Capital Officer (HC) along with the Office of International Operations in the National Nuclear Security Administration (NNSA) must monitor any adjustments or changes to Federal regulations issued by DOS or otherwise. At such time, HC must update the provisions of this PM to align with Federal requirements.
- 4) Although “DETO” has telework in the acronym, a DETO Agreement is a temporary overseas remote work arrangement that allows Federal employees to perform the duties of their domestic DOE position of record from an approved overseas location. A DETO Agreement is the necessary form used to allow a DOE employee to work remotely in an approved overseas location.
- 5) DETO Agreements are strictly voluntary and at the discretion of Departmental Element (DE) management. Any associated expenses (e.g., relocation expenses) are the responsibility of the employee and are not funded by DOE. DE management has the discretion to authorize, suspend, change, or cancel DETO Agreements when doing so is in the best interest of the Department. DOS must approve requests to approve, suspend, change, extend, and cancel DETO Agreements.

- 6) Specifically, unless exempted by Presidential directive or legislation, DOE Federal employees working remotely from foreign countries are subject to the DOS Chief of Mission \(COM\) authority and their presence at an overseas post (location) must be pre-approved via the National Security Decision Directive 38 \(NSDD-38\), if over one year, or the electronic Country Clearance (eCC) process, if less than one year.
- 7) Employees who are performing the duties of their DOE position at their approved overseas location (e.g., home) are covered by the Federal Employees' Compensation Act. As such, employees must immediately report any job-related incident that results in or has the potential to cause injury, illness, or property damage to their first-line supervisor. Supervisors must investigate all reports immediately following notification in accordance with DOE's Workers' Compensation Program.
- 8) A DETO Agreement is not a reasonable accommodation. An employee with a disability seeking telework as a reasonable accommodation must follow procedures outlined in PM#100B, Reasonable Accommodation. This does not preclude a DOE employee on a DETO Agreement from requesting a reasonable accommodation once they reach the country for their DETO assignment.

B. ELIGIBILITY

- 1) Positions must be designated as remote work-eligible based on their duties and responsibilities to qualify for a DETO arrangement.
- 2) Employees must be permanently assigned to domestic positions with at least one-year of Federal service and have successfully completed probationary/trial period requirements.
- 3) Positions that require access to and/or the handling of classified material are typically ineligible for a DETO Agreement.
 - a. However, if there is a compelling justification which warrants the DE to allow the employee to work under a DETO Agreement, the employee must be located at an embassy, consulate, or assigned to a specific mission with an international organization and applicable security standards must be met. In these cases, DEs must cover any support costs required to make such arrangements available to the employee and include this information in the DETO Agreement.
 - b. If in very rare situations and at the DE's discretion, the classified duties of the position are removed to allow the employee to work under a DETO Agreement, the employee may be allowed to work remotely at an alternate worksite, such as the employee's residence (home) in the foreign country, as opposed to being restricted to the embassy, consulate, or mission. This flexibility must be specifically stated in the DETO Agreement.

- 4) Federal employees who received a permanent disciplinary action in their electronic Official Personnel File (eOPF) from any federal agency are not authorized to have a DETO Agreement or will have their DETO Agreement terminated if:
 - a. They have been officially disciplined for being absent without permission (i.e., absent without leave (AWOL) for more than five days in any calendar year; or
 - b. They have been officially disciplined for violations of subpart G of the Standards of Ethical Conduct of Employees of the Executive Branch for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing Federal Government duties consistent with the guidance set forth in section 2635.704 of title 5, Code of Federal Regulations.
- 5) Current Federal employees are not authorized to have a DETO Agreement or will have their DETO Agreement terminated if:
 - a. An employee's performance continues to diminish employee or organizational mission or goals, even after attempts to mitigate poor performance have been attempted;
 - b. An employee is unable to access the Department's network or an employee's access does not meet the network requirements (e.g., security, bandwidth, service reliability) and no other work of equal or higher priority that is acceptable to the supervisor can be performed at an alternative worksite; or
 - c. The employee does not comply with the terms of the DETO Agreement.

C. DETO AGREEMENTS:

- 1) When a DOE employee requests permission to move (relocate) and carry out their DOE job functions from an overseas location remotely, an approved DETO Agreement must be in place prior to working remotely from a foreign location. A DETO Agreement is not required when an employee is working remotely from non-foreign locations (e.g., territories).
- 2) Remote working from an overseas location on a DETO Agreement is distinct from other work flexibilities which may allow an employee who is overseas for a short duration (e.g., vacation) to check email, touch base with a supervisor, call into a meeting or log into a work account to accomplish work. Further, employees on official travel orders (i.e., temporary duty assignment [TDY]) are typically allowed to log in and perform DOE work while overseas without a formal DETO Agreement. For additional information and requirements regarding these other flexibilities and prior to authorizing this type of work flexibility, DEs must consult with the Office of Chief Information Officer (OCIO) and follow any applicable OCIO policies.
- 3) There are two types of DETO Agreements:
 - a. Sponsored DETO Agreement: Is an arrangement that allows a Federal DOE employee who is married to a sponsoring employee assigned overseas based on United States Government (USG) orders to work from an approved overseas location. The Sponsored Agreement is the most common arrangement and is usually approved for the duration of the sponsoring employee's orders.

- i. Example: A Federal DOE employee is married to a member of the Foreign Service (FCS). The FCS employee is assigned to Embassy Madrid, and the DOE employee applies for a DETO Agreement to perform their DOE Federal position remotely, from Madrid – most likely from their residence.
 - ii. Example: A Federal DOE employee is married to a member of the military who has military orders to be stationed overseas. The DOE employee (i.e., the spouse of the military member) applies for a DETO Agreement to perform their DOE Federal position remotely from the overseas location.
 - b. Independent DETO Agreement: Is an arrangement that allows a Federal DOE employee to work remotely from an approved overseas location independently without accompanying a sponsoring employee. In these situations, the employee must explain the need for the request, and provide information about how they expect to accomplish their job duties without a negative impact.
 - i. Example: A Federal DOE employee has an immediate family member in Italy who is ill and requests permission for an Independent DETO Agreement to perform their DOE Federal position remotely in Italy to be near their family member.
 - ii. Example: A Federal DOE employee has a family related, or personal emergency requiring their immediate presence overseas and requests an Independent DETO Agreement to perform their DOE Federal position remotely overseas for a short duration.
 - iii. Example: A Federal DOE employee's spouse is assigned overseas to an international organization (e.g., North Atlantic Treaty Organization, United Nations, World Bank). Federal employees assigned to international organizations on detail are not considered sponsors for purposes of a DETO Agreement because they are not on official U.S. government orders.
- 4) DETO Agreements (Sponsored or Independent) allow for temporary or long-term work arrangements as defined by DOS.
 - a. Temporary DETO Agreement: Typical duration is for less than one (1) year. When establishing temporary DETO Agreements, DEs must obtain COM approval through the country clearance process. Extensions may be granted. This is the most commonly approved Agreement by DOS.
 - b. Long Term (Permanent) DETO Agreement: Typical duration is for one (1) year or more. When establishing permanent DETO Agreements, DEs must follow the procedures outlined in the NSDD-38, or other guidance as provided by the DOS.
- 5) A DETO Agreement generally does not exceed two years. While a two (2) year Agreement is considered "permanent" by DOS DETO definitions, historically, DOS does not approve Agreements extending beyond this time. An employee seeking a permanent overseas position must apply for an overseas permanent position.

D. ANTI-NEPOTISM REVIEW

- 1) An employee requesting a Sponsored DETO Agreement is required to undergo an Anti-Nepotism Review \(ANR\) before working at the same post as their spouse when the employee's spouse meets any elements of the "Prohibited Conditions" listed in the DOS 3 FAM 8326.
- 2) If an ANR is required, the DOE employee on the DETO Agreement cannot begin working at a post until the ANR is completed. The DE's Tele/Remote Work Coordinator (TWC) must inform NNSA's Office of International Operations when a Sponsored DETO Agreement requires an ANR. The DE must submit the required paperwork to allow sufficient time for DOE to obtain the DOS approval.
- 3) The ANR submission must include:
 - a. A description of the DOE employee's responsibilities, including the rater and reviewer of the employee on the DETO Agreement, with a copy of the current position description;
 - b. Confirmation documenting the chain of command for the DOE employee on DETO Agreement is outside the purview of the post, including their relative at post (i.e., overseas location), and that the employee on DETO Agreement will exclusively perform duties for their domestic DOE office;
 - c. Confirmation the DOE employee will not provide any services to post, and if post looks to the employee's office for services of any kind, identify the Point of Contact (POC) in the organization to provide such services in lieu of the employee on DETO;
 - d. Information on where the DOE employee will work as the alternate overseas remote work location (home residence);
 - e. TDY travel requirements, if applicable, at the employing DE's expense and incorporated into the DETO Agreement; and
 - f. A statement on International Cooperative Administrative Support Services \(ICASS\) costs and plans for the DE to reimburse the DOS, if applicable.
- 4) Once the ANR is complete and approved, the TWC must attached the approved ANR to the DETO Agreement for submission to the OPAB¹.

E. APPROVAL OF DETO AGREEMENTS:

- 1) Employees must submit a written request (email, memorandum, or another approved format as determined by the DE) to their first-line supervisor for consideration of a DETO Agreement.

¹ The OPAB in conjunction with the Office of International Operations (NNSA) will submit the final DETO Agreement with the ANR document to DOS for final approval.

- 2) Heads of Departmental Elements (or approving officials) are not required to alter/adjust work duties to support employee's request to work remotely overseas on a DETO Agreement.
- 3) All DOE employees must receive pre-approval from the Department's Overseas Presence Advisory Board (OPAB) before negotiating a DETO Agreement.
 - a. DEs requesting a DETO Agreement must inform the Department's Tele/Remote Work Program Manager located in the Office of Policy, Labor, and Employee Relations \(OPLER-PD\) in the Office of the Chief Human Capital Officer (HC) and NNSA's International Operations Office who will coordinate with OPAB for approval.
 - b. If OPAB approval is received, NNSA's International Operations Office is responsible for coordinating DOS approval for DETO Agreements for DOE Federal employees.
- 4) A standard template is provided for DEs requesting a DETO Agreement.
 - a. Changes in language for DETO Agreements are not permitted as it is based on DOS requirements.
 - b. Addendums may be allowed to accommodate various provisions as outlined in this PM. Addendums must be coordinated with NNSA's International Operations Office and the Department's Telework Program Manager in OPLER-PD.
- 5) For the DETO Agreement request to proceed to DOS for final approval, DETO Agreements, including an ANR for potential conflict of interests (if applicable), must be signed by the following individuals:
 - a. Head of Departmental Element;
 - b. First-line supervisor (or equivalent);
 - c. General Counsel (GC); and
 - d. Office of International Operations in NNSA.
- 6) Any extension requests must be coordinated through NNSA's International Operations Office and OPAB before seeking DOS approval. Extensions may be requested to the DETO Agreement by presenting an amended DETO Agreement and seeking permission from the COM through the National Security Decision Directive 38 (NSDD 38) approval process.
- 7) Contact with NNSA's International Operations Office and the OPAB is reserved for HC, GC, first-line supervisors and Telework/Remote Work Coordinators only. Employees cannot contact NNSA's International Operations Office or the OPAB directly.

F. TERMINATION OF DETO AGREEMENTS

- 1) The DETO Agreement terminates automatically when the sponsor's initial overseas assignment ends or when the current Agreement expires.

- 2) If a DETO Agreement is terminated early, either by DOE or at the employee's request, provisions in DOE O 314.B and PM# 106 apply. DOS must approve requests to suspend, change, and cancel DETO Agreements.
 - a. NNSA's International Operations Office must request to cancel the overseas position through the DOS via NSDD-38 process or the eCC process.
 - b. If a DE wants to terminate a DETO Agreement early, the first-line supervisor must notify the DOE Tele/Remote Work Program Manager in OPLER-PD who will work with NNSA's International Operations Office no later than four weeks in advance of terminating the Agreement to ensure proper coordination with DOS.
 - c. Once DOS approves the cancellation/termination, the DE can notify the employee. Employees must return to their domestic position as soon as possible.
- 3) The employee must notify their TWC and first-line supervisor of the effective date of the termination of the DETO Agreement to allow time to process the required SF-50 personnel action documenting the change in duty station.

G. COMPENSATION AND COST OF LIVING ALLOWANCES FOR DETO AGREEMENTS

- 1) When serving on a DETO Agreement, locality pay is authorized for DOE employees covered under Title 5 U.S.C., Subpart F, Locality Based Comparability Payments. Accordingly, General Schedule (GS) employees, or equivalent are paid at the basic pay including locality. Employees serving on a DETO Agreement are entitled to receive the highest applicable rate of pay of the following:
 - a. The overseas locality rate (as indicated under section 9717 (b)(2) of the NDAA);
 - b. A special rate under 5 U.S.C. § 5305 (based on the DETO's overseas position and location but without any special rate associated with the former U.S./domestic duty station); or
 - c. A retained rate under 5 U.S.C. § 5363.
- 2) Locality pay under this PM is basic pay for the same purposes as Title 5 locality pay (e.g., retirement, life insurance and other Federal benefits).
- 3) Locality pay is included in basic pay when applying premium pay provisions. The adjusted rate of basic pay for GS-15, Step 10 rate used to establish an employee's premium pay cap under 5 U.S.C. § 5547 must include the locality payment.
- 4) Locality pay for employees on DETO Agreements qualifies for the maximum payable rate rules in 5 CFR 531.221-531.223. This applies even though receiving DETO locality pay causes the recipient to be coded in the Corporate Human Resources Information System (CHRIS) (or equivalent system) as receiving a special rate.
- 5) Employees on DETO Agreements are not authorized to receive overseas/foreign allowances. However, in cases where there is a sponsoring spouse, the sponsor may be eligible for allowances based on family size, including the DOE employee.

- 6) Upon arrival at the overseas location, the employee must notify their first-line supervisor and the TWC when the DETO arrangement begins. The supervisor must submit a change in duty station personnel action (SF-50) to reflect the location from which the employee is currently working on the DETO Agreement. SHRO/SSCs must be notified at least one pay period in advance that a “Change in Duty Station” personnel action is required.
- 7) At the conclusion of the DETO Agreement, the first-line supervisor must take similar actions to reflect the employee has returned to the United States or another domestic location. SHRO/SSCs must be notified at least one pay period in advance that a “Change in Duty Station” personnel action is required.
- 8) Throughout the duration of the DETO Agreement, the DOE position of record remains in United States (e.g., Washington, D.C.) or the location as it appears on the employee’s position of record before entering the DETO Agreement.
- 9) A Senior Executive Service employee on a DETO Agreement is not entitled to premium pay.
- 10) GS employees (or equivalent) serving on DETO Agreements may be eligible or entitled to receive overtime compensation depending upon the nature of the duties and where the work is performed. The existing overtime rules in Title 5 U.S.C. and the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) apply to DETO Agreements. All overtime must be approved in advance by the first-line supervisor.
- 11) Certain provisions and locations may impact FLSA designations while on a DETO Agreement. Servicing Human Resources Offices and Shared Service Centers (SHRO/SSCs) must ensure positions approved for DETO Agreements include appropriate FLSA designations.
- 12) Whether FLSA requirements apply depends upon the FLSA designation (i.e., Foreign Exemption Criteria under 5 CFR 551.212) and the location of where the work is performed. Accordingly:
 - a. When a non-exempt employee on a DETO Agreement performs any work hours in a non-exempt area as defined at 5 CFR 551.104 (i.e., in the U.S. or its territories) all overtime work performed that week must be compensated under FLSA.
 - b. When a non-exempt employee on a DETO Agreement performs all hours of work in a foreign area (i.e., overseas location), the Foreign Exemption applies. Any overtime work performed that week is not subject to FLSA but is instead compensated under Title 5.
 - c. Employees exempt from FLSA requirements remain exempt when on a DETO Agreement and are instead compensated under Title 5.

H. EMPLOYEE BENEFITS

- 1) If the employee moves to a geographical area not covered by their current health benefits plan ([Federal Employees Health Benefit \[FEHB\]](#) or [Federal Employee Dental and Vision Insurance Program \[FEDVIP\]](#)), the employee must elect a new plan using the instructions on SF-2809 - Health Benefits Election Form.

- 2) The employee must email their SHRO/SSC within 60 days of the effective date of the Change in Official Worksite to process their change in FEHB.
- 3) If the employee's enrollment changes because of the DETO Agreement, the employee must also notify their new FEHB provider and FEDVIP (www.benefeds.com) for additional dental/vision benefits.
- 4) The employee is solely responsible for any, and all benefits implications attributed to the DETO Agreement. The employee should review their Leave and Earnings Statement to ensure proper deductions.

I. TIME AND ATTENDANCE

- 1) Time spent working on a DETO Agreement must be accounted for and reported in the appropriate official Departmental timekeeping system (e.g., ATAAPS). Time spent not working during the employee's tour of duty must also be accounted for and reported appropriately.
- 2) The employee's time and attendance must be certified by the certifying official to account for all hours included in the employee's tour of duty. Supervisors must ensure reported time adheres to DOE O 322.1C, Pay and Leave Administration and Hours of Duty, or successor order/policy.

J. COSTS, CONNECTIVITY, EQUIPMENT AND SUPPLIES

- 1) Any support or International Cooperative Administrative Support Services (ICASS) costs (e.g., supplies and other logistical provisions) associated with the DETO arrangement must be included in the DETO Agreement.
- 2) DOE may provide Government Furnished Equipment (GFE) and office supplies necessary for employees conducting official Government business while serving on a DETO Agreement.
- 3) The DE is not obligated to provide additional electronic or communication equipment to the remote worker on the DETO Agreement. DETO arrangements are expected to be cost-neutral or have no (or only minimal) impact on ICASS associated with the DETO Agreement.
- 4) DOE is not responsible for operating costs; home maintenance; insurance; utilities; internet access; or service, maintenance, damage, or replacement of privately owned equipment used for DETO Agreements, including personal printer supplies/paper, beyond what the DOS requires. Authorized costs must be approved in writing by the first-line supervisor prior to incurring them.
- 5) Employees are responsible for ensuring their home workstation space is safe and are required to sign the Self-Certification Safety Checklist. Employees must take any necessary corrective actions to eliminate potential safety hazards in the home workstation prior to working.
- 6) If an employee experiences a connectivity problem and is unable to work, they must inform their first-line supervisor immediately and routinely try to reconnect to determine if issues have been resolved.

- a. If the problem is due to DOE-related issues (e.g., Citrix or VPN problems), the employee's timecard should be coded as remote working.
 - b. If the problem is due to issues at the overseas worksite as indicated in the DETO Agreement (e.g., home internet is down, a power outage occurs), the supervisor will consider all factors, including, but not limited to, the nature of the circumstances, any work assignments that can still be performed under the circumstances, and whether leave, excused absence, or another duty status is appropriate.
 - c. If an employee expects to experience longer than normal connectivity issues (e.g., all day or several days) and requests administrative leave or WSL, the supervisor may request documentation of the disruption prior to approving/granting the leave request. Depending on the situation (i.e., assuming it is safe to travel), attempts should be made to work from an alternate location with connectivity prior to requesting administrative or WSL.
- 7) There may be rare cases where an employee on a DETO Agreement may receive approval to work from an official building, such as the embassy or consulate, rather than from home (i.e., overseas residence). If ICASS services beyond those generally provided to Eligible Family Members (EFMs) are required for the DETO, those services should be specified in a Memorandum of Understanding and/or ICASS Subscription of Services Agreement signed by relevant officials in the DE and attached to the DETO Agreement as an addendum.

K. PERFORMANCE AND CONDUCT

- 1) Employees on DETO Agreements must be treated equally (as if they are reporting onsite domestically) for the purposes of work requirements, performance standards and expectations, periodic appraisals of job performance, training, awards, promotion, reduction in grade, retention, and other personnel actions requiring management discretion.
- 2) Consistent with onsite personnel, employees must be held accountable for the results they are expected to produce while remote working.
- 3) In the event of performance or conduct issues, supervisors must follow the requirements DOE O 331.1D, Employee Performance Management and Recognition Program and DOE O 333.1, Administering Work Force Discipline, Adverse and Performance-Based Actions.
- 4) Unacceptable performance, misconduct, or the failure to protect Government records and/or sensitive information may result in disciplinary action, suspension, or removal from Federal service, or the revocation of access to Government systems.

L. WORK SCHEDULES AND HOURS OF DUTY

- 1) Employees on DETO Agreements must be at their approved remote worksite (as approved by the DETO Agreement) during their scheduled tour of duty or approved work hours.
- 2) With supervisory approval, employees may modify certain aspects of their approved work hours (e.g., begin the workday earlier and end earlier than on those days when they would commute).

- 3) Time spent in a remote work status per the DETO Agreement is official duty time; employees are expected to perform DOE business only.

M. RECORD KEEPING

- 1) All DOE employees are responsible for safeguarding and maintaining records in relation to this PM as required by the Privacy Act, the Freedom of Information Act, and other applicable laws and regulations.
- 2) Employees must protect information used at their approved overseas worksites and manage records in accordance with established DOE policies, practices, and procedures, and comply with all DOE information technology and cybersecurity guidelines security guidelines.
- 3) Upon arrival at the overseas duty station (i.e., overseas residence), the Self-Certification Safety Checklist must be completed. This is a mandatory self-certification process and responsibility rests solely with the employee. It is the responsibility of the employee to provide the completed form to the supervisor and the TWC. The TWC must ensure completion of the required form and maintain a copy, along with the signed DETO Agreement form.
- 4) A copy of the completed and signed DETO Agreement and all accompanying documents must be sent to the:
 - a. Supervisor of DETO participant;
 - b. Manager of the DETO participant;
 - c. Head of Departmental Element of the DETO participant;
 - d. Department's Tele/Remote Work Program Manager in OPLER-PD; and
 - e. The Office of International Operations in NNSA.
- 5) The OPAB and OPLER-PD will retain copies of DETO Agreements up to five years after the Agreement expires or terminates.

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The roles and responsibilities related to this PM must be read in conjunction with DOE Order 314.1B, Department's Telework and Remote Work Program.

A. HEADS OF DEPARTMENTAL ELEMENTS (OR DESIGNEE) WILL:

- 1) Sign and approve the DETO Agreement.

B. CHIEF HUMAN CAPITAL OFFICER (CHCO) WILL:

- 1) Administer the provisions of this PM in conjunction with DOE Order 314.1B and PM #106;
- 2) Provide guidance to TWC and the Servicing Human Resource Offices/Shared Service Centers (SHROs/SSCs) for implementation of this policy, as applicable; and

- 3) Oversee the collection and reporting of data responsive to OPM reporting requirements.

C. HC POLICY DIVISION WILL:

- 1) Maintain and provide supplemental guidance for employees assigned to DETO Agreements;
- 2) Update this PM and related guidance as needed to maintain compliance with laws, Government-wide rules and regulations, and Departmental program changes;
- 3) Serve as a resource for DOE supervisors, TWC, OPAB and the Office of International Operations; and
- 4) Coordinate the collection and reporting of DETO Agreements to OPM, and other agencies, as needed.

D. SHRO/SSCs WILL:

- 1) Process personnel actions (SF-50) for employees on DETO Agreements;
- 2) Ensure remote work eligibility is documented in CHRIS when building positions and processing personnel actions (SF-50s); and
- 3) Ensure position data reflects employee's eligibility in CHRIS for OPM Enterprise Human Resources Integration (EHRI) reporting.

E. NNSA'S OFFICE OF INTERNATIONAL OPERATIONS WILL:

- 1) Coordinate approval of the DETO Agreement with OPAB;
- 2) Serve as the Agency's DETO POC to the Department of State;
- 3) Review the DETO package to ensure all information is accurate;
- 4) Transmit the DETO package to the Department of State for final approval; and
- 5) Send approved DETO Agreements to the supervisor to initiate the change in duty station personnel action and any applicable locality pay adjustments.

F. MANAGERS OR SUPERVISORS WILL:

- 1) Ensure employees have work assignments appropriate to support a DETO Agreement;
- 2) Ensure employees meet the eligibility requirements for being on a DETO Agreement;
- 3) Sign and approve the DETO Agreements;
- 4) Set expectations regarding communication with remote employees;
- 5) Ensure employees maintain compliance with DETO Agreement work arrangements, and take appropriate steps to terminate the DETO Agreement if noncompliance is not promptly corrected;

- 6) Ensure employees record all work hours accurately in the official timekeeping system; and
- 7) Ensure the SF-52 request for Personnel Action is requested once the DOS approves the DETO Agreement.

G. TELEWORK/REMOTE WORK COORDINATORS WILL:

- 1) Maintain a copy of the signed DETO Agreement;
- 2) Maintain a copy of the signed Home Safety Checklist;
- 3) Ensure the content of the DETO Agreement complies with this PM and other Federal requirements; and
- 4) Send the signed DETO request to DOE's Tele/Remote Work Program Manager in OPLER-PD and the Office of International Operations to be forwarded to the State Department for final approval.

H. EMPLOYEES WILL:

- 1) Ensure all items on the DETO have been completed;
- 2) Complete the Self-Certification Safety Checklist; and
- 3) Immediately report any job-related incident that results in or has the potential to cause injury, illness, or property damage to their supervisor.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Tele/Remote Work Coordinators who have questions concerning this PM should send inquiries to DOE's Tele/Remote Work Program Manager at DOE-Tele-Remote-Work-Policy@hq.doe.gov. All other employees should direct their inquiry to their DE Tele/Remote Work Coordinator(s) listed on the Tele/Remote Work Coordinators page on HCnet.

REFERENCES

- 1) 5 U.S.C. Chapter 65 – Telework
- 2) 5 U.S.C. § 5921\(6\) – Definition of Foreign Area
- 3) 5 CFR § 591.205 – Which Areas are Nonforeign Areas
- 4) 5 CFR § 531.605 – Determining an Employee's Official Worksite
- 5) The National Security Decision Directive \(NSDD\) 38 – Staffing at Diplomatic Missions and Their Overseas Constituent Posts
- 6) 6 FAH-5 H-352.12 – Domestic Employees Teleworking Overseas Department of State
- 7) DOE O 313.1 – Management and Funding of the Department's Overseas Presence
- 8) DOE O 314.1B – DOE's Telework and Remote Work Program

- 9) DOE O 322.1C – Pay and Leave Administration and Hours of Duty
- 10) DOE O 331.1D – Employee Performance Management and Recognition Program
- 11) DOE O 333.1 – Administering Work Force Discipline, Adverse and Performance-Based Actions
- 12) PM #106 – Department of Energy's Telework/Remote Work Program
- 13) Office of Personnel Management – Overseas Telework
- 14) Overseas Assignments Program Desk Reference – Handbook on Overseas Assignments
- 15) Section 9717 of Public Law 117-263 – Locality Pay for Federal Employees Working Overseas Under Domestic Employees Teleworking Overseas Agreements

LIST OF ATTACHMENTS

- 1) Key Terms and Definitions
- 2) Frequently Asked Questions for Domestic Employees Teleworking Overseas
- 3) Teleworking Overseas \(DETO\) Agreement

ATTACHMENT 1: KEY DEFINITIONS

DOMESTIC EMPLOYEES TELEWORKING OVERSEAS (DETO)

A Federal DOE employee assigned to a position in the U.S. who is working remotely from an overseas location for a defined period. Although the domestic employee is not assigned or detailed to the overseas location, the employee's duty station will be temporarily changed to reflect the overseas alternate worksite for the duration of the DETO Agreement.

DETO AGREEMENT

An overseas remote work arrangement that allows domestic Federal employees to temporarily perform work duties from an approved overseas location.

INDEPENDENT DETO AGREEMENT

An arrangement that allows a Federal DOE employee to work remotely from an approved overseas location independently, without accompanying a sponsoring employee. This means the DOE employee is not included on orders of a U.S. Government sponsoring employee. DETO Agreements under this provision must comply with the requirements outlined in 6 FAH-5 H-352.12 and 2 FAH-2 H-113.1.

INTERNATIONAL COOPERATIVE ADMINISTRATIVE SUPPORT SERVICES (ICASS) COSTS

Costs that cannot be directly attributed to an agency and are distributed via ICASS as either post-obligated costs or non-post-obligated costs (refer to 6 FAH-5 H-352.12, Domestic Employees Teleworking Overseas). ICASS costs, if applicable, must be discussed in advance and incorporated into the DETO Agreement.

NATIONAL SECURITY DECISION DIRECTIVE-38 (NSDD-38)

The National Security Decision Directive-38 \(NSDD-38\) process is the mechanism by which a Chief of Mission exercises authority to determine the size, composition, and mandate of U.S. Government executive branch agencies at his or her mission. The NSDD-38 process specifically applies to direct-hire, full-time, permanent positions staffed by U.S. citizens and foreign nationals (see 2 FAH-2 H-113.1).

REMOTE WORK

A work arrangement in which the employee continually works from an approved remote worksite (usually the employee's residence) and is not expected to report to a DOE Worksite on a regular and recurring basis. Remote work is distinct from telework and results in a change in duty station location to reflect the Official Remote Worksite.

SPONSORED DETO AGREEMENT

An arrangement that allows a Federal DOE employee who is married to, or the partner of a sponsoring employee assigned overseas based on United States Government (USG) orders to work from an approved overseas location. The Sponsored DETO Agreement is the most common arrangement.

ATTACHMENT 2: FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS FOR DETO AGREEMENTS

Please visit the PM #108 HCnet page to view the FAQs for DETO Agreements.

ATTACHMENT 3: DETO AGREEMENT

Please visit the PM #108 HCnet page to access the DOE and DOS DETO Agreement.

OVERVIEW OF REMOTE WORK AGREEMENTS

In accordance with Policy Memorandum #106, Telework/Remote Work, remote work is a work arrangement in which the employee continually works from an approved Official Remote Worksite (usually the employee's residence) that is within or outside the local commuting area (LCA) of an Official DOE Worksite. The LCA is defined as a 50-mile radius surrounding an employee's Official Remote Worksite.

Remote work is distinct from telework. Unlike telework, employees under remote work arrangements are not required to report to the DOE Worksite two times per pay period. However, employees on remote work agreements may be required to report to the DOE Worksite with some regularity (e.g., a few times a quarter) for work that cannot be performed remotely.

TYPES OF REMOTE WORK AGREEMENTS

DOE offers two types of remote work agreements:

- Remote (All US) – Position can support full-time telework anywhere in the United States (i.e., inside or outside the LCA of a DOE Worksite).
- Remote (Restricted) – Position can support full-time remote work, but the employee's Official Remote Worksite must be located within the locality pay area of the DOE Worksite or must be a realistic commuting distance from the DOE Worksite for areas outside of a defined locality pay area (i.e., Rest of the United States locality pay area).

REQUIREMENTS OF REMOTE WORK AGREEMENTS

Below is a high-level summary of the requirements when entering a remote work agreement. This should be read in conjunction with PM #106 which provides additional detailed information.

- Upon acceptance of a Remote Work Agreement, the ability to work remotely becomes a condition of employment for the position. Failing to maintain any condition of employment, including the ability to work remotely, may result in administrative action, including removal from Federal service in accordance with appropriate due process procedures.
- A personnel action (i.e., SF-50) will be processed to officially change the Official Remote Worksite, including when the employee moves from their current residence.
- Employees must request and receive approval to move from their current residence or change their duty location, as it may affect pay, taxes, benefits, and entitlements. An employee's pay when on a remote work agreement will be based on where the employee lives as that becomes their new duty station, not the Official DOE Worksite. This change may result in loss of monetary benefit.
- If an employee requests to establish, modify, or terminate a remote work arrangement, including temporary remote work arrangements, any associated expenses (e.g., relocation expenses) will be the responsibility of the employee and will not be funded by DOE.
- Remote employees are not eligible for parking or transit subsidy benefits (i.e., SEET) because there are no commuting costs. Employees are responsible for cancelling their benefits if applicable.
- It is the employee's responsibility to ensure the safe transport of all assigned DOE property, including IT equipment, to the new Official Remote Worksite.

- DOE is not responsible for operating costs; home maintenance; insurance; utilities; internet access; or service, maintenance, damage, or replacement of privately owned equipment used for tele/remote work purposes, unless caused by DOE resources; or any other incidental costs not expressly authorized. Authorized costs must be approved in writing by the Supervisor prior to incurring them.
- The proximity of travel from an employee's Official Remote Worksite will determine whether travel expenses are reimbursed as a temporary duty travel (TDY) expense in accordance with the Federal Travel Regulation (FTR).
 - A remote employee who travels outside the LCA of their Official Remote Worksite (i.e., more than 50 miles) to report to a DOE Worksite or engage in other work-related activities (e.g., training) is eligible for TDY in accordance with the FTR. Travel authorizations are required for travel outside the LCA in accordance with DOE Manual (M) 552.1-1A, U.S. Department of Energy Travel Manual.
 - A remote employee who travels within the LCA of their Official Remote Worksite (i.e., 50 miles or less) to report to a DOE Worksite is not eligible for TDY or local travel reimbursement in accordance with DOE M 552.1A. Travel authorizations are not required for travel within the LCA.
 - A remote employee who travels within the LCA of their Official Remote Worksite to engage in other work-related activities (e.g., training) is not eligible for TDY but may be eligible for local travel reimbursement. Travel authorizations are not required for travel within the LCA in accordance with DOE M 552.1-1A
- Management has the right to terminate or modify remote work agreements in writing at any time due to business necessity (e.g., increased cost, changing organizational/business needs, workforce reshaping, position abolishment, transfer of function, other reasons unrelated to employee conduct or performance), with reasonable notice.
- All policies and practices that apply onsite apply to the employee when remote working. Additionally, an employee's current performance plan applies at the Official Remote Workplace.
- Employees in a remote work status are not eligible for Weather and Safety Leave, as they are able to work from their home unless an unanticipated condition prevents them from working.

CODING TELE/REMOTE WORK

Employees must ensure all hours are reported for pay purposes, including regular tours of duty, overtime, compensatory time, or credit hours earned, during which an employee teleworks. Further, every employee must have a designated Tele/Remote Work status in the CHRIS personnel system.

EMPLOYEE TELE/REMOTE WORK STATUS IN CHRIS

Telework Coordinators (TWCs) are responsible for maintaining and updating employee tele/remote work statuses in CHRIS. For TWCs who need access to CHRIS, complete the CHRIS User ID Request (top portion) and submit it to hc.policy@hq.doe.gov with Telework/Remote Work CHRIS Access Request in the subject line. Additional resources can be found on the CHRIS Portal including the most recent CHRIS Tele/Remote Work User Guide and a recording of the CHRIS Tele/Remote Work Training Session.

- Employees who choose not to participate in tele/remote work or whose position is ineligible must be coded as “Non-teleworker” as employee tele/remote work status in CHRIS.
- For reporting requirements, the Department needs additional granularity for employees who telework. Working with CF, HC is in the process of updating the nomenclature in CHRIS to accurately reflect this (as denoted in the future column in the below table). In the interim, code employees as “Routine 50% or More (5 to 8 days)” in CHRIS only if they are authorized to telework 6 to 8 days a pay period. Otherwise, if they telework 5 days a pay period, code them as “Routine (3 to 4 days)”.
- Employees who have telework or remote work approved as a Reasonable Accommodation must be coded consistent with their approved accommodation (i.e., the employee completes a Remote agreement and is coded in CHRIS as Remote). These employees should not be coded as “medical telework” to ensure confidentiality.

CHRIS Employee Tele/Remote Work Status	Future CHRIS Employee Tele/Remote Work Status
Routine 50% More (5 to 8 days)	Routine Over 50% (6 to 8 days)
Routine (3 to 4 days)	Routine (3 to 5 days)
Periodic Routine (1 to 2 days)	Periodic Routine (1 to 2 days)
Medical	Medical
Situational Only	Situational Only
FT Remote (ALL US)	FT Remote (ALL US)
FT Remote (Restricted)	FT Remote (Restricted)
Temp FT Remote (Restricted)	Temp FT Remote (Restricted)
Temp FT Remote (ALL US)	Temp FT Remote (ALL US)
Non-Teleworker	Non-Teleworker

ATAAPS CODING

All employees must record hours of time worked as RG (unless on leave, etc.) regardless of whether they are teleworking or working remotely. For teleworking employees, the following telework reason codes must be used in the Environment/Hazard field in ATAAPS on the days telework occurs:

- Routine/Recurring Telework – TW
- Situational Telework – TS
- Medical Telework – TM

For remote employees, including those on temporary remote agreements, the following remote reason code must be used in the Environment/Hazard field in ATAAPS:

- Remote Work (Restricted) and (All-US) – TR

SITUATIONAL TELEWORKING EMPLOYEES AS IDENTIFIED IN CHRIS

- Use TS to code any ad hoc telework days approved by their supervisor (e.g., medical appointment, project).

PERIODIC ROUTINE AND ROUTINE TELEWORKING EMPLOYEES AS IDENTIFIED IN CHRIS

- Use TW to code regularly scheduled telework days.
 - Examples in a normal pay period (# of days vary depending on supervisor approval):
 - Periodic Routine teleworkers have 1 or 2 days coded as TW
 - Routine (3 – 5 days) teleworkers have 3, 4, or 5 days coded as TW
 - Routine (6 – 8 days) teleworkers have 6, 7, or 8 days coded as TW
- Do not use TW if required to report onsite during a regularly scheduled telework day; these are RG hours only.
 - If only required to report onsite for part of a regularly scheduled telework day, code hours onsite as RG and the remaining hours must be coded as TW (e.g., 3 hours TW and 5 hours RG).
- Use TS to code any additional telework days during the pay period approved by their supervisor due to extenuating circumstances (e.g., medical appointment, project).

REMOTE EMPLOYEES AS IDENTIFIED IN CHRIS

- Must have their duty station updated in CHRIS to reflect their home vs. the DOE office location.
- Use TR to code regularly scheduled days working remotely at home (unless on leave, etc.).
- Do not use TR when working onsite, on official travel, or attending an in-person training/conference; these are RG hours only.
- Do not use any telework codes (TS, TW, or TM) in ATAAPS.
- Only Remote employees in CHRIS should charge to “remote” job codes (if established).
 - If the employee is charging the correct remote job code but their CHRIS status is not Remote, they need to be on a Remote agreement and coded in CHRIS as “Remote.”

NON-TELEWORKING EMPLOYEES AS IDENTIFIED IN CHRIS

- Record all hours of time as RG (unless on leave, etc.).
- Do not use any of the tele/remote reason codes in the Environment/Hazard field.
- Employees who telework occasionally need to be on a situational telework agreement and have their Tele/Remote Work status in CHRIS coded as “Situational Teleworker.”

APRIL 2024 V2

QUESTIONS: CONTACT TWC POCs

VISIT US: TELE/REMOTE WORK

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

A1278

Workforce Environment Plan BEST PRACTICES

It is our collective responsibility to continually improve our policies and procedures to help us all build, maintain, and strengthen relationships across our complex—not just for the near-term, but also for our long-term success. This includes maximizing all the benefits that come with increasing meaningful in-person presence, while also maintaining the flexibilities and efficiencies of a hybrid posture that have made us more agile and improved our work-life balance. This document consolidates best practices for leading in a hybrid work environment, as noted by Departmental Elements in their Work Environment Plans.

WORK SCHEDULES/ENVIRONMENT

- Variable Work Week Schedule: allow employees to vary the number of hours worked each day in a required 80-hour workweek. [Implemented by IN]
- Employee Onboarding Guidance: update onboarding guidance, with organizational checklists, to ensure all employees receive the same experience regardless of duty station by focusing on the in-processing of employees leading up to their first day on the job. [Implemented by CF]
- Available Shared Office Space: use the Office of Management's (MA) system (NowSpace/FM Systems) for an easy online process for employees to identify available workspace when needed to create a safe yet flexible employee experience. [Implemented by multiple DOE Offices]
- Health and Safety Training: provide Department-led training on health and safety concerns to raise awareness of potential workers' compensation issues and ensure awareness of how labor laws are applied in the new working paradigm. [Implemented by multiple DOE Offices]

ENGAGEMENT/COMMUNICATION

- Virtual Luncheons, Virtual Coffee Sessions, or Virtual Community of Interest Sessions: routinely dedicate informal scheduled blocks of time to encourage connections through shared professional passions. [Implemented EIA and EERE]
- New Employee Orientation Flipbook: develop an interactive orientation guide or experience for new employees that promotes the mission and strategic priorities of the Agency and the Departmental Element they are joining and shares welcome messages from key organizational leaders. [Implemented by HC, EERE, and EM and in process for nine other DOE Offices]
- Feed-Back Sessions: support new employees by performing feedback sessions with managers and new employees at the 30-, 60-, and 90-day marks. [Implemented by IN]
- Culture Engagement Activities: offer employee-led health and wellness challenges, honoring our veterans videos, mental health awareness events, Public Service Recognition week video and activities, interactive holiday related engagements and icebreaker bingo games that engage employees and share organizational information to build a cross-cutting culture to support one another. [Implemented by EERE and HC]
- Getting to Know Your Senior Leadership Sessions: hold informal meet and greets between new employees and the Head of Departmental Element; host live interactive and engaging fireside chats, game shows, and small group online events with senior leadership to foster a culture of open and reciprocal communication across the organization. [Implemented by HC]
- Implement Communication Plans: develop a communication plan for engaging the organization. Include extensive outreach to employees with a week-by-week schedule and messaging on specific topics, quarterly meetings, townhalls, fireside chats, newsletter articles, manager messages, office hours, lunch-and-learn sessions, and listening sessions. [Implemented by BPA, EM, EERE, and NNSA]

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

- New Technologies: provide electronic blackboards, whiteboards, and interactive slide decks to develop new ways to brainstorm and collaborate. [Implemented by OCIO and EERE]
- Training: provide training on how IT tools can be used, particularly in a remote environment, and EITS rules of behavior for IT use at home, onsite, and when commuting. [Implemented by multiple DOE Offices]
- Live Interactive Feedback: use the fun and interactive tools like Mentimeter to capture live feedback during training and meetings. [Implemented by HC]
- Facilitated Feedback Tool: use XLeap to provide a confidential environment for employees to share ideas/comments on FEVS, strategic plans, or other large initiatives. Platform can also be used to facilitate real-time feedback while collaborating in meetings. [Implemented by HC]

MEANINGFUL ONSITE ENGAGEMENT

- Dedicated Collaboration Work Weeks: dedicate two weeks each month during which technical staff are available for collaboration, presentations, and discussions with their peers. The remaining two weeks of the month are reserved for programmatic site visits, conferences, and any other offsite activities. [Implemented by ARPA-E]
- Participation in Regular Senior Staff Meetings: invite staff members responsible for major initiatives to Senior Staff Meetings to participate in an in-depth discussion on implementation. This will broaden the knowledge and understanding staff members and provide “face time” with senior leadership for employees in the organization. [Implemented by EERE, MA, and NE]
- Strategic Planning Onsites: schedule in-person strategic planning sessions that bring teams (Leadership, Office, Division) together to identify and discussion organizational priorities. Onsite planning sessions help to reconnect employees with mission, supports inclusion and fosters better teamwork and outcomes. [Implemented by multiple DOE Offices]
- Space Alterations: Create collaboration areas and leverage IT solutions (e.g., “power tables”) for small group meetings and informal engagement among and across teams. [Implemented by EERE and EM]
- Employee Recognition and Award Ceremonies: host formal employee recognition and award ceremonies to spotlight achievements throughout the year and celebrate the teams and individuals helping to advance organizational priorities. [Implemented by multiple DOE Offices]

RESOURCES

- Hybrid Workplace Resources: resources on working, collaborating, and leading in a hybrid environment and managing teleworking effectively.
- OPM Telework and Hybrid Solutions: resources on working and managing in a hybrid environment.
- OPM Performance Management Hybrid Workplace Tips:
 - Tips for Employees
 - Tips for Supervisors
 - Tips for Leadership
 - Tips for Technology
- Employee Assistance and Work-Life Program: resources to help employees balance wellness and health.
- Harvard Business Review: article on keeping hybrid employees engaged.

FEBRUARY 2024 V1

QUESTIONS: Contact DOE Chief Learning Officer

VISIT US: HCnet.doe.gov

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

A1280

Department of Energy
Collective Bargaining Agreement(s) –
Telework Provisions

DOE Unions: Overview

Organization	Union	Location
Bonneville Power Administration	AFGE Local 928	Portland, OR
	LIUNA Local 335	Portland, OR
	CPTC	Portland, OR Vancouver, WA
National Energy Technology Laboratory	AFGE Local 1104	Albany, OR
	AFGE Local 1916	Pittsburgh, PA
	AFGE Local 1995	Morgantown, WV
Richland Operations Office	AFGE Local 788 Professional/Non-Prof	Richland, WA
Western Area Power Administration	AFGE Local 3807	Upper Great Plains Region
	AFGE Local 3824	HQ Lakewood CO, Regional Offices: Phoenix, AZ; Folsom, CA; Loveland, CO; Salt Lake City, UT
	IBEW GCC-1, Locals 2159, 1759, 640, 1245, 1959	Regional Offices: Phoenix, AZ; Folsom, CA; Loveland, CO; Billings, MT; Montrose, CO
Southwestern Power Administration	IBEW Local 1002	HQ, Tulsa, OK
Idaho Operations Office	IFPTE Local 94	Idaho Falls, ID
Oak Ridge Office	OPEIU Local 2001	Oak Ridge, TN
DOE HQ	NTEU Local 228	Germantown, MD
	NTEU Local 213	Washington, DC
Golden Field Office	AFGE Local 1194	Golden, CO

DOE Golden Field Office and the American Federation of Government Employees (AFGE)

- CBA excerpts attached.
- There is no MOU related to telework or remote work.

DOE Richland Operations Office (Hanford) and the American Federation of Government Employees (AFGE)

- CBA excerpts attached.
- Unsigned MOU is attached; terms were tentatively agreed to during I&I and management is honoring the terms in good faith.
- MOU on telework and remote Work attached.

DOE Headquarters and the National Treasury Employee Union (NTEU)

- CBA excerpts attached.
- MOU on Remote Work attached; currently in negotiations with NTEU to update the MOU.

DOE National Energy Technology Laboratory (NETL) and the American Federation of Government Employees (AFGE)

- CBA excerpts attached.
- There is no MOU related to telework or remote work.

DOE Oak Ridge Office and the Office of Professional Employees International Union (OPEIU)

- CBA excerpts attached.
- There is no MOU related to telework or remote work.

DOE Western Area Power Administration (WAPA) and the American Federation of Government Employees (AFGE)

- CBA excerpts attached.
- MOUs on telework and remote work attached.

The following CBAs are silent on telework and remote work and there are no MOUs in place related to telework or remote work.

- DOE Southwestern Power Administration and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW)
- DOE Idaho Operations Office and the International Federation of Professional and Technical Engineers (IFPTE)
- DOE Bonneville Power Administration and the American Federation of Government Employees (AFGE)
- DOE Bonneville Power Administration and the Columbia Power Trades Council (CPTC)
- DOE Bonneville Power Administration and the Professional Division of the Laborers' International Union

DOE GOLDEN FIELD OFFICE AND THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES
(AFGE)

Office of Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy/Golden Field Office - American Federation of Government Employees
Collective Bargaining Agreement

union representative.

b. Only those employees identified on the list provided by the Union will be authorized to use official time. The Union President or designee shall be the primary Union point of contact for the Employer.

c. A union official, not acting in an official union capacity, who is designated as an employee's personal representative will be on duty time when preparing or presenting appeals to the MSPB and handling discrimination claims under EEOC procedures.

Section 3 – Exclusions

a. With advance approval from management, Union representatives may telework while on official time.

b. Union representatives are not authorized to earn premium or differential pay, overtime or compensatory time for their performance of Union representational duties.

c. In accordance with 5 U.S.C. §7131(b), the use of official time is prohibited for internal Union business.

d. Official time is not permissible for EEO complaint cases.

e. Official time may not be used to engage in grassroots lobbying or political activities, i.e., for the purpose of influencing Congress on pending

1. Term Negotiations – to prepare for and negotiate a collective bargaining agreement, in accordance with 5 U.S.C. §7131(a). Official time for these activities will not draw from the Union Bank.

2. Mid-Term Negotiations – To prepare for and bargain over issues raised during the life of a term agreement, in accordance with 5 U.S.C. §7131(a). Official time for these activities will not draw from the Union Bank.

3. Dispute Resolution – to appear in proceedings before the Federal Labor Relations Authority during such time as an employee would otherwise be in a duty status, in accordance with 5 U.S.C. §7131(c). Official time for these activities will not draw from the Union Bank.

4. General Labor-Management Relations – to perform miscellaneous representational activities authorized under 5 U.S.C. §7131(d), subject to availability of hours in the Union Bank, as described below.

5. For activities covered by 5 U.S.C. §7131(d), the Union is authorized up to 1,000 hours of official time per leave year. In addition, the Union is authorized to use up to 300 hours for training purposes. Notwithstanding these legislation.

Section 4 – Provisions for Official Time

a. Consistent with 5 U.S.C. 71 and this Agreement, Union representatives will be granted official time for representational activities, including:

limitations, the Parties agree that in exigent circumstances, the Union may request an additional allocation of reasonable official time to meet its statutory representational

Office of Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy/Golden Field Office - American Federation of Government Employees
Collective Bargaining Agreement

b. Unscheduled Leave Due to Weather – Unscheduled leave (annual, credit hours, or compensatory time) taken without prior supervisory approval in order to avoid unsafe travel conditions, such as ice and snow. This “liberal leave” policy applies only in situations where adverse weather conditions exist and the liberal leave policy is invoked by Management.

When taking unscheduled leave due to weather, employees must discuss with their supervisors no later than fifteen (15) minutes prior to taking leave. Employees on official leave restriction must follow the procedures outlined in their official leave restriction memorandum. Employees should refer to the Golden Message Center to learn of any additional information regarding office status.

c. Delayed Start Due to Weather – When the office is delayed in opening, and commuting employees qualify for Weather and Safety leave. Those teleworking have no delayed start.

d. Early Release Due to Weather – If the office closes early due to hazardous weather conditions, those employees who are commuting home qualify for Weather and Safety Leave for commuting time added to their regular commute home. Employees holiday release.

f. Office Closure – If the office is physically closed or inaccessible, employees do not have a “paid day off.” The office is open virtually. All employees must have a telework agreement in place. For Headquarters-reporting employees who are duty-stationed at Golden, the closing of the office at Headquarters has no impact on work status in Golden. If Headquarters is closed, Golden duty-stationed employees should report in accordance with Golden’s operating status.

g. Advanced Sick Leave – When an employee has no remaining sick or annual leave balance, they may be eligible for advanced sick leave or for the transfer of annual leave from another Federal employee under the Voluntary Leave Transfer Program (VLTP), and should speak to their supervisor about these programs.

h. Annual Leave – Leave that is earned bi weekly, and may be requested for any purpose. Leave accounts are charged in

i. Award Leave – leave awarded to an employee for special circumstances outside of the normal leave accrual system. Time-off awards for employees are limited to eighty (80) hours over a 12-month period. Time-off awards must teleworking that day do not qualify for Weather and Safety leave.

e. Official Early Release for Holiday – An early release in anticipation of a Holiday. Only employees who are at their duty station or teleworking are able to use administrative leave. No other types of leave can be combined with administrative leave to extend be used within twelve (12) months of issuance or the award is forfeited. If an employee leaves DOE or is terminated, the award leave is forfeited.

j. Employee Assistance Program – Employees wishing to engage the Employee Assistance Program (EAP) during duty hours, may received some free sessions while on duty time and

DOE RICHLAND OPERATIONS OFFICE (HANFORD) AND THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES (AFGE)

Article 19 Hours of Work and Schedules

Section 19.01 Policy

A. The Employer will administer hours of work in accordance with applicable laws (e.g. 5 U.S.C. Chapter 61), regulations (e.g., 5 C.F.R. Part 610), rules (e.g., OPM Fact Sheets and OPM Handbook on Alternate Work Schedules), policies (e.g., DOE O 322.1C Chg 1, or successor policy, and this article.

B. All employees will be on the basic fixed work schedule unless approved to be on an Alternate Work Schedule (AWS). There are two categories of AWS available to employees: Compressed Work Schedules (CWS) and Flexible Work Schedules (FWS). The availability of AWS will be consistent with the work requirements of the Employer.

C. Employees working AWS may also be approved by their supervisor to telework.

D. An employee will request and establish his or her tour of duty by completing a DOE tour of duty form, or successor form or process, and submit it into his or her supervisor. If denied, upon request, the employee will be provided the reason for the denial in writing.

E. All employees must be in a work, unpaid lunch, or approved absence status during their entire established work schedule (tour of duty).

F. The Employer will ensure that employees are compensated for all hours worked in accordance with applicable law, regulation, rule, policies, and this agreement. Employees will not be expected to work beyond their approved schedule unless overtime or compensatory time is approved in accordance with Article 26 Overtime, Compensatory Time Off, and Premium Pay.

Section 19.02 Basic Work Requirement

A. The basic work requirement of an employee working the basic fixed work schedule is eight (8) hours per day or forty (40) hours per week.

B. The basic work requirement of a part-time employee is between thirty two (32) and sixty four (64) hours in a biweekly pay period, depending on his or her approved part-time schedule.

C. The basic work requirement of a FWS is the number of hours, excluding overtime hours, an employee must work or otherwise account for by paid or unpaid leave or excused time off. A full-time employee on a FWS must work or otherwise account for eighty (80) hours in a biweekly pay period.

D. The basic work requirement of a CWS is the number of hours, excluding overtime hours, an employee is required to work or to account for by charging leave or otherwise. A full-time employee is required to work eighty (80) hours in a biweekly pay period. This work must be scheduled for fewer than ten (10) days in a biweekly pay period.

Article 41 Telework

Section 41.01 Agency Policy

A. The Parties agree that employees may telework full days, or portions of days, consistent with the Agency's telework policy (e.g., DOE O 314.1 and successor policies), subject to mission requirements and applicable laws, regulations, rules, policies, this agreement, and supervisory approval.

B. Employee participation in telework is voluntary, subject to supervisory approval. However, during any period that the Employer is operating under a continuity of operations plan (COOP), the COOP shall supersede this article in accordance with 5 U.S.C. § 6504\(d\).

C. An employee will request telework using the Employer's telework agreement. Supervisors will issue a decision on this request within seven (7) days.

D. All employees requesting telework, and supervisors of these employees, are required to complete mandatory telework training.

E. The employer will not provide computer equipment or services (e.g., internet connectivity) for telework. At the supervisor's request, case-by-case exceptions will be considered for employees that have a necessary mission function (as determined by the supervisor and/or AM) and no access to other computing solutions, or other extenuating circumstances. All employees who have been assigned a portable computer and have an approved government property pass may use such computer while teleworking. In the event the COOP has been activated and employees have been mandated to telework, where an employee does not have the necessary computer equipment or services necessary for performing telework, the Employer will provide the necessary resources, as determined by the Employer.

F. Employees will protect all government records and data against unauthorized disclosure, access, mutilation, obliteration, or other unauthorized use.

G. Approval of an employee's request for telework by the Employer shall not become a past practice.

H. When a supervisor, management official, and/or authorized investigator needs to meet with an employee and the employee is entitled to union representation (Weingarten), or AFGE has a right to be present (Formal Discussion), AFGE agrees that it will represent the employee virtually through a videoconference and/or teleconference if an AFGE representative is not available at the worksite (e.g., teleworking, etc.)

I. An employee is not eligible for telework if the employee's performance falls below fully successful. An employee's performance falls below fully successful for the purposes of this article when:

1. The employee is given a Notice of Opportunity to Demonstrate Acceptable Performance as defined in Article 29, Section 29.05 of this agreement;
2. the employee is notified in writing that his/her performance is unsatisfactory, and failure to improve such performance could result in administrative action such as reassignment or other actions up to and including removal from the federal service; or
3. the employee is denied or delayed from receiving a within-grade increase or career ladder promotion.

J. Employees will not be eligible for telework if at any time any of the following criteria apply:

1. The employee has received formal or informal disciplinary action, including counseling, within the last 24 months. If the employee receives formal or informal disciplinary action while on telework, the Agency may revoke the employee's telework agreement at its sole and exclusive discretion and without review by an arbitrator or other third party.

2. The employee is currently under leave restriction procedures.

K. Under no circumstances shall an employee telework at a location outside the normal commuting distance of the employee's official worksite without the express authorization of the Employer.

L. Partial day telework on a regular and reoccurring basis will only be authorized in situations where an employee does not commute to or from the alternative worksite on duty time or Union time. This provision excludes situations where a facility is closed and there is a late start or early release due to unforeseen events (e.g., inclement weather, power failure, gas leak, etc.)

Section 41.02 Definition

The term "telework" or "teleworking" refers to a work flexibility arrangement under which an employee performs the duties and responsibilities of such employee's position, and other authorized activities, from an approved worksite other than the location from which the employee would otherwise work.

Section 41.03 Benefits of Telework

The Parties recognize that the benefits of telework include:

- helps employees have greater flexibility in accomplishing their work while also meeting personal and community responsibilities
- can help reduce stress by decreasing commuting time, freeing that time up to accomplish family and personal matters
- can help free employees from office distractions, which may be particularly important when working on a complex project
- encourages engagement in your agency - when employees feel they have greater control over their work environment, they tend to feel more committed to their organizations
- helps with recruiting and retaining the best possible workforce
- ensures Continuity of Operations and maintains operations during emergency events - telework is a key component in ensuring the performance of essential Government functions during National or local emergencies such as natural disasters or National security incidents; or other situations that may disrupt normal operations
- promotes management effectiveness by targeting reductions in management costs related to employee turnover and absenteeism, and reduces real estate costs, transit costs, and environmental impact
- enhances work/life effectiveness and balance - telework allows employees to better manage their work and family obligations, thereby retaining a more resilient, results-oriented Federal workforce better able to meet agency mission and goals

MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN
THE U.S. DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY – RICHLAND OPERATIONS OFFICE AND OFFICE OF RIVER PROTECTION
AND
THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES, LOCAL 788
CONCERNING
IMPLEMENTATION OF THE HANFORD SITE TELEWORK/REMOTE WORK PROGRAM PROCEDURE, DOE-PRO-HR-50572

This Memorandum of Understanding (“MOU”) constitutes an agreement between the U.S. Department of Energy, Richland Operations Office and Office of River Protection (“DOE,” “Hanford,” or “Agency”) and the American Federation of Government Employees, Local 788 (“AFGE” or “Union”), collectively referred to as the “Parties,” concerning implementation of the Hanford Site Telework/Remote Work Program Procedure, DOE-PRO-HR-50572.

The Agency notified AFGE of the Hanford Site Telework/Remote Work Program Procedure, DOE-PRO-HR-50572, on January 5, 2022. On January 10, 2022, AFGE requested to engage in impact and implementation bargaining. The Agency provided AFGE an update to the subject Procedure on January 14, 2022. On January 15, 2022, AFGE provide initial proposals. The Parties exchanged counter proposals and met to bargain on February 8, 10, and 16, 2022. The parties exchanged further counter proposals and agreed to the following terms:

1. Communications:
 - a. Annually, the Agency shall provide the actual participation rate of bargaining unit employees for telework and remote work.
 - b. If a telework or remote work agreement request is denied by the Agency, the Agency shall provide the reason(s) for denial in writing to the requesting employee, along with the AFGE email address.
2. Workplace Operations:
 - a. Supervisors should initiate discussions addressing telework or remote work options and/or expectations with employees within seven (7) days of concluding this bargaining.
 - b. When an employee declines telework, the employee shall not be required to sign a telework agreement. During an event implementing the continuity of operations plan (COOP), it is recognized by the Parties that telework is not voluntary.
 - c. The Agency shall identify the telework program coordinator on the Hanford Workforce Management website.
 - d. If the telework agreement is revoked, the Agency shall give 45 days’ notice to the employee, except instances where the revocation is due to disciplinary action, in which revocation could happen immediately. The new work schedule shall begin at the beginning of the next pay period.
 - e. Teleworking/remote employees and onsite employees must be treated equally for the purposes of work requirements, performance standards and expectations, periodic appraisals of job performance, training, awards, reassignment, promotion, reduction in grade, retention, and other personnel actions requiring management discretion.

- f. Performance reviews may be conducted via teleconference or in person. Ratings shall not reflect telework or remote status.
 - g. The Parties agree that employees on a Routine Telework agreement may also telework situationally or on an ad-hoc basis with supervisor approval.
 - h. Supervisors shall work with employees and verify correct time coding of telework or remote work codes.
 - i. The CBA takes priority over PM #106 in the case of a conflict. DOE-PRO-HR-50572 implements PM #106 at DOE Hanford. DOE-PRO-HR-50572 shall be used to fill out the forms listed in Section 5.0.
 - j. The Agency shall provide 48 hours' notice to employees for telework inspections. The notice shall include the basis for the inspection. Inspections shall occur during the employees' normal tour of duty hours.
 - k. Initial telework training is available for employees through Learning Nucleus. Employees may take this training annually.
3. DOE-PRO-HR-50572 forms listed in section 5.0 are local copies of forms provided by PM #106.
 4. When either Party becomes aware of a significant unanticipated problem that arises from implementation of the Hanford Site Telework/Remote Work Program Procedure, DOE-PRO-HR-50572, the Parties agree to meet to discuss and attempt to resolve the issue(s) within 3 calendar days of notification by either Party.
 5. This MOU will take effect upon the last signature listed below.

For AFGE:

For DOE:

Kristi Ragsdale Digitally signed by Kristi Ragsdale
Date: 2022.03.24 14:23:07 -05'00'

 Tamara L. Dixon Date
 President, AFGE, Local 788

 Kristi Ragsdale Date
 Labor Relations Specialist

DOE HEADQUARTERS AND THE NATIONAL TREASURY EMPLOYEE UNION (NTEU)

Department of Energy Headquarters / National Treasury Employees Union

Collective Bargaining Agreement

Article 47 - Telework

b. the south side of the Germantown "C" wing entrance.

5. DOE HQ will maintain smoking shelters in the designated Germantown and Forrestal Smoking Areas.

C. Smoking Cessation Programs.

1. Where an Employee's Federal Employees Health Benefits (FEHB) Program does not provide access to smoking cessation programs DOE will make smoking cessation programs available to Employees who wish to stop smoking at no cost to the Employee and no additional cost to Employer.

2. DOE's EAP office shall maintain a list of approved smoking cessation programs and will provide the contact information regarding those programs to Bargaining Unit Employees.

3. Appropriate leave will be granted for Employee participation in such programs in accordance with Article 27.

4. Smoking Cessation Programs are covered under the Federal Employees Health Benefits (FEHB) Program.

D. If complaints are registered concerning smoking locations, the parties will meet to attempt to resolve the complaints.

E. Working conditions and conditions of employment for Employees who choose to smoke will remain the same as those for Employees who choose not to smoke.

Section 47.01. General

A. Telework is a work arrangement that permits an Employee to work at home or at another approved work site away from his or her traditional work site. The Parties are committed to allowing telework as long as it does not adversely affect DOE's mission.

B. Participants may be permitted to telework full days or a portion of a day.

C. Unless specifically changed by the terms of this Article, all other terms and conditions of employment as outlined elsewhere will remain the same for Employees participating in the DOE's telework program.

Section 47.02. Eligibility

A. Employee participation is voluntary and subject to management approval, unless otherwise mandated by law, rule, or regulation (e.g., activation of COOP). An Employee's request for telework will be reasonably considered and consistent with mission requirements.

B. To be considered for a telework arrangement, an Employee must meet the following criteria:

C. The supervisor has had time to assess initial performance;

D. Performance has not dropped below Meets Expectations or equivalent; and

E. Has suitable work to do on telework (work suitable for telework depends on job content rather than job title, type of appointment, or work schedule).

F. At the supervisor's discretion, Employees may not be eligible for telework if subject to any of the following criteria:

Collective Bargaining Agreement

G. Performance falls below Meets Expectations. An Employee's performance falls below Meets Expectations for the purposes of this Article when:

1. Given a performance demonstration period or opportunity to improve his/her performance as defined in government-wide regulations; or
2. Notified in writing that his/her performance is unsatisfactory, and failure to improve such performance could result in administrative action such as reassignment or other actions up to and including removal from the federal service.

H. Received or receives a formal disciplinary/adverse action within the last six (6) months that would impact the integrity of the telework program.

I. The Employee is currently under leave restriction procedures.

J. The Employee fails to complete all telework training as required by law, rule, or regulation.

K. The Employee violates his/her telework agreement within the last six (6) months.

L. Employees may participate in telework for medical reasons, or to care for a family member with a serious health condition, as that term is defined in the Family and Medical Leave Act. In addition to meeting the above conditions, DOE may require that medical documentation be provided in accordance with the procedures specified in Article 27, Section 27.03. Telework granted as a reasonable accommodation is governed by reasonable accommodation procedures and not this Article.

Section 47.03. Employee Telework Plan

A. An Employee requesting a telework arrangement will develop a plan to submit to his or her supervisor that includes such information as the type of work to be done at the telework site, the days to be worked at the telework site, etc. If the supervisor identifies any issues with the plan that would cause the telework request to be denied, the Employee and the supervisor will meet within ten (10) calendar days to work together and develop adjustments to the plan that will mitigate the identified issues. The Employee's plan will be approved if he/she has sufficient work to do at the alternate site, and it does not conflict with a mission necessity or training (e.g., scheduling or skillset needed on site).

B. DOE will approve or deny the Employee's request within fourteen (14) calendar days of a completed submission. Once approved, the Employee and the supervisor will enter into a telework agreement that incorporates the Employee's work plan, organizational and/or team responsibilities and use of designated communication tools. If denied, the supervisor will enter the justification on the Employees telework agreement form. The timeline for filing a grievance under Article 11 will begin to run from receipt of the denial.

C. Any time an Employee believes he or she needs to permanently or temporarily return to work in the office, the Employee will normally provide management with 30 calendar days' notice of the needed change, except in emergency situations.

D. A permanent significant change in the terms of the telework agreement requires a new telework agreement setting forth such changes or termination of the existing telework agreement. Permanent changes include Employee requested changes to the approved telework agreement and/or a significant change in duties being performed that impact position eligibility. Absent exigent circumstances, such as an unforeseen change in eligibility due to a position, an Employee's existing telework agreement will not be impacted pending the approval of the new telework agreement. If approved, the Employee will be exempt from taking the required telework training again.

Department of Energy Headquarters / National Treasury Employees Union

Collective Bargaining Agreement

- E. Requests by the participating Employee to change a scheduled telework day(s) in a particular week or biweekly pay period must be submitted in advance, prior to the effective date of the change, in writing, and approved by the supervisor.
- F. For business related reasons, management may amend, alter, adjust, change, remove, or suspend an individual Employee's or group of Employees' participation in the telework program. When such actions are necessary for the efficiency of operations, management will provide as much notice as possible of the action and the projected duration. When normal operations resume, Employees will be able to resume their previously approved telework agreement.
- G. DOE decisions regarding telework may be grieved in accordance with Article 11.

Section 47.04. Telework Responsibilities

- A. Telework home work sites require workspace (a room or a portion of a room which is adequate for the performance of official duties) with adequate light, basic telephone service, power, adequate environmental conditions, internet, smoke alarms, and adequate security. DOE will not pay for any of these requirements.
- B. The Employee will be available at the assigned alternate site unless on pre-approved leave or lunch, or if he/she has given the manager prior notice and has received permission to modify the workday. The supervisor and the Employee will work out appropriate protocols to ensure Employee availability in accordance with the telework agreement.

- C. DOE is not responsible for paying any extra costs the Employee may incur for working at home (e.g., adding an additional telephone line).
- D. If available for teleworking, DOE may provide the equipment for the Employee to telework. However, if equipment is not available, the Employee will be expected to provide necessary equipment through his/her own means if they choose to telework. If DOE issues equipment and more than one Employee requests for equipment, DOE will consider the Employees need for the equipment to determine which Employee will be issued equipment. If DOE issues required equipment to telework, DOE retains ownership and control of any and all hardware, software, telecommunications equipment and data placed in the alternative work site by the government. This equipment shall be used for official business only.
- E. Employees on approved regular and/or situational telework agreements who are issued laptops may be expected to take them to their telework site under the terms of their individual telework agreements.
- F. Employees will comply with all required security measures and disclosure provisions so that at no time are security or Privacy Act requirements compromised.
- G. Employees will comply with applicable government regulations governing information management and electronic security procedures for safeguarding data and data bases.

Collective Bargaining Agreement

H. To ensure that Information Systems and sensitive information procedures are in place at the alternate work sites, DOE may inspect the Employee's work site with 24-hour notice to the Employee. The notice will include the date and approximate time of arrival, the number of management officials coming to the site, the estimated duration of the inspection, the right to have an NTEU Representative present during the inspection, and other appropriate information. If an Employee requests that an NTEU Representative be present, the NTEU Representative and DOE will work together to schedule the inspection. The NTEU Representative has the discretion to attend the inspection physically or virtually/telephonically.

Section 47.05. Agency Directed Return to Work

- A. Participating Employee(s) must be available to work at the traditional worksite, normally with a one-workday advance notice, when management makes a determination that the Employee's presence is required. The Employee may request to telework on an alternate workday during the same workweek, in cases where he/she is required to report to the traditional worksite on a regularly scheduled telework day.
- B. When a participating Employee is required to return to the traditional worksite on a temporary basis with less than one workday advanced notice, the Employee must report within a reasonable amount of time. Time required to report to the official worksite, including traveling distance and mode of transportation factors, will be taken into consideration in evaluating what is reasonable.
- C. In the event an Employee is removed from telework for cause, the Employee will be expected to return to the traditional worksite on a permanent basis within a reasonable period of time.

Section 47.06. Conflicts

- A. Conflicts in days worked at the telework site will also be resolved through seniority. However, seniority does not allow a new telework agreement to negate an existing agreement (e.g., a senior Employee may not bump a junior Employee who is on an existing agreement).
- B. For the purpose of this Article, Seniority will be determined by:
 - 1. The total time an Employee has served in his or her office/work unit;
 - 2. In the event it is necessary to resolve ties after (1), the total time an Employee has served in DOE, regardless of position, will be used.
 - 3. In the event it is necessary to resolve ties after (2), the total time in Federal government service (i.e., SCD) will be used.
 - 4. In the event it is necessary to resolve ties after (3), they will be resolved by coin flip.
- C. Total time for less than full-time employment will be credited for seniority purposes based on the Employee's part time hours.

Section 47.07 Teleworking During Weather and Safety-Related Conditions

- A. A "weather or other safety-related condition" is one which is general rather than personal in scope and impact. It may be caused by developments such as terror alerts, heavy snow or severe icing conditions, floods, earthquakes, hurricanes or other natural disasters, air pollution, massive power failure, major fires or serious interruptions to public transportation caused by incidents such as strikes of local transit Employees or mass demonstrations that create safety-related conditions consistent with 5 CFR Part 630, Subpart P.

Department of Energy Headquarters / National Treasury Employees Union
Collective Bargaining Agreement

- B. For the purpose of this Section, Telework-ready Employees are Employees with an approved telework agreement (regular or situational) who have the necessary equipment (e.g., laptop, PIV card reader, RSA token) and necessary work files (paper or electronic) at their telework site (or transportable to the telework site) to perform required duties at the telework site at the time of an office closure or at other times as discussed below.
- C. Whenever it becomes necessary to close an office because of a weather or other safety-related condition, reasonable efforts will be made to inform all Employees. Such notice will be made as soon as practicable. All weather-related operation statuses for the National Capital Region are initiated, announced, and maintained by the Office of Personnel Management.
- D. When a closure of a facility is announced, managers may authorize Employees who are not in their facilities to travel on administrative time (duty time) to their facilities to obtain necessary work equipment or files to be able to telework. If the Employee is unable to perform work at a telework site because of failure to make necessary preparations for reasonably anticipated conditions, the Employee is not eligible for weather and safety leave, and the Employee must request other appropriate paid leave, paid time off, or leave without pay.
- E. When an Employee is Telework-ready and a weather or other safety-related condition forces the closure of his/her facility, the Employee is expected to perform work at his/her approved telework site for his/her entire workday. If the Employee is not Telework-ready for all or part of the tour of duty when a weather or safety-related condition forces the closure of his/her facility, the Employee may be granted an equivalent amount of weather and safety leave.
- F. When a teleworking Employee experiences a weather or other safety-related condition that prevents him/her from safely working at his/her telework site, the Employee must contact his/her supervisor as soon as practicable. The Employee will be granted weather and safety leave and may be required to provide reasonably available documentation to support his/her claim for weather and safety leave.
- G. In the event an office has an early departure, Employees who have a telework agreement and who are working in the office are required to take their equipment and work files to their telework site to finish their workday. Employees required to travel to their approved telework site during regular duty hours will be granted weather and safety leave for the time required to travel to the telework site, excluding the time that an Employee would normally be scheduled for his/her unpaid lunch break, if applicable and if normally scheduled during the time of the travel.
- H. Employees who are required to work unscheduled telework due to closure or dismissal under this Section will not have their previous scheduled telework days changed or cancelled.
- I. Employees on a telework Agreement may cancel preapproved leave or paid time off and be granted the same amount of weather and safety leave as other Employees if: (1) the intended purpose of the leave or paid time off is disrupted by the same weather or other safety-related condition forcing the office closure (e.g., flight cancelled, doctor's office closed); and (2) the Employees are not Telework-ready. Telework-ready Employees may cancel preapproved leave or paid time off and be expected to telework.

Department of Energy Headquarters / National Treasury Employees Union

Collective Bargaining Agreement

- J. When a young child or other person requiring the presence of a caregiver is present in the home, any time spent providing care to that person would not be considered hours of work. The Employee would be expected to account for work and non-work hours during his/her tour of duty and take the appropriate leave (paid or unpaid) or other paid time off to account for the time spent away from normal work-related duties. DOE should not grant the Employee weather and safety leave for the non-work time. Upon supervisory approval, the Employee may account for hours of work missed by working additional hours outside of his/her normal tour of duty in accordance with Article 25.

Section 47.08. Reporting

Upon request, NTEU will receive information on telework that may include the following information:

- A. Employee name
- B. Employee's telework Site
- C. Date request was submitted
- D. Date of approval/disapproval
- E. Decision: Approved or Denied
- F. Number of telework days requested
- G. Number of telework days approved
- H. Date telework commenced

Section 47.09 Office/Workspace Sharing ("Hoteling")

- A. For the purpose of this section, a singular working element means a group of Employees consisting of a first-line supervisor and the supervisor's permanently assigned bargaining unit Employees.

- B. Employees whose work schedules (e.g., AWS, FWS) and/or telework agreement results in being out of the office for fifty percent (50%) or more may be subject to office/workspace sharing ("Hoteling"). With the exception of singular working elements provided in Section 47.09.C below, absent a government-wide rule or regulation, DOE order or Headquarters wide policy which do not conflict with the contract and over which all bargaining responsibilities have been fulfilled, prior to any organization implementing a Hoteling arrangement that impacts bargaining unit Employees, the organization's department head, or designee, will provide the appropriate Chapter President with notice and the opportunity to bargain a Hoteling Agreement applicable to the respective organization. Such bargaining will be pursuant to Article 13 of this Agreement. The Hoteling Agreement may change the fifty percent (50%) threshold indicated above but may not supersede any other provision of this Agreement. Unless otherwise expressly agreed to by the parties negotiating the Hoteling Agreement, the term of the Hoteling Agreement will run concurrently with this Agreement.

- C. Absent DOE policy and/or an agreement pursuant to Section 47.09.B above, Employees within a singular working element level, may voluntarily agree to a hoteling arrangement in their respective telework agreements. If any Employee subject to the hoteling arrangement (including Employees detailed outside of singular working element) disagrees with the hoteling arrangement, the hoteling arrangement will be subject to the bargaining requirement in Section 47.09.B.

MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN THE DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY, HEADQUARTERS
AND
THE NATIONAL TREASURY EMPLOYEES UNION
CONCERNING
IMPLEMENTATION OF THE TELEWORK/REMOTE WORK PROGRAM

This Memorandum of Understanding (“MOU”) is between the U.S. Department of Energy, Headquarters (“DOE” or “Agency”) and the National Treasury Employees Union (“NTEU” or “Union” collectively referred to as “Parties”) concerning the implementation of the DOE Telework/Remote Work Program.

On December 14, 2021, the Parties executed, and submitted for Agency Head Review, their 2021 Collective Bargaining Agreement (“CBA”). In the relevant part, the CBA includes Article 47, the agreements between the Parties relating to Telework. On the same day, DOE issued Policy Memorandum # 106, Department of Energy’s Telework/Remote Work Program (“Telework/Remote Work Program”) providing new guidance regarding remote work not considered when negotiating Article 47 of the CBA. Accordingly, this MOU intends to address the implementation of remote work and conform to the CBA accordingly.

In the implementation of the Telework/Remote Work Program, the Parties agree as follows:

1. Application of CBA.

- A. The term “Telework” as used in the CBA includes, where applicable, “Remote Work” (both (“All US”) and (“Restricted”)), “Temporary Remote Work”, “Routine Telework”, “Medical Telework”, “Situational Telework”, and “Telework” as used in the Telework/Remote Work Program.
- B. The Parties recognize DOE categorizes positions into five designations for Telework and Remote work eligibility. Such designations are based on mission necessity and the duties and responsibilities of the position in accordance with Sections B.6 and D.9 of the Telework/Remote Work Program:
 - (1) Position Not Eligible for Telework
 - (2) Telework-Situational to Less than 50% (up to 4 days PP)
 - (3) Telework-50%-99% (5 days to 8 days PP)
 - (4) Full-Time Remote (Restricted)
 - (5) Full-Time Remote (All US)
- C. Except as provided for in this MOU, the processes and procedures for Telework apply for any remote work type under the Telework/Remote Work Program. If the Parties discover any processes and procedures that cannot be reasonably applied, the Parties will meet pursuant to Section 7 below to reach a written mutual agreement on an alternative process and/or procedure.

- D. Pursuant to Article 47, Section 47.03, if a supervisor identifies a potential issue with an employee's Telework/Remote Work request, the employee and supervisor must meet within ten (10) calendar days to work together to develop adjustments to the plan that will mitigate the identified issues. If the supervisor and employee cannot mutually develop adjustments, the employee may elect to submit the Telework/Remote Work request as originally written for approval and/or denial. If mutual agreement is reached, the employee will amend the Telework/Remote Work request as discussed and submit it for approval pursuant to Article 47, Section 47.03.B.
- E. The process and procedures contained in the Telework/Remote Work Program apply unless otherwise covered, or modified, by the CBA or this MOU.

2. Remote Work.

- A. Only employees who occupy positions designated by Departmental Elements as Remote (All U.S) or Remote (Restricted) may enter into the applicable remote agreements.
- B. New employees hired on to a position expected to be performed remotely upon entrance on duty (EOD) will not be subject to temporal eligibility requirements as the employee's ability to work remotely is a condition of employment for the position of record.
- C. For current employees, the ability to work remotely becomes a condition of employment upon approval of the remote work agreement. Any associated expenses (e.g., relocation expenses) will be the responsibility of the employee and will not be funded by DOE.
- D. When a Remote Work employees' performance drops below "Meets Expectations," DOE will consider conducting Article 17 and 45 procedures remotely prior to terminating a Remote Work Agreement.
- E. Remote Work employees will not automatically lose eligibility for remote work based on the leave restriction procedures in Section 47.02(I) or violations of the remote agreement under section 47.02(K). However, methods to correct issues of attendance and/or compliance with a remote agreement may be implemented in accordance with the CBA, DOE Order 333.1, the Telework/Remote Work Program, and applicable law, rule, and regulation.
- F. Failing to maintain any condition of employment, including the ability to work remotely, may result in administrative action, including removal from Federal service.

3. Temporary Remote Work Agreements.

- A. Early termination of the Temporary Remote Work Agreement based on employee performance or conduct issues will be handled in accordance with Article 47.05. As used in section 47.05.C, the term “reasonable time” normally will be in accordance with the notification timeframes provided in Section D.11 of the Telework/Remote Work Program.
- B. DOE provides clear notice to employees in the Temporary Remote Work Agreement they will be required to return to perform work at their official DOE worksite upon expiration, unless an extension is granted in writing by the supervisor.
- C. If DOE determines that it must modify or terminate a Temporary Remote Work Agreement prior to the expiration set forth in the Temporary Remote Work Agreement, the employee’s return to the office will be in accordance with Section D.11 of the Telework/Remote Work Program.

4. Termination/Modification of Remote Work Agreements.

- A. Under Section D.12 of the Telework/Remote Work Program, if after a final decision is rendered by the Agency on any disciplinary, adverse, or performance-based action, it is determined a remote work agreement needs to be terminated/modified to address performance or conduct issues, any associated expenses (e.g., relocation expenses) will be the responsibility of the employee and will not be funded by DOE.
- B. Under Section D.10 of the Telework/Remote Work Program, the clause “chooses to separate instead of accepting the management-directed reassignment” means voluntary resignation.
- C. Employees who accept a management-directed reassignment, unrelated to employee conduct or performance, will be processed under Section D.11 of the Telework/Remote Work Program.
- D. Employee requests to terminate a remote work agreement will be processed under Sections D.14 of the Telework/Remote Work Program.
- E. Employee requests to modify a remote work agreement will be processed under Sections D.15 and D.16 of the Telework/Remote Work Program.
- F. In accordance with Sections D.13 of the Telework/Remote Work Program, employees requesting to modify or terminate a remote work arrangement, including temporary remote work arrangements, will be responsible for any associated expenses (e.g., relocation expenses) and will not be funded by DOE.

5. NTEU Representation.

- A. Unless otherwise determined by the Federal Labor Relations Authority (FLRA), for the purpose of NTEU's Certification as the exclusive bargaining representative for DOE HQ employees, the Parties agree only eligible employees on remote agreements whose worksite is within a county identified by OPM as receiving Washington, D.C. locality pay are appropriately within the NTEU bargaining unit. The assignment to a particular office or workgroup will determine their NTEU Chapter (e.g., offices in Germantown covered by NTEU Chapter 228, offices in Forrestal covered by NTEU Chapter 213).
- B. NTEU representatives on a Telework/Remote Work agreement may perform representational activities from their alternative worksite subject to the provisions of Articles 6 and 7 of the CBA.
- C. Employees who submit a Remote Work Agreement for a work location outside of the Washington D.C. locality pay area (see 5.A above) will be informed that approval of the Remote Work Agreement will impact their locality pay and bargaining unit status. Upon request, employees will be provided contact information and a reasonable time, to consult with their NTEU Chapter President, designee, or representative.
- D. The applicable Chapter President, or designee, will receive notice when an employee returns from a remote work agreement outside of the Washington D.C. locality pay area to back into the Washington D.C. locality pay area, and returns to the bargaining unit. Additionally, the applicable NTEU Chapter President, or designee, may be allotted up to thirty (30) minutes to meet with the employee, subject to mission requirements.

6. Information to NTEU. NTEU will be provided a quarterly list of all bargaining unit employees who have telework/remote work agreements.

7. Interpretation of the MOU. With the exception of remote specific provisions agreed to within this MOU, all other provisions will be interpreted in a manner that will not conflict with the Parties' CBA.

8. Significant Problems. If either party becomes aware of significant unanticipated problems that arise following the implementation of the Telework/Remote Work Program, DOE or NTEU will inform the other, and the Parties will meet to discuss and attempt to resolve them as soon as possible.

9. Implementation. The Agency agrees not to implement the proposed initiative prior to the completion of the bargaining process.
10. Effective Date. This MOU becomes effective thirty (30) calendar days from this Agreement’s execution date, or upon Agency Head Approval, whichever is earlier and will run concurrently with the CBA.

For NTEU:

Ryan Soon

Digitally signed by Ryan Soon
Date: 2022.03.01 14:15:41
-05'00'

Ryan K. Soon, Esq. Date
Assistant Counsel for Negotiations

For DOE:

Randall K.
Zimmerman

Digitally signed by Randall K.
Zimmerman
Date: 2022.03.01 14:23:53 -05'00'

Randall Zimmerman Date
Chief Negotiator, DOE HQ

DOE NATIONAL ENERGY TECHNOLOGY LABORATORY (NETL) AND THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES (AFGE)

Article 41 Telework

Section 41.01 Agency Policy

A. The Parties agree that employees may telework full days, or portions of days, consistent with the Agency's telework policy (e.g., DOE O 314.1 and successor policies), subject to mission requirements and applicable laws, regulations, rules, policies, this agreement, and supervisory approval.

B. Employee participation in telework is voluntary, subject to supervisory approval. However, during any period that the Employer is operating under a continuity of operations plan (COOP), the COOP shall supersede this article in accordance with 5 U.S.C. § 6504\(d\).

C. An employee will request telework using the Employer's telework agreement. Supervisors will issue a decision on this request within seven (7) days.

D. All employees requesting telework, and supervisors of these employees, are required to complete mandatory telework training.

E. The employer will not provide computer equipment or services (e.g., internet connectivity) for telework. At the supervisor's request, case-by-case exceptions will be considered for employees that have a necessary mission function (as determined by the supervisor and/or AM) and no access to other computing solutions, or other extenuating circumstances. All employees who have been assigned a portable computer and have an approved government property pass may use such computer while teleworking. In the event the COOP has been activated and employees have been mandated to telework, where an employee does not have the necessary computer equipment or services necessary for performing telework, the Employer will provide the necessary resources, as determined by the Employer.

F. Employees will protect all government records and data against unauthorized disclosure, access, mutilation, obliteration, or other unauthorized use.

G. Approval of an employee's request for telework by the Employer shall not become a past practice.

H. When a supervisor, management official, and/or authorized investigator needs to meet with an employee and the employee is entitled to union representation (Weingarten), or AFGE has a right to be present (Formal Discussion), AFGE agrees that it will represent the employee virtually through a videoconference and/or teleconference if an AFGE representative is not available at the worksite (e.g., teleworking, etc.)

I. An employee is not eligible for telework if the employee's performance falls below fully successful. An employee's performance falls below fully successful for the purposes of this article when:

1. The employee is given a Notice of Opportunity to Demonstrate Acceptable Performance as defined in Article 29, Section 29.05 of this agreement;
2. the employee is notified in writing that his/her performance is unsatisfactory, and failure to improve such performance could result in administrative action such as reassignment or other actions up to and including removal from the federal service; or
3. the employee is denied or delayed from receiving a within-grade increase or career ladder promotion.

J. Employees will not be eligible for telework if at any time any of the following criteria apply:

1. The employee has received formal or informal disciplinary action, including counseling, within the last 24 months. If the employee receives formal or informal disciplinary action while on telework, the Agency may revoke the employee's telework agreement at its sole and exclusive discretion and without review by an arbitrator or other third party.

2. The employee is currently under leave restriction procedures.

K. Under no circumstances shall an employee telework at a location outside the normal commuting distance of the employee's official worksite without the express authorization of the Employer.

L. Partial day telework on a regular and reoccurring basis will only be authorized in situations where an employee does not commute to or from the alternative worksite on duty time or Union time. This provision excludes situations where a facility is closed and there is a late start or early release due to unforeseen events (e.g., inclement weather, power failure, gas leak, etc.)

Section 41.02 Definition

The term "telework" or "teleworking" refers to a work flexibility arrangement under which an employee performs the duties and responsibilities of such employee's position, and other authorized activities, from an approved worksite other than the location from which the employee would otherwise work.

Section 41.03 Benefits of Telework

The Parties recognize that the benefits of telework include:

- helps employees have greater flexibility in accomplishing their work while also meeting personal and community responsibilities
- can help reduce stress by decreasing commuting time, freeing that time up to accomplish family and personal matters
- can help free employees from office distractions, which may be particularly important when working on a complex project
- encourages engagement in your agency - when employees feel they have greater control over their work environment, they tend to feel more committed to their organizations
- helps with recruiting and retaining the best possible workforce
- ensures Continuity of Operations and maintains operations during emergency events - telework is a key component in ensuring the performance of essential Government functions during National or local emergencies such as natural disasters or National security incidents; or other situations that may disrupt normal operations
- promotes management effectiveness by targeting reductions in management costs related to employee turnover and absenteeism, and reduces real estate costs, transit costs, and environmental impact
- enhances work/life effectiveness and balance - telework allows employees to better manage their work and family obligations, thereby retaining a more resilient, results-oriented Federal workforce better able to meet agency mission and goals

DOE OAK RIDGE OFFICE AND THE OFFICE OF PROFESSIONAL EMPLOYEES INTERNATIONAL UNION
(OPEIU)

developed. The Employer will first solicit volunteers. If sufficient qualified volunteers are not available, off duty but on-call duty status will be scheduled in a fair and equitable manner among qualified employees. This requirement does not apply to emergency situations or to the emergency response team. If other teams are established which draw members across work units, the Employer will negotiate regarding off duty but on-call status processes.

SECTION 4 PAY AND BENEFITS

The Employer recognizes its obligation to inform employees in the bargaining unit of the benefits for which they may be eligible and to assist them in initiating claims for these benefits. The Employer agrees to take affirmative action to fulfill this obligation through such means as presenting briefings; supplying brochures and pamphlets, and other appropriate information; and identifying websites. Bargaining unit employees may have a Union Representative present during advisory sessions covering pay and benefits, if requested.

SECTION 5 TELEWORK

Bargaining unit employees may choose to work a telework schedule in accordance with the OPM Telework Guidance and DOE O 314.1. Employee participation in the telework program is voluntary and requires advance supervisory approval.

DOE WESTERN AREA POWER ADMINISTRATION (WAPA) AND THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES (AFGE)

14.3.2.4 Religious Observances: Time off for Religious Observance will be administered under 5 C.F.R. § 550.1001, Subpart J.

14.3.2.5 Funeral Leave: Upon request, an employee will be granted up to three (3) workdays of leave without loss of or reduction in pay to make arrangements for or attend the funeral or memorial service of a family member who died as the result of wounds, disease, or injury incurred while serving as a member of the Armed Forces in a combat zone. The leave need not be consecutive, but the employee will provide the supervisor justification for the requested non-consecutive workdays.

14.3.2.6 Court Leave: Under law and regulations, an employee with a regular scheduled tour of duty is entitled to administrative leave/court leave for:

- Jury duty (including time spent waiting to be called or selected, and related travel time) when required by any Federal, State, or local court, in any State, territory, or possession of the United States; or
- Serving as a witness (including time spent waiting to testify, and related travel time) when summoned by a court or authority responsible for the conduct of the proceeding to appear as a witness on behalf of any party when the United States, the District of Columbia, or a State or local government is a party.

14.3.2.6.1 Employees who are normally assigned to evening shift, night shift or other work schedules and are required to appear in court, whether on jury duty or as a witness during the day, may be scheduled to an eight (8) hour day, 40-hour workweek, to prevent an unscheduled overtime situation.

14.3.2.6.2 If an employee on court leave is excused from court with sufficient time to enable the employee to return to duty for at least two (2) hours of the scheduled workday, including travel time, the employee will return to duty unless granted appropriate leave by WAPA. Employees will request and receive approval before going on leave to the extent practicable, using procedures as set forth above.

14.3.2.6.3 Employees may keep any expense money received for mileage, parking, or required overnight stay, to the extent consistent with law. If the employee receives compensation and the court defines the compensation as an "expense," (i.e., mileage, parking) the employee may retain the monies. If the court defines the compensation as a "fee," (i.e., salary for jury duty) the employee must remit the monies to the Department.

14.3.2.7 Workplace Closings

14.3.2.7.1 Whenever it becomes necessary to close a workplace because of inclement weather or other emergency, all employees with a telework agreement in place are required to work from their alternative workplace and non-teleworkers will be granted administrative leave per Department policy. For telecommuting employees, administrative dismissals are based only on the workplace affected by the dismissal.

14.3.2.7.2 If emergency conditions prevent employees from safely traveling to or safely performing work at an approved location due to an act of God, terrorist attack, or other applicable condition, even though the workplace is not closed, the employee will be granted administrative leave for absence from work for a part or all of the employee's workday, unless they have a telework agreement. Employees are obligated to contact their supervisors as early as practicable to explain the circumstances and provide an estimated time of arrival at work. In addition, WAPA may request documentation that the employee made reasonable efforts to reach work but was prevented from timely arrival by emergency conditions. Determinations to grant administrative leave must be approved by a Senior Manager/Regional Manager. The duration of the leave will be uniformly applied to all similarly situated employees within the area affected by the emergency. For telecommuting employees, this section would also apply when they are required to report to the official duty station.

14.3.2.7.3 If the President, the Office of Personnel Management, or other appropriate authority declares a natural disaster area, employees who are faced with a personal emergency caused by that natural disaster may be eligible for a reasonable amount of administrative leave, based on the facts and circumstances of the personal emergency. An employee requesting administrative leave under this Section may be required to provide an explanation and/or documentation in support of their claim.

14.3.2.7.4 An early release from duty may also be provided in non-emergency/hazardous situations at the discretion of an agency or department head. An example of this would be an early release by the Secretary of Energy or the Administrator prior to a holiday. During an early release, employees who have reported to work and non-essential employees may be excused from work for the specified period of time. WAPA will implement administrative leave for early release consistent with its authority under an executive order.

14.3.2.8 Voting: An employee will not be denied the opportunity to vote. As a general rule, when the voting polls are not open at least three (3) hours either before or after an employee's regular hours of work, employees may be granted an amount of excused leave to vote which will permit the employee to report to work three (3) hours after the polls open or leave work three (3) hours before the polls close, whichever requires the lesser time amount. However, if employees can adjust their work schedule for a day, registration may be done online or after hours, and an employee may be able to vote as an absentee voter, administrative leave is normally not needed.

14.3.2.9 Transfers: WAPA may authorize up to 16 hours of administrative leave to employees who are transferring to or within WAPA for activities which the employee cannot accomplish during off duty hours.

Section 14.4 Military Leave

14.4.1 As provided in 5 U.S.C. § 6323\(a\), eligible employees may earn fifteen (15) calendar days of military leave per fiscal year for active duty, active-duty training, and inactive duty training. An employee can carry over a maximum of fifteen (15) calendar days into the next fiscal year.

16.1.16 Variable Day Schedule means a type of flexible work schedule containing core hours on each workday in the week, and in which a full-time employee has a basic work requirement of 40 hours each week of the biweekly pay period, but in which an employee may vary the number of hours worked on a given workday within the week within the limits established for the organization.

16.1.17 Variable Week Schedule means a type of flexible work schedule containing core hours on each workday in the biweekly pay period, and in which a full-time employee has a basic work requirement of 80 hours for the biweekly pay period, but in which an employee may vary the number of hours worked on a given workday or the number of hours each week within the limits established for the organization.

Section 16.2 General

WAPA will notify the Union in accordance with the law and this collective bargaining agreement of changes in hours of operation, work schedules or core hours affecting all bargaining unit employees.

16.2.1 Time Keeping

Employees will notify their supervisor of any changes outside of their scheduled tour of duty, as well as any other changes to the normal workday.

16.2.2 Teleworking

Working under a telework agreement under Article 17, Telework will not in and of itself disqualify an employee from working an AWS.

16.2.3 Terminating Alternative Work Schedules

If the head of WAPA finds a particular AWS schedule has had an “Adverse Agency Impact,” as defined in 5 U.S.C. § 6131 \(b\), WAPA must promptly provide notice to the Union of its desire to reopen this Article to seek its termination. Upon a request to bargain by the Union, the Parties will then negotiate over WAPA’s proposal. If an impasse results, the dispute will go to the Federal Service Impasses Panel. The AWS schedule may not be terminated until agreement is reached or the Panel acts.

Section 16.3 Provisions for administrative employees who are not under a Continuous Duty/Shift work schedule per Section 16.5

16.3.1 The basic workweek is normally Monday through Friday. Exceptions may occur when mission requirements make it necessary to include Saturdays or Sundays as part of the basic workweek for certain employees. Normally, an employee’s workweek must not extend over more than five (5) days of the period Sunday through Saturday or be more than seven (7) consecutive days in a two (2) week period. This does not include overtime. Unless otherwise indicated,

ARTICLE 17 – TELEWORK AND REMOTE WORK PROGRAMS

WAPA and the Union agree that telework and remote work programs are viable options for Bargaining Unit employees at WAPA. Refer to the latest Memorandum of Understanding \(MOU\) for additional information.

24.7.2 Employees doing hazardous work should be properly trained and should be periodically checked on when working alone.

24.7.3 Employees required to work in hazardous conditions or in confined or enclosed spaces will be trained in and will use the necessary safety equipment.

24.7.4 Employees working in confined or enclosed spaces will monitor vapor levels to ensure they remain within acceptable confined space safety standards.

24.7.5 Only qualified personnel shall perform repair work on or around machines or equipment where there is a substantial risk of injury. When qualified personnel perform maintenance on operating machinery or equipment, all safety requirements will be followed to minimize the hazard.

24.7.6 During the course of any alterations to the worksite, WAPA will ensure all employees are fully protected against safety and health hazards which might result from such alteration/construction. In no event will an employee be required to take any leave while the construction is taking place. If WAPA has no choice but to temporarily displace employees, due to alterations/construction, for the employees' safety, employees will be required to situationally telework or temporarily report to an alternate work location.

24.7.7 Employees will be offered physical exams in accordance with WAPA's Occupational Health Program.

24.7.8 Recognizing the benefits of a physically fit work force, WAPA agrees to allow the use of WAPA's fitness facilities during breaks and lunch periods.

24.7.9 WAPA agrees to provide, at no cost to the employee, administration of common vaccines such as flu shots.

24.7.10 Employees working continuous or repetitive activities, such as keyboards or monitors, should be allowed frequent breaks as prescribed by OSHA.

24.7.11 Within a reasonable period of time after a Continuity of Operations Procedure (COOP) is implemented and the initial emergency has been dealt with, WAPA and the Union will jointly address any change in working conditions expected to continue for the long-term. If a COOP is implemented for a short-term emergency, WAPA and the Union will meet after completion of the emergency and discuss lessons learned to improve the process.

MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN THE
WESTERN AREA POWER ADMINISTRATION
AND THE
AMERICAN FEDERATION OF GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES
LOCALS 3807 AND 3824
WORKPLACE AND WORKSPACE POLICIES

This Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) is between the Western Area Power Administration (WAPA) Management and American Federation of Government Employees Locals 3824 and 3807 (AFGE) concerning implementation of the WAPA Workplace and Workspace Policies.

Management agrees to the following regarding the Workplace Policy:

- Under 5. WORKPLACE ELIGIBILITY AND DETERMINATIONS, b., (1) Position Eligibility, adds:
 - Power System Dispatcher – Tech Writer and Power System Dispatcher – Trainer positions will remain as eligible for situational telework. Any deviations, employees will need to discuss those with their supervisor.
 - Energy Management & Marketing Specialist (EMMO) positions will remain as eligible for situational telework, given:
 1. All EMMO Specialists in UGP will be required to report to the office during night and weekend shifts. During scheduled day shifts, employees will be allowed to telework unless a business need requires them in the office.
 2. All EMMO Specialists in CRSP, DSW, and SNR will be required to report to the office during their day shifts. During scheduled night shifts, employees will be allowed to telework unless a business need requires them in the office. If an EMMO Specialist is scheduled for relief and not required to work the desk, they will be allowed to telework.
 - The following positions will be eligible for remote restricted:
 1. Architect
 2. Aviation Support Specialist
 3. HQ Engineers and Engineering Technicians in A7900
 4. Project Coordinator
 - Construction Control Representatives remain telework eligible with a required minimum of two (2) days in the office per pay period.
- Under 5. WORKPLACE ELIGIBILITY AND DETERMINATIONS, (3) Other Considerations, (c) Consistency reads as:

Consistency. Eligibility will be applied consistently for similarly situated positions and functions. When denying a workplace flexibility, management must document the reasons for making such a determination and provide a response to employee. Any deviations should be submitted to senior executive team leaders for approval.

- Under 12. DISCONTINUATION OR MODIFICATION OF AN AGREEMENT, a. Telework, (1) reads as follows:
(1) Management may suspend, modify, or terminate a telework agreement in writing at any time with reasonable notice, at least 45 calendar days, in the following situations:
- Under 12. DISCONTINUATION OR MODIFICATION OF AN AGREEMENT, b. Remote Work, (1) reads as follows:
(1) Management has the right to terminate or modify remote work agreements in writing at any time due to business necessity (e.g., increased cost, changing organizational/business needs, workforce reshaping, position abolishment, transfer of function, other reasons unrelated to employee conduct or performance), with at least 60 calendar day notice.
- Table 1 – Remote (CONUS) approval will be delegated to the Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer.
- Appendix, Key Terms, LOCAL COMMUTING AREA (LCA), reads as follows:
The 50-mile radius by surrounding the WAPA Worksite or a remote worker’s Official Remote Worksite. (For how mileage is calculated, see: Title 41 of the Code of Federal Regulations § 301-10.302.)
- Denial Appeals Process – This process is in lieu of the grievance process identified in Article 10 of the Collective Bargaining Agreement and waives the Unions right to arbitration over the final decision:
 - Remote (Restricted) Denial:
If an employee’s remote (restricted) application is denied, they may submit an appeal form written request to the Workforce Relations Branch Chief requesting a secondary review within fourteen (14) calendar days from the date of the denial. The appeal will be reviewed by two (2) members of WAPA’s Senior Executive Team (SET) and one (1) Union representative. The panel will provide a final written decision to the requesting employee within fourteen (14) calendar days.
All members of the SET and one primary and one secondary Union representative are required to attend impartiality training provided by the Department of Energy’s Office of the Ombudsman prior to June 30, 2024.
 - Remote (CONUS) Denial:
If an employee’s remote (CONUS) application is denied, they may submit an appeal form written request to the Workforce Relations Branch Chief requesting a secondary review within fourteen (14) calendar days from the date of the denial. The appeal will be reviewed by the Administrator and Chief Executive Officer for WAPA who will provide a final written decision to the requesting employee within fourteen (14) calendar days.

Management agrees to the following regarding the Workspace Policy:

- Under 5. DEFINITIONS, e. Local Commuting Area (LCA), reads as follows:
The 50-mile radius by surrounding the WAPA Worksite or a remote worker’s Official Remote Worksite. (For how mileage is calculated, see: Title 41 of the Code of Federal Regulations § 301-10.302.)
- Under 6. POLICY, a. WORKSPACE, (4) reads as follows:
(4) Supervisors will provide a minimum of 45 days written (email) notice prior to a change in an employee’s workspace.
- Under 6. POLICY, e. OFFICE FURNITURE & EQUIPMENT, reads as follows:
(1) WAPA-owned office chairs, sit-stand desks, and all other furniture shall remain in WAPA facilities.

(2) Each employee, with a dedicated cubicle or office, will receive the standard furniture (chair, desk, file cabinets, etc.) to perform their jobs while in the office. All hoteling stations will have a chair and desk as standard furniture.

(3) Requests for non-standard furniture and IT equipment for home or office use, or a specific workspace setup may be requested through the Reasonable Accommodation process.

(4) Each employee will receive one set of the standard IT equipment needed to perform their job at their primary workstation (where the employee works at least 50 percent of the time), whether that is at the employees' remote, telework, or WAPA office location. See WAPA's Employee Hardware Standards.

(5) Employees will return WAPA owned items upon separation or when the employee no longer requires the item to perform their job.

(6) IT equipment located in hoteling offices and cubicles may vary based on availability and seating/desk type. For example, hoteling bars will have minimal to no auxiliary IT equipment and will primarily be utilized for collaborative spaces or when a large number of employees are in the building (i.e., all employee meetings and conferences).

(7) Remote (CONUS) employees previously authorized by their supervisor to have WAPA furniture or equipment outside of WAPA facilities will not be required to return the furniture and/or equipment until they separate from WAPA, or the employee no longer requires the item to perform their job.

- Denial Appeals Process:

If an employee disagrees with their workspace determination, they may utilize the grievance process identified in Article 10 of the Collective Bargaining Agreement.

SHAWN BERKRAM

Digitally signed by SHAWN
BERKRAM
Date: 2024.03.19 13:36:17 -07'00'

Shawn Berkram, AFGE Local 3824 President, AFGE

DAVID MEIDINGER

Digitally signed by DAVID
MEIDINGER
Date: 2024.03.19 15:42:48 -05'00'

David Meidinger, AFGE Local 3807 President, AFGE

JENNIFER RODGERS

Digitally signed by JENNIFER
RODGERS
Date: 2024.03.19 14:52:03 -06'00'

Jennifer Rodgers, Chief Administrative Officer
Western Area Power Administration

ALLISON
BURNETT

Digitally signed by ALLISON
BURNETT
Date: 2024.03.19 14:54:23 -06'00'

Allison Burnett, Labor Relations Officer
Power Marketing Administration Shared Service Center

DONALD
GERRISH

Digitally signed by DONALD
GERRISH
Date: 2024.03.19 14:59:35 -06'00'

Donald Gerrish, Labor Relations Director
Power Marketing Administration Shared Service Center

Department of Health and Human Services
Supplemental Documents

Department of Health and Human Services
January 2024 Submission

WORK ENVIRONMENT IMPLEMENTATION DATA CALL
Department of Health and Human Services
January 26, 2024

HHS is committed to achieving the intent of OMB-M-23-15. Throughout the implementation of OMB-M-23-15, HHS has engaged its Divisions to analyze data, evaluate current and best practices, and continue to refine our policies to reach the intended work environment posture. Below are the answers to the questions requested.

1. Timeline to Reach In-Person Presence Objective

Beginning in December 2021 and through June 2022, HHS initiated a phased approach to return employees to their worksites, that includes opportunities for telework and other workplace flexibilities. In response to OMB M-23-15, HHS again used a phased approach to continue to substantially increase meaningful in-person work at Federal offices, particularly at headquarters and equivalents. Those phases were as follows:

- October 2023 – Phase 1: GS-15 and above managers, supervisors, executives within the NCR increase telework posture to 4-6 days a pay period at minimum.
- December 2023 – mid-January 2024 – Phase 2: GS-15 and above managers, supervisors, executives nationally increase telework posture to 4-6 days a pay period at minimum.

With the addition of these two phases post M-23-15's release, HHS is meeting the balanced in-person presence ask and has turned towards increasing accountability and reporting requirements.

- February 2024*: Put in place new accountability measures for Divisions that will be monitored by Leadership.
- Late Spring 2024*: Complete updates to the HHS Time and Attendance system to enable real time data tracking; Begin using this as a means for tracking presences along with badge swipes.

These actions are outlined in more detail in subsequent sections below.*

2. Additional Steps to Complete Execution Equitably and Consistently

To complete execution, HHS needs to be able to ensure that staff are complying with stated agency policies on flexibilities. Currently, the three current HHS Time and Attendance systems are not structured to provide telework tracking or real-time reporting. These are the steps HHS is taking to strengthen our overall tracking systems:

- Immediate Action [February 2024]: Due to the current Time and Attendance System inability to allow for tracking of real time data, Division leadership must collect, review, and submit data each pay period on the use of workplace flexibilities, ensuring that the agreed-upon level of work on-site reasonably corresponds with actual work on-site. The Secretary and Deputy Secretary will use their regular check-ins with Division leadership for review of the data and accountability.

- Short Term Action [Spring 2024]: HHS is currently prioritizing urgent fixes for our Time & Attendance systems to ensure that the Department advances its organizational health and performance and meets its regulatory and reporting requirements. Barring unanticipated challenges, including necessary union negotiations, we are striving to complete technical fixes, interoperability testing with DFAS, and Department-wide employee training on timekeeping changes, for the first updated Time and Attendance data to be ready late Spring. OMB has been kept abreast of this progress.
- Long Term Action: HHS is in process of procuring a new Time and Attendance System that improves employee experience, reduces manual processing, gives access to real time data, and is integrated within a broader human resource system. HHS has completed the initial market research and is moving to assess the technology and budget. The expectation is that acquisition to full deployment will be done over a 3-year period.

3. Approach to Tracking and Ensuring Implementation with Policies

As described above, HHS is increasing our accountability and reporting requirements to ensure implementation and execution. We have broken down our efforts into immediate, short term and long-term actions. Each action will require senior leadership engagement on tracking implementation progress and ensuring staff are complying with their signed policy agreements.

Summary

HHS takes seriously the accountability and reporting measures that ensure the effective implementation of the work environment plans. We continue to welcome the opportunity to brief OMB and OPM as this work progresses.

Update:

The Department submitted its Work Environment Plan update in November 2023. The Department revised the enclosed Workplace Flexibilities Program Policy, Instruction 990-1 in April 2024. The revised policy removes reference to “Local Remote”; identifies Mission Critical Occupations that may be eligible for remote work (identified in Appendix 1 of the policy); and requires Divisions to establish a senior-level review and approval process for use of remote positions to ensure consistency and equity (established upon issuance of the policy), among other enhancements. Although the revised policy removes the definition of “Local Remote,” positions may still be eligible for remote work within or outside the local commuting area. Further, the Department is honoring all bargaining obligations and existing collective bargaining agreements. The updated policy implementation only applies to non-bargaining unit employees until bargaining obligations have been completed.

In addition to the revised policy – and consistent with OMB M-23-15 on organizational health and performance – on April 20, 2024, the Department updated its Time and Attendance Systems to improve data availability, transmission, and reporting with the Department’s payroll provider. The Department continues to increase onsite presence, which includes shifting employees who had been designated a Local Remote to Telework status, where appropriate. HHS decision-making guidance for position designations and status (remote work or telework) covers organizational, position-specific, and employee-specific considerations. Considerations include, but are not limited to, onsite presence posture, continuity of operations, space utilization, budgetary requirements, union negotiated agreements, mission critical occupation eligibility, and performance, among others. Changes in status may vary by HHS Division, organizational unit, required labor obligations and location. Changes in status may also vary over time in the case of HHS Divisions phasing in changes to its workforce posture. Divisions may also consider any additional factors relevant to its mission, organizational health, and organizational performance, including OMB M-23-15.

Updated HHS POCs

HHS POCs	Title	Email	Phone
Dr. Kimberly Steide	Associate Deputy Assistant Secretary – Human Capital	Kimberly.Steide@hhs.gov	202-240-3130

Department of Health and Human Services
Telework Policy(s)

Instruction 990-1, Workplace Flexibilities

Effective Date: 04/22/2024

Revised: 04/22/2024

Material Transmitted:

Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Instruction 990-1, Workplace Flexibilities, dated April 22, 2024.

Material Superseded:

HHS Instruction 990-1, Workplace Flexibilities, dated February 9, 2022.

Background:

This Instruction establishes the Department of Health and Human Service (HHS) Workplace Flexibilities Program (WFP) and supersedes all previously issued workplace flexibilities policy and guidance.

This policy is effective immediately and must be carried out by HHS Operating and Staff Division HR Centers in accordance with applicable laws, regulations, collective bargaining agreements, and Departmental policy.

W. Robert Leavitt

Deputy Assistant Secretary for Human Resources Chief Human Capital Officer

990-1-00 Sections

990-1-10 Purpose

990-1-20 Coverage and Exclusions

990-1-30 Delegation of Authority

990-1-40 References

990-1-50 Definitions

990-1-60 Responsibilities

990-1-70 Workplace Flexibilities

990-1-80 Determining Workplace Flexibilities Eligibility

990-1-90 Determining the Official Worksite

990-1-100 Work-related Injuries at the Alternative Worksite

990-1-110 Dependent Care

990-1-120 Leave, Early Dismissals and Closure

990-1-130 Continuity of Operations Plan (COOP)

990-1-140 Workplace Flexibilities Approval, Denial, Suspension and Termination

990-1-150 Training Requirement

990-1-160 Documentation, Reporting, and Accountability

Appendix – Mission Critical Occupations Eligible for Remote Work Without Board Approval*

990-1-10 Purpose

This Instruction establishes standard agency guidelines for participation in the Workplace Flexibilities Program (WFP). These flexibilities include Routine Telework, Ad-Hoc Telework, Situational Telework, and Remote Work while fostering an environment of meaningful workplace presence at HHS facilities to accomplish the mission.

When this Instruction's provisions differ from changes in applicable law or regulations, the newest legislative change in law or regulation will apply.

990-1-20 Coverage and Exclusions

A. Coverage.

1. The provision of this Instruction applies to all HHS employees as defined in 5 U.S.C. § 2105 - PDF. All employees are encouraged to enter a Workplace Flexibility Agreement for telework readiness even if they are not designated as a routine teleworker; this also includes non-Federal employees assigned to the agency under the Intergovernmental Personnel Act (IPA) and Federal employees on detail to the Department.
2. U.S. Public Health Service (USPHS) Commissioned Corps Officers who supervise Federal employees are required to execute the supervisory responsibilities and authorities outlined in this Instruction.

B. Exclusions. This Instruction does not apply to USPHS Commissioned Corps Officers or contractors.

C. Bargaining Unit Employees. The provisions of this Instruction pertaining to conditions of employment of bargaining unit employees are fully negotiable in accordance with 5 U.S.C. Chapter 71 - PDF. When the provisions of this Instruction differ from the requirements contained in applicable collective bargaining agreement(s) (CBA), the CBA takes precedence for bargaining unit employees.

990-1-30 Delegation of Authority

The authority to develop and implement the Department-wide Instruction for Workplace Flexibilities is within the delegated authority of the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Human Resources (DAS-HR). See HHS DASHR Memorandum, Delegation of Human Resources Authorities, dated May 9, 2022. Human Resources Directors (HRD) are delegated authority to administer a work life program for their serviced Division, including workplace flexibilities in accordance with this policy.

990-1-40 References

- A. Public Law \(P.L.\) 106-346, Section 359, October 23, 2000 - PDF
- B. Public Law \(P.L.\) 111-292, H.R. 1722, Telework Enhancement Act of 2010, December 9, 2010 - PDF
- C. 5 C.F.R. § 351.203, Local Commuting Area Definition
- D. 5 C.F.R. § 531, Subpart F, Locality Pay Systems - PDF

- E. HHS Instruction 610-1, Establishing and Administering Hours of Duty, December 2, 2021
- F. HHS-OCIO-OIS-02-09-2023, HHS Rules of Behavior for the Use of HHS Information and IT Resource Policy
- G. HHS Travel Policy - PDF
- H. HHS ASA Memorandum, Delegation of Human Resources Authorities, dated October 15, 2019
- I. HHS DASHR Memorandum, Delegation of Human Resources Authorities, dated May 9, 2022
- J. OPM Memorandum to Executive Department and Agencies, 2021 Guidance to Telework and Remote Work in the Federal Government, November 12, 2021 - PDF
- K. OPM Memorandum, Remote/Telework Enhancement to Enterprise Human Resource Integration Data File, March 7, 2023 - PDF
- L. OPM Memorandum, CPM 2023-16, Guidance on Hours of Work for Telework and Remote Work Employees, August 21, 2023 - PDF
- M. OMB M-23-15 Measuring, Monitoring and Improving Organizational Health and Organizational Performance in the Context of Evolving Agency Work Environments, April 13, 2023 - PDF

990-1-50 Definitions

- A. Agency. For the purpose of this Instruction, the organizational components of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Operating Divisions (OpDivs) and Staff Divisions (StaffDivs), are agencies. Using the term “agency” to refer to HHS organizational components does not establish such components as the Executive Agency or infer Executive Agency authorities.
- B. Agency Worksite. The official Federal agency location where work activities are based is generally considered a conventional worksite/location of an employee's assigned organization. The term regular worksite is also used to describe agency worksite.
- C. Alternative Worksite. A location other than the agency worksite where an employee is approved to work from. Generally, it is considered the employee's approved telework or remote worksite (e.g., an employee's residence or other approved work location). See also Alternate Worksite Best Practices Checklist - PDF
- D. Business Communication Tool. Information Technology communication hardware, software, and services include, but are not limited to, computers, telephones, email, instant messaging, alert services established by the agency.
- E. Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA). A negotiated written agreement between an employer and a union comprised of workers that governs certain terms and conditions of the workers' employment.
- F. Domestic Employees Teleworking Overseas Agreement (DETO). Approved telework arrangement authorizing an HHS employee working in a position within the United States to telework from a foreign location for an established period. DETO arrangements are a discretionary workplace flexibility, not an employee entitlement. These telework arrangements must adhere to the HHS Office of Global Affairs (OGA) DETO Policy which covers the requirements in the Department of State's Memorandum, Requirements for Executive Branch Employees Teleworking in Foreign Locations, June 6, 2016, and the international requirements in HHS' Travel Policy. All DETO requests must be routed by the servicing HR Center to OGA for review and approval at os-oga-hhs-globalstaffing@hhs.gov.

- G. Directed/Emergency Telework. Scenarios where employees may be directed to work from a location other than the agency worksite pursuant to an agency's Continuity of Operations Plan (COOP) or OPM regulations as applicable. These orders are not under an agency telework program and thus are not dependent upon an employee having entered a telework agreement.
- H. Intergovernmental Personnel Act (IPA). A program that provides for the temporary assignment of personnel between the Federal Government, state and local governments, colleges and universities, Indian tribal governments, federally funded research and development centers, and other eligible organizations (5 U.S.C. § 3371 and 5 C.F.R. Part 334 - PDF).
- I. Eligible Positions. Approved positions comprised of portable job duties that can be effectively performed outside the agency worksite without diminishing individual performance or organizational operations.
- J. Government Furnished Equipment. Government-owned property, to include but not limited to Information Technology, devices, hardware, equipment, tools, services, licenses, or any other item or thing of value provided as necessary for performing the business of the Government. See also HHS Policy for Rules of Behavior for Use of Information and IT Resources | HHS Intranet and Technology Equipment Checklist - PDF.
- K. Local Commuting Area (LCA). The local commuting area is the geographic area that includes any population center (or two or more neighboring ones) and the surrounding localities in which people live and can reasonably be expected to travel back and forth daily to their official worksite of record (5 C.F.R. §351.203 - PDF), unless the employee is covered under a collective bargaining agreement (CBA), in which case the CBA shall govern. The local commuting area of a remote employee is based on the employee's position of record (see definition of Position of Record. below).
- L. Medical Telework. A situational telework short-term workplace flexibility option allowing the employee to telework allows three (3) days of telework per week, for up to two (2) weeks, used as the need arises for individuals with a temporary medical condition or recovering from a medical procedure. This usage requires a note from the caring physician or other appropriate health practitioner.
- M. Mission Critical Occupations (MCO). The MCOs in Appendix 1 of this Instruction are eligible for remote work within HHS.
- N. Mobile Work. A Mobile Work Agreement (MWA) supports routine and regular travel by an employee to conduct duties outside of their assigned official worksite. The employee must have access to the necessary technology and resources to complete their work assignments. Mobile work may include but is not limited to the following: site audits, site inspections, investigations, and property management while commuting, and travelling between worksites, or while on Temporary Duty (TDY).
- O. Official Station. An area defined by the Agency that includes the location where the employee regularly performs their duties. The area may be a mileage radius around a particular point, a geographic boundary, or any other definite domain where the employee regularly performs their duties. If the employee's work involves recurring travel or varies regularly, the location where the work activities of the employee's position of record are based is considered the regular place of work.

- P. Official Worksite. The official worksite, also known as the “position of record,” generally is where the employee regularly performs their duties as determined by the agency. For employees covered by a Workplace Flexibilities Agreement (WFA), the official worksite is determined according to the criteria in 5 C.F.R. § 531.605\(d\) - PDF. The city, county, and state where the official worksite is located is documented as the employee’s duty station on the Standard Form 50, Notification of Personnel Action; block 38, “Duty Station Code,” and block 39, “Duty Station.” For a remote worker, the official worksite is generally the alternative worksite to which the employee is assigned or approved to work.
- Q. Position of Record. The position of record, also known as the “official worksite,” is where the employee is assigned to perform their duties regularly as determined by the agency. The city, county, and state where the position of record is documented on the Standard Form 50, Notification of Personnel Action, Block 38, “Duty Station Code,” and Block 39, “Duty Station.” This may be further delineated as an address in Block 45 “Remarks.” A position of record may be an address other than the agency worksite when the employee is a remote worker.
- R. Situational/Ad Hoc Telework. Workplace flexibility that allows an employee with an approved WFA to request telework as needed. Unlike routine telework, situational/ad-hoc telework occurs sporadically without a regular telework schedule. For agency reporting consistency purposes, situational medical telework should be coded in the time and attendance system as #585 Situational.
- S. Meaningful In-Person Work. In-person work performed at an agency worksite that is purposeful, well-planned, and optimized for in-person collaboration.
- T. Official Travel. Travel under an official travel authorization away from an employee’s official station or other authorized point of departure to a temporary duty location and return from a temporary duty location between two temporary duty locations or relocation at the direction of a federal agency.
- U. Remote Work. Workplace flexibility allows an employee under an approved WFA to work at an approved alternative worksite, with no expectation to report to the agency worksite on a regular or recurring basis within a bi-weekly pay period. Remote work does not include circumstances when an employee’s work situation changes due to permanent agency closure.
- V. Remote Worker. An agency employee authorized to work from a position of record that is not the agency worksite. See “Agency Worksite” and “Position of Record.”
- W. Routine Telework. Workplace flexibility allows an employee with an approved WFA schedule to telework on a regular and recurring basis for at least two workdays or as designated by the employing OpDiv/StaffDiv per bi-weekly pay period. Routine telework does not change the position of record.
- X. Telework. A workplace flexibility arrangement under which an employee performs the duties and responsibilities of their position and other authorized activities from an approved alternative worksite other than the location from which the employee would otherwise work.
- Y. Telework Limitations. Limits imposed on telework by law, regulations, policy, collective bargaining agreements, and workplace flexibility agreements. Under HHS policy, WFAs must be reviewed annually. WFAs must include specific work arrangements for participation. Supervisors are responsible for determining continued eligibility after the one-year annual review and for approving, disapproving, or modifying telework agreements in accordance with agency guidance and CBA requirements, where applicable.

- Z. Telework Ready. The capability for an employee to work from an alternative worksite may be required to continue operations through the efficient and effective use of information technology and telecommunication.
- AA. Workplace Flexibilities Agreement (WFA). A written agreement between the employee and the Agency that allows employees and supervisors to establish telework or remote work agreements in accordance with this Instruction unless the employee is covered under a CBA with a different requirement, in which case the CBA shall govern. OpDivs/StaffDivs must use Workplace Flexibilities Agreement, HHS Form 990-1 - PDF.
- BB. Workplace Flexibilities Officer (WFO). The HHS-level official charged with overseeing the Workplace Flexibilities Program across the Department.
- CC. Workplace Flexibilities Program Manager (WFPM). OpDiv/StaffDiv program manager is responsible for the oversight of the Workplace Flexibilities Program within their OpDiv/StaffDiv.
- DD. Workplace Flexibilities Program (WFP). A program that promotes telework and remote work to ensure employees' work/life balance.

990-1-60 Responsibilities

- A. HHS Deputy Secretary:
 - 1. Ensures HHS Operating and Staff Division (OpDiv/StaffDiv) Heads monitor and assess the organizational health and performance of the individual major operating units within the Department to strengthen mission delivery.
 - 2. Ensures flexible operational workforce policies are an important tool for talent recruitment and retention, which promotes meaningful in-person work at Federal offices.
 - 3. Determines HHS positions required for onsite presence based on the Department's environment plans, OMB, and OPM reporting requirements.
- B. HHS Assistant Secretary for Administration, Office for Human Resources (ASA/OHR):
 - 1. Establishes Department-wide human resources policy and guidance consistent with HHS and OPM policy and guidance, and all applicable Federal laws and regulations.
 - 2. Designates a Workplace Flexibilities Officer (WFO) to implement and oversee the Department's WFP; manage compliance and accountability including the Department's reporting requirements; provide technical guidance to OpDiv/StaffDiv HR Centers; and incorporate workplace flexibilities into everyday business operations where mission appropriate.
 - 3. Approves the addition of mission critical occupations (MCOs) not listed in Appendix 1 eligible for remote work in the Department.
 - 4. Periodically reviews OpDiv/StaffDiv workplace flexibility procedures and data to ensure compliance with HHS and OPM policies, guidance, and all applicable Federal laws and regulations.
- C. HHS ASA/Program Support Center establishes Department-wide travel and transportation policy consistent with the Federal Travel Regulation and Joint Travel Regulations

D. OpDiv and StaffDiv Heads:

1. Ensures organization compliance with this Instruction and applicable Federal laws and regulations related to workplace flexibilities.
2. Ensures the fair and equitable implementation and use of workplace flexibilities across their organization.
3. Establishes a WFP executive board to monitor or designated Senior Official and assess the organizational health and performance of their Division's WFP and make determinations on their workplace flexibility posture in order to strengthen mission delivery.
4. Ensures their Division's participation in organizational health and performance reviews on the WFP program including submission of quarterly reports to the HHS ASA/OHR on usage, the impact on mission, and any anticipated changes in the organizational posture as it relates to their Division's WFP program.

E. Human Resource Centers (HR Centers) Director:

1. Complies with this Instruction and applicable Federal laws and regulations related to workplace flexibilities.
2. Administers serviced OpDiv/StaffDiv workplace flexibility program in accordance with this Instruction and HHS DASHR delegated authority.
3. Designates a Workplace Flexibilities Program Manager (WFPM) for the oversight of the WFP within their OpDiv/StaffDiv.
4. Ensures the employee's locality pay aligns with the employee's official worksite in accordance with 5 C.F.R. § 531, Subpart F - PDF.
5. Ensures changes to the official worksite (personnel action requests) are processed in a timely manner, generally within one pay period of receipt of the request, consistent with the applicable restrictions in 5 C.F.R. § 330.502 - PDF.

F. OpDiv/StaffDiv Workplace Flexibilities Program Manager (WFPM):

1. Complies with this Instruction and applicable CBAs, Federal laws, and regulations related to workplace flexibilities.
2. Implements the workplace flexibilities program in accordance with this Instruction and ensures proper implementation at the OpDiv/StaffDiv level.
3. Manages compliance and accountability for WFP training requirements for OpDiv/StaffDiv employees.
4. Establishes procedures, in coordination with the HR Center, to ensure each employee's locality pay and benefits align with the employee's official worksite and are appropriately represented on their WFA, in accordance with C.F.R. § 531, Subpart F - PDF.
5. Coordinates with the serviced HR Center, hiring manager, and the WFO to ensure proper implementation and oversight of the OpDiv/StaffDivs WFP.
6. Provides information and data to the WFO upon request.
7. Serves as the OpDiv/StaffDiv subject matter expert and point of contact for addressing employee and supervisor inquiries.
8. Ensures all employee WFAs remain current and accurate.

G. Supervisor:

1. Adheres to this Instruction consistent with Federal laws and regulations related to workplace flexibilities and CBA as applicable.

2. Approves WFAs for regular, situational and ad hoc telework as appropriate based on the position and organizational needs when delegated in writing by the OpDiv/StaffDiv HRD. May also approve remote work for the positions covered in Appendix 1 of this Instruction.
3. Ensures employee position descriptions accurately reflect the employee's duties and responsibilities. Position eligibility is based on the official position description and the eligibility requirements described in this Instruction, Section 990-1-80.
4. Ensures telework participation is documented on the WFA and consistent with the time and attendance system for recordkeeping purposes before verifying the timecard. Reviews, discusses, and updates WFA annually unless the employee is covered under a CBA with a different requirement, in which case the CBA shall govern.
5. Notifies their servicing HR Center of any change to an employee's official worksite that may change the employee's locality pay, at least one full pay period, prior to the change becoming effective. The geographical area of employees appointed via the competitive service cannot be changed within 90 days of appointment consistent with 5 C.F.R. § 330.502 - PDF.
6. Ensures compliance with this Instruction and the Department's travel policy - PDF in managing official travel, local area travel and relocation expenses.
7. Treats all employees equitably regardless of whether they participate in the WFP and ensures they receive the same benefits and opportunities (e.g., work assignments, awards and recognition, development opportunities).

H. Employee:

1. Complies with this Instruction, OpDiv/StaffDiv guidance, procedures, the approved WFA agreement, and any Federal laws, regulations, policies, and, if applicable, CBAs related to workplace flexibilities.
2. Ensures WFA accurately reflects alternative worksite information. Submits timely requests to update a WFA if circumstances change (e.g., supervisor, position, or duty location) and renews the WFA annually, unless the employee is covered under a CBA with a different requirement, in which case the CBA shall govern.
3. Obtains supervisor approval for any change request to the employee's current WFA.
4. Completes mandatory workplace flexibility training in the Learning Management System (LMS) prior to starting a WFA.
5. Maintains a current WFA detailing any emergency responsibilities specified for continuity of operations or another emergency event, as appropriate for the approved flexibilities.
6. Notifies the supervisor in writing of a decision to end participation in the WFP.
7. Notifies supervisor within one (1) hour whenever problems arise that may adversely affect their ability to perform work at the alternative worksite (e.g., power outages, technology issues, sick family members who require substantial attention, or other personal matters impacting their ability to perform their duties) unless the employee is covered under a CBA with a different requirement, in which case the CBA shall govern. Leave should be requested when applicable.
8. Complies with the established security protocols for reporting computer security-related incidents.
9. Adheres to the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch (5 C.F.R. § Part 2635 - PDF) and the supplemental standards.

10. Ensures that during the hours they are on duty, regardless of worksite, they are accessible by telephone, email, instant messaging system, or other appropriate communication technology or software, as determined by Department and OpDiv/StaffDiv policy or CBA.
11. Ensures all Government-furnished equipment is used in compliance with Departmental and OpDiv/StaffDiv IT policy. Employees are required to maintain their VPN account by logging on at least once a month to allow access to all Government systems while working at a site other than the agency worksite.
12. It is recommended that employees on situational/ad-hoc telework agreements telework at least once every three months to ensure readiness and to maintain the necessary discipline, approach, and skills.
13. Be familiar with the agency's emergency plans (e.g., Continuity of Operations Plan) and the supervisors' expectations of how work will be performed during emergency events, including timeliness and deadlines for reporting availability status, check-in-schedules, work assignments, or other activities determined continuity of operations.
14. Follows Department Travel Policy - PDF regarding official travel, local area travel and applicable relocation expenses.

990-1-70 Workplace Flexibilities

Workplace Flexibilities offered by the Department allow for accomplishing an employee's duties at an alternative worksite. Flexibilities offered for each position depend upon limits imposed by law or regulations, the nature of work, and the ability to complete the activity at an alternative worksite. Participation in the WFP is voluntary. An approved WFA is required for participation in the WFP.

- A. Telework is a workplace flexibility that allows an employee the flexibility to perform the duties and responsibilities of the employee's position and other authorized activities from an approved alternative worksite. Position eligibility for telework is determined by the nature and portability of the employee's work.
 1. The agency worksite is the official worksite for an employee with a WFA authorizing telework.
 2. Options for telework flexibilities include:
 - a. Routine telework:
 - i. Routine telework allows an employee to work from an approved alternative worksite following a regular and recurring schedule each pay period in accordance with an approved WFA.
 - ii. Employees with an approved WFA for routine telework must be scheduled and physically report to the agency worksite at least two (2) days each bi-weekly pay period.
 - iii. Employees with an approved WFA for routine telework may telework on a situational/ad-hoc basis in addition to their scheduled telework day(s) as needed with advance supervisory approval.
 - b. Situational/Ad-hoc/Unscheduled telework:
 - i. The terms situational, unscheduled, and ad-hoc telework all refer to the same type of workplace flexibility.

- ii. Situational telework allows an employee with an approved WFA to request telework as needed.
- iii. Telework-eligible employees who do not want a routine telework WFA may need to telework irregularly either for mission needs (e.g., inclement weather) or personal convenience. These employees should request a situational/ad-hoc telework WFA. Supervisors are encouraged to approve situational/ad-hoc telework WFAs and to make reasonable adjustments to allow for situational/ad-hoc telework for eligible employees.
- iv. Employees with situational/ad-hoc telework WFA must receive advance approval before using situational/ad-hoc telework. An employee who fails to obtain advance approval may be disciplined, up to and including removal. Advance approval is not required for unscheduled telework during inclement weather or other similar situation.
- v. Employees with an approved WFA for situational/ad-hoc telework are recommended to telework at least once every three months to maintain telework readiness.
- vi. An employee with an approved WFA for routine or situational/ad-hoc telework is required to work during inclement weather days or emergency events, regardless of whether the employee is scheduled to telework that day, unless the employee is on approved leave or is prevented from working due to conditions outside of their control (e.g., loss of electricity).
- vii. A medical telework option allows three (3) days of telework per week, for up to 2 weeks as the need arises for individuals with a temporary medical condition or recovering from a medical procedure. The agency is committed and dedicated to providing supportive and respectful workplace flexibilities for all individuals. Medical telework is intended to provide short-term telework while the employee recovers and is able to perform their duties. This usage will require a note from the caring physician or other appropriate health practitioner. For a medical condition or recovery period with an anticipated duration exceeding this option, and alternative work arrangements (e.g., reasonable accommodations, use of Family Medical Leave Act, etc.) should be discussed with the supervisor, as needed. If the employee believes they have a qualifying disability, which creates functional limitations, they may request reasonable accommodation.

B. Remote work allows an employee the flexibility to work from an approved alternative worksite, which becomes the employee's official worksite, with no expectation to report to the agency worksite on a regular and recurring basis during the bi-weekly pay period.

1. A position may be eligible for remote work, either within or outside of the local commuting area of the agency worksite, if the nature of work requires the employee's onsite presence fewer than two days during a typical bi-weekly pay period.
 - a. For the purposes of this policy, the local commuting area includes any population center (or two or more neighboring ones) and surrounding localities in which people live and can reasonably be expected to travel back and forth to their approved worksite unless the employee is covered

- under a CBA with a different requirement, in which case the CBA shall govern.
- b. An employee's locality area and pay is determined based on the employee's official worksite, in accordance with 5 C.F.R. § 531.604.
2. The official worksite for an employee with an approved WFA for remote work is the approved alternative worksite (e.g., the employee's home) documented in the employee's WFA.
 - a. Changes to the Official Worksite or Alternative Worksite and Locality Pay.
 - i. Employees must request to change the location of their approved alternative worksite in advance. Supervisors are encouraged to be flexible with an employee's alternative worksite, provided it continues to meet the agency's needs and it does not negatively impact the mission or increase expenses for the agency. Hiring officials are advised that the geographical area of employees appointed via competitive service cannot be changed within 90 days of appointment, consistent with the applicable restrictions in 5 C.F.R. § 330.502 - PDF. Employees may not begin working at a new alternative worksite until the change has been approved.
 - ii. Any changes to the WFA that impact time and attendance information must be documented in the time and attendance system for recordkeeping and reporting purposes.
 - iii. Employees who request a modification to their WFA are responsible for all incurred expenses associated with the modification (e.g., relocation costs, transport fares, highway tolls).
 - iv. Servicing HR Centers are responsible for determining the appropriate locality pay area and locality pay for employees approved as remote workers, in accordance with 5 C.F.R. § 531, Subpart F - PDF. Once the locality area is determined, a Change in Duty Station personnel action must be initiated in accordance with OPM's Guide to Processing Personnel Actions. The new locality pay will only take effect once the Change in Duty Station personnel action (SF-50) is effective. Changes to the official worksite will be processed in a timely manner, generally within one pay period of receipt of the personnel action request, consistent with the applicable restrictions in 5 C.F.R. § 330.502 - PDF.
 - v. A remote employee's failure to timely report and obtain approval for a change to the employee's alternative worksite may result in the suspension or termination of the employee's WFA, recoupment for overpayment of locality pay, and/or disciplinary or adverse action.
 - b. Remote employees may be required to report to the agency worksite as directed by the supervisor or if stated in the WFA.
 - c. Travel to the Agency Worksite.
 - i. A remote worker may be directed to travel to the agency worksite.
 - ii. Official travel must be approved in advance by the employee's supervisor. Refer to the HHS Travel Policy - PDF for specific guidance.
 - d. Compensatory Time Off for Travel. Employees should generally be directed to travel within their assigned duty hours. Remote employees required to perform official travel may be eligible to receive compensatory time off for travel if the approved itinerary requires the employee to be in a travel status when such time is not otherwise compensable. Refer to HHS Instruction 550-3, Compensatory Time Off for Travel - PDF, for specific guidance.

- C. Mobile Work allows employees (e.g., healthcare worker, food inspector.) to perform their job duties from a location other than their official work site. This may include working from home, a co-working space, or any other location where the employee can access the necessary technology and resources to complete their work task.

990-1-80 Determining Workplace Flexibilities Eligibility

The HHS WFP defines options for when and where employees may perform work. The Department's recruitment and retention efforts are aided by offering various options for where and when employees may work. Workplace flexibilities help to retain existing talent and increase productivity through employee engagement. These flexibilities benefit the employee by enhancing work/life balance, fostering employee satisfaction and well-being. The ability to participate in the WFP is intended to facilitate, not impede, the successful accomplishment of work.

In alignment with OMB M-23-15 - PDF, WFP participation must support and improve organizational health and organizational performance in support of the delivery of the agency's mission. Consistent with OMB M-23-15, the agency must ensure that all public-facing services meet and exceed customer expectations and needs. Not all positions are eligible for telework or remote work. Participation in the WFP is determined by the OpDiv/StaffDiv Head or designee based on organizational, business, or operational needs.

- A. Position eligibility is based on:
 - 1. The nature of work can be performed by allowing some or all duties to be completed without reporting to the agency worksite. This may include work assignments that involve the physical presence in another location (e.g., court, other federal work site) different from the agency worksite.
 - 2. Each HR Center must assess position eligibility against their business needs, ensuring that the level of participation does not diminish organizational or operational performance, including, but not limited to, the impact on whether telework or remote status would negatively impact the effective accomplishment of agency operations and the work of others.
 - 3. The resources required for the employee to complete the work are available and accessible virtually, including a computer to connect to the virtual private network (VPN) and internet service with sufficient bandwidth.
 - 4. The ability to evaluate the quantity, quality, manner of performance, and timeliness, as appropriate, for the work.
 - 5. Eligibility for remote work within or outside the local commuting area worksite depends on the WFA, position, and organizational needs. As determined by the OpDiv/StaffDiv, a periodic onsite presence may be required.
- B. The Employee:
 - 1. Employee eligibility is based on:
 - a. Employee is not on a Performance Improvement Plan.

- b. Performance is at a fully successful level.
 - c. No official conduct or disciplinary action has been taken against the employee in the last 6 months.
 - d. Employee must maintain ongoing meaningful engagement related to their duties and established work goals.
2. An employee is considered ineligible if they have ever been officially disciplined, (i.e., for the purposes of this Instruction, the term 'official discipline' refers to a disciplinary action that results in the placement of a document in an employee's official personnel file (eOPF)) for the following reasons, in accordance with the Telework Enhancement Act of 2010:
- a. Being absent without leave for more than five (5) days in any calendar year; or
 - b. Violating the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch (5 C.F.R. § 2635, Subpart G - PDF) for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing Federal Government duties.
3. Individual eligibility may be revoked if:
- a. The employee's performance falls below the fully successful level.
 - b. The employee's behavior warrants official disciplinary action.
 - c. The employee fails to adhere to the requirements of their WFA or the CBA, where applicable.
 - d. It is deemed to be in the best interest of the agency.
 - e. It is deemed necessary following organizational exigencies and other telework provisions as identified in the Telework Enhancement Act of 2010.
 - f. The telework provisions identified in the Telework Enhancement Act 2010.
 - g. Changes in organizational business need to change the portability of work assignments.

C. Requests for Remote Work for Recruitment and Retention.

The Human Resources Director or designee, as delegated in writing, is authorized to:

Review an employee request for the use of remote work to ensure consistency and equity. Routes remote requests for positions not covered in Appendix 1 to ASA/OHR at telework@hhs.gov for approval. Requests must be sent by the servicing HR Center and contain a justification, including position information, and concurrence by the OpDiv/StaffDiv WFP executive board, the employee's supervisor, or the HRD.

990-1-90 Determining the Official Worksite

For employees covered by a WFA, the HR Center must determine the employee's official worksite pursuant to the criteria outlined in 5 C.F.R. § 531.605\(d\) - PDF. The official worksite must be documented on the employee's Notification of Personnel Action (Standard Form 50 or equivalent).

A. Telework Employees (Regular, Situational and Ad-hoc).

1. The official worksite is the location of the agency worksite (the place where the employee normally reports for work on non-telework days), provided that the employee is scheduled to report physically to the agency worksite at least twice each bi-weekly pay period on a regular and recurring basis.
 2. For an employee whose work location varies, the employee is not required to work at least twice each bi-weekly pay period at the agency worksite (where the employee's work activities are based) if the employee is regularly performing work within the OPM locality pay area for that worksite.
- B. For remote employees, the official worksite is the approved alternative worksite, typically the employee's home address, provided the employee is not required to report to the agency worksite at least twice each pay period on a regular and reoccurring basis.
- C. Both telework and remote employees may only have one designated alternative worksite of record. Temporary use of another alternative worksite or permanent change to an employee's approved alternative worksite requires prior approval by their supervisor. A request for a permanent change to an alternative worksite must be submitted through a revised WFA.

990-1-100 Work-related Injuries at the Alternative Worksite

- A. All HHS employees are covered under the Federal Employees' Compensation Act (FECA) for work-related injuries or occupational illnesses sustained while performing official duties. Questions should be directed to the HHS ASA/Program Support Center/Federal Occupational Health, Workers' Compensation Management | HHS.gov.
- B. Employees must immediately report any accident or injury at the alternative worksite to their supervisor.
- C. The supervisor must immediately report all reported injuries as claimed by the employee to their servicing Human Resources Center's workers' compensation POC.

990-1-110 Dependent Care

While telework and remote work are not substitutes for dependent care or elder care, they can be a valuable flexibility to employees with caregiving responsibilities by eliminating the time required to commute and expanding employees' WFP options.

- A. The flexibilities in the WFP may be leveraged to assist employees in managing and balancing dependent care responsibilities and job-related responsibilities. However, employees should not engage in dependent care activities when performing official duties.
- B. Employees must request leave or other paid time off to engage in dependent care duties during their workday.

990-1-120 Leave, Early Dismissals and Closure

Employees with an approved WFA are required to telework on days they are regularly scheduled to report to the agency worksite when the Federal Government has announced unscheduled leave, unscheduled telework, delayed arrival, early departures, or that Federal offices are closed to the public.

- A. Employees with an approved WFA are also required to follow established leave procedures to account for time the employee is not performing work during a scheduled tour of duty.
- B. Employees approved to telework or work remotely are not eligible and do not receive weather and safety leave when a closure is announced. Instead, they must work from their alternative worksite for the entire workday, take leave (paid or unpaid) or other paid time off, or use a combination of work hours and leave or other paid time off unless one of the exceptions discussed further in this section applies.
- C. Weather and Safety Leave:
 - 1. Employees with an approved WFA scheduled to report to the agency worksite will be required to work from their alternative worksite in the event of a weather and safety emergency. If the employee cannot safely perform work (e.g., power outage due to a storm, flooding, local security concerns, or other related emergencies), they must request weather and safety leave.
 - 2. Employees with an approved WFA who may be onsite at the agency worksite during a weather and safety emergency may be required to resume working upon arrival at their alternative worksite and complete their tour of duty.
- D. Work Schedule Changes:
 - 1. When an employee is scheduled to telework at the alternative worksite and, either by their own choice or at the direction of a supervisor, they travel to a different location to work, such as to a meeting, to training, etc., they are not in a telework status. Such situations constitute an extemporaneous work schedule change. They are commuting to the Government's place of business. The rules regarding commuting expenses apply.

990-1-130 Continuity of Operations Plan (COOP)

An OpDiv/StaffDiv Continuity of Operations Plan (COOP) must cover telework and remote work consistent with the HHS COOP administered by the Administration for Strategic Preparedness and Response (ASPR).

Employees designated as mission critical may be required to report to the agency worksite in the event of the activation of a COOP.

990-1-140 Workplace Flexibilities Approval, Denial, Suspension and Termination

Participation in the HHS WFP is voluntary and extended to provide the flexibility required of a changing workforce. The supervisor or the employee may terminate a WFA at any time. Reasons for termination may include circumstances wherein the arrangement is no longer conducive to the organization's business needs, the employee's performance diminishes, or the employee's circumstances change, and they request an adjustment.

- A. An employee must request approval from their supervisor, consistent with Section 990-1-60, to participate in the WFP.

- B. An employee's request the supervisor must provide the employee a written notice detailing the for workplace flexibilities may be approved consistent with the requirements in Section 990-1-60.
- C. If a request is denied or modified, reason(s) for the decision within five work days of the disapproval or modification.
- D. A WFA must be terminated by the supervisor under these circumstances:
 - 1. If the employee has been officially disciplined for being absent without leave for more than five (5) days in any calendar year. For purposes of this Instruction, the term "official discipline" refers to a disciplinary action that results in the placement of a document in an employee's official personnel file (eOPF).
 - 2. If the employee has been officially disciplined for violations of the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch (5 C.F.R. § Part 2635 - PDF) for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties.
 - 3. If telework or remote work continues to diminish employee or agency performance, even after attempts to mitigate such diminishment have been attempted.
 - 4. Where applicable, the employee does not comply with the terms of their WFA or the CBA.
 - 5. If the business needs of the employee's job change and/or the work or some portion is no longer portable or requires in-office presence.
- E. If a WFA is being terminated, the employee will receive a reasonable amount of time to make arrangements to report to the agency worksite daily. At a minimum, this should be a full bi-weekly pay period for telework employees and for remote employees whose alternative worksite is located within the local commuting area of the agency worksite, and two (2) full bi-weekly pay periods for remote employees whose alternative worksite is located outside the local commuting area of the agency worksite.
- F. Suspension of Telework or Remote Work. The agency mission may require a suspension of telework or remote work due to an emergency. Examples may include but are not limited to, a national emergency, a mission-critical-related emergency, a new mission, or program establishment, etc. In these unusual situations, the agency will provide written notice and endeavor to provide the impacted employee(s) with as much advance notice as possible.
- G. Remote Worker WFA Termination
 - 1. If the WFA of a remote worker is terminated because the arrangement no longer meets the agency's business needs, and the remote worker's official station is not within the local commuting area of the agency worksite to which the employee is reassigned, then the employee is entitled to mandatory relocation expenses as might be prescribed by the Federal Travel Regulation and Department Travel Policy.
 - 2. When a remote worker's official station is within the local commuting area of the agency worksite, relocation is not authorized or allowable, including upon termination of a WFA.
 - 3. If a WFA for remote work is terminated for cause such as poor performance or conduct violations, and the supervisor elects to reassign the employee to the agency worksite, the employee is not entitled to relocation reimbursement, regardless of whether the remote worker's official station was within the local commuting area of the agency worksite.

990-1-150 Training Requirement

All HHS employees are required to complete annual workplace flexibilities training (available in the HHS Learning Management System) to participate in the WFP and to ensure the readiness of the HHS workforce to telework in the event of an emergency or continuing operations environment.

990-1-160 Documentation, Reporting, and Accountability

- A. Documentation. Records associated with personnel actions, including WFA's and documentation sufficient for third-party reconstruction purposes, must be retained according to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA), General Records Schedule \(GRS\) 2.3, Item 040, Employee Relations Programs' Administrative Records - PDF. Generally, all records created each year must be retained until replaced or cancelled, or one (1) year after the end of the employee's participation in the program, whichever is sooner. Records involved in litigation and grievance processes may be destroyed only after official notification from OPM, the Department of Justice, the courts, the Office of the General Counsel, etc., that the matter has been fully litigated or resolved and closed.

Designation of workplace flexibility status must be documented within the HHS time and attendance system as OPM reporting requirements require, in accordance with HHS Timekeeping Guide.

- B. Accountability.
1. Each OpDiv/StaffDiv shall identify a Workplace Flexibilities Program Manager (WFPM) whose responsibilities shall include, but are not limited to:
 - a. Ensuring their servicing OpDiv/StaffDiv is adhering to the requirements in this Instruction.
 - b. Establishing annual goals in coordination with the Department's WFPO for participation in each program area (e.g., remote work, routine telework, situational telework, and flexible work schedules) and outcomes in productivity, employee engagement, and recruitment and retention.
 - c. WFP agency data is required for agency reporting via the time and attendance system to HHS leadership, Congress, OMB, OPM, etc. Reporting data includes the number of employees approved as designated for participation in positions eligible for remote work, hours worked at the agency worksite, etc.
 - d. Conducting an annual evaluation of the WFP to determine the impact on organizational performance, employee engagement, and recruitment and retention.
 - e. Ensuring all training requirement for the program are met and have successfully been completed.

2. ASA/OHR will conduct periodic accountability reviews to analyze compliance with this Instruction, OPM policy guidance, and applicable Federal laws and regulations.

C. Reporting.

HHS is required to report agency WFP participation data annually to OPM. ASA/OHR collects relevant data quarterly from OpDiv/StaffDivs to meet OPM's annual reporting requirements. WFPMs are required to submit a WFP report at Telework@hhs.gov upon request of ASA/OHR. Reporting elements include:

1. The number of employees participating in the WFP.
2. An assessment of progress in optimizing the WFP and other goals relating to:
 - a. Emergency readiness
 - b. Energy use
 - c. Recruitment and retention
 - d. Performance productivity
 - e. Employee attitudes and opinions regarding remote work
 - f. Best practices in OpDiv/StaffDiv remote work program

Contact telework@hhs.gov for additional questions.

Appendix – Mission Critical Occupations (MCO) Eligible for Remote Work Without Board Approval*

Government-wide MCO	HHS-specific MCO
Economists – 0110	Social Scientist -0101
Human Resources – 0201	Grants Management – 1109
Telecommunications (Cyber) – 0391	Mathematical Statistics – 1529
Computer Engineer (Cyber) – 0854	Statistics – 1530
Electronic Engineer (Cyber) – 0855	Attorney – 0905
Contracting Officer – 1102	Auditing – 0511
Computer Science – 1550	Data Science – 1560
Information Technology - 2210	Criminal Investigator – 1811

*OpDiv/StaffDiv

Department of Health and Human Services
Collective Bargaining Agreement(s) –
Telework Provisions

ARTICLE 35 - TELEWORK / REMOTE WORK

Section 1. Purpose

The Parties recognize the mutual benefits of a telework and remote work program to the Employer and its employees. Balancing work and family responsibilities, as well as meeting environmental, financial, and commuting concerns, are among its advantages. In recognizing these benefits, both parties also acknowledge the needs of the Employer to accomplish its mission. The telework and remote work program will be governed by applicable laws, and Government-wide rules and regulations. Any telework and remote work program established will be a voluntary program, which permits employees to work at home or at other approved sites away from the office for all or a part of the workweek. Management and the Union strongly encourage supervisors to be creative in considering the use of telework and other workplace flexibilities.

Section 2. Eligibility

Participation in the Employer's telework and remote work programs is highly encouraged for those positions deemed eligible. Eligibility depends on job content (work to be performed) rather than on job title, grade level, type of appointment, or work schedule. An employee whose job is suitable for working from an alternate site and who meets the criteria in the CDC workplace flexibility policy is eligible to apply for telework or remote work.

Qualified employees who wish to telework or have a remote work arrangement must follow the Employer's policy and apply to do so using the workplace flexibility management system and complete the appropriated sections related to their request. Teleworkers must submit renewals on an annual basis.

Section 3. Implementation

An employee participating in workplace flexibilities must have an approved Workplace Flexibility Agreement and Home Safety Checklist. The parties agree to operate in accordance with the CDC Workplace Flexibilities policy, as revised 04/11/2022.

MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING

This Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) is entered into by and between the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (Agency or CMS) and the American Federation of Government Employees, Local 1923 (Union), collectively referred to as the "Parties," pursuant to the statutory authority of the Federal Service Labor-Management Relations Statute (FSLMRS), Chapter 71 of Title 5 of the United States Code.

In response to the April 13, 2023, Office of Management and Budget MEMORANDUM FOR THE HEADS OF EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND AGENCIES - Measuring, Monitoring, and Improving Organizational Health and Organizational Performance in the Context of Evolving Agency Work Environments, the Parties desire to quickly and efficiently negotiate the impact and implementation of CMS' increased onsite presence initiative for all bargaining unit employees since leaving its offices on March 16, 2020, due to the COVID-19 pandemic. To that end, the Parties agree to the following:

1. Effective March 10, 2024, employees will start returning to the workplace (a CMS office location (e.g., headquarters, regional or satellite office)) if they reside within the locality pay area defined by the Office of Personnel Management (OPM).
 - a. The position designation of employees who live within the locality pay area of an Agency office location will be changed to telework and they must report to the office two days per pay period. In accordance with Article 29, Section 9 of the 2023 CBA, their Workplace Flexibilities Agreement will be updated to reflect the two (2) days that they will report to the office.
 - b. The Agency agrees to provide written guidance and training on the use of its on-line space reservation system at least two full pay periods before the return to the workplace date.
2. The position designations of employees who were designated as remote-outside the commuting area (R-O) and were approved by their manager to relocate to a location in another locality pay area, or were hired into another locality pay area, will remain remote and will not have their position designations changed to telework.
 - a. Employees whose position designations will remain remote may be required to report to an Agency office location for such things as collaboration, training, meetings with contractors, etc., as determined appropriate by their manager. All travel expenses will be paid in accordance with Article 8 of the 2023 CBA.
 - b. Employees who were previously approved for the Fulltime Telework Program (FTP) contained in Article 29, Section 12 of the 2017 Master Labor Agreement (MLA) and were approved to move to a location in another locality pay area, will have their position designation remain as remote and they will not be asked to relocate.

- c. All employees who perform survey duties, including Life Safety Code Officers, more than 70% of their total duty hours will have their position designated as remote.
- 3. Employees who have their position designations changed to telework and experience a personal hardship can submit a hardship request in accordance with Article 26, Section 10.C. of the 2023 CBA or apply for a reasonable accommodation if appropriate. The Agency agrees to waive the requirement that employees be employed by CMS for 1-year prior to being eligible for a hardship.
- 4. The Agency agrees to adhere to guidance and/or protocols related to employee health and safety (e.g., providing hand sanitizer and sanitizing wipes) issued by the Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the Department of Health & Human Services (HHS), the Safer Federal Workforce Taskforce, and/or other government agencies in connection with the COVID-19 pandemic.

This MOU is effective upon the signing of both Parties.

For the Union:

For the Agency:

Anita Marcel Autrey Date
President
AFGE Local 1923, AFL-CIO

 12/5/2023

John Czajkowski Date
Deputy Chief Operating Officer

Article 29: Workplace Flexibilities Program

Section 1. Workplace Flexibilities Program

The Workplace Flexibilities Program (WFP) promotes the use of telework and/or remote work to provide work/life balance for employees.

Section 2. Definitions

- A. Telework - Telework is an arrangement in which an employee, under an approved Workplace Flexibilities Agreement (WFA), is scheduled to perform work at an alternative duty station (ADS) on a regular, recurring, or episodic basis, as approved by their manager. The Agency has three types of telework programs: (1) Episodic Telework; (2) Scheduled Telework; and (3) Medical Telework.
- B. Remote Work - Remote work, a form of telework, is an arrangement in which an employee, under a WFA, is scheduled to perform their work at an ADS and is not expected to perform work at an Agency worksite on a regular and recurring basis. A remote worker's ADS may be within or outside of the commuting area, as approved by their manager. The ADS is typically the employee's home address.
- C. Workplace Flexibilities Agreement (WFA) - A written agreement between an employee and the Agency that allows an employee and their supervisor to establish a telework or remote work arrangement in accordance with this Agreement.
- D. Agency Worksite - The official Agency location to which an employee is assigned and normally performs their work activities. The term regular worksite is also used to describe the Agency worksite.
- E. Alternative Duty Station (ADS) - An employee's approved telework site, or for a remote worker, the approved remote worksite (e.g., an employee's residence).
- F. Commuting Area - The geographic area that usually constitutes one area for employment purposes. It includes any population center (or two or more neighboring ones) and the surrounding localities in which an employee lives and can reasonably be expected to travel back and forth daily to the Agency worksite.
- G. Episodic Telework - A workplace flexibility allowing an employee with an approved WFA to request to telework on an as needed basis. Unlike scheduled telework, episodic telework occurs sporadically on an irregular basis.
- H. Medical Telework - A workplace flexibility in which an employee performs work at their ADS for a specified period of time if they suffer from a temporary (generally lasting no more than 3 months) personal injury or illness that prevents the employee from commuting to the official duty station or that would make it difficult or impossible for the employee to perform an entire day's work at the official duty station, but that would not preclude the employee from performing their official duties at an ADS.
- I. Official Duty Station - The official duty station (ODS) is generally the Agency worksite for most employees, including those who telework. For a remote worker, the ODS is je

04/18/23

AK
04/14/23

generally the ADS to which the employee is assigned and documented in Item 39 on the employee's Notification of Personnel Action, Standard Form (SF) 50.

- J. Scheduled Telework - A workplace flexibility in which an employee, under an approved WFA, is scheduled to perform their work at an approved ADS on a regular and recurring basis.

Section 3. General Telework & Remote Work Provisions

- A. The Workplace Flexibility Program (WFP) is designed to promote improved morale, organizational effectiveness, and provide employees the ability to balance work and family responsibilities. Available workplace flexibilities are a privilege and not a right.
- B. CMS supports workplace flexibilities to promote the Agency's mission and strategic goals, improve costs, increase productivity, reduce environmental impacts, decrease commuting costs, improve employee turnover and absenteeism, and create a flexible work environment to increase the efficiency and effectiveness of Agency operations.
- C. Decisions concerning employee participation in the Agency's WFP will be based upon such business-related factors as portability of work, individual performance, and productivity, efficiency and effectiveness, and impact on performance of the Agency's mission.
- D. The Agency retains the authority to review and change an employee's continued participation in the WFP, consistent with the provisions of this Article.
- E. The tour of duty for the Agency's WFP will be the same as that established in accordance with Article 10, Hours of Work, of this Agreement.
- F. Full-time and part-time employees on any of the Agency's flexible or compressed work schedules are eligible to participate in the WFP, subject to the eligibility criteria and conditions set forth in this Article.
- G. Employees on a flexible work schedule may earn credit hours while working at an ADS, subject to the requirements in Article 10, Section 6 of this Agreement.
- H. Participation in the program is voluntary and an employee may withdraw their WFA at any time through the Agency's WFP system.
- I. Employees who are regularly scheduled to be out of the office 2 days or more per week for any reason(s) except official travel (e.g., telework/remote work, part-time schedule, alternative work schedule), do not have guaranteed assigned space. Employees who do not have an assigned space will utilize CMS' reservation system to reserve a cubicle, collaboration space, offices and/or conference rooms and may be required to use hoteling stations, hot desks, or work from an alternative location at any time.
- J. When an employee is approved to participate in the Agency's WFP, that approval is based on the employee's current position and duties, and approved ADS location on the WFA.
- K. Employees must have an approved, accurate, and up-to-date (e.g., correct ADS location, etc.) WFA prior to working in any of the Agency's WFPs.

JC
4/18/23

AK
01/14/2023

1. In the event an employee's position or ADS address changes, their WFA is automatically terminated and the employee must submit and obtain approval for a new WFA.
 2. A WFP participant should confirm if a new position is eligible for the desired flexibility before accepting it.
 3. An employee should recognize that there is no guarantee that they will be approved for a change in their ADS, and must obtain approval for any change in an ADS prior to planning any move.
 4. Employees and managers will meet each year, in January, to review the employee's WFA to ensure it is still accurate, valid and supports the mission of the Agency. A WFA may be denied by the manager and the employee may be required to report to the Agency worksite for failure to comply with the WFA, meet any of the eligibility criteria, to adhere to required responsibilities, or to comply with other provisions of this Article, including those reasons listed in Section 9.
- L. During periods when the employee's Agency workplace is undergoing construction or renovation, the Agency may require employees with a WFA to work from an approved ADS location.
- M. For employees participating in the WFP, the address on the WFA is their ADS. Employees may not work at any other ADS without prior management approval. Employees may request approval from their first-line manager to work at an ADS within the same locality pay area. On rare occasions, but no more than three times per year, at the second-level manager's discretion, employees may be approved to work from another ADS location outside of their approved locality pay area, which will normally last no more than 2 weeks. Approval can be granted via email and does not require changing an employee's WFA.
- N. For employees participating in remote work, the address on their WFA becomes their official duty station and will determine their locality pay.
- O. Employees that participate in the Agency's WFP who do not receive advance approval for changes to their ADS or duty station location are subject to removal from the WFP.
- P. Prior to participating in the WFP, an employee must complete workplace flexibilities training, as directed by the Agency. The Agency will send out a Broadcast to all employees to inform them of the training requirement and to provide the link to employees.
1. Training will be provided to all participants. Training will address workplace flexibility guidelines, participant responsibilities, strategies for working successfully at a remote location, and IT equipment and support.
 2. Participants and managers may be required to attend additional in-person and web training to support the success of the WFP.
 3. Prior to implementation, the Union will be given the opportunity to review the training materials for all courses and provide input. The Agency will give consideration to the Union's input before the course material is finalized.

- Q. While working from an ADS, employees are still considered on duty time; therefore, in case of an injury, Worker's Compensation rules may still apply. Liability will not be assumed by the Agency for damage or repair of personal items owned by the employee while working from home.
- R. Upon request to the Agency's Labor Relations Officer or their designee, the Agency will provide the Union with a copy of WFP reports.

Section 4. Episodic Telework Program

- A. Episodic telework may be approved for regular work or special assignments on a short-term basis that can be performed at the ADS, as determined appropriate by the manager, or during inclement weather. The address on the WFA will be the ADS location where the work is performed.
- B. Requests for episodic telework must meet the eligibility conditions, criteria, and factors listed in Section 6 of this Article.
- C. In accordance with Article 26, Section 10.C. of this Agreement, extended episodic telework up to 90 days may be an option for employees experiencing a personal hardship.
- D. All tasks proposed for episodic telework must be able to be performed seamlessly at the ADS (e.g., without interruption due to lack of access to specific CMS systems or resources). A request for episodic telework must be made to the manager within a reasonable time in advance, but normally no later than the day before the requested episodic telework.
- E. Employees must submit separate requests for each occasion for which the employee is requesting to participate in episodic telework using the Agency's online WFP system. If the system is not available, the employee may request episodic telework by contacting their manager via email. If the manager grants approval, the employee will complete the form in the system no later than close of business the day of their return to the office.
- F. Episodic telework requests will be approved or denied within a reasonable time, normally no later than 1 day prior to the requested episodic telework. If a request for episodic telework is denied, the manager will note the reason(s) for the denial in the WFP system.
- G. Additional days of episodic telework are permitted due to inclement weather. In such cases, employees do not have to change or cancel their scheduled telework day.

Section 5. Scheduled Telework Program

- A. Scheduled telework is one of the Agency's telework programs under which an employee may request to work from an ADS 1 or more days of the week on a recurring, regular weekly basis. The manager will assess the extent of the portability of the work, which will determine, among other factors, the maximum number of appropriate scheduled telework days for the requesting employee. Consistent with provisions of this Article, the manager retains the authority to review an employee's participation in STP at any time.
- B. Employees that elect to work the 8 ½-hour flexible schedule may request up to 8 days of scheduled telework per pay period. Employees that elect to work the 9 ½-hour compressed schedule may request up to 7 days per pay period and employees on the 10 ½-hour compressed schedule may request up to 6 days per pay period.

PC 4/18/23

AK 04/14/2025

Section 6. Criteria for Participating in and Remaining Eligible for the Workplace Flexibilities Program

- A. The employee's most recent performance rating of record must be, at a minimum, a rating of "Achieved Expected Results (AE)" and the employee must maintain at least that level of performance throughout the period in which the individual is participating in the WFP. An employee rated Partially Achieved Expected Results can request that their performance be re-assessed after a minimum of 30 calendar days to determine if their performance has increased to AE.
- B. The employee must not have been disciplined for being Absent Without Leave (AWOL) for more than 5 days in any calendar year.
- C. The employee must not have ever been officially disciplined for downloading, viewing, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal government computer or while performing official government duties.
- D. The employee must not have been issued any disciplinary or adverse action (other than a reprimand) within the previous 12-months. However, at the manager's discretion, an employee may continue to participate in the WFP after being disciplined.
- E. If an employee wants to change their WFA, they must ensure that they receive approval for the change and that the Agency's WFP system reflects their revised WFA.
- F. If an employee is suspended or removed from the WFP, they may not request or be considered for the WFP for a minimum of 1 year from the date of their removal, except in accordance with Section 6.A. above. However, at the manager's discretion, an employee may be approved to resume participation after 6 months.
- G. The employee must meet the criteria for participation, including their manager's expectations, to retain telework/remote work privileges, such as responsiveness (e.g., to emails, phone calls, or other collaboration tools such as Zoom or Zoom chat, Slack), working only from an approved ADS, flexing in and out only with notice, etc.

Section 7. Remote Work

- A. Remote work allows an employee the flexibility to work from a single approved ADS within or outside the local commuting area of the Agency worksite.
 - 1. Positions may be designated as remote inside the local commuting area of the Agency worksite if there is some frequency with which the position requires collaboration or other onsite presence. For these positions, employees must have an ADS within the local commuting area.
 - 2. Positions may be designated as remote outside the local commuting area of the Agency worksite if the position requires a less frequent onsite presence, e.g., one or two times per year. For these positions, employees are not required to have an ADS within the local commuting area. However, they must reside within the United States or its territories.

JC
4/18/23

A. [Signature]
04/14/2023

B. The official duty station for an employee with an approved WFA for remote work is the employee's approved ADS. The approved ADS will determine the employee's locality pay.

1. Employees must submit a new WFA any time there is a change to their ADS. Employees may not begin working at a new ADS until it has been approved by their manager.
2. Any change to an employee's locality-based pay will take effect the first full pay period following approval of the new ADS.
3. An employee's failure to report a change to their ADS may result in the suspension or termination of the employee's WFA.

C. Employees with a WFA for remote work may be required to report to their official Agency worksite, as determined appropriate by their manager. When such determinations are made, employees will be required to report and travel expenses will be paid in accordance with Article 8 of this Agreement.

1. Employees who are designated as remote and live less than 50 miles from the Agency worksite will not be eligible for travel reimbursement when commuting to and from the Agency worksite.
2. If the employee lives more than 50 miles from the Agency worksite or is required to be in a travel status for 12 hours or longer, the employee is entitled to per diem in accordance with Article 8 of this Agreement.
3. If the Government Services Administration issues new travel regulations or HHS updates the HHS Travel Policy Manual, the Agency will provide notice to the Union, and upon request, bargain in accordance with Article 4 of this Agreement and to the extent required by law.

D. Compensatory Time Off for Travel

Remote employees required to travel away from their ADS may receive compensatory time off for travel if the travel requires the employee to be in a travel status and such time is not otherwise compensable.

E. Relocation Expenses and Reimbursements

Participation in the WFP is voluntary. Employees are responsible for any and all expenses that may be incurred due to their voluntary relocation or change in ADS.

F. Termination of Remote Work

An employee's WFA may be terminated for failure to meet any of the eligibility criteria, to adhere to required responsibilities, to comply with the provisions of this Article, or the employee may terminate their WFA at the end of any pay period.

1. When a manager terminates an employee's WFA that is designated as remote outside, they will have up to 90 working days from the date of official written notification to relocate. Employees may request an additional 30 working days, if needed. Employees designated as remote inside will be given one pay period to report to the office. This time period may be extended by the manager for an

JC
4/18/13

Alv
04/14/2013

additional pay period. Managers will consider an employee's input when deciding to which office the employee must report.

2. When the WFA is terminated by the supervisor for an employee designated as remote outside because the arrangement no longer meets the business needs of the Agency, and the supervisor requires the employee to relocate to the Agency worksite or another official Agency worksite, the employee is entitled to relocation expenses in accordance with Article 8 of this Agreement and applicable Federal travel regulation.
3. An employee may terminate their current remote work WFA and submit a WFA requesting telework at any time, i.e., an employee may request to change from remote work to telework, provided they meet the requirements of this Article. Employees may request to change their WFA up to two times per year.

Section 8. Workplace Flexibilities Requesting Procedures

- A. Before submitting a WFA, the employee and their manager will meet to discuss the Agency's WFP requirements and the provisions of this Article, including the eligibility criteria, the terms and conditions for participation, and employee responsibilities. At this meeting, the employee and their manager will also discuss the requirements contained in the WFA that the employee will finalize and submit online for final review and adjudication.
- B. Employees are not eligible to participate in the WFP without an approved WFA. Requests to participate in the WFP will be made using the Agency's online WFP system.
- C. Individual employee participation will be decided on a case-by-case basis. If an employee's request to participate in a WFP is denied, the manager will indicate the reasons for disapproval within the Agency's online WFP system. Requests will be approved or denied within 10 working days of submission online.

Section 9. Employee Responsibilities & Terms and Conditions

The employee must adhere to the following while working at their ADS under any of the WFPs defined by this Article:

1. The employee will follow Agency time and attendance and leave policies at the ADS as though they were at the Agency office location.
2. The employee will inform their manager, within 30 minutes, whenever problems arise that adversely affect their ability to perform work at the ADS.
3. The employee will adhere to the Standards of Conduct for Executive Branch Employees and any other Agency policies while working at the ADS.
4. The employee will not request others who remain physically in the office to accomplish tasks which are the responsibility of the employee.
5. The employee will not engage in any non-governmental activities while in an official duty status at the ADS. This includes caring for a child, assisting a child with their home schooling and/or virtual learning, providing elder care, or

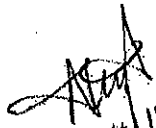

[Handwritten signature]
4/18/23

[Handwritten signature]
04/14/2023

conducting personal business, except as provided for in Section 14.D. of this Article.

6. The employee will keep their WFA up to date, including providing the Agency with the approved ADS address, and will not change the ADS location without advance management approval.
7. The employee understands that if they are designated as a remote worker, their approved ADS is their official duty station and their locality pay will be set based on the address listed on the WFA and may be more or less than their current locality pay.
8. The employee may be required to report to an Agency office location, as instructed by their manager, for such things as collaboration with coworkers and customers, strategy sessions, face-to-face meetings, etc.
9. The employee may not travel outside of the United States and its territories with any government-furnished equipment (GFE), e.g. laptop or mobile device, without proper written approval and authorization from the Office of Information Technology's International Travel Team (International@cms.hhs.gov).
10. The employee may not utilize any GFE or any personal device to connect to CMS networks or perform any type of work on behalf of CMS while traveling outside of the United States and its territories, without proper written approval and authorization from the Office of Information Technology's International Travel Team (International@cms.hhs.gov).
11. The employee understands that their manager has the discretion to revoke their approval to participate in the WFP if they do not adhere to the requirements of their WFA and/or this Article.
12. The employee will check in/check out via email, or other CMS-approved software determined appropriate by their manager (e.g., Slack, Zoom, Zoom chat, etc.), using their government-issued laptop at the beginning/end of the workday with their manager while working at the ADS. If such technology is not available due to technical issues, the employee must contact their manager via telephone. If earning credit hours at the ADS, the employee will also check in/check out at the beginning/end of the credit hour period.
13. The employee will keep their Outlook calendar current and up to date so that their availability is shown on the Scheduling Assistant for anyone trying to arrange a meeting. Employees may also be required to use shared calendars or other technology required by their manager to document their work schedule and/or any time out of the office, e.g., leave, training, etc. Managers may not require employees to share the type of leave being used and/or the reason the employee will be out of the office.
14. The employee will provide a designated work area at the ADS adequate for the performance of their official duties which they certify to be a safe working environment, free from any hazards or obstacles. The employee will also confirm that their workspace contains a smoke detector.

4/18/23

04/14/2023

15. Employees will be provided a Zoom soft phone to be used for all official government business. Employees must not use a personal phone number for official government business. Employees' Zoom phone numbers will be uploaded to the Agency's Global Address List and given to internal and external customers so that during regular working hours, they are fully accessible.
16. The employee must maintain appropriate internet access to enable seamless use of Agency technologies.
17. Communication with external partners must be seamless. All employees are responsible for making arrangements to be responsive to external partners at no additional cost to the Agency.
18. The employee will respond to phone calls and emails in a timely manner and consistent with normal office practices and workload.
19. The employee will furnish and maintain all equipment deemed necessary by the manager to perform at the ADS.
20. The employee must use their Agency-assigned laptop at the ADS for the completion of work.
21. The employee will permit the Agency to inspect the ADS during the employee's regular working hours to ensure compliance with the WFA, proper maintenance of Government-owned property, and/or conformance with safety standards.
22. The employee will assure that if any Government-owned equipment is used at the ADS, it will be used only for authorized purposes.
23. The employee will follow standard security procedures when removing official records from the official duty station. The employee will assure that records and files are secure in order to protect against unauthorized access or disclosure.
24. The employee will be liable for damage to any Government-supplied property, including equipment at the ADS, in the same way the employee may be held liable at the official duty station. If Government-supplied property is damaged at the ADS, the employee will return it to their official duty station for repair or service.
25. The employee is responsible for all operating costs, home maintenance, and any other incidental costs (e.g., utilities, internet, cellular, long distance costs) associated with the use of the home for business purposes.
26. The employee will safeguard Agency equipment, and sensitive, Privacy Act, or proprietary information that is accessed from the ADS. Sensitive, Privacy Act or proprietary information includes, but is not limited to, individually identifiable information such as names, addresses, social security numbers, and health insurance claim numbers of Agency beneficiaries, medical or other personal Agency beneficiary information, personnel information, and individually identifiable financial information.
27. As specified in Article 35, employees are required to use specific technology and/or software (e.g., software for collaboration and communication, such as

JC
4/18/23

At
04/14/2023

video, instant messaging, document sharing, etc.), as directed by the manager, to perform Agency work, participate in training, and/or attend meetings.

28. The employee will be responsible for returning all government-issued equipment and property if their employment with CMS ends, including but not limited to, laptops, iPhones, PIV cards, etc. All such items must be brought or mailed to the nearest Agency office location. The employee understands that CMS may pursue debt collection procedures against them if they fail to return Agency-provided equipment.
29. The employee understands that their WFA will be reviewed annually by their manager, in January of each year, and at any other time necessary (e.g., a change to their ADS or position, a change in work assignments, failure to meet eligibility requirements, etc.). If an employee's WFA is revoked, the employee understands that they may be required to return to an Agency office location. Managers will consider an employee's input when deciding which office the employee must report.
30. The employee understands that if they are designated as remote and live less than 50 miles from the Agency worksite, they will not be eligible for travel reimbursement when commuting to and from the office.
31. If the employee has an approved reasonable accommodation which allows them to participate in the WFP, the approved Reasonable Accommodation WFA will supersede the Agency's WFA.

Section 10. Changes to, Suspension of, and/or Removal from the Workplace Flexibilities Program

- A. A manager may change an employee's WFA arrangement (frequency or days) based on:
 1. Changes to the portability of the work;
 2. Operational needs;
 3. Documented concerns with the employee's performance of assigned work; or
 4. The criteria listed in Section 6.
- B. A manager may temporarily suspend telework or remote work for individual employees or groups of employees when they determine that operational needs or work requirements necessitate such action for a specified period of time (e.g., due to meetings, training, conferences, mission-critical projects, etc.). If the circumstances requiring such action permit, the manager will provide the employee(s) with advance notice of at least 2 weeks and will limit this change to as short a time as necessary to meet operational needs or work requirements.
- C. The Chief Operating Officer may change, suspend, or terminate any employee WFAs due to a decline in Agency productivity or core mission failures.
- D. The reason(s) for the change to, suspension of, or removal from an employee's approved workplace flexibilities arrangement will be provided in writing, if requested by the employee.

JO
4/18/23

AKT
04/14/2023

E. These situations are all distinct from Call Backs in Section 11.

Section 11. Call Backs from Telework and Remote Work

- A. Any employees on telework or remote work may be called back from their ADS when, due to an urgent and/or unforeseen circumstance, the Agency determines the employee must report to their Agency worksite for a meeting or to perform work that management determines cannot otherwise be performed at the ADS.
- B. If the Agency determines that the employee needs to report to their Agency worksite due to a business exigency, the employee will report generally within 3 hours of notification, or as soon as practical based on the location of the ADS. If the call back occurs at the end of the employee's workday, the employee must report no later than the next business day. If the employee is designated remote outside, travel, if necessary, will occur after a travel order is approved in the Agency's electronic travel system (ETS) or by the Travel Management Center (TMC) and the employee is issued a cash advance, if authorized, or Government contractor-issued travel charge card if they do not have one.
- C. When the Agency calls an employee back, the time spent in travel to return to the Agency worksite from the ADS is considered duty time.
- D. Employees approved to work at an ADS in a geographic area outside of their Agency worksite are not subject to the call back provision defined in this Section.

Section 12. Medical Telework Program

- A. An employee may request to work at an ADS for a specified period of time because of a temporary personal injury or illness of the employee. This type of episodic telework, which is distinct and fully separate and apart from episodic telework in Section 4, is known as the Medical Telework Program (MTP).
- B. An employee may request to perform work at home for a specified period of time if they suffer from a temporary (generally lasting no more than 3 months) personal injury or illness that prevents the employee from commuting to the Agency worksite or that would make it difficult or impossible for the employee to perform an entire day's work at the Agency worksite, but that would not preclude the employee from performing their official duties at home.

Note: In emergency situations, episodic telework may be granted by the manager to allow the employee time to obtain and submit the medical documentation required to process a medical telework request.

- C. The employee must submit a written request to their manager using the Agency's Medical Telework Program (MTP) form (Form CMS-20025).
- D. The employee must also obtain administratively acceptable medical certification in support of the request. Employees may use the MTP Form CMS-20025Q, or obtain their own certification, which will, at a minimum, specifically provide:
 - 1. The specific nature of the illness or injury;
 - 2. The anticipated beginning and ending dates of the incapacitation;

je
4/18/23

AKA
04/14/2023

3. The anticipated date that the employee is able to begin working in the MTP;
4. The specific reason(s) why the employee is incapable of commuting to the official duty station and/or performing their duties at the official duty station for an entire day; and
5. A statement that the employee is capable of working at home, subject to any specific limitations.

NOTE: The above medical documentation is not submitted to the employee's manager. See Section I below.

- E. Based on the individual circumstances, the Agency may require additional medical certification deemed necessary to support the medical telework request.
- F. In determining whether the employee can effectively perform their work responsibilities at home, the manager also will consider all of the criteria for telework/remote work.
- G. Individual employee participation will be decided on a case-by-case basis.
- H. Generally, within 3 working days of receipt of an employee's medical telework request (Form CMS-20025 only), the employee's immediate manager will make a determination as to whether the employee's work is sufficiently portable to support the medical telework request, including any reasons for denial (if applicable), and provide a copy to the employee.
- I. The employee will send the completed medical telework form and their medical certification or Medical Certification Questionnaire (Form CMS-20025Q) to the medical telework resource box (MedicalFlexiplace@cms.hhs.gov), or send it via facsimile (410-786-9549) or mail (mailstop N3-21-07).
- J. Within 3 working days of receipt of the required medical telework forms and sufficient documentation, the CMS designated management official will render a decision on the medical telework request and provide a determination to the employee's manager.
- K. The employee's manager will furnish to the employee a copy of the determination within 2 working days of the decision. If the request is denied, a reason will be provided.
- L. Employees working medical telework must comply with all provisions and employee responsibilities contained in this Article.

Section 13. Accountability

- A. The Parties agree that employees participating in the Agency's WFP perform the same duties as their counterparts working in the office. The Agency will use the same performance standards for employees working outside of the Agency worksite as are used for employees who perform the same work at the Agency worksite.
- B. While not required, at the end of the workday, managers may exercise the discretion to obtain from employees a brief summary description of the employee's work performed while teleworking or working remotely.

Section 14. Emergency Closing/Late Openings/Early Dismissals

This Section governs all employees with WFAs, whereas, Article 31, Section 11 applies to employees who do not have a WFA.

- A. Participation in the WFP is voluntary. Employees with a WFA are required by the Agency to work at an approved ADS in case of:
 - 1. A full day building closure;
 - 2. An early building closure; or
 - 3. A delayed opening (inclement weather or in other emergency situations).
- B. Employees who have an approved WFA are not eligible to receive administrative leave, except as described in Section 14.E. They will be expected to either take approved (liberal) leave or complete their entire tour of duty at their ADS, or a combination of both. In the case of a delayed opening, employees can complete their full day from the ADS or start the day from the ADS and complete their tour of duty from the building, once open.
- C. Employees who would otherwise be required to work under this Section, but were previously scheduled to take leave on the affected day, are not entitled to any administrative leave for the day.
- D. In the case of a pandemic event, building closure, or an emergency situation, eldercare or childcare restrictions may be waived for employees who are working from an ADS.
- E. On a case-by-case basis, the Agency may excuse an employee from duty during an emergency situation or weather-related building closure if the employee faces a personal hardship that prevents them from working successfully at the ADS (e.g., disruption of electricity, loss of heat, etc.) or if the employee's duties are such that they cannot continue to work without contact with the regular worksite.
- F. When a Continuity of Operations Plan (COOP) or national emergency is declared for the Agency, it supersedes this Article for the impacted location(s). For instance, the Agency may require employees to work at an ADS when a COOP is in effect or there is a pandemic.

Section 15. Supplies and Correspondence

- A. Components are encouraged to provide supplies to remote work participants. Appropriate supplies would include paper, folders, pens, and pencils. Office furniture and equipment (e.g., printers and printer cartridges) are not considered supplies under this Agreement and will not be provided by the Agency.
- B. Remote work participants may order supplies through their components' regular supply requesting procedures. CMS may ship supplies to an employee's approved ADS.
- C. In accordance with Article 35, employees must only use government furnished technology, such as equipment, software, applications, and online services to conduct Agency business. Employees have further responsibilities to use technology consistent with Section 9 of this Article. However, under this Article, to the extent required to perform their work, employees must furnish their own printers and other equipment

gc
4/18/23

AKA
04/14/2023

provided the employee obtains approval (via a request to the IT Help Desk) to use such equipment.

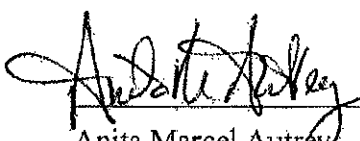

- D. All official government mail must be processed through the CMS mailroom and is the property of CMS.
1. Employees may not have official government documents mailed directly to their ADS. Additionally, no original hard copy records may be stored at the ADS. All official government records must be maintained in accordance with CMS' Policy for Records & Information Management.
 2. Employees may not mail official government documents from their ADS to a third party.

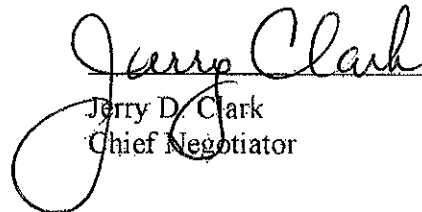

Section 16. IT Support

- A. Employees will use CMS-issued IT hardware (i.e., laptop computer) and software (e.g., software for printing), and be provided with support through the IT Help Desk in the same way as if they were in the office.
- B. If an employee has an IT issue that cannot be resolved remotely, an employee whose ADS is less than 80 miles from an Agency office location will be responsible for bringing the equipment in for resolution. Time spent in travel is considered duty time.
- C. If the employee's ADS is 80 miles or more to an Agency office location, the hardware must be mailed in to the closest CMS office for repair or replacement at the Agency's expense (CMS will provide postage paid packaging). To ensure a continuous workflow during the repair of an employee's equipment, the Agency will ship replacement hardware overnight to the employee's ADS. If the employee does not have work that can be accomplished at their ADS, they may be required to take leave while waiting for the replacement equipment to arrive.
- D. CMS will not provide on-site or at home technical support other than telephone technical guidance.

For the Union:

For the Agency:

 April 14, 2023
Anita Marcel Autrey Date
Chief Negotiator

 4/18/23
Jerry D. Clark Date
Chief Negotiator

- A. Names of members for whom deductions are made, and amounts;
- B. Total number of members for whom dues are withheld;
- C. Total amount withheld; and,
- D. Amount remitted.

8.7 Extension of Dues Withholding Provisions

If the parties are negotiating a new Agreement at the time this Agreement would otherwise terminate, the dues withholding provisions contained in this Article shall be extended until a new Agreement is reached.

Article 9. Equal Employment Opportunity

The Agency recognizes and agrees to adhere to its obligations under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act (29 CFR 1614), the Age Discrimination in Employment Act (ADEA), the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Equal Pay Act, and all applicable laws, regulations, Executive Orders, and CDC policies to promote equal employment opportunity and prohibit discrimination, harassment, and retaliation.

Article 10. Reasonable Accommodation for Employees with Disabilities

The Agency recognizes and agrees to adhere to its obligations under applicable federal law to provide reasonable accommodations to an otherwise qualified individual with a disability. All requests for reasonable accommodation shall be processed in accordance with applicable laws (e.g., Rehabilitation Act, ADAAA), regulation (e.g., 29 CFR 1614.203 and 29 CFR 1630), EEOC guidance, and CDC policy (CDC-GA-2001-06).

Article 11. Tours of Duty/Hours of Work, Alternative Work Schedules, and Telework

The Agency recognizes and agrees to adhere to its obligations under the applicable regulations (e.g. 5 CFR 630), Departmental instruction (e.g. the HHS Guide to Timekeeping and HHS Instruction 630-1), and CDC policy (CDC-HR-2018-01 and CDC-HR-2003-03).

Article 12. Regular, Irregular, or Occasional Overtime

Subject to existing regulations (e.g. 5 CFR 550), OPM guidance, and Departmental instruction (e.g. HHS Timekeeping Guide), the Agency may assign overtime among eligible employees and provide reasonable notice as possible. It is agreed that all employees may be required to accept overtime work on short notice in cases of emergency or unusual circumstances. Any hours in excess of the basic work requirement that management requires an employee to work must be compensated as either compensatory time or overtime.

Article 13. Holidays

The Agency recognizes and agrees to adhere to its obligations under the laws, regulations (5 CFR 550), applicable Executive Orders, and CDC policy (CDC-HR-2018-01) regarding holidays and holiday pay.

Article 14. Leave Administration

The purpose of this article is to prescribe the policies covering the different types of leave pertinent to all employees in accordance with applicable law and regulation. All leave and absence procedures shall be administered in accordance with 5 USC 63, 5 CFR 630, the applicable Departmental instructions (e.g. HHS

ARTICLE XXVIII
TELEWORK PROGRAM

Section 1
About the Program

The Parties recognize the mutual benefits of a telework program to the Employer and its employees. Balancing work and family responsibilities, as well as meeting environmental, financial, and commuting concerns, are among its advantages. In recognizing these benefits, both Parties also acknowledge the needs of the Employer to accomplish its mission. The Telework Program will be governed by applicable laws and Government-wide rules and regulations. The CDC “Telework Policy for Civilian Employees,” CDC-HR-2003-03, was established in cooperation with the CDC Labor/Management Cooperation Council to implement a telework program across CDC. This program allows civilian employees (noncommissioned corps) to perform duties from their home or other approved work sites. Employee participation is voluntary and subject to supervisory approval. When CDC policies specifically conflict with the terms of this Agreement, the Agreement will govern.

The terms telecommuting, telecommuter, flexiplace, telework, teleworking, and teleworker are used interchangeably.

Section 2
Position Eligibility

Upon request, Management shall provide to the Union a listing of all jobs as identified by law/policy/procedure that are eligible for telework.

Section 3
Denials

A denial at any level of authorization requires a written justification. The Employer will provide copies of denied requests to the Union, removing all personal identifiers. For denied requests, employees have the right to share copies with their Union representative. Upon request, a list of all approved teleworkers will be provided to the Union.

Section 4
Confidentiality Requirements and Restrictions

Employees will protect Government/Agency records from unauthorized disclosure or damage and will comply with requirements of the Privacy Act of 1974, 5 U.S.C. 552a, PHS 308(d), PHS 306, PHS 301(d), 42 U.S.C. 242m, 42 U.S.C. 242k, 42 U.S.C. 241, and CIPSEA.

Work including documents or files containing identifiers for persons or entities (e.g., survey participants and hospitals) cannot be removed from the official duty station, either in hard copy or through telecommunication.

Employees will take precautions to maintain confidentiality of data while teleworking and will protect all government records and data against unauthorized disclosure, access, and destruction. Employees will complete the annual Confidentiality training and certification.

Article 16: Telework

Preamble

The National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences (NIEHS) regards Employees' health and welfare as critically related to their ability to contribute to the Institute's mission. The Agency recognizes that telework can help NIEHS achieve its mission by reducing facility and energy costs, promoting operational efficiencies, reducing pollution, saving resources, increasing Employee morale, enhancing retention and recruitment, and improving the quality of life for our Employees.

Significant reasons for teleworking are to promote the NIEHS as an employer of choice; enhance the Agency's efforts to employ and accommodate people with disabilities, including Employees who have temporary or continuing health problems, or who might otherwise have to retire on disability; reduce office space, parking facilities, and transportation costs, including costs associated with payment of the transit subsidy; and improve the recruitment and retention of high-quality Employees through enhancements to their quality of life.

The Parties agree that the NIEHS telework program is intended to promote and maximize the effective use of telework. The Agency agrees that telework requests and approvals will be handled in a fair, equitable, and consistent manner.

Section 1.0 Policy

- A. For purposes of this Agreement, telework refers to an Employee's performing assigned duties at a location other than the official duty station. Such an alternative duty station (ADS) can include a government or private telework center, or the Employee's home, to name a few.
- B. Employees of the Agency may participate in telework to the maximum extent possible without diminished Employee performance. Optimizing telework to suit the needs of the Employee and Agency are expected and should be in compliance with this Article.
- C. Telework is a voluntary activity and Employees shall not be forced to telework.
- D. Eligible Employees, who have been approved to telework, may work a maximum of full-time or nearly full-time work schedule via telework. Employees may be allowed to work full or partial days on telework.
- E. When teleworking, the Agency shall treat Employees no differently than when they are working onsite.
- F. Any denials whatsoever of telework requests must be based on good business reasons and will be provided to the Employee and Union in writing with explicit reasons for their exclusion.
- G. The Union may dispute any Management determination under this agreement through grievance, ULP, EEO, or other appropriate methods.
- H. The Government will not be liable for damages to an Employee's personal or real property during the course of performance of official duties or while using Government equipment at the Employee's

Article 16: Telework

ADS, except to the extent the Government is held liable by Federal Tort Claims Act claims or claims arising under the Military Personnel and Civilian Employees Claims Act.

- I. The Employee is covered under the Federal Employees' Compensation Act if injured in the course of actually performing official duties at the ADS. Any accident or injury occurring at the ADS must be brought to the immediate attention of the manager. Because an employment-related accident sustained by an Employee during a Telework Program assignment will occur outside the premises of the official duty station, the Agency must investigate all reports immediately following notification. The provisions of Section 6.0 of Article 30, Workers' Compensation, of the Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA), apply to all ADS-related on-the-job injuries.

Section 1.1 Eligibility

The Parties agree that an eligibility determination is a prerequisite for telework. Employees deemed eligible may apply for telework and, with Agency approval, may participate. The terms of participation are covered below in Section 2.0.

All positions will be considered eligible to telework unless:

1. The Employee has been officially disciplined within the past two years for being absent without permission for more than five (5) days in any calendar year. The Agency may remove this restriction for an Employee if the terms of the discipline have been satisfied.
2. The Employee has been officially disciplined for violations of Subpart G of the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties.

The Agency shall notify Employees of their eligibility status. For any position deemed ineligible, the supervisor shall provide a clear explanation in writing. Any positions in dispute shall be assessed as soon as possible and any changes will be made promptly and communicated to the Employee. Upon request, the Agency shall provide the Union with the current list of ineligible Employees.

Section 1.2 Definitions

- A. Alternate Duty Station (ADS) is the established and documented site from which the Employee will work remotely.
- B. Approving Official refers to an official within an institute/center (IC) who has delegated authority to approve (or deny) telework requests (may be someone other than the Employee's supervisor).
- C. Ad Hoc-Situational-Episodic-Non-Regular-Intermittent Telework refers to non-routine, non-regular arrangements. These telework periods occur on an as-needed basis or may involve tasks that are short-term or temporary in nature or may also involve recurring tasks that may not lend themselves to a regular telework schedule. . They may involve projects or infrequent, sporadic tasks. Special reports or analyses, one-time research projects, etc., are common examples.
- D. Hoteling refers to office space that has been designed to support multiple, transient workers who are not present in the office enough to require dedicated individual or shared office space.
- E. Medical Telework is regular, episodic, or ad hoc-situational telework done on a temporary basis while an Employee is recovering from an injury or illness.

Article 16: Telework

- F. Official Duty Station is the Employee's desk or the place where the Employee normally performs his or her duties.
- G. Portable Work is defined as official duties that may be done in a telework status without diminished performance. Portable work may involve partial or full day work.
- H. Reasonable Accommodation Telework may be regular, episodic, or ad hoc-situational telework, as appropriate.
- I. Regular Telework is the traditional arrangement where a regular, consistent number of days (for example, two days per week) are set for performing work at a location other than the Employee's official duty station. Routine tasks are accomplished at the alternate worksite and an established schedule of telework days allows for predictability.
- J. Supervisor is the immediate supervisor of record for the Employee.
- K. Telework is a voluntary program that enables Employees to perform their duties at an alternative work location (not their regular duty station) through an approved agreement.
- L. Telework Coordinators at the IC level are individuals responsible in each IC for keeping telework records and reports and gathering data to report back as requested by the IC and as required to the NIH Telework Coordinator. At the NIH level, the individual responsible for gathering information from the IC coordinators for reporting to HHS, OPM, and other entities as necessary; coordinating NIH-wide communications and outreach efforts, and acting as a consultant to the IC coordinators.
- M. Telework Schedule is the actual days of the week and/or hours of the day that the Employee will be performing his/her official duties at the alternate worksite.
- N. Work Supplies are defined as property the IC provides to an Employee to enable him/her to perform his/her official duties. These supplies may include, but are not limited to, computer and related items, printers, pens, pencils, paper, printer cartridges, diskettes, etc.

Section 2.0 Participation

All Employees who meet the following criteria are eligible to participate in Telework.

1. The Employee is not on a Performance Improvement Plan (PIP).
2. The Employee is not on leave restriction.
3. The Employee occupies a position that meets the eligibility criterion in Section 1.1 of this Article.
4. The Employee has the work space, utilities, and equipment suitable for the work to be performed at the designated ADS as specified in the Telework Application and Agreement (see Appendix 3).
5. The Employee is willing to sign and abide by the Telework Program Application and Agreement "terms and conditions" except where there is conflict or confusion with this Article or CBA, in those cases the CBA language would take precedence.
6. Some parts of the work must be portable, i.e., it must be work that the Employee can reasonably complete at an alternate site.

Article 16: Telework

7. Does not involve continuous, direct handling of secure materials determined to be inappropriate for telework by the Agency head.
8. Does not require frequent and continuous supervision from a supervisor.
9. Does not require frequent and continuous face-to-face interaction with coworkers and/or customers.

Section 2.1 Probationary Employees

Employees serving in a probationary period or formal training period may be limited in participating in the telework program. In such cases, they may participate in telework subject to supervisory approval on a case-by-case basis. They may telework a maximum of two (2) days per pay period.

Section 3.0 Application and Approval

- A. Employees may request to perform telework at any time. Agreements will be renewed every year, and renewal will be simple and easy.
- B. Requests will be made through an online application form. If the request is denied, the supervisor will respond in writing and include explicit reasons for the denial.
- C. Telework applications shall be promptly approved, disapproved or returned for revision and resubmission. The supervisor will normally respond within seven (7) calendar days of an application.
- D. Employees may request to telework on a regular (recurring, set schedule) or on a non-regular (varying, ad-hoc or episodic) basis.
- E. Scheduling requests for non-regular telework and schedule adjustments to regular telework will be made via email or similar, easy-to-use means. For such requests an Employee must already be approved to participate in telework. Supervisors shall promptly respond to such scheduling requests and give reasons for any denials.
- F. Telework applications or changes that must be approved at higher than first-line supervisory levels will be acted upon in a timely manner normally within fourteen (14) calendar days. Upon request, the higher-level manager shall provide any reasons in writing with specificity as to why the approval is taking longer than the normal timeframe.
- G. Requests that are denied or returned for revision will be accompanied by a specific written description regarding the denial or the need for changes.
- H. The Agency agrees that telework schedules will not arbitrarily be set at some maximum level, e.g., one day per week. Instead, the approving official shall consider the Employee's job and aspects outlined in Section 1.0, Section 1.1, and Section 2.0 above. To the extent possible, the approving official will make decisions that promote and maximize the effective use of telework.
- I. Approved teleworkers shall not be required to provide detailed work plans in order to schedule ad hoc, non-regular, or episodic days. In cases where an explanation of non-routine telework is justified, supervisors should request summary or general work descriptions in order to keep the process of telework scheduling simple and easy.

Section 4.0 Evaluation of Work

- A. Any Employee who is teleworking will have their work evaluated in the same fashion as an onsite Employee, or how the Employee has historically been evaluated while at their regular onsite duty station.
- B. Employees will communicate and complete work in a telework status as they would in their onsite duty location.
- C. Employees will not be requested to provide summaries of their work, deliverables, and-or work products to their supervisor or to their supervisory chain of command, based solely on their status as teleworkers.

Section 5.0 Call Backs

- A. Employees may be required to report to their official duty station for previously scheduled training, conferences, other meetings, or to perform work on a short term basis that cannot otherwise be performed at the ADS or accomplished via telephone or other reasonable alternative methods. Employees will be given advance notice of such events and will have appropriate time to report to their duty station in no cases less than an hour unless an emergency occurs.
- B. Employees may also be required to report to their official duty station for emergency operational exigencies to perform Agency work which cannot otherwise be performed on another workday, at the ADS, via telephone or other reasonable alternative methods. In such cases, Employees will be provided reasonable advance notice and be provided a reasonable time to report. Employees should make every effort to report as soon as possible. With good and sufficient reason, the Employee will be permitted up to two (2) hours to report.
- C. If a teleworker is directed to travel to their duty station or main office during his or her regularly scheduled basic tour of duty - for instance, for an unplanned meeting, or an emergency at the duty station - the teleworker's travel hours must be credited as hours of work. If the teleworker is directed to travel back to the main office before or after his or her regularly scheduled basic tour of duty for irregular or occasional overtime work, the Employee is entitled to at least two (2) hours of overtime pay under the "call back" rules. (See 5 C.F.R. 550.112\(h\) and 551.401\(e\).)

Section 6.0 Removal

- A. The Agency may remove an Employee from the Telework Program due to one or more of the following:
 - 1. The Employee is placed on a leave restriction. The Employee is eligible to reapply for participation upon lifting of the leave restriction.
 - 2. The Employee is placed on a Performance Improvement Plan (PIP). The Employee is eligible to reapply for participation thirty (30) days after successfully completing the PIP.
 - 3. The Employee's failure to adhere to the requirements specified in the Telework Program Agreement "Terms and Conditions" (see Appendix 3) – except where there is conflict or confusion with this Article or CBA, in those cases the CBA language would take precedence.
 - 4. The Employee has demonstrated inability to adhere to the provisions of the agreement, regular non-responsiveness to email and telephone calls, non-availability, or working at the ADS has proven to place an undue burden on other office staff.

Article 16: Telework

5. Any removals from telework will be provided in writing to the Employee with specific details that clearly explain why the Employee is being removed. In addition, if the Union wishes to see such removal letters they will be provided upon request.
- B. Normally, Employees will not be removed from participation for single or minor infractions of Telework requirements. In such cases, managers will make a bona fide effort to counsel Employees about specific problems before cancelling an Employee's participation in telework. The counseling will be confirmed in writing.
 - C. For those Employees who office-share or "hotel" with other Employees, their removal from the telework program shall be for more significant matters and, with the exception of egregious violations, the Employee and manager shall work in a diligent and prompt manner to address and resolve any problems before the Employee is removed from the program.

Section 6.1

When a decision is made to remove an Employee from the Telework Program, the Employee must be given written notice indicating the explicit reason(s) for removal. Unless otherwise specified, the Employee may reapply for Telework Program participation thirty (30) calendar days after removal from the Program, provided that her/his performance is at least Level 3: Achieves Expected Results (AE), or an equivalent ratings level.

Section 7.0 Problems Affecting Work Performance

Employees will promptly inform managers whenever any problems arise at the telework site which adversely affects their ability to perform work at the ADS. Examples could include situations such as equipment failure, power outages, telecommunications difficulties, etc. In such cases, the Employee may request annual leave or report to the regular work place.

Section 8.0 Hours of Work and Leave

Employees performing work at the ADS are subject to the same workday requirements regarding hours of work and leave as they would be if they were performing work at the official duty station.

Section 8.1

When Employees do not telework their usual telework day Management will coordinate with them to find another mutually acceptable day.

Section 9.0 Travel Reimbursement

Employees will be reimbursed for official travel as if working at their official duty station.

Section 10.0 Emergency Closing-Late Openings-Early Dismissals

Section 10.1 Discretionary Closures

When Employees are released from duty for all or part of the day at the onsite work place as a discretionary benefit, such as closing early before a holiday, Employees who are teleworking that day will be released from duty for the same amount of time.

Section 11.0 Additional Requirements

Employees participating in the Telework Program will be required to:

1. Observe existing policies for requesting leave, in accordance with current agreements and-or past practice;
2. Utilize any government owned-leased equipment for official purposes only and safeguard government data-documents as currently required at their official duty station; and,
3. Adhere to applicable security protocols governing information management and electronic security procedures for safeguarding data.

Section 12.0 Equipment and Support

The Parties agree that a robust and successful telework program is greatly dependent upon adequate technology, equipment and support for teleworkers. Consequently, the Agency will ensure that Employees have proper equipment, resources, and technology that allows Employees to maintain their productivity and work performance compared to their official duty station.

Section 12.1

Employees are to use government equipment appropriately and for authorized use only. Employees are permitted limited personal use of authorized government property if the use (1) is incidental and involves minimal additional expense to the government, (2) does not interfere with staff productivity, the NIH mission or operations, (3) is not used to misrepresent oneself or NIH, (4) does not compromise the integrity of any NIH system or system security safeguards, and (5) does not violate federal laws.

Section 12.2

To the extent possible and budget permitting, the Agency shall provide appropriate resources and services for Employees to telework without diminished performance or productivity. Employees are not expected to incur personal expenses associated solely with their telework status.

- A. As a voluntary workplace option, the Parties agree that telework can benefit both the Employee and the Agency.
- B. Employees will typically provide their own space, furniture and utilities.
- C. The Employee's supervisor, in consultation with the Employee will determine the government equipment needed for telework.
- D. The Agency shall provide computer equipment, software, appropriate supplies, and other equipment necessary for an Employee to perform assigned duties at the ADS. The Agency will also make full use of surplus equipment and supplies to support telework needs.
- E. The Agency will ensure fair and equitable distribution of equipment and software for teleworkers. Any denials shall be provided in writing to the Employee with explicit reasons for the denial.

Section 12.3

Employees will normally provide their own internet (data) connections. If an Employee does not have an internet connection and one is required for the Employee to perform assigned duties at the ADS, budget permitting, the Agency will provide internet connections through government devices or services (e.g., wireless router or air card).

Article 16: Telework

The Agency will only reimburse an Employee's costs for personally-acquired internet services if no equivalent alternative exists.

Section 12.4

The Employee will be responsible for home maintenance, or any other incidental costs (e.g., electricity) associated with the use of the ADS. The Agency will be responsible for the maintenance and repair of government owned equipment (e.g., a government owned computer). The Employee does not relinquish any entitlement to reimbursement for authorized (in advance, if appropriate) expenses incurred while conducting business for the Agency as provided for by law and implementing regulations.

Section 12.5 Offsite Computer Support

Teleworkers will use government-supplied computers, typically portable models, at the alternate duty station (ADS) except in instances where exceptions have been obtained. Computers will be set-up for remote use by Institute support personnel before they are taken to the ADS. The Agency will provide technical support by phone, email or other easy to use method to resolve problems that may arise at the alternative worksite. If this remote assistance does not resolve issues, teleworkers are expected to bring malfunctioning equipment to the official worksite for problem diagnosis and repair.

Support personnel may be dispatched to the teleworker's ADS only in special cases. Offsite visits to the ADS are considered a last resort in resolving a problem. The Parties agree that every effort to resolve a problem will be made prior to sending support personnel to the ADS for offsite support.

Support personnel will assist only with problems that could not be resolved remotely or by having the Employee bring the equipment to NIEHS facilities. Support personnel will assist only with government-provided equipment or software. If there is no NIH tag or federal property documents there will be no support – all such information must be provided in advance of a visit.

Offsite computer support will be provided only during normal NIEHS business hours and during a telework day scheduled in coordination with the teleworker. Teleworkers are expected to provide a safe and business-like environment for support personnel. When the ADS is in a home, the teleworker must ensure that homeowner or renter liability insurance is provided.

To the extent possible, male support personnel will not make offsite visits alone with only a female staff member present at the ADS, and vice versa.

Any offsite support will be provided strictly in accordance with rule, regulation, and law.

BUEs will not be required to provide offsite computer support for teleworkers.

Section 13.0 Offices and Office-Sharing

As public servants, the Agency and Employees share a responsibility to be good stewards of public resources including office space and associated maintenance and utilities. The Parties further agree that telework, when optimized, offers an opportunity to improve the efficiency of federal space management. Specifically:

1. The Agency will provide appropriate office space to teleworkers when they are working onsite, consistent with Article 43, Office and Other Space.

Article 16: Telework

2. Employees who are regularly scheduled to be out of the office three (3) or more days per week may be required to share space, use hoteling or use smaller workspaces. The regular absence from the onsite office may include only telework or may be a combination of telework and alternative work schedules.
3. Employees who modify their telework schedule (to fewer than three days per week) or discontinue telework will be given offices or workstations comparable to those they occupied previously. However, the Agency will not guarantee an Employee's return to the exact office or workstation previously occupied.
4. Upon an Employee's request, the Agency will agree to a ninety (90) day trial period for an Employee to telework with three or more days per week out of the office. During this trial period, the Agency would exempt the Employee from sharing, hoteling and size alternatives described above. This approach is intended to allow both the supervisor and the Employee to gain confidence that the expanded telework arrangement is a good long-term solution.
5. The Agency agrees that an Employee may choose to discontinue telework at their discretion or to modify their telework schedule upon request and approval. Employees shall not be coerced to telework or looked upon unfavorably if they do not telework.
6. The Agency shall ensure that teleworkers who share offices or hotel have adequate space and resources on those days when office meetings occur or when otherwise are in the office.
7. Within ninety (90) days of the effective date of this Agreement, the Parties agree to develop a pilot approach for telework office sharing, hoteling and alternative sizing per Article 12, Mid-Term Bargaining. The Agency and Union will jointly develop the pilot approach, duration and evaluation factors. All findings will be shared between the Parties and the results of the pilot will be used by the Agency, in cooperation with the Union, to develop ongoing approaches.

Section 14.0 Staff Coverage

Coverage requirements will be determined on a case-by-case basis. When Employees are working at an ADS, this does not necessarily detract from coverage requirements. On the contrary, Employees working at an ADS with e-mail capability enhance coverage requirements. The Agency will make every effort to maximize telework privileges and work with Employees to ensure adequate coverage through a range of options that include but are not limited to, flexible work schedules, phone, email, etc. Telework will be provided fairly and equitably among staff.

Section 15.0 Power Failure at ADS

Employees may be excused by their supervisor for a power or equipment failure that affects the ADS, but not the official work site. If the Employee can continue to perform work which is not affected by the failure, he or she is expected to do so. Further, if a power failure starts before the work period begins and is expected to continue for all or most of the work schedule, the supervisor may grant the Employee annual leave, change the tour of duty, or have the Employee report to the official work site as based upon discussions with the Employee.

Section 16.0

The Parties agree that telework arrangements should not have negative impacts on the work of other members of the work group (e.g., co-workers, supervisors). By definition such an effect would be a significant disruption of work or ongoing frequent requests by a teleworker that would adversely affect office or group operations. Regarding such disruptions the Employee should first be counseled in an informal manner and should such disruptions continue may be removed from the telework program.

Section 17.0 Unscheduled Telework

The Agency will make every effort to permit Employees to telework to the maximum extent possible on unscheduled telework when such conditions warrant. The Parties agree that an Employee must be approved to telework to use unscheduled telework. An Employee shall, to the extent practicable, notify their supervisors that they are taking the unscheduled telework option. If an Employee's request is denied then the supervisor must provide the specific reasons in writing and in a timely fashion to the Employee.

In emergency situations, if an Employee has made a good faith effort to reach his or her supervisor for telework approval, but is unable to obtain advance approval, then the Employee should proceed according to his or her best judgment. The Employee will then follow normal procedures for telework scheduling and leave requests as soon as conditions permit.

Section 18.0 Official Time for Union Representatives

The Agency and Union agree that Union representatives may use official time in accordance with the Official Time Article while in a telework status. Union representatives must be on an approved telework agreement for such official time to be approved.

Section 19.0 Telework Application Telework Agreement

The Agency agrees to ensure that its telework application is simple and easy-to-use. The telework application will only ask questions or require responses pertaining to necessary information that must be collected by the Agency in order to promote and maximize the effective use of telework.

The Agency will not require any special safety or work conditions at the telework location or ADS that differ from what is required at the regular duty station.

The Agency agrees to a webpage that would provide definitions and other information for teleworkers who are completing the telework application and agreement.

Teleworkers will be able to log-on to a webpage that will provide their status as a teleworker and, if necessary, change information that will be sent to their supervisor regarding their telework status. Cancellation of a telework agreement shall be made in accordance with this Article and CBA.

Whenever the Agency modifies the telework agreement they shall provide the Union with sufficient notice and opportunity to bargain in accordance with the Article 12, Mid-Term Bargaining.

In the telework application, the Agency agrees to include that the Employee's participation is voluntary, the Employee may withdraw from the program at any time, and that all Parties will adhere to the applicable policies outlined in Article 16, Telework, of the Collective Bargaining Agreement.

The Employee must ensure that they can be contacted without delay while teleworking, preferably by forwarding their office phone to their personal phone. Providing personal information such as personal phone number or email address is voluntary. Use of NIEHS or government email is normally the primary (but not the only) means of communication while teleworking.

An Employee's time and attendance for work performed at the ADS will be recorded in the same manner as is used to record the performance of work at the official duty station. Specifically, while the Agency's timekeeping system may be used to schedule and record telework, it will not be used to log

Article 16: Telework

Employees in and out while teleworking unless the Employee is required to do so at the official duty station.

ARTICLE 19

TELEWORK

SECTION 1.

The Parties recognize the mutual benefits of a telework program to the Employer and its employees. Balancing work and family responsibilities, as well as meeting environmental, financial, and commuting concerns, are among its advantages. In recognizing these benefits, both parties also acknowledge the needs of the Employer to accomplish its mission.

SECTION 2.

The benefits of telework include:

- A) Improve the quality of work and increase productivity because employees can concentrate on the project itself with less distraction from the office environment,
- B) Improve morale and reduce stress by giving employees more options to balance work and family demands,
- C) Impact environmental issues, including traffic congestion, air quality, and energy issues,
- D) Improve parking and workspace availability, and
- E) Maintain continuity of operations in an emergency situation.

SECTION 3.

The Parties agree to encourage employees and supervisors to explore options and opportunities offered by the telework program.

Eligibility to participate in the telework program depends on job content (work to be performed) rather than job title, grade level, type of appointment, or work schedule. An employee whose job is suitable for working from an alternate site and who meets the criteria in the policy is eligible to apply for telework. Employees who wish to telework must follow the Telework Request/Agreement Form requirements and submit renewals on an annual basis. Telework training must be completed as required by the policy before a Telework Request Form can be submitted.

SECTION 4.

An employee must request telework via completion of all required forms, for example: the Telework Request Form, Employee Telework Agreement, and Home Safety Checklist. The parties agree to operate in accordance with the CDC telework policy CDC-HR-2003-03, as revised 04/29/2019.

ARTICLE 23

FLEXIBLE WORK PLACE ARRANGEMENT PROGRAM

SECTION 1

The Flexible Work Place Arrangement Program (FWAP) is a program that permits employees to work at home or at other approved locations remote to the conventional office site. For purposes of this Agreement, the terms “FWAP”, “flexiplace” and “telecommuting” are synonymous and include working at home or in satellite office sites or other approved flexiplace work sites. The HHS and HRSA FWAP (or “Telework Program”) policies and applications are hereby incorporated by reference. To the extent that there is a conflict between the policies and this Article, the policies shall prevail. (Appendix 3)

SECTION 2

The Parties anticipate that this program will result in increased productivity, improvements in employee morale, job satisfaction, and reduced absenteeism. Participation in flexiplace is not an entitlement nor is it an accommodation for dependent/family care. The Employer retains the right to determine the appropriateness and approval of any flexiplace arrangement. The Employer has the right and responsibility to administer the flexiplace program so as to ensure that it supports the accomplishment of the agency’s mission, including the provision of high quality (i.e., responsive, accurate, uninterrupted, seamless, transparent) service to internal and external customers and maintenance of the coverage management reasonably determines to be necessary during hours of operation.

SECTION 3

Situations appropriate for flexiplace depend on the specific nature and content of the job, rather than just the job series and title.

- A. A flexible work place arrangement may be used when there is recurring opportunity to perform work at an alternate site. For example, the work does not require interaction and collaboration with customers or peers on a daily basis, it does not require specialized equipment, systems, or reference materials unavailable except at the conventional office, and the employee’s work habits are such that once an assignment is given, it can be accomplished without further oversight or supervisory consultation.
- B. A flexible work place arrangement may also be used on an occasional or episodic basis, for individual days or hours within a pay period, or for a special assignment or project on a short term basis (two consecutive weeks or less). For example, such work tasks may include: data analysis, reviewing grants/cases, writing decisions or reports; telephone intensive tasks such as obtaining or collecting information, following up on participants in a study or setting up a conference; and some computer oriented tasks such as programming, data entry and word processing. Typically, such tasks require uninterrupted concentration and result in measurable work outputs or products.-

SECTION 4

- A. Flexible work place arrangements must be consistent with maintaining adequate physical office coverage during hours of operation.
- B. The Parties agree that specific individual participation in flexiplace must be considered on a case by case basis.
- C. Each employee must meet the following criteria to be considered eligible to participate in the flexiplace program.
 - 1. The employee has held her/his current position for at least six (6) months;
 - 2. The employee's current supervisor has been her/his supervisor in that position for at least six (6) months, unless otherwise agreed to by the supervisor and the employee;
 - 3. The employee's latest rating of record is not below "Achieved Expected Results" or better, and there is no reasonable cause to believe this level of performance will drop;
 - 4. The employee is not on leave restriction;
 - 5. The employee is not on a performance improvement plan (PIP);
 - 6. The employee has not received any disciplinary or adverse action in the last twelve (12) months;
 - 7. The employee has demonstrated the ability to initiate his/her own work, to work without direct supervisory oversight, to recognize when supervisory or other assistance is needed on a project;
 - 8. The employee's fully successful performance of the work does not require:
 - a. Daily and frequent use of specialized equipment or technology that is available only at the official duty station;
 - b. Daily and frequent face to face contacts with co-workers, managers and/or customers;
 - c. Daily and frequent access to confidential or sensitive data and/or information (not attainable from home) such as personnel and/or payroll records or proprietary information protected from unauthorized disclosure by the Privacy Act of 1974 and its implementing regulations;
 - 9. Employees participating in the Employer's flexiplace program and using their primary personal residence (or any other approved site not fully-equipped with these items) may be required to provide at their own cost all equipment, supplies, and/or services necessary for working at the alternate duty station. This includes appropriate furniture for the work station, a computer capable of operating with all necessary software to perform official duties, a printer, telephone service (including a second line, DSL, or a cell phone to enable continuous accessibility while working at the computer), and any other equipment required by the Employer for performance of official duties in a seamless and transparent manner.
 - 10. The employee has received prior training on the eligibility, responsibility and other prerequisites for participation and/or continued participation in the Telework Program or FWAP as prescribed by this Agreement and the Telework Enhancement Act (TEA) of 2010 (Public Law 111-292). In accordance with the TEA, employees who have been teleworking prior to December 9, 2010 are grandfathered in, and are not required to take the training. All new employees and those employees who began any telework assignments after December 9, 2010, must take the required training.

SECTION 5

- A. To apply to participate in a FWAP, an employee must submit his/her request to the DNHDP Director or designee through his/her immediate supervisor using telework the form. If a request to work a flexiplace is denied, the Employer will explain the reason(s) for the denial to the employee in writing, upon request.
- B. Approved flexiplace agreements/plans will be reviewed at least every 90 days and when employees are placed in positions in different organizational units/offices. These reviews are intended to address any problems or concerns, and to ensure that flexiplace agreements/plans are accurate and continue to meet the criteria in Section 6.
- C. New supervisors or supervisors assigned to new units should review all existing flexiplace agreements to become familiar with them.
- D. The supervisor may modify (including temporary suspension of) the employee's flexiplace agreement/plan for such reasons as workload or office coverage needs, emergencies, or other work exigencies. Upon modifying an employee's flexiplace agreement/plan, the supervisor will notify the employee at least seven (7) days in advance of implementation of the modification.
- E. In some circumstances, the need to maintain adequate staffing levels in the traditional office worksite for such purposes as telephone coverage or immediate customer service may result in conflicts among flexiplace participants regarding scheduling of days to be worked on a flexiplace arrangement. If such conflicts occur, the supervisor(s) and the affected employees will attempt to resolve the conflict in a manner which is satisfactory to the supervisor(s) and affected employees. If such discussions do not result in a satisfactory resolution, the following tiebreaker formula will apply.
 - 1. The flexiplace arrangements and preferences of employee(s) that are already participating in the program shall take precedence over the preferences of new applicants. If the conflict is between employees who are already participating, or between two or more new applicants, the tiebreaker shall be by seniority (high seniority). Seniority shall be determined by employees' Service Computation Dates (SCDs).
 - 2. The above tiebreaker language is intended to apply to situations when it is necessary to limit the total number of flexiplace absences to the extent required to maintain adequate coverage in the traditional office worksite so that the mission of the Employer is not impaired.
- F. Flexiplace arrangements (agreements) are between the employee and the DNHDP. Employees who are detailed or permanently assigned to another organizational unit of the Employer, under another supervisor, must re-apply for flexiplace participation, execute a flexiplace program agreement with their new supervisor, and be approved by the DNHDP Director or designee in order to continue working at an alternate site.

SECTION 6

- A. Participation in the FWAP is voluntary. However, the Employer may require employees to work at an alternate site in case of emergency situations.
- B. Participants in the flexible work place program shall be permitted as part of a flexiplace arrangement to continue to work any AWS schedule they may already be working. Employees who work approved flexible work schedules and vary their start times are required to inform their supervisors, prior to commencement of their tours of duty, of their start times and end times for those days they work at an alternate site pursuant to this article.

- C. The official duty station of an employee participating in the flexible work program is the conventional worksite.
- D. Employees on a flexible workplace arrangement are required to report to the official duty station according to the schedule determined by the Employer. Employees on continuing flexible work arrangement should expect to report to the conventional work site a minimum of four days per week (for employees on a compressed work schedule, the employee's regular day off will count as a day away from the conventional work site for the purpose of this requirement). The Employer may approve deviations from this minimum weekly requirement for days at the official duty station, but any such deviations shall be at the sole discretion of the Employer and shall not be subject to the grievance procedure of Article 38. In addition, the Employer reserves the right to require more frequent days at the conventional work site for situations deemed appropriate by the supervisor.
- E. The Employer will make reasonable efforts to provide alternative methods, such as teleconferencing, use of fax and e-mail, and/or other methods to avoid unplanned situations requiring the employee to report to the conventional work site. However, when situations occur that require the employee to return to the conventional office, travel to and from the office is normal commuting time and as such is not considered hours of duty.
- F. As a minimum level of accessibility, the employees in the flexible work place program are expected to be as available to managers, co-workers and customers by telephone, e-mail, voice mail or other communications media during their scheduled daily tours of duty as when working at the official duty station.
- G. Overtime and credit hours worked must be approved in advance by an authorized official. For employees on flexible schedules, work that is ordered and approved in advance which is in excess of eight (8) hours per day, forty (40) hours per week, or eighty (80) hours per pay period, is considered overtime work. For employees on compressed schedules, work that is ordered and approved in advance which is in excess of the number of hours worked daily on the compressed schedule is considered overtime work. Compensatory time may be substituted for overtime pay in accordance with law, regulation, and Article 22, Overtime, Compensatory Time, and Holidays, of this Agreement. Nothing in this Article diminishes an employee's FLSA rights as provided for by law and regulation.
- H. Policies and practices for requesting and using leave remain unchanged, except as provided in the applicable articles of this Agreement.
- I. For purposes of timekeeping, participants will certify each pay period indicating hours worked or any exceptions to the scheduled tours of duty specified in their flexible work place program agreements. Falsifying time reports is cause to terminate participation in the flexible workplace program and may be grounds for other adverse or disciplinary action.
- J. The Employer has the legal obligation and right to be provided with reasonable assurance that employees are working at alternate sites when scheduled. Means of obtaining such reasonable assurance may include occasional supervisor telephone calls, occasional visits by the supervisor to the employee's alternate site (with twenty-four (24) hours notice), and determining the reasonableness of work output for the amount of time worked at the alternate site. The Employer will require employees to provide information, including periodic reports, concerning work accomplished at alternate sites.

SECTION 7

- A. A flexible work place arrangement may not be feasible where there is a prohibitive cost to duplicate the same level of confidentiality or security as exists in the employee's official duty station.
- B. Flexiplace home sites must have adequate workspace, lighting, residential telephone service, power, smoke alarms and adequate security.
- C. The Employer has the right to inspect the home work site at any time to ensure its suitability.
- D. Employees must comply with all security measures and disclosure provisions, including password protection and data encryption so that the Privacy Act or other security standards are not compromised.
- E. Employees must protect all government records and data against unauthorized disclosure, access, mutilation, obliteration and destruction.
- F. Employees must ensure that government provided equipment and property is used only for authorized purposes. Reasonable care should be used in operating all equipment. The servicing and maintenance of government owned equipment is the responsibility of the Employer.

SECTION 8

- A. The Employer may terminate an employee's participation in the program for cause, such as:
 1. Failure to continue to meet the criteria listed in Section 4 above;
 2. Failure to adhere to the provisions of the Agreement;
 3. Failure to accurately and truthfully report time worked;
 4. Organizational exigencies that impact on the mission of the Employer, and require the employee to perform work at the official duty station;
 5. For misconduct in connection with the employee's obligations under the flexible work place program; and
 6. Verifiable information that has been shared with the employee indicating customer dissatisfaction with the employee's performance or conduct.

SECTION 9

- A. Employees participating in the flexible work place program will not be excused from work because workers at the official duty station are dismissed or not required to work due to an emergency if the emergency does not impact the work being performed at the alternative work site. If an emergency occurs at the flexiplace work site that impacts on the employee's ability to perform official duties, the employee will immediately notify the Employer. The Employer will direct the employee to another work site, grant excused absence, or allow the employee to request appropriate leave, e.g., annual leave or LWOP.
- B. The Employer will not be responsible for operating costs, home maintenance, or any other incidental costs (e.g., utilities) associated with the use of the flexiplace work site.
- C. The employee is covered under the Federal Employees Compensation Act if injured in the course of performing official duties at the alternative work site.

- D. The Employer will not be held liable for damages to the employee's personal or real property during the performance of official duties or while using Employer equipment in the alternative work site, except to the extent the Employer is held liable under the Federal Tort Claims Act claims or claims arising under the Military Personnel and Civilian Employees Claim Act.

ARTICLE 24

PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT APPRAISAL PROGRAM

SECTION 1

- A. The purpose of the Performance Management Appraisal Program (PMAP) is to improve employee and organizational performance. It encourages continuous communication between employees and supervisors, provides a mechanism to evaluate employee performance and identify strengths and weaknesses, and provides a mechanism to address deficient performance effectively through such activities as increased communication, coaching, training, and if necessary, through appropriate personnel actions. Feedback and ratings under the PMAP system will be provided in a fair, consistent, constructive and equitable manner. This Article is intended to be used in conjunction with the Department of Health and Human Services PMAP document (Appendix 4) issued August 11, 2011. To the extent that there is a conflict in this article or contract with the PMAP policy or other management-issued performance documents, the parties' collective bargaining agreement governs. In the event the Department promulgates a new PMAP during the duration of this Agreement, this Article is subject to being reopened.
- B. The Employer and Union agree that the effectiveness of this program will be evaluated within six (6) months from the end of the performance period by a joint labor-management workgroup. There will be equal numbers of AFGE representatives and management officials.

SECTION 2

The objectives of the PMAP are to:

- A. Improve employee and organizational performance by defining critical aspects of employee performance and assessing results achieved;
- B. Communicate and clarify organizational goals and objectives to employees;
- C. Facilitate evaluation of employee performance;
- D. Encourage communication between supervisors and employees;
- E. Identify good employee performance for recognition;
- F. Address deficient performance effectively through such things as increased communication, coaching, training and if necessary, through appropriate personnel actions; and
- G. Provide uniform and consistent evaluation of performance for all covered employees.

ARTICLE 15

WORKPLACE FLEXIBILITIES

The CDC Workplace Flexibility Program includes remote work and telework options. Employee participation is normally voluntary, subject to supervisory approval.

The Employer and the Union agree to encourage and support the CDC Workplace Flexibility Program at Cincinnati Operations.

An employee whose position and job functions are suitable for working from an alternate site and meets the policy criteria is eligible to apply for a workplace flexibilities option. Eligibility depends on position and job functions rather than on job title, grade level, type of appointment, or work schedule. Employees who wish to participate in the workplace flexibility program must follow the workplace flexibility agreement requirements.

An employee whose job has been determined by management as eligible for remote work, local or outside the commuting area, may apply for remote work. Employees must complete the training requirements and submit a request for remote work through the Workplace Flexibility Management System.

If an employee's application for participation in the workplace flexibility program is not approved, the employee will be informed in writing of the reason for the determination in a timely manner (ideally within 5 workdays).

When more than de minimis changes occur in the CDC Workplace Flexibilities Policy, the Employer agrees to provide informational seminars addressing the updated information. These seminars should occur as soon as practicable, but no later than one year, following the policy changes.

The Employer may require employees to use webcams for individual or group meetings, including training, where face-to-face meetings are appropriate but impractical. When employees are required to use the web camera the Employer will consider employee concerns regarding bandwidth problems or other circumstances that impact the employees use of the camera.

ARTICLE 10

FLEXIPLACE

Definition – An arrangement in which an employee works at an approved site other than the employee’s official duty station.

Section 1. Purpose

The parties jointly recognize the mutual benefits of a flexible workplace program to the Employer and its employees. Balancing work and family responsibilities, assistance to the elderly or disabled employees, and meeting environmental, financial, and commuting concerns are among its advantages. In recognizing this benefit, both parties also acknowledge the need of the Employer to accomplish its mission.

Any Flexiplace program established under this Article will be a voluntary program subject to Employer approval, which permits employees to work at an approved site other than the employee’s official duty station in accordance with Part 7, Chapter 6, Indian Health Manual, Flexible Workplace Arrangement Program and all applicable laws, rules and government-wide regulations.

Section 2. Types of Arrangements:

- a. Long-term arrangements (more than 2 consecutive workweeks) require a written agreement between the Employer and the employee as specified in Part 7, Chapter 6, IHM, FWAP.
- b. Short-term arrangements are ad hoc or episodic in nature for short periods of time (two consecutive workweeks or less). These arrangements, which are reached informally between the Employer and employee, are not regular or recurring, and also require a written agreement.

Section 3. Eligibility for the Long Term Program

Consistent with the parties’ goals of fostering a family-friendly workplace, all employees are eligible to participate in the Flexiplace program if the following criteria are met:

- a. A sufficient amount of the employee’s work, in fact, can be performed at an alternate worksite. It is understood that the accomplishment of the Employers’ mission is paramount.
- b. The employee will be available and accessible to supervisors, co-workers, and customers at all times while performing work at an alternate worksite.
- c. The employee has demonstrated an ability to work alone without onsite supervision while maintaining satisfactory performance.
- d. There are not conduct problems that would cause management to be concerned about the employee’s trustworthiness or dependability.
- e. Coverage of office functions (see Section 4).
- f. Costs of such an arrangement: The parties recognize that costs or cost savings in technology, equipment, and telecommunications are considerations in decisions regarding participation in Flexiplace arrangements. While it is expected that Flexiplace will require some costs, the costs involved may be too much to finance an employee on Flexiplace.

g. Technology/equipment needs: The parties recognize that existing and evolving technology (ies) may allow or prevent an employee from participating in the Flexiplace program. The employee may need access to specific equipment and/or will use the telephone extensively on Flexiplace days. Such technology/equipment may include:

- Long distance telephone
- Telephone usage (other than long distance)
- High speed telephone usage
- Computer or typewriter assigned to the employee's home
- Computer software
- Modem and possible additional computer usage
- Modifications to the central computer to allow employees to dial in
- Equipment maintenance and repair
- Remote technical assistance
- Replacement of damaged or lost equipment
- Fax capability
- Internet service provider

Section 4. Coverage of Office Functions

- a. The Employer will continue to have responsibility for seeing that the mission of the Agency is carried out. Each office will determine adequate coverage during official hours for the purpose of assuring that the functions of the office are fulfilled.
- b. When coverage requirements are established, all employees are obliged to meet coverage requirements. The determination of who will work which particular hours to ensure such coverage is within the authority of the Employer.

Section 5. Time Frames

- a. Upon receipt of a request for Flexiplace, the Employer and the employee will meet to discuss and review the request. The Employer's decision should be provided to the employee within 15 calendar days of the request. The time frame may be extended by mutual agreement of the employee and supervisor.
- b. If disapproved, the employee will be advised in writing with the reason(s).
- c. If approved, the specifications of the arrangement will be worked out, reduced to writing, and signed by both the Employer and the employee. The employee will begin working at the alternate work site within 30 calendar days after completion of the Flexiplace agreement unless circumstances dictate otherwise.

Section 6. Operating Principles

- a. For employees who are approved to be on Flexiplace, the employee may be eligible to work an AWS.

- b. The governing rules, regulations, and policies concerning time and attendance, overtime, and leave are unchanged by participation in Flexiplace. Employees will not perform overtime or night work without written approval in advance.
- c. Injuries that arise in the performance of duty at the alternate worksite are subject to the Federal Employees' Compensation Act.
- d. The government is not responsible for operating costs, home maintenance, or any other incidental costs to the employee (e.g., utilities). Employees on Flexiplace are entitled to reimbursement for authorized expenses while conducting government business.
- e. For employees who are approved to be on Flexiplace, the following applies with respect to equipment.
 - 1. If the employee uses government equipment, the employee will use and protect the equipment in accordance with applicable laws, rules, and government-wide regulations.
 - 2. Employer-owned equipment will be serviced and maintained by the Employer.
 - 3. If the employee uses his/her own equipment, the employee is responsible for its service and maintenance.
 - 4. Employees will normally be given a minimum of 24 hours advance notice regarding management service or maintenance of government-owned property. Such service or maintenance will occur during the employee's normal work hours unless circumstances dictate otherwise.
- f. Employees on Flexiplace are obligated to ensure a safe and healthy work environment and to apply necessary safeguards to protect government records from damage or unauthorized disclosure.

Section 7. Recall

Employees participating in Flexiplace programs must be accessible and available for recall to their regular offices for work needs that cannot be performed at the alternate worksite. Examples are training, meetings, work requirements, and emergencies. These examples are for illustrative purposes and are not meant to be all encompassing. Management will provide reasonable advance notice of all recalls if possible. Where practicable, not less than 24 hours advance notice will be given but there may be times when advance notice cannot be given.

Section 8. Termination

- a. Supervisors may terminate an agreement whenever:
 - 1. There is a change in work requirements or the arrangement no longer supports the mission.
 - 2. The employee has not demonstrated an ability to work alone without onsite supervision or does not maintain satisfactory performance.

3. The employee has demonstrated conduct problems to the extent that he/she should be removed from the program.
 4. Costs of the agreement are no longer affordable.
 5. Technology changes require return to the regular office.
 6. Employees do not conform with the terms of their agreement.
- b. When terminating a Flexiplace arrangement, the following must occur:
1. The Employer will provide appropriate advance notice of the termination of any agreement. Normally, the notice will be five (5) work days prior to the effective date of the termination of the agreement.
 2. The Notice of Termination must be in writing and indicate the reason(s) for termination.
- c. Removal from Flexiplace does not prevent an employee from reapplying as soon as the Section 3 criteria can be met.
- d. The Union retains the right to negotiate to the full extent of the law if flexiplace arrangements are changed or to grieve the denial or termination of flexiplace.

Section 9. Pre-Existing Flexiplace Arrangements

Pre-existing Flexiplace arrangements must be brought into conformance with this Article.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH & HUMAN SERVICES

PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE/INDIAN HEALTH SERVICE

Claremore Indian Hospital, 101 S. Moore Ave., Claremore, Oklahoma 74017 (918-342-6200)

Memorandum of Agreement between Indian Health Service (IHS), Claremore Indian Hospital, and American Federation of Government Employees
(AFGE), Local 3601
On Demand to Bargain – HHS Workforce Flexibilities Policy

The American Federation of Government Employees (AFGE), Local 3601, hereafter referred to as the “Union”, and the Indian Health Service (IHS), Claremore Indian Hospital, hereafter referred to as “Employer” or “Agency”; hereby enter into this Memorandum of Agreement on Union Demand to Bargain on the HHS Workforce Flexibilities Policy. The parties recognize that the agreement is for this issue only, with the understanding that both parties retain all rights for future negotiations consistent with the Collective Bargaining Agreement between AFGE and IHS, Claremore Indian Hospital.

1. Status quo until all negotiations are completed including any Federal Impasses proceedings.
2. The Employer will ensure all employees are treated in a fair and equal manner whether on a WFP agreement or not.
3. When administrative leave for holiday early dismissal is approved for the facility, it will be fair and equitable to all employees.
4. Employee will notify supervisor within one (1) hour whenever problems arise that may adversely affect the ability to perform work at the alternative worksite (e.g., power outages, technology issues, sick family members who require substantial attention, or other personal matters impacting their ability to perform their duties). If incapacitated, employee will notify their supervisor as soon as possible.
5. If a supervisor is considering terminating an employee’s telework agreement, WFP under HHS-990-1-140 Section D, the employee will be given opportunity to state the reason or explanation why the WFP should not be terminated.
6. If an employee telework agreement (WFP) for remote work is terminated by the supervisor because the arrangement no longer meets the business needs of the organization, and the supervisor reassigns the employee to the agency worksite or other official worksite, the employee is entitled to relocation reimbursement.

If an employee telework agreement (WFP) for remote work is terminated for cause such as, diminished performance or conduct violations, and the supervisor elects to reassign the employee to the agency worksite, the employee is not entitled to relocation reimbursement.

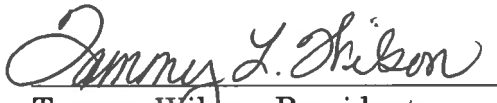

Employee will be reimbursed for travel in accordance with Indian Health Manual Travel Policy.

7. When an employee working under a remote or teleworking agreement is required to report to the worksite, they will be reimbursed for travel expenses in accordance with the Indian Health Service Manual.
8. The Agency will follow all steps in the CBA, as required for disciplinary action and/or performance – based actions prior to termination of WFP agreement.
9. If Agency terminates a WFP due to the employee’s performance, the reasons for the action will be substantiated.
10. Either party may request a meeting within 120 days after completion of the negotiations. Either party may submit proposals within 21 business days of the meeting for negotiations by the parties.
11. The Union reserves the right to add to these proposals.

ACCEPTED AND AGREED THIS 24th DAY OF FEBRUARY, 2023.

AFGE, Local 3601

Claremore Indian Hospital, IHS OKC Area

Tammy Wilson, President

 02/24/2023

CAPT Jodi Tricinella,
Ambulatory Care Director

Ruth A. Bilder, SHRM-SCP
Labor Relations Specialist

ARTICLE 40 - FLEXIBLE WORKPLACE

SECTION 40.1: The parties agree that the policy contained in the Indian Health Manual, Part 7, Chapter 6, Flexible Workplace Arrangements Program, (FWAP) will be adhered to. Any Billings Area IHS FWAP policy is subject to Council negotiations.

SECTION 40.2: The parties agree that all flexible workplace agreements will be in writing. The parties also agree the Local Union President will be afforded the opportunity to review all agreements for bargaining unit employees and will indicate their concurrence by signing the agreement.

ARTICLE 26: TELEWORK AND REMOTE WORK

SECTION 1: General

- A. This article addresses telework and remote work as flexible work arrangements. HHS and NTEU jointly recognize the mutual benefits of a flexible workplace program to the Agency and its employees. Balancing work and family responsibilities and meeting environmental, financial, and commuting concerns are among its advantages. This article controls over any conflicting terms of the HHS Workplace Flexibilities Policy.
- B. Telework is a voluntary program that permits employees to work at home or at other approved alternative location(s) to the conventional office site. For purposes of this Agreement, the terms telework, teleworking, “telecommuting” are synonymous and include working at home or at an approved alternative work site.
- C. Remote work is an alternative work arrangement that involves an employee performing their official duties at an approved alternative worksite away from an agency worksite without returning to the agency worksite twice a pay period on a regular and recurring basis to perform work. The Parties recognize that the use of remote work has the potential to improve and increase productivity and morale, improve employee engagement, maintain talent, and to provide the public with greater service.
- D. Participation in telework and remote work is voluntary. Participation in telework and remote work is not an entitlement nor is it a substitute for dependent/family care.
- E. Management may utilize flexible work arrangements incorporating telework and remote work for employees with dependent care responsibilities as part of an overall strategy to meet the agency’s mission, enhance employee work/life balance and facilitate an employee’s ability to manage both work and dependent care.
- F. While telework and remote work are not substitutes for dependent care, these programs can be a very valuable flexibility to employees with caregiving responsibilities, by eliminating time required to commute and expanding employees’ choices as to dependent care. There is no bar on telework or remote work while there are dependents in the home. However, employees may not telework or remote work with the intent of or for the sole purpose of meeting their dependent care responsibilities while performing official duties. Employees must use approved leave or other non-duty time to attend to dependent care responsibilities. While performing official duties, teleworkers and remote workers are expected to arrange for dependent care just as they would if they were working at an agency worksite; however, telework or remote work may be used as part of a more flexible work arrangement.
- G. The Parties anticipate that the telework and remote work programs will result in increased productivity, improvements in employee morale, talent recruitment, development and retention, job satisfaction, and reduced absenteeism. The Employer will identify barriers to implementing telework and remote work and take action to increase the opportunities for employees in suitable positions to participate in the program.

- H. Employees will be treated equitably with respect to appraisals of job performance, training, awards, reassignments, promotions, changes in grade, work requirements, approval for overtime work, and alternate work schedules, without regard to their participation in telework and remote work. The employee's performance will be evaluated against performance elements and standards contained in the employee's performance plan. Management and the employee understand there will be no distinction in the performance standards for remote workers, teleworkers, non-teleworkers, and non-remote workers.

SECTION 2: Telework and Remote Work Options

Situations appropriate for telework and remote work depend on the specific nature and content of the job, rather than just the job series and title. Participants may be permitted to telework for full days or a portion of a day. The following types of telework and remote work options are available:

- A. Routine Telework. This type of telework arrangement may be used when there is a regular and recurring opportunity to perform work at an alternate site. For example, the work does not require face-to-face interaction and collaboration with customers or peers on a daily basis, it does not require specialized equipment, systems, or reference materials unavailable except at the conventional office, and the employee's work habits are such that once an assignment is given, it can be accomplished without further oversight or supervisory consultation at the official duty station. Regular and recurring telework may be performed for up to eight (8) days per pay period (e.g., Monday-Thursday of each week), unless the employee is approved for remote work. Employees on routine telework must normally report to the official duty station (ODS) at least twice per pay period, pursuant to Section 6E below.
- B. Episodic or Ad hoc Telework. Telework arrangements may also be used on an occasional or episodic basis, for individual days or hours within a pay period, or for a special assignment or project on a short-term basis (as determined by the Employer). For example, such work tasks may include: data analysis, reviewing grants/cases, writing decisions or reports; telephone intensive tasks such as obtaining or collecting information, following up on participants in a study or setting up a conference; and some computer oriented tasks such as programming, data entry and word processing. Typically, appropriate assignments include, but are not limited to, activities that require uninterrupted concentration and result in measurable work outputs or products.
- C. Remote Work. Remote work allows an employee the flexibility to work from an approved alternative worksite within or outside the local commuting area of the agency worksite (i.e., a 45-mile radius) with no expectation to report to the agency worksite on a regular bi-weekly pay period basis.
 - 1. A position may be eligible for remote work (within or outside of the local commuting area) if the duties require less than 16 hours per bi-weekly pay period at the agency worksite.
 - a. Positions should be designated as "remote within the local commuting area of the agency worksite," if there is some regular and recurring frequency with which the position requires work to be performed at an agency worksite each month, but less than 2 days per bi-weekly pay period. For these positions, employees should have an official worksite/alternative worksite within the local commuting area.

- b. Positions should be designated as “remote outside the local commuting area of the agency worksite,” if the position requires little to no onsite presence (e.g., once annually, quarterly). For these positions, employees are not required to have an official worksite/ within the local commuting area.
- c. The designation of a position as “remote outside the local commuting area” will not preclude an employee from requesting a remote work location within the local commuting area.

2. Commuting Area and Locality

- a. Employees under a WFA for remote work will be eligible for travel reimbursement subject to supervisory approval on days they are required to report to work. Employees who are required to report to the employer’s worksite within the local commuting area (i.e., within 45 miles of the employee’s official worksite), will be reimbursed for Employer authorized reasonable travel expenses (e.g., mileage in accordance with the GSA mileage reimbursement rate).
- b. Although remote workers are not required to routinely report to the traditional worksite on a pay period basis, the Agency may require a remote employee to travel to an agency worksite for a circumstance requiring the employee’s physical presence where the specific duties cannot be performed at the remote worksite (e.g., mandatory in-person training/meetings). The Employer will provide reasonable advance written notice to the remote worker of any requirement to travel to an HHS worksite, normally at least 24 hours in advance for remote employees in the local commuting area and five (5) workdays in advance for remote employees outside of the local commuting area and shall include the reason(s) why the employee’s physical presence is required. Employees under a WFA for remote work will be reimbursed for authorized travel expenses and may be entitled to per diem in accordance with the FTR for expenses resulting from the employee’s travel to the agency worksite outside the local commuting area (i.e., more than 45 miles outside the employee’s official worksite). All travel costs for required travel to the official worksite will be reimbursed by the Agency, consistent with this Article, the Federal Travel Regulations \(FTR\) and Article 42 \(Travel\) of this Agreement.

- 3. An approved WFA for remote work will result in a change in the employee’s official duty station. The Agency will provide the employee with proper notice of the change in duty station.

D. Reasonable Accommodation. When a temporary disability that formed the basis for a telework or remote work reasonable accommodation no longer exists, the telework reasonable accommodation must be reviewed and may be modified or terminated as appropriate, consistent with this Article. Telework and remote work arrangements may be appropriate to reasonably accommodate an employee with a temporary or permanent illness or disability, when the employee's medical condition meets the Reasonable Accommodation requirements under applicable law and regulation, including the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 \(29 U.S.C. § 791\), as amended, if the job can be accomplished at an alternate worksite. Such requests should be handled in accordance with the applicable laws and regulations, and the HHS Reasonable Accommodation Policy.

- E. Temporary Workplace Flexibility. Employees with a temporary illness or physical incapacitation or assisting with the care of a family member recovering from an illness or physical incapacitation, may be granted temporary WFA with appropriate supporting documentation (e.g., telework, or an exception to reporting to an agency worksite) for up to six (6) months, unless extended. The procedures in Articles 38 and 51 will apply. The authorization to work at an alternate worksite under this subsection is intended to be temporary while the employee or the family member recovers from the illness or incapacitation. Examples of temporary illness or physical incapacitation include, but are not limited to, temporary infectious illnesses, recovery from surgery, temporary but recurring medical treatments such as chemotherapy, and other medical conditions which impair the mobility of the employee.
- F. While particular positions may be designated as presumptively eligible for telework or remote work, there is no presumption against eligibility as long as the employee's position meets the eligibility criteria set forth in this Article. Decisions on an individual employee's eligibility for telework and remote work will be made on a case-by-case basis consistent with this Article. Either party may initiate bargaining consistent with Article 3 of this Agreement over designating positions as presumptively eligible for telework or remote work.

SECTION 3: Telework and Remote Work Eligibility and Approval

- A. To participate in telework and remote work an employee must demonstrate that they meet the eligibility requirements set forth in this Article, and must continue to meet them throughout the eligible period. In addition, the employee's duties must be portable, and the assignments must be appropriate for telework. A determination that a position is eligible for telework and/or remote work is made based on the specific nature and content of the job, and the employee's actual duties, rather than just the job series and/or title. The positions are comprised of job duties that can be effectively performed outside the agency worksite without diminishing performance or agency operations.
- B. Telework arrangements must be consistent with maintaining adequate office coverage. Adequate office coverage varies from location to location and is not necessarily a specific percentage of employees. It is determined by the specific needs of a location.
- C. The Parties agree that specific individual participation in telework and remote work must be considered on a case by case basis and applied in a manner consistent with this Article, and applicable laws. In making telework decisions, supervisors must take into account the work unit as a whole when considering whether or not a specific telework request will impact the ability of the unit to accomplish its mission and goals. The decision will not be made in an arbitrary and capricious manner. The Employer will administer the telework and remote work program in a fair and equitable manner. Consistent with the provisions of this Article, the supervisor retains the authority to review, determine, and approve participation in this program.

- D. For an employee to be eligible for telework or remote work, the employee must have adequate internet access if the work being performed at the telework/remote work site requires HHS network connectivity, and the resources required for the employee to complete the work are available/accessible at the telework/remote work location including, but not limited to, a computer (if necessary) to connect to the virtual private network (VPN), and the Voice over Internet Protocol (VoIP) or other capability to make and receive calls (e.g., cell phone or other technology).
- E. Telework Eligibility Criteria. Each employee must meet and maintain the following criteria to be considered eligible to participate in the telework program.
1. The employee's latest rating of record is "fully successful" (currently Achieved Expected Results) or better, and there is no reasonable cause to believe this level of performance will drop; If the employee does not have a rating of record, they may be presumed to be "fully successful" for the purpose of telework eligibility;
 2. The employee is not on a leave restriction;
 3. The employee is not on a Performance Improvement Plan;
 4. The employee has not been officially disciplined for being absent without permission for more than 5 days in any single calendar year or for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties.
 5. The employee has not received any disciplinary or adverse action which has a nexus to the integrity of the telework program within the last six (6) months;
 6. The employee has demonstrated the ability to initiate their own work, work without direct supervisory oversight and recognizes when supervisory or other assistance/guidance is needed on a project;
 7. The employee has completed the Employer's required telework training, or will complete training prior to starting telework;
 8. For an employee applying for telework for the first time in an OPDIV/STAFFDIV, the employee must have held her/his current position for at least three (3) months, unless otherwise agreed to by the supervisor; and
 9. The employee's fully successful (currently Achieved Expected Results or its equivalent) performance of the work does not require:
 - a. Daily and frequent use of specialized equipment or technology that is available only at the official duty station;

- b. Daily and frequent face to face contacts with co-workers, managers and/or customers (except where such contact can be otherwise accommodated); and
 - c. Daily and frequent access to confidential or sensitive data and/or information (not attainable from home) such as personnel and/or payroll records or proprietary information protected from unauthorized disclosure by the Privacy Act of 1974 and its implementing regulations.
- F. In some circumstances, the need to maintain adequate staffing levels in the traditional office worksite for such purposes as telephone coverage that cannot be accommodated on telework or immediate face-to-face customer service may result in conflicts among telework participants regarding scheduling of days to be worked on a telework arrangement. If such conflicts occur, the supervisor(s) and the affected employees will attempt to resolve the conflict in a manner which is satisfactory to the supervisor(s) and affected employees. If such discussions do not result in a satisfactory resolution, the following tiebreaker formula 3G will apply.
- G. The telework preferences of employee(s) that are already participating in the program shall take precedence over the preferences of new applicants. If the conflict is between employees who are already participating, or between two or more new applicants, the tiebreaker shall be by seniority (high seniority). Seniority shall be determined by employees' federal Service Computation Dates (SCDs).
- H. Remote Work Eligibility Criteria.

1. Employees are eligible for remote work when:

- a. The employee's duties require less than 16 hours per bi-weekly pay period at the agency worksite;
- b. The employee has a performance plan in place and is performing at least at the fully successful level or its equivalent and participation is not expected to cause an adverse impact on organizational productivity; and
- c. The employee has not been officially disciplined for being absent without permission for more than 5 days in any single calendar year or for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties.

2. Examples where remote work would be appropriate include (but are not limited to) the following:

- a. The employee's position does not require regular face-to-face interaction with other employees or stakeholders at a specific HHS office location; or
- b. The employee is impacted by an office closure and there is still an identified business need to perform work in that geographic pay area.

3. An employee is considered ineligible if:
 - a. The employee has been officially disciplined for being absent without permission for more than 5 days in any single calendar year; or
 - b. An employee has been officially disciplined for violations of the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch (5 CFR § 2635, Subpart G) for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography on a Federal Government computer or while performing Federal Government duties; or
 - c. The employee's performance during the performance year falls below the fully successful level.
4. Employees hired in positions that were advertised as remote have no additional eligibility requirements beyond those identified in Section 3H3(a) and (b) above.
5. In determining whether to grant requests for remote work by individual employees, if the requesting employee has been working full-time from an alternate worksite in their current position per Article 26, currently or at any time in the past, there will be a presumption that the request should be granted if the eligibility criteria in this Article are met. This presumption does not apply to full-time telework that was the result of (1) a formal reasonable accommodation, or (2) the pandemic emergency, or (3) a temporary accommodation for health or personal reasons.
6. The Employer has determined it will consider budget, including travel, when considering remote work requests, particularly requests in which the employee would be required to be approved for TDY when traveling into a facility.
 - a. Before denying a remote work request based on budget, the Employer will notify the requesting employee of the specific impact on budget, and attempt to find a resolution (e.g., the parties could agree to limit any required travel to a TDY).
 - b. If the Employer denies a remote work request for budgetary reasons, it will provide the specific budgetary reasons for its decision to the requesting employee. Denials may be grieved.

SECTION 4: Telework and Remote Work Application Process

- A. Eligible employees may submit a completed Workplace Flexibilities Agreement (WFA) for telework or remote work through their Office or OpDiv system to their immediate supervisor or management official designated by their Office or OpDiv. The WFA for telework or remote work serves as the employee's application/request form that may be accessed through the HHS Office or OpDiv Intranet. A copy of the WFA is attached as Appendix 26-1.

- B. Within ten (10) calendar days of submission, the employee's supervisor will approve or disapprove the employee's request in writing. If the request is disapproved or modified, the employee will be notified in writing stating the reasons for that action.
- C. If an employee's request for a remote work arrangement is approved, the Agency will complete an SF-52 and notify the employee if a change in duty station may impact the employee's locality pay. The employee will be given five (5) workdays from the date of notification to advance or withdraw the WFA for remote work. If the Agency provides notice to an employee under this section while the employee is on leave, the employee will be given five (5) workdays from their return from leave to advance or withdraw their WFA for remote work.
- D. If the employee decides to advance their approved WFA for remote work, the employee's WFA for remote work becomes effective and implemented on the date mutually agreed upon between the employee and supervisor. An employee's official duty station will be updated on the SF-50 as soon as administratively feasible but no later than two full pay periods from the WFA effective date. The SF-50 effective date will be the date the WFA is signed and dated by the employee and the employer.
- E. If a WFA for telework is approved, the employee may begin teleworking on the first day of the pay period after approval, unless an earlier start date has been approved.
- F. If an employee's request for telework or remote work (i.e., initial request, modification request, or termination request) is disapproved or modified, within five (5) workdays of disapproval, the employee will be advised in writing with the reason(s) for disapproval. Managers shall not unreasonably or arbitrarily deny an employee's request. The Union may file a grievance in accordance with Article 45 of the parties' National Agreement.
- G. Employees may submit a written request to their immediate supervisor to modify or terminate their WFA for telework or remote work. Requests to modify a WFA for remote work must be made at least 60 workdays prior to the intended relocation and shall include the proposed alternative worksite. The Agency will provide a written response to the requesting employee within ten (10) workdays of the request submission. In instances where employees request to terminate their remote work agreement, the employee may assume moving cost expenses.

SECTION 5: Equipment and Technology

- A. Teleworking and remote working employees must use HHS approved technologies and methods to access all HHS networks and systems. Employees will be provided with government furnished equipment necessary to perform their assigned duties at the alternate or remote worksite, and they will be required to use that equipment. This will include a government issued laptop equipped with a camera and technology for remote network access. The use and availability of technology, equipment, and data will be governed by Agency policy where not in conflict with this Agreement. Agency equipment issued to remote workers and teleworkers is for official use, and the Employer is responsible for its repair and maintenance. Employees are responsible for maintaining and repairing personally owned equipment. The Employer will make available necessary office supplies.

B. Employees who telework less than fifty percent (50%) of their bi-weekly work requirement may, subject to the availability of funds, be provided with the following equipment:

1. a computer monitor;
2. a keyboard and mouse;
3. a docking station or similar device, as necessary;
4. the capability to print, scan, fax and/or copy if the Employer determines it is needed for the employee to perform their job duties while teleworking; and

In addition, for communications, employees will be provided with the capability to make outgoing and receive incoming calls via software on the employer-provided technology.

C. Remote workers and routine teleworkers who telework fifty percent (50%) or more of their bi-weekly work requirement will, subject to the availability of funds, be provided with equipment similar to non-teleworkers, which will include the following:

1. a computer monitor, if necessary to perform their job duties;
2. a keyboard and mouse;
3. a surge protector, if required by the division;
4. a docking station or similar device, as necessary;
5. lockable storage, if necessary;
6. the capability to print, scan, fax and/or copy if the Employer determines it is needed for the employee to perform their job duties while teleworking; and
7. for communications, employees will be provided with the capability to make outgoing and receive incoming calls via software on employer-provided technology.

The Employer is responsible for the repair and maintenance of any equipment it provides. Nothing in this section precludes employees from requesting additional equipment, subject to the availability of funds.

SECTION 6: Work Schedules, Official Duty Station, Reporting and Recall to the Office

A. Participants in the telework program shall be permitted as part of a telework arrangement to continue to work any AWS schedule they may already be working or for which they are approved under Article 25. Employees who work approved flexible work schedules and vary their start times will accurately record all hours worked. An employee's scheduled day off on an approved AWS schedule is not considered a teleworkday.

- B. The official duty station means the official worksite of an employee for purposes of locality pay.
1. The official worksite of an employee participating in the telework program is the conventional work site for purposes of travel reimbursement.
 2. The official duty station for an employee with an approved WFA for remote work, whether it is in the local commuting area or outside of the local commuting area, is the approved alternative worksite (e.g., the employee's home).
- C. Changes to the Official Worksite/Alternative Worksite.
1. Employees must request to change the location of their official worksite/alternative worksite in advance. Supervisors are encouraged to be flexible with a remote employee's official worksite/alternative worksite, provided it continues to meet the agency's needs and does not negatively impact the mission including, increase expenses for the agency. Employees may not begin working at a new official worksite/alternative worksite until it has been approved.
 2. Upon approval of a new official worksite/alternative worksite for a remote employee, the employee must submit a new WFA for remote work with the new location.
 3. Employees, whose WFA for remote work is modified at the request of the employee, are responsible for all expenses that may be incurred associated with the relocation.
- D. Employees who work approved flexible work schedules and vary their start times may be required to inform their supervisors, of their start and end times for those days they work at an alternate site, consistent with Article 25.
- E. Employees on a routine (regular and recurring) telework arrangement are required to report to the official duty station (ODS) as listed in their approved schedule that must include at least two (2) days each pay period (full or partial days) for, and may be removed from Telework if they fail to do so. Employees can take non-duty time or leave to return to their telework location. Managers have discretion to waive the reporting requirement for Teleworkers in accordance with 5 CFR § 531.605\(d\)\(2\). Such a waiver will be in writing. Mobile workers (e.g., FDA Inspectors) who regularly perform work within the locality pay area meet the reporting requirement. If an employee is on an approved absence for all of the day on which they would otherwise have to report to the ODS, the requirement to report is satisfied. An employee who has reported to their ODS for less than their full TOD to the extent they are on approved leave has met the requirement.
- F. The Employer has the right to direct Telework employees to report to the office on their scheduled telework day due to special circumstances, including, but not limited to, office assignments, meetings, absence of other employees, emergency situations, or training classes. These should be planned to give the employee notice in time to travel to the official duty station during their regular commute time. Time spent traveling will not be considered hours of work if it is commuting. When the employee is scheduled for a full day tour of duty (TOD) at the Telework site and receives notification to report to the official duty station after the start of the workday or too late to travel during the employee's normal commute time, the reasonable time needed to travel to the office will be during duty hours.

- G. The Employer will make reasonable efforts to provide alternative methods, such as virtual meetings teleconferencing, use of fax and e-mail, and/or other methods to avoid unplanned situations requiring the telework or remote work employee to report to the conventional work site. However, when situations occur that require a teleworking employee to return to the conventional worksite, travel to and from the office is normal commuting time and as such is not considered hours of duty, except as provided in subsection 6F above. For remote workers with an alternative worksite outside of the commuting area of the conventional work site, the Employer will generally provide at least five (5) workdays advance notice of the need for the employee to report to the agency worksite.
- H. Compensatory Time Off for Travel. Remote employees required to travel away from their official worksite/alternative worksite may be afforded compensatory time off for official travel, if the approved itinerary requires the employee to be in a travel status, when such time is not otherwise compensable.
- I. As a minimum level of accessibility, the employees in the telework and remote work program are expected to be as available to managers, co-workers and customers by telephone, E-mail, voice mail, virtual platforms (e.g., Microsoft Teams, Microsoft Lync or Skype, if available) or other communications media during their scheduled daily tours of duty as when working at the official duty station. An individual's availability as indicated by this technology is not a reliable record for purposes of employee tracking or determining if an employee is engaged in official Agency business. These tools merely indicate user availability as interpreted by the tool. More specifically, monitoring an employee's availability utilizing technology cannot be used as evidence of the employee's time worked or used as proof to demonstrate an employee's failure to work. Accordingly, this information should not be used as a basis or justification for any adverse employment action.

Teleworking and remote work employees will make their telework contact information readily available.

Where face-to-face meetings are warranted but impractical, employees will be notified in advance (normally at the time the meeting is scheduled) of the requirement when there is a particular need for the employee be visually seen (e.g., including but not limited to, the employee is presenting to the meeting, for purposes of introducing the employee to others). In those situations, the employee may be directed to turn their camera on for the meeting or relevant portion thereof, provided the employee has the necessary working equipment. Employees who are directed to use the camera feature may discuss the requirement with their supervisor and may be exempted from the requirement for good cause (e.g., reasonable accommodation, recovering from an injury). Employees may blur background or use another appropriate backgrounds when using virtual platforms.

If there is a business need for management to record a meeting (e.g., for training purposes), management will notify the participants in advance and identify whether use of the camera is optional. No other recordings (video and/or audio) are permitted. Nothing in this provision waives the Union's right to bargain over new technology when required by law, rule, or regulation.

- J. Overtime and credit hours worked must be consistent with Articles 22 (Overtime) and 25 \(AWS/Hours of Work\) of this Agreement. Compensatory time may be substituted for overtime pay in accordance with law, regulation, and Article 22, Overtime, Compensatory Time, and Holidays, of this Agreement. Nothing in this Article diminishes an employee's FLSA rights as provided for by law and regulation.
- K. Policies and practices for requesting and using leave remain unchanged, except as provided in the applicable articles of this Agreement.
- L. For purposes of timekeeping, participants will certify each pay period indicating hours worked or any exceptions to the scheduled tours of duty specified in their telework agreements. Falsifying time reports is cause to terminate participation in the telework program and could be grounds for other adverse or disciplinary action.
- M. The Employer has the right to be provided with reasonable assurance that employees are working at alternate sites when scheduled. Supervisors may also require that employees update work calendars to show their availability to schedule meetings. Employees are required to respond to Supervisors' messages to them.
- N. Employees may switch their scheduled teleworkday(s) with prior supervisory approval. If an employee's request is denied, the reason(s) for the denial shall be provided to the employee in writing if requested. Managers shall not unreasonably or arbitrarily deny an employee's request.
- O. Employees who participate in the Telework Program may be required to share office space with their co-workers or via hoteling, hot desking, desk sharing, or other means. When the Employer determines that there is a need for sharing of office space in any post of duty, it will provide advance notice to NTEU consistent with Article 3 of this Agreement, and bargain to the extent required by law and this Agreement.

SECTION 7: Alternative Worksite Requirements

- A. Employees are only authorized to telework from their approved location and need supervisory approval to change locations.
- B. A telework arrangement may not be feasible where there is a prohibitive cost to duplicate the same level of confidentiality or security as exists in the employee's official duty station.
- C. Telework home sites must have adequate workspace, lighting, residential telephone service, power, smoke alarms and adequate security.
- D. The Employer has the right to inspect the home work site at any time to ensure its suitability. The Employer will provide not less than three (3) workday's notice in advance of the inspection and the Union shall have a right to be present.

- E. Employees must comply with all security measures and disclosure provisions, including password protection and data encryption so that the Privacy Act or other security standards are not compromised.
- F. Employees who telework from home must keep Government property and information safe, secure, and separated from their personal property and information. Employees must protect all government records and data against unauthorized disclosure, access, mutilation, obliteration and destruction. Employees must comply with all required information technology security measures, including password protection and data encryption, and disclosure provisions so that the Employer's security or Privacy Act requirements are not compromised.
- G. Employees must ensure that government provided equipment and property is used only for authorized purposes. Reasonable care should be used in operating all equipment. The servicing and maintenance of government owned equipment is the responsibility of the Employer.

SECTION 8: Termination and Suspension of Telework and Remote Work

A. Telework.

1. The Employer may terminate, suspend, or modify, an employee's participation in the telework program for cause, such as:
 - a. Failure to meet or continue to meet the eligibility criteria for telework in this Article;
 - b. Failure to adhere to the provisions of the telework agreement in the Workplace Flexibilities Agreement \(WFA\) and/or of this Article;
 - c. Failure to accurately and truthfully report time worked;
 - d. Organizational exigencies that impact on the mission of the Employer, and require the employee to perform work at the official duty station;
 - e. For misconduct in connection with the employee's obligations under the Workplace Flexibilities telework or remote work programs as set forth in this Article/Workplace Flexibilities Agreement \(WFA\).
2. Prior to terminating, temporarily suspending or modifying an employee's Workplace Flexibilities Agreement (WFA) for telework, the supervisor will notify the employee in writing at least seven (7) calendar days in advance of the change. All such notices will identify the reason(s) for the change and the duration of any temporary suspension or modification. A temporary suspension or modification will end once the need for it has abated. Decisions on termination, suspension or modification of workplace flexibility arrangements for telework are grievable.
3. If a telework agreement is cancelled or terminated, within the first sixty (60) days of the employee's return to the traditional workplace the Employer will make reasonable efforts to return the employee to the same or a comparable work situation that they had prior to beginning the telework arrangement. After sixty (60) days, the Employer will restore the employee to the same or comparable work situation of other similarly situated employees.

B. Remote Work.

1. The Agency may terminate or modify an employee's remote work arrangement (unless the employee was hired as a remote worker) for cause, for the reasons described Section 3H3 of this Article. When deciding to terminate a remote work agreement, the Employer will document and be able to demonstrate the reasons for the termination. Notice to terminate or modify an employee's remote work arrangement will be provided to the employee in writing at least thirty (30) days in advance of the effective date. The Union or employee may file a grievance over termination or modification of remote work in accordance with Article 45 of this Agreement.
2. For cause termination or modification will be based on one of the following:
 - a. the employee is no longer eligible for the reasons cited in subsections 3H3 above;
 - b. the employee does not comply with the terms of the written WFA for remote work (5 U.S.C. § 6502\(b\)\(3\)); or
 - c. circumstances in which work is no longer portable.
3. An employee whose WFA for remote work is terminated will be assigned to an Agency worksite. An "Agency worksite" shall be defined as a work location within the budgetary control of the division within which the employee is assigned. Subject to workload considerations, the Agency will make every reasonable effort to reassign the employee to a duty station within the employee's Office's workspace located within the employee's local commuting area. Where the Agency offers the employee a choice of several official worksites, the employee may select a post of duty closest to the employee's remote work duty station. Upon completion of a change in duty location, the employee's SF-50 will be updated accordingly.
4. If remote work is terminated because the work is no longer portable pursuant to subsection 8B2(c) above, the employee is entitled to relocation reimbursement. If remote work is terminated for cause pursuant to subsection 8B2(a) or (b) above, or if the employee voluntarily terminates the remote work arrangement, the employee is not entitled to relocation reimbursement.

SECTION 9: Employee General Responsibilities and Liabilities

- A. The Employer will not be responsible for operating costs, home maintenance, or any other incidental costs (e.g., utilities) associated with the use of the telework work site. The employee does not relinquish any entitlement to reimbursement for appropriately authorized expenses incurred while conducting business for the Employer as provided for by law and regulations.

- B. When a teleworking or remote employee experiences a condition that prevents them from working at the telework/remote work site and which is not otherwise covered under the weather and safety leave provisions in Section 11 of this article (e.g., power outage, loss of internet), the employee must contact their supervisor as soon as practicable. The employee may be directed to travel to their assigned duty station (teleworkers) or an agency worksite within their local commuting area (voluntary remote workers) provided they may safely travel under the circumstances to complete their workday. If directed to travel during regular duty hours, the employee will receive duty time to do so. If the employee is not directed to report to an agency worksite, the employee may be asked to perform other duties or granted administrative leave.
- C. The employee is covered under the Federal Employees Compensation Act if injured in the course of performing official duties during their official tour of duty at the alternate work site.
- D. The Employer will not be held liable for damages to the employee’s personal or real property during the performance of official duties or while using Employer equipment in the alternative work site, except to the extent the Employer is held liable under the Federal Tort Claims Act claims or claims arising under the Military Personnel and Civilian Employees Claim Act.
- E. WFAs for telework and remote work are between the employee and their supervisor. When employees are detailed or permanently assigned to another organizational unit of the Employer and under another supervisor, the employee and supervisor will discuss the continuation and/or necessary modifications to the existing agreement, consistent with this Article.
- F. Workplace flexibility agreements do not expire; however, managers and employees may review workplace flexibility agreements on an annual basis; this process is not a re-application process. Updates to an agreement may be made at the request of an employee and/or must be consistent with the provisions of this Article.

SECTION 10: Reports to OPM

The Employer will provide the Union with copies of any reports on telework usage provided to OPM within fifteen (15) days of submission of the report to OPM. If not provided in the report to OPM, the Employer will provide the Union with the following information, broken down by OpDiv: (1) the number of employees eligible to participate in the telework program; and (2) the number of employees participating in the telework program (including name, location, series, grade, and the type of telework arrangement).

SECTION 11: Leave, Early Dismissals, Closures and Weather and Safety

- A. Whenever it becomes necessary to close an office because of a weather or other safety-related condition, reasonable efforts will be made to inform all employees by private or public media, including email, and other methods as appropriate and available.

Consistent with 5 CFR Part 630, Subpart P, a “weather or other safety-related condition” is:

- 1. An act of God (e.g., heavy snow or severe icing conditions, floods, earthquakes, avalanches, hurricanes wildfires or other natural disasters, and pandemics);

2. A terrorist attack; or
 3. Another condition that prevents an employee or group of employees from safely traveling to or safely performing work at an approved location (e.g., power failures and other events beyond the control of the employee).
- B. For the purpose of this Section, Telework-ready employees are employees with an approved WFA Agreement for telework who have the necessary equipment (e.g., laptop) and necessary work files (paper or electronic) at their Telework location (or transportable to the Telework location) to perform required duties at the Telework location at the time of an office closure or at other times as discussed below.
- C. When an employee with an approved WFA for telework may reasonably anticipate that a weather or other safety-related condition may force the closure of their HHS facility (e.g., forecasted snow storm), the employee must take reasonable steps (within an employee's control) to become Telework-ready – i.e., take necessary work equipment and necessary work files to their Telework location – for the anticipated day(s) the facility may be closed. In such circumstances before the weather or other safety-related condition occurs, managers may authorize employees who are not in their agency worksite/official duty station to travel on duty time (i.e., excluding overtime) to their agency worksite to obtain necessary work equipment or files to become Telework-ready.
- D. The Employer reserves the right to direct employees to report to an alternate work location, which could be their home, in emergency or catastrophic situations that disrupt agency operations, and results in the invocation of an agency's Continuity of Operations Plan pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 6504\(d\)\(2\).
- E. When an employee is Telework-ready and a weather or other safety-related condition forces the closure of their HHS facility, the employee is expected to perform work at their approved Telework location for their entire TOD, unless they take approved leave. Where the employee's telework site is also impacted by the same weather or safety-related condition (e.g. hurricane, wildfire, flood, evacuation) as the agency worksite/official duty station and the condition prevents the employee from safely working (e.g., power outage, evacuation order), the employee may be granted weather and safety leave that is granted to other employees in the office. If the employee is not Telework ready for all or part of the tour of duty when a weather or safety-related condition forces the closure of the HHS facility, the employee may be granted an appropriate amount of weather and safety leave.
- F. When a teleworking employee experiences a weather or other safety-related condition that prevents them from safely working at their Telework site, the employee must contact their supervisor as soon as practicable. The employee may be directed to travel to the employee's regular worksite – provided they may safely travel under the circumstances – to complete their workday. If directed to travel during regular duty hours, the employee will receive duty time to do so. If the employee is not directed to report to their regular worksite, the employee will be granted weather and safety leave that is granted to other employees in the office.

- G. In the event the office has an early departure, employees who have a Telework agreement and who are working in the office are required to take their equipment and work files to their Telework location to finish their TOD. Employees required to travel to their approved telework location during regular duty hours will be granted weather and safety leave for the time required to travel home. However, if the employee's telework site is also impacted by the emergency condition (e.g., hurricane, wildfire, flood, evacuation) and the condition prevents the employee from safely working (e.g., power outage, evacuation order), the employee may be granted an appropriate amount of weather and safety leave. Where an early departure has been authorized, teleworkers on a flexible work schedule may request and may be authorized to depart prior to the scheduled early departure time to complete their TOD from the telework location.
- H. In the event the office has a delayed opening, telework ready employees who were scheduled to report to the office may request to use unscheduled telework for their entire tour of duty or arrive at the delayed opening time to complete their tour of duty in the office.
- I. Unscheduled Telework hours worked due to a weather or safety-related office closure or unscheduled Telework announcement will not count against the employee's maximum number of hours permitted under the Telework Agreement.
- J. Employees who are required to work unscheduled Telework will not have their previously scheduled Telework days changed or cancelled.
- K. Employees on a Telework agreement may cancel pre-approved leave or paid time off and be granted weather and safety leave as other employees when its intended purpose is frustrated by the same weather and safety-related condition forcing the office closure, and the employee is not Telework-ready. The manager may request information or documentation to show that granting weather and safety leave is appropriate.
- L. In cases where weather and safety leave is granted for consecutive days, the employee must be reachable by the Employer via telephone or email, provided such services are available. If so, the employee must respond to attempts to communicate within twenty-four (24) hours.

Department of Homeland Security
Supplemental Documents

Department of Homeland Security
January 2024 Submission

Homeland Security

Department of Homeland Security
Work Environment Implementation Data Call
January 26, 2024

Via this document, the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) submits its response to the Office of Management and Budget's (OMB) Organizational Health and Performance Memorandum (M-23-15) "Work Environment Implementation Data Call."

DHS fully supports the implementation of M-23-15, and we believe the actions DHS has taken and proposed meet the spirit and intent of the memorandum while ensuring our ability to meet performance and mission objectives. DHS remains committed to increasing in-person work hours through robust engagement with our Components. Specifically, we have provided guidance to the workforce on the proper coding of telework and remote work to ensure timely and accurate data; issued policy implementation guidance and discussed it at senior leader forums; tracked and evaluated our telework posture by reviewing and analyzing employees' time and attendance entries as compared to their telework/remote work agreement status; and actively monitor and improve telework data reporting to support compliance with communicated policies.

Since the beginning of Fiscal Year 2024, excluding priority mission critical occupations and law enforcement, 62% of hours were worked in-person across all of DHS's headquarters-equivalent employees (within and outside of the NCR). Headquarters-related personnel in the NCR conducted in-person work at an average of 42%. DHS will continue to review strategies to ensure in-person hours of HQ personnel in the NCR both support mission accomplishment and align with the minimum goal of 50% in-person presence.

The following submission reflects DHS's ongoing efforts to increase our in-person posture by providing additional guidance to maximize opportunities for meaningful in-person work.

1. Timelines with firm deadlines for your agency to reach its in-person presence objectives (i.e., a steady state where, in general, total work hours for all headquarters and headquarters-equivalent personnel that are eligible for telework are completed, on average, as much in-person as they are in telework environments).

- August 29, 2023 – DHS employees received a communication on telework and remote work, which stated: "The Department's leadership believes that continuing to increase meaningful in-person work is essential to further strengthening our organization." Additionally, employees were directed to do the following which DHS continues to track each pay period:
 - Ensure their timecard accurately reflects where their work duties are performed (i.e., in-person at the agency worksite, teleworking from an alternate location, or remotely).
 - Ensure their telework or remote work agreements have been approved and the duty station matches the agreement.

- October 1, 2023 – Employees that were in a telework status resumed the in-person requirement to report to their respective agency worksite in accordance with their approved telework agreement and the DHS Telework and Instruction or their Component/office policy.
- February 5, 2024 – Components will receive a memo providing additional strategies to encourage/strengthen meaningful in-person work. The memo states that Components should seek to increase their in-person presence for things like team meetings, core days, all-employee meetings, on-boarding, mentorship, performance management, training, and the like.
- March 5, 2024 – Deadline for components to amplify the February 5 memo within their workforce with clear strategies and dates.
- Ongoing – DHS monitors bi-weekly compliance with our guidance from August 29 and October 1 and provides Components with reports where we find anomalies for resolution.
- Quarterly – DHS meets with each Component to review its human capital metrics to include overall compliance with mandates and to track any proposed shifts in work posture due to mission demands.
- While DHS personnel in headquarters-equivalent roles already exceed 50% in-person presence (as stated above, 62% of hours were worked in-person across all of DHS’s headquarters-related employees across the country), DHS will seek to achieve 45% in-person for the NCR by June 1 and 50% in-person for the NCR by September 1 (currently 42%).

2. Updates or additional steps your agency must take to complete execution equitably and consistently across their workforce.

This continues to be a DHS leadership priority to ensure effective use of work schedules that support mission accomplishment. Given the wide array of DHS missions and locations, each DHS Component continuously assesses its in-office presence requirements and is empowered to make changes as mission dictates. As an example, FEMA issued guidance to its workforce increasing in-office presence from two days to four days per pay period to foster operational cohesion.

In the coming days, the DHS Chief Human Capital Officer will issue a memorandum to DHS Components, providing best practices for when in-person presence should be encouraged and sharing ways to maximize in-person presence to ensure meaningful interactions. Components will issue amplifying instructions to their workforces within 30 calendar days of receipt of the guidance. The memorandum also asks Components to ensure remote workers have up-to-date agreements with their locality pay matching their official duty station (typically their home address). The memo states that Components should seek to increase their in-person presence for things like team meetings, core days, all-employee meetings, on-boarding, mentorship, performance management, training, and the like.

3. Description of your agency's approach to tracking and ensuring implementation with policies. Agency responses here should outline how senior leaders are tracking implementation progress and ensuring that staff comply with stated agency policies, to include optimizing in-person and telework time.

DHS tracks our in-person presence on a bi-weekly basis. After each pay period, the DHS Management Directorate compiles timesheet data, reporting it to DHS leadership using OMB's Telework Data Call template. Additionally, telework data is shared bi-weekly with Components for review and resolution of any anomalies, and also reviewed with each Component's Human Capital Officer quarterly to discuss trends and upcoming changes to in-person posture. In addition to the data that OMB collects, DHS relies on the following two metrics to ensure compliance with the OMB memorandum: 1) hours worked in-person across all of DHS's headquarters-related employees nationally; and 2) headquarters-related personnel in the NCR conducting work in-person. We believe these metrics provide a more meaningful assessment of in-person presence than focusing only on those employees who telework.

DHS Workforce Environmental Implementation Update
Response to OMB BDR 24-24
May 31, 2024

- On March 5, 2024, CHCO Edwards's Memo was published and distributed to agency CHCOs. On March 5 and 6, 2024, the memo was distributed to Operational and HQ Components. See attachment.

- DHS Component Agencies and Offices subsequently amplified CHCO Edwards' Memo.

- As of Pay Period 8 (ending 5/4/2024), DHS is at 45% in-office hours for HQ and HQ-related employees in the NCR, as of June 1, 2024.

Department of Homeland Security
Telework Policy(s)

Homeland Security

March 5, 2024

MEMORANDUM FOR: Component Chief Human Capital Officers

FROM: Roland Edwards
Chief Human Capital Officer

SUBJECT: Increasing Meaningful In-Person Work

The Department continues to support Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Memorandum M-23-15, “Measuring, Monitoring, and Improving Organizational Health and Organizational Performance in the Context of Evolving Agency Work Environments” as it relates to expectations that agencies actively increase meaningful in-person work. All Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Components should likewise be working towards increasing their in-person presence, in particular for those who serve in Headquarters roles (non-frontline personnel) in the National Capital Region.

Thank you for your continued work to implement the memorandum Deputy Under Secretary for Management R. D. Alles sent to Component Heads on August 24, 2023, and my email to all employees on August 29, 2023, to ensure we are coding our time and attendance correctly to increase our data accuracy. As you know, agencies report telework data to OMB each pay period. We will continue to provide you reports showing any anomalies and appreciate your help in resolving such anomalies expeditiously. DHS has demonstrated a commendable commitment to this effort, with better quality data that shows a substantial majority of our workforce faithfully reporting to work sites daily or in accordance with their approved work agreements.

While we have focused quite a bit on ensuring accurate time and attendance tracking for employees on telework agreements, we are asking that you also ensure remote workers have up-to-date agreements with their locality pay matching their official duty station (typically their home address). As a Department, flexibility has continued to help us meet our mission, but we must carefully review and ensure the positions designated as remote are effective as remote positions. For instance, careful consideration and a process should be in place for at least a second level supervisor approval for supervisor and Executive-level positions to be designated as remote work eligible.

As we continue to support our employees and supervisors to structure their in-person work so that it is meaningful, we are providing the following guidance for implementation and amplification within your Component. To the extent that it is feasible and appropriate to do so, Components should seek to increase their in-person presence in accordance with the following:

1. Team meetings. Many teams now have in-person, telework, and remote work employees. In-person meetings should still be held with teleworking employees present and with technology used to include remote employees. This continues to build camaraderie and fosters information exchanges within and across teams.
2. Core days. Organizational units may find benefit in establishing core days. These days can be in-office days or core hours to ensure overlap of employees whose work could benefit from in-person collaboration. This may help drive innovation or facilitate development of junior employees. These days may also be used to foster collaboration between teams, cross-functional teams, or project based working groups.
3. All-employee meetings. Where feasible and as mission and budget allows, teams (including remote employees) should meet in-person at least quarterly to exchange ideas, onboard new employees, and promote the culture and cohesion of the organization. Components should consider opening up large conference spaces for use throughout DHS for those that do not have access to such space.
4. Onboarding new employees. Onboarding new employees, to include participation by leadership, team members, and the new employees, should occur in-person for all employees, with the exception of remote workers. As an additional option, in-person on-boarding for remote employees is useful for the initial orientation to an organization.
5. Junior staff development. When employees are beginning their career, there is often a desire not only to build subject matter competence, but also to develop their professional network. DHS continues to expand opportunities for entry level talent. Supervisors should ensure opportunities exist for in-person interactions between junior and more senior staff to support skill building and accelerate their ability to support the work of the team.
6. Mentoring and Coaching. While virtual mentoring and coaching is highly flexible, in-person connections help to establish and foster the mentor and coaching partnership. Mentors and coaches should seek to meet in-person quarterly as part of these high-value relationships.
7. Performance management. Supervisors should take the opportunity to meet in-person with employees for mid-year and annual performance feedback conversations. This allows the supervisor and employee the opportunity to discuss performance expectations, goals, performance, and accomplishments. Hosting these critical conversations in-person provides the opportunity for the supervisor to have the benefit of verbal and non-verbal feedback.
8. Training and development. As stewards of taxpayer funds, it is imperative that we find economical ways to continue providing high-quality training and development to our employees. Often, group rates for in-person classes are available, which can reduce cost. Additionally, not all learners thrive in a virtual environment. Providing opportunities for in-person training not only fosters the sharing of experiences and knowledge, but can also be a great team-building opportunity.
9. Team building. There are many ways to build team cohesion. As an example, DHS provides volunteer hours for employees that could be used to create team-building events in conjunction with a volunteer/service activity during normal working hours.
10. Problem-solving. When new teams or work groups are forming, or when there are particularly difficult problems that require innovation, supervisors should consider whether these are opportunities for in-person team or cross-functional team meetings to drive innovation more rapidly than can sometimes be achieved through virtual only interactions.

11. New guidance. The implementation of new policy guidance is an opportune time to bring teams together in person. This helps ensure a common understanding and provides the ability to hear questions and implementation strategies directly that can drive consistency.

The list above is not intended to be an exhaustive list of opportunities to foster meaningful in-person work, but rather, is a basis upon which Components should build your internal communications to your workforce. We expect Components to issue amplifying instructions to your workforce within 30 calendar days of receipt of this guidance.

The entire DHS workforce is mission focused. As you continue to review your performance metrics, please notify me at roland.edwards@hq.dhs.gov prior to announcing or implementing any changes to your in-office posture for your workforce. I am available to address any inquiries or concerns you may have regarding the specifics outlined in this memorandum. Thank you for your continued support in helping to create meaningful work environments that not only meet current challenges but also actively contribute to the sustained success of your Component and this Department.

Increasing Meaningful In-Person Work

Page 4

Distribution List

Assistant Commissioner, Office of Human Resources Management, U.S. Customs and Border Protection

Assistant Commandant of Human Resources, United States Coast Guard

Chief Human Capital Officer, United States Secret Service

Chief, Office of Human Capital and Training, U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services

Chief Human Capital Officer, Federal Emergency Management Agency

Assistant Administrator for Human Capital, Transportation Security Administration

Chief Human Capital Officer, U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement

Human Capital Officer, Federal Law Enforcement Training Centers

Chief Human Capital Officer, Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency

Human Resources Director, Office of the Inspector General

Executive Director, Human Resources Management and Services, Office of the Chief Human Capital Officer

cc:

Chief of Staff

Deputy Chief of Staff to the Secretary for Operations

Chief of Staff to the Acting Deputy Secretary

Under Secretary for Management

Under Secretary for Science and Technology

Under Secretary for Intelligence and Analysis

Under Secretary for Strategy, Policy, and Plans

Deputy Commissioner, U.S. Customs and Border Protection

Vice Commandant, United States Coast Guard

Deputy Director, United States Secret Service

Deputy Director, U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services

Deputy Administrator, Federal Emergency Management Agency

Deputy Assistant Secretary (Deputy Administrator), Transportation Security Administration

Deputy Assistant Secretary (Deputy Director), U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement

General Counsel

Inspector General

Executive Secretary

Deputy Director, Federal Law Enforcement Training Centers

Deputy Director, Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency

Assistant Secretary for Countering Weapons of Mass Destruction

Assistant Secretary for Legislative Affairs

Assistant Secretary for Public Affairs

Assistant Secretary for Partnership and Engagement

Director, Office of Homeland Security Situational Awareness

Chief Medical Officer (Director, Office of Health Security)

Officer for Civil Rights and Civil Liberties

Office of the Immigration Detention Ombudsman

Chief Privacy Officer

Citizenship and Immigration Services Ombudsman

Law Enforcement Advisor to the Secretary

Military Advisor to the Secretary

Increasing Meaningful In-Person Work
Page 5

Chief Financial Officer

Chief Human Capital Officer

Chief Information Officer

Chief Procurement Officer

Chief Readiness Support Officer

Chief Security Officer

Director, Federal Protective Service

Director, Office of Biometric Identity Management

Executive Director, Program Accountability and Risk Management

Department of Homeland Security
DHS Directives System
Directive Number: 123-05
Revision Number: 01
Issue Date: 2/11/2015
Telework Directive

I. Purpose

This Directive establishes the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) telework policy.

II. Scope

- A. This Directive applies to all civilian DHS employees meeting the definition of “employee” as defined in title 5, United States Code (U.S.C.) § 2105.
- B. This Directive supersedes Directive 123-05, Telework Directive.

III. Authority

Public Law (P.L.) 111-292, “Telework Enhancement Act of 2010,” December 9, 2010, as codified in Chapter 65 of Title 5 of the United States Code.

IV. Responsibilities

- A. DHS Chief Human Capital Officer (CHCO):
 - 1. Establishes the DHS policy and guidance related to telework, consistent with all applicable laws, regulations, Executive Orders, and DHS policies.
 - 2. Ensures all DHS Components comply with this Directive.
 - 3. Designates a DHS Telework Managing Officer (TMO) to implement the telework program DHS-wide.
 - 4. Comply with 5 U.S.C. § 6506 (d), submitting an annual report to the Chief Human Capital Officer’s Council.
- B. Component Heads or Their Designees:
 - 1. Support telework within their respective Components, consistent with accomplishing their missions.

2. Establish Component-specific telework guidelines to implement this Directive within their respective Components.
3. Ensure telework implementation is coordinated among all Component program offices with a shared responsibility for an effective telework program.
4. Designate a Component representative to serve as the telework point of contact for the DHS TMO on all matters related to telework.
5. Ensure employees are notified of their eligibility to telework.
6. Establish specific parameters regarding the process for recalling employees to their regular worksite, to include the amount of notice to be provided to an employee.

C. Executive Director, Headquarters Human Resources Management and Services assumes the responsibilities listed under section IV.B. for all support Components with the exception of the National Protection and Programs Directorate (NPPD), the Office of Inspector General (OIG), and the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center (FLETC).

D. Heads of NPPD, OIG, and FLETC assume the responsibilities listed under section IV.B. for their respective support Component.

E. DHS Telework Managing Officer (TMO):

1. Serves as an advisor for agency leadership, including the CHCO, on telework issues.
2. Serves as the primary point of contact for the U.S. Office of Personnel Management (OPM) on telework issues.
3. Serves as a resource for managers and employees on telework matters.
4. Monitors and assesses Component telework implementation, and provides consultative assistance to Components on matters related to telework.
5. Develops and administers a DHS-wide tracking system for compliance with internal and external telework reporting requirements, and prepares reports for OPM and other oversight agencies.

V. Policy and Requirements

- A. Telework Availability: It is DHS policy to make telework available to eligible employees to the maximum extent possible without diminished employee performance or agency operations.
- B. Telework Benefits: Telework can be an effective strategy for accomplishing the DHS mission and maximizing government operations during emergencies; recruiting and retaining talent; enabling employees to better manage their work and family/life obligations; and achieving cost savings for both the Department and employees. Telework can also benefit the environment by decreasing energy consumption, traffic congestion, and pollution.
- C. Continuity of Operations: Telework is an integral part of DHS plans for continuing operations during all emergencies and events, including pandemic health crises, localized acts of nature, accidents, technology-related emergencies, and natural or man-made disasters. During any period that DHS is operating under a continuity of operations plan, that plan supersedes this Directive.
- D. Management Approval: Telework participation is not an employee entitlement or right. Telework is an additional method that management may utilize to accomplish work; therefore, telework participation is within the discretion of management, consistent with DHS and Component telework policies.
- E. Voluntary Participation: Employee participation in the Telework Program is voluntary. While participation in the Telework Program is voluntary, once an employee elects to telework, compliance with the requirements of a written telework agreement is not. An employee covered by a telework agreement may telework outside of his/her normal schedule because of a mission imperative, or during temporary emergency or closure situations, provided such requirement is addressed in the telework agreement.
- F. Notification of Telework Eligibility: Supervisors notify employees of their eligibility to telework.
- G. Telework Eligibility: All DHS positions are eligible to be considered for telework except for those that require on a daily basis:
1. Direct handling of secure materials determined to be inappropriate for telework by the Component Head, and/or
 2. Performance of on-site activity that cannot be handled remotely or at an alternate worksite.
- H. Limitations on Telework Eligibility: Employees who are subject to the limitations included in 5 U.S.C. § 6502 (a)(2) are ineligible for telework, independent of the duties of their position.

I. Telework Participation:

1. To be able to telework, an employee's position is identified by management as "telework eligible" and the employee is approved by his/her supervisor or other designated approving official for telework participation.
2. Components may establish additional Component-specific participation criteria (performance, conduct, etc.).

J. Telework Agreements: In accordance with 5 U.S.C. § 6502 (b)(2), a signed agreement between the supervisor and employee is needed for participation in any telework arrangement.

K. Denial or Termination of Telework Agreements and Appeals: Components are mandated to report to the Office of the Chief Human Capital Officer all denials or terminations of telework agreements, including the reasons for the denials or terminations. Denials or termination of telework agreement must be in writing and include the basis for denial or termination, which is limited to participation criteria and/or business-related, operational needs, and, in the case of termination, failure to meet the terms and conditions of the telework agreement. If the employee wishes to appeal the denial or termination, he/she uses either the negotiated grievance procedure (if in a bargaining unit and if applicable) or the administrative grievance procedure.

L. Dependent Care: Telework is not a substitute for dependent care. Teleworkers make other arrangements for dependent care.

M. Telework Training: In accordance with 5 U.S.C. § 6503, eligible employees and supervisors of eligible employees must complete telework training before the employee's telework commences. Employees who have been teleworking on a regular basis before the effective date of this Directive may be exempted from this requirement.

N. Equal Treatment: In accordance with 5 U.S.C. § 6503 (a)(3), teleworkers and non-teleworkers are treated the same for purposes of work requirements, performance management, awards and recognition, training opportunities, promotion, and other acts of managerial discretion.

O. Return to Regular Worksite: Management reserves the right to require a teleworker to return to the regular worksite on his/her scheduled telework day(s), based on business-related, operational needs.

P. Supplemental Telework Guidance: Telework guidance developed by DHS Components, support Components, or individual offices, comply with this Directive.

VI. Questions

Address questions or concerns regarding this Directive to the Office of the Chief Human Capital Officer.

Chip Fulghum
Acting Deputy Under Secretary for Management

FEB 11 2015

Date

Telework Program

I. Purpose

This Instruction implements the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Directive 123-05, Revision 01, Telework Directive.

II. Scope

This Instruction applies to all civilian DHS employees meeting the definition of “employee” as defined in title 5, United States Code (U.S.C.) § 2105.

III. References

- A. Public Law (P.L.) 111-292, “Telework Enhancement Act of 2010,” December 9, 2010, as codified in Chapter 65 of Title 5 of the United States Code.
- B. Section 359 of P.L. 106-346, “Department of Transportation and Related Agencies Appropriations Act of 2001,” October 23, 2000.
- C. P.L. 103-172, “Federal Employees Clean Air Incentive Act,” December 2, 1993
- D. Title 5, United States Code (U.S.C.) § 552a, The Privacy Act of 1974
- E. 5 U.S.C. § 6506(d) Chapter 65, Telework Reports
- F. 44 U.S.C., Chapters 21, 29, 31 and 33, The Federal Records Act of 1950
- G. 5 U.S.C., Chapter 81, Federal Employees’ Compensation Act (FECA)
- H. Title 5, Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) § 531.605, Determining an Employee’s Official Worksite
- I. Executive Order (EO) 13514, Federal Leadership in Environmental, Energy, and Economic Performance, October 5, 2009
- J. U.S. Office of Personnel Management (OPM), Guide to Telework in the Federal Government, April 2011

- K. OPM, Pandemic Information
- L. Federal Management Regulation (FMR) Bulletin 2006-B3, "Guidelines for Alternative Workplace Arrangements," March 17, 2006
- M. FMR Bulletin 2007-B1, "Information Technology and Telecommunications Guidelines for Federal Telework and Other Alternative Workplace Arrangement Programs," March 2, 2007
- N. Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Memorandum, "Protection of Sensitive Agency Information," June 23, 2006
- O. OMB Memorandum M-11-27, Implementing the Telework Enhancement Act of 2010: Security Guidelines, July 15, 2011
- P. OMB Memorandum M-11-20, Implementing Telework Enhancement Act of 2010 IT Purchasing Requirements, April 28, 2011
- Q. DHS Directive 9300.1, Continuity of Operations Programs and Continuity of Government Programs, July 12, 2004
- R. DHS Directive 140-01, Information Technology Systems Security, July 31, 2007
- S. Directive 047-01, Privacy Policy and Compliance, and Instruction 047-01-001
- T. DHS Privacy Incident Handling Guidance (2012)
- U. DHS Directive 0731, Strategically Sourced Commodities Policy and Procedures, August 2, 2004
- V. DHS Directive 123-05, Revision 01, Telework Directive
- W. DHS Sensitive Systems Directive Policy 4300 A, as amended May 20, 2013
- X. DHS Directive 250-05, Designation of Essential and Exempt Personnel, July 11, 2012

IV. Definitions

- A. Alternate Worksite: An approved location where official duties are performed away from the regular worksite. An alternate worksite may be the employee's residence, a telework center, a satellite office or another approved location.

- B. Component: Refer to DHS Directive 252-01, Organization of the Department of Homeland Security.
- C. Continuity Facility: Locations other than the regular worksite used to carry out essential functions during continuity of operations events. In some cases, an employee's residence or other virtual office options may be designated as continuity facilities.
- D. Continuity of Operations (COOP): A program where, in the event of any of a wide range of emergencies, including localized acts of nature, pandemic health crisis, accidents, technological-related emergencies, and natural or man-made disasters, federal agencies continue certain essential functions with little or no interruption.
- E. Core Telework: Telework that occurs on a routine, regular, recurring basis on one or more days per pay period. Also known as "routine telework."
- F. Official Worksite: The location where the work activities of the employee's position of record are based, as determined by the employing Component. An employee's official worksite is the worksite documented on the employee's Notification of Personnel Action (Standard Form 50 or equivalent).
- G. Operational Component: Refer to DHS Directive 252-01, Organization of the Department of Homeland Security.
- H. Personally Identifiable Information (PII) means any information that permits the identity of an individual to be directly or indirectly inferred, including other information that is linked or linkable to an individual.
- I. Regular Worksite: The place where the employee would normally work absent a telework agreement.
- J. Situational Telework: Telework that occurs on an occasional, non-routine basis. Situational telework includes, but is not limited to, telework that occurs on a temporary basis while an employee is recovering from an injury or illness; as a result of special work assignments; or when the regular worksite is closed due to COOP/pandemic health crisis or other emergency situations. Situational telework includes "unscheduled telework," which refers to telework that occurs on day(s) a teleworker was not scheduled in advance to telework.
- K. Support Component: Refer to DHS Directive 252-01, Organization of the Department of Homeland Security.
- K. Telework: A flexible work arrangement under which employees perform the duties and responsibilities of their positions from an approved alternate worksite.

L. Telework Agreement: A written agreement of the terms and conditions of the telework arrangement that is completed and signed by the participating employee and his/her supervisor (and/or designated approving official).

M. Telework Eligible: The determination that a position is suitable for telework, based on the duties of the position. Employees who occupy positions that are telework eligible may be considered for telework participation, subject to management approval. Generally, employees in positions that involve onsite work or those in positions requiring regular access to classified information are not eligible to telework.

N. Telework-Ready Employees: Employees in telework-eligible positions with signed telework agreements who have the telework essentials (e.g., technology, power, internet access, etc.), that enable them to telework at their alternate location.

O. Tour of Duty: The hours of a day (a daily tour of duty) and the days of an administrative workweek (a weekly tour of duty) that constitute an employee's regularly scheduled administrative workweek, as determined by the employing Component.

V. Responsibilities

A. DHS Chief Human Capital Officer (CHCO):

1. Establishes the DHS policy and guidance related to telework, consistent with all applicable laws, regulations, Executive Orders, and DHS policies.
2. Ensures that all DHS Components comply with DHS Directive 123-05, Revision 01, and this Instruction.
3. Designates a DHS Telework Managing Officer (TMO) to implement the telework program DHS-wide.
4. Comply with 5 U.S.C. § 6506 (d), submitting an annual report to the Chief Human Capital Officer's Council

B. Component Heads or Their Designees:

1. Support telework within their respective Components, consistent with accomplishing their missions.

2. Establish Component-specific telework guidelines to implement Directive 123-05, Revision 01, and this Instruction, within their respective Components.
3. Ensure telework implementation is coordinated among all Component program offices with a shared responsibility for an effective telework program.
4. Designate a Component representative to serve as the telework point of contact for the DHS TMO on all matters related to telework.
5. Ensure employees are notified of their eligibility to telework.

C. Executive Director, Headquarters Human Resources Management and Services assume the responsibilities listed under section V.B. for all support Components with the exception of the National Protection and Programs Directorate (NPPD), the Office of Inspector General (OIG), and the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center (FLETC).

D. Heads of NPPD, OIG, and FLETC assume the responsibilities listed under section V.B. for their respective support Component.

E. DHS Chief Readiness Support Officer (CRSO) develops and maintains workplace and workspace strategies that fully support the DHS mission and provides DHS-wide guidance in support of the mobile employee and telework.

F. DHS Chief Information Officer (CIO):

A. Develops and maintains strategies and provides DHS-wide guidance for enterprise information technology capabilities to support telework.

B. Ensures Government Furnished Equipment is configured to protect information owned or maintained by DHS against unauthorized access, use, modification, or destruction while teleworking.

G. DHS Chief Procurement Officer (CPO) coordinates with the DHS CIO and Component representatives to develop and execute DHS-wide contract vehicles and maximizes the use of federal-wide contract vehicles for telework-related technology and services, consistent with strategic sourcing principles and best practices.

H. DHS Telework Managing Officer (TMO):

1. Serves as an advisor for agency leadership, including the CHCO, on telework issues.

2. Serves as the primary point of contact for the U.S. Office of Personnel Management (OPM) on telework issues.
3. Serves as a resource for managers and employees on telework matters.
4. Monitors and assesses Component telework implementation and provides consultative assistance to Components on all matters related to telework.
5. Develops and administers a DHS-wide tracking system for compliance with internal and external telework reporting requirements and prepares reports for OPM and other oversight agencies.

I. Supervisors/Management Officials:

1. Comply with the provisions of DHS Directive 123-05, Revision 01, this Instruction, all applicable Component telework guidelines, and the terms and conditions of signed telework agreements.
2. Notify employees of their eligibility to telework.
3. Provide opportunities for employees to telework within the constraints of the organization's resources, workflow, and mission.
4. Ensure participating employees adhere to all applicable security provisions to protect government records (electronic and paper) from unauthorized disclosure, damage, or destruction; the requirements of the Privacy Act and the Federal Records Act; and all DHS and Component information security policies and procedures.
5. Approve, disapprove, review, modify or terminate employee's participation in the telework program.
6. Evaluate the impact of telework on the efficiency and effectiveness of work operations within their organization.

J. Employees who Telework:

1. Comply with the provisions of DHS Directive 123-05, Revision 01, and this Instruction.
2. Comply with all applicable Component telework guidelines, and the terms and conditions of their telework agreements.

3. Comply with all security provisions to protect government records (electronic and paper) from unauthorized disclosure, damage, or destruction.
4. Comply with the requirements of the Privacy Act, the requirements of Directive 047-01 and Instruction 047-01-001; and the Federal Records Act.
5. Comply with all DHS and Component information security policies and procedures.
6. Ensure that teleworking does not have a negative impact on the employee's performance or the organization's operations.
7. Ensure their telework arrangement does not have a negative impact on the work of other members of the workgroup (i.e., co-workers, supervisors) or on customers.

VI. Content and Procedures

A. Telework Eligibility Notification: Components are required to notify all employees of their eligibility to telework. Component telework policies will describe a reasonable timeframe in which newly hired employees will be notified of their eligibility to telework.

B. Telework Agreements:

1. Requests to telework are initiated by the employee, approved by his/her supervisor (and/or designated approving official) and formalized in a written or electronic telework agreement. Components establish and issue Component-specific procedures for requesting telework arrangements, approving/disapproving requests, terminating telework arrangements, appealing denial or termination decisions, and maintaining telework records.
2. All requests to telework will be responded to within twenty (20) calendar days of the request.
3. A signed telework agreement between the employee and his/her supervisor (and/or designated approving official) is necessary for all telework arrangements, including situational telework. Emergency Relocation Group (ERG)/mission-critical employees who may be expected to work from home or other virtual office locations during a COOP/pandemic event maintain current signed telework agreements in place.

4. Telework agreements reevaluated and updated annually (e.g., in conjunction with the issuance of the annual performance plan), and on an as-needed basis. A new or updated telework agreement created is when a new employee/supervisor relationship is established or when there is a change in the condition of work or in the terms and conditions of the telework arrangement (i.e., schedule, location, etc.). The frequency and conditions warranting reevaluation and update or renewal of existing agreements are included in the telework agreement.

5. A telework agreement includes, at a minimum, the following provisions:

- a. Participating employee and approving official names;
- b. Alternate worksite address and contact information;
- c. Location of the official worksite. If a change in official worksite is necessary, include a statement of impact on locality-based pay entitlements, travel expenses and allowances, reduction-in-force competitive determinations, etc.;
- d. Telework schedule, if telework is expected to occur on a regular, recurring basis;
- e. The procedure and conditions for terminating a telework agreement;
- f. Requirements to complete telework training, preparing a personal preparedness plan for the alternate worksite, and assessing the safety of the alternate worksite;
- g. Government-furnished equipment (GFE), supplies, and services provided to the employee for the purposes of telework, and information on installation, maintenance, and repair, and rules about use of GFE. Include a statement that the Government is not responsible or liable for any operating costs or liability to the employee's personal or real property associated with the employee using his/her residence as the alternate worksite;
- h. A statement that employees apply approved safeguards to protect Government records from unauthorized disclosure, damage or destruction, and that they notify the designated oversight official when loss or compromise occurs;
- i. A statement regarding expectations in the event of the closure of Federal offices or dismissal of Federal employees.

j. An acknowledgement that, when the alternate worksite is the employee's residence, the employee agrees to provide and maintain a safe work environment that is adequate for performing official duties;

k. A statement regarding Federal Employee's Compensation Act (FECA) coverage, and the employee and supervisor's responsibilities, if the employee is injured in the course of performing official duties at the alternate worksite;

l. Time and attendance procedures for documenting the hours worked from the alternate worksite;

m. A statement that employees may be obligated to share workspaces/workstations on the days they are working at the regular worksite;

n. Contingency plans for dismissal or closure of the regular worksite, and any requirements to telework outside of the employee's normal telework schedule during COOP/Pandemic or other emergency situations;

o. Agreements and expectations addressing returning to the regular worksite on a scheduled telework day; and

p. Components may include a self-certifying safety checklist in the telework agreement.

C. Denial or Termination of Telework Agreements and Appeals:

1. Telework agreements can be terminated by either management or by the employee.

2. When a telework request is denied or terminated (by management), the supervisor informs the employee of the reason for denial or termination. Denials and terminations of existing telework agreements are also documented in writing.

3. The reason provided for denial or termination are based on business-related, operational needs, participation criteria (e.g., performance, conduct, etc.), or the failure to meet the terms and conditions of the telework agreement.

4. If the employee wishes to appeal the denial or termination, he/she may use either the negotiated grievance procedure (if in a bargaining unit and if applicable) or the applicable administrative grievance procedure.

D. Telework Training:

1. Interactive telework training is a prerequisite for all eligible employees who choose to telework and all supervisors of teleworkers.

2. Interactive telework training for employees includes the following topics:

a. Benefits of telework;

b. Desired teleworker skills, including use of telework technology;

c. Instruction on methods for accomplishing work and ensuring telework success, including effective communication and collaboration techniques with supervisors, co-workers, and customers;

d. Teleworker responsibilities, e.g., understanding and adhering to the DHS and Component telework guidelines and the terms and conditions of the signed telework agreement; and

e. Continuity of operations plans and contingency planning for situations that may require telework.

3. Interactive training for supervisors includes at a minimum, the following topics:

a. Benefits of telework;

b. Provisions of DHS Directive 123-05, Revision 01, and this Instruction, as well as Component-specific guidance;

c. Supervisor's roles and responsibilities for establishing the framework for a successful telework arrangement, including effective communication strategies and techniques for managing by results; and

d. Continuity of operations plans and contingency planning for situations that may require telework.

4. The following employees may be exempt from the requirement to attend telework training:

- a. DHS employees who have been teleworking on a regular basis prior to the effective date of DHS Directive 123-05, Revision 01; or
- b. Employees who transferred from another federal government agency and were previously under a telework agreement.

5. Components may specify additional training requirements in their Component-specific telework guidelines, as appropriate.

E. Telework Equipment and Services:

1. Within budget and technology constraints, Components provide technology/equipment and technical support to enable telework participation.
2. Employees are accountable for any Government Furnished Equipment (GFE) issued to them, in accordance with established DHS and Component policies and procedures.
3. Components are responsible for the maintenance of and repair of GFE in the possession of a teleworker. Teleworking employees notify their supervisor immediately following a malfunction of GFE. If repairs are extensive, the employee reports to the regular worksite until equipment is usable, or may utilize an approved alternative technology (e.g., personal computer enabled with PIV card reader and remote access program) if available.
4. The Government is not liable for damages to an employee's personal or real property while the employee is working at the approved alternate worksite, except to the extent the government is held liable by the Federal Tort Claims Act or the Military Personnel and Civilian Employees Claims Act.
5. The government is not responsible for any operating costs that are associated with the employee using his or her residence as an alternate worksite, for example, home maintenance, insurance, or utilities.
6. An employee working at an alternate worksite continues to be entitled to reimbursement for authorized expenses incurred while conducting business for the government, as provided by law and regulations.

F. Information Security, Privacy and Records Management:

1. Employees comply with DHS and Component security policies when accessing systems, following prescribed guidelines regarding encrypted point-to-point VPN connections, encrypted hard drives, critical data storage, access limitations, and bandwidth requirements. DHS security policy requirements include, but are not limited to:
 - a. All electronic devices that carry agency For Official Use Only (FOUO) data are encrypted in accordance with DHS Directive 4300 A, Sensitive Systems Policy, when storing or transmitting data outside the DHS network; and
 - b. All electronic devices that carry agency personally identifiable information (PII) data are encrypted in accordance with DHS Directive 4300 A, Sensitive Systems Policy, when storing or transmitting data outside the DHS network.
2. Removal of classified material or data, or other information prohibited by law from disclosure, such as Sensitive Security Information, from the regular worksite to alternate worksite locations is strictly prohibited.
3. Employees ensure records subject to the Privacy Act and the Federal Records Act, and sensitive or classified data are not disclosed to anyone except those who are authorized access to such information in order to perform their duties.
4. Employees with access to records subject to the Privacy Act and Federal Records Act at the alternate worksite provide appropriate administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to ensure the security and confidentiality of the records.
5. Employees protect personally identifiable information by following DHS privacy policy in accordance with DHS Directive 047-01, Privacy Policy and Compliance.
6. DHS policy only allows the downloading and storage of PII on DHS-owned equipment or systems and authorized support contractor systems. Storage of PII on unauthorized non-DHS-owned equipment and mobile devices is prohibited. Information subject to the Privacy Act is processed, transmitted and stored on GFE in accordance with DHS Directive 4300 A, Sensitive Systems Policy and any applicable Component policies.

7. Employees comply with the DHS Privacy Incident Handling Guidance and immediately report to their supervisor, the Component Help Desk, and the Component Information Systems Security Managers/Information System Security Officers. any known or suspected security incident involving the theft, loss, or unauthorized disclosure of information or an information system device, as well as the theft, loss, unauthorized disclosure or accidental destruction of printed materials.

G. COOP/Pandemic Health Crisis and Other Emergencies:

1. Components ensure telework is an integral part of their plans for continuing operations during COOP/pandemic health crisis or other emergencies leading to shutdown of government operations.

2. In accordance with the DHS Directive 250-05, Designation of Essential and Exempt Personnel, Components identify and prioritize mission-essential functions and employees who are expected to function from continuity facilities and ensure that employees are adequately equipped, trained, and prepared to telework during COOP/pandemic health crisis or other emergencies leading to shutdown of government operations.

3. ERG/mission-critical employees who may be expected to work from an alternate location during COOP/pandemic health crisis or other emergencies are prerequisite to have telework agreements in place.

4. At various alert levels of pandemic health crisis, Components may use telework as a social distancing strategy to the maximum extent possible.

5. Components prepare and position situational teleworkers to be telework-ready in the event of an emergency.

6. In the event of ordered evacuation, employees, regardless of their telework status, may work from their residence or other alternate locations approved as safe havens.

H. Personal Preparedness Plans: Teleworkers should prepare a personal preparedness plan for their alternate worksite, per guidance available at www.ready.gov. The plan includes emergency contact information, an emergency go-kit, a family communication plan, and plans for emergency situations, which may impact the alternate worksite (e.g., employee's residence).

I. Dismissal or Closure Procedures for Telework-Ready Employees:

1. Conditions impacting the employee's official worksite:

a. When dismissal or closure procedures are in effect at the employee's regular worksite on the day(s) an employee is scheduled to telework, the employee continues to work his/her regular tour of duty at the alternate worksite.

b. If the government is closed, telework-ready employees may be obligated to work at their alternate location, unless the exceptions in section VI.I.1.c. (or any corresponding Component-specific policies and guidance) apply.

c. If, while working at the alternate worksite on the day(s) the regular worksite is closed, the employee is unable to work due to disruption to the alternate worksite (e.g., electricity, infrastructure, or connectivity issues) or other factors that prevent the employee from working successfully (e.g., no alternative childcare or eldercare is available), the employee immediately notifies his/her supervisor. In such circumstances, the supervisor should authorize excused absence to affected employees, on a case-by-case basis.

2. Conditions impacting the employee's alternate worksite only: If, while working at the alternate worksite, the employee is unable to work due to emergencies or other factors impacting the alternate worksite for a major portion of the workday, the employee notifies his/her supervisor. In such event, the supervisor may require the teleworking employee to report to the regular worksite, approve leave, or on a case-by-case basis authorize excused absence.

3. During weather-related and other situations, employees in the Washington, DC area follow the OPM Washington, DC, Area Dismissal and Closure Procedures, and any Component-specific policies and guidance. Employees in other major metropolitan areas follow the guidance issued by the Federal Executive Board as well as Component-specific guidance.

4. Extended closures: For situations that involve closures due to national security, extended emergencies, or other unique situations, management issues specific instructions to all employees, including those who are working under a telework agreement.

5. Telework may be used in combination with leave on any given day, including temporary emergency or closure situations, provided that it is consistent with the terms of the written telework agreement and approved by the supervisor.

6. Managers/supervisors discuss closure and dismissal scenarios with teleworkers in advance and integrate work expectations in the telework agreement. Telework-ready employees are expected to be prepared to telework in the event of an anticipated closure or dismissal announcement in accordance with the terms of the signed telework agreement.

J. Official Worksite Determination:

1. The official worksite is the location of an employee's position of record and is usually the same as the regular worksite. Components determine and designate the official worksite for employees covered by telework agreements on a case-by-case basis using the following criteria:

a. The official worksite for an employee covered by a telework agreement is the regular worksite when the employee is scheduled to physically report to the regular worksite at least twice each bi-weekly pay period, on a regular, recurring basis.

b. The official worksite for an employee covered by a telework agreement is the alternate worksite when the employee is not scheduled to physically report to the regular worksite at least twice each bi-weekly pay period, on a regular, recurring basis.

c. In certain temporary situations, Components may designate the location of the regular worksite as the official worksite of an employee covered by a telework agreement, when the employee is unable to report to the regular worksite at least twice each bi-weekly pay period on a regular, recurring basis. Exceptions are limited to situations in which an employee is temporarily unable to physically report to the regular worksite for reasons such as when the employee is recovering from an injury or is affected by an emergency (severe weather emergency, pandemic health crisis, etc.) that prevents the employee from commuting to the regular worksite.

2. Supervisors consult and coordinate with their servicing human resources representative to ensure that the employee's official worksite is properly documented on the employee's Notification of Personnel Action (SF-50) or equivalent. Employees also have a duty to alert their supervisor and servicing human resources representative to correct inaccuracies on the SF-50.

3. When an employee's official worksite is changed, the affected employee and his/her supervisor discuss the implications of the reassignment, to include:

- a. Certain location-based pay entitlements (e.g., locality pay, special rate supplements, and non-foreign area cost of living allowances, etc.) are based on the location of the employee's official worksite.
- b. Reimbursement for official business travel is based on the location of the employee's official worksite. For example, when an employee whose alternate worksite is outside the commuting area of the regular worksite is essential to travel to the regular worksite, the location of the employee's official worksite determines whether the employee or the Component pays for the necessary travel.
- c. Generally, relocation expenses are not authorized if the decision to change the official worksite is at the employee's request.
- d. Generally, the official worksite is used to identify the competitive area during reduction-in-force determinations.

K. Performance Management

- 1. Performance standards and performance management practices for teleworking employees are the same as those for employees who do not telework.
- 2. Supervisors clearly communicate their expectations for employee performance and accountability, including their expectations regarding office coverage, communication, and availability.
- 3. Declines in performance may be grounds for terminating the telework agreement

L. Teleworker Parity: Supervisors ensure that teleworkers and non-teleworkers are treated the same for purposes of all work requirements, performance management, awards and recognition, training opportunities, promotion, and other acts of supervisory discretion.

M. Workspace/Workstation Sharing: Teleworkers may share workspaces/workstations while working at the regular worksite. A workspace/workstation sharing arrangement may involve employees sharing one office/cubicle or use of unassigned workstations set aside for shared use by teleworkers.

N. Return to Regular Worksite: Employees may be directed to report to the regular worksite on a scheduled telework day(s), based on operational needs and requirements. When establishing a telework agreement, the expectations regarding returns to the regular worksite are discussed (for example, amount of notice, whether or not a request to telework on an alternate day within the same period may be accommodated, etc.).

O. Safe Work Environment:

1. It is the employees' responsibility to ensure and maintain a safe work environment when their alternate worksite is their residence.
2. Employees designate appropriate space at their residence as the alternate workstation and inspect the area for overall safety.
3. Components provide a safety checklist to help employees assess the overall safety of the alternate worksite, and require employees to self-certify that the alternate worksite is safe, prior to commencing telework. The safety checklist is expected to include the following items:
 - a. Are temperatures, noise, ventilation, and lighting levels adequate to maintain your normal level of job performance?
 - b. Are all stairs with four or more steps equipped with handrails?
 - c. Are all circuit breakers and/or fuses in the electrical panel labeled as to intended service?
 - d. Do circuit breakers clearly indicate if they are in the open or closed position?
 - e. Is all electrical equipment free of recognized hazards that would cause physical harm (frayed wires, bare conductors, loose wires, flexible wires running through walls, exposed wires to the ceiling)?
 - f. Is the building's electrical system permits the grounding of electrical equipment?
 - g. Are aisles, doorways, and corners free of obstructions to permit visibility and movement?
 - h. Are file cabinets and storage closets arranged so drawers and doors do not open into walkways?

- i. Do chairs have secure casters (wheels) and are the rungs and legs of the chairs sturdy?
- j. Are the phone lines, electrical cords, and extension wires secured under a desk or alongside a baseboard?
- k. Is the office space neat, clean, and free of excessive amounts of combustibles?
- l. Are carpets well secured to the floor and free of frayed or worn seams?
- m. Is there enough light for reading?
- n. Is your chair adjustable?
- o. Do you know how to adjust your chair?
- p. Is your back adequately supported by a backrest?
- q. Are your feet on the floor or fully supported by a footrest?
- r. Are you satisfied with placement of your monitor and keyboard?
- s. Is it easy to read the text on your screen?
- t. Do you need a document holder?
- u. Do you have enough leg room at your desk?
- v. Is the screen free from noticeable glare?
- w. Is the top of the screen eye level?
- x. Is there space to rest the arms while not typing?
- y. When typing, are your forearms close to parallel with the floor?
- z. Are your wrists fairly straight when typing?

P. Worksite Inspection: Components are entitled to inspect the employee's alternate worksite during the employee's normal working hours to ensure proper maintenance of GFE and conformance with safety standards, and/or to investigate reported accidents/injuries, as appropriate. Components should provide sufficient advance notification to employees of scheduled worksite inspections.

Q. Work Injuries: Teleworking employees are covered by the FECA \(5 U.S.C. Chapter 81\) for continuation of pay or workers' compensation for on-the-job injury or occupational illnesses sustained in the course of performing official duties at the alternate worksite. In the event of an on-the-job injury or occupational illness:

1. A teleworking employee notifies his/her supervisor immediately of any accident or injury that occurs at the alternate worksite and completes any forms.
2. Management investigates reported accidents and/or injuries, including inspecting the alternate worksite.

R. Telework Program Linkage to Other Programs: Telework programs can be leveraged to further the goals of other programs and initiatives, including:

1. Reasonable accommodation for disabilities: Allowing an individual with a disability to work at home (i.e., telework) may be a form of reasonable accommodation. Requests to telework as a reasonable accommodation are processed in accordance with each Component's reasonable accommodation policies and procedures.
2. Protection and enhancement of environmental quality: Telework supports efforts to reduce greenhouse gas emissions (see Executive Order 13514) by helping reduce traffic congestion and improve air quality (see Federal Employees Clean Air Incentive Act).
3. Improved recruitment and retention of talent.
4. Enhanced flexibility for employees to manage their work and family/life obligations.
5. Real estate cost savings: Mobile work, including telework, can facilitate workspace/workstation sharing, thereby reducing office space needs, and decreasing real estate costs.

S. Telework Metrics to Assess and Improve Telework Programs: Components to provide telework data in response to OPM and DHS requests and requirements for metrics to assess the impact of telework programs. Telework metrics include, but are not limited to:

1. The total number of employees in the Component, the number and percent of employees who are eligible to telework, and the number and percent of eligible employees who are teleworking:

- a. Three or more days per pay period;
- b. Two days per pay period;
- c. One day per pay period;
- d. Once per month; and
- e. On an occasional, episodic, or short-term basis.

2. An assessment of the progress made in meeting other Component goals relating to telework, such as the impact of telework on:

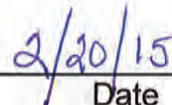

- a. Emergency readiness;
- b. Energy use;
- c. Recruitment and retention;
- d. Performance;
- e. Productivity; and
- f. Employee attitudes and opinions regarding telework.

VII. Questions

Address questions or concerns regarding this Instruction to the Office of the Chief Human Capital Officer.

Catherine V. Emerson
Chief Human Capital Officer

Date

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

CBP DIRECTIVE NUMBER: 51250-023

EFFECTIVE DATE: October 28, 2022

ORIGINATING OFFICE: HRM

SUPERSEDES: CBP Telework
Directive Number 51250-020, dated June 18, 2020

REVIEW DATE: October 2024

CBP TELEWORK AND REMOTE WORK PROGRAM for Non-Bargaining Unit Employees
(Employees not subject to a Collective Bargaining Unit Agreement)

1 PURPOSE

1.1 To set forth the provisions and establish policy and procedures for administering the Telework and Remote Work Program for Non-Bargaining Unit Employees (NBUEs) within U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP). The CBP Telework and Remote Work Program for NBUEs is intended to support:

- Continuity of operations during emergency conditions;
- Work efficiencies and the execution of operations;
- Recruitment and retention;
- Reduction in real estate and transit costs for both the agency and the employee; and,
- Enhanced work-life balance.

2 POLICY

2.1 The CBP Telework and Remote Work Program is important for workplace flexibility in support of the mission and goals of CBP. Program offices have the discretion to incorporate telework and remote work into their strategic and operational plans without diminishing employee performance or mission accomplishment.

2.2 Telework and remote work are arrangements established to facilitate the accomplishment of the CBP mission. The ability of an employee to telework or work remotely and the extent the employee is authorized to do so, is governed by the provisions of this directive and is at the discretion of management. An employee's participation in a telework arrangement is voluntary unless directed or required during a Continuity of Operations (COOP) activation, while the employee is in an evacuation status, or during a declaration of pandemic health crisis by the appropriate government authorities.

2.3 CBP will provide remote workers, teleworkers, and non-teleworkers the same rights, responsibilities, and expectations for purposes of work requirements, performance management, awards and recognition, training opportunities, promotion, and other personnel actions under the purview of managerial discretion. CBP managers should implement this directive with the following considerations in mind:

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

- Location of the duties and responsibilities of the position and not exclusively managerial or employee preference;
- Alignment of flexible workplace programs with mission goals of each work unit, as well as individual employee needs, when possible; and,
- The duties and responsibilities an employee may conduct which would allow eligibility for at least situational/episodic telework.

2.4 Employees must have a current and approved telework or remote work agreement in place to participate. CBP employees may be approved for situational/episodic telework, core telework, local remote work, or distant remote work. An employee who has a core telework agreement in place is eligible for both regular, recurring telework, and situational/episodic telework. Remote work requires its own distinct agreement.

2.5 When CBP’s Continuity Plan is activated or there is a declaration of a pandemic health crisis by the appropriate government authorities, Agency determinations for telework and remote work shall supersede this CBP Telework and Remote Work Program Directive.

3 BACKGROUND AND SCOPE

3.1 CBP implements the Telework and Remote Work Program in accordance with the Public Law (P.L.) 111-292, “Telework Enhancement Act of 2010,” and subsequent guidance from the Office of Personnel Management (OPM), including but not limited to, “2021 Guide to Telework and Remote Work in the Federal Government: Leveraging Telework and Remote Work in the Federal Government to Better Meet Our Human Capital Needs and Improve Mission Delivery.”

3.2 This directive applies to non-bargaining unit CBP federal employees as defined in 5 U.S.C. § 2105. Telework for bargaining unit employees is detailed in the respective collective bargaining agreements.

3.3 All contractors, employees of contractors, and others who regularly work in CBP spaces but who are not federal employees, are not covered by this directive.

4 AUTHORITIES

4.1 P.L. 111-292, “Telework Enhancement Act of 2010,” December 9, 2010

4.2 P.L. 106-346 § 359, “Department of Transportation and Related Agencies Appropriations 2001,” October 23, 2000

4.3 P.L. 105-277, “Omnibus Appropriation Act, Title IV”

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

- 4.4 P.L. 108-199, Division B, § 627
- 4.5 P.L. 108-447, Division B, § 622
- 4.6 5 United State Code (U.S.C). § 6503, “Training and Monitoring”
- 4.7 5 U.S.C. § 552a, “The Privacy Act of 1974”
- 4.8 5 C.F.R. § 531.605, “Determining an Employee’s Official Worksite”
- 4.9 5 C.F.R. § 550 Subpart D, “Payments During Evacuation”
- 4.10 5 C.F.R. § 630 Subpart P, “Weather and Safety Leave”
- 4.11 OPM Government-wide Dismissal and Closure Procedures, November 2018
- 4.12 DHS Management Directive 123-05, “Telework Directive,” February 11, 2015
- 4.13 DHS Management Instruction 123-05-001, “Telework Directive,” February 20, 2015
- 4.14 OPM “2021 Guide to Telework and Remote Work in the Federal Government, Leveraging Telework and Remote Work in the Federal Government to Better Meet Our Human Capital Needs and Improve Mission Delivery,” November 2021
- 4.15 Federal Continuity Directive 1, Federal Executive Branch National Continuity Program and Requirements
- 4.16 DHS Compensation Guidance, CG-2-2021, Remote Work, July 15, 2021
- 4.17 DHS Financial Management Policy Manual (FMPM)
- 4.18 CBP Continuity Strategic Guidance, November 2020
- 4.19 CBP Directive No. 51735-013B, Standards of Conduct, December 9, 2020
- 4.20 CBP Travel Handbook, HB 5300-13A, CBP Travel Handbook “HB 5300-13A”

5 DEFINITIONS

- 5.1 Alternate Location/Worksite: A place where official duties and responsibilities of an employee’s position are performed away from a traditional CBP facility. The alternate location/worksites is generally an approved telework site, or for a remote worker, the approved remote duty location (e.g., an employee’s residence).
- 5.2 Approving Official: A management official with delegated authority to review, modify, approve, deny, and/or terminate the telework or remote work agreement.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

5.3 Continuity of Operations (COOP): An internal effort within individual components of the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial Branches of Government assuring the capability exists to continue uninterrupted essential component functions across a wide range of potential emergencies, including localized acts of nature, pandemic health crises, accidents, technological related emergencies, and natural or man-made disasters.

5.4 Alternate Location (for the purposes of COOP): Locations other than the official worksite used to carry out essential functions during COOP events. In some cases, an employee's residence, or other location (e.g., other CBP, DHS, or U.S. Government facilities) may be designated as a COOP facility.

5.5 Electronic Telework Program Agreement Package (e-TPAP): An online submission system that provides the telework agreement and associated documentation as well as an electronic records repository for remote work agreements, schedules, and associated documentation, (e.g., Telework Fundamentals and CBP IT Security Awareness and Rules of Behavior training certificates, and any additional forms or information that may be required).

5.6 Federal Government Closures/Delayed Arrival/Early Departure: Situations that prevent significant numbers of federal employees from reporting to the office on time or remaining at the office for the full workday and situations which require federal offices to close. Situations may include emergencies, severe weather conditions, natural disasters, and other incidents causing disruptions of Federal Government operations.

5.7 Local Commuting Area: The geographic area that usually constitutes one area for employment purposes. It includes any population center (or two or more neighboring ones) and the surrounding localities in which people live and can reasonably be expected to travel back and forth daily to their usual employment. Generally, CBP considers the local commuting area to be within 50 miles of the employee's official station, and, for the purposes of travel benefits, 50 miles from the employee's residence.

5.8 Locality Pay: Locality pay refers to a locality-based comparability payment payable under 5 U.S.C. 5304. An employee's locality payment is the difference between the employee's locality rate and the employee's scheduled annual rate of basic pay.

5.9 Official Worksite/Duty Station: In accordance with 5 C.F.R. § 531.605, the official worksite or official duty station is the location where an employee regularly performs his or her duties. If an employee is not scheduled to report to a CBP facility at least twice per biweekly pay period, on a regular and recurring basis (i.e., is a remote worker as defined in paragraph 5.12), the employee's official worksite for location-based pay purposes is the remote worksite under a remote work agreement. Locality-based pay (including Cost of Living Adjustment (COLA) is determined by the geographic location of the official duty station. The changes must be documented on a Standard Form 50, Notification of Personnel Action (SF-50). The Standard Form 52, Request for Personnel Action (SF-52), must be completed and submitted to the appropriate processing group within the respective Program Office before the employee begins Remote Work.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

5.10 Portable Work: Duties and responsibilities of an employee's position normally performed at an employee's official worksite that can be effectively performed at an alternate worksite. This work is part of the employee's regular assignments and does not involve a change in duties.

5.11 Remote Duty Location (RDL): The official duty station of a CBP employee who is under the Remote Work Program, who has an approved Remote Work Agreement, and who is not assigned to work from a CBP facility. Typically, the RDL is the employee's residence.

5.12 Remote Employee/Remote Worker: An employee who is assigned to a remote duty location because there is no expectation or requirement for the employee to report regularly to a CBP facility. The employee's residence or other approved location, referred to as a remote duty location in this directive, is the employee's Official Worksite/Duty Station. A Remote Work Application and Agreement is required.

5.13 Remote Work: An approved arrangement under a written remote work agreement where an eligible employee performs the duties and responsibilities of an employee's position at a location other than an established CBP facility (usually the employee's residence) and is not expected to report to an established CBP facility on a routine (regular and recurring) basis at least two days per pay period. An employee who reports to a CBP facility one day per pay period is considered remote, as is an employee who reports regularly on a non-pay period basis (e.g., one week per month). The employee may be required or directed to report to an established CBP facility based on mission or operational needs or for other reasons as determined by the supervisor. The remote worksite is the employee's official duty station.

5.13.1 Local Remote Work: An approved remote work arrangement which allows an eligible employee to work at a remote worksite which is within the current local commuting area (generally, 50 miles or less) of the established CBP facility to which the employee would otherwise report and does not require the employee to report to a local established CBP facility on a routine (regular and recurring) basis. The employee may be directed to report to an established CBP facility, based on mission or operational needs, or for other reasons as determined by the supervisor. The remote worksite is the employee's official duty station.

5.13.2 Distant Remote Work: An approved remote work arrangement which allows an eligible employee to work at a remote worksite which is outside of the current local commuting area (generally, more than 50 miles) of the established CBP facility to which the employee would otherwise report and does not require the employee to report to a local established CBP facility on a routine (regular and recurring) basis. The employee may be directed to report to an established CBP facility, based on mission or operational needs, or for other reasons as determined by the supervisor. The remote worksite is the employee's official duty station.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

5.14 Remote Work Application and Agreement (Appendix A): The Remote Work Application and Agreement:

- Documents an employee's request to become a remote worker, the type of remote work requested, the locations and schedules for remote working, and the approving official's approval or denial of the application and agreement; and,
- Serves as acknowledgment by the employee regarding the requirements of beginning, continuing, and ending remote work. All remote workers must have a current remote work agreement to work remotely.

5.15 Telework: An approved work flexibility agreement under which an employee performs the duties and responsibilities of his or her position, and other authorized activities from an approved worksite other than the location from which the employee would otherwise work and to which the employee reports on a regular and recurring basis, at least two days per pay period.

5.15.1 Situational/Episodic Telework: A telework agreement that allows telework to occur on an ad hoc, occasional, episodic, or short-term basis. These agreements are appropriate for ongoing operational requirements and can also be used to address a temporary medical situation/condition or emergency, as well as various scenarios in which an employee would not have routine and/or regular days of telework per pay period. Situational/episodic telework may occur on one or more occasions any time during a pay period and does not require a set telework work schedule.

5.15.2 Core Telework: A telework schedule that occurs on a regular and recurring basis for at least one, but no more than eight (8) days per pay period. An employee with an approved core telework agreement is also eligible for situational/episodic telework.

5.15.3 Unscheduled Telework: A form of telework which allows a telework-ready employees to perform the duties and responsibilities of his or her position or other authorized activities from home or a nearby approved alternative location when OPM or local authorities announce modified operating status due to inclement weather or special events, which severely impact commuting. CBP telework-ready employees must notify and seek approval prior to using the unscheduled telework option.

5.16 Telework Agreement: A written agreement, completed in the e-TPAP, along with terms and conditions of the agreement between the Agency and an employee, to permit the employee to perform the official duties and responsibilities of his or her position and other authorized activities away from the traditional worksite.

5.17 Teleworker: An employee who is teleworking under an approved telework agreement or who is teleworking as required or directed during a COOP activation or pandemic health crisis.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

5.18 Telework-Ready Employee: An employee who has an approved telework agreement, regardless of the nature of the agreement or the extent to which the employee is or is not teleworking currently. A telework-ready employee may be required to telework in specific situations detailed in this directive.

6 RESPONSIBILITIES

6.1 The Assistant Commissioner (AC), Office of Human Resources Management (HRM), establishes and oversees the implementation of the CBP Telework and Remote Work Program for NBUEs in compliance with all laws, regulations, administrative policies, operational requirements, and reporting requirements. The AC, HRM, shall designate a CBP Telework and Remote Work Program Manager (TRPM) within HRM to manage telework and remote work across CBP.

6.2 The Executive Assistant Commissioners, Chief, U.S. Border Patrol, ACs (or equivalent), Chief Counsel, or their designees shall:

- Designate a program office Telework and Remote Work Coordinator (TRPC) to coordinate with the TRPM; and,
- Identify and delegate to the appropriate management level (e.g., first-line supervisor or director) the responsibility of Approving Official, which provides the authority to review, modify, approve, deny, and/or cancel telework and remote work agreements.

6.3 The AC, HRM (and designees) will ensure program administration complies with statutory and regulatory provisions and will provide CBP-wide information and guidance on the implementation and administration of this directive, including a Telework and Remote Work Information SharePoint page (or its successor) for application and approval procedures and guidance.

6.4 The AC, Office of Information and Technology (OIT), establishes procedures that address security, security protocols, infrastructure, user communications, operations, and maintenance for a telework environment. The AC, OIT, shall ensure sufficient technology support to meet each program office's needs during all normal and emergency telework situations.

6.5 CBP TRPM manages and administers the CBP Telework and Remote Work Program for NBUEs and serves as an advisor to CBP leadership as a primary resource for managers and supervisors, TRPCs, and employees. The TRPM is the primary point of contact on telework and remote work matters including any goals, metrics, and data collection related to reporting requirements, as necessary. The TRPM is responsible for communicating information and guidance relating to telework, including training and other duties as assigned.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

6.6 The TRPCs serve as the point of contact for all telework and remote work-related matters within their program offices and will coordinate with the CBP TRPM. Each TRPC will maintain all remote work applications (approved and disapproved), agreements, and terminations and will submit quarterly reports to the TRPM providing the names, locations, and agreement dates for all remote workers in the TRPC's respective program office. Additionally, the TRPC provides telework training, guidance, assistance, and metrics/data collection related to any reporting requirements to supervisors, managers, and employees within the TRPC's program office. The TRPC monitors compliance with the CBP Telework and Remote Work Program Directive and all other applicable policy and procedures.

6.7 The Approving Official provides the final level of approval of all telework or remote work agreements within the organization; approves supervisor's recommendations and requests based on the employee's position, his or her duties and responsibilities, work requirements, and eligibility guidelines; and ensures that managers/supervisors of a teleworker or remote worker complete a certification, acknowledging completion of the Telework Fundamentals – Manager Training. Approving officials have the right to deny telework and remote work agreement requests. Supervisors may also be the approving official depending on the organizational structure.

6.8 Supervisors may determine telework and remote work eligibility and will approve or deny as appropriate all requests for telework or remote work. Supervisors will also work with the program office TRPCs and OIT to identify any unique equipment and networking resources required to support the telework or remote work arrangement. Supervisors ensure all appropriate actions are accomplished to effect a telework or remote work agreement (e.g., submit requests for personnel actions, schedule changes, and other documentation/action to effect telework or remote work agreements, as appropriate; account for absences from scheduled tours of duty regardless of official duty location; and appropriately apply all duty and leave hours each pay period in the electronic time and attendance system).

6.9 CBP employees must communicate with their supervisors before requesting a telework or remote work arrangement to determine whether the position and duties have been identified as telework or remote work eligible. For telework, employees are responsible for completing the online e-TPAP, attaching all required documents and certifications and adhering to all policies and procedures.

7 BASIC REQUIREMENTS

7.1 The Telework Enhancement Act of 2010 requires three preconditions for employee participation in telework. The employee must: (1) be eligible; (2) complete telework training; and (3) have a current and approved telework agreement. The same pre-conditions apply to those requesting a remote work arrangement. Further, remote work applications and agreements should be completed using the Customs and Border Protection Remote Work Application and Agreement (Appendix A) and uploaded to the e-TPAP once approved and signed by all parties.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

7.2 Telework agreements require annual certification and will expire at the end of the approved agreement period, not to exceed one year from the approval date. Employees will be notified and must complete a new telework agreement in e-TPAP. Remote work agreements should be reviewed as needed by the supervisor to ensure compliance and should be revised to address any negative impacts.

8 ELIGIBILITY

8.1 Employee Eligibility Requirements and Restrictions:

8.1.1 The employee must occupy a position with duties and responsibilities that are appropriate for telework or remote work as determined by each program office.

8.1.2 An employee's eligibility to telework or remote work is directly connected to the duties assigned to the position and the employee's ability to effectively accomplish those duties from an alternate worksite. The employee must be able to perform the duties and responsibilities of his or her position or other authorized activities from the alternate location during the duty time the employee is assigned to that alternate location.

8.1.3 The employee's most recent performance rating must be at least "Successful", or "Achieved Expectations" based upon the employee's performance management plan. For new federal employees, the required performance rating can be issued after 90 days under a performance plan. Employees transferring from another federal agency can use the rating from the previous agency.

8.1.4 The employee may be ineligible if on a leave restriction (due to absences or tardiness, or absence without leave), is the subject of any pending performance or disciplinary action or is the subject of an allegation of misconduct that may prevent the performance of the full scope of required duties. Employees who have been subjected to any final disciplinary, adverse action, or performance action within the last twelve (12) months are ineligible to telework or work remotely.

8.1.5 Approving officials and/or supervisors have the discretion to approve an employee's telework request or remote work application at any time and can require that an employee be in a position for a specific time period before any request is approved. An employee in an ineligible position may, as set forth in section 8.2, request an exception. The approving official may approve or deny these exception requests on a case-by-case basis.

8.1.6 Eligible employees may be approved for core telework, situational/episodic telework, or remote work. All eligible employees, including employees in positions generally excluded from core telework agreements or remote work, may be eligible for situational/episodic telework agreements.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

8.2 Position Eligibility: Telework and remote work are appropriate for those positions with portable work (duties and responsibilities of a position that can be effectively performed at an alternate worksite). Determinations for telework (core and situational/episodic) and remote work will be made on a case-by-case basis, based on the employee's ability to perform the duties and responsibilities of an employee's position at an alternate worksite. Examples of duties or situations that would cause some or all employees in a position to be ineligible to telework and remote work include, but are not limited to one or more of the following:

- On-site duties that cannot be performed remotely or at an alternative worksite;
- Access to or direct handling of sensitive information or classified national security information;
- Hands-on contact with machinery, equipment, vehicles, etc.;
- Physical presence required at all times;
- Customer service or CBP mission would be adversely affected;
- Unable to respond to customers/clients from an alternate worksite; or,
- Insufficient amount of appropriate work to support the requested work arrangement.

8.3 Telework and Remote Work in Special Situations: An eligible employee may request a temporary telework or remote work arrangement based on specific circumstances anticipated to last for a specific or limited time period. The employee's request should include information on the special situation, requested schedule, and anticipated timeframe. A temporary telework or remote work arrangement may be used in conjunction with annual or sick leave and leave without pay. Special situations will be considered and decided on a case-by-case basis.

Situations for which a temporary telework or remote work agreement may be appropriate include, but are not limited to:

- Employee family needs and emergency situations;
- Temporary medical needs; and,
- Pregnancy and return to work.

8.3.1 Dependent And Child Care: Telework and remote work are not substitutes for dependent, elder, and childcare; employees must make appropriate arrangements for their dependent, elder, and childcare needs. An in-home dependent care arrangement (e.g., nanny, in-home care provided by a family member, etc.) does not preclude an employee from teleworking or remote working. However, telework and remote work is official duty time; the employee must be able to fully perform assigned duties during duty time. Employees should not engage in dependent/childcare activities during duty time hours. Should a need arise during duty time for an employee to provide care for a dependent (e.g., dependent falls ill or dependent care is no longer available), the employee must notify the supervisor as soon as possible and request approval for leave for the time utilized for dependent/childcare.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

8.3.2 Reasonable Accommodation: Reasonable accommodation requests are outside the scope of this directive and have different requirements. Reasonable accommodations are processed under the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended, the Americans with Disabilities Act, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (as amended) and the CBP Directive for reasonable accommodation. Reasonable accommodations are provided to those employees with a physical or mental disability to assist them in the performance of their essential duties or to exercise the practice of their religious beliefs unless it poses an undue hardship to the employer or poses a direct health and/or safety threat. Reasonable accommodation does not support the medical condition or needs of a family member, child, or dependent/elder care and/or the needs of the household. For more information and/or to request a reasonable accommodation, please contact the Privacy and Diversity Office (PDO) at cbpreasonableaccommodation@cbp.dhs.gov.

9 TELEWORK REQUIREMENTS

9.1 Requests and Agreements: In order to telework, regardless of frequency or duration, an eligible employee must have a current approved telework agreement.

9.1.1 Employees are eligible to request to telework if the requirements, the position, and employee eligibility requirements set forth in this directive are met. If an employee requests to telework, the employee should first communicate with the supervisor and/or approving official to discuss the telework eligibility requirements.

9.1.2 Eligible employees who wish to participate in telework must complete and submit the online e-TPAP, in its entirety, and attach all required documents and certifications.

9.1.3 The application must include the type of telework arrangement sought, either core or situational/episodic.

9.1.4 After the supervisor has received the telework agreement request package, within thirty (30) calendar days of submission, the employee and the supervisor are encouraged to schedule a discussion regarding the employee's request, eligibility, opportunities, and expectations.

9.1.5 The supervisor and approving official (if different) will approve or deny telework requests within (15) calendar days from the date of the discussion, absent extenuating circumstances, in which case a decision will be rendered as soon as practicable thereafter. In the event the supervisor or approving official determines further information, documentation, and/or discussion is needed, the employee will be notified in writing and the applicable timeframe extended.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

9.2 Annual Certification: Telework agreements expire after one calendar year. Supervisors will review agreements each year to confirm the efficacy of the telework arrangement and either reapprove existing agreement or work with employee to modify and reapprove the agreement.

9.3 Reporting to the Official Worksite: Management has the right to require a teleworker to report to a CBP facility at any time, for any part of a day or a full or multiple days, based on business-related operational needs. Teleworkers are required to report to the official worksite, or other duty or training location, as required or directed. Employees should be given reasonable notice (generally 24 hours), when possible, of the need to report to the official worksite or other specified work location.

9.4 Public Transportation Incentive Program (PTIP): Upon approval of or a change to a core telework agreement, an employee who also participates in the CBP PTIP will submit an amended PTIP Application via CBP PTIP to reflect any change in actual transportation costs, as appropriate.

9.5 Modifying a Telework Agreement: Changes in an employee's position, work requirements, schedules, or supervisors necessitate that a new telework agreement (e-TPAP) be submitted for approval. Employees who want to modify a telework agreement should first discuss it with the supervisor and then submit a new e-TPAP for approval. If the modification results in a schedule change, the employee, with supervisor concurrence, must communicate the new telework schedule to the timekeeper.

9.6 Alterations to or Terminations/Denials of Telework Agreements:

9.6.1 An employee may request to alter a telework agreement at any time. The employee must notify the appropriate supervisor or approving official and if approved, make the necessary adjustments to the telework agreement and work schedule. A new telework agreement must be accomplished in e-TPAP. Changes will take effect on the first day of the next pay period.

9.6.2 An employee may terminate a telework agreement at any time. An employee-initiated telework agreement termination will be effective on the last day of the pay period during which the termination is made. Once effective, the employee must report to the official CBP worksite on the first day of the next pay period.

9.6.3 Managers/supervisors may deny an initial request or terminate an employee's telework agreement at any time. When a telework request is denied or an agreement is terminated by the supervisor and/or approving official, the supervisor and/or approving official will provide the employee with a written explanation supporting the modification/denial of the employee's request. If the employee wants to appeal the decision, the employee may use the appropriate administrative grievance procedures. If an employee's telework agreement is terminated, the employee must report to his or her official worksite within the time specified by the supervisor/approving official. Unless otherwise agreed, the employee may request reconsideration of a new telework agreement six (6) months after the effective date of the termination of the telework agreement.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

9.7 Telework Reporting: All telework hours must be reported in the applicable time and attendance system and as otherwise directed by management and/or an employee's supervisor. CBP is required to report telework data to OPM on an annual basis. The CBP TRPM will collect telework data, such as employee telework participation; program characteristics; outcomes related to telework implementation including any goals, metrics, and data collection related to reporting requirements; and any other data necessary for reporting purposes.

10 REMOTE WORK REQUIREMENTS

10.1 Application and Agreement: Employees may apply for remote work if the position, associated duties, and the employee meet the eligibility requirements set forth in this directive. If an employee applies for remote work, the employee should first communicate with the supervisor and/or approving official to discuss the eligibility requirements.

10.1.1 Eligible employees who wish to work remotely must first complete the Remote Work Application and Agreement (Appendix A) and submit the request to their supervisor for approval. Depending on the application (local or distant remote work), the application may need additional approvals.

10.1.2 Within thirty (30) calendar days of submission of the Remote Work Application and Agreement to the supervisor, the employee and the supervisor are encouraged to schedule a discussion regarding the employee's application, eligibility, opportunities, and expectations. The supervisor or approving official may determine that further information, documentation, and/or discussion is needed. If so, the supervisor or approving official will notify the employee in writing as soon as practicable and provide a reasonable extension date to allow production of the additional information.

10.1.3 The supervisor and approving official (if different) will approve or deny remote work applications in writing within fifteen (15) calendar days from the date of the discussion or production of additional materials (if applicable). If there are extenuating circumstances which prevent a decision from being made within fifteen (15) calendar days, an approving official will provide a response no later than forty-five (45) calendar days from the date the application is received.

10.1.4 If the application and the agreement is approved, the employee will complete the e-TPAP in accordance with HRM procedures provided on the Telework and Remote Work Information SharePoint page (or its successor).

10.1.5 Employees must complete the applicable request and agreement procedures before beginning remote work.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

10.1.6 If the application is denied, the approving official will provide a written justification to the employee with a completed form “Notice of Denial of a Remote Work Application or Termination of a Remote Work Agreement” (Appendix B). If the employee wants to appeal the decision, the employee may use the appropriate administrative grievance procedures.

10.1.7 Employees hired under a job opportunity announcement (JOA) as a remote worker must complete Appendix A before their Entrance on Duty (EOD) date; once onboard, the employee must also complete the e-TPAP requirements (e.g., schedule, safety checklist, and upload approved request and agreement form). All prerequisites and expectations regarding being a remote worker at CBP should be clearly explained to the prospective hire BEFORE the final job offer is made.

10.1.8 Periodic Certification: Remote work agreements do not expire. However, supervisors should review agreements each year to confirm the efficacy of the remote arrangement and if necessary, work with employee to modify the agreement.

10.2 Remote Work Location: If the remote work application is approved, an employee may work remotely from any of the fifty (50) United States (US), the District of Columbia (DC), or other US territories. A remote work location is typically, although not always, the employee’s residence.

10.2.1 Final approval for local remote work is subject to manager or supervisor endorsement and second line/approving official approval. The location must be inside the local commuting area (generally, 50 miles or less) of the CBP facility/worksites to which the employee was assigned at the time of the application to work remotely.

10.2.2 Final approval authority for distant remote work rests with the Executive Assistant Commissioners, Chief, U.S. Border Patrol, ACs (or equivalent), or their designees. This is remote work which involves working or moving outside the local commuting area (more than 50 miles) of the CBP facility/worksites to which the employee was assigned at the time of the application to work remotely. This approval authority also applies to employees whose pay is impacted by becoming a remote worker, i.e., an employee who works remotely from a locality pay area different from the CBP facility/worksites to which the employee was assigned at the time of the application to work remotely (whether inside or outside the local commuting area).

10.3 Managers/supervisors have the right to require a local or distant remote worker to report to a CBP facility at any time, for any part of a day or a full or multiple days, based on business-related operational needs. Remote workers are required to report to the official worksite, or other duty or training location, as required or directed. Employees will be given reasonable notice when needed to report to an official CBP worksite or other specified work location. Employees may be eligible for travel reimbursement in accordance with Section 11 of this directive.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

10.4 Local remote workers may submit a request to report to a CBP facility to their supervisor if the employee has a need (i.e., computer services, PIV card assistance, print/fax need, team meeting, etc.). The employee must notify the supervisor to ensure workstation availability or identify other requirements, if applicable.

10.5 If an employee's position requires the employee to report to a CBP facility on a regular and recurring basis, but the employee wants to request a transfer to a different geographic location, the employee would not apply for remote work, but rather would make a request in accordance with CBP Directive 51000-012, Employee-Initiated Official Duty Station Relocation Requests.

10.6 Remote Work Responsibilities and Benefits: Remote work does not impact Essential Employee designations or responsibilities.

10.6.1 Remote workers are subject to the same performance requirements and standards of conduct as employees whose official duty stations are at an established CBP facility.

10.6.2 Remote work cannot be used as an alternative for an employee to be the sole source of dependent care (child or elder care) or to conduct personal business during work hours. Employees found in violation of this requirement are subject to discipline up to and including removal.

10.6.3 Remote workers have the same opportunities and requirements for training, awards, assignments and reassignments, promotion, reduction in grade, and retention as other employees, subject to any location-based requirements and budgetary constraints (e.g., for travel costs).

10.6.4 Remote workers may, with their supervisor's approval, establish an Alternative Work Schedule (AWS).

10.6.5 Employees who work remotely 9 or 10-days per pay period are considered remote workers. For example, remote workers who are on a compressed work schedule (5-4-9) and are only scheduled to work 9 days per pay period will be considered remote workers.

10.6.6 Employees may work overtime, earn compensatory time, or credit hours while working remotely. The supervisor or manager schedules, orders, and approves all requests according to the same criteria used for other employees under their supervision.

10.6.7 During any period where the CBP Continuity Plan is activated, the requirements of that plan supersede all Remote Work Guidance.

10.7 Terminating a Remote Work Agreement (Appendix B): An employee may request to terminate a Remote Work Agreement at any time by providing written notice to his or her supervisor or manager.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

10.7.1 Management has discretion to cancel a Remote Work Agreement and reassign the employee to a duty location of management's choosing if management finds the remote work arrangement no longer meets the business and mission needs of CBP, and/or of the employee, or the arrangement no longer promotes the efficiency of the service, or for any work-related reason, including, but not limited to:

- Employee ineligibility;
- Change in position eligibility and/or associated duties;
- Decline in employee performance;
- Employee misconduct;
- Safety issues or suspected hazardous materials in the remote work location; and/or,
- Adverse impact on the operations of the office, including costs associated with potential change of worksite.

10.7.2 Supervisors or managers must document any decision to disapprove or terminate a Remote Work Agreement.

10.7.3 New work schedules begin within fifteen (15) business days following termination of a Remote Work Agreement, at which point employees must report for duty to an established CBP facility. The Program Office must complete a personnel action (SF-50) to change the employee's duty station to the correct established CBP facility.

10.7.4 Employees may file a grievance under the appropriate administrative grievance procedure if they believe management wrongfully terminated a Remote Work Agreement.

11 TELEWORK AND REMOTE WORK EXPENSES

11.1 Commuting Costs and Local Travel Expenses:

11.1.1 Telework employees may be eligible for PTIP on a prorated basis. PTIP must be adjusted if the employee's telework agreement increases or decreases the number of days commuting into the CBP duty station. Telework employees may be eligible for subsidized parking depending upon their duty station location. The Parking Application (CBP Form 238) signed by their supervisor must be updated if the employee's telework agreement decreases the number of days commuting to their Official Worksite/Duty Station. Contact the servicing Mission Support Division for PTIP rules and regulations.

11.1.2 Remote Workers are not eligible for PTIP.

11.1.3 In accordance with the DHS Financial Management Policy Manual (FMPM), Chapter 7.5, "Local Travel," local remote workers have no normal commuting costs. Therefore, CBP will not pay local travel expenses within the local commuting area for local remote workers.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

CBP Chief Financial Officer (CFO) or a designee can authorize exceptions on a case-by-case basis for operational needs.

11.1.4 If a distant remote work employee is required to report to an established CBP facility by the agency and it is more than a 50-mile radius from his or her remote worksite and residence (if different), the employee may be eligible to receive per diem and any applicable travel reimbursement in accordance with DHS and CBP Policy and the Federal Travel Regulation (FTR) § 301-11.1. The Federal Travel Regulation § 301-11.1 states that to be eligible for per diem allowances the following three conditions must be met:

- The employee is performing official duties away from the official station (official travel), or other areas defined by your agency;
- The employee incurs per diem expenses while performing official travel; and,
- The employee is in a travel status for more than 12 hours.

11.2 Relocation Expenses:

11.2.1 CBP will not pay relocation expenses for an employee to move to the remote work location. The employee will bear all responsibilities for those costs.

11.2.2 An employee who has a remote work agreement terminated will be responsible for the return of Government Furnished Equipment (GFE). If there is a directed reassignment, normal rules for relocation apply.

11.2.3 An employee who voluntarily terminates a remote work agreement is responsible for all relocation costs and all other costs, such as the return of Government Furnished Equipment (GFE), that the employee may incur by relocating to an established CBP facility.

11.3 Expenses related to the Alternate Worksite:

11.3.1 CBP will not pay for modifications to an alternate worksite, furniture, internet, phone, or other items an employee has or purchases for his or her alternate worksite.

11.3.2 The program office will determine and provide the required technology and supplies to carry out the employee's duties for the employee's use at the alternate location. The employee must comply with all policies and requirements with respect to Federal Government technology use and security. If the employee requires assistance with defective equipment which requires travel into a CBP facility, depending on whether the employee is a local or distant remote worker, travel reimbursement may be required in accordance with the Federal Travel Regulation, DHS and CBP Policy.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

12 DOMESTIC EMPLOYEES TELEWORK OVERSEAS (DETO) AGREEMENTS

12.1 DETO assignments are overseas work arrangements that allow Federal Executive Branch employees to perform the work requirements and duties of their positions temporarily from an approved overseas location via DETO agreement. Employees have no authorization to telework/work remotely from a foreign location without approval from CBP, DHS, and the Department of State (DOS), Chief of Mission.

12.2 There are two types of DETOs:

- Sponsored DETO – when a CBP employee is on U.S. Government orders of a spouse or partner. Sponsored DETOs are those who are a spouse or domestic partner of a sponsoring Foreign Service Officer, Federal Civil Service employee, Department of Defense (DoD) employee, or uniformed service member assigned overseas; and,
- Individual DETO – when a CBP employee is NOT on a U.S. Government order of a spouse or partner. It is CBP policy that only sponsored DETO agreements will be considered and the DETO must not incur any additional costs to CBP than it would otherwise cost for the employee to work at the employee’s normal work location. Individual DETOs are not authorized.

12.3 Sponsored DETO requests will be considered on a case-by-case basis. Employees must consult with their program office leadership and HRM as early as possible because DOS approval can take six to twelve months, if not longer.

12.4 Any DETO request must be approved by the employee’s program office leadership internally prior to submission to HRM for review and the Office of International Affairs for submission to DHS and DHS will submit to DOS. The employee must follow the requirements in this directive and all internal submission requirements, the DOS Executive Secretary Memorandum, Requirements for Executive Branch Employees Teleworking in Foreign Locations, dated June 7, 2016, and the DOS Foreign Affairs Manual (FAM), 3 FAM 2370, DETO policy guidance, dated August 11, 2021.

12.5 For any DETO request, procedures will be provided separately by the NSDD-38 Program Manager in the Office of International Affairs.

13 TRAINING

13.1 For both Telework and Remote work, employees must complete the Telework Fundamentals course for Employees and the CBP-Cybersecurity Awareness and Rules of Behavior Training before beginning a Telework or Remote Work agreement.

13.2 In order to approve Telework or Remote Work agreements, supervisors, managers, and approving officials must complete the “Telework Fundamentals – Manager Training” course on the Telework.gov website. Although this training is required only once, HRM recommends that supervisors, managers, and approving officials periodically review the manager training to remain current on eligibility and requirements for each program.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

13.3 Courses are available through the learning management system of record. Participating employees must certify their completion of the training by attaching the certificate of completion to their agreement in e-TPAP.

14 WORKSITE SAFETY AND INSPECTION

14.1 All teleworkers or remote workers must complete a safety checklist as a part of the application process. Failure to do so will result in a denial of telework or remote work status.

14.2 CBP management reserves the option to inspect alternate worksites for adequacy and compliance with safety requirements. Absent unusual circumstances, home inspections will be conducted during normal working hours with prior notice. Home inspections will be conducted by the employee's program office.

14.3 If a teleworker or remote worker is unable to effectively work from his or her alternate worksite (e.g., due to lack of electricity, flooding, infrastructure, connectivity issues, or other factors which prevent the employee from working successfully), the employee will immediately notify his or her supervisor. The employee may request leave and/or report to an official CBP worksite or other approved location.

15 ALTERNATE WORK SCHEDULES, HOLIDAYS, AND LEAVE

15.1 An employee may be on an approved telework or remote work agreement and an approved AWS at the same time. It is management's discretion to approve telework or remote work and AWS agreements, and there is no requirement that one or both be approved.

15.2 If an employee's scheduled telework day falls on a federal holiday (or day designated a holiday by federal statute or executive order), CBP is not required to permit the employee to telework or report to a CBP facility on an alternate day. An employee may request to telework on another day within the same pay period; however, it is at the discretion of the supervisor to approve/deny the request. The supervisor must ensure that the employee's telework schedule is meeting the business needs and goals of the Agency.

15.3 Leave requests by employees who telework or work remotely must be made in the same manner as for employees who do not telework or work remotely. All employees must follow agency requirements for requesting and scheduling leave. Telework and remote work are not replacements for leave. If an employee is ill or needs to care for a family member, the employee must request leave for the whole or part of the workday that the employee cannot effectively work.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

16 DISMISSAL OR CLOSURE PROCEDURES

16.1 Telework-ready employees (those who have an approved telework agreement) and remote workers are required to perform their duties for their entire workday/shift when Federal Government or local individual Agency offices are closed due to weather or emergencies.

16.2 When the Federal Government or offices (i.e., buildings/facilities) are closed due to weather-related conditions, telework-ready and remote workers, regardless of whether they were scheduled to telework that day, must continue to work for the entire workday, take unscheduled leave, or a combination of both.

16.3 When dismissal or closure procedures are in effect at the employee's regular worksite on a day an employee is scheduled to telework or the employee is working remotely, the employee must continue to work for the entire workday, take unscheduled leave (if made available and approved), or a combination of both.

16.4 When the Federal Government or individual Agency offices are open with options for unscheduled leave or unscheduled telework, telework-ready (non-emergency) employees, and remote workers must notify their supervisor of their intent and request approval to use unscheduled leave or unscheduled telework. If employees are regularly scheduled to telework or it is a normal duty day for remote workers, the employee will continue to work the entire duty-day unless unscheduled leave is available and approved.

16.5 When a delayed arrival or early dismissal is announced, telework-ready employees and those who work remotely are required to work the entire day, report to the official worksite (for teleworkers), or request unscheduled leave if available and approved.

16.6 When there is an early departure announced for those employees at a physical worksite who are non-emergency, telework-ready employees, those employees will receive weather and safety leave only for the amount of time required to commute to the alternate worksite, after which they must complete any remaining portion of the workday by teleworking or taking leave, or a combination of both. Remote workers will rarely, if ever, be impacted by an early dismissal or early departure announcement.

16.7 If the Federal Government is closed for part or all of the day, telework-ready employees and employees working remotely are required to work at their alternate worksites. However, if an employee is unable to work due to disruption to the telework or remote worksite (e.g., electricity or infrastructure issues, etc.), he or she may be eligible for weather and safety leave. An employee must immediately notify his or her supervisor if there is such an issue.

16.8 Weather And Safety Leave: Weather and safety leave cannot be granted to teleworkers or remote workers who are not prevented from working safely at an approved alternate worksite. Telework-ready employees and employee's working remotely are expected to be prepared to continue to perform duties as normal in the event of an unanticipated closure or dismissal announcement affecting CBP or other government facilities. If an employee does not have work that can be completed from the employee's alternate worksite, the employee must either report to the official worksite (if open) or request leave.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

16.8.1 If conditions require closure of or adversely affect a teleworker's alternate worksite or a remote worker's official duty station, (e.g., electricity, flooding, infrastructure issues, or other factors which prevent the teleworker from working successfully and safely), the supervisor may grant weather and safety leave on a case-by-case basis when it is not possible to telework for some or all of the workday.

16.8.2 Employees should verify with their supervisor whether they are identified as "telework-ready" or "emergency personnel". Supervisors should set employee expectations in terms of reporting and working when the Federal Government is in any status other than "Open".

16.8.3 A telework-ready or remote work employee who is on pre-approved leave (paid or unpaid) or other paid time off (e.g., compensatory time off, credit hours) when the official worksite is closed, should be charged the leave for which the employee is pre-approved; weather and safety leave is NOT appropriate. However, a telework-ready or remote working employee is allowed to request to cancel pre-approved leave if the purpose of the approved leave cannot be completed because of the situation causing the official worksite to be closed. For example, if leave was requested for a medical appointment and the medical provider's offices are closed because of weather conditions, the employee may request to cancel the pre-approved sick leave and continue to telework or work remotely as applicable. A telework-ready or remote working employee who is on sick leave due to illness on a day the official worksite is closed will remain on sick leave in accordance with the CBP leave policy.

17 CONTINUITY OF OPERATIONS

17.1 Continuity plans outline essential elements of continuity that are necessary before, during, and after an emergency or event where operations, systems, facilities, and personnel were impacted. These processes detail how continuity personnel, Emergency Relocation Group, Devolution Emergency Response Group, and Reconstitution Teams, will conduct the command and control and uninterrupted performance of mission essential functions.

17.1.1 Continuity personnel are not emergency personnel for the purpose of an inclement weather event unless designated as such. When CBP activates the continuity plan, members will receive a notification via the established alert and notification channels.

17.2 If an employee is designated as continuity personnel, he or she must at least be placed on a situational/episodic telework agreement and be telework-ready to support the Agency in the event of an emergency.

17.3 During any period that CBP is operating under a Continuity Plan activation, that plan shall supersede this CBP Telework and Remote Work Program Directive. CBP may expand and require telework for a larger segment of the workforce in support of Agency operations to allow as many employees as possible to work during a Continuity Plan activation.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

18 SECURITY AND SAFEGUARDING OF GOVERNMENT INFORMATION

18.1 Employees are prohibited from taking any classified information from the official worksite to an alternate worksite. In addition, electronic data files with Sensitive but Unclassified information that contain Personally Identifiable Information (PII) may only be transmitted outside the CBP.gov network in accordance with OIT guidance.

18.2 The employee must protect sensitive hardcopy files and documents. Security and confidentiality of data, including sensitive, non-classified, and Privacy Act information, can be assured by compliance with the "Information Systems Security Policies and Procedures Handbook," (HB 1400-05D) and DHS "Handbook for Safeguarding Sensitive Personally Identifiable Information (PII)," March 2012. The DHS Handbook provides guidelines to protect sensitive PII in both paper and electronic form.

18.3 CBP security policies do not change and are enforced at the same rigorous level when employees telework or work remotely, as if they are in physical CBP spaces. Employees must comply with current standards for remote operations from telework sites. Employees who telework need to keep CBP property and information safe, secure, and separate from their personal property and information.

18.4 CBP Records and Information Management (RIM) policies apply whether working remotely or in the physical CBP spaces. CBP and all other federal agencies are required by 44 U.S.C. 310 I and 36 C.F.R. 1220.30 to maintain and provide adequate and proper documentation of Government business. In addition, federal agencies are required to ensure that all information necessary to protect the legal and financial rights of the Government, and of persons directly affected by the agency's activities, is properly created, maintained, and preserved. Compliance with Federally mandated Records and Information Management requirements can be assured by compliance with CBP DIRECTIVE NO. 2110-040 and the 'Records and Information Management Handbook' (HB 2100-05B). A Record includes all recorded information, regardless of physical form or characteristics, made or received by an agency under Federal Law or in connection with the transaction of public business and preserved or appropriate for preservation by that agency or its legitimate successor as evidence of the organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures, operations, or other activities of the United States Government or because of the informational value of data in them (44 U.S.C. 3301).

19 INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY AND EQUIPMENT

19.1 Employees must follow the guidance set forth in the current version of HB 1400-05D, along with authorized updates issued by OIT. This applies to both telework and working remotely.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

19.2 An employee who requires additional or replacement equipment (government-issued telephone, monitor, keyboard, etc.) must first contact the supervisor regarding procurement of additional or replacement equipment.

19.3 The employee must have an internet connection with sufficient speed and reliability to accomplish the employee’s work. For both telework and remote work, employees are responsible for all costs associated with their own internet connection and personal telephone. The employee must be accessible by phone, e-mail, and other means during the scheduled workday.

19.4 In the event of connectivity failure to the CBP network or inaccessibility by phone for any portion of the workday, the employee must notify his or her supervisor within an hour of becoming aware of the issue, and by contacting CBP Technology Service Desk. The employee must consult with his or her supervisor for instructions as to whether to report to the official worksite or request leave for the hours not worked.

20 NO PRIVATE RIGHTS CREATED

This document is an internal policy statement of CBP and does not create or confer any rights, privileges, or benefits for any person or party.

ANDREA J BRIGHT

Digitally signed by ANDREA J
BRIGHT
Date: 2022.10.28 16:12:13
-04'00'

10/28/2022

Andrea J. Bright
Assistant Commissioner
Office of Human Resources Management
U.S. Customs and Border Protection

Date

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

APPENDIX A

CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION REMOTE WORK APPLICATION & AGREEMENT
SECTION I – APPLICATION FOR REMOTE WORK
1. EMPLOYEE (Last Name, First, Middle Initial)	2. JOB TITLE
3. PAY PLAN/SERIES/GRADE (Example: GS/0201/12)	4. PROGRAM OFFICE/DEPARTMENT/DIVISION
5. REQUESTED OFFICIAL DUTY STATION (Street, Apartment Number, City, State and ZIP Code)	6. CURRENT CBP DUTY STATION (Street, Suite Number, City, State and ZIP Code)
7. OFFICIAL WORKSITE TELEPHONE NUMBER (Include Area Code) (If application approved)	8. OFFICIAL WORKSITE EMAIL ADDRESS (Address for official emails if different from original office email address. Personal email addresses are not authorized.)
9. REMOTE WORK ARRANGEMENT IMPLEMENTATION DATES (Agreement should be revalidated at least once every year)	10. TYPE OF REMOTE WORK REQUESTED
<table style="width: 100%; border: none;"> <tr> <td style="width: 50%; border: none; padding: 5px;">a. START (YYYYMMDD)</td> <td style="width: 50%; border: none; padding: 5px;">b. END (YYYYMMDD)</td> </tr> </table>	a. START (YYYYMMDD)	b. END (YYYYMMDD)	<input type="checkbox"/> LOCAL - WITHIN COMMUTING DISTANCE (normally within 50 miles of Current CBP Duty Station) <input type="checkbox"/> DISTANT - OUTSIDE COMMUTING AREA (normally more than 50 miles from Current CBP Duty Station)
a. START (YYYYMMDD)	b. END (YYYYMMDD)
11. FIRST-LINE SUPERVISOR OR AUTHORIZED MANAGEMENT OFFICIAL (Name and Signature) DATE (YYYYMMDD)
12. SECOND-LINE SUPERVISOR OR AUTHORIZED MANAGEMENT OFFICIAL (Name and Signature) DATE (YYYYMMDD)
13. DISTANT REMOTE WORK REQUIRES EAC, CHIEF, U.S. BORDER PATROL, OR AC SIGNATURE (or designee) (Name and Signature) DATE (YYYYMMDD)
14. EMPLOYEE SIGNATURE (Name and Signature) DATE (YYYYMMDD)

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION
DIRECTIVE

Section II – Employee Agreement
Employee Understands and Agrees to the following:	Initial or N/A
1. I will comply with the terms and conditions provided in in the CBP Directive 51250-023, "CBP TELEWORK AND REMOTE WORK PROGRAM DIRECTIVE" and have had the opportunity to discuss those provisions and other Remote Work expectations with my supervisor and/or approving official.
2. I will be responsible for obtaining supervisor approval for any overtime and/or compensatory time prior to its occurrence in writing. This also includes travel compensatory time when ordered to travel away from the remote worksite (official duty station) and outside the commuting area, when eligible.
3. I understand that management has the discretion to cancel this agreement and reassign me to a duty location of management's choosing if management finds the remote work arrangement no longer meets the business and mission needs of CBP.
4. Any Government Furnished Equipment (GFE) remains the property of the U.S. Government and must be managed and disposed of in accordance with Governmentwide and CBP specific policies and guidance. CBP has the discretion to determine what equipment and services will be provided and what equipment and services are the responsibility of the remote worker.
5. Report any injuries sustained in the performance of duty while at the workstation performing assigned duties or performing employment activities incident to those duties. Understand that the workstation would generally consist of a location in the home where work is performed such as a desk with a phone and internet access. Injuries sustained while performing activities that are not immediately directed towards the actual performance of assigned duties are not covered. Once removed from the office setting, there is no longer performance of assigned duties occurring (i.e., walking away from the desk to get a cup of coffee or go to the bathroom) and injuries sustained away from the workstation would generally not be compensable.
6. I understand that I must complete the Electronic Telework Program Agreement Package (e-TPAP) tool online before beginning to Remote Work. (Instructions for the e-TPAP process can be found here: Telework and Remote Work Information SharePoint page (or its successor)) I also understand that if my Remote Work Location does not meet the safety standards required in the e-TPAP, this agreement will be null and void, and my remote application will be denied.
EMPLOYEE SIGNATURE	DATE

U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION DIRECTIVE

CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION REMOTE WORK APPLICATION & AGREEMENT

Section III - Supervisor Checklist

Date Completed:

Supervisors must use this checklist to ensure that remote work requirements are met and that covered employees understand the policies and procedures of the remote work program. A Remote Worker Agreement is not effective and the employee may not begin Remote Work until the checklist is complete, the employee initiates a remote work schedule request in e-TPAP, uploads this completed form to e-TPAP, and the supervisor submits to the appropriate processing group within the Program Office, an SF-52, "Request for Personnel Action" to change the employee's official duty station.

After an item is completed, list the date on the line next to it.

A. Remote Expectations have been explained to the employee by supervisor including but not limited to:

1. The potential impact on pay and travel benefits when changing duty locations, provisions governing locality and premium pay, that the employee must receive the supervisor's approval in advance of working overtime or compensatory time, etc.

2. Performance and conduct expectations have been discussed with the employee. Performance Standards are in place and have been signed.

3. Policies and procedures covering classified, secure, and privacy data including PII have been explained to the employee.

4. The provisions governing changes to the terms and conditions of the remote work agreement have been explained to the employee, including that they must receive the supervisor's approval in advance of any changes to the location of the duty station (i.e., remote work site). Failure to obtain management approval may result in termination of the remote work agreement.

5. Confirms that the employee has little to no purpose to be assigned to a physical CBP facility and can successfully complete assignments, can work self-sufficiently, independently, is responsive, and is organized with minimal supervision.

6. Consideration was given to the work dynamic, job characteristics, and work style preferences and whether this remote work arrangement is a cost effective and efficient means to meet the mission and maintain talent in the organization.

B. Remote Work Application and Agreement is Complete

C. Employee must complete the schedule portion of the e-TPAP, must upload the Remote Work Request and the required training certificates (Cyber-security Awareness and Rules of Behavior & Telework Fundamentals) in the appropriate System of Record (ACADIS). (Instructions for the e-TPAP process can be found here: Telework and Remote Work Information SharePoint page (or its successor)).

D. Employee has acknowledged receipt of GFE in accordance with CBP Policy.

E. Request for Personnel Action submitted to appropriate processing office.

I am approving the employee's application for remote work. (After supervisor approval, employee must update the uploaded Request with the Approved Agreement before commencing Remote Work.)

Location Address of Remote Work Official Duty Station:

I am disapproving the employee's Application for Remote Work. See attached "Notice of Denial Remote Work Application or Cancellation of a Remote Work Agreement"

SUPERVISOR OR APPROVING OFFICIAL SIGNATURE

ca

U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION DIRECTIVE

APPENDIX B

U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION NOTICE OF DENIAL OF A REMOTE WORK APPLICATION OR TERMINATION OF A REMOTE WORK AGREEMENT (Complete this section when the remote work agreement is cancelled.)
1. EMPLOYEE (Last Name, First, Middle Initial)	2. JOB TITLE
3. PAY PLAN/SERIES/GRADE (Example: GS/0201/12)	4. PROGRAM OFFICE/DEPARTMENT/DIVISION
5. CURRENT REMOTE WORK OFFICIAL DUTY STATION, if applicable (Street, Apartment Number, City, State and ZIP Code)	6. NEW CBP DUTY STATION, if applicable (Street, Suite Number, City, State and ZIP Code)
7. DENIAL/TERMINATION DATE (YYYYMMDD)	8. INITIATED BY (X one) <input type="checkbox"/> EMPLOYEE <input type="checkbox"/> MANAGEMENT
9. REASON(S) FOR DENIAL/CANCELLATION (attach additional pages if required)

U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION DIRECTIVE

10. HAS GOVERNMENT-FURNISHED EQUIPMENT/PROPERTY RETURNED?

YES NO N/A

LIST PROPERTY AND DATE OF RETURN (attach additional pages if required):

11. APPROVING OFFICIAL OR SUPERVISOR SIGNATURE

DATE (YYYYMMDD)

12. EMPLOYEE SIGNATURE (If employee initiated)

DATE (YYYYMMDD)

Manual 123-9-1: Telework

September 30, 2021
Version 2.0

STEPHANIE P HINKLE-BOWLES Digitally signed by STEPHANIE P HINKLE-BOWLES
Date: 2021.09.30 19:36:54 -04'00'

Paige Hinkle-Bowles
Chief Component Human Capital Officer

Date

FEMA

Foreword

This manual provides guidance and policy direction for the administration, implementation, and oversight of the Federal Emergency Management Agency's (FEMA) telework program. FEMA considers telework to be a viable alternate work arrangement when used as a strategic management tool and workplace flexibility established to facilitate the accomplishment of work, while balancing the needs of the workforce. Teleworking allows an employee to work at home or other approved alternate worksites during regular working hours. Teleworking is a voluntary work alternative that may be appropriate for some employees and some functions. It is not an entitlement and does not change the terms and conditions of employment with the agency.

This manual has been updated to align with guidance received from the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), the Office of Personnel Management (OPM), Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) and the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) that was issued to support the return of federal employees to their official worksites once the personnel protective actions taken by the federal government to support the reentry of federal employees to their official worksites while meeting COVID-19 workplace safety plans.

Table of Contents

Foreword	2
CHAPTER 1: GENERAL INFORMATION	4
1-1. Purpose	4
1-2. Applicability and Scope	4
1-3. Supersession	4
1-4. Authorities and References	5
1-5. Policy	6
1-6. Definitions	8
1-7 Responsibilities	12
1-8. Reporting Requirements	16
1-9. Forms Prescribed	16
1-10. Questions	16
CHAPTER 2: PROCEDURES	17
2-1. Telework Arrangements	17
2-2. Determining Position Eligibility	18
2-3. Determining Employee Eligibility	19
2-4. Training	19
2-5. Changes to Telework Agreements	19
2-6. Termination and Involuntary Modification	19
2-7. Appeals	20
CHAPTER 3: TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF THE TELEWORK PROGRAM	22
3-1. Residential Telework Environment	22
3-2. Duty Station	22
3-3. Time and Attendance	23
3-5. Security, Supplies, and Equipment	23
3-6. Worker’s Compensation and Other Liabilities	24
3-7. Standards of Conduct	24
3-8. Emergency Telework	24
3-9. Telework and Continuity Planning	26

CHAPTER 1: GENERAL INFORMATION

1-1. Purpose

The purpose of telework is to allow an employee to complete their duties, responsibilities, and other authorized activities at an alternate worksite rather than the employee's official worksite (i.e., the common location to which staff report) or a supervisor-approved alternate worksite; these duties and activities include online training, writing policy, developing job aids, conducting private conversations between leadership and staff, and other activities that either do not require a physical presence in the office or would benefit from the privacy and solitude of an alternate worksite. The availability of telework promotes recruitment and retention; helps employees manage commutes and promotes work/life balance; reduces traffic congestion, fuel consumption and vehicle emissions; reduces real estate costs for the federal government; and ensures continuity of essential functions in the event of an emergency. This manual prescribes policy and assigns responsibility for telework. It details position and employee eligibility determinations for teleworking. It also addresses performance management of teleworkers (i.e., employees with telework arrangements) and provides guidance on security considerations for teleworking.

1-2. Applicability and Scope

- A. This manual applies to all FEMA employee positions as defined in Title 5 Section 2105 of the United States Code and employees hired into positions under Section 306 of the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act except local hires and reservists who are ineligible for telework arrangements as described in this Manual.
- B. This manual does not apply to FEMA employees when they are deployed to support disaster response or recovery operations. Although deployments can be virtual when employees are working remotely from an alternate work location, virtual deployments are not considered telework.
- C. This manual does not apply to approved working arrangements for employees working in foreign countries (domestic employees teleworking overseas (DETOs)), including Canada and Mexico. For more information on DETOs, please refer to the FEMA Office of Policy and Program Analysis, International Affairs Division. For information on temporarily working from a foreign country while on official travel, see FEMA Directive 122-1, Official International Travel.

1-3. Supersession

- A. This manual supersedes FEMA Manual 123-9-1: Telework, dated January 9, 2013.
- B. The COVID-19 telework provisions in Instruction 401-123-1: Teleworking and Directed Work Location During COVID-19 Event \(Interim\) remain in effect until rescinded.

1-4. Authorities and References

- A. P.L. 111-292, “The Telework Enhancement Act of 2010”.
- B. P.L. 106-346, “Making appropriations for the Department of Transportation and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2001, and for other purposes,” Section 359 and accompanying conference report.
- C. P.L. 105-277, “Making omnibus consolidated and emergency appropriations for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1999, and for other purposes,” Title IV, “Domestic Food Programs,” Section 630, “Flexiplace Work Telecommuting Programs.”
- D. P.L. 104-52, “Making appropriations for the Treasury Department, the United States Postal Service, the Executive Office of the President, and certain Independent Agencies, for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1996, and for other purposes,” Section 620.
- E. 5 United State Code (U.S.C.), Chapter 81.
- F. The Privacy Act of 1974, 5 U.S.C. § 552a.
- G. Title 5, Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) 531.605, Determining an Employee's Official Worksite.
- H. FMR Bulletin 2006-B3: Guidelines for Alternative Workplace Arrangements, March 17, 2006.
- I. FMR Bulletin 2007-B1: Information Technology and Telecommunications Guidelines for Federal Telework and Other Alternative Workplace Arrangement Program, March 2, 2007.
- J. U.S. Office of Personnel Management (OPM) Guide to Telework in the Federal Government, April 2011.
- K. U.S. Office of Personnel Management (OPM) Washington, DC, Area Dismissal and Closure Procedures, November 2018.
- L. OPM Memo CPM-2021-17, “Additional Guidance on Post-Reentry Personnel Policies and Work Environment.”
- M. Office of Management and Budget Memorandum, “Protection of Sensitive Agency Information,” June 24, 2006.
- N. Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Memorandum, “Implementing Telework Enhancement Act of 2010 IT Purchasing Requirements.”
- O. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) Enforcement Guidance, “Reasonable Accommodation and Undue Hardship Under the Americans with Disabilities Act,” No. 915.002 (October 17, 2002).
- P. OMB/OPM/General Services Administration (GSA) memo M-21-25, “Integrating Planning for a Safe Increased Return of Federal Employees and Contractors to Physical Workplaces with Post-Reentry Personnel Policies and Work Environment.”

- Q. EEOC Work at Home/Telework as a Reasonable Accommodation, <https://www.eeoc.gov/laws/guidance/work-hometelework-reasonable-accommodation>.
- R. Federal Continuity Directive 1, Federal Executive Branch National Continuity Program and Requirements, January 17, 2017.
- S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Directive 008-03-01, Continuity Policy and Programs, December 11, 2018.
- T. DHS Directive 250-05, Designation of Essential and Exempt Personnel, July 11, 2012.
- U. DHS Directive 123-05-01, Telework Directive, February 11, 2015.
- V. DHS Instruction 123-05-001, Telework Program, February 20, 2015.
- W. DHS Compensation Guidance CG-2-2021, Telework.
- X. FEMA Directive FD-302-095-1b, Continuity Programs, February 5, 2021.
- Y. FEMA Instruction FI-302-095-1b-1, FEMA HQ Continuity Plan, forthcoming.
- Z. FEMA Manual 403-21-0001, Remote Work, forthcoming.
- AA. FEMA Instruction 106-1-1, Scheduling of Work, September 30, 2021.
- BB. FEMA Directive 254-1, Commuter Transit Subsidy Benefits Program, January 16, 2018.
- CC. FEMA Manual 255-1-1, Employee Performance Management Program, February 21, 2013.
- DD. FEMA Manual 256-3-1, Administrative Grievance System, September 12, 2014.
- EE. FEMA Manual 123-6-1, Reasonable Accommodation Program, January 28, 2015.
- FF. FEMA Directive 123-0-2-1, Personnel Standards of Conduct, October 14, 2020.
- GG. FEMA Directive 123-27, Maintaining Agency Operations, October 26, 2016.

1-5. Policy

- A. FEMA promotes telework (also known as telecommuting) as a workplace flexibility for recruiting top talent, retaining current employees, increasing employee work/life balance, reducing the cost of office space, absenteeism, and use of workers compensation, and to ensure continuity of essential functions in the event of an emergency.
- B. Telework arrangements may be established to enable telework either (1) on a regular and recurring basis, meaning that the employee teleworks at least one day or more per biweekly pay period (“regular telework”) or (2) on a situational or episodic basis, that occurs as needed (“situational telework”). Employees on a telework agreement may perform episodic telework with prior approval of their supervisor. The FEMA program embraces the premise that all positions are presumed suitable for some amount of telework even if the position’s official duties ordinarily require daily physical presence at the official worksite because the position’s duties cannot be performed remotely or from an alternate worksite. For example, a FEMA firefighter or law enforcement officer would not be a candidate for regular telework but could use situational telework as needed to complete online training or write reports, and for that reason could be approved for a telework agreement if they requested one.

- C. It is FEMA policy to assume all positions included under Section 1-2.A, Applicability and Scope are eligible for, at minimum, situational telework until proven otherwise, and all employees are encouraged to complete a telework agreement. Determination of a position's telework eligibility must be based on the portable work within the position's job functions, and not managerial preference.
- D. All eligible employees should be afforded the opportunity to participate in the telework program. Employees in occupations typically deemed ineligible for telework who are working on rotations or temporary details that include work that is eligible for telework may participate in the telework program. (See criteria in Section 2-2, Determining Eligibility, for further discussion of eligibility requirements.)
- E. Employees participating in the telework program will be provided with the necessary government equipment and supplies to perform their position's functions at an alternate worksite, including equipment for reasonable accommodation, as detailed in Section 3-5, Security, Supplies and Equipment.
- F. Regular and recurring telework may be appropriate for attracting potential applicants, retaining current employees, and providing reasonable accommodation for qualified individuals with disabilities in accordance with the Rehabilitation Act.
- G. Telework will be considered as a planning factor for any building renovation or re location, especially where workspace sharing (e.g., hoteling) is required.
- H. An approved and annually reviewed telework agreement is required for an employee to engage in a telework arrangement. The agreement should outline the employee's emergency designations when applicable and allow easy implementation for unscheduled telework in emergency or unforeseen situations where teleworking may be appropriate.
- I. A new telework agreement should be established whenever there is a significant change in the telework arrangement, including changes in the employee's tour of duty or supervisor of record.
- J. Unscheduled situational telework is an important component of FEMA's ability to operate in emergencies. Telework should be incorporated into emergency preparedness operations to the broadest extent possible. Unscheduled telework is a way for FEMA and its employees to maintain productivity and help ensure the safety of the federal workforce and the public. For example, telework will be considered for inclement weather as well as emergency situations that involve national security, extended emergencies, or other unique situations. (See Section 3-8, Emergency Telework.)
- K. As part of FEMA's Continuity Plan, positions may be designated as mission critical. These designations should be an integral part of continuity planning and emergency occupant plans. As such, each FEMA organization should test its preparedness at least annually for an all-staff telework emergency by conducting an exercise where all eligible employees telework for at least one day (See Section 3-9, Telework and Continuity Planning). Designation as mission critical means the employee in the position is deemed an emergency employee for purposes of Paragraph 1-6. I.

- L. Telework training is required for all new teleworkers and their managers before they begin a telework arrangement. Employees with telework agreements may also be required to undergo periodic retraining as needed and determined by management. Telework training is available at: Virtual Telework Fundamentals Training Courses
- M. All job opportunity (i.e., “vacancy”) announcements must include an appropriate notice when the position is eligible for telework.
- N. Employee development and performance for both teleworkers and non-teleworkers will be evaluated using the same performance management program and standards. This includes providing all employees the same opportunities and treatment regarding work assignments, periodic appraisal of job performance, awards, recognition, training and developmental opportunities, promotions, and provision of retention incentives.
- O. Teleworking employees must ensure that records subject to the Privacy Act and sensitive data are not disclosed to anyone except those who are authorized access to such information to perform their duties. Teleworkers may not bring classified materials from their official worksite to their alternate worksite. (See Section 3-5, Security, Supplies and Equipment.)
- P. Teleworking employees are bound by DHS and FEMA standards of conduct and performance directives and policies, to include while teleworking at an alternate worksite.
- Q. Employee rights provided for in the collective bargaining agreement are not affected by participation in the telework program.
- R. Employees may both telework and participate in an alternative work schedule (AWS). However, a FEMA Program Offices may restrict the combined usage of both programs by an employee if doing so would negatively impact agency operations.
- S. In a telework arrangement, employees must be scheduled to work at the official worksite at least two days each biweekly pay period, on a regular and recurring basis. Employee requests for telework arrangements in which they are scheduled to report to their agency worksite less than two times per biweekly pay period constitute requests for remote work and are not addressed by this manual. For more information on remote work, see FEMA Manual 403-21-0001, Remote Work, forthcoming.

1-6. Definitions

- A. Alternate Worksite: A location where official duties are performed away from the official worksite. An alternate worksite may be the employee's residence, a satellite office, or another approved location.
- B. Alternative Work Schedule (AWS): The overarching term used to describe a schedule type that deviates from a traditional work schedule (i.e., 8 hours per day, 40 hours per week). There are two types of AWS: Flexible Work Schedules (FWS) and Compressed Work Schedules (CWS).

- C. Business Day: Every day of the year other than weekends and federal holidays.
- D. Calendar Day: Every day of the year, including weekends and federal holidays.
- E. Compressed Work Schedule (CWS): A fixed schedule in which the biweekly 80-hour work requirement for a full-time employee is fulfilled in less than 10 workdays in a biweekly pay period. In the case of a part-time employee, a biweekly basic work requirement of 64 hours or less may be scheduled to be fulfilled in fewer than 10 workdays. CWS has fixed starting and stopping times for each scheduled workday, and fixed days off.
- F. Continuity Plan: A plan containing procedures designed to ensure continuity of essential functions at FEMA under all emergency circumstances. Some of the major purposes of a Continuity Plan include delineating essential agency functions, specifying the order of succession of agency leaders and delegations of authority, and providing for safekeeping of vital records/databases. During a disruption to normal operations (with or without continuity activation), employees with and without telework agreements may be required to work at an alternate worksite.
- G. Duty Station: The city/town, county, and state in which the employee works. For most employees, this is the location of the employee's official worksite. The official worksite of the employee is the place where he or she works, or at which the employee's activities are based, as determined by the employing agency, and documented on the Notification of Personnel Action (SF-50).
- H. Emergency: Includes national and local security situations, extended emergencies, or other unique situations when the agency is closed or access to an employee's alternate worksite, official worksite, or other agency facility is limited.
- I. Emergency Employees: Employees who are assigned to positions required to sustain a facility or function in the event of a localized situation, such as inclement weather, interruption of power, or a dismissal or closure of DHS operations or services. These employees are expected to work even when DHS applies dismissal or closure procedures. The designation of emergency employees may vary according to the nature of an exigency. Emergency employees may also be designated as mission critical in agency continuity plans. FEMA employees have regular and recurring emergency management responsibilities; though not every position requires routine deployment to disaster sites, all positions may be subject to recall based on agency operational needs.
- J. Emergency Relocation Group (ERG): Staff assigned responsibility to continue essential functions from an alternate worksite if their primary operating facilities are threatened or have been incapacitated by an incident or event.
- K. Executive-level manager (ELM): Members of the Senior Executive Service (SES) who serve as Associate Administrators, Regional Administrators, the U.S. Fire Administrator, Assistant Administrators, Program Office Directors (such as the Directors of the Office of the Professional Responsibility and the Office of External Affairs), Chief Executive Officers (such as the Chief Financial Officer, the Chief Information Officer, the Chief Administrative Officer, etc.) and other Office Chiefs (such as the Office of External Affairs, the Office of Chief Counsel, etc.).

- T. FEMA Telework Coordinators: FEMA employees who, as part of their official duties, serve as points of contact for providing guidance to employees and managers in their respective organizations, collect telework data for reports, and oversee implementation of the agency's telework program in their organizations. They ensure the compliance of the telework program within their level of organizational responsibility with appropriate DHS directives, FEMA policies, processes, and procedures, and identify and implement telework improvements or corrective actions. They work collaboratively with the FEMA Telework Program Manager. Telework Coordinators also ensure compliance with the remote work program in their organizations, as outlined in FEMA Manual 403-21-0001, Remote Work, forthcoming.
- L. FEMA Telework Managing Officer(s): Senior FEMA employee(s), appointed by the Chief Component Human Capital Officer (CCHCO) and serving in the Office of the CCHCO (OCCHCO) who serve(s) as the agency's point(s) of contact to provide overall strategic direction on Telework issues.
- M. FEMA Telework Program Manager(s): Telework Program Manager(s) report(s) to the FEMA Telework Managing Officer and serve(s) as the agency point(s) of contact for Telework Coordinators, for senior managers, and for external organizations (e.g., the U.S. Office of Personnel Management, the General Services Administration, and the Department of Homeland Security). They provide leadership, guidance and interpretation, data analysis, training, and evaluation of the agency's telework program and policy.
- N. Flexible Work Schedule (FWS): A work schedule that is governed by core hours and flexible time bands and may be extended with the option to earn credit hours with supervisory approval. Employees on flexible schedules must be present during assigned core hours or accounted for by the charge of time to leave and may select arrival and departure times within approved flexible time bands.
- O. Mobile Work: Work that is characterized by routine and regular travel to conduct work in customer or other worksites as opposed to working in a single authorized official worksite. Mobile work is distinct from "portable work" in that it is site-dependent work that cannot be performed at the official worksite. Examples of mobile work include site audits, site inspections, investigations, property management, and work performed while commuting, traveling between worksites, or on Temporary Duty (TDY).
- P. Official Worksite: The official worksite is the location of an employee's position of record where the employee regularly performs their duties. Certain location-based pay entitlements (such as locality payments, special rate supplements, and non-foreign area cost-of-living allowances) are based on the location of the employee's official worksite associated with the employee's position of record. If the employee's work involves recurring travel or the employee's work location varies on a recurring basis (i.e., as "mobile work"), the official worksite is the location where the work activities of the employee's position of record are based, as determined by the employing agency, subject to the requirement that the official worksite must be in the same locality pay area in which the employee regularly performs work. In guidance published by the Office of Personnel Management, this may also be referred to as the “agency worksite.”

- Q. Personally Identifiable Information (PII): Any information, regardless of format or medium, that permits the identity of an individual to be directly or indirectly inferred, including other information that is linked or linkable to that individual, regardless of whether the individual is a U.S. citizen, legal permanent resident, visitor to the United States, or an employee or contractor to the agency.
- R. Portable Work: Work normally performed at an employee’s official worksite that can be performed with equal effectiveness at an alternate work location with respect to quality, quantity, timeliness, efficiency, customer service, and other aspects of the agency’s operational performance.
- S. Program Office: An organization led by an executive-level manager.
- T. Re-Certification of Telework Agreements: Review of an employee’s telework agreement, conducted as often as a Program Office may deem necessary, or as the agency’s mission, the functions of the teleworker’s job, the availability of communications equipment and infrastructure, or other needs of the agency or the employee evolve. Supervisors must document any amendment to a telework agreement in writing in FEMA Form 403-FY-21-104, Telework Application and Agreement.
- U. Reasonable Accommodation (RA): Any change in the work environment or in the way things are customarily done that would enable a qualified individual with a disability to have employment opportunities equal to those of an individual without a disability.
- V. Regular Telework: A voluntary work arrangement in which a position’s functions are performed on an established work schedule at an approved alternate worksite on a regular, recurring, and on-going basis as stipulated in a telework agreement.
- U. Remote Work: A voluntary type of alternative work arrangement by which an employee is scheduled to perform work within or outside the local commuting area of an agency worksite and is not expected to report to an agency/official worksite on a regular and recurring basis. For more information on remote work, see FEMA Manual 403-21-0001, Remote Work, forthcoming.
- W. Sensitive Personally Identifiable Information (Sensitive PII): PII which, if lost, compromised, or disclosed without authorization, could result in substantial harm, embarrassment, inconvenience, or unfairness to an individual. Some types of PII, such as Social Security Numbers (SSNs), Alien Registration Numbers, and biometric identifiers, are always sensitive. Other types of PII, such as individual’s driver’s license number, financial account number, citizenship or immigration status, or medical information, are considered Sensitive PII if FEMA maintains them in conjunction with other identifying information about the individual. In some instances, the context surrounding the PII may determine whether it is sensitive.
- X. Situational Telework: Also referred to as “episodic telework”, is a voluntary work arrangement that occurs on an occasional, non-routine basis and/or during a continuity event, health crisis, or other emergency situations. Supervisors have discretion to establish timeframes for situational telework based on work-related factors such as work priority, deadlines, etc. telework arrangements may be determined by the Supervisor to be full-time or part-time based on eligible telework duties and portable work needs. The definition of situational telework includes “unscheduled telework” as defined separately.

- Y. Telework: A flexible work arrangement under which employees perform the duties and responsibilities of their positions from an approved alternate worksite other than the location from which the employee would otherwise work.
- Z. Telework Application and Agreement: A written agreement of the terms and conditions of the telework arrangement that is completed and signed by the participating employee and the supervisor or designee(s).
- AA. Telework-Ready Employee: An employee who meets the eligibility criteria outlined in this manual, has completed the required training, possesses the appropriate equipment, has functional work assignments that are sufficiently portable to enable the employees to work at an approved alternate worksite, and has an approved telework agreement.
- BB. Tour of Duty: The hours of a day (a daily tour of duty) and the days of an administrative work week (a weekly tour of duty) that constitute a regularly scheduled, administrative work week.
- CC. Unscheduled Telework: A term applied in the context of OPM (Washington, DC, Area) and Federal Executive Board (Regional Offices) Dismissal and Closure Procedures, in reference to telework that occurs on day(s) that a telework approved employee was not scheduled in advance to telework. This is considered a type of situational telework.
- DD. Workspace Sharing (Hoteling): An arrangement involving two or more employees sharing one workstation by coordinating the days each employee is on-site at the official worksite; or shared use of non-dedicated workstations by employees (who telework most of their time) when they are on-site at the official worksite.

1-7 Responsibilities

- A. The Chief Component Human Capital Officer (CCHCO) is responsible for:
 - 1. Designating an agency Telework Managing Officer to administer and oversee the telework program for FEMA.
 - 2. Developing agency specific guidelines on telework necessary to implement DHS policy.
- B. Executive-level managers are responsible for:
 - 1. Actively promoting telework within their respective organizations, consistent with accomplishing their assigned missions, making every effort to overcome artificial barriers to program implementation, and integrating telework into continuity plan activities.
 - 2. Determining which employees are designated emergency employees, in coordination with the FEMA Telework Program Manager.

The Office of Equal Rights (OER) is responsible for:

1. Providing guidance, technical assistance, and facilitating the reasonable accommodation interactive process, as needed.
2. Advising on the use of telework as a reasonable accommodation.
3. Ensuring the equal treatment of teleworkers and non-teleworkers.

C. The Chief Information Officer, in coordination with the Chief Procurement Officer, is responsible for:

1. Procuring allowable Information Technology (IT) products and services to facilitate telework, to include remote access servers, client devices, and internal resources accessible through remote access.
2. Deploying and modernizing IT systems and infrastructure to support agency telework requirements (as applicable to Section 3-5, Security, Supplies, and Equipment).
3. Ensuring compliance of devices and infrastructure with federal security and privacy requirements.

D. FEMA Telework Managing Officer(s) is/are an official(s) designated by the CCHCO to oversee and administer the FEMA the telework program consistent with this manual, including:

1. Developing and evaluating the telework program structure and resources.
2. Providing overall strategic telework program direction.
3. Leveraging support for the telework program throughout the agency by collaborating with senior agency officials.
4. Appointing the FEMA Telework Program Manager(s).
5. Ensuring equity and consistency in the program.
6. Advocating for program resources, enhancements, and the continuous improvement of the program.
7. Supporting FEMA's remote work program consistent with FEMA Manual 403-21-0001, Remote Work, forthcoming.

E. FEMA Telework Program Manager(s) is/are responsible for:

1. Providing overall guidance and direction on the implementation of the FEMA telework program in accordance with law, this manual, and other applicable DHS policies.
2. Ensuring oversight for the agency telework program, and for monitoring, evaluating and providing guidance and training to all Telework Coordinators.
3. Actively promoting telework within the agency, consistent with accomplishing FEMA's mission; for overcoming artificial barriers to program implementation through education and training of leadership and supervisors on telework benefits; for providing guidance on performance management in a telework environment; and for providing guidance on the integration of telework into continuity activities.
4. Tracking employee participation and providing a report of usage data at the end of each calendar year for submission to the DHS Chief Human Capital Officer, the U.S. Office of Personnel Management (OPM), and the FEMA-Labor Management Partnership Council, as needed.

5. Supporting FEMA's remote work program consistent with FEMA Manual 403-21-0001, Remote Work, forthcoming.

F. Telework Coordinators are responsible for:

1. Reviewing all submitted telework forms, agreements, and documents received for completeness and compliance.
2. Interpreting telework policy application to their level of organizational responsibility (e.g., region office, directorate, division, etc.).
3. Maintaining accurate records of program participation for their level of organizational responsibility (e.g., regional office, directorate, division, etc.).
4. Working with the Telework Program Manager(s) to complete and submit required reports for their level of organizational responsibility.
5. Ensuring that employees within their level of organizational responsibility are fully trained on telework procedures, including IT data security and safety requirements.
6. Signing and returning to the respective employee and supervisor a copy of FEMA Form 403-FY-21-104, Telework Application and Agreement for all telework arrangements established within their level of organizational responsibility.
7. Supporting FEMA's remote work program consistent with FEMA Manual 403-21-0001, Remote Work, forthcoming.

G. The FEMA Privacy Branch is responsible for providing policy guidance and training for employees and managers to ensure that the use of an alternate worksite includes guidance on the proper handling of information protected by the Privacy Act.

H. The FEMA Office of the Chief Security Officer is responsible for providing policy guidance and training for employees and managers to ensure that the use of alternate worksites does not risk the improper disclosure of sensitive but unclassified (e.g., For Official Use Only), or classified information.

I. FEMA Supervisors are responsible for:

1. Authorizing eligible employees to telework to the maximum extent practicable without adversely impacting employee performance, quality of program delivery, or agency operations, consistent with the functions of the position and the employee's request.
2. Ensuring an adequate balance of teleworkers and on-site staff presence, if needed, to enable FEMA operations to continue in an efficient manner.
3. Supporting the equal treatment of teleworkers and non-teleworkers.
4. Determining whether requesting employees are eligible for telework.
5. Assessing the amount of portable work in the functions of each position, to determine the amount (if any) of regular telework per biweekly pay period that could be incorporated into an employee's telework agreement.
6. In collaboration with the Office of Chief Component Human Capital Officer (OCCHCO), ensuring that position descriptions are up-to-date and accurately reflect the portable work functions of the job, such that supervisors are able to make accurate and fair determinations of the level of telework-suitable work for each position, and the basis for such determinations.

7. In coordination with the Office of Equal Rights, considering, evaluating, and approving or disapproving requests for telework in response to reasonable accommodation requests.
8. Justifying the basis for any denial of, involuntary change to, or termination of a telework agreement, and communicating clearly in writing to their employees the reasons for their decisions.
9. Monitoring and reviewing the telework arrangements of their subordinates annually to ensure that agency operational requirements are met.
10. Terminating telework arrangements if an employee violates the terms of the telework agreement or otherwise is no longer a telework-ready employee, or if telework has an adverse effect on the efficiency of FEMA's performance of its mission.
11. Completing agency identified telework training designed for managing employees who telework.
12. Ensuring teleworking employees understand their responsibilities and accountability for their government-issued equipment.
13. In the event FEMA equipment is lost, stolen, damaged, or destroyed conducting an inquiry into the facts and circumstances, and provide statements, in accordance with FEMA Instruction 119-7-1, FEMA Personal Property Asset Management Program, using FEMA Form 119-7-1-1, Report of Survey.
14. Ensuring that employees comply with laws, policies, and directives to prevent the unauthorized disclosure of information that is confidential, sensitive, classified, or PII.

J. FEMA Employees are responsible for:

1. Completing and signing a telework agreement detailing the location of their alternate worksite.
2. Ensuring that their alternate worksite provides an environment that allows their tasks to be performed safely in accordance with Section 3-1 of this manual, and completing and signing a FEMA Form 123-9-0-2, Employee Self-Certification Health and Safety Checklist.
3. Completing the required agency identified telework training designed for employees who telework.
4. Protecting all government-provided equipment and software from loss, theft, or damage (including environmental damage).
5. Ensuring the security of all official, sensitive, and For Official Use Only (FOUO) data, and strictly adhering to agency information and electronic security policies.
6. Agreeing to protect government records from unauthorized disclosure or damage and to comply with the requirements of all information security laws, rules, and regulations, including the Privacy Act of 1974.
7. Immediately notifying their supervisor and all appropriate agency officials, including the Privacy Officer and/or Property Officers when a loss, theft, or compromise of personal information or government equipment occurs.
8. Reporting for work at their official worksite on their scheduled telework days if necessitated by work requirements, or as directed.
9. Updating their application for transit subsidy benefits within 10 business days of the approval of regular telework agreement, if applicable.

10. Ensuring the designated area in their home complies with safety requirements for work-at-home telework.
11. Notifying their supervisor immediately of any work-related accident or injury at the alternate worksite and completing the required documentation.
12. Notifying their supervisor if equipment failure or other technical reasons affect their ability to telework effectively and taking action to alleviate the issue in a timely manner.
13. Forwarding their office telephones to their agency-issued mobile phone (if applicable and/or possible) on telework days.
14. Adhering to the established work schedule and properly accounting for and reporting actual hours worked and telework hours on timesheets each pay period.
15. Adhering to the same workday requirements and performance measures when performing work at the alternate worksite as they would be if they were performing work at their official worksite.

1-8. Reporting Requirements

OCCHCO will collect the appropriate information and report to the DHS Chief Human Capital Officer and OPM as directed.

1-9. Forms Prescribed

- A. FEMA Form 403-FY-21-104, Telework Application and Agreement
- B. FEMA Form 123-9-0-2, Employee Self-Certification Health and Safety Checklist

1-10. Questions

Questions concerning telework should be addressed to the FEMA Telework Program Manager at FEMA-HC-WorkLifePrograms@fema.dhs.gov

CHAPTER 2: PROCEDURES

2-1. Telework Arrangements

- A. While participation in telework is not an employee entitlement, FEMA assumes that all positions are eligible for, at minimum, some amount of limited or situational telework unless the supervisor can otherwise document that none of the position's functional duties and responsibilities are suitable for work at an alternate worksite on a situational basis. For example, a FEMA firefighter or law enforcement officer could be eligible for situational telework to write reports or complete online training from their home.
- B. The incumbent employee in a telework eligible position may participate in the program if the employee meets eligibility requirements as outlined in Section 2-3, Determining Employee Eligibility.
- C. A complete telework documentation package must be submitted to the Telework Coordinator prior to participating in the telework program. The documentation package must include:
 - 1. A completed and signed FEMA Form 403-FY-21-104, Telework Application and Agreement which has been prepared in accordance with this policy and attests to the validity of eligibility and program participation. This is required to document any form of telework arrangement.
 - 2. A completed and signed FEMA Form 123-9-0-2, Employee Self-Certification Health and Safety Checklist.
 - 3. Documented verification of completion of the telework training program as described in Section 2-4, Training.
- D. A telework arrangement does not alter the terms and conditions of the appointment as specified on the employee's Notification of Personnel Action, SF-50. The telework arrangement must not affect other conditions of employment (such as hours of work) unless otherwise specified in the telework agreement. Employees may be approved for both telework and an alternative work schedule.
- E. The telework agreement shall be for the performance of official duties or related activities (including professional development and training) and shall not be treated as an opportunity to conduct personal business.
- F. Teleworkers are responsible for ensuring appropriate arrangements for the care of dependents at home if the home is their alternate worksite. Employees may not record time spent caring for a dependent while teleworking as hours of work; however, a teleworker may request an alternative work schedule that provides the flexibility for a teleworker to attend to care-giving responsibilities within the span of the teleworker's scheduled duty day. (For more information on alternative work schedules, see FEMA Instruction 106-1-1, Scheduling of Work.)
- G. An employee who claims public transportation subsidy benefits must notify the agency Transit Subsidy Manager within 10 business days of the approval, modification or rescission of a telework agreement to update the number of days the employee is permitted to telework each month by submitting an updated FEMA Form 254-1-1, Public Transportation Benefit Program, as required by FEMA Directive 254-1, Commuter Transit Subsidy Benefits Program. The FEMA Transit Subsidy Program can be reached through the Transit Subsidy Home Page.

- H. Employees who telework must be equally available to their coworkers, supervisor, and customers while teleworking as when working at their official worksite. For example, phone calls and emails must be answered with the same timeliness as when the employee is at their official worksite. Specific communication expectations should be addressed in the telework agreement.
- I. During certain weather events, national security emergency, continuity activation or other emergency situations, such as closures of the employee's official worksite, the agency may require employees with or without telework agreements to telework on short notice. (See Section 3-8, Emergency Telework.)
- J. Telework agreements will be reviewed as needed by the employee's supervisor to determine the employee's current eligibility for participation in the telework program. The employee's participation in the telework program may be amended or disapproved (terminated); otherwise, agreements remain in force. Supervisors must document any amendment in writing by completing a new FEMA Form 403-FY-21-104, Telework Application and Agreement with the employee.

2-2. Determining Position Eligibility

- A. Positions eligible for telework are those involving functions that constitute portable work, and that are measurable and conducive to supervisory oversight at the alternate worksite. Job series and title do not determine a position's eligibility for telework. Supervisors and managers should encourage telework-ready employees to enter telework agreements.
- B. Tasks and work activities generally suited for telework include (but are not limited to) reading, reviewing, editing, scheduling, planning, writing, and policy development; research and analysis (e.g., investigating, program analysis, policy analysis, and financial analysis); report writing, telephone-intensive tasks (excluding receptionist duties); computer-oriented tasks (e.g., required or developmental training, programming, data entry, word processing, web page design) and data processing.
- C. Tasks and work activities not generally suited for telework include (but are not limited to) those that require:
 - 1. the handling of classified materials.
 - 2. the use of specialized equipment.
 - 3. in-person contact with other people or otherwise require a physical presence at the official worksite.
- D. FEMA positions that are not typically suited for regular telework include: inspectors, firefighters, law enforcement officers, warehouse staff, and similar positions, although these positions may still be suitable for situational telework on a case-by-case basis. The premise is that all positions are eligible for some amount of telework and supervisors must document exceptions.

2-3. Determining Employee Eligibility

Employees are eligible for telework if their job functions include sufficient portable work, and if they do not have a Letter of Reprimand, a suspension without pay, or removal recorded in their Official Personnel Folder (OPF) for either:

- A. Absence without leave for more than five days in a calendar year: or
- B. Violations of Subpart G of the Standards of Ethical Conduct of Employees of the Executive Branch for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties.

The above ineligibility criteria are the legal consequences of, rather than adverse actions imposed for, performance correction or misconduct.

2-4. Training

- A. Employees must complete telework training before signing an initial telework agreement and starting to telework. Employee telework training is available at: Telework Fundamentals -- Employee Training.
- B. Supervisors must complete telework training to approve a telework arrangement. Supervisor telework training is available at: Telework Fundamentals -- Manager Training.

2-5. Changes to Telework Agreements

- A. Management reserves the right to require employees to report to their official worksites on an employee's regularly scheduled telework day based on operational requirements and not managerial preference. Employees should normally be provided a minimum of one business day advance notice when this occurs; however, lesser notification may be necessary and appropriate based on the agency's operational needs (such as the need to activate a Response Coordination Center due to a short- or no-notice event). The ability of the employee to report as required on short notice should be considered by the supervisor when determining whether to approve a primary or secondary alternate worksite in the employee's telework agreement.
- B. Employees may request, and supervisors may authorize, minor or intermittent changes to telework schedules without amending a telework agreement but are advised to document any such changes by email or memorandum.
- C. If a teleworker wants to establish a new work schedule or alternate worksite, a new FEMA Form 403-FY-21-104, Telework Application and Agreement must be completed and receive supervisory approval.

2-6. Termination and Involuntary Modification

- A. Employees may request to terminate their telework agreements at any time with written (including email) notice to their supervisors.

- B. Supervisors must give employees reasonable notice (generally 14 days, but not less than seven calendar days) in writing (including email) before modifying or terminating a telework agreement. That notice must include the effective date of the action and a written explanation for the decision.
- C. Failure to meet the terms and conditions of the telework agreement or comply with the instructions of this manual may result in termination of the telework agreement and/or disciplinary action.
- D. A supervisor may only terminate or involuntarily modify an employee's telework agreement due to performance or misconduct if the underlying conduct also breaches the telework agreement or renders the employee no longer telework-ready or the telework arrangement itself is adversely affecting the employee's efficient performance of their position's functions. Otherwise, changes to an employee's telework arrangement do not constitute, and must not be used as, a corrective action for performance or an adverse action/form of discipline for misconduct. See FEMA Manual 255-1-1, Employee Performance Management Program for more information on employee performance management.
- E. Supervisors should consult with the OCCHCO Employee Relations staff to determine appropriate corrective or adverse actions.
- F. Supervisors will notify their organization's Telework Coordinator within three business days of the termination of any telework agreement.

2-7. Appeals

- A. Telework-ready employees may appeal a denial of, the terms of (i.e., whether situational or episodic, the number of days teleworked in the tour of duty, etc.), an involuntary modification of, or the termination of their telework agreement using collective bargaining or administrative grievance procedures, as prescribed in FEMA Manual 256-3-1, Administrative Grievance System, as applicable. (Note: The provisions of FEMA Manual 256-3-1 do not apply to FEMA employees hired under the Stafford Act.)
- B. Employees without a collective bargaining agreement or administrative grievance avenue may appeal a denial, an involuntary change, or the termination of a telework agreement to the management official one level above the supervisor who made the decision.
- C. The appeals process must ensure that the employee and management have a fair and equitable opportunity to be heard. It is FEMA Policy that whenever possible, individuals should be allowed to telework; therefore, the burden in an appeal of a decision to deny telework is on the supervisor to show that the employee is in breach of the telework agreement, that the employee is ineligible to telework, or that telework has adversely affected the employee's efficient performance of the functions of the job.
 - 1. Decisions should be issued within 30 calendar days from the date the employee's appeal is received.
 - 2. Employees may appeal the decision of their second-line supervisor to the first line executive.

3. The Appeal decisions of the first line executive are final and there is no further right of appeal of a denial of, an involuntary change to, or the termination of a telework agreement.
4. The Telework Coordinator will notify the employee of the appeal decision.

CHAPTER 3: TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF THE TELEWORK PROGRAM

3-1. Residential Telework Environment

- A. It is the responsibility of the employee to ensure that their alternate worksite (or worksites if approved for more than one) provide(s) an environment that allows their tasks to be performed safely and effectively. (See attached FEMA Form 123-9-0-2, Employee Self-Certification Safety and Health Checklist.)
- B. When the employee's residence is their alternate worksite, the employee must designate an area within it as their official work area. The area designated must be documented in the telework agreement.
- C. The government is not responsible for any operating costs associated with the employee's use of their personal residence as an alternate worksite, including but not limited to the cost of reliable and adequate internet service, appropriate cellular service, home maintenance, insurance, or utilities.
- D. The agency may rescind a telework agreement based on a documented concern that the teleworker's alternate worksite does not provide reliable and/or adequate telecommunications connectivity necessary to support FEMA's collaboration software platforms, resulting in inefficient and/or ineffective performance.
- E. The agency may rescind a telework agreement based on a documented concern that the teleworker's use of an alternate worksite creates undue risks to the safety of any person, or to the security of government equipment or information.

3-2. Duty Station

- A. All pay and leave entitlements are based on the employee's duty station. The employee's duty station for purposes such as special salary rates and locality pay adjustments is the city or town, county, and state in which the employee normally performs their official duties as recorded in their Notification of Personnel Action (Standard Form 50 or equivalent). An employee's duty station for their position of record remains the same while the employee participates in telework, provided the employee's scheduled tour of duty includes reporting to their agency worksite at least two days each biweekly pay period. In the case of an employee whose work location varies on a recurring basis because they have mobile work, the employee need not work at least two days each biweekly pay period at the agency worksite if the employee is regularly performing work within the locality pay area of their official worksite.
- B. Supervisors may approve requests for temporary telework that is exempt from the requirement to report to the official worksite two times per bi-weekly pay period for up to 90 consecutive days for medical reasons or as part of a reasonable accommodation. Approval for this temporary telework exemption waives the requirement to report to the official worksite at least two times per bi-weekly pay period. The employee's second-line supervisor may approve such extensions for up to one year. Requests for longer or indefinite periods of telework exempt from the regular and recurring reporting requirement will be considered requests for remote work and will require a change in the employee's duty station. Circumstances in which this exemption may be appropriate include, but are not limited to, medical or family reasons, an employee request to temporarily relocate to be near a family member who has entered hospice, as a reasonable accommodation for a qualified employee with a disability, or in instances where this exemption will enhance the delivery of services or ensure continuity of essential functions in the event of an emergency. See FEMA Manual 123-6-1, Reasonable Accommodation Program for more information on reasonable accommodation and FEMA Manual 403-21-0001, Remote Work, forthcoming, for more information on remote work.

3-3. Time and Attendance

- A. Time spent in a telework status must be accounted for and reported in the FEMA time and attendance system of record. The employee is required to satisfactorily complete all assigned work, consistent with the approach adopted for all other employees in the work group, and according to standards and guidelines in the employee's performance plan.
- B. The employee agrees to follow their normal office procedures regarding the requesting and approval of premium pay, credit hours, and leave while in a telework status.

3-5. Security, Supplies, and Equipment

- A. Classified documents (hard copy or electronic) and/or equipment (e.g., diskettes, computers, laptops, removable hard drives, and other media used for processing classified information) must not be taken to an employee's alternate worksite. When an employee is teleworking, For Official Use Only (FOUO) information may only be accessed and saved on government-issued equipment. Select personally owned equipment such as keyboards and mice may be used with government-issued equipment, as required.
- B. All teleworkers are responsible for the security of all official data, and the protection of government-issued equipment/property. Government-issued equipment must only be used for official duties and only by the teleworker. A FEMA-approved remote access solution such as a virtual private network must be used.
- C. Authorization to telework is contingent upon the availability of equipment and connectivity at the alternate worksite sufficient to permit the employee reliable and secure access to email, telephone, and any other systems necessary to perform the duties of their position efficiently and effectively from their alternate worksite. Reliable internet connectivity for the alternate worksite must be obtained and maintained at the sole expense of the employee.
- D. The agency will provide necessary office equipment and supplies (paper, pens, second monitors, etc.) as needed. Employees should obtain these items through the regular procedure of their official worksite, typically through their Accountable Property Officer. The agency will not reimburse employees for any supplies purchased independently, nor will the agency provide office furniture except as a reasonable accommodation.

- E. The agency is responsible for the maintenance of all Government-issued equipment. The teleworker must notify their supervisor if there is a malfunction in the agency-issued equipment and must bring the equipment into their official worksite for maintenance or repair in a timely manner – typically the next business day. When, for whatever reason, a teleworker’s employment with the agency ends, they must return all Government-issued equipment and materials to the agency.
- F. FOUO Information must be transported from the duty station to the alternate worksite in a secure manner, such as on a secure government-issued computer or in a sealed envelope in a bag in possession of the employee at all times, until it can be securely stored. Sensitive But Unclassified Information, including Sensitive Security Information (SSI), Personally Identifiable Information (PII), Sensitive Personally Identifiable Information (Sensitive PII), and "For Official Use Only" data and non-sensitive, unclassified data, including data in documents printed by the employee at their alternate worksite, must be stored in a secure file cabinet at the alternate worksite or on a secure government computer. When such information is displayed on a computer screen, it must not be visible to others. Computer privacy screens which block computer screen visibility to others must be used when SSI is displayed on a computer monitor at an alternate worksite. No one other than the teleworker is authorized to handle and/or view any government Sensitive but Unclassified Information, including SSI, Privacy Act, and "For Official Use Only" data.

3-6. Worker’s Compensation and Other Liabilities

Employees are covered by the Federal Employees Compensation Act at their alternate worksite if injured while performing their official duties in the designated work area of their AWL as identified on the telework agreement. If a work-related injury occurs, the employee must notify the supervisor immediately, provide details of the accident or injury, and complete a Department of Labor Form CA-1, Federal Employee’s Notice of Traumatic Injury and Claim for Continuation of Pay/Compensation. The government is not liable for damages to the employee's personal or real property while the employee is teleworking, except to the extent the government is held liable under the Federal Tort Claims Act or the Military and Civilian Employees Claims Act.

3-7. Standards of Conduct

While teleworking and using government-issued equipment, teleworkers are bound by the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch outlined in FEMA Directive 123-0-2-1, Personnel Standards of Conduct.

3-8. Emergency Telework.

- A. Supervisors and managers must classify their employees as either emergency or non-emergency employees and shall maximize telework readiness among their employees in a manner consistent with this policy for the purpose of responding to office closures or delays as announced by OPM (Washington, DC), a Federal Executive Board (regional offices), or FEMA.

- B. Employees must monitor, read, and comply with such announcements unless otherwise directed by the agency or their supervisors. To the extent that the announcements conflict with FEMA and supervisory guidance, employees must follow FEMA and supervisory guidance.
- C. If FEMA determines that a Worksite Determination Event has occurred, supervisors may direct employees to work from Directed Work Locations in accordance with FEMA Directive 123-27, Maintaining Agency Operations, notwithstanding paragraphs 3-8.D and 3-8.E, regardless of whether the employees have signed telework agreements.
- D. If there is an announcement that federal agencies in the area of a teleworker's official worksite are open and that employees have the options of unscheduled leave or unscheduled telework, the following procedures apply:
 - 1. Emergency Employees must report for duty as directed unless they are telework-ready and permitted to telework by their supervisors.
 - 2. Non-Emergency Employees must notify their supervisors in advance if they intend to take unscheduled leave.
 - 3. Non-Emergency Telework Ready Employees. The agency may direct non-emergency, telework ready employees to perform unscheduled telework. If not directed to telework, they must report to their official worksite, take unscheduled leave, or request approval from their supervisor to telework.
- E. If there is an announcement that federal agencies in the area of a teleworker's official worksite are closed, or when FEMA closes an employee's official worksite, employees (including employees on pre-approved paid leave) will be granted excused absence (administrative leave) for the number of hours they were scheduled to work unless they are covered by one of the following categories:
 - 1. Emergency Employees must report for duty as directed unless they are telework-ready and permitted to telework by their supervisors.
 - 2. Non-Emergency, Telework-Ready Employees who are already scheduled to telework or who are directed to perform unscheduled telework must telework the entire workday. If directed to telework, such employees may request the use of 1) earned annual leave, compensatory time off, credit hours, or sick leave, as appropriate; 2) leave without pay; or 3) their flexible work schedule day off or revision of their work hours under flexible work schedules.

The status of employees, on official travel who have the day off due to an Alternative Work Schedule, or on Leave Without Pay are not affected by any such announcement.
- F. Continuity Activation. The agency may require any employee to telework in accordance with the agency continuity plan.
- G. Leave. Supervisors may excuse telework ready employees from work and grant annual or administrative leave with pay, as appropriate, when an emergency adversely affects the telework site (e.g., disruption of electricity, loss of heat, loss of internet connectivity, etc.), or if the teleworker faces a personal hardship that prevents them from teleworking effectively. Dependent care needs do not ordinarily entitle a teleworker to administrative leave; unscheduled annual leave may be approved, as appropriate.

3-9. Telework and Continuity Planning

- A. Emergency Relocation Group (ERG) and other mission critical employees who may be expected to work from home or other virtual office locations during a Continuity Plan activation must follow all applicable continuity procedures, which supersede this policy. Typically, ERG members are required to sign telework agreements.
- B. Designated officials identified in FEMA Directive 123-27, Maintaining Agency Operations, Sections I.A. and I.B., may declare a Worksite Determination Event (WDE) for any continuity activation, in which case non-ERG employees will work as directed under the procedures of that Directive. To the extent that an employee has a telework agreement, such direction to work supersedes the applicable telework agreement's provisions as to the days expected to be at the agency worksite.

FEMA Manual 403-21-0001: Remote Work

January 2022
Version 1.0

Paige Hinkle-Bowles
Chief Component Human Capital Officer
January 28, 2022

Date

FEMA

Table of Contents

I.	BACKGROUND	4
II.	PURPOSE	5
III.	PRINCIPLES	5
IV.	APPLICABILITY	6
V.	RESPONSIBILITIES	7
VI.	PROGRAM OFFICE CONSIDERATIONS FOR REMOTE WORK	14
A.	GENERAL	14
B.	FINANCIAL CONSIDERATIONS	14
C.	EFFECTS ON WORK UNIT	15
D.	EFFECTS ON READINESS AND RESILIENCE	15
VII.	DETERMINING REMOTE WORK ELIGIBILITY	16
A.	POSITIONS NOT SUITABLE FOR REMOTE WORK ARRANGEMENTS	16
B.	CONSIDERATIONS IN POSITION SUITABILITY ANALYSIS	16
C.	DESIGNATION OF POSITIONS AS SUITABLE FOR REMOTE WORK	17
D.	EMPLOYEE ELIGIBILITY	18
E.	LOCATION ELIGIBILITY	19
F.	ESTABLISHING ADDITIONAL, PROGRAM OFFICE-SPECIFIC SUITABILITY AND ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA	20
G.	CONTINUATION OF PRE-EXISTING REMOTE WORK ARRANGEMENTS	21
VIII.	REMOTE WORK PROGRAM MANAGEMENT	22
A.	GENERAL	22
B.	APPROVING REMOTE WORK ARRANGEMENTS	22
C.	RECRUITMENT AND SELECTION FOR REMOTE WORK DESIGNATED VACANCIES	24
D.	FINAL APPLICATION AND APPROVAL PROCEDURE FOR REMOTE WORK AGREEMENTS FOR INCUMBENT EMPLOYEES	24
E.	AMENDMENT AND TERMINATION OF REMOTE WORK ARRANGEMENTS	26
F.	RELOCATION COSTS	27
G.	APPEALS	27
IX.	REMOTE WORK CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYMENT	28

A.	GENERAL	28
B.	TIME AND ATTENDANCE	28
C.	PERFORMANCE AND CONDUCT STANDARDS	29
D.	REMOTE WORKSITE ENVIRONMENT	29
E.	INFORMATION SECURITY	30
F.	SUPPLIES AND EQUIPMENT	31
G.	WORKERS' COMPENSATION AND CLAIMS	32
H.	EMERGENCY READINESS	33
I.	BARGAINING UNIT EMPLOYEES	33
J.	LOCALITY PAY OVERPAYMENT RECOVERY	33
X.	ADDITIONAL INFORMATION.....	34
A.	REVIEW CYCLE	34
B.	AUTHORITIES.....	34
C.	REFERENCES	34
D.	DEFINITIONS.....	35
E.	MONITORING AND EVALUATION	39
F.	QUESTIONS	39
	APPENDIX A: PORTABLE WORK WORKSHEET	40
	APPENDIX B: REMOTE WORK COST ESTIMATION WORKSHEET	43
	APPENDIX C: TEMPLATE REMOTE WORK JUSTIFICATION DECISION MEMO FOR RECRUITMENT.	47
	APPENDIX D: TEMPLATE REMOTE WORK JUSTIFICATION DECISION MEMO FOR INCUMBENT....	50
	APPENDIX E: REMOTE WORK APPLICATION AND AGREEMENT	54

I. Background

The Remote Work Manual provides policy direction for the consistent and equitable administration of remote work within the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

Telework and remote work are distinct, with several key differences:

- A. For telework, an employee is scheduled to work from either an alternate worksite (typically their home) or their Official Worksite (i.e., their FEMA office or other facility), with the requirement to report to their Official Worksite at least twice per bi-weekly pay period. Remote work is an alternative work arrangement where an employee is scheduled to perform work at an alternate worksite (i.e., their Remote Worksite) within or outside the local commuting area of their Agency Worksite (i.e., their Official Worksite if not approved for remote work) and is rarely, if ever, expected to report to their Agency Worksite.
- B. To be approved for remote work, the employee must:
 - 1. Meet the eligibility criteria (which is the same criteria for telework);
 - 2. Occupy a position that has sufficient portable work (i.e., work that can be done with equal effectiveness and efficiency from an alternate worksite) to justify the amount of time spent working from an alternate worksite; and
 - 3. Complete a FEMA Form 123-9-0-2, Employee Self-Certification Health and Safety Checklist confirming their Remote Worksite provides a safe and healthy work environment.

However, whereas the FEMA Manual 123-9-1, Telework states that FEMA assumes all positions are eligible for at least occasional or episodic telework until proven ineligible, the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) has established a higher standard for remote work. Specifically, DHS Compensation Guidance CG-2-2021, Remote Work states: “In the absence of a Component business rationale to authorize remote work, a position is ineligible for remote work but may be eligible for telework”. As a result, before remote work arrangements can be established for a position within FEMA, a Remote Work Justification (RWJ) package must be approved by their Program Office’s Remote Work Approving Authority (RWAA).

- C. In a telework work arrangement, the employee and their supervisor complete and sign a FEMA Form FF-403-FY-21-104, Telework Application and Agreement. For remote work, the Program’s Remote Work Approving Authority (RWAA) must complete and sign a FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-112, Remote Work Application and Agreement (see Appendix E) to authorize remote work.
- D. Under a telework agreement, the employee’s duty station and pay is based on their Official Worksite. Under a remote work agreement, the employee’s duty station and pay are based on their Remote Worksite which will be different than the Agency Worksite. This change of duty station can impact locality pay rates, travel allowances, and other conditions of employment.

- E. A Remote Worksite may be the employee's residence, a FEMA facility other than their Agency Worksite (e.g., the Maynard, MA, Federal Regional Center for a FEMA Region 1 employee) or any other approved alternate worksite (either publicly or privately owned) from which the remote worker can successfully perform their duties (e.g., a U.S. Geological Survey field office) at no additional cost to FEMA.
- F. See FEMA Manual 123-9-1, Telework for more information on telework.

II. Purpose

- A. When implemented appropriately, and where suitable, remote work can improve FEMA efficiency, effectiveness, resilience, and ability to support the communities the Agency serves by:
 - 1. Supporting recruitment and retention of a skilled, talented, diverse, and experienced FEMA workforce;
 - 2. Reducing employees' commutes and improving their work-life balance;
 - 3. Reducing traffic congestion, fuel consumption, and vehicle emissions that contribute to climate change;
 - 4. Reducing Agency real estate costs;
 - 5. Enhancing efficiency and resilience by increasing the geographic distribution of the workforce and minimizing the operational impacts of weather events and disasters on FEMA employees; and
 - 6. Integrating the FEMA workforce into a broader spectrum of American society, including within geographically, demographically, or historically underserved communities.
- B. This manual:
 - 1. Establishes criteria for determining the suitability of positions and the eligibility of employees and worksites for remote work arrangements; and
 - 2. Establishes the policy and procedures for the administration of remote work and the management of remote workers.

III. Principles

- A. Remote work is not an entitlement. Remote work arrangements must not have adverse consequences to the efficiency, effectiveness or resilience of FEMA operations and mission performance, including its ability to perform its disaster response, continuity operations and activities, and Emergency Relocation Group (ERG) functions.

- B. No FEMA position may be considered suitable for remote work unless a Remote Work Justification (RWJ) has been developed for that position and approved by the Remote Work Approving Authority (RWAA) of the position's Program Office.
- C. Program Offices must administer remote work for their workforce in a manner that is equitable, consistent, and in keeping with the FEMA core values of compassion, fairness, integrity, and respect.
- D. Only select FEMA positions designated for international work may be authorized for work outside the United States and its territories.

IV. Applicability

- A. This manual applies to all FEMA employee positions as defined in Title 5 Section 2105 of the United States Code and positions hired under Section 306 of the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, with the exception of:
 - 1. Members of the Senior Executive Service;
 - 2. "Senior Level" (SL) and "Scientific and Professional" (ST) positions;
 - 3. Positions which require a "Secret" or higher-level security clearance;
 - 4. Incident Management Cadre of On-call Response/ Recovery Employees (IM-COREs);
 - 5. Direct Charge COREs managed by the national Public Assistance, Environmental and Historic Preservation, Hazard Mitigation, and Security cadres;
 - 6. Deployable Field Counsel of the Office of Chief Counsel;
 - 7. Reservists; and
 - 8. Local Hires.
- B. This manual does not apply to directives by managers or supervisors requiring employees to work from a Directed Work Location (DWL), even if the DWL is the same as the employee's Remote Worksite. See FEMA Directive 123-27, Maintaining Agency Operations.
- C. This manual does not apply to telework arrangements in which the employee is expected to report to the Agency Worksite at least twice per biweekly pay period. See FEMA Manual 123-9-1, Telework.
- D. This manual does not apply to temporary telework arrangements that are exempt from the requirement to report to the Official Worksite two times per bi-weekly pay period, such as for medical accommodations, temporary or permanent telework arrangements for reasonable accommodations, or temporary or permanent telework arrangements due to misconduct investigations or disciplinary actions.

- E. This manual does not apply to approved working arrangements for employees working in foreign countries (domestic employees teleworking overseas (DETOs)), including Canada and Mexico. For more information on DETOs, please refer to the FEMA Office of Policy and Program Analysis, International Affairs Division. For information on temporarily working from a foreign country while on official travel, see FEMA Directive 122-1, Official International Travel.

V. Responsibilities

- A. The FEMA Administrator is responsible for providing strategic direction to the FEMA remote work program.
- B. The Chief Component Human Capital Officer (CCHCO) is responsible for:
 - 1. Designating the FEMA Remote Work Managing Officer(s) to serve within the Office of the Chief Component Human Capital Officer (OCCHCO) who provide(s) guidance and oversight over the FEMA remote work program.
 - 2. Developing FEMA-specific guidelines on remote work as necessary to implement Department of Homeland Security (DHS) policy and ensure that remote work supports the efficient and effective performance of the FEMA mission.
- C. The FEMA Remote Work Managing Officer(s) serve(s) within the OCCHCO and is/are responsible for:
 - 1. Advising FEMA leadership on the fair and efficient administration of the remote work program, including supporting its development and implementation in accordance with statutes, regulations, this manual, and applicable FEMA and DHS policies.
 - 2. Appointing the FEMA Remote Work Program Manager(s) to serve with them in the OCCHCO and overseeing their activities.
 - 3. Ensuring equity and consistency in the program.
 - 4. Advocating for program resources, enhancements, and the continuous improvement of the program.
 - 5. Ensuring the development, review, availability, and dissemination of remote work training and guidance through the Remote Work Program Manager and in coordination with senior FEMA officials.
 - 6. Serving as the primary point of contact for communications with the Department of Homeland Security and the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) regarding remote work matters.
- D. The FEMA Remote Work Program Manager(s) serve(s) within the OCCHCO and is/are responsible for:

1. Serving as the/a lead point of contact for Program Office Remote Work Coordinators (RWCs).
2. Providing guidance and training to Program Offices through their RWCs and supervisors, including on the integration of remote work into continuity plans and activities.
3. Supporting the Remote Work Managing Officer's oversight of the FEMA remote work program.
4. Tracking employee participation in remote work programs.
5. Maintaining a record of all Program Office-specific suitability and eligibility criteria in use within the Agency. (See Chapter VII.F. Establishing Additional, Program Office-Specific Suitability and Eligibility Criteria.)
6. Consistent with the Privacy Act of 1974, and subject to guidance from the FEMA Privacy Officer, facilitating the sharing of information about the FEMA remote work program and remote work eligible positions between Program Offices, and with the Office of Equal Rights.
7. Subject to the direction of the Remote Work Managing Officer and in coordination with the Program Office Remote Work Coordinators, compiling and providing reports on remote work participation to external organizations, including the DHS Office of the Chief Human Capital Officer, OPM, and the FEMA-Labor Management Partnership Council.

E. Executive-level managers are responsible for:

1. Appointing an official at the grade of GS-15 (or higher) to serve as the Remote Work Approving Authority (RWAA) for their Program Office, and providing them written, delegated authority as needed.
2. Appointing Remote Work Coordinator(s) (RWCs) for their Program Office.
3. Refining remote work conditions in their Program Office, as appropriate, by approving the establishment of additional remote work position suitability or location eligibility criteria specific to their Program Office that exceed those provided in this manual, as necessary to support mission requirements.
4. Considering and deciding appeals of their RWAA's decisions using the procedures provided in Chapter VIII.G. Appeals.

F. Remote Work Approving Authorities (RWAA's) are responsible for:

1. Assessing the amount of portable work in the significant functions of each position in their Program Office for which remote work is sought, as estimated through a FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-110, Portable Work Worksheet (see Appendix A), to determine whether positions are suitable for remote work.
2. Assessing and confirming the projected costs or savings to their Program Office/the Agency if a vacant position suitable for remote work arrangements is recruited as remote work suitable or if remote work arrangements are established for an incumbent employee in a suitable position, as estimated through a FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-111, Remote Work Cost Estimation Worksheet (see Appendix B).

3. Reviewing and approving or disapproving Remote Work Justification (RWJ) decision memos, to ensure they include a sound, thorough, and well-reasoned assessment of the required decision factors for recruiting a vacant position as remote work suitable or establishing remote work arrangements for an incumbent employee to determine the probable effect on the efficiency of FEMA mission performance of designating a position as suitable for remote work. (See Chapter VII. Determining Remote Work Eligibility.)
 4. Reviewing and approving individual remote work agreements in the most equitable manner practicable, consistent with the efficiency and efficacy of FEMA mission performance.
 5. Coordinating with the Office of Equal Rights to approve remote work agreements as reasonable accommodations, in appropriate cases.
 6. In coordination with the supervisor, terminating remote work agreements if an employee has engaged in a serious or repeated violation of the terms of their remote work agreement, becomes ineligible for remote work, or if remote work has had an adverse effect on the efficiency or efficacy of FEMA's mission performance.
 7. Documenting in writing the basis for denials of requests from incumbent employees in positions that have been determined by the Program Office to be remote work suitable and confirming that the denial is based on other position or location suitability/eligibility criteria established by this manual, their Program Office, or operational needs.
 8. Providing employees and their supervisors written notice of a remote work agreement amendment or termination, including the basis for the amendment or termination, and the requirement, if applicable, that the employee report to the newly designated official duty station on a specified date, no sooner than 30 calendar days from the date of the notice.
 9. When a remote work agreement is amended or terminated and the new official duty station is more than 50 miles from the current Remote Worksite, notifying the employee and their supervisor whether they are eligible for relocation expenses and, if so, referring to the appropriate policies, guidance, and resources necessary to accomplish the required relocation. (See Chapter VIII.F. Relocation Costs.)
 10. Providing copies of RWJs to the RWCs for record-keeping purposes.
 11. Providing copies of RWJs to the Office of Equal Rights and the incumbent employee who initiated the RWJ (when applicable) upon request.
- G. FEMA Supervisors are responsible for:

1. Understanding and communicating Agency as well as Program Office requirements and expectations for remote work, including any Program Office-specific suitability or eligibility criteria.
2. Engaging with their employees who are interested in requesting remote work for their position and providing their employees feedback on the level of support the employee can expect to receive from them and their organization, consistent with FEMA's core values.
3. Completing or approving FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-110, Portable Work Worksheets (see Appendix A) for positions within their organization for which they want to establish remote work arrangements.
4. Completing or approving FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-111, Remote Work Cost Estimation Worksheets (see Appendix B) for positions within their organization for which they want to establish remote work arrangements.
5. Developing or approving for RWAA submission RWJs for vacancies within their organization that are suitable for remote work and for which they want to recruit eligible employees.
6. Assisting the RWAA's in the approval and termination of remote work agreements for employees under their supervision.
7. Ensuring remote work arrangements conform to the requirements and expectations of their Program Office, including suitability and eligibility criteria, and do not adversely impact the efficiency or efficacy of Agency operations. Supervisors must promptly recommend amendment or termination of remote work agreements and remote work position suitability designations whenever it is determined they are adversely affecting the efficiency or efficacy of Agency operations.
8. Monitoring and reviewing all remote work arrangements to ensure that Agency operational requirements are met, signing the FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-112, Remote Work Application and Agreement for their remote workers and reporting breaches of remote work agreements to the RWAA.
9. Ensuring the equitable treatment of remote workers and non-remote workers.
10. Ensuring position descriptions are up-to-date and accurately reflect the portable work functions of the positions under their supervision, such that RWAA's can make accurate and fair determinations as to whether a given position has sufficient portable work to be remote work suitable.
11. Ensuring the approved Remote Worksite is reflected as the Duty Station (Block 39) on the Notification of Personnel Action (SF-50) for remote workers under their supervision as of the effective date of the FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-112, Remote Work Application and Agreement.
12. Ensuring their employees working remotely understand their responsibilities to comply with laws, policies, and directives to prevent the unauthorized disclosure of information that is confidential, sensitive, classified, or Personal Identifiable Information (PII).

13. Ensuring their employees working remotely understand their responsibilities to properly account for government equipment issued to them, and if FEMA equipment is lost, stolen, damaged, or destroyed, coordinating with the Accountable Property Officer to conduct an inquiry into the facts and circumstances, and report findings, in accordance with FEMA Instruction 119-7-1, FEMA Personal Property Asset Management Program, using FEMA Form 119-7-1-1, Report of Survey.
14. Monitor and hold employees accountable for any performance issues, in accordance with FEMA Manual 255-1-1, Employee Performance Management.

H. Remote Work Coordinators (RWC) are responsible for:

1. Understanding and communicating Agency as well as Program Office requirements and expectations for remote work, including any Program Office-specific suitability or eligibility criteria.
2. Assisting RWAAs and the Remote Work Program Manager(s) in the performance of their functions.
3. Serving as the primary points of contact for providing remote work training and guidance to employees and supervisors within their area of assigned responsibility within their respective Program Offices.
4. Facilitating compliance with appropriate DHS and FEMA directives.
5. Reviewing remote work forms, agreements, and documents for completeness and compliance.
6. Signing and returning to the respective employee and supervisor a copy of FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-112, Remote Work Application and Agreement for all remote work arrangements established within their level of organizational responsibility.
7. Maintaining records of all their Program Office's remote work agreements, justifications, approvals, and disapprovals.
8. Preparing and submitting to the Remote Work Program Manager regular reports of any designations of positions as remote work suitable, rescissions of position suitability designations, and/or approvals, disapprovals, and terminations of remote work within their Program Office.
9. Providing copies of any Program Office-specific criteria for establishing remote work arrangements in their Program Office to the FEMA Remote Work Program Manager.
10. Submitting recommendations, as needed, for improvements to the FEMA remote work program to the FEMA Remote Work Program Manager.
11. Ensuring that records are kept in compliance with FEMA Directive 141-1.

FEMA Records Management Program.

- I. Human Resources (HR) Liaisons are responsible for:
 1. Understanding and communicating Agency as well as Program Office requirements and expectations for remote work, including any Program Office-specific suitability or eligibility criteria.
 2. Providing human capital process information and guidance to employees and managers to support sound implementation of remote work arrangements.
 3. Working with OCCHCO to ensure the timely processing of personnel actions related to remote work arrangements within their area of responsibility.
- J. FEMA Employees are responsible for:
 1. Understanding Agency as well as their Program Office requirements and expectations for remote work, including any Program Office-specific suitability or eligibility criteria, to determine if they are eligible for remote work arrangements.
 2. Initiating a request for development of a FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-110, Portable Work Worksheet, in cases where the program has not already done so, for their position.
 3. Initiating requests for development of a RWJ for their position if it is determined to be remote work suitable.
 4. Completing and signing a FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-112, Remote Work Application and Agreement (see Appendix E) detailing the physical location of their Remote Worksite, if approved for remote work.
 5. Ensuring that the designated area in their Remote Worksite complies with safety requirements for remote work and completing and signing a FEMA Form 123-9-0-2, Employee Self-Certification Health and Safety Checklist.
 6. Protecting all government-provided equipment and software from loss, theft, or damage (including environmental damage).
 7. Reporting any discrepancy between their approved Remote Worksite location (City or County, State) and the Duty Location (Block 39) reflected on their most recent Notification of Personnel Action (SF-50) to their supervisor and their HR Liaison to initiate corrective action with OCCHCO.
 8. Making no change to the location of their Remote Worksite location without completion of a new Remote Work Agreement and FEMA Form 123-9-0-2 and prior written approval from the RWAA.
 9. Ensuring the security of all official, sensitive, and For Official Use Only data, and strictly adhering to Agency information and electronic security policies.
 10. Protecting government records from unauthorized disclosure or damage and complying with the requirements of all information security laws, rules, and regulations, including the Privacy Act of 1974, consistent with FEMA Directive 141-1, Records Management Program.

11. Immediately notifying their supervisors and all appropriate Agency officials, including the Privacy Officer and Accountable Property Officer, when a loss, theft, or compromise of personal information or government-furnished equipment occurs.
 12. Ensuring that FEMA-issued accountable property is always available for inventory and that requests from Property Officers concerning FEMA-issued accountable property are addressed in a timely manner.
 13. Updating their applications for Transit Subsidy benefits within 10 business days of the approval of their remote work agreement.
 14. Notifying their supervisors immediately of any accident or injury at the Remote Worksite and completing the required documentation, including accident reports and Workers' Compensation claims forms.
 15. Notifying their supervisors immediately if equipment failure or other technical reasons affect their ability to perform remote work effectively and, if needed, coordinate any absences or leave that result with their supervisor in accordance with FEMA Manual 123-10-1, Absence and Leave.
 16. Adhering to their established work schedules and properly accounting for and reporting actual hours worked, in accordance with FEMA Instruction 106-1-1, Scheduling of Work.
 17. Adhering to the same workday requirements when performing work at the Remote Worksite as they would at their Agency Worksite.
- K. The Office of Equal Rights is responsible for:
1. Providing technical resource information on remote work as a reasonable accommodation in accordance with FEMA Manual 123-6-1, Reasonable Accommodation Program.
 2. Reviewing Remote Work Justifications (RWJs) from different Program Offices, as requested, to ensure equitable administration of remote work across FEMA, subject to both the unique missions and challenges of different Program Offices.
- L. The Chief Information Officer, in coordination with the Chief Procurement Officer, is responsible for:
1. Procuring and distributing suitable Information Technology (IT) products and services, as needed, to facilitate the efficient use of remote work, consistent with and as limited by FEMA Directive 139-1, Mobility-1-1.
 2. Providing cost estimates for technology-related items needed to support accurate remote work request cost estimates by Program Offices.
 3. Monitoring remote IT devices and supporting infrastructure for cybersecurity threats that can impact remote access availability, data integrity, and data confidentiality.

- M. The FEMA Privacy Office is responsible for providing guidance and training on the proper handling of information protected by the Privacy Act.
- N. The OCCHCO Employee Services Division is responsible for providing guidance and technical assistance to supervisors and management officials for remote worker workplace issues, such as determining appropriate discipline for remote workers, and when considering supplemental remote work policies or practices for their work unit if it includes bargaining unit employees.
- O. The FEMA Office of the Chief Security Officer is responsible for making guidance and training available to remote workers, managers, RWCs, the FEMA Remote Work Program Manager(s), and the FEMA Remote Work Managing Officer(s) to help safeguard against the improper disclosure of classified or sensitive but unclassified (such as For Official Use Only) information.

VI. Program Office Considerations for Remote Work

A. General

1. Program Offices considering the designation of positions for remote work should carefully consider the direct and indirect costs as well as benefits of remote work arrangements, including but not limited to, a potential increase in travel costs, changes in locality pay, delays and costs attendant to repairing information technology equipment, and effects on mission readiness and resilience.
2. A Program Office may arrive at different determinations with respect to the suitability of approving substantially similar positions within their Program Office for remote work, provided they document the different financial, budgetary, programmatic, and/or readiness considerations that support the differing determinations in the RWJ package.

B. Financial Considerations

1. The decision to approve remote work arrangements for a position, either to recruit employees directly into remote work arrangements or to approve remote work requests by incumbent employees, could have significant financial consequences for a Program Office and the Agency.
2. The establishment of a remote work arrangement may result in a change in the employee's eligibility for, or the rate of, locality pay.
3. Remote work arrangements involve a change in the employee's Official Worksite. If the Agency directs a remote worker to be physically present at the Agency Worksite or any place other than their Remote Worksite, the remote worker is entitled to travel reimbursement, consistent with FEMA Manual 122-1-1, Travel Policy Manual.

4. In the event the Agency terminates a remote work agreement or rescinds the designation of a position as remote work eligible for reasons that primarily serve the convenience of the Agency, and the employee's new Official Worksite is at least 50 miles further from the employee's current residence than the employee's Remote Worksite is from the same residence, the employee will be entitled to claim relocation expenses (i.e., Permanent Change of Station travel orders), per 5 U.S.C. § 5724 and consistent with FEMA Standard Operating Procedure 2500-001 Version 2, Permanent Change of Station.
5. Program Offices must complete a FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-111, Remote Work Cost Estimation Worksheet (see Appendix B) for each prospective remote work arrangement for their Program Office to ensure consistency and equity in their RWJs.

C. Effects on Work Unit

Program Offices should consider the value and importance of in-person collaboration and coordination within and between the various work units of their organization, as well as between their organization and other organizations, to the success of their organization. Using both FEMA facilities and Remote Worksites within a work unit could affect the team's collective performance, and hybrid teams may be impacted by partner Program Office decisions.

D. Effects on Readiness and Resilience

1. Remote work arrangements may move members of the FEMA workforce to locations that will increase or decrease the time and cost associated with directing remote workers to an Agency Worksite or other deployment location to support FEMA incident management, incident support, and continuity operations. Additionally, dispersing the workforce geographically may reduce or mitigate the impact of natural and human-caused disasters on workforce performance.
2. Remote work arrangements must consider emergency response requirements of individual employees. FEMA staff with responsibilities in support of Mission Essential Functions, such as Emergency Relocation Group (ERG) members and Regional or National Response Coordination Staff, must be able to report from their Remote Worksite to their assigned Primary or Alternate Site within the timeframe specified on their deployment orders or ERG appointment letter, but in any case, not later than 12 hours. The ability of an employee to timely travel or deploy in these cases is a relevant factor in a RWAA's decision to approve or disapprove remote work.

VII. Determining Remote Work Eligibility

The designation of a position as suitable for remote work must follow a careful analysis by the RWAA of the significant functions of the position in accordance with Chapter VII.B. Considerations in Position Suitability Analysis, a determination that the prospective remote worker is eligible for remote work in accordance with Chapter VII.C. Employee Eligibility, and a determination that the Remote Worksite is suitable for remote work in accordance with Chapter VII.D. Location Eligibility.

A. Positions Not Suitable for Remote Work Arrangements

The following positions are not suitable for remote work arrangements:

1. Senior Executive Service (SES) positions;
2. "Senior Level" (SL) and "Scientific and Professional" (ST) positions;
3. Positions which require a "Secret" or higher-level security clearance;
4. Positions assigned to the FEMA Watch network, specifically those that serve in:
 - a. FEMA's National Watch Center (NWC);
 - b. Regional Watch Centers (RWCs);
 - c. The FEMA Operations Center (FOC);
 - d. Mobile Emergency Response Support (MERS) Operations Centers; and
 - e. The Mount Weather Emergency Operations Center.

B. Considerations in Position Suitability Analysis

1. Manageability: The significant functions of remote work suitable positions should:
 - a. Rarely, if ever, require the employee to be physically present at the Agency Worksite;
 - b. Be measurable, both qualitatively and quantitatively, as can be reflected in an incumbent employee's performance plan; and
 - c. Be conducive to remote supervisory oversight.
2. Functions Typically Suitable for Remote Work include:
 - a. Clerical and analytical functions (including reading and reviewing documents, research, writing, editing, scheduling, planning, policy analysis, program analysis, and financial analysis);
 - b. Computer-oriented functions (including programming, data entry, word processing, web page design, and data tracking and processing); and
 - c. Coordination, collaboration, and communication functions that can be performed virtually (including by telephone, email, text, online document collaboration, or videoconferencing) with equal effectiveness and/or efficiency.

3. Functions Not Typically Suitable for Remote Work include functions that:
 - a. Involve accessing and handling classified information;
 - b. Require the use of specialized equipment not available at a Remote Worksite (including functions involving the repair and maintenance of government equipment or vehicles in specialized maintenance facilities);
 - c. Involve the security and maintenance of facilities, or the maintenance of equipment within such facilities (including building maintenance and physical security functions, warehouse operations, and functions involving the on-site maintenance and repair of photocopying, audiovisual, or information technology equipment);
 - d. Involve the handling of mail, and the storage, shipping and handling of supplies and equipment;
 - e. Require regular in-person engagement with other FEMA employees, within and/or outside their Program Office, or at the Agency Worksite;
 - f. Require regular in-person engagement with the public, other state or federal officials, or stakeholders, within the position's Official Station (i.e., within a 50-mile radius of the Agency Worksite); or
 - g. Require a physical presence at the Agency Worksite to allow an immediate response to emergencies that pose an immediate threat to life or property (including police, security, and firefighting functions).

C. Designation of Positions as Suitable for Remote Work

1. Positions are not considered suitable for remote work unless they are designated as remote work suitable by their Program Office's RWAA.
2. All requests for remote work arrangements, for both encumbered and unencumbered (vacant) positions, begin with an assessment of the position's level of portable work using a FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-110, Portable Work Worksheet (see Appendix A). This may be completed by an incumbent employee, the supervisor, or both, but must be submitted by the position's first-line supervisor to the RWAA for approval.
3. Once the supervisor is satisfied with the accuracy of the FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-110, Portable Work Worksheet, they must submit it to the RWAA with their recommendation for approval or disapproval of a remote work suitability designation for the position.
4. The supervisor generally has 30 calendar days from the date of receipt to submit an incumbent employee's completed FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-

110, Portable Work Worksheet to the RWAA and notify the employee that such action has been completed.

5. In cases where multiple employees occupy the same or substantially similar and similarly situated positions (e.g., a team of GS-391 Telecommunication Specialists), a Program Office is permitted to complete one FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-110, Portable Work Worksheet to determine the suitability (but not the approval) of all such positions for remote work arrangements within their Program Office.
6. Position series and title do not determine a position's suitability. Different Program Offices may reach different conclusions about the suitability of common positions (e.g., GS-0089 Emergency Management Specialist) based on additional criteria they may establish for their Program Office that may differ from that of other Program Offices. (See VII.F., Establishing Additional, Program Office-Specific Suitability and Eligibility Criteria.) A Program Office must, however, apply suitability criteria consistently and equitably to all the same or substantially situated positions within their Program Office.
7. A position is not considered suitable for remote work unless the Program Office RWAA has received input from the position's supervisor(s) of record and the RWAA signs the FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-110, Portable Work Worksheet.
8. The RWAA generally has 30 calendar days from the date of receipt to confirm (approve) or deny that the FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-110, Portable Work Worksheet supports the position's designation as suitable for remote work arrangements.
9. The RWC and the first line supervisor will receive and maintain copies of all RWAA signed FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-110, Portable Work Worksheet.
10. Employees may appeal determinations that their position is unsuitable for remote work arrangements using the procedures provided in Chapter VIII.G. Appeals.

D. Employee Eligibility

1. All incumbent employees whose positions are designated as remote work suitable are eligible for remote work unless they are ineligible under Chapter VII.D.2. Employee Eligibility (below).
2. An employee is ineligible for remote work if the employee:
 - a. Received an official reprimand or a suspension without pay, or has been terminated from federal employment for absence without leave for more than five (5) days in a calendar year, to the extent that such action remains in the employee's Official Personnel Folder; or
 - b. Has been officially disciplined for a violation of Subpart G of the Standards of Ethical Conduct of Employees of the Executive Branch for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography on any federal government furnished equipment or while performing official federal government duties, to the extent that such action remains in the employee's Official Personnel Folder.

All employees requesting remote work arrangements will self-certify that neither a. nor b., above, is in their Official Personnel Folder when they complete and sign their FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-112, Remote Work Application and Agreement (See Appendix E) and should be presumed to be eligible for remote work arrangements unless there is reasonable cause to suspect otherwise. The RWAA should contact OCCHCO for verification of the employee's eligibility when they deem it warranted.

3. When an employee with an established remote work arrangement is determined to be or becomes ineligible for remote work, both the employee and FEMA have a legal obligation to cease working under that arrangement. Depending on circumstances, the RWAA may give the employee the option of working from the Agency Worksite full-time (i.e., no telework, because an employee ineligible for remote work is also ineligible for telework). If this option is offered and accepted by the employee, the employee is ineligible for relocation reimbursement (see Chapter VIII.F. Relocation Costs). If this option is not offered, or is not accepted by the employee, either the employee must resign or FEMA must initiate removal from federal service as provided for in FEMA Manual 255-3-1, Employee Discipline Manual.
4. Changes to an employee's Official Worksite, including the approval, termination, or amendment of a Remote Worksite, require the approval of the RWAA and documentation using a FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-112, Remote Work Application and Agreement and a Standard Form (SF) 50, Notification of Personnel Action.
5. An existing FEMA employee hired into a remote work-designated position who elects to work remotely must submit a completed and signed FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-112, Remote Work Application and Agreement and FEMA Form 123-9-0-2, Employee Self-Certification Health and Safety Checklist to their position's supervisor prior to reporting for duty.
6. A new FEMA employee hired into a remote work-designated position who elects to work remotely will complete and sign a FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-112, Remote Work Application and Agreement and FEMA Form 123-9-0-2, Employee Self-Certification Health and Safety Checklist to be submitted to their position's supervisor during the Agency on-boarding process.

E. Location Eligibility

1. Remote work will only be approved for a Remote Worksite within the United States, its territories, and the District of Columbia. Program Offices may establish additional geographic restrictions within these areas (see Chapter VII.F. Establishing Additional, Program Office-Specific Eligibility Criteria).

2. Remote workers must self-certify in their FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-112, Remote Work Application and Agreement that they are able to connect to the FEMA virtual private network (VPN) with an internet access speed sufficient to allow for the efficient performance of remote work, must maintain sufficient internet access at their Remote Worksite, and must bear all costs associated with obtaining and maintaining internet access at their Remote Worksite.
3. The loss of or failure to maintain sufficient internet access at a Remote Worksite renders that Remote Worksite ineligible for remote work and is a violation of the remote work agreement. The employee must find another eligible Remote Worksite and complete a new remote work agreement, or they will have their remote work agreement terminated. The eligibility of employees for relocation reimbursement in these cases is governed by the terms of Chapter VIII.F. Relocation Costs, of this manual.
4. Some employees may require the installation and maintenance of special equipment at their Remote Worksite to enable them to perform their job. In these situations, before submitting a remote work agreement to the RWAA for approval, the supervisor should consult with the Office of the Chief Information Officer, as warranted, to confirm that FEMA is able to provide the logistical, technical, and communications support to facilitate effective remote work from the proposed Remote Worksite and at what cost to the Program Office.
5. A RWAA may make reasonable inquiries of an applicant for remote work to ensure the safety of working conditions at a Remote Worksite, and must require a remote employee to complete FEMA Form 123-9-0-2, Employee Self-Certification Health and Safety Checklist, as a condition of approving remote work.

F. Establishing Additional, Program Office-Specific Suitability and Eligibility Criteria

1. As approved by the Executive-level manager, the RWAA may establish additional, Program Office-specific suitability and/or eligibility criteria for position or location eligibility for remote work arrangements within their Program Office. Examples of Program Office-specific criteria that could be established include:
 - a. Restricting remote work of incumbent employees to Remote Worksites within 50 miles of the Agency Worksite or other FEMA fixed facility to limit travel costs and avoid possible relocation reimbursement entitlements. (See Chapter VIII.F. Relocation Costs, for more information);
 - b. Advertising remote work vacancies with core work hours set for the time zone of the Agency Worksite (e.g., “Normal business hours for this position are 9:30am to 3:30pm Eastern Daylight Time”);

- c. Requiring minimum Remote Worksite proximity to a facility capable of assisting the remote worker with equipment repair or replacement;
 - d. Establishing a maximum cost estimate for remote work positions as calculated through the FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-111, Remote Work Cost Estimation Worksheet (e.g., $3120/year, which is the maximum commuter transit subsidy as of the effective date of this manual);
 - e. Establishing a maximum number of required annual in-person activities at an Agency Worksite for a position to be remote work eligible (e.g., “Positions required to report to the Agency Worksite on a bimonthly or greater regular and recurring basis are not suitable for remote work”);
 - f. Establishing an organizational standard that precludes managers and supervisors above a certain level (e.g., “section chiefs and above” or “division directors and above”) from remote work arrangements; and/or
 - g. Other factors related to cost, readiness, efficient and effective job performance, and/or the ability to meet requirements for stakeholder or customer engagement.
2. The Program Office may not establish additional employee eligibility criteria beyond that established in this manual, or position and location criteria that are less restrictive than those established in this manual.
 3. The Program Office must document and publish any additional criteria as written guidance that is available to the workforce of that Program Office and to the Remote Work Program Manager.
 4. Program Offices must consult with the OCCHCO Employee Services Division, Labor Relations for technical assistance and guidance before implementing any Program Office-specific criteria effecting bargaining unit employees.
 5. All Program Office-specific criteria must be applied consistently and equitably to all remote work decisions within that Program Office.

G. Continuation of Pre-Existing Remote Work Arrangements

1. The FEMA workforce includes employees subject to the terms of this Manual (see Chapter IV. Applicability, above) and operating under remote work or “100% telework” arrangements that were authorized before June 23, 2021. A Program Office may continue such an arrangement for the position’s incumbent only and may not refill the position as a remote work position when it becomes vacant unless the position has been designated as remote work suitable pursuant to Chapter VII.C. Designation of Positions as Suitable for Remote Work.

2. Supervisors and employees working under “100% telework” arrangements as provided for under the previous FEMA Manual 123-9-1, Telework, will confirm that the duty station listed on their Notification of Personnel Action is the location of their Remote Worksite. If this results in a change in the duty station, this may impact the employee’s locality pay rate, travel allowances, and other conditions of employment.
3. Supervisors and employees in such arrangements must complete and sign a FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-112, Remote Work Application and Agreement (See Appendix E) to document the remote work arrangement per Chapter VIII.D. Final Application and Approval Procedure for Remote Work Agreements for Incumbent Employees, within 45 calendar days of this manual’s effective date.

VIII. Remote Work Program Management

A. General

Positions suitable for remote work may not be approved for remote work unless a Remote Work Justification (RWJ) decision memo has been developed for and approved by the RWAA. The RWJ provides the business case that addresses the estimated costs, benefits, and overall impact on the FEMA mission by evaluating the totality of the remote work arrangement circumstances, including the organizational unit and role of the position(s), the proposed Remote Worksite location (if known), the eligibility criteria of this manual as well as any Program Office-specific position or location criteria, and any special circumstances of a requesting incumbent employee.

B. Approving Remote Work Arrangements

1. Requests to establish remote work arrangements for positions suitable for remote work may be initiated by the supervisor, other Program Office management, or an incumbent employee.
2. An incumbent employee should discuss their interest in remote work arrangements with their first line supervisor before initiating development of a RWJ for their position to determine if the supervisor supports remote work arrangements for their position and either collaborate on the RWJ with their supervisor or decide to proceed with their request and develop a RWJ for their position without their supervisor’s support.
3. If an incumbent’s position has not been determined to be suitable for remote work (i.e., a FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-110, Portable Work Worksheet for their position has not already been completed and approved within their Program Office), the employee may initiate the process of determining its suitability using the procedures found in Chapter VII.C. Designation of Positions as Suitable for Remote Work.

4. All requests to establish a remote work arrangement for a position or positions require the completion of a RWJ package that is submitted by the position's first line supervisor to the Program Office RWAA for an approval decision. That package includes the following:
 - a. A copy of the approved FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-110, Portable Work Worksheet (see Appendix A) confirming their position is suitable for remote work arrangements within their Program Office;
 - b. A completed FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-111, Remote Work Cost Estimation Worksheet (see Appendix B) that provides a simple estimate of the net costs to or savings for the Program Office, the Agency, and/or the government to establishing remote work arrangements for this position working remotely from a Remote Worksite/the proposed Remote Worksite; and
 - c. Either a Remote Work Justification Decision Memo – Recruitment or a Remote Work Justification Decision Memo – Incumbent which follows the format and required content of the templates provided at Appendices C and D of this manual.
5. In the case of an encumbered position, although an incumbent employee may develop most or all of the RWJ package for their position, the first-line supervisor is responsible for assessing the accuracy of the documentation provided to the RWAA. The first-line supervisor is responsible for formally submitting the request to the RWAA with either an endorsement or non-endorsement of the accuracy of the RWJ package documentation and/or the recommendation for approval of the position for remote work. An incumbent employee must send a written request to their first-line supervisor to request that they submit the RWJ package to the Program Office RWAA for consideration.
6. The first-line supervisor generally has up to 30 calendar days from receipt of the request from the employee to submit the RWJ package to the RWAA. The employee will receive a dated copy of the RWJ package when it is sent to the RWAA for consideration.
7. The RWAA generally has 30 calendar days from the date of receipt to render a decision on a completed RWJ package.
8. Employees may appeal a RWAA's decision on their RWJ package using the procedures provided in Chapter VIII.G. Appeals.
9. The Office of Equal Rights may request records of remote work position designations, approvals, and disapprovals to ensure the fair and equitable administration of the remote work program between different FEMA Program Offices. Any requests from the Office of Equal Rights for such records must be fulfilled.

C. Recruitment and Selection for Remote Work Designated Vacancies

1. To recruit for and fill a position suitable for remote work, the hiring manager should forward the RWAA-approved RWJ to the OCCHCO, in accordance with FEMA Manual 253-11-1, Merit Promotion and Internal Placement.
2. Vacancy announcements of remote work suitable positions which the Program Office intends to fill with a remote worker will list the job location as “location negotiable.”
3. Employees hired into remote work suitable positions which are not advertised as “location negotiable” may not have remote work arrangements for their position approved until 90 days after reporting for duty for that position.

D. Final Application and Approval Procedure for Remote Work Agreements for Incumbent Employees

1. Employees with a RWAA-approved RWJ for the position they encumber must submit a complete remote work application package to their supervisors. A complete remote work application package includes:
 - a. A copy of their RWAA-signed and approved RWJ decision memo;
 - b. A completed and signed FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-112, Remote Work Application and Agreement (see Appendix E) that includes the street address of the Remote Worksite, as well as the employee’s FEMA mobile phone number;
 - c. A completed and signed FEMA Form 123-9-0-2, Employee Self-Certification Health and Safety Checklist; and
 - d. Documentation of completion of any training required for approval of a remote work agreement.
2. The supervisor must review the employee’s complete application package to confirm it aligns to the information provided in the RWAA-approved RWJ decision memo and recommend approval, denial, or conditional approval subject to a modification of the terms, generally within 30 calendar days of receipt of the application package and forward the package and a recommendation for approval or disapproval to the RWAA. A disapproval recommendation for an application from an employee with a RWAA-approved and signed decision memo should only be made if there has been a change in the actual versus projected Remote Worksite location or a subsequent change to the eligibility of the employee or the suitability of their position.
3. The RWAA generally should return the approved or disapproved application to the employee through the supervisor and the RWC within 30 calendar days of receiving the complete remote work application package.

4. The RWAA's approval of a remote work agreement, and of entering a voluntary remote work arrangement that affords the employee significant benefits, must be contingent on the employee's agreement to:
 - a. Abide by the terms of the remote work agreement and maintain their eligibility for remote work;
 - b. Maintain the safety of the employee's workplace at the Remote Worksite;
 - c. Maintain all FEMA equipment in working order and contact their supervisors promptly to arrange for the repair or replacement of equipment when necessary;
 - d. Obtain and maintain, at the remote worker's expense, sufficient internet service for effective connectivity to the FEMA virtual private network;
 - e. Safeguard Sensitive but Unclassified or sensitive information at the Remote Worksite, or while traveling to and from the Remote Worksite; and
 - f. Not access classified information at the Remote Worksite unless their Remote Worksite is another secure federal facility approved by the Office of the Chief Security Officer.
5. Denial of either a RWJ or a remote work agreement requested by an employee occupying a position determined by the Program Office to be suitable for remote work must be documented in writing and include the basis for denial, which is limited to the criteria established in Chapter VII. Determining Remote Work Eligibility, additional position suitability or location eligibility criteria established by the Program Office and/or operational needs.
6. Employees may appeal the denial of requests for remote work, or for the reimbursement of relocation costs, using the process described in Chapter VIII.G. Appeals.
7. Once a FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-112, Remote Work Application and Agreement is approved and signed by the RWAA and the employee, it is forwarded to the RWC for action. The RWC will sign and return copies of the agreement to both the employee and the RWAA and will contact the supervisor to initiate a Change in Duty Station action that will be effective as of the effective date of the agreement. Personnel actions not submitted timely may result in a debt owed by the employee to the Agency in instances where the employee is moving to a lower locality pay area.
8. Program Offices will ensure remote workers and their supervisors review and update, if needed, remote work agreements annually, or more often as necessary.

E. Amendment and Termination of Remote Work Arrangements

1. A remote worker may request to terminate a remote work agreement with or without cause, at the employee's own expense, without adverse employment consequences, provided that the employee must be able to perform the essential functions of their position at their Official Worksite/former Agency Worksite.
2. Managers and supervisors must consider the decision to amend or terminate a remote work agreement carefully. Managers and supervisors must not use the termination of a remote work agreement as a form of corrective action for performance or as a form of discipline for misconduct. A supervisor must consult with the OCCHCO Employee Services Division, Employee Relations Section staff to determine proper alternatives to terminating a remote work agreement due to employee misconduct or performance-related reasons.
3. The RWAA may amend or terminate a remote work agreement if the RWAA makes a written determination that:
 - a. The employee is ineligible for remote work under Chapter VII.D.2. Employee Eligibility;
 - b. The employee has violated the terms of the remote work agreement;
 - c. The Agency is unable to provide sufficient logistical, technological, or communications support (except internet connectivity, which is the responsibility of the employee) for the efficient use of the employee's remote work arrangement; or
 - d. The Agency has rescinded a determination that the incumbent's position is suitable for remote work.
4. The RWAA must provide a remote worker and their supervisor notice of the termination, including:
 - a. The specific basis for termination as provided for under this manual;
 - b. An explanation of the evidence supporting that basis;
 - c. The location of the Official Worksite to which the remote worker will be reassigned;
 - d. The requirement to report to the newly designated Official Worksite at a specified future date, no sooner than 30 calendar days from the date of the notice;
 - e. Whether the Agency will reimburse the remote worker for any relocation costs consistent with Chapter VIII.F. Relocation Costs; and
 - f. Instructions regarding the process to seek reimbursement of relocation costs, if approved.

F. Relocation Costs

1. When the termination or amendment of a remote work agreement results in the employee's new Official Worksite being at least 50 miles further from the employee's current residence than the employee's current Remote Worksite is from the same residence (as calculated based on driving distance using the shortest route) the employee may be entitled to relocation expense reimbursement, as follows:
 - a. If the termination is at the request of and for the convenience of the employee, the employee is not entitled to reimbursement for any relocation costs;
 - b. If the termination is the result of a change in the employee's or their Remote Worksite's eligibility for remote work, or other violation of their remote work agreement, the employee may not be entitled to reimbursement for any relocation costs;
 - c. If the termination is at the request of and for the operational or financial convenience of the Agency, the employee is entitled to reimbursement for relocation costs.

Employees will not incur relocation costs before the RWAA provides the employee with a written determination approving or denying reimbursement for relocation costs. The RWAA may not deny an employee reimbursement for relocation costs without the written concurrence of the Office of Chief Counsel.

2. Remote-work agreements will not be terminated or amended if such termination or amendment would entitle the employee to reimbursement of relocation expenses, per FEMA Standard Operating Procedure 2500-001 Version 2, Permanent Change of Station, and the Program Office lacks sufficient funds to pay that cost. Any such termination or amendment of a remote-work agreement must be postponed until such time that sufficient funds are available to pay the cost of any associated relocation expenses.
3. Supervisors will notify their organization's RWC within three (3) business days of a final decision to terminate a remote work agreement.

G. Appeals

1. Employees hired under Title 5 Section 2105 of the United States Code may appeal an RWAA's decision through the FEMA Administrative Grievance System (see FEMA Instruction 256-3-1, Administrative Grievance System).
2. Employees hired under Section 306 of the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act may use the system defined in Section 11-6 of FEMA Manual 252-2-1, Cadre of On-Call Response/Recovery Employee \(CORE\) Program to appeal a RWAA decision.
3. Bargaining unit members may elect to follow the grievance procedures provided in FEMA's collective bargaining agreement.

4. An employee may appeal FEMA's denial of relocation expenses to the Civilian Board of Contract Appeals in accordance with 48 C.F.R. Part 6104. All claims must be submitted in writing to the Clerk of the Board. Questions about appeals may be addressed to the Clerk by telephone at (202) 606-8800. Instructions for filing an appeal to the CBCA can be found at <https://cbca.gov/howto/filing.html>.

IX. Remote Work Conditions of Employment

Except as stated in this manual, or in DHS or OPM policy or guidance, a remote worker's duties, obligations, benefits, performance and conduct standards, and conditions of employment are the same as those of a non-remote worker.

A. General

1. Executives, managers, and supervisors must treat remote workers and non-remote workers equitably by maintaining consistency in assignments of work, recognition, discipline, performance management, developmental opportunities, promotions, and other conditions of employment.
2. Supervisors who receive employee requests to work from an alternate worksite for telework (temporarily, up to 1 year) or remote work (more than 1 year/permanently) based on a disability must consult with the Office of Equal Rights Disability Unit prior to approving the request. See FEMA Manual 123-6-1, Reasonable Accommodation Program for additional information.

B. Time and Attendance

1. Scheduling of Work. Remote workers are bound by the same policies regarding work schedules, leave, and premium pay as the non-remote working employees of their Program Office. Remote workers are eligible for the same Alternative Work Schedules (AWS), including maxiflex schedules, as non-remote employees. See FEMA Instruction 106-1-1, Scheduling of Work.
 - a. Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) Compliance. Supervisors may set or adjust remote workers' work schedules across different time zones to facilitate effective collaboration within work units. Supervisors are strongly cautioned against the excessive assignment of work to remote workers based on their virtual availability, particularly if the remote worker is in a different time zone or on a different work schedule than the supervisor. A supervisor's expressed or implied expectation that an employee will work overtime without the additional compensation to which an employee is entitled under the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) may violate the employee's legal rights and incur legal liability for the Agency.

- b. Night Differential Pay. Supervisors should consider time zone differences in setting schedules such that employees are not regularly scheduled for night differential pay unless warranted. Employees whose Remote Worksite and Agency Worksite are in different time zones may not elect to set flexible hours such that they are paid night differential when not necessary. While employees can choose to work those hours if convenient for them, they cannot claim night differential for those hours unless it is required by the job and approved by their supervisor.
 - c. Family-Friendly Schedules. Remote work may be used to enhance flexibility for employees to manage their work/family responsibilities, but employees remain responsible for ensuring that they work the full number of scheduled duty hours each day, and for notifying their supervisors of any need to take leave during duty hours for dependent care or personal/family responsibilities.
 2. Telework and Remote Work. Remote workers may participate in the FEMA Telework Program and work from an alternate worksite (i.e., a location different than their Remote Worksite) in accordance with FEMA Manual 123-9-1, Telework.
 3. Time and Attendance. Remote work hours will be logged in FEMA time and attendance recordkeeping systems as “Regular Base Pay,” except that remote workers who have approved telework agreements will record their telework hours as prescribed in FEMA Manual 123-9-1, Telework. (For example, if a remote worker’s Remote Worksite is a FEMA facility, and they also telework from their residence two days a week, they will record “Regular Base Pay” while working from their Remote Worksite and telework hours while working from their residence.)

C. Performance and Conduct Standards

1. Remote workers must complete assigned work according to the same standards as non-remote workers. Supervisors must document remote workers’ performance standards in performance plans.
2. Remote workers are bound by the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch, the FEMA Personnel Standards of Conduct, and other applicable DHS and FEMA standards and policies.
3. Supervisors and managers must afford remote workers equal opportunities and treatment regarding work assignments, periodic appraisal of job performance, awards and recognition, training, development opportunities, promotions, and retention incentives.

D. Remote Worksite Environment

1. It is the responsibility of the employee to ensure that their Remote Worksite provides an environment that allows their tasks to be performed safely and effectively, and to complete a FEMA Form 123-9-0-2, Employee Self-Certification Safety and Health Checklist.

2. When the employee's residence is their Remote Worksite, the employee must designate an area within it as their official work area. The area designated must be documented in the remote work agreement.
3. The government is not responsible for any operating costs associated with the employee's use of their residence as a Remote Worksite, including but not limited to the cost of reliable and adequate internet service, appropriate land line or cellular phone service, site maintenance, insurance, or utilities.
4. The Agency may rescind a remote work agreement based on documented evidence that the remote worker's Remote Worksite does not meet this manual's eligibility standards for internet service connectivity or the physical safety and security of the employee and/or government equipment and communication. The eligibility of employees for relocation reimbursement in these cases is governed by the terms of Chapter VIII.F. Relocation Costs, of this manual.

E. Information Security

1. Remote workers must strictly adhere to relevant information security laws and Agency policies.
2. Employees may not possess, store, transmit, transport, view, access, or allow others to possess or access classified information, except as prescribed and authorized by the Chief Security Officer.
3. Classified documents (hard copy or electronic) and/or equipment (e.g., diskettes, computers, laptops, removable hard drives, and other media used for processing classified information) must not be taken to an employee's Remote Worksite. FOUO information may only be accessed and saved on government-issued equipment. Select personally owned equipment such as non-Bluetooth-enabled keyboards and mice may be used with government-issued equipment, as required.
4. All remote workers are responsible for the security of all official data, and the protection of government-issued equipment/property. Government-issued equipment must only be used for official duties and only by the remote worker. A FEMA-approved remote access solution such as a virtual private network must be used.
5. FOUO Information must be transported from a FEMA facility to the Remote Worksite in a secure manner, such as on a secure government-issued computer or in a sealed envelope in a bag in possession of the employee at all times, until it can be securely stored. Sensitive But Unclassified Information, including Sensitive Security Information (SSI), Personally Identifiable Information (PII), Sensitive Personally Identifiable Information (Sensitive PII), and "FOUO" data and non-sensitive, unclassified data, including data in documents printed by the employee at their Remote Worksite, must be stored in a secure file cabinet at the Remote Worksite or on a secure government computer. When such information is displayed on a computer screen, it must not be visible to others. Computer privacy screens which block computer screen visibility to others must be used when SSI is displayed on a computer monitor at a Remote Worksite. No one other than the remote worker is authorized to handle and/or view any government Sensitive but Unclassified Information, including SSI, Privacy Act, and "FOUO" data.

6. Remote workers must protect PII in compliance with FEMA Directive 109-2, Privacy Program.

F. Supplies and Equipment

1. Program Offices will provide remote workers with the necessary government equipment and supplies to adequately perform their tasks at their Remote Worksite, such as a mobile phone, portable computer, printer (if needed) with associated consumable printing supplies, to the standard established by the Program Office or to an Agency standard should one be established. Remote workers should work with their supervisors and Custodial Officers to obtain these items. FEMA will not reimburse remote workers for any supplies purchased independently. FEMA will not provide office furniture except as a part of an approved reasonable accommodation.
2. FEMA is not responsible for any operating costs incurred by the employee (such as utilities, rent, internet service, or homeowner's insurance) as a result of working from a Remote Worksite, including but not limited to their residence.
3. Remote workers are responsible for the security and custody of government property issued to them and will comply with FEMA Directive FEMA Directive 119-7, Personal Property Asset Management Program to report lost, stolen, damaged, or destroyed government property.
4. Employees must only use government issued equipment and their FEMA email address for their official duties. Remote workers must not allow non-FEMA employees to use their government-issued property.
5. FEMA is responsible for the repair and maintenance of all government-issued equipment, including employee ID badges.
 - a. FEMA may require remote workers to bring their government-issued equipment to their Agency Worksite, or to another FEMA facility (with prior coordination/approval), for maintenance, repair, or replacement.
 - b. Remote workers must notify their supervisors and Custodial Officers if any of their FEMA-issued equipment requires repair or replacement.
 - i. If there is a FEMA facility, either fixed (such as a Distribution Center) or temporary (such as a Joint Field Office) within a 50-mile radius of the employee's Official Worksite, the employee may be directed to travel to that location with any FEMA-issued equipment for repair or replacement.

- ii. If there is no FEMA facility within 50 miles of the remote worker's Remote Worksite, the supervisor and the remote worker will arrange for the shipment (at Agency expense) of replacement equipment to the employee, the shipment of the non-functioning equipment to a FEMA facility for repair, or both.
 - iii. If the employee's presence is required to solve the issue (for example, the employee must be physically present to have software, or a certificate installed) the supervisor and the remote worker should arrange for repairs at the FEMA facility where the repairs may be performed at the lowest cost to the Agency. (In the case of employee ID badge problems, this may be another DHS facility with badging capability.) The supervisor must authorize travel orders in accordance with FEMA Manual 122-1-1, Travel Policy.
- c. Supervisors may approve up to five (5) days of administrative leave for each instance a remote employee is unable to work during the period of repair and replacement of their equipment. Supervisors should notify the OCCHCO Employee Services Division, Employee Relations Section prior to approving the use of administrative leave. Administrative leave provided for this purpose counts toward the maximum 10 days of annual administrative leave permitted under the Administrative Leave Act of 2016.
6. Remote workers are responsible for contacting their Custodial Officer and coordinating the return of all government-issued equipment and materials to FEMA prior to their separation from the Agency. If equipment cannot be returned to a FEMA facility, the supervisor and the remote worker will arrange for the shipment of equipment to the Agency at FEMA's expense.

G. Workers' Compensation and Claims

1. Employees who are injured while working remotely are covered by the Federal Employees Compensation Act if the injury occurred within the scope of their official duties and in accordance with the terms of the remote work agreement.
2. Employees must notify their supervisor immediately, provide details of the accident or injury, and complete a Department of Labor Form CA-1, Federal Employee's Notice of Traumatic Injury and Claim for Continuation of Pay/Compensation.
3. The government is not liable for any injury to the employee or other persons, or for damages to the employee's personal or real property, while the employee is working remotely, except as provided under the Federal Tort Claims Act or the Military and Civilian Employees Claims Act.

H. Emergency Readiness

1. Remote workers must work if a weather and safety event closes their Agency Worksite.
2. Remote workers must notify their supervisors as soon as possible when emergencies affect their ability to work from their Remote Worksite. If a weather and safety event prevent a remote worker from working safely at their Remote Worksite, the supervisor may approve situational telework, grant administrative leave, or grant some other form of leave, as appropriate. FEMA Manual 123-9-1, Telework, contains detailed instructions on the availability of different forms of leave during weather and safety events.
3. Remote workers are subject to deployment, like all FEMA employees. FEMA management may require a remote worker to travel or deploy to their Agency Worksite or other facility with reasonable notice—ordinarily, at least one business day, but less for exigent emergency or disaster response purposes. The ability of an employee to travel or deploy from the Remote Worksite for disaster response duties on short notice is a relevant factor in a RWAA’s decision to approve or disapprove remote work.

I. Bargaining Unit Employees

1. Employees’ rights provided for in the collective bargaining agreement are not affected by participation in a remote work program.
2. A supplemental remote work policy or practice is any personnel directive, instruction, or order, established by rule, regulation, or otherwise that affects employee working conditions with respect to participation in the remote work program.
3. Components with bargaining unit employees must consult the OCCHCO Employee Services Division, Labor Relations Section prior to establishing supplemental remote work policies or practices for their work unit. To the extent that components retain discretion under this Manual to establish such policies or practices, the application of those policies or practices to a work unit with bargaining unit employees is subject to the terms of the collective bargaining agreement and the statutory duty to bargain conditions of employment. See 5 U.S.C. §§ 7102 and 7114.

J. Locality Pay Overpayment Recovery

1. Remote Workers who receive overpayments of locality pay due to an incorrect duty station listed on their SF-50 Notification of Personnel Action must notify their supervisors as soon as possible after recognizing an overpayment. Remote Workers who receive overpayments of locality pay, even if not due to their own action, are responsible for repaying any excess funds received or appealing the need for repayment, in accordance with FEMA Directive 127-1, Collection of Debts Owed by FEMA Employees.

5. Remote workers who willfully mislead FEMA as to their actual work location to defraud the United States government, or for any other improper purpose, are responsible for the repayment of any improper payments received, in accordance with FEMA Directive 127-1, Collection of Debts Owed by FEMA Employees. They are also subject to disciplinary action, up to and including removal from federal service, and criminal prosecution. Employees should report such misconduct to FEMA's Office of Professional Responsibility at: FEMA-Misconduct@fema.dhs.gov or 833-TELL-OPR (833-835-5677).

X. Additional Information

A. Review Cycle

FEMA Manual 403-21-0001, Remote Work will be reviewed, reissued, revised, or rescinded within four (4) years of the issue date.

B. Authorities

1. 5 U.S.C. § 6329c, Weather and Safety Leave.
2. 5 U.S.C. Ch. 81, Federal Employees' Compensation Act.
3. 5 U.S.C. § 552a, The Privacy Act of 1974.
4. 28 U.S.C. §§ 1346, 2671-2680, The Federal Tort Claims Act.
5. 29 U.S.C. § 701 et seq., The Rehabilitation Act of 1973 ("Rehabilitation Act"); and its implementing regulations, 29 C.F.R. § 1614.203.
6. 5 C.F.R. § 531.605, Determining an Employee's Official Worksite.
7. 5 C.F.R. §§ 630.1601-1607, Weather and Safety Leave.
8. 5 C.F.R. Part 2635, Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch.
9. 5 U.S.C. § 5724, Travel and Transportation Expenses of Employees Transferred; Advancement of Funds; Reimbursement on Commuted Basis.

C. References

1. U.S. Department of Homeland Security, Compensation Guidance CG-2-2021, July 15, 2021.
2. Department of Labor Form CA-1, Federal Employee's Notice of Traumatic Injury and Claim for Continuation of Pay/Compensation.
3. OPM Memo CPM-2021-17, "Additional Guidance on Post-Reentry Personnel Policies and Work Environment."

4. OMB/OPM/General Services Administration (GSA) memo M-21-25, "Integrating Planning for a Safe Increased Return of Federal Employees and Contractors to Physical Workplaces with Post-Reentry Personnel Policies and Work Environment."
5. DHS Directive 123-05, Telework, February 11, 2015.
6. DHS Management Directive (MD) 11052.1, Safeguarding Sensitive but Unclassified (For Official Use Only) Information, January 6, 2005.
7. DHS Instruction 123-05-001, Telework Program, February 20, 2015.
8. FEMA Directive 109-2, Federal Emergency Management Privacy Program, May 16, 2013.
9. FEMA Directive 119-7 Rev. 3, Personal Property Asset Management Program, November 20, 2020.
10. FEMA Directive 123-27, Maintaining Agency Operations, October 26, 2016.
11. FEMA Directive 139-1, Mobility-1-1, April 2019.
12. FEMA Directive 141-1, FEMA Records Management Program, March 6, 2014.
13. FEMA Directive 139-1, Mobility-1-1, April 22, 2019.
14. FEMA Delegation of Authority 0106-1, Delegation of Authority to Regional Administrators, March 2, 2016.
15. FEMA Instruction 106-1-1, Scheduling of Work, September 30, 2021.
16. FEMA Instruction 119-7-1, FEMA Personal Property Asset Management Program, November 2020.
17. FEMA Manual 122-1-1, Travel Policy Manual, September 23, 2015.
18. FEMA Manual 123-6-1, Reasonable Accommodation Program, January 28, 2015.
19. FEMA Manual 123-9-1, Telework, September 30, 2021.
20. FEMA Manual 123-10-1, Absence and Leave, December 29, 2015.
21. FEMA Directive 302-095-01b, Continuity Programs, February 5, 2021.
22. FEMA Form FF-401-FY-21-102, Remote Work Application and Agreement.
23. FEMA Form 123-9-0-2, Employee Self-Certification Health and Safety Checklist.
24. FEMA Standard Operating Procedure 2500-001 Version 2, Permanent Change of Station, September 6, 2018.

D. Definitions

1. Alternative Work Schedules (AWS): Work schedules that differ from traditional fixed work schedules (e.g., eight hours per day, forty hours per week)

2. Agency Worksite: The term used to identify the place where an employee would normally work absent a remote work agreement, and which becomes the employee's Official Duty Station if the Agency terminates the remote work agreement. The term "regular worksite," which is sometimes used in OPM regulations, is synonymous with "Agency Worksite." The Agency Worksite is not a remote worker's Official Duty Station for calculation of locality pay, travel allowances, or other purposes.
3. Continuity Plan: A plan containing procedures designed to ensure continuity of essential functions at FEMA under all emergency circumstances.
4. Devolution Emergency Response Group: Personnel stationed at a geographically dispersed location, other than the primary location, who are identified to continue performance of essential functions.
5. Duty Station: The city/town, county, and state in which the employee works. For most employees, this is the location of the employee's Official Worksite.
6. Emergency Relocation Group (ERG): Staff assigned to continue performance of essential functions at an alternate location in the event that their primary operating facility or facilities are impacted or incapacitated by an incident.
7. Executive-level manager: Any executive occupying the highest rank in a discreet organization listed on the FEMA Organization Chart, including Associate Administrators, Regional Administrators, Assistant Administrators, Program Office Directors (such as the Directors of the Office of Professional Responsibility and the Office of Equal Rights), Chief Executive Officers (such as the Chief Information Officer, the Chief Administrative Officer, etc.), other Office Chiefs (such as the Office of External Affairs and the Office of Chief Counsel), and any Assistant Administrator or equivalent not listed in the FEMA Organization Chart.
8. Mobile Work: Work that is characterized by routine and regular travel to conduct work in customer or other worksites as opposed to working in a single authorized Official Worksite. Examples of mobile work include site audits, site inspections, investigations, property management, and work performed while commuting, traveling between worksites, or on Temporary Duty (TDY).
9. Official Station: The area encompassing a 50-mile radius fixed around the traveler's Official Worksite where the position regularly performs his/her duties.
10. Official Worksite: The Official Worksite is the location of an employee's position of record where the employee regularly performs their duties. Certain location-based pay entitlements (such as locality payments, special rate supplements, and non-foreign area cost-of-living allowances) are based on the location of the employee's Official Worksite associated with the employee's position of record. If the employee's work involves recurring travel or the employee's work location varies on a recurring basis (i.e., "mobile work"), the Official Worksite is the location where the work activities of the employee's position of record are based, as determined by the employing agency, subject to the requirement that the Official Worksite must be in the same locality pay area in which the employee regularly performs work.

11. Personally Identifiable Information (PII): Any information that permits the identity of an individual to be directly or indirectly inferred, including any other information that is linked or linkable to that individual, regardless of whether the individual is a U.S. citizen, legal permanent resident, visitor to the U.S., or employee or contractor to DHS. This information includes medical history, Social Security number, date and place of birth, mother's maiden name, biometric records, driver's license, and financial accounts. The fact that information about an individual is publicly available does not mean that the information is not PII.
12. Portable Work: Work normally performed at an employee's Official Worksite that can be performed with equal effectiveness at an alternate work location with respect to quality, quantity, timeliness, efficiency, customer service, and other aspects of the Agency's operational performance.
13. Program Office: An organization led by an executive-level manager. For the purposes of this manual, Regional Offices are considered Program Offices.
14. Reasonable Accommodation: An agreed or directed change in an employee's working conditions, equipment, environment, or practices to enable an individual with a disability to perform the essential functions of the position.
15. Remote Work: A voluntary work arrangement in which a position's incumbent employee works from an alternate worksite and physically reports less than two days per biweekly pay period to their Official Worksite, and typically has no regular and recurring requirements to physically report to their Official Worksite. In a remote work arrangement, the incumbent's alternate worksite is made their Official Worksite and their duty station is changed to reflect their new Official Worksite.
16. Remote Work Agreement: Term referring to a FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-112, Remote Work Application and Agreement which is a written agreement of the terms and conditions of a remote work arrangement that is completed and signed by the participating employee, their supervisor, their Program Office Remote Work Approving Authority, and their Remote Work Coordinator.
17. Remote Work Approving Authority: An official at the grade of GS-15 or above who has written, delegated authority from the executive level manager to designate positions within a Program Office as suitable for remote work, approve or deny requests for remote work arrangements, and to consider appeals of decisions terminating remote work agreements or denying the designation of positions or locations as suitable/eligible for remote work.

18. Remote Work Coordinators: FEMA employees who serve as a Program Office's advisor to employees and supervisors regarding remote work programs, collect remote work data for reports, and oversee implementation of FEMA remote work programs in their organizations, in accordance with applicable federal regulations, and with DHS and FEMA policies.
19. Remote Work Managing Officer: An official designated by the CCHCO and working in the OCCHCO who serves as the Agency's primary point-of-contact and advisor to Program Office RWCs, senior managers, and external organizations, including the U.S. Office of Personnel Management, the General Services Administration, and the Department of Homeland Security. The Remote Work Managing Officer provides guidance, interpretation, data analysis, training, and evaluation of the Agency's remote work program and policy.
20. Remote Work Program Manager: An official designated by the Remote Work Managing Officer and working in the OCCHCO who serves as the primary point of contact for Remote Work Coordinators and supports the Remote Work Managing Officer in day-to-day management of the FEMA remote work program.
21. Remote Worksite: The term used to identify a remote worker's Official Worksite. The Remote Worksite may be the employee's residence, a FEMA facility other than the Agency Worksite, or another eligible location. The Remote Worksite must be approved by the supervisor and, in the case of a FEMA facility other than the Agency Worksite, that facility's management.
22. Telework: A flexible work arrangement under which an employee performs the duties and responsibilities of such employee's position, and other authorized activities, from an approved worksite other than the location from which the employee would otherwise work. Telework employees are required to report to their Official Worksite at least two days per biweekly pay period. See FEMA Manual 123-9-1, Telework.
23. Tour of Duty: The hours of a day (a daily tour of duty) and the days of an administrative workweek (a weekly tour of duty) that constitute an employee's regularly scheduled administrative workweek.
24. Weather and Safety Leave: Leave granted without loss of or reduction in pay or to which an employee is otherwise entitled, or credit to an employee for time or service only if the employee is prevented from safely traveling to or performing work at an approved location due to: (1) an act of God; (2) a terrorist attack; or (3) another condition that prevents the employee from safely traveling to or performing work at an approved location that is outside the employee's control. Weather and Safety Leave is not "administrative leave" and does not count towards the annual administrative leave limits of the Administrative Leave Act of 2016.

25. Worksite Determination Event: An event, such as weather event, a pandemic, other natural or human-caused disaster, a continuity event activation, an exercise, or an event that will cause the worksite to be closed or difficult to access.

E. Monitoring and Evaluation

FEMA will periodically review its remote work posture and policies to ensure that this manual gives FEMA the necessary latitude to meet its goals. This monitoring and evaluation process will inform future revisions of this manual.

The FEMA Remote Work Managing Officer(s) must track employee participation and provide usage data at the end of each calendar year for submission to the DHS Chief Human Capital Officer, OPM, and the FEMA Labor Management Partnership Council as required.

F. Questions

Please direct questions to the FEMA Human Capital Service Desk at FEMA-HC-ServiceDesk@FEMA.DHS.gov or phone 866-896-8003.

Appendix A: Portable Work Worksheet

FEMA PORTABLE WORK WORKSHEET

Instructions: This worksheet is intended to ensure that determination of a specific position's eligibility for remote work arrangements within FEMA are made consistently and equitably by estimating the annual number of duty hours required to execute the position's non-portable work (which must be performed at the Official/Agency Worksite), excluding deployments, other business travel and leave. A position is eligible (which is the first step towards approval) if 10% or less of its work is non-portable. The OPM standard for total work or duty hours in a calendar year is 2087. Therefore, the maximum number of annual non-portable work for a position to be eligible for remote work is 209. Program Offices may set lower annual maximums for remote work eligibility, but not higher. This Worksheet must be completed and submitted to the Program Office Remote Work Approving Authority (RWAA) as part of a Remote Work Justification as prescribed in FEMA Manual 403-21-0001, Remote Work. Please read through this worksheet in its entirety before completing it, and note that overtime and time spent in travel, deployment, or leave status are not factored into the totals.

Position Title and Series: _____

Position Type (PFT, IC-CORE, etc.): _____ Grade/Step or Grade Ladder: _____

Program Office: _____

Official Worksite/Duty Station: _____

Program Office Maximum Annual Non-Portable Work Hours: _____

- 1. Position Description (PD) Significant Functions: List and describe in a narrative all significant functions or responsibilities identified of the position and whether they can be performed with equal or greater effectiveness from a Remote Worksite (portable work) or must be performed at the Official/Agency Worksite (non-portable work), estimate the total annual duty hours for each listed, and the totals:

Portable Work Functions:

Non-Portable Work Functions:

Total estimated annual duty hours of portable work in current PD: _____

Total estimated annual duty hours of non-portable work in current PD: _____

2. Other (Omitted) Responsibilities: List and describe in a narrative all significant functions or responsibilities omitted from the current PD (if any) and whether they can be performed with equal or greater effectiveness from a Remote Worksite (portable work) or must be performed at the Official Worksite (non-portable work), estimate the total annual duty hours for each listed, and the totals:

Portable Work Functions:

Non-Portable Work Functions:

Total estimated annual duty hours for portable work omitted in current PD: _____

Total estimated annual duty hours for non-portable work omitted in current PD: _____

3. Required In-Person Team Interactions: In a narrative format, explain how often the position needs to be physically present for workgroup or team interactions (e.g., in-person staff meetings or training, team “off-site” meetings, team building activities, etc.) that cannot be done with equal effectiveness remotely, the annual frequency and duration of those interactions, and the location(s) where those activities will take place (Official Worksite, MWEOC, NETC, etc.). NOTE: This information will be used to complete the Remote Work Cost Estimation Worksheet:

Total estimated number of required in-person team interactions: _____

Total estimated annual duty hours for required in-person team interactions: _____

4. Totals: The sum of all four work hours categories, above, must total 2087. If the sum of the non-portable work hours estimated for categories 1 and 2, above, is less than 209, the position is eligible for remote work arrangements.

Sum of 1-5, above (must equal 2087): _____

Total annual non-portable work for this position (sum from 1 and 2, above): _____

Is this position eligible for remote work in this Program Office? (check one)?

Yes

No

1st Line Supervisor Confirmation/Date: _____

2nd Line Supervisor Confirmation/Date: _____

RWAA Approval/Date: _____

Appendix B: Remote Work Cost Estimation Worksheet

FEMA REMOTE WORK COST ESTIMATION WORKSHEET

Part I. Position Data

Employee Full Name (if incumbent): _____ Program Office: _____

Position Title: _____ Series/Grade/Step or Grade Ladder: _____

Position's Supervisor (Name/Title): _____

Official Worksite/Agency Worksite (full address): _____

Program Office Cost Limit for Remote Work Approval (If Any): $ _____

Part II. Type of Request

Incumbent Employee Request Vacancy Recruitment (Skip to Part VII.)

Part III. Requesting Employee (Incumbent) Data

Proposed Remote Worksite: _____
City or County, State

Part IV. Locality Pay Differential

- A. Is proposed Remote Worksite in the same locality pay area as Agency Worksite? Yes No
(If "Yes", skip to Part V.)
- B. Proposed Remote Worksite salary (with locality pay) (per OPM Pay Tables): $ _____
- C. Current/Agency Worksite salary (with locality pay): $ _____
- D. Annual Salary difference, higher (+) or lower (-): $ _____

Part V. Transit Subsidy Savings

- A. Monthly Transit Subsidy Claimed? Yes No
(If "No", skip to Part VI.)
- B. Monthly Transit Subsidy Amount Claimed: $ _____
- C. Annual Savings Amount $([V.B. \times 12] \times -1)$: \$ _____

Part VI. Additional Estimated Costs/Savings

Note: Items MUST be specifically justified/explained in PART X. Enter (+/-) for costs/savings.

- A. Travel costs/savings (+/-) based on changed proximity to customers, etc.: $ _____
- B. Other, if applicable: $ _____
- C. Other, if applicable: $ _____
- D. Other, if applicable: $ _____
- E. Other, if applicable: $ _____
- F. Other, if applicable: $ _____
- G. Total additional estimated costs/savings (Sum of A. through F.): $ _____

Part VII. Essential Travel to Agency Worksite

A. Incumbent employees only: Is the proposed Remote Worksite within 50 miles of the Agency Worksite? (If "Yes", skip to Part VIII.)

Yes

No

B. Estimated average number of days for each trip to the Agency Worksite: _____

C. Estimated Meals and Incidental Expenses (M&IE) per trip:

1. M&IE allowance for Agency Worksite (GSA Per Diem Lookup) $ _____

2. Total number of full and partial days of travel

i. Cost of first and last travel days (C.1 x 1.5): $ _____

ii. Cost of all other ("full") travel days ([B.-2] x C.1.): $ _____

3. Total estimated M&IE per trip (sum of C.2.i + C.2.ii): $ _____

D. Estimated lodging cost per trip:

1. Lodging rate for Agency Worksite (per GSA Per Diem Lookup)
Note: When rates change seasonally, use highest rate listed: $ _____

2. Estimated daily lodging taxes for Agency Worksite: $ _____

3. Total nights of travel (minimum 1 night per trip): _____

4. Total estimated lodging expense per trip ([D.1 + D.2] x D.3): $ _____

E. Incumbent employees only: Estimated transportation costs from proposed Remote Worksite to Agency Worksite Common Carrier Transit Station per trip:

1. Common Carrier transportation (airline, train, bus, boat, etc.):
(Attach fare quote from National Travel -- 800-294-8283) $ _____

2. Round trip ground transportation to/from Remote Worksite and common carrier transit station (parking, tolls, POV mileage; taxi/ride share, bus, light rail, etc.): $ _____

3. Total estimated transportation expense per trip (E.1.+E.2.): $ _____

F. Estimated round trip ground transportation to/from common carrier transit station and Agency Worksite (as applicable):

1. Rental car per trip (rate quote plus gas, parking, tolls, etc. -- attach rate quote from National Travel-- 800-294-8283): $ _____

2. Ride hailing (taxi, ride share, etc.): $ _____

3. Mass transit (bus, light rail/subway, ferry, etc.): $ _____

4. Total estimated transportation expense per trip (F.1.+F.2.+ F.3.): $ _____

G. Other estimated transportation costs while on travel at Agency Worksite location (as applicable):

1. Ride hailing (taxi, ride share, etc.): $ _____

2. Mass transit (bus, light rail/subway, ferry, etc.): $ _____

3. Total estimated transportation expense per trip (F.1.+F.2.): $ _____

H. Estimated Additional Miscellaneous Expenses (as applicable):

1. Baggage fees: $ _____

2. Laundry costs: $ _____

3. Travel Management Center Fees (reservation fees; TA; voucher): $ _____

- 4. Other Miscellaneous Expenses: _____ $ _____
- 5. Total estimated miscellaneous cost per trip (sum of G.1.+ G.2.+ G.3. + G.4.): $ _____
- I. Total estimated travel cost per trip to Agency Worksite (C.3.+D.4.+E.3.+F.4.+G.3.+H.5.): $ _____
- J. Total estimated number of trips to Agency Worksite per year: _____
- K. Total estimated annual cost of essential travel to Agency Worksite (I. x J.): $ _____

Part VIII. Essential Local Travel to Agency Worksite

- A. Round trip ground transportation to/from Remote Worksite and Agency Worksite (parking, tolls, POV mileage, taxi/ride share, bus, train, ferry, light rail, etc.): $ _____
- B. Total estimated number of daily trips to Agency Worksite per year: _____
- C. Total estimated annual cost of essential local travel to Agency Worksite (A. x B.): $ _____

Part IX. Total Estimated Annual Costs or Savings

- A. Total estimated total annual cost or savings (IV.D.+V.C.+VI.G.+VII.K. or VIII.C.): $ _____

Part X. Explanation of Additional Estimated Costs or Savings

Explain/justify costs or savings estimated in Part VI. (please use Part XI. for additional space as needed):

Part XI. Supervisor's Confirmation of Accuracy

As the supervisor of record for this position, I confirm this worksheet accurately estimates the annual costs or savings of establishing remote work arrangements for this position.

Signature and Date

Title

Part XII. Additional Information

Appendix C: TEMPLATE Remote Work Justification Decision Memo for Recruitment

(Month/day/year)

MEMORANDUM FOR: RWAA's Name
Remote Work Approving Authority, Program Office

FROM: Sender's Name (first-line supervisor)
Title, Organization

SUBJECT: Request to Recruit (Position Title) as Remote Work Suitable

Bottom Line Up Front: Summarize the request in no more than 3 sentences, including that a FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-111, Portable Work Worksheet has been completed (and attached to this memo) that confirms the position is suitable for remote work arrangements under the criteria of this Program Office and will not have specific and assigned incident support or management responsibilities that would prevent the position from being recruited as remote work suitable.

Background and Justification: Answer each of these questions in a narrative format. If the answer to any question is "no" or "not applicable" say so explicitly in the narrative. The following questions must be answered for a remote work recruitment request:

1. Recruitment Specific Information:

- a) Has it proven difficult to recruit and/or retain qualified individuals for this position from within the commuting area of the position's current official duty station? (Yes/No) If "yes," explain to what degree/results of recent recruitments for similar positions:

- b) Is the position particularly well-suited for remote work (e.g., performance can be readily assessed remotely using throughput, accuracy, and customer service metrics)? Explain:
- c) Are there similarly situated positions currently within the Program Office doing similar work as the position being recruited? (Yes/No) If “yes,” explain if there are any of those currently working in remote work arrangements and the anticipated level of remote work requests from the incumbents in those positions and the impacts, if any, on the performance of the organization of establishing this position as remote work suitable:
- d) Will the Job Opportunity Announcement include any required scheduled work hours to minimize work schedule coordination issues if the position is filled by a remote worker in a different time zone? Explain why and how this will impact the performance of the position’s work unit either positively, negatively, or not at all:

2. Estimated Travel Expenses for the Remote Work Position:

- a) Does the position have annually recurring and necessary requirements to be physically present at a location other than the Remote Worksite for their remote work arrangement? (Yes/No) If “yes,” how often/on what schedule will the incumbent report, to where (e.g., the Agency Worksite, National Emergency Training Center, other location) and for what purpose? Explain:
- b) What is the estimated net travel cost as calculated in the attached FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-110, Remote Work Cost Estimation Worksheet for the (Position Title), what were the planning assumptions used in the estimate, and how challenging (if at all) will it be for the organization to fund the estimated travel costs for the position’s non-portable work and/or other position requirements, above? Explain:
- c) Is the estimated travel expense associated with making this position remote justified in terms of sustained or improved organizational performance? Explain:

3. Other factors for Remote Work Approving Authority Consideration:

Request to Recruit (Position Title) as Remote Work Suitable, (Month/day/year)
Page 3

Recommendation is to approve the recruitment of (Position Title) as Remote Work Suitable:

Approve/date:

Disapprove/date:

Modify/date:

Requires Discussion/date:

cc: (Executive-Level Manager)
(Others, as appropriate)

Attachments:

Portable Work Worksheet for (Position Title)

Remote Work Cost Estimation Worksheet for (Position's Title)

Appendix D: TEMPLATE Remote Work Justification Decision Memo for Incumbent

(Month/day/year)

MEMORANDUM FOR: RWAA's Name
Remote Work Approving Authority, Program Office

FROM: Sender's Name (first line supervisor)
Title, Organization

SUBJECT: Request to Establish Remote Work Arrangements for (Incumbent's Name and Position Title)

Bottom Line Up Front: Summarize the request in no more than 3 sentences, including that 1.) the incumbent is presumed to be eligible for remote work, 2.) that a FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-111, Portable Work Worksheet has been completed (and attached to this memo) and that both the incumbent's position and Remote Worksite location meet the suitability/eligibility criteria for remote work arrangements within this Program Office, and 3.) what the estimated annual cost difference would be if remote work arrangements were established for the position as estimated on a FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-110, Remote Work Cost Estimation Worksheet (also attached to this memo).

Background and Justification: Answer each of these questions within a narrative format. If the answer to any question is "no" or "not applicable" say so explicitly in the narrative. The following questions must be answered for a remote work request from an incumbent:

1. Position and Incumbent-Specific Information:

- a) Has it proven difficult to recruit and/or retain qualified individuals for this position from within the commuting area of the position's current official duty station? (Yes/No) If "yes," explain to what degree/provide results of recent recruitments for similar positions:

- b) Is the position particularly well-suited for remote work (e.g., performance can be readily assessed remotely using throughput, accuracy, and customer service metrics)? Explain:
- c) Are there similarly situated positions currently within the Program Office doing similar work as the position being recruited? (Yes/No) If “yes,” explain if there are any of those currently working in remote work arrangements and the anticipated level of remote work requests from the incumbents in those positions and the impacts, if any, on the performance of the Program Office of establishing remote work arrangements for this position:
- d) Where is the incumbent’s requested Remote Worksite and how will that impact the performance of the position’s work unit either positively, negatively, or not at all? Explain:

2. Estimated Additional Costs Resulting from Remote Work Arrangement:

- a) Does the position have annually recurring and necessary requirements to be physically present to meet with FEMA staff or customers/stakeholders at a location other than the Remote Worksite for their remote work arrangement? (Yes/No) If “yes,” how often/on what schedule will the incumbent report, and to where (e.g., the Agency Worksite, National Emergency Training Center, other location) and for what purpose? Explain:
- b) What is the estimated additional net cost as calculated in the attached FEMA Form FF-403-FY-22-110, Remote Work Cost Estimation Worksheet for (Incumbent’s Name) and how challenging (if at all) will it be for the Program Office to fund?
- c) Estimated additional costs for the position’s non-portable work and/or other position requirements, above? Explain:
- d) Is the estimated additional expense associated with making this position remote justified in terms of sustained or improved organizational performance? Explain:

3. Incident Management Responsibilities:

Does the incumbent have specific and assigned incident support or management responsibilities which require the incumbent to physically report to a FEMA Response Operation within a specific timeframe from notification ? (Yes/No) If “yes,” how will establishing remote work arrangements for this incumbent impact FEMA operational readiness and how would those impacts (if any) be mitigated? Explain:

4. Other Factors for Remote Work Approving Authority Consideration:

Request for Remote Work Arrangements for (Incumbent), (Month/day/year),
Page 4

Recommendation is to approve the request of (Incumbent) for remote work arrangements as proposed herein:

Approve/date:

Disapprove/date:

Modify/date:

Requires Discussion/date:

cc: (Executive-Level Manager)
(Others, as appropriate)

Attachments:

Portable Work Worksheet for (Position Title)

Remote Work Cost Estimation Worksheet for (Incumbent's Name)

Appendix E: Remote Work Application and Agreement

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY

Federal Emergency Management Agency

REMOTE WORK APPLICATION AND AGREEMENT

1. Check one of the following: <input type="checkbox"/> New Agreement <input type="checkbox"/> Change in Existing Agreement
2. Employee Name	3. Organization	4. Position Title	5. Series and Grade
6. Supervisor (Name/Title)		7. Supervisor Phone Number (XXX-XXX-XXXX)

Part I - Completion of this Agreement indicates that:

- The employee certifies that they are eligible for remote work arrangements and their Official Personnel Folder does not contain documentation of either:
 - An absence without leave for more than five days in a calendar year; or
 - A violation of Subpart G of the Standards of Ethical Conduct of Employees of the Executive Branch for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties.
- The employee acknowledges that if they are determined to be ineligible for remote work after the enactment of this agreement:
 - Both they and FEMA have a legal obligation to cease working under the terms of this remote work agreement; and
 - If the employee is offered the choice of working from their Agency Worksite, they are ineligible for relocation reimbursement from FEMA.
- The employee's remote work arrangement begins on (mm/dd/yyyy): _____
- Employee volunteers to participate in the remote work program and to adhere to the applicable guidelines and policies. Agency concurs with employee participation and agrees to the applicable guidelines and policies.
- Employee's FEMA mobile phone number is: (____)____-_____
- Employee's Agency Worksite is: _____
Number, Street, City, State, Zip Code
- Employee's official duty station/Remote Worksite is (City, State): _____ for purposes such as pay, etc.
- The address of the employee's Remote Worksite is: _____
Number, Street, City, State, Zip Code
- The location within the Remote Worksite where the employee will work is: _____
- Employee's Remote Worksite internet service provider is: _____
- Is internet service active at Remote Worksite now? Yes No
If No, what is the scheduled date of activation? _____
- Employee certifies that their Remote Worksite is eligible for this remote work arrangement and is supported by sufficient and reliable (e.g., not telephone line dial-up) internet service to support their effective remote working using FEMA on-line collaborations tools.
- Employee understands requirements for a safe and healthy Remote Worksite and office space and that these requirements must be met.
- Employee understands that when remote working the employee is required to satisfactorily complete all assigned work, consistent with the approach adopted for all other employees in their work group.
- The employee will regularly meet/speak with the supervisor to receive assignments and to review completed work as necessary or appropriate. The employee's job performance will be evaluated on criteria and milestones determined by the supervisor with input from the employee.
- Employee's Time and Attendance (WebTA) for all official duty time spent working from their Remote Worksite will be recorded as "Regular Base Pay." The supervisor and employee are responsible for ensuring the accuracy of time and attendance reported for the employee's work at the Remote Worksite. The supervisor agrees to certify biweekly the employee's Time and Attendance Daily Report for hours worked.
- Employee agrees to participate in surveys and data calls relative to the FEMA Remote Work Program, as requested.
- The employee must obtain supervisory approval before taking leave in accordance with established office procedures and FEMA's Absence and Leave policies. Use of sick leave, annual leave, or other leave credits must be approved in advance by the supervisor. Overtime must be approved in advance by the supervisor.

19. Employee will utilize Government-issued equipment for official business only and in accordance with applicable laws, regulations, policies, etc., as well as safeguard said equipment.
20. Employee is solely responsible for servicing and maintaining employee-owned equipment (e.g., internet modem, wireless router, etc.).
21. Employee is covered under the Federal Employees Compensation Act while performing official duties at their Remote Worksite. Any accident or injury which occurs at the Remote Worksite while performing official duties must be brought immediately to the attention of the supervisor.
22. Employee understands that remote work is not a substitute for dependent care (childcare or elder care) and that appropriate arrangements, including use of an alternate or flexible work schedule in accordance with FEMA's Scheduling of Work policies, must be made to accommodate children and adults who cannot care for themselves while employee performs their official duties at their Remote Worksite.
23. The employee understands that the Government will not be responsible for any operating costs that are associated with the use of the employee's residence as a Remote Worksite, including (but not limited to): home maintenance, insurance, reliable and adequate internet connectivity, or other utilities.
24. Employee will apply approved safeguards to protect Government records from unauthorized disclosure or damage and will comply with the provisions set forth in the Privacy Act of 1974, Public Act of 1974, Public Law 93-579, codified at Title 5, U.S.C., Section 55a.
25. The employee agrees to abide by the Department of Homeland Security and FEMA Standards of Ethical Conduct Standards while on official duty and working from their Remote Worksite.
26. The employee and supervisor will review and revise (as needed) this Remote Work Agreement on an annual basis.
27. The employee may request to terminate this remote work agreement with or without cause, at the employee's own expense, without adverse employment consequences, provided that the employee must be able to perform the essential functions of their position at their Official Worksite/former Agency Worksite.
28. The supervisor may terminate the remote work agreement for the convenience of the Agency with reasonable advance notice, generally 30 calendar days, and require the employee to resume working at their Official Worksite/former Agency Worksite or other FEMA facility, and will notify the employee if they are eligible for any relocation expense reimbursement.
29. Employee understands that the supervisor must terminate the remote work agreement if either the employee or their Remote Worksite become ineligible in violation of this remote work agreement, and that the employee will not be eligible for any relocation reimbursement if that occurs.
30. Reasons for termination of this remote work agreement will be documented by the supervisor and must not be for employee performance or misconduct, in accordance with FEMA policy.

Compliance with this Agreement

The employee's failure to comply with the terms of this agreement may result in the termination of this agreement and the remote work arrangement. Failure to comply with the provisions of this agreement may also result in appropriate disciplinary or adverse action against the employee.

Part II - Certification

By signing this agreement, the employee certifies that (s)he has read the terms of this agreement and agrees to follow the policies and procedures outlined in them as well as all other applicable regulations, policies, and procedures.

Employee's Signature

Title

Date

Part III - Approval/Disapproval

Your request to participate in the remote work program is: Approved as written Approved with the following modification(s)

Disapproved for the following reason(s):

- The employee's position is no longer suitable for remote work arrangements in this Program Office.
- The employee's proposed Remote Worksite does not meet prescribed acceptability standards. (State the specific deficiency issue(s), such as: safety, insufficient internet access, ability to access required materials, insufficient IT security, or non-work-related distractions and/or obligations.)
- Other (please specify in the comments section below):

Empty box for providing details or comments regarding disapproval.

_____	_____	_____
Supervisor's Signature	Title	Date
_____	_____	_____
Remote Work Approving Authority's Signature	Title	Date
_____	_____	_____
Remote Work Coordinator's Signature	Title	Date

U.S. IMMIGRATION AND CUSTOMS ENFORCEMENT

ICE Directive 1059.1: Telework

Issue Date: February 16, 2022

Superseded: None

- 1. Purpose/Background. This Directive establishes U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement's (ICE) policy and procedural requirements for telework.¹ Telework enhances ICE mission accomplishment by enabling eligible ICE employees to work from various locations without diminished employee performance or negative mission impact.
- 2. Policy. It is ICE policy that telework be made available to eligible employees to the maximum extent possible, provided there is no negative impact to either mission accomplishment or employee performance. Positions should be considered for telework on a case-by-case basis and consistent with this Directive, DHS and Office of Personnel Management (OPM) guidance. Telework is not an employee right or entitlement, and approval is at the discretion of ICE management based on the specific needs of the organization. To facilitate proven efficiencies and in accordance with ICE's mission and strategic goals, all ICE Directorates and Program Offices must incorporate telework as part of their strategic operations to the greatest extent possible.

This policy does not govern remote work. Remote work is an alternative work arrangement that involves an employee performing their official duties at an approved alternative worksite away from an agency worksite, without regularly returning to the agency worksite during each pay period. ICE's Remote Work policy is addressed separately in ICE Directive 1060.1.

- 2.1. Effective Date. This Directive is effective upon publication and applies to telework arrangements and agreements entered into after its effective date. Generally, telework arrangements and agreements in place prior to this Directive's effective date remain valid but will expire at the one-year anniversary of the arrangement/agreement, and any follow-on agreements shall comply with this Directive.
- 2.2. Applicability to bargaining unit employees. Employees and supervisors of employees covered by a Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) should consult all relevant CBAs for additional information.² This Directive does not supersede existing CBA articles and must be used in conjunction with the agreements and procedures contained in applicable CBAs.

¹ This Directive applies to the Office of the Principal Legal Advisor (OPLA) to the extent it is not inconsistent with directives, policies, or formal guidance issued by the General Counsel of the Department of Homeland Security (DHS). DHS Delegation No. 0400.2, Delegation to the General Counsel (Sept. 14, 2004).

² ICE currently has two CBAs that may impact an employee's ability to conduct telework: ICE and AFGE Local 511, Professional Employees Agreement 2019 (arts. 15 and 17; apps. F–Employee Decision Period Work Schedule Request Form, H–Telework Program Agreement, and I–Telework Program Work Plan); Agreement 2000 Between U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service and National Immigration and Naturalization Service Council, AFGE Council 118 (Agreement 2000).

- 2.3. Supplemental Direction. Directorates, Program Offices, and Field Offices may establish policies, guidelines, and procedures (subject to CBA obligations) to supplement this Directive. All guidance or procedures must be developed in consultation with the Office of Human Capital (OHC)–Human Capital Policy Unit and the Office of Regulatory Affairs and Policy (ORAP).
- 2.4. Continuity of Operations. During any period where ICE is operating under a continuity of operations or emergency plan, including, but not limited to, a pandemic, terrorist or cyber-attack, the requirements of the plan may supersede this Directive and employees’ existing telework agreements.
- 3. Definitions. The following definitions apply for purposes of this Directive only.
- 3.1. Agency Worksite. The official Federal agency location where work activities are based, generally considered a centralized location of an employee’s assigned organization. The term regular worksite is also used to describe agency worksite.³ Generally, this is the location where non-telework employees work.
- 3.2. Alternative Worksite. Generally, an employee’s approved telework site, which is listed as the place where the employee performs official duties away from the agency worksite under a telework agreement. An alternative worksite can be the employee’s residence, an Approved Telework Center, or another approved location.
- 3.3. Alternative Worksite Inspection. A site inspection of the alternative worksite by the employee or a designated ICE representative. An alternative worksite inspection is primarily conducted to ensure that the worksite meets acceptable safety standards. An inspection may also evaluate maintenance and storage of government-furnished equipment (GFE), safeguards for data security, and other specifications or requirements in this or other applicable directives.
- 3.4. Approved Telework Center. A General Services Administration or ICE approved facility established by state, local or county governments or private sector organizations for use by teleworkers. Telework centers are alternative worksites that typically house either rented or leased workstations and provide a professional atmosphere conducive to effective job performance.
- 3.5. Eligible Employee. An employee in a position with tasks identified by the employee’s supervisor or manager and, where required, the appropriate Headquarters or Field Responsible Official, as being suitable for telework in accordance with this Directive. Eligible employees must also meet performance and conduct requirements as required by law and policy.
- 3.6. Employee. An individual as defined by 5 U.S.C. § 2105.

³ See 5 C.F.R. 531.605(d).

- 3.7. Field Responsible Official (FRO). The highest-ranking official in any ICE field location. This includes Special Agents in Charge, Field Office Directors, Chief Counsel, ICE Attachés, and any other officials who have been designated in writing by the Director.
- 3.8. Headquarters Responsible Officials (HROs). Executive Associate Directors (EADs) of Enforcement and Removal Operations (ERO), Homeland Security Investigations (HSI), and Management and Administration (M&A); the Associate Director of the Office of Professional Responsibility (OPR); the Principal Legal Advisor; and the Assistant Directors, Officers, or equivalent positions who report directly to the ICE Director, Deputy Director, or Chief of Staff.
- 3.9. Misconduct. On-duty or off-duty behavior by an employee that violates ICE Policy No. 1033.1, Employee Code of Conduct (Aug. 7, 2012) or other applicable statutes, regulations, and policies. Such misconduct may result in the agency taking a conduct action (e.g., disciplinary or adverse) pursuant to ICE Directive 30012.2, Disciplinary and Adverse Action (Dec. 3, 2019), or as amended.
- 3.10. Official Worksite. As determined by management, the location of an employee’s position of record where the employee regularly performs his or her duties. For employees covered by a telework agreement under this Directive, the official worksite and agency worksite are the same.⁴
- 3.11. Telework. A work flexibility arrangement under which an employee, under a written agreement, is scheduled to perform their work at an alternative worksite other than the location from which the employee would otherwise work. There are two categories of telework:
- 1) Routine Telework. The employee teleworks on a routine, regular, and recurring basis one or more days per week. A schedule for routine telework is delineated in the written telework agreement that establishes normal telework frequency based on an agreed upon day or days during a bi-weekly pay period; the agreement should also specify the hours to be worked during telework days. It is ICE policy that individuals engaged in routine telework must be scheduled to report to their official worksite a minimum of two days each biweekly pay period under their written Telework Application and Agreement.
 - 2) Episodic or Situational Telework. The employee teleworks on an occasional, non-routine, intermittent, or irregular basis as the need arises. Situational or episodic telework is approved on a case-by-case basis and the hours worked are not part of a previously approved, ongoing, and regular telework schedule. An authorization to perform situational or episodic telework does not negate compliance with all the telework application procedures, including executing an agreement prior to teleworking. Under extenuating circumstances, such agreements can be executed within a reasonable period of time after teleworking commences. Episodic or situational telework for continuity of essential government functions across a wide range of emergencies and events may be executed in accordance with applicable laws, policies, and procedures.

⁴ For employees on a telework or remote work agreement whose work involves regular travel or whose work location varies on a daily basis, additional rules at 5 C.F.R. § 531.605(d)(1)-(4) apply. For these employees, ICE must determine and designate the official worksite for pay purposes on a case-by-case basis.

- 3.12. Telework Agreement. An agreement between an ICE employee and management that outlines the terms and conditions of the telework arrangement, and establishes specific details regarding the arrangement, including the address of the alternative worksite, and schedule. Typically, telework agreements are documented on a Telework Application and Agreement (Attachment 1) or CBA-required appendix form(s), but in exigent circumstances (e.g., injury) documentation may be delayed for a short period to minimize work disruptions.
- 3.13. Telework Application. An employee's request to participate in telework. The request is normally documented on a Telework Application and Agreement (Attachment 1). An employee may request telework informally (by phone, text, or email) when circumstances hinder formal application. However, the request, along with management's decision, must be formally documented on a Telework Application and Agreement as soon as possible.
- 3.14. Program Telework Coordinator. Telework Coordinators compile telework data for their area of responsibility; assist with development of Directorate, Program, or Field Office-specific procedures; and review training records to ensure compliance.
- 3.15. Telework Data. A summary of information provided by agencies on the status of their telework programs.
- 3.16. ICE Telework Managing Officer. The ICE primary point of contact with the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) and office of Personnel Management (OPM) on telework matters.
- 3.17. Teleworker. An employee (permanent, temporary, full-time, or part-time) who teleworks (routine, or episodic or situational) at an alternative worksite (residence, Approved Telework Center, or another approved worksite) pursuant to a written Telework Application and Agreement.

4. Responsibilities.

4.1. HROs are responsible for:

- 1) Ensuring compliance with the terms of this Directive within their Directorate or Program Office;
- 2) Approving, or designating management officials to approve, positions under their purview as eligible for telework;
- 3) Designating Program Telework Coordinators and points of contact; and

- 4) In consultation with OHC and ORAP, establishing detailed Directorate or Program Office-specific procedures for telework implementation that are consistent with this Directive, as necessary and appropriate.

4.2. FROs are responsible for:

- 1) Ensuring compliance with this Directive in their field location;
- 2) Approving, or designating management officials to approve, positions under their purview as eligible for telework;
- 3) Designating Program Telework Coordinators and points of contact; and
- 4) Implementing any additional Directorate or Program Office-specific procedures or guidance for their particular field office.

4.3. The ICE Chief Human Capital Officer (CHCO), or their designee, is responsible for:

- 1) Ensuring ICE telework practices conform with applicable law, rule, regulations, and any relevant OPM, DHS, and ICE policies;
- 2) In coordination with OPLA, providing and interpreting applicable statutes, regulations, policies, and standards for managing the Telework Program;
- 3) Providing ICE officials with advice, technical assistance, and consultative services for teleworking issues;
- 4) Preparing, maintaining, and reporting any telework data necessary for the Telework Program to the DHS CHCO on an annual or as-required basis; and
- 5) Designating an ICE Telework Managing Officer (TMO) to administer and oversee implementation of the Telework Program at ICE.

4.4. The ICE Chief Information Officer, or their designee, is responsible for:

- 1) Issuing and maintaining information technology (IT) policies and minimum implementation standards for remote access security, which includes access to IT systems required for networks. These policies and minimum implementation standards must outline responsibilities of teleworkers to enable an effective working environment for the teleworker and the protection of ICE systems from undue risk;
- 2) Assisting Directorates and Program Offices with the purchase of government IT equipment as needed, including notebook or desktop computers, telephones, printers, and scanners;

- 3) Establishing security controls that must be set out in written telework agreements which outline the terms and conditions of the telework arrangement;
- 4) Providing installation, configuration, and repair services for government IT equipment to the Directorates and Program Offices to ensure effective and secure operations at alternative worksites. Such services will be performed only at an ICE facility;
- 5) Providing a means for remote users to update equipment to remain aligned with ICE images; and
- 6) Providing a means to recover equipment for periodic replacement and reassignment.

4.5. The ICE TMO within the OHC is responsible for:

- 1) Assisting with the management of Telework Program consistent with applicable law and OPM, DHS, and ICE policies;
- 2) Providing ICE officials with advice, technical assistance, and consultative services for teleworking issues;
- 3) Coordinating ICE-wide communications and outreach efforts with respect to the Telework Program;
- 4) Acting as consultant to the Program Telework Coordinators; and
- 5) Obtaining, consolidating, maintaining, and preparing any telework data necessary for the Telework Program from the Program Telework Coordinators on an annual or an as-required basis and providing the same to the ICE CHCO.

4.6. Program Telework Coordinators, through the established chain of command, are responsible for:

- 1) Conducting Directorate, Program, or Field Office telework training;
- 2) Acting as a focal point for all telework related matters within each ICE Directorate, Program Office, or Field Office, and coordinating with the ICE TMO;
- 3) Maintaining telework records and reports and up-loading agreements to the designated share point site for their respective ICE office; and
- 4) Obtaining, consolidating, and preparing any telework data for reporting to the ICE TMO on an annual or an as-required basis; reports are subject to supervisory review and approval.

4.7. Supervisors and Managers, as designated, are responsible for:

- 1) Determining whether positions or the employees filling them are eligible for telework;
- 2) Understanding the Agency's emergency plans and ensuring that the use of telework is planned for and utilized in the case of such an event to ensure continuity of operations;
- 3) Advising HROs/FROs on telework-ready positions;
- 4) Reviewing each employee's request for telework participation promptly, ensuring the requesting employee has completed the required training, and properly recording all decisions made;
- 5) Completing all applicable supervisory required trainings and surveys on telework;
- 6) Approving, disapproving, modifying, or terminating employees' participation in telework;
- 7) Conducting alternative worksite inspections (virtually or in-person), as appropriate;
- 8) Promptly complying with the Federal Employees' Compensation Act in case of an injury or occupational disease occurring at the employee's alternative worksite;
- 9) Certifying the accuracy of employees' time and attendance;
- 10) Maintaining and reporting telework-related data and records to the Program Telework Coordinator and the ICE TMO as applicable, on an annual or an as required basis; and
- 11) Identifying teleworkers who are designated "emergency employees" or "mission critical" emergency employees and ensuring that designation appears in the employee's telework agreement.

4.8. Employees are responsible for:

- 1) Completing a telework application and alternative worksite checklist in accordance with this Directive;
- 2) Completing all required ICE telework training prior to teleworking (except in the event of an unexpected work disruption);
- 3) Completing all work as assigned and in line with applicable performance standards;
- 4) Accurately coding and validating their time and attendance record to reflect telework;
- 5) Maintaining a work area that is suitable and safe for performance of official duties

- and acknowledging that the Government will not be responsible for operating costs (e.g., home maintenance, insurance, or utilities, internet service provider fees, office space, office furniture). Office supplies may be provided by the employees work unit, if practicable;
- 6) Allowing inspections of the alternative worksite;
 - 7) Promptly notifying their supervisor when events arise while teleworking that make them unable to perform their duties (e.g., internet or power outages, computer issues, etc.);
 - 8) Immediately reporting to their supervisor an injury or occupational disease occurring at the employee's alternative worksite;
 - 9) Securing supervisory approval prior to taking PII and sensitive non-classified data to an alternative worksite and taking precautions to protect this information from unauthorized disclosure; and
 - 10) Obtaining approval from their supervisor prior to changing the location of their alternative worksite. If approved, the employee's telework agreement must be updated to reflect the new alternative worksite location.

5. Procedures/Requirements.

5.1. Access to Telework. Participation in a telework arrangement is not an employee entitlement or right. However, all ICE employees occupying telework eligible positions, as determined by their supervisor or manager, may be permitted to telework to the extent suitable work is available and they are able to meet all requirements of this Directive and applicable law or regulation. Ultimately, managers and supervisors must ensure that telework does not diminish employee performance or agency operations. While telework participation is encouraged for all telework-eligible employees, ICE may place reasonable limitations on an employee's ability to telework at a given time due to a demonstrable operational need. Limitations on telework shall not be arbitrary or capricious. Employee participation in telework is voluntary. However, during a Continuity of Operations Plan⁵ (COOP) activation, pandemic health crisis, or other declared emergency, employees may be required to telework or not be permitted to telework, as necessary and appropriate.

5.2. Telework Eligibility. Telework eligibility shall be determined by a supervisor or manager and must be primarily based upon an employee's position including whether the employee has work that is conducive with telework. In addition, the decision as to whether an employee is eligible for telework and to what extent will be based on the following:

- 1) Supervisors and management, with input from the employee, must determine how much of an employee's work is compatible with telework and set a telework schedule that fully supports work that must be accomplished at the agency worksite;

⁵ When ICE is operating under a COOP, that Plan supersedes this Directive.

- 2) An employee may not be deemed eligible to telework under any circumstances when:
 - a) They have been officially disciplined for being absent without permission for more than five days in any calendar year; or
 - b) They have been officially disciplined for violations of subpart G of the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer while performing official Federal Government duties;⁶
- 3) In order to be and remain eligible for telework, an employee's performance or agency operations must not be diminished while teleworking. An employee may not be authorized to telework if the performance of that employee does not comply with the terms of the written Telework Application and Agreement between the agency manager and that employee. The employee's most recent performance appraisal must be at least "Achieved Expectations" (or equivalent, depending on the rating system) or greater for all critical elements. If the employee does not meet this performance standard, the supervisor or manager should modify or terminate the telework agreement in addition to pursuing any other appropriate performance-based actions. Second-line supervisors may authorize use of an alternative measure outside of the most recent performance appraisal to assess the employee's ability to perform at the "Achieved Expectations," or equivalent level, where the last performance appraisal is not representative of the employee's current performance. Newly hired employees' performance is presumed to meet requirements for telework eligibility until a supervisor or manager has had sufficient opportunity to assess the employee's performance; and
- 4) All employees' telework agreements must include scheduled work at the agency worksite for at least two days each biweekly pay period.⁷

5.3. Documentation. Telework applications and approval, modification, or revocation decisions must be fully documented.

⁶ 5 U.S.C. § 6502(a)(2)(A)-(B) (2016).

⁷ In certain temporary situations outside an employee's control, such as an extended office closure or other operating status announcement, or where an evacuation has been issued, a teleworker may be precluded from returning to an agency worksite. In such cases, an employee may be permitted by their supervisor or manager to continue to telework from their alternative worksite and will not be required to return to the agency worksite at least two days per pay period. Such an arrangement may also be permitted where the employee is temporarily recovering from an injury or other medical condition but is expected to return to a normal telework schedule upon recovery. In all cases, such exceptions are intended to only apply where relevant events are expected to occur for a limited time and the employee is expected to return to a normal telework schedule (including appearing at the agency worksite at least twice each pay period) in the near future. The bi-weekly pay period attendance requirement applies to all teleworking employees, unless otherwise amended by an agency-granted reasonable accommodation.

- 1) ICE employees wishing to begin telework must provide a telework application and any other required documentation to their supervisor or manager as directed or according to any Employee Decision Period established by a CBA.
- 2) Supervisors or managers are required to document all decisions made regarding employee requests for telework.
- 3) Employees approved to telework must enter into a written telework agreement. The agreement must include all provisions required by law and applicable policy. Additionally, the agreement must include the following, as applicable to the particular employee at issue:
 - a) The term of the agreement;⁸
 - b) The type of telework specified by the agreement (e.g., routine and/or episodic/situational);
 - c) The employee's work schedule;
 - d) The employee's approved telework location(s); and
 - e) Any specific requirements or expectations beyond those required by law or this Directive.

5.4. Expectations. In all situations, the supervisor and teleworker must discuss and clearly understand that it is the employee's responsibility to be responsive to work requirements as if the employee was reporting to an ICE worksite. In addition, all work products and responses to management, customers, and stakeholders must align with quality and timeliness expectations.

- 1) Teleworkers are expected to perform as if they were working at a traditional worksite. Their performance should be managed in accordance with the expectations in the Performance Work Plan and should not differ whether the work is done while teleworking or not. Before signing a telework agreement, the supervisor and employee must have a discussion regarding expectations (communications, work hours, customer service, etc.) for the telework arrangement.
- 2) An employee with a decline in performance may be subject to modification or revocation of the telework agreement. The supervisor or manager will engage with the employee to discuss performance, as well as areas of improvement, prior to modifying or revoking the telework agreement.

⁸ This should generally be a one-year renewable term; however, shorter terms may be appropriate where telework situations may need to be revised more frequently or where required by CBA.

- 3) An employee with an approved telework agreement, whether routine or episodic/situational, is required to report to an agency or other alternative (e.g., the location of agency training) worksite when directed or required in order to carry out responsibilities, attend meetings or training, obtain equipment or IT support, or when otherwise necessary, regardless of whether or not the employee was scheduled to telework on a particular day.

5.5. Restrictions.

- 1) Employees must continue to adhere to DHS and ICE standards of conduct and policies while working at the alternative worksite and using GFE. Unless otherwise specifically addressed herein, all conditions of federal employment, performance of assigned duties, adherence to applicable policies, participation in required training, and satisfaction of standards of conduct apply. Alleged or apparent breaches thereof may subject an employee to formal management review, investigation and, if required, appropriate disciplinary or adverse actions.
- 2) This Directive does not apply to telework outside the U.S. and its territories (overseas). Individuals may not telework temporarily from an overseas location under the provisions of this Directive. U.S. Department of State and OPM guidance governs overseas telework. An agency Domestic Employee Teleworking Overseas (DETO) policy must be in place and a DETO arrangement entered into between the agency and the employee before overseas telework can occur.⁹ ICE employees cannot telework from overseas without an approved DETO agreement.

5.6. Dependent Care.

- 1) Telework employees are expected to have arrangements for dependent care during the workday.
- 2) Telework cannot be used as an alternative for the employee to be the sole source of dependent care (child/elder or dependent). If dependent care arrangements are co-located at the alternative worksite, such as the employee's home, the employee must notify their supervisor or manager as soon as possible if significant work disruption or an emergency occurs and requests appropriate leave to perform dependent care responsibilities.
- 3) Telework may be used in conjunction with alternative work schedules, Family and Medical Leave Act guidelines, and annual leave to allow time for dependent care responsibilities, as long as the employee is not the sole provider of dependent care throughout the workday when they are not on approved leave.

5.7. Dismissal and Closure. Teleworkers are required to telework during any Federal office/worksites closures, delayed arrivals, and early dismissals due to weather or other impacts to the agency worksite, regardless of whether or not they were scheduled to telework or report to the worksite that day. This requirement applies to all employees with an approved telework agreement, whether routine or episodic/situational.

⁹ U.S. Office of Pers. Mgmt., Overseas Telework, <https://www.telework.gov/guidance-legislation/telework-guidance/overseas-telework/> (last visited Jan. 18, 2022); U.S. Dept. of State, 6 FAH-5 H-352.12, Domestic Employees Teleworking Overseas (DETOs) (2016).

Teleworkers should notify their supervisor when weather or emergencies occur that affect their alternative worksite to request leave, other absence options, or worksite relocation, etc. Employees must be aware of the expectation that they will work when their agency worksite is closed, as long as their alternative worksite is not affected. Employees with an approved telework agreement are generally not eligible to receive Weather and Safety Leave. If weather or another emergency affects their alternative worksite and telework readiness, they should immediately contact their supervisor for guidance.

5.8. Worksite Suitability. The employee is expected to create a dedicated work environment at their alternative worksite that is free from interruptions and provides reasonable security and protection, to include, at a minimum, a telephone, workspace suitable to perform the work, high-speed Internet that is reliable and secure, adequate lighting, proper seating, and appropriate ventilation.

- 1) The employee must evaluate their proposed alternative worksite using the Alternative Worksite Checklist (Attachment 2).
- 2) A supervisor or, if the supervisor is unavailable, another management representative, may inspect an employee's alternative worksite for compliance with checklist requirements if there is reason to suspect the worksite is unsuitable. This inspection may be conducted virtually with the assistance of the employee.
 - a) The inspector may bring a witness with them to the inspection, with the approval of the employee, but a witness is not required.
 - b) The supervisor or manager will provide at least three workdays' advance notice and coordinate appropriate arrangements for inspection with the employee.
 - c) The supervisor or manager will document the reason for the inspection and their findings, including a copy of the Alternative Worksite Checklist.
 - d) Employees are expected to remedy any deficiencies identified by a self or management inspection. A supervisor may deny a telework request or rescind an existing telework agreement, if an employee cannot or will not correct alternative worksite deficiencies identified by inspection.
 - e) The employee may rectify deficiencies, after which point the supervisor or manager may approve (or decide not to rescind) the Telework Application and Agreement upon re-inspection or validation of proof provided by the employee.

- 3) If during inspection an employee with an existing telework agreement is found to be in violation of physical or information security requirements of this Directive, the supervisor may immediately terminate the telework agreement.

5.9. Termination/Modification of Telework Agreement. Any termination or modification of a telework agreement must be done in writing (email documentation is acceptable). Such a decision must be in accordance with relevant law and this Directive.

- 1) A telework agreement will be terminated immediately:
 - a) Upon the employee's entry on duty to a new position within ICE, or reassignment to a similar position in a different office, division, or work group within ICE;
 - b) If the employee has been officially disciplined for being absent without permission for more than five days in any calendar year;
 - c) If the employee has been officially disciplined for violations of subpart G of the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties;
 - d) If telework continues to diminish employee or agency performance, even after attempts to mitigate such diminishment have been attempted; or
 - e) If an employee does not comply with the terms of the written Telework Application and Agreement.
- 2) When a telework agreement is being terminated for performance reasons, misconduct, or violation of the terms of the agreement, before a supervisor or manager officially terminates or limits an employee's ability to telework, the employee will be given written notice of any performance deficiencies, articulable misconduct, or telework agreement violations related to the proposed termination of the agreement and be given a reasonable opportunity to modify or remediate the issue(s), unless the deficient performance or misconduct presents immediate risk to the health, safety, or welfare of ICE employees or government interests.
- 3) When a telework agreement is being terminated or modified for mission-related reasons (e.g., an employee's telework arrangement must be modified to ensure mission needs are met), the employee will be given reasonable notice of the modification to allow for changes to personal arrangements to be put in place prior to telework being terminated.
- 4) An employee may make reasonable requests to modify or terminate a telework agreement at any time and in accordance with CBA requirements, as applicable.

5.10. Government Furnished Equipment and Materials

- 1) Using GFE for telework is subject to the IT policies of ICE. No individual (including family, friends, house guests, tenants, etc.) other than the employee performing telework is authorized to use GFE. If the teleworking employee needs additional or specialized IT equipment, the employee should make a request for such equipment through their supervisor. If management determines the additional equipment is needed for the employee to effectively carry out his or her responsibilities, the Directorate or Program Office may be required to fund the equipment.
- 2) The Government is responsible for maintenance of all GFE. Employees will be required to bring or send GFE into an agency worksite for maintenance as directed.
- 3) All files, records, papers, and electronic materials created or worked on while teleworking are the property of the U.S. Government and must be returned upon request. Employees must take appropriate precautions to protect government files, records, and paper and electronic materials. Precautions should include locking file cabinets, safes, encrypted media, and doors, among other precautions.

5.11. Protecting Sensitive Information.

- 1) Teleworkers must have written approval from a supervisor to remove sensitive information from agency worksites for access at an approved alternative worksite.
- 2) Teleworkers with access to records subject to the Privacy Act from an alternative worksite must demonstrate appropriate administrative, technical, and physical safeguards are available to ensure the security and confidentiality of the records.
- 3) Employees may not physically or electronically access classified material from alternative worksite locations. Where an employee needs to review or access classified material, he or she must do so at an ICE-approved Sensitive Compartmented Information Facility.

5.12. Reports. The TMO, Telework Coordinators, supervisors and managers must all ensure that ICE data is accurately collected and reported to OPM.

- 1) The ICE TMO, in coordination with Program Telework Coordinators, will obtain, consolidate, and maintain any telework data or reports necessary for the Telework Program from the Program Telework Coordinators on an annual or an as-required basis and provide such information to OPM as directed by the DHS CHCO.
- 2) Program Telework Coordinators obtain, consolidate, and prepare any telework data for reporting to the ICE TMO on an annual or an as-required basis.

- 3) Supervisors and managers will maintain, and report telework-related data and records (participant data, productivity data, telework requests, telework agreements, etc.) to the Program Telework Coordinator, as applicable, on an annual or an as-required basis. Telework agreements effected as part of a reasonable accommodation are also reportable to the ICE Office of Diversity and Civil Rights.

5.13. Liability and Worker’s Compensation. Employees who are teleworking are covered under the Federal Tort Claims Act¹⁰ and the Federal Employees’ Compensation Act.¹¹ As with injuries that occur in the traditional office/worksite setting, for injuries that occur during telework arrangements, supervisors may only attest to what they reasonably know. In all situations, employees are responsible for informing their immediate supervisor of an injury at the earliest time possible.

5.14. Transit Subsidy. Telework does not change an employee’s eligibility to participate in the Transit Subsidy Program. Employees must be mindful of the requirements under the transit subsidy program and any impact that reduced commuting costs may have on the amount of subsidy they are entitled to receive. Employees must report any reduction in use of transit as a result of telework to enable adjustment of the subsidy. Other than what may be available through the Transit Subsidy Program, teleworkers are responsible for their commuting expenses to/from an ICE worksite when required or directed to report to the ICE worksite, regardless of whether or not the employee was scheduled to telework.

6. Recordkeeping. All relevant documents produced or provided in accordance with this Directive must be maintained in accordance with a National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) General Records Schedule (GRS) or a NARA-approved agency-specific records control schedule. If the records are not subject to a records schedule, they must be maintained indefinitely by the agency until an approved records schedule is in place. In the event the records are subject to a litigation hold, they may not be disposed of under a records schedule until further notification. Further, all video and audio produced in accordance with the BWC pilot must be maintained in accordance with a NARA-approved agency-specific records control schedule.

7. Authorities/References.

- 7.1. Telework Enhancement Act of 2010, Pub. L. No. 111-292, 124 Stat. 3165 (Dec. 9, 2010) (codified as amended at 5 U.S.C. § 5711; §§ 6501-6506).
- 7.2. 5 U.S.C. § 5304 (2009).
- 7.3. 5 U.S.C. Ch. 43, Performance Appraisal.
- 7.4. 5 U.S.C. Ch. 81, Compensation for Work Injuries.
- 7.5. 28 U.S.C. § 2672 (1990).

¹⁰ 28 U.S.C. § 2672 (1990).

¹¹ 5 U.S.C. Ch. 81, Compensation for Work Injuries.

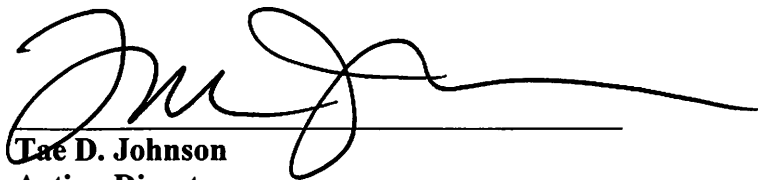

- 7.6. 5 C.F.R. § 531.605(d) (2022).
- 7.7. 5 C.F.R. Chs. 300-304, Federal Travel Regulation System.
- 7.8. DHS Directive No. 123-05, Revision 01, Telework Directive (Feb. 11, 2015).
- 7.9. DHS Instruction No. 123-05-001, Revision 00, Telework Program (Feb. 2, 2015).
- 7.10. ICE Directive 30012.2, Disciplinary and Adverse Action (Dec. 3, 2019).
- 7.11. ICE Policy No. 1033.1, Employee Code of Conduct (Aug. 7, 2012).
- 7.12. U.S. Office of Pers. Mgmt., 2021 OPM Guide to Telework and Remote Work in the Federal Government (Nov. 2021).
- 7.13. U.S. Office of Pers. Mgmt., Overseas Telework, <https://www.telework.gov/guidance-legislation/telework-guidance/overseas-telework/> (last visited Jan. 18, 2022).
- 7.14. U.S. Dept of State, 6 FAH-5 H-352.12 Domestic Employees Teleworking Overseas (DETOs) (2016).

8. Attachments.

8.1. Telework Application and Agreement.

8.2. Alternative Worksite Checklist.

9. No Private Right. This document provides only internal ICE policy guidance, which may be modified, rescinded, or superseded at any time without notice. It is not intended to, does not, and may not be relied upon to create any right or benefit, substantive or procedural, enforceable at law by any party in any administrative, civil, or criminal matter. Likewise, no limitations are placed by this guidance on the otherwise lawful enforcement or litigative prerogatives of ICE.

Tae D. Johnson
Acting Director
U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement

U.S. IMMIGRATION AND CUSTOMS ENFORCEMENT

ICE Directive 1060.1: Remote Work

Issue Date: February 16, 2022

Superseded: None

1. Purpose/Background. This Directive establishes U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement's (ICE) policy and procedural requirements for remote work.¹ Remote work is an alternative work arrangement that involves an employee performing their official duties at an approved alternative worksite away from an agency worksite, without regularly returning to the agency worksite during each pay period.
2. Policy. It is ICE policy that remote work may be made available to eligible employees occupying qualified positions where it is in the best interest of the agency, and there is no negative impact on mission accomplishment. Positions should be considered for remote work on a case-by-case basis and consistent with this Directive, DHS and Office of Personnel Management (OPM) guidance. Remote work is not an employee right or entitlement, and approval is at the discretion of ICE management based on the specific needs of the organization. Remote work, like traditional telework, is primarily a flexible work arrangement established to facilitate the accomplishment of work; but it involves more complex considerations. Remote work enables employees to work at an approved location (for example, the employee's residence) either within or outside of the local commuting area of an ICE agency worksite without a requirement to work at the agency worksite on a regular and recurring basis. Employees may work remotely from any agreed upon location in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and all other U.S. Territories and tribal areas. ICE Directorates and Program Offices may develop specific guidance in accordance with this Directive and subject to collective bargaining obligations, which may include a determination of which positions will be eligible for remote work.

This policy only governs Remote Work; for ICE policy regarding Telework, please refer to ICE Directive 1059.1.

- 2.1. Effective Date. This Directive is effective upon publication and applies to remote work arrangements and agreements entered into after the effective date. Generally, remote work agreements in place prior to this Directive's effective date remain valid for the duration of their term.
- 2.2. Applicability to bargaining unit employees. Employees and supervisors of employees covered by a Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) should consult all relevant CBAs for additional information.² This Directive does not supersede existing CBA articles and must be used in conjunction with the agreements and procedures contained in applicable CBAs.

¹ This Directive applies to the Office of the Principal Legal Advisor (OPLA) to the extent it is not inconsistent with directives, policies, or formal guidance issued by the General Counsel of the Department of Homeland Security (DHS). DHS Delegation No. 0400.2, Delegation to the General Counsel (Sept. 14, 2004).

- 2.3. Supplemental Direction. Directorates, Program Offices, and Field Offices may establish policies, guidelines, and procedures (subject to CBA obligations) to supplement this Directive. All guidance or procedures must be developed in consultation with the Office of Human Capital (OHC)–Human Capital Policy Unit, and the Office of Regulatory Affairs and Policy.
- 2.4. Continuity of Operations. During any period where ICE is operating under a continuity of operations or emergency plan, including, but not limited to, a pandemic, terrorist or cyber-attack, the requirements of the plan may supersede this Directive and employees’ existing remote work agreements.
- 3. Definitions. The following definitions apply for purposes of this Directive only.
 - 3.1. Agency Worksite. The official Federal agency location where work activities are based, generally considered a centralized location of an employee’s assigned organization. The term regular worksite is also used to describe agency worksite.³ Generally, this is the location where non-remote work and non-telework employees work.
 - 3.2. Alternative Worksite. Generally, an employee’s approved remote work site, which is listed as the place where the employee performs official duties away from the agency worksite under a remote work agreement. An alternative worksite can be the employee’s residence, an Approved Telework Center, or another approved location.
 - 3.3. Alternative Worksite Inspection. A site inspection of the alternative worksite by the employee or a designated ICE representative. An alternative worksite inspection is primarily conducted to ensure that the worksite meets acceptable safety standards. An inspection may also evaluate maintenance and storage of government-furnished equipment (GFE), safeguards for data security, and other specifications or requirements in this or other applicable directives.
 - 3.4. Business Rationale. A written justification that weighs the benefits against the costs for a particular position to be designated for remote work. This justification must consider the duties and responsibilities of the position, as well as analyze, at minimum, the short- and long-term impact of designating the position for remote work on agency business operations, budget, continuity of operations plans, and emergency response requirements.

² ICE currently has two CBAs that may impact an employee’s ability to conduct remote work, including utilizing telework: ICE and AFGE Local 511, Professional Employees Agreement 2019 (arts. 15 and 17; apps. F–Employee Decision Period Work Schedule Request Form, H–Telework Program Agreement, and I–Telework Program Work Plan); Agreement 2000 Between U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service and National Immigration and Naturalization Service Council, AFGE Council 118 (Agreement 2000).

³ See, e.g., 5 C.F.R. § 531.605(d).

- 3.5. Eligible Employee. An employee in a position with tasks identified by the employee’s supervisor or manager and, where required, the appropriate Headquarters or Field Responsible Official, as being suitable for remote work in accordance with this Directive. Eligible employees must also meet performance and conduct requirements as required by law and policy.
- 3.6. Employee. An individual as defined by 5 U.S.C. § 2105.
- 3.7. Field Responsible Official (FRO). The highest-ranking official in any ICE field location. This includes Special Agents in Charge, Field Office Directors, Chief Counsel, ICE Attachés, and any other officials who have been designated, in writing by the Director.
- 3.8. Headquarters Responsible Officials (HROs). Executive Associate Directors (EADs) of Enforcement and Removal Operations (ERO), Homeland Security Investigations (HSI), and Management and Administration (M&A); the Associate Director of the Office of Professional Responsibility (OPR); the Principal Legal Advisor; and the Assistant Directors, Officers, or equivalent positions who report directly to the ICE Director, Deputy Director, or Chief of Staff.
- 3.9. Locality Pay. Locality-based comparability payment under 5 U.S.C. § 5304 and 5 C.F.R. § 531.604 or equivalent payment under another authority is pay prescribed by OPM regulation. This pay is defined as the geographic area for General Schedule employees and other employees whose federal pay is extended and authorized based on the location of the employee’s worksite. Federal employee pay is based upon certain location-based pay entitlements such as locality payments, special rate supplements, and non-foreign area cost-of-living allowances at the location of the employee’s official worksite as associated with the employee’s position of record.
- 3.10. Misconduct. On-duty or off-duty behavior by an employee that violates ICE Policy No. 1033.1, Employee Code of Conduct (Aug. 7, 2012), or other applicable statutes, regulations, and policies. Such misconduct may result in the agency taking a conduct action (e.g., disciplinary or adverse) pursuant to ICE Directive 30012.2, Disciplinary and Adverse Action (Dec. 3, 2019), or as amended.
- 3.11. Official Worksite. As determined by management, the location of an employee’s position of record where the employee regularly performs his or her duties. For employees covered by a remote work agreement under this Directive, the official worksite and alternative worksite are the same.⁴
- 3.12. Personal Identifiable Information (PII). Any information that permits the identity of an individual to be directly or indirectly inferred, including any information that is linked or linkable to that individual regardless of whether the individual is a U.S. citizen; lawful permanent resident; visitor to the United States; or ICE employee, detailee, or contractor.

⁴ For employees on a telework or remote work agreement whose work involves regular travel or whose work location varies on a daily basis, additional rules at 5 C.F.R. § 531.605(d)(1)-(4) apply. For these employees, ICE must determine and designate the official worksite for pay purposes on a case-by-case basis.

3.13. Reduction in Force (RIF). The release of an employee from his or her competitive level by furlough for more than 30 days, separation, demotion, or reassignment requiring displacement, when the release is required because of lack of work, shortage of funds, insufficient personnel ceiling, reorganization, and individual's exercise of reemployment rights or restoration rights, or reclassification due to erosion of duties when it occurs within 180 days of a formally announced RIF in the competitive area.

3.14. Relocation. Relocation is change of an employee's official worksite that involves a physical move.

3.15. Remote Work. Remote work is an arrangement under which an employee is scheduled to perform work within or outside the local commuting area of an agency worksite and is not expected to report to the agency worksite on a regular and recurring basis (e.g., at least two days per biweekly pay period as required for employees approved for telework).

3.16. Remote Worker. An employee who works at an alternative worksite (residence, Approved Telework Center, or another approved worksite) and does not report to the agency worksite at least twice each biweekly pay period on a regular recurring basis (and for which a temporary exception to this requirement has not been approved).

3.17. Remote Work Agreement. An agreement between an ICE employee and management that outlines the terms and conditions of the remote work arrangement, and establishes specific details regarding the arrangement, including the address of the alternative worksite, schedule, provisions regarding cost reimbursement, and the frequency of anticipated reporting back to the agency worksite, as applicable. Typically, remote work agreements are documented on a Remote Work Application and Agreement (Attachment 1).

3.18. Remote Work Application. An employee's request to participate in remote work. The request should be documented on a Remote Work Application and Agreement (Attachment 1), and an employee is not allowed to begin working under such a request until it is formally documented and approved.

3.19. Remote Work Coordinator. The ICE official responsible for coordinating and managing the ICE Remote Work Program in OHC.

3.20. Remote Work Data. A summary of information provided by agencies on the status of their Remote Work programs.

4. Responsibilities.

4.1. HROs are responsible for:

- 1) Ensuring compliance with this Directive within their Directorate or Program Office;

- 2) Approving or designating management officials to approve, encumbered positions in their respective Directorates or Program Offices for remote work and deciding whether newly created or vacant positions will be designated and advertised as eligible for remote work; the approval process must include reviewing and approving the written justification (which must include a business rationale) for a position to be designated for remote work;
- 3) Designating a Program Remote Work Coordinator and points of contact; and
- 4) In consultation with OHC and the ICE Office of Regulatory Affairs and Policy, establishing detailed Directorate or Program Office-specific procedures for remote work implementation that are consistent with this Directive, as necessary and appropriate.

4.2. FROs are responsible for:

- 1) Ensuring compliance with this Directive in their field location;
- 2) Approving encumbered positions under their control for remote work and deciding whether newly created or vacant positions will be designated and advertised as eligible for remote work; the approval process must include reviewing and approving the written justification (which must include a business rationale) for a position to be designated for remote work; and
- 3) Designating a Program Remote Work Coordinator and points of contact.

4.3. The ICE Chief Human Capital Officer (CHCO), or their designee, is responsible for:

- 1) Ensuring ICE remote work practices conform with applicable law, rule, regulations, and any relevant OPM, DHS and ICE policies;
- 2) In coordination with OPLA, providing and interpreting applicable statutes, regulations, policies, and standards for managing the Remote Work Program;
- 3) Providing ICE officials with advice, technical assistance, and consultative services for remote work issues;
- 4) Preparing, maintaining, and reporting any remote work data necessary for the Remote Work Program to the DHS CHCO on an annual or as-required basis; and
- 5) Designating an ICE Remote Work Coordinator to administer and oversee implementation of the Remote Work Program at ICE.

4.4. The Chief Information Officer, or their designee, is responsible for:

- 1) Issuing and maintaining information technology (IT) policies and minimum implementation standards for remote access security, which includes access to IT systems required for networks. These policies and minimum implementation standards must outline responsibilities of remote workers to enable an effective working environment for the remote worker and the protection of ICE systems from undue risk;

- 2) Assisting the Directorates and Program Offices with the purchase of government IT equipment as needed, including notebook or desktop computers, telephones, printers, and scanners;
- 3) Establishing security controls that must be set out in written Remote Work Application and Agreements which outline the terms and conditions of the remote work arrangement;
- 4) Providing installation, configuration, and repair services for government IT equipment to the Directorates and Program Offices to ensure effective and secure operations at the alternative worksite. Such services will be performed only at an ICE facility;
- 5) Providing a means for remote users to update equipment to remain aligned with ICE images; and
- 6) Providing a means to recover equipment for periodic replacement and reassignment.

4.5. The ICE Remote Work Coordinator within the OHC is responsible for:

- 1) Assisting with the management of the Remote Work Program consistent with applicable law, and OPM, DHS and ICE policies;
- 2) Providing ICE officials with advice, technical assistance, and consultative services for remote working issues;
- 3) Coordinating ICE-wide communications and outreach efforts related to the Remote Work Program;
- 4) Acting as consultant to the Program Remote Work Coordinators; and
- 5) Obtaining, consolidating, maintaining, and preparing any remote work data necessary for the Program Remote Work Coordinators on an annual or an as-required basis and providing the data to the ICE CHCO.

4.6. Program Remote Work Coordinators, through their established chain of command, are responsible for:

- 1) Conducting Directorate, Program, or Field Office remote work training;

- 2) Acting as a focal point for all remote work-related matters within each ICE Directorate, Program Office, or Field Office, and coordinating with the ICE Remote Work Coordinator;
- 3) Maintaining remote work records and reports and uploading agreements to the designated share point site for their respective ICE office; and
- 4) Obtaining, consolidating, and preparing any remote work data for reporting to the ICE Remote Work Coordinator on an annual or an as-required basis; reports are subject to supervisory review and approval.

4.7. Supervisors and Managers, as designated, are responsible for:

- 1) Assessing annually—and on an ongoing basis to account for any change in circumstances—an employee’s eligibility for remote work and whether it is in the best interests of the agency, Directorate, Program Office, and division (or subdivision);
- 2) Ensuring approved encumbered positions in their respective work unit are properly designated for remote work and verifying that newly created or vacant positions approved for remote work are designated and advertised as eligible for remote work;
- 3) Completing a written justification, which includes a business rationale, for each position that will be remote work eligible;
- 4) Advising HROs/FROs on remote work-eligible positions;
- 5) Completing applicable remote work training prior to reviewing and approving employee requests for remote work;
- 6) Ensuring employees receive and complete all required remote work training before they enter into a remote work agreement;
- 7) Evaluating an employee’s remote work request (see Section 5.3);
- 8) Conducting alternative worksite inspections (virtually or in-person), as appropriate;
- 9) Working with employees to determine equipment and travel needs and ensuring funds are available to support eligible remote work expenses;
- 10) Determining when it may be necessary, on an infrequent and non-recurring basis, for an employee who works remotely to travel to an agency worksite; in such cases, the employee should be provided with reasonable notice of the travel;
- 11) Approving the Remote Work Application and Agreement (Attachment 1), or other documents as required by any CBA, if applicable, and submitting all supporting documentation (for example, Application, Alternative Worksite Checklist) and SF-52, Request for Personnel Action, to the Human Resources Operations Center to process the change of worksite, if applicable;

- 12) Promptly complying with the Federal Employees' Compensation Act in case of an injury or occupational disease occurring at the employee's alternative worksite;
- 13) Maintaining and reporting remote work-related data and records to the Program Remote Work Coordinator and the ICE Remote Work Coordinator as applicable, on an annual or as-required basis;
- 14) Certifying the accuracy of employees' time and attendance; and
- 15) Identifying remote workers who are designated "emergency employees" or "mission critical" emergency employees and ensuring that designation appears in the employee's Remote Work Application and Agreement.

4.8. Employees are responsible for:

- 1) Completing a Remote Work Application and Agreement and an Alternative Worksite Checklist;
- 2) Completing all periodic and required training prior to entry into a remote work agreement;
- 3) Accurately coding and validating their time and attendance record to reflect remote work;
- 4) Maintaining alternative worksite internet connection capabilities to ensure completion of work assignments;
- 5) Complying with the terms set in the Remote Work Application and Agreement, all applicable policies, procedures, guidance, and regulations, to include standards of conduct, drug testing, and performance and procedures for updating software and enhancing security for any GFE;
- 6) Obtaining approval from their supervisor prior to changing the location of their remote worksite. If approved, the supervisor must initiate a personnel action to change the location of the employee's remote worksite, including to properly identify locality pay implications, if applicable.
- 7) Engaging in or conducting relocation activities outside of official time unless directed by the Agency;
- 8) Promptly notifying their supervisor when events arise that make them unable to perform their duties (e.g., internet or power outages, computer issues, etc.);

- 9) Immediately reporting to their supervisor an injury or occupational disease occurring at the employee's alternative worksite;
- 10) Providing government employees or designated support contractors physical and virtual access to their approved alternative worksite and their government-furnished equipment to ensure proper maintenance of government-owned property and worksite conformance with safety standards and requirements;
- 11) Maintaining a work area that is suitable and safe for performance of official duties and acknowledging that ICE will not be responsible for operating costs (e.g., home maintenance, insurance, or utilities, internet service provider fees, office space, office furniture);
- 12) Allowing inspections of the alternative worksite; and
- 13) Securing supervisory approval prior to taking PII and sensitive non-classified data to a remote worksite and taking precautions to protect this information from unauthorized disclosure.

5. Procedures/Requirements.

5.1. Access to Remote Work. A position may be designated for remote work when it is encumbered or vacant. An employee in an encumbered position may apply for remote work. If the application is approved, the position will be designated for remote work. Unencumbered positions may be designated eligible for remote work by the applicable HRO or FRO in coordination with OHC staff. When a position designated for remote work becomes unencumbered, it may be subsequently advertised as a remote work-eligible position, if desired, or the remote work designation may be removed.

5.2. Remote Work Considerations. A decision regarding remote work should be primarily based on the position and consideration of its duties and responsibilities. Remote work should be considered for positions where it is in the best interest of the agency and there is no negative impact on mission accomplishment. This means that only positions with duties and responsibilities that can be accomplished effectively in a remote work environment should be designated as eligible for remote work. Additional considerations include, but are not limited to:

- 1) Providing career development opportunities for qualified employees without certain geographical restrictions;
- 2) Providing flexibility for positions where work assignments and frequency do not require regular interface or collaboration in a traditional office setting;
- 3) Creating virtual projects or work teams;

- 4) Enabling employees whose job entails significant travel to work virtually; therefore, reporting to an ICE worksite on a regular basis is not necessary;
- 5) Facilitating recruitment for hard to fill positions; and
- 6) Retaining valued employees who desire to relocate while retaining their current position.

The decision to designate a position for remote work must be documented in writing and approved by the relevant HRO (or their designee) or FRO (or their designee), in consultation with OHC. The written justification must reflect that, based on all relevant factors, it is in the best interest of ICE to designate the position as one for remote work. It must also contain a business rationale that analyzes, at minimum, the short- and long-term impact of designating the position for remote work on agency business operations, budget, continuity of operations plans, and emergency response requirements. All written justifications must be retained by the applicable Program Remote Work Coordinator.

5.3. Remote Work Request Evaluation. When evaluating an existing employee's remote work request or an applicant's suitability for a remote work-designated position, supervisors should consider both the nature of the position (see Section 5.2) and the employee's or applicant's ability to:

- 1) Prioritize work to meet deadlines;
- 2) Accomplish job duties with minimal supervision;
- 3) Understand their role and expectations;
- 4) Be organized, highly disciplined, and self-motivated;
- 5) Meet performance expectations as outlined in performance work plan;
- 6) Communicate effectively with clients, stakeholders, and team members; and
- 7) Manage time effectively.

5.4. Documentation. Remote work applications and approval, modification, or revocation decisions must be fully documented.

- 1) ICE employees wishing to begin remote work must provide a remote work application to their supervisor or manager.
- 2) Supervisors or managers are required to document all decisions made regarding employee requests for remote work.

- 3) Employees approved for remote work must enter into a written remote work agreement. The agreement must include all provisions required by law, as well as this Directive. Additionally, the agreement must include the following as applicable to the employee at issue:
 - a) The term of the agreement. Remote work agreements under which the employee's alternative worksite is within the local commuting area of the agency worksite will normally be for a period of one year and be subject to annual review and renewal. Remote work agreements under which the employee's alternative worksite is not within the local commuting area of the agency worksite will not have an established termination date; termination or modification will be evaluated when prompted by an agency or employee change of circumstances;
 - b) The employee's work schedule;
 - c) The employee's approved alternative worksite; and
 - d) Any specific requirements or expectations beyond those required by law or this Directive.

5.5. Expectations. In all situations, the supervisor and remote worker must discuss and clearly understand that it is the employee's responsibility to be responsive to work requirements as if the employee was reporting to an ICE worksite. In addition, all work products and responses to management, customers, and stakeholders must align with quality and timeliness expectations.

- 1) Remote employees are expected to perform as if they were working at an ICE worksite. Their performance should be managed in accordance with the expectations in the Performance Work Plan and should not differ whether the work is done remotely or not. Before signing a Remote Work Application and Agreement, the supervisor and employee must have a discussion regarding expectations (communications, work hours, customer service, etc.) for the remote work arrangement.
- 2) An employee with a decline in performance may be reassigned by management to an ICE worksite. The supervisor or manager will engage with the employee to discuss performance, as well as areas of improvement, prior to revoking the remote work agreement, consistent with Section 5.10 (Termination of Remote Work Agreements) of this Directive. Such performance issues will be addressed in consultation with Employee Relations and OPLA, and if performance is deemed unacceptable, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. Chapter 43.

5.6. Restrictions.

- 1) Employees must continue to adhere to DHS and ICE standards of conduct and policies while working at the alternative worksite and using GFE. Unless otherwise specifically addressed herein, all conditions of federal employment, performance of assigned duties, adherence to applicable policies, participation in required training, and satisfaction of standards of conduct apply. Alleged or apparent breaches thereof may subject an employee to formal management review, investigation and, if required, appropriate disciplinary or adverse actions.

- 2) ICE is prohibited from assigning an employee to a worksite outside the local commuting area of the agency worksite within 90 days of a non-temporary competitive appointment.⁵ Therefore, unless hired to a position designated and advertised as remote-work eligible, ICE employees may not request remote work for a location outside the local commuting area of their agency worksite within 90 days of a non-temporary competitive appointment.⁶
- 3) An employee will not be eligible for remote work under any circumstances where:
 - a) They have been officially disciplined for being absent without permission for more than five days in any calendar year, or
 - b) They have been officially disciplined for violations of subpart G of the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer while performing official Federal Government duties.
- 4) This Directive does not apply to remote work outside the U.S. and its territories (overseas). Individuals may not work remotely from an overseas location under the provisions of this Directive. U.S. Department of State and OPM guidance governs overseas telework (remote work). An agency Domestic Employee Teleworking Overseas (DETO) policy must be in place and a DETO arrangement entered into between the agency and the employee before overseas telework can occur.⁷ ICE employees cannot telework from overseas without an approved DETO agreement.

5.7. Dependent Care.

- 1) Remote work employees are expected to have arrangements for dependent care during the workday.
- 2) Remote work cannot be used as an alternative for the employee to be the sole source of dependent care (child/elder or dependent). If dependent care arrangements are co-located at the alternative worksite, such as the employee's home, the employee must notify their supervisor or manager as soon as possible if significant work disruption or an emergency occurs and request appropriate leave to perform dependent care responsibilities.

⁵ See 5 CFR § 330.502.

⁶ The official worksite of an employee hired to work remotely will be the alternative worksite (normally residence) agreed upon at hiring; no change in worksite is associated with appointment into a remote work position and, thus, the 90-day prohibition discussed in this Section would not apply.

⁷ U.S. Office of Pers. Mgmt., Overseas Telework, <https://www.telework.gov/guidance-legislation/telework-guidance/overseas-telework/> (last visited Jan. 18, 2022); U.S. Dept. of State, 6 FAH-5 H-352.12, Domestic Employees Teleworking Overseas (DETOs) (2016).

- 3) Remote work may be used in conjunction with alternative work schedules, Family and Medical Leave Act guidelines, and annual leave to allow time for dependent care responsibilities, so long as the employee is not the sole provider of dependent care throughout the workday when they are not on approved leave.

5.8. Dismissal and Closure. Remote workers are required to work during any Federal office/worksite closures, delayed arrivals, and early dismissals due to weather or other impacts to the agency worksite. Remote workers should notify their supervisor when weather or emergencies occur that affect their alternative worksite to request leave, other absence options, or worksite relocation, etc. Employees must be aware of the expectation that they will work when their agency worksite is closed, so long as their alternative worksite is not affected. If weather or another emergency affects their alternative worksite, they should immediately contact their supervisor for guidance

5.9. Worksite Suitability. The employee is expected to create a dedicated work environment at their alternative worksite that is free from interruptions and provides reasonable security and protection, to include, at a minimum, a telephone, workspace suitable to perform the work, high-speed Internet that is reliable and secure, adequate lighting, proper seating, and appropriate ventilation.

- 1) The employee must evaluate the employee's proposed alternative worksite using the Alternative Worksite Checklist (Attachment 2).
- 2) A supervisor or, if the supervisor is unavailable, another management representative, may inspect an employee's official worksite for compliance with checklist requirements, if there is suspicion the worksite is unsuitable. This inspection may be conducted virtually with the assistance of the employee.
 - a) The inspector may bring a witness with them to the inspection, with the approval of the employee, but a witness is not required.
 - b) The supervisor or manager will provide at least three workdays' advance notice and coordinate appropriate arrangements for inspection with the employee.
 - c) The supervisor or manager will document the reason for the inspection and their findings, including a copy of the Alternative Worksite Checklist.
 - d) Employees are expected to remedy any deficiencies identified by a self or management inspection. A supervisor may deny a remote work request or rescind an existing remote work agreement if an employee cannot or will not correct remote worksite deficiencies identified by an inspection.

- e) The employee may rectify deficiencies, after which point the supervisor or manager may approve (or decide to not rescind) the remote work agreement upon re-inspection or validation of proof provided by the employee.
- 3) If during inspection an employee with an existing remote work agreement is found to be in violation of physical or information security requirements, the supervisor may immediately terminate the remote work agreement.

5.10. Termination of Remote Work Agreements. Termination of a previously approved and effected remote work agreement may be requested by the employee or initiated by ICE. Termination may be based on the employee's change in life circumstances, failure of the employee to meet the terms and conditions of the remote work agreement, or a change in the operational needs of the organization. ICE must provide notice of the termination, including the basis for termination, and the requirement to report to the newly designated official worksite at a specified future date, not less than 30 calendar days from the date of the notice. If reporting to the new official worksite will require a geographic relocation, this notice should include information regarding eligibility for relocation expenses and refer to the appropriate resources and policies to accomplish the required relocation. An employee may appeal the termination of the remote work arrangement through either the negotiated grievance procedure (if the employee is covered by a CBA and applicable provision) or ICE's administrative grievance procedure.

- 1) Management Termination of a Remote Work Agreement—Misconduct or Performance.
 - a) Management may terminate a remote work agreement due to employee misconduct or performance-related issues. In such circumstances, management can direct the remote worker to work at an ICE location, reassign the employee to another position at an ICE location, or terminate the employee in accordance with applicable Government-wide rules and regulations, agency policy, and any CBA, as applicable. Such decisions should be made in consultation with Employee Relations and OPLA.
 - b) If a remote worker refuses to follow management's direction to return to an ICE office or refuses a directed reassignment, ICE may take any necessary steps to involuntarily separate the employee, in accordance with Government-wide rules and regulations, ICE policy, and any CBA, as applicable.
- 2) Employee Voluntary Termination of a Remote Work Agreement.
 - a) A remote worker may request to terminate a remote work agreement by providing a written notice to their supervisor. Supervisors will consider the request on a case-by-case basis. Such requests, if approved, would require employees to return to an agreed upon ICE worksite within 60 days of approval. The employee should coordinate with their supervisor concerning the details of their return to an ICE worksite.

- b) Any remote work agreement must be terminated immediately upon the employee's entry on duty to a new position within ICE, or reassignment to a similar position in a different office, division, or work group within ICE.
- 3) RIF procedures may apply to certain management termination, transfer, or reassignment decisions. Supervisors should consider all available options and are encouraged to minimize the adverse impact on employees during a management decision to terminate remote work agreements.
- 4) Termination of a remote work agreement by management for reasons other than misconduct or performance may make the employee eligible for severance pay where the employee elects to separate in lieu of accepting reassignment outside of their local commuting area. An employee is eligible for severance pay if removed from Federal service by "involuntary separation" for reasons other than misconduct or performance. A separation is considered "involuntary" if an employee declines to accept reassignment outside their commuting area unless the employee's position description or other written agreement provides for such a reassignment. Absent exceptional reasons that have been approved by the ICE CHCO (or their designee), all Remote Work Application and Agreements must contain language clearly stating that a separation resulting from the employee's declination to accept reassignment outside their commuting area is not considered to be an involuntary separation.

5.10. Government-Furnished Equipment and Materials.

- 1) Using GFE for remote work is subject to the IT policies of ICE. No individual (including family, friends, house guests, tenants, etc.) other than the employee performing remote work is authorized to use GFE. If the remote employee needs additional or specialized IT equipment, then the employee should make a request for such equipment through their supervisor. The Directorate or Program Office may be required to fund the equipment.
- 2) ICE is responsible for maintenance of all GFE. Employees will be required to bring or send GFE into an agency worksite for maintenance as directed.
- 3) All files, records, papers, and electronic materials created or worked on while remote working are the property of the U.S. Government and must be returned upon request. Employees must take appropriate precautions to protect government files, records, and paper and electronic materials. Precautions should include locking file cabinets, safes, encrypted media, and doors, among other precautions.

5.11. Protecting Sensitive Information.

- 1) Remote workers must have written approval from a supervisor to remove sensitive information from agency worksites for access at an approved alternative worksite.

- 2) Remote workers with access to records subject to the Privacy Act from an alternative worksite must demonstrate appropriate administrative, technical, and physical safeguards are available to ensure the security and confidentiality of the records.
- 3) Employees may not physically or electronically access classified material from alternative worksite locations. Where an employee needs to review or access classified material, they must do so at an ICE-approved Sensitive Compartmented Information Facility.

5.12. Reports. Remote Work Coordinators, supervisors, and managers must all ensure that ICE data regarding remote work is accurately collected and reported to OPM.

- 1) The ICE Remote Work Coordinator, in coordination with Program Remote work Coordinators will obtain, consolidate, and maintain any remote work data or reports necessary for the Remote Work Program from the Program Remote Work Coordinators on an annual or an as-required basis and provide such information to OPM as directed by the DHS CHCO.
- 2) Program Remote Work Coordinators will obtain, consolidate, and prepare any remote work data for reporting to the ICE Remote Work Coordinator on an annual or an as-required basis.
- 3) Supervisors and managers will maintain and report remote work-related data and records (participant data, productivity data, remote work requests, Remote Work Application and Agreements, etc.) to their Program Remote Work Coordinator, as applicable, on an annual or an as-required basis. Remote Work Application and Agreements effected as part of a reasonable accommodation are also reportable to the ICE Office of Diversity and Civil Rights.

5.13. Liability and Workers' Compensation. Remote workers are covered under the Federal Tort Claims Act⁸ and the Federal Employees' Compensation Act.⁹ As with injuries that occur in the traditional office/worksite setting, for injuries that occur during remote work arrangements at an alternative worksite, supervisors may only attest to what they reasonably know. In all situations, employees are responsible for informing their immediate supervisor of an injury at the earliest time possible.

5.14. Compensation Implications for Remote Work.

- 1) An employee's pay is determined by the employee's official worksite, which for a remote employee is the same as their alternative worksite; therefore, the employee's supervisor, in coordination with their respective human resources specialist and/or OHC, should review the General Schedule locality pay tables to determine the extent to which salary costs may increase or decrease, if a change in an employee's official worksite is approved. Supervisors must work with their human resources specialist to accurately record the employee's official worksite, which must be documented on the SF-52.

⁸ 28 U.S.C. § 2672 (1990).

⁹ 5 U.S.C. Ch. 81, Compensation for Work Injuries.

- 2) Employees should similarly be aware of any changes in pay that may result by entering into a remote work agreement and should consider this in any request to change their official worksite.

5.15. Travel/Relocation.

- 1) Remote workers, in certain circumstances, are entitled to receive travel and relocation benefits under General Services Administration guidelines.¹⁰ Travel and relocation reimbursements are based on the employee's official worksite, as identified on their SF-50.
- 2) If an employee is required to report to a worksite more than 50 miles from their official worksite for meetings or other non-disciplinary business, they may be eligible to receive per diem and any applicable travel reimbursement.
- 3) Remote workers whose alternative worksite is within the normal commuting radius of an agency worksite may be eligible for local travel reimbursement when directed to travel within the local commuting area to a location other than an ICE worksite (for example, to a training site). However, ICE will not reimburse required travel to the agency worksite within the local commuting area.
- 4) A remote employee required to travel to an ICE worksite for official business must be provided with reasonable notice of the date and time of travel. What is "reasonable" must be considered on a case-by-case basis in light of the facts and circumstances at issue.¹¹
- 5) Relocation to an official worksite that occurs at the employee's request and is not directed by management is completed at the employee's expense. However, under certain circumstances, (for example, if the agency initiates a change to an employee's official worksite), it may be completed at the agency's expense.

5.16. Employee Health Benefits. A change to an employee's official worksite may affect their health benefits plan. Under the Federal Employees Health Benefits (FEHB) Program, some health plan options are only available in certain geographic areas. If the plan an employee is enrolled in is not available in their new location, the employee may change plans as a qualifying life event. The employee is responsible for requesting any change. If enrolled in a nationwide FEHB plan, coverage would not change.

¹⁰ 41 C.F.R. Chs. 300-04.

¹¹ "Reasonable notice" may vary based on the particular facts and circumstances of the case and individual at issue. It may be reasonable for a remote employee who lives within 50 miles of the agency worksite to be ordered to travel to said worksite the next day. Where such an employee lives hundreds of miles away, more notice would be necessary to be reasonable to allow the employee to make travel arrangements, etc.

5.17. Additional Considerations.

- 1) By signing a Remote Work Application and Agreement, an employee agrees that the decision to approve, disapprove, or terminate an agreement alone, is not challengeable by way of appeal to the Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB). However, appeal rights to the MSPB and other administrative bodies may be implicated if employees allege a prohibited personnel practice, discrimination, or challenge a personnel action over which that administrative body has jurisdiction.
- 2) When an employee requests remote work due to an injury or as a qualified individual with a disability, the employee should follow reasonable accommodation procedures pursuant to ICE guidance and applicable policies.

6. Recordkeeping. All relevant documents produced or provided in accordance with this Directive must be maintained in accordance with a National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) General Records Schedule or a NARA-approved agency-specific records control schedule. If the records are not subject to a records schedule, they must be maintained indefinitely by the agency until an approved records schedule is in place. In the event the records are subject to a litigation hold, they may not be disposed of under a records schedule until further notification. Further, all video and audio produced in accordance with the BWC pilot must be maintained in accordance with a NARA-approved agency-specific records control schedule.

7. Authorities/References.

- 7.1. Telework Enhancement Act of 2010, Pub. L. No. 111-292, 124 Stat. 3165 (Dec. 9, 2010) (codified as amended at 5 U.S.C. §§ 5711, 6501-06).
- 7.2. 5 U.S.C. § 5304 (2009).
- 7.3. 5 U.S.C. Ch. 43, Performance Appraisal.
- 7.4. 5 U.S.C. Ch. 81, Compensation for Work Injuries.
- 7.5. 28 U.S.C. § 2672 (1990).
- 7.6. 5 C.F.R. § 330.502 (2022).
- 7.7. 5 C.F.R. § 531.604 (2022).
- 7.8. 5 C.F.R. § 531.605(d) (2022).
- 7.9. 5 C.F.R. Chs. 300-304, Federal Travel Regulation System.
- 7.10. DHS Directive No. 123-05, Revision 01, Telework Directive (Feb. 11, 2015).

- 7.11. DHS Instruction No. 123-05-001, Revision 00, Telework Program (Feb. 2, 2015).
- 7.12. DHS Office of the Chief Human Capital Officer, Compensation Guidance CG-2-2021, Remote Work (July 15, 2021).
- 7.13. ICE Directive 30012.2, Disciplinary and Adverse Action (Dec. 3, 2019).
- 7.14. ICE Policy No. 1033.1, Employee Code of Conduct (Aug. 7, 2012).
- 7.15. U.S. Office of Pers. Mgmt., 2021 OPM Guide to Telework and Remote Work in the Federal Government (Nov. 2021).
- 7.16. U.S. Office of Pers. Mgmt., Overseas Telework, <https://www.telework.gov/guidance-legislation/telework-guidance/overseas-telework/> (last visited Jan. 18, 2022).
- 7.17. U.S. Dept of State, 6 FAH-5 H-352.12 Domestic Employees Teleworking Overseas (DETOs) (2016).

8. Attachments.

8.1. Remote Work Application and Agreement.

8.2. Alternative Worksite Checklist.

9. No Private Right. This document provides only internal ICE policy guidance, which may be modified, rescinded, or superseded at any time without notice. It is not intended to, does not, and may not be relied upon to create any right or benefit, substantive or procedural, enforceable at law by any party in any administrative, civil, or criminal matter. Likewise, no limitations are placed by this guidance on the otherwise lawful enforcement or litigative prerogatives of ICE.

Tae D. Johnson
Acting Director
U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement

TSA MANAGEMENT DIRECTIVE No. 1100.30-5
TELEWORK PROGRAM

To enhance mission performance, TSA is committed to promoting a culture founded on its values of Integrity, Respect, and Commitment.

NOTE: Pursuant to Section 101 of the Aviation and Transportation Security Act (49 U.S.C. 114(n)), this directive and all related Handbooks, Attachments, and Appendices establish Transportation Security Administration (TSA) policy and must be applied accordingly.

REVISION:

This revised directive supersedes TSA MD 1100.30-5, Telework Program, dated May 7, 2018.

SUMMARY OF CHANGES:

General, the definition of telework is revised as an arrangement in which an employee performs the duties and activities of their position from a TSA worksite (i.e., their regular worksite) on some days and from an alternative worksite on other days, meaning the employee is expected to report to work both at a TSA worksite and alternative worksite on a regular and recurring basis each pay period, at least two days per pay period. As such, by definition, telework under the Telework Program excludes the 'full-time telework' that was authorized under the previous versions of this directive. See Definitions section in the TSA Handbook 1100.30-5, Telework Program; Section 1, Purpose, added a statement redirecting reasonable accommodation requests to the appropriate policy; Section 2, Scope, deleted ineligible positions; Section 6, Policy, modified 6.H. to clarify the position eligibility requirement, added 6.L. to allow for exceptions to employee eligibility requirement in certain circumstances; and administrative changes made throughout the directive.

1. PURPOSE:

This directive and the accompanying handbook provide TSA policy and procedures for TSA's Telework Program. This directive does not apply to telework as reasonable accommodation; reasonable accommodations are provided in accordance with TSA MD 1100.73-4, Reasonable Accommodation Program.

2. SCOPE:

This directive applies to all TSA employees.

3. AUTHORITIES:

A. Aviation and Transportation Security Act, Pub. L. 107-71 (ATSA)

4. DEFINITIONS:

A. See TSA Handbook 1100.30-5, Telework Program.

5. RESPONSIBILITIES:

A. The Assistant Administrator for Human Capital (AA/HC) is responsible for establishing the Telework Program policy consistent with all applicable laws and regulations, and designating a Telework Program Manager (TPM) within HC to implement the telework program TSA-wide.

- B. The Assistant Administrator for Information Technology is responsible for developing information technology capabilities to support telework, and providing policy guidance for ensuring information owned or maintained by TSA is protected against unauthorized access, use, modification, or destruction while teleworking.
- C. The Assistant Administrator for Security and Administrative Services is responsible for creating sustainable workspace strategies that support telework.
- D. The Executive Assistant Administrators (EAAs) and the Assistant Administrators (AAs) are responsible for:
 - (1) Supporting telework within their respective offices and ensuring telework is made available to employees to the maximum extent possible without diminished employee performance or TSA operations; and
 - (2) Designating Telework Coordinators (TCs) to implement and promote telework within their respective offices, consistent with this directive and the accompanying Handbook. The designation of TCs may occur at the EAA level or at the AA level, as determined by the EAA.
- E. The TPM is responsible for:
 - (1) Implementing and promoting telework TSA-wide and ensuring telework is implemented consistent with this directive and the accompanying Handbook through provision of telework guidance to TCs and managers;
 - (2) Planning and conducting program evaluations as part of a continual process improvement effort; and
 - (3) Complying with all internal and external telework data maintenance, reporting, and program evaluation requirements.
- F. TCs are responsible for:
 - (1) Implementing and promoting telework within their respective offices, consistent with this directive and the accompanying Handbook;
 - (2) Advising supervisors/managers and employees within their respective offices regarding telework and serving as the program office Point-of-Contact for the TPM on all matters related to telework; and
 - (3) Complying with all TSA telework data maintenance, reporting, and program evaluation requirements.
- G. Supervisors are responsible for:

- (1) Notifying employees of their eligibility to telework, provided such telework does not diminish employee performance or impede fulfillment of TSA's mission;
- (2) Complying with, and ensuring that participating employees comply with the provisions of this directive and the accompanying Handbook;
- (3) Applying telework-related policies and procedures in an impartial and consistent manner;
- (4) Ensuring that all requirements of telework participation are met prior to establishing telework agreements; and
- (5) Communicating their expectations to participating employees regarding accomplishing and managing work in the telework environment, prior to establishing telework agreements and on an on-going basis thereafter.

H. Employees participating in telework are responsible for:

- (1) Complying with the provisions of this directive and the accompanying Handbook;
- (2) Adhering to all applicable TSA policies and procedures while working at the alternative worksite, including TSA standards of conduct, the requirements of the Privacy Act of 1974, 5 U.S.C., § 552a, and all TSA information security policies and procedures; and
- (3) Maintaining flexibility and responsiveness to the needs of the supervisor, co-workers and customers, to ensure telework participation does not result in diminished individual, team or organizational performance.

6. POLICY:

- A. It is TSA's policy to make telework available to eligible employees to the maximum extent possible without diminished employee performance or TSA operations.
- B. Telework will be utilized to maximize government operations during emergencies, accomplish TSA's goals for recruiting and retaining talent, enable employees to better manage their work and family/life obligations, achieve real estate cost savings through reduced office space needs, and decrease energy consumption, traffic congestion, and pollution.
- C. Telework is an integral part of TSA's plans for continuing operations during all emergencies, including pandemic health crises, localized acts of nature, accidents, technology-related emergencies, and natural or man-made disasters.
- D. During any period that TSA is operating under a continuity of operations plan (COOP), that plan supersedes this directive.

- E. Employee participation in the telework program is voluntary, unless telework is required as a condition of employment and/or required under the COOP.
- F. While participation in the telework program is voluntary, participating employees must comply with the established terms and conditions of their participation, including the requirement to telework during emergency closures. All employees covered by telework agreements are required to work from their alternative worksite when their regular worksite is closed due to an emergency. The closure may be due to inclement weather or other emergencies affecting a geographic area, such as when the Office of Personnel Management announces a closure of all Federal offices in the Washington, DC, metropolitan area or a building-specific emergency leading to closure of all or part of a TSA office or worksite.
- G. Telework participation is at the discretion of management and subject to management approval, consistent with all applicable TSA policies. Telework participation is not an employee entitlement or right. As with all matters involving managerial discretion, telework approval decisions must be made in a fair and equitable manner.
- H. To be considered for telework, and for continued participation, employees must, at-a-minimum, meet the following position eligibility and employee eligibility criteria:
 - (1) Position eligibility. All TSA positions are eligible to be considered for telework except for those that require on a daily basis:
 - (a) Direct handling of secure/classified material determined to be inappropriate for telework by applicable TSA information security policies and procedures; or
 - (b) Performance of on-site activity which cannot be handled remotely or at an alternative worksite.
 - (2) Employee eligibility. Employees occupying positions that are telework eligible must meet the following criteria to be considered for telework participation:
 - (a) Their performance rating of record is “Achieved Expectations” or above and they have performed at an acceptable level (i.e., “Achieved Expectations” or above) during the past 12 months. For employees who have been employed with TSA for less than 12 months, supervisors may consider their performance to date;
 - (b) Their conduct has not resulted in an adverse or disciplinary action within the past 12 months;
 - (c) There are no unresolved issues pertaining to their fitness for Federal employment or eligibility to obtain a security clearance, or occupy a National Security position; and

- (d) For recently assigned or newly-appointed employees who may require closer supervision, supervisors may determine the length of time, if any, during which those employees may be deemed ineligible for telework. Generally, trainee, internship, or entry level positions may require closer supervision during the first six (6) to 12 months in the position.
- I. In addition to the minimum eligibility requirements described in Section H above, management may consider individual and work unit productivity and performance when making decisions related to telework eligibility and optimal frequency of telework within individual work units.
- J. Limitations on Telework Eligibility. Employees who have been officially disciplined (i.e., a disciplinary action that results in the placement of a document in an employee's official personnel file) for the following reasons are not eligible to telework independent of the duties of their position:
- (1) Employees who have been officially disciplined for unapproved absences charged as absent without leave for more than five workdays in any calendar year.
 - (2) Employees who have been officially disciplined for conduct violations of Subpart G of the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties.
- NOTE: The limitation on telework eligibility would remain in effect as long as the document stays in the employee's official personnel file. Employees receiving suspensions or terminations, which remain in the official personnel file permanently, that resulted from the charges described above in Section J. (1) and (2) are permanently prohibited from participating in telework.
- K. In certain circumstances, employees occupying positions that are normally ineligible for telework may be considered for telework on a situational basis, limited to functions that are suitable for telework activity. The AAs of the employing office or their designee have the authority to create such exceptions based on mission requirements and in compliance with all applicable TSA policies.
- L. In certain circumstances, employees who are ineligible for telework due to failure to meet the employee eligibility criteria stipulated in Section H.2 may be considered for telework on a situational basis, provided that telework does not diminish the employee's performance or TSA's mission, and such approval is determined to be in the best interest of Government (e.g., social distancing, mission need, etc.). The AAs of the employing office or their designee have the authority to create such exceptions based on mission requirements and in compliance with all applicable TSA policies. The limitations on telework eligibility stipulated Section J cannot be waived.

- M. Supervisors must ensure that teleworkers and non-teleworkers are treated in the same fair and equitable manner for purposes of performance management, awards and recognition, training and development opportunities, promotion, and other acts of managerial discretion.
- N. Employees continue to be bound by TSA standards of conduct and all applicable TSA policies while working at the alternative worksite.

7. PROCEDURES:

- A. See TSA Handbook 1100.30-5, Telework Program.

8. APPROVAL AND EFFECTIVE DATE: This policy is approved and effective the date of signature unless otherwise specified.

APPROVAL

Signed

December 6, 2021

Patricia Bradshaw
Assistant Administrator for Human Capital

Date

EFFECTIVE

December 16, 2021

Date

Distribution: All TSA Employees
Point-of-Contact: ServeU Helpdesk: HC-ServeU@tsa.dhs.gov

TSA Handbook 1100.30-5

Telework Program

Policy Effective: January 26, 2007
Handbook Published: December 3, 2013
Handbook Revised: December 16, 2021

Approval

Signed

Patricia Bradshaw
Assistant Administrator for Human Capital

NOTE: This handbook and all related Attachments and/or Appendices contain stipulations to implement the provisions of TSA MD 1100.30-5, Telework Program. Until such time as TSA MD 1100.30-5 is rescinded, the Management Directive, Handbook, and any Attachments or Appendices are considered TSA policy, and must be applied accordingly.*

Summary of Changes

The definition of telework is revised as an arrangement in which an employee performs the duties and activities of their position from a TSA worksite (i.e., their regular worksite) on some days and from an alternative worksite on other days. Employees are required to physically report to their regular worksite at least two days per pay period, on a regular, recurring basis. As such, by definition, telework under the Telework Program excludes the ‘full-time telework’ that was authorized under the previous versions of this directive.

- Section A, Definitions, modified the definition of ‘Alternative Worksite’ and ‘Telework’, and replaced the term ‘Traditional Worksite’ with ‘Regular Worksite’.
- Section B, Telework Agreements, added the approval level for the screening workforce.
- Section C, Telework Approval and Optimal Telework Frequency Decision, added new guidance on guiding principles and the process for determining telework participation decision.
- Section E, Termination of Telework Agreements, added new guidance on the reasons for termination.
- Section G, Official Worksite Determination for Teleworkers, deleted guidance pertaining to full-time arrangements, and revised guidance on temporary exceptions for clarity.
- Section L, Dismissal and Closure Procedures for Non-Emergency Employees, revised for clarity.
- Section M, Telework and Dependent Care, added an example for temporary exceptions.
- Section T, Alternative Worksite, added new guidance.
- Section V, Tax Implications, added new guidance.
- Added new Appendices: Appendix A: Telework Guiding Principles, Appendix B: Suitability for In-Person/ Virtual Analysis, Appendix C: Optimal Telework Frequency and Schedule, Appendix D: Employee Eligibility and Appendix E: Alternative Worksite Considerations.
- General: Deleted guidance pertaining to full-time telework arrangements; Administrative changes throughout for clarity and consistency.

Table of Contents

Section	Page #
A. Definitions	4
B. Telework Agreements	5
C. Telework Approval and Optimal Telework Frequency Decision	7
D. Telework Training	8
E. Termination of Telework Agreements	8
F. Denial/Termination and Appeals	9
G. Official Worksite Determination for Teleworkers	9
H. Telework Equipment and Services	11
I. Information Security and Privacy	12
J. Telework and COOP Integration	13
K. Personal Preparedness Plans	14
L. Dismissal and Closure Procedures for Non-Emergency Employees	14
M. Telework and Dependent Care	17
N. Leave, Work Schedules, and Compensation	19
O. Official Duties	20
P. Time and Attendance	20
Q. Performance Management and Communication	20
R. Workspace/Workstation Sharing	21
S. Recall to the Regular Worksite	21
T. Alternative Worksite	22
U. Transit Benefits Program	23
V. Reporting and Program Evaluation Requirements	23
W. Tax Implications	23
Appendix A: Telework Guiding Principles	24
Appendix B: Suitability for In-Person/ Virtual Analysis	25
Appendix C: Optimal Telework Frequency and Schedule	28
Appendix D: Employee Eligibility	30
Appendix E: Alternative Worksite Considerations	31

A. Definitions

1. Alternative Worksite: A location where management has approved an employee to perform official duties away from the employee's regular worksite. An alternate worksite is the approved telework location (e.g., employee's residence, another TSA worksite, etc.).
2. Alternative Work Schedules: A generic term that applies to either Flexible Work Schedules or Compressed Work Schedules.
3. Continuity Facility: A location other than the primary facility used to carry out essential functions during continuity of operations events. In some cases, an employee's residence or other virtual office options may be designated as a continuity facility.
4. Continuity of Operations Plan (COOP): An effort within individual Federal agencies to ensure they can continue to perform their mission essential functions during a wide range of emergencies, including localized acts of nature, pandemic health crises, accidents, and technological or attack-related emergencies.
5. Official Worksite: The location where the work activities of an employee's position of record are based, as determined by the employing office. An employee's official worksite is the "duty station" documented on the employee's Notification of Personnel Action (Standard Form (SF) 50).
6. Telework: A flexible work arrangement under which an employee performs the duties and activities of their position from a TSA worksite (i.e., their regular worksite) on some days and from an alternative worksite on other days, meaning the employee is expected to report to work both at a TSA worksite and alternative worksite on a regular and recurring basis each pay period. Employees are required to physically report to their regular worksite at least two days per pay period, on a regular, recurring basis. There are two types of Telework arrangements:
 - (a) Routine Telework. Under this option, telework occurs as part of an ongoing regular schedule such that employees typically telework on some days and work at their agency worksite on other days during each pay period. Employees must obtain supervisory approval for the schedule (and any modifications to it), but do not need to obtain additional separate approval for each day they telework.
 - (b) Situational Telework. Under this option, employees telework on an occasional, non-routine basis (i.e., it is not part of an ongoing and regular telework schedule) and managerial approval is required each time they telework.
7. Telework Agreement: A written agreement of the terms and conditions of telework participation that is completed and signed by the participating employee and the employee's supervisor.

8. Telework-Ready Employee: An employee who has a telework agreement in place and is prepared with available work and any necessary equipment and technology to perform work from their alternative worksite.
9. Tour of Duty: The hours of a day (a daily tour of duty) and the days of an administrative workweek (a weekly tour of duty) that constitute an employee's regularly scheduled administrative workweek, as determined by the employing office.
10. Regular Worksite (previously referred to as Traditional Worksite): TSA worksite where work activities are based, generally considered a centralized location of an employee's assigned organization. This is the location where an employee would physically report for work, absent a telework agreement.

B. Telework Agreements

1. All employees, including Transportation Security Executive Service (TSES) employees, must have a signed TSA Form 1120, Telework Agreement and TSA Form 2413, Alternative Worksite Safety Checklist (required if the alternative worksite is the employee's residence) in place, as well as have completed the TSA-approved interactive telework training, prior to commencing telework (applies to all types of telework - routine or situational).

NOTE: Continuity relocation group/mission-essential employees who may be expected to deploy to their home and telework during a COOP event should have signed situational telework agreements in place, as part of contingency planning.

2. Generally, telework agreements are established with no specified end date unless both parties agree to a term period. Telework agreements with a specified term period will expire automatically at the end of their term, with no further action required.
3. Telework agreements should be reviewed annually by the employee and the supervisor. The purpose of this review is for participating employees and their supervisors to exchange feedback about the telework arrangement, identify areas for improvement, and revalidate the terms and conditions of the established telework agreement. If any changes occurred during the previous year, telework agreements should be updated or terminated, as appropriate.
4. In addition to the annual review, telework agreements should be reevaluated and updated as needed. The following circumstances warrant reevaluation of existing agreements:
 - (a) A new employee/supervisor relationship. Telework agreements are work agreements between participating employees and their supervisors based on shared work

- expectations. As such, when the supervisor changes, a new telework agreement between the participating employees and the new supervisor is required;
- (b) Significant changes to work requirements or working conditions (e.g., work assignments, work schedules, business requirements, etc.);
 - (c) Any changes to the terms and conditions of the employee's telework participation (e.g., telework schedule, alternative worksite location, etc.);
 - (d) Any changes affecting the employee's eligibility to participate in telework; or
 - (e) The employee fails to comply with the terms and conditions of the telework agreement.
5. Requests to telework are initiated by interested employees and approved/disapproved by their supervisor in accordance with the established procedures for their respective offices.
- (a) Generally, the approval authority should be the employee's first-line supervisor as the first-line supervisors are in the best position to judge the needs of their work units and work requirements for each position under their supervision.
 - (b) For members of the screening workforce, approval of telework agreements must be made by an employee at the AFSD level or designated by an employee at the AFSD level.
6. Employees interested in participating in telework must:
- (a) Read TSA MD 1100.30-5, Telework Program, the associated Handbook, and the terms and conditions outlined in TSA Form 1120, to ensure that they understand the policies and procedures covering telework.
 - (b) Complete the application portion of TSA Form 1120 (Sections II, III, and IV) and if the proposed alternative worksite is their residence, also complete TSA Form 2413, Alternative Worksite Safety Checklist, and submit the form(s) to their supervisors for review.
7. Upon receipt of employee requests to telework, supervisors should assess each employee's eligibility to participate in telework, suitability of the employee's job function for telework, and the optimal telework frequency and schedule. See Section C. Telework Approval and Optimal Telework Frequency Decision for guidance.
8. Generally, supervisors should respond to telework requests within 20 calendar days of the request. Supervisors should be responsive to employee requests by keeping the line of communication open with employees regarding the status of their pending requests. The timeframe for rendering the approval/disapproval decision may vary depending on the nature of the request, however, within 20 calendar days of receiving a telework request, at a minimum, supervisors should engage with the employee to explore the feasibility of approving the requested telework arrangement.

9. If a supervisor determines that the requesting employee is not eligible to participate in telework and disapproves the employee's request, the supervisor must provide reason(s) for the disapproval and document the reason for disapproval in the TSA Form 1120. Reason(s) for disapproving a request should be based on business/operational needs, participation criteria (e.g., performance, conduct, etc.), or the failure to meet the terms and conditions of the telework agreement.
10. If a supervisor determines that the requesting employee is eligible to participate in telework, the supervisor should discuss with the employee their respective assumptions and expectations around accomplishing work and communicating with the supervisor, co-workers, and customers while teleworking, as well as the terms and conditions outlined in TSA Form 1120.
11. For both approved and disapproved requests, supervisors should retain the original completed and signed TSA Form 1120, Telework Agreement and TSA Form 2413, Alternative Worksite Safety Checklist (if the alternative worksite is the employee's residence, TSA Form 2413 is required) along with the employee's TSA-approved telework training certificate. Copies should be provided to the employee and their respective program office Telework Coordinators (TC). For the list of TCs, visit the TSA Telework Program Page.

C. Telework Approval and Optimal Telework Frequency Decision

1. Telework approval decisions should be based on the function of the job, and align with the employee needs and the business goals of each work unit, to the extent possible, to effectively meet the TSA's mission needs.
2. The optimal telework frequency and schedules may vary for each work unit, and may shift intermittently or for sustained periods, subject to internal and external influences affecting the work of the unit. There is no one-size fits all approach to telework participation.
3. Supervisors should treat employees with similar work functions across work units similarly when determining telework eligibility.
4. Employing offices should assess telework participation data on an ongoing basis to ensure that telework eligibility determinations are being made fairly and equitably, and in a manner that effectively meets the TSA's mission needs.

5. The following process should be applied when considering telework approval/disapproval, and determining the optimal telework frequency and schedule.

Process Step	Reference
1. Telework Guiding Principles Align telework approval decisions with the TSA’s strategic and operational intent and emerging norms around productive work practices.	See Appendix A: Telework Guiding Principles
2. Determine the Suitability for Virtual/In-Person Analysis To inform telework decisions, supervisors should inventory the critical functions and activities of the work unit, and determine what activities, and to what extent, in-person presence is required and what activities may be performed virtually, via telework.	See Appendix B: Suitability for In-Person/ Virtual Analysis
3. Determine Optimal Frequency and Schedule When considering individual telework requests for telework-eligible employees, supervisors may consider the individual and work unit productivity, performance, and team dynamics when making decisions related to telework participation, including telework frequency (how often) and schedule (what days and hours of work).	See Appendix C: Optimal Telework Frequency and Schedule
4. Assess Employee Eligibility Consider the employee’s eligibility to participate in telework at the time of the request. For example, an employee who may otherwise be approved to telework may not be eligible due to performance issues at the time of the request, but may be eligible at a later time.	See Appendix D: Employee Eligibility
5. Evaluate the Alternative Worksite Assess whether the employee’s proposed alternative worksite is appropriate, and suitable for mission accomplishment.	See Appendix E: Alternative Worksite Considerations

D. Telework Training

Employees requesting telework and their supervisors must complete the TSA-approved interactive telework trainings for employees and supervisors, respectively, prior to the employee commencing telework. For information on the TSA-approved interactive telework training that employees and supervisors must complete, visit the TSA Telework Program Page.

E. Termination of Telework Agreements

Telework agreements may be terminated by either the employee or by the employee's supervisor or a higher level TSA management official in the employee's chain of supervision, with a written advance notice to the other party. Continued telework participation is subject to managerial discretion, in the same manner as the initial approval to telework, and may be terminated by either the employee or management.

1. When terminating telework agreements, a minimum two-week (14 calendar days) advance notice should be given to the other party, unless exigent circumstances exist and advance notice is not feasible.
2. Termination of telework agreements are documented on TSA Form 1120. If termination is management-initiated:
 - (a) Reasons for termination must be documented on the termination section of the approved telework agreement.
 - (b) Telework agreements may be terminated for business/operational reasons, a failure on the part of the employee to maintain the terms and conditions of their telework agreement, or other changes affecting the employee's continued eligibility.
 - (c) When deciding to terminate a telework agreement, a manager should be able to document and demonstrate that:
 - i. The employee's teleworking directly and negatively impacts the employee's performance or the performance of the work group/organization.
 - ii. Continuation of telework will interfere with remediation of the standards such as the employee's ability to attain or return to a fully successful performance level.
 - iii. The employee's conduct violates the requirements established in the TSA policy, resulting in ineligibility for telework.
 - (d) As a general rule, supervisors and employees should be communicating performance expectations, evaluating work requirements, measuring performance and providing feedback on an on-going basis. As such, when performance or conduct issues arise that may potentially result in the termination of the telework agreement, the supervisor should document their observations and address employee performance or conduct issues with the employee, prior to notice of termination of telework agreement.

F. Denial/Termination and Appeals

Employees who believe their request or agreement was wrongfully denied or terminated and wish to appeal management's decision can do so using the applicable administrative grievance/appeals procedure. See Human Capital Management Policy \(HCM\) 771-4, National Resolution Center.

G. Official Worksite Determination for Teleworkers

1. The official worksite for employees who are scheduled to physically report to the regular worksite, at least two days each pay period, on a regular, recurring basis, is the regular worksite. Teleworkers are required to physically report to the regular worksite at least two days each pay period; therefore, the official worksite for teleworkers is the location of their regular worksite.
2. Temporary Exception to the Requirement to Physically Report to the Official Worksite and Worksite Designation during Temporary Arrangements:
 - (a) In certain situations, employing offices may make temporary exceptions to this requirement for employees to physically report to their regular worksite at least two days each pay period on a regular, recurring basis to designate/maintain the regular worksite as the official worksite.
 - (b) Exceptions may be appropriate for temporary situations such as:
 - i. An employee is recovering from an injury or medical condition;
 - ii. An employee is affected by an emergency situation, which temporarily prevents the employee from commuting to their regular official worksite;
 - iii. An employee has an extended approved absence from work (e.g., paid leave);
 - iv. An employee is in temporary duty travel status away from their regular worksite; or
 - v. An employee is temporarily detailed to work at a location other than a location covered by a telework agreement.
 - (c) The intent of this exception is to address certain situations where an employee resides in the commuting area of their regular worksite, but is temporarily unable to physically report to the regular worksite for reasons beyond their control. A key consideration is the need to preserve equity between the teleworkers and non-teleworkers who are working in the same area as the telework location (i.e., alternative worksite).
 - (d) While temporary exceptions may be granted in limited, temporary situations when the employee is prevented from physically reporting to their regular worksite due to reasons outside of their control (e.g., TDY, inclement weather) for employee whose primary residence is within the commuting area, exceptions are not appropriate when the employee has relocated their primary residence and can no longer be viewed as being part of the local commuting area.

- (e) Exceptions must be limited to situations in which employees are temporarily unable to physically report to the regular worksite for reasons beyond the employees' control and they are expected to physically report to the regular worksite in the near future on a regular, recurring basis at least twice each pay period.

H. Telework Equipment and Services

1. Availability of equipment and services to support telework arrangements will depend on the type and nature of officially assigned work performed by the employee and TSA's budgetary and technological constraints.
2. Program offices should comply with all applicable TSA policies covering personal property management when providing equipment for use at an alternative worksite.
3. When determining the propriety of allocating TSA funds and resources to provide telework equipment and services, the employing program offices and approving supervisors should exercise good judgment and make decisions based on work requirements and business needs.
4. If the work performed at an alternative worksite requires access to the TSA network (TSA intranet, shared drive, archived files, etc.) or working with Sensitive Personally Identifiable Information (SPII) or Sensitive Security Information (SSI), Information Technology (IT) will provide the required hardware and software to support the telework environment. The program offices' IT Points-of-Contact (POCs) will coordinate with IT for provisions of any required information technology equipment and software.
5. Program offices may purchase IT-approved printers and other peripheral equipment for use at an alternative worksite. Such purchases are funded through the program offices' business line funds and may be paid in accordance with all applicable TSA Acquisition and Financial Management policies and procedures that impact the conducting of purchases or the making of payments.

NOTE: If a new external device or computer peripheral is required to accomplish work, employees and their supervisors must request assistance from program office IT POCs. All peripherals must be IT-approved and authorized for use, including digital cameras or webcams, storage devices (such as Universal Serial Bus (USB) thumb drives or mobile hard drives), document scanners, printers, etc.

6. Employees whose alternative worksite is their residence are expected to procure/provide, at their own expense, internet service appropriate to the work effort. Generally, a persistent broadband internet connection such as cable or other broadband connection will be required to enable maximum productivity.

7. Employees continue to be responsible for safeguarding Government property while working at the alternative worksite, and are accountable for the care, security, and effective utilization of the Government property they use to perform official duties. Employees may not, under any circumstances, allow any unauthorized persons to use TSA-issued computers or to connect to the TSA network by any means. Employees may be financially liable for the property if it is stolen, damaged, lost, or destroyed as a result of negligence, improper use, or other willful actions.
8. TSA retains ownership and control of all Government-furnished IT hardware, software, and peripherals. TSA will maintain, provide support for, and repair any Government-Furnished Equipment (GFE) in the possession of employees at their alternative worksite. Employees must notify their supervisors immediately following a malfunction of GFE. When an IT issue cannot be resolved remotely, employees will bring their GFE to the appropriate TSA worksite (i.e., regular worksite or a nearby airport location). If repairs to GFE are extensive, employees may be recalled to the regular worksite or other TSA-designated worksites while the equipment is being repaired.
9. TSA will not maintain, service, or repair any personal equipment owned or operated by employees while working at alternative worksites.

I. Information Security and Privacy

Employees working at alternative worksites continue to be bound by TSA's information security policies and must comply with all applicable information protection and network security requirements when accessing TSA information and information systems. For guidance on TSA's Information Security requirements, including TSA MD 1400.3, Information Technology Security, the associated Handbook and Technical Standards, visit the TSA Information Assurance and Cyber Security Division \(IAD\) Policy Outreach page. For guidance on handling SPII, see TSA MD 3700.4, Handling Sensitive Personally Identifiable Information and visit the Privacy Officer Homepage. For guidance on handling SSI, see TSA MD 2810.1, SSI Program, the associated SSI Policies and Procedures Handbook, and the SSI reference guide Protecting SSI and Sensitive PII Away from the Workplace, and visit the SSI Office Homepage. Applicable TSA information security policy requirements include, but are not limited to:

1. GFE is required when remotely accessing TSA network resources, with the exception of TSA web-based e-mail (i.e., Outlook Web Access). If using a personal computer to access TSA web-based email, a TSA-approved Personal Identity Verification (PIV) card reader is required and employees must have an up-to-date version of commercially available virus protection software installed.
2. Only Government-furnished mobile computing devices (i.e., laptops, iOS devices (iPhones and iPads), USB thumb drives, mobile hard drives) are authorized to connect to the TSA network and TSA equipment, and/or to store TSA data.

3. Removal of classified material or data from a TSA worksite is strictly prohibited. No classified information handling or processing is permitted at an alternative worksite.
4. Employees with access to records subject to the Privacy Act and other sensitive information at their alternative worksite must provide appropriate administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to ensure the security and confidentiality of the records. Information subject to the Privacy Act and sensitive data must be processed, transmitted, and stored on TSA-issued equipment in accordance with TSA MD 1400.3, Information Technology Security and the associated TSA Information Assurance Handbook.
5. The use of personal computers to process or store Controlled Unclassified Information (CUI), SSI, or SPII is strictly prohibited.

NOTE: Employees should be aware of the contents of any files they access through TSA's web-based e-mail to ensure they do not inadvertently store or process CUI, SSI, or SPII on their personal equipment.

6. While working at their alternative worksite, employees must protect all TSA information and information systems hardware, software, and telecommunications equipment from improper and unintentional disclosure, theft, or damage.
7. Employees must immediately report any suspected cybersecurity incident involving the theft, loss, or unauthorized disclosure of information or an information system device to their supervisor and the TSA Single Point-of-Contact (SPOC): 1-800-253-8571.
8. Telework-related information protection and network security requirements are subject to the provisions of all applicable TSA information security policies. Nothing in this guidance supersedes or modifies the information protection and network security requirements stipulated in TSA's information security policies.

J. Telework and COOP Integration

1. Telework is an integral part of TSA's plans for continuing operations during all emergency events, including pandemic health crises, localized acts of nature, accidents, technology-related emergencies, and natural or man-made disasters.
2. While continuity of mission-essential functions (MEFs) is the focus of COOP preparations, the ability to mobilize the workforce to conduct work at their alternative worksite during emergency events may allow continuity of more functions than just MEFs.
3. To maintain a viable, telework-ready workforce that can be mobilized to maximize government operations during emergencies, telework-eligible employees should be encouraged to enter into telework agreements and allowed to telework with some frequency under non-emergency circumstances. The ability to practice telework on a regular basis is critical for preparing employees to effectively telework during emergency situations.

NOTE: This, however, does not mean that management can or should compel employees to sign telework agreements and participate in telework. Telework participation is voluntary.

4. In the event of an ordered evacuation, employees, regardless of their telework status, are subject to the provisions of TSA MD 1100.61-6, Emergency Evacuation Administrative Procedures.
5. At various alert levels of a pandemic health crisis, management may use telework as a social distancing strategy to the maximum extent possible.
6. Emergency-designated employees or COOP essential/Emergency Relocation Group members are subject to terms and conditions of their designation and the requirements of their position. Nothing in this guidance supersedes or modifies the requirements of such designation. See TSA MD 1100.61-1, Dismissals and Closures, for the list of emergency employee positions.
7. In certain emergency events, if deemed necessary for continuity of operations purposes, TSA may authorize telework for employees in positions that under normal circumstances fail to meet eligibility criteria for telework. During any period that TSA is operating under a continuity of operations plan, that plan supersedes this directive.

K. Personal Preparedness Plans

Employees are responsible for maintaining a safe work environment while they are working at their alternative worksite. As part of maintaining a safe work environment, employees should prepare personal preparedness plans for their alternative worksite following the guidance available at www.ready.gov. The plan should include emergency contact information, an emergency kit, and plans for emergency situations which may impact the alternative worksite.

NOTE: Employees are not required to submit any documentation of their personal preparedness plans.

L. Dismissal and Closure Procedures for Non-Emergency Employees

1. Emergency-designated employees must follow the requirements of their emergency employee designation.

2. All employees covered by telework agreements are required to work from their alternative worksite when the regular worksite is closed due to an emergency, unless otherwise directed by their supervisor or a higher level management official in their chain of supervision. The closure may be due to inclement weather or other emergencies affecting a geographic area, such as when the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) announces a closure of all Federal offices in the Washington, DC metropolitan area or a building-specific emergency leading to closure of all or part of a TSA worksite.
3. Employees must follow the policy and procedures outlined in TSA MD 1100.61-1, Dismissals and Closures for guidance on delayed arrivals, dismissals and closures for emergency and non-emergency employees in the event of severe weather events or other emergencies.
4. When emergency dismissal or closure procedures are in effect at the employees' regular worksite on a day they were previously scheduled to telework, they will continue to work their regular tours of duty at their alternative worksite. Employees must work the entire day, request personal leave, or a combination of both.
5. When emergency dismissal or closure procedures are in effect at the employees' regular worksite on a day they were previously scheduled to be on-site at the regular worksite:
 - (a) If the operating status announces Unscheduled Telework as an option, the telework-ready employee may exercise the option to perform unscheduled telework. Employees exercising the option for unscheduled telework must notify their supervisor of their intent to use the unscheduled telework option. Unless otherwise directed by management, employees should follow their office's established procedures to report their intention to exercise the unscheduled telework option.
 - (b) If the operation status announces Closure of Federal Offices, telework-ready employees are required to work their workday at their alternative worksite, request appropriate personal leave, or a combination of both.

NOTE: Non-emergency employees who are not telework program participants will be granted weather and safety leave when Federal offices are closed due to emergency dismissal and closure procedures.

- (c) To be telework-ready means that the employees have a telework agreement in place, and are prepared with sufficient work and any necessary equipment and technology to perform work at their alternative worksite during their scheduled tour of duty. For employees who have a telework agreement in place but do not have sufficient work to account for a full work day, supervisors may approve telework for the hours such employees are expected to perform work and approve unscheduled leave to account for the remainder of their tour of duty

6. There may be occasions when an employee may be unable to work due to disruption to their alternative worksite (e.g., electricity, infrastructure, or connectivity issues) due to severe weather conditions or other emergency situations or other factors that prevent the employee from working successfully. When that occurs, employees should immediately notify their supervisors. In such circumstances, supervisors have the option to direct the employee to report to their regular worksite, if the regular worksite is open, or approve personal leave or authorize weather and safety leave on a case-by-case basis, as appropriate. As a general rule, teleworkers may not receive weather and safety leave, except in certain limited circumstances. The authority to grant weather and safety leave in certain circumstances must be exercised in compliance with TSA MD 1100.61-1, Dismissals and Closures and the accompanying Handbook.
 - (a) While the supervisors have the option to direct the employees to report to their regular worksite, if the regular worksite is open, they should consider whether it is feasible and practical for the employee to report to the regular worksite given the time remaining in their workday and the travel time to the regular worksite. Generally, if there are less than 4 hours remaining in the employee's workday, that employee will not be required to report to the regular worksite.
 - (a) When the alternative worksite disruption is unexpected and beyond the employee's control (e.g., power outages affecting a geographic area due to severe weather conditions) and it is not feasible or practical to have the employee report to the regular worksite, supervisors may consider granting weather and safety leave in accordance with the TSA MD 1100.61-1.
 - (b) If employees are directed to report to the regular worksite, employees may request and the supervisors may approve the use of personal leave.
 - (c) In the absence of approved leave, employees directed to report to the regular worksite may be charged absent without leave (AWOL) if they fail to report.
7. While employees are expected to have dependent care arrangements in place while teleworking or take appropriate personal leave to care for dependents, in certain unplanned, temporary situations, supervisors may, at their discretion, grant exceptions. For example, on an unscheduled telework day in which schools are closed, back-up dependent care may not be readily available on short notice. In those instances, as appropriate, a combination of personal leave and telework may be approved to account for the full workday. Supervisors may permit telework-ready employees to telework some portion of the day that they are able to work uninterrupted by caregiving responsibilities and approve personal leave for the periods of time that they are engaged in caregiving responsibilities. This does not mean that employees are entitled to telework under these circumstances. This section clarifies that supervisors have the discretion to permit employees to telework, based on the employee's ability to accomplish work when the supervisor believes it is in the best interest of Government to do so. See Section L,

Telework and Dependent Care, for guidance on the appropriate use of telework as a flexibility to support employee efforts to manage work and dependent care needs.

8. Extended emergencies and national security situations: For situations that involve closures due to national security, extended emergencies, or other unique situations, management will issue specific instructions to all employees, including those who are working under a telework agreement. However, unless otherwise directed, employees covered by telework agreements are expected to perform work during their regular tours of duty at their alternative worksite.
9. Communication:
 - (a) Supervisors should discuss potential emergency scenarios with employees covered by telework agreements to ensure that they are prepared to be telework-ready when emergency dismissal and closure procedures are in effect.
 - (b) Communication between employees and their supervisors is critical to ensure that expectations around work requirements during emergencies are shared and clearly understood. Both parties should communicate on an ongoing basis and in advance of any foreseeable emergencies to prepare and position the employee to be telework-ready in the event of emergency dismissals or closures to the maximum extent feasible.
 - (c) Employees and supervisors share mutual responsibility for preparing telework-covered employees to be telework-ready, in order to maximize Government operations during emergencies.
 - (d) In order for telework-covered employees to be prepared and positioned to telework effectively (i.e., have the skills and tools to be productive while teleworking) during emergencies, it is critical that telework-covered employees practice telework and test telework capacity during normal operations. To that end, employees covered by situational telework agreements should be encouraged to telework on an ad-hoc basis to the extent feasible.

M. Telework and Dependent Care

The guidance in this section is intended to highlight the possible application of telework as a workplace flexibility for employees with dependent care responsibilities. As with all telework requests, approval is subject to managerial discretion and the requirements of this directive and all applicable TSA policies.

1. The presence of a dependent at the employee's alternative worksite is not an absolute bar on telework, and the supervisors may consider the employee's ability to perform work and the potential benefit to the Government to inform telework approval decisions.

2. Used appropriately, telework, along with other workplace flexibilities, can facilitate the management of work and dependent care. However, telework is not meant to be a substitute for dependent care. Employees may not telework with the intent of, or for the sole purpose of, meeting their dependent care responsibilities while performing official duties.
3. While performing official duties, employees with caregiving responsibilities are expected to have dependent care arrangements (e.g., childcare, eldercare) in place when teleworking from an approved alternative worksite, just as they would if they were working in the office.
4. Telework may be used in combination with personal leave (e.g., annual leave, sick leave, etc.) and other workplace flexibilities (e.g., flexible work schedule), as appropriate, to account for a full work day.
5. In-Home Dependent Care Arrangements
 - (a) Employees with in-home dependent care arrangement must ensure that they are not engaging in dependent care activities while performing official duties. While an occasional, brief interruption may occur when a dependent is present in the home, teleworkers must be careful to keep interruptions to a minimum to avoid disruptions in work accomplishment.
 - (b) In the event the level of care needed for a dependent prevents or significantly disrupts work accomplishment, teleworkers should notify their supervisors as soon as possible about the situation preventing them from continuing work. Teleworkers should then request approval for appropriate leave while performing dependent care responsibilities.
 - (c) Teleworkers with in-home dependent care arrangements are reminded that all workplace policies remain in place, including work schedules, rules regarding time and attendance, and employee expectations concerning performance and conduct.

6. Temporary Exceptions

- (a) While teleworkers are expected to have dependent care arrangements in place when teleworking from an approved alternative worksite, there may be unplanned or temporary circumstances when telework may be an appropriate short-term workplace flexibility for employees with caregiving responsibilities.

Example 1: On a day emergency dismissal and closure procedures are in effect with the option for unscheduled telework and the schools are closed due to inclement weather conditions, an otherwise telework-ready employee may be unable to find a dependent care provider for the day, on short notice. Where, in their opinion, it has the potential to benefit TSA, supervisors have the discretion to permit an employee to work some portion of the day, when the employee can accomplish at least some part of their official duties from home when dependents are present and there is no back-up dependent care arrangement.

Example 2: At various alert levels of a pandemic health crisis, access to dependent care may be limited and schools may deliver curriculum in on-line or blended (combination of in-person and on-line) format as a social distancing strategy, resulting in dependents being home while employees are teleworking. Supervisors should exercise maximum flexibility to allow employees to balance their work and dependent care responsibilities.

- (b) When making a determination about telework eligibility when an employee will be caring for a dependent, the focus should remain on the work and the ability of the employee to perform official duties without interruption for specified periods of time, not on the proximity of the child/adult dependent. Decisions should be made on a case-by-case basis.
- (c) These short-term, temporary circumstances should represent the exception and not the rule.

N. Leave, Work Schedules, and Compensation

1. TSA employees continues to be bound by TSA standards of conduct and all applicable TSA policies while working at the alternative worksite, including procedures for requesting leave and scheduling work.
2. Employees requesting leave while working at their alternative worksite must follow the established office procedures for requesting and obtaining approval of leave.
3. Work schedules may parallel those in the regular worksite or be specific to the telework arrangement. The process of establishing telework schedules should be sufficiently flexible to allow periodic work schedule adjustments, when appropriate, to achieve optimal scheduling to suit employee and organizational requirements. However, work schedules at the alternative worksite must adhere to all TSA policies that cover hours of duty/work.
4. Participation in a telework agreement does not preclude employees from participating in alternative work schedules, or vice versa.
5. Premium pay provisions that apply to work at the regular worksite also apply to employees who telework. Unless specifically ordered and approved by the supervisor or other authorized management official in advance of the work being performed, employees may not work overtime. Performing overtime work without prior supervisory approval may be cause for administrative/disciplinary actions and/or termination of the telework agreement. In addition, TSA is not obligated to approve premium pay for exempt employees who, on their own volition, start or remain on duty beyond their normal daily or weekly tours of duty.

O. Official Duties

Unless otherwise directed, employees must perform only official duties at the alternative worksite. Employees must not conduct personal business (e.g., making home repairs, etc.) while in official duty status at the alternative worksite.

P. Time and Attendance

Hours worked at the alternative worksite must be recorded in WebTA as telework (not regular hours). For guidance on recording telework hours in WebTA, visit the TSA Telework Program Page.

Q. Performance Management and Communication

1. Supervisors should clearly communicate performance expectations and give regular feedback on work progress, and hold employees accountable for their performance results, in accordance with the TSA MD 1100.43-3, Employee Performance Management Program, regardless of where the work is being performed.
2. Good performance management practices can help supervisors ensure transparency and fairness in the decisions about telework approval and continued participation, as well as help mitigate potential concerns a supervisor may have about employee performance and productivity while teleworking.
3. Performance standards and performance management practices for employees participating in telework and those who do not participate in telework must be the same and consistent with TSA's performance management system. There can be no differences in employee standards or accountability for performance between teleworkers and non-teleworkers. However, this does not mean that supervisors cannot be flexible and tailor their management style and practices based on the work environment and the individual needs of the employee.
4. Employees and supervisors should collaborate to ensure that telework does not diminish the productivity of participating employees or their co-workers, or the quality of customer service. To that end, supervisors should clearly communicate their expectations of employee performance and accountability while employees are teleworking.
5. Supervisors will clarify with participating employees their respective assumptions and expectations regarding how work will be accomplished and managed in a telework environment. Communication regarding work expectations should occur prior to establishing telework agreements and on an on-going basis after employees begin telework. Some general issues to address include, but are not limited to:

- (a) Expected frequency and preferred method (i.e., phone, email, video, instant messenger, etc.) for communicating with the supervisor, co-workers, and customers.
- (b) Reasonable expectations regarding the employees' response time to supervisor inquiries or tasks.
- (c) Expected frequency and the manner in which the employees will apprise the supervisor of their work progress/status.
- (d) Types of situations (e.g., meetings, on-site events, etc.) in which the employees will be expected to physically report to the regular worksite to perform work.
- (e) Strategies for ensuring that the employees are included in office activities, meetings and work assignments, especially in situations involving impromptu meetings or urgent/unplanned tasks during which employees who are not physically present may be overlooked.

R. Workspace/ Workstation Sharing

Employees may be required to share workspaces or workstations when working at the regular worksite. Workspace or workstation sharing arrangements may involve multiple employees sharing one office/cubicle by coordinating the days each employee is onsite at the regular worksite. In other instances, employees may be required to use unassigned workstations set aside for shared use while they are working at the regular worksite.

S. Recall to The Regular Worksite

1. Supervisors may recall employees (i.e., direct employees to report to the regular worksite or another work location) on their scheduled telework days, based on business/operational needs (e.g., meetings, on-site events, etc.). To the extent practicable, supervisors will provide reasonable notice prior to requiring employees to report to the regular worksite on a day employees are scheduled to telework.
2. Generally, a minimum 24-hour notice will be given; however, exceptions for a shorter notification period may be appropriate in certain unforeseen circumstances.
3. When employees are recalled to the regular worksite on a day they are scheduled to telework, supervisors may, but are not required to, grant employee requests to telework on an alternative day within the same pay period.

4. Prior to establishing a telework agreement, employees and their supervisors should discuss their expectations regarding recalls to the regular worksite (e.g. amount of notice, whether or not requests to telework on an alternative day will be accommodated, etc.).

T. Alternative Worksite

1. The alternative worksites must be approved by the supervisor. When approving the alternative worksites, the supervisors should keep in mind that they are approving the official work of TSA to be conducted at a TSA-approved location.
2. Supervisors may approve more than one alternative worksite for an employee, as appropriate. All approved alternative worksites must be documented in the TSA form 1120 and the employee must complete the TSA form 2413 (required if the alternative worksite is the employee's residence) for each alternative worksite.
3. Based on the information provided by the employee, supervisors should be able to reasonably affirm that the alternative worksite conforms with safety standards, and the employee is able to properly safeguard information security and privacy and GFE, and the work environment is adequate to support the work effort, including internet connectivity.
4. TSA may inspect employees' alternative worksites during their normal working hours to ensure proper maintenance of GFE and conformance with safety standards, and/or to investigate reported accidents/injuries, as appropriate.
5. Employees are covered by the Federal Employees' Compensation Act (5 U.S.C. §8101) for continuation of pay or worker's compensation for on-the-job injury or occupational illnesses sustained in the course of performing official duties at the alternative worksite. See TSA MD 1100.00-6, Workers' Compensation Program.
6. Employees must notify their supervisors immediately of any on-the-job injury or occupational illness that occurs at the alternative worksite and complete any required forms.
7. TSA Management will investigate reported accidents and/or injuries, including inspection of the alternative worksite, as appropriate.
8. The alternative worksites identified in the telework agreements are the only TSA approved site from which an employee is authorized to perform telework. Employees must report any planned alternative worksite location changes, temporary or permanent (i.e., change in their place of residence) to their supervisor for approval. Teleworking from an unapproved location may be cause for administrative/disciplinary actions and/or termination of the telework agreement.

Employees whose approved alternative worksite is their residence must designate a room or space within their residence that is suitable for performing work, and provide a brief description of the designated work area in the telework agreement. Employees are responsible for providing any furniture (e.g., desks, chairs, desk accessories, etc.) they require for their designated work area. TSA will not furnish employees' alternative worksite.

9. Employees are responsible for ensuring that a proper work environment is maintained and personal disruptions such as non-business personal calls and visitors are kept to a minimum.
10. Employees are responsible for maintaining a safe work environment while working at the alternative worksite. Employees must use TSA Form 2413, Alternative Worksite Safety Checklist, to assess the overall safety of the alternative worksite, and self-certify that the alternative worksite is safe, prior to commencing telework. For additional guidance on occupational safety, see TSA MD 2400.1, Occupational Safety and Health Program and TSA Occupational Safety and Health Manual, Chapter 15, Ergonomics, Appendix B.
11. TSA is not responsible for any operating costs that are associated with using their residence as their alternative worksite, e.g., home maintenance, insurance, utilities, etc.
12. TSA is not liable for damages to employees' personal or real property while employees are working at the alternative worksite, except to the extent the Government is held liable by the Federal Tort Claims Act.

U. Transit Benefits Program

Employees participating in the transit benefits program must adjust their benefits to reflect their commute by completing a TSA Form 205, SmartBenefits Application and Adjustment Request. Headquarters employees should submit the completed form to the Transit and Parking Office. Employees assigned to field locations should submit the completed form to their local Transportation Benefit Program Coordinator.

V. Reporting and Program Evaluation Requirements

Program offices must comply with the TSA Telework Program Manager's requests for telework data and requirements for metrics to assess impact and benefits of telework programs.

W. Tax Implications

Employees are responsible for researching any tax implications associated with teleworking, the use of home office, and applicable state tax regulations. For specific information about the tax implications of telework, employees should consult with a qualified tax preparer.

Appendix A: Telework Guiding Principles

Telework Guiding Principles
1.	Telework approval decisions should be aligned with the TSA’s strategic and operational intent and emerging norms for how we work, responsive to long-term work trends.
2.	Telework is a strategic work management tool. Telework conversations should begin with the focus on the agency mission. Telework approval decisions should consider how the available tools and resources might be deployed to optimize workforce capacity. This includes the intentional use of TSA worksites, elevating the workforce experience, and leveraging technology to drive productive work practices.
3.	Supervisors should make an appropriate telework eligibility determination for each new employee or position (and re-assess any previous determinations that an employee is ineligible), in accordance with this directive, and applying equitable, function-based criteria. Supervisors should similarly apply equitable, function-based criteria to determine the number of days an employee may telework. In making these determinations, supervisors should apply the following factors: <ul style="list-style-type: none">(a) Determine telework eligibility for all new employees.(b) In general, treat employees performing similar functions similarly.(c) Assess workforce data on an ongoing basis to ensure that telework eligibility determinations are being made in accordance with this directive and all applicable laws fairly and equitably, and in a manner that effectively meets the TSA’s mission needs.

Appendix B: Suitability for In-Person/ Virtual Analysis

Suitability for In-Person/ Virtual Analysis
1.	Intentional Use of TSA Workspaces (a) Inventory of critical functions and activities: The process begins with conducting an inventory of the critical functions and activities of the work unit. In addition to the day-to-day routine, consider the strategies that may be deployed to foster collaboration and culture building, and to effectively respond to threats and emergencies. For example, the functions and activities of a work unit might fall in the following categories: front-line security, classified work, threat and emergency response, collaboration and culture-building, onboarding new staff, alignment meetings, customer needs, innovation and creativity, projects and engagement kick-off, etc. (b) Determine what activities TSA workspaces will be used for: Reviewing the inventory of critical functions and activities, each work unit should identify the functions or activities that require the use of a TSA workspace for in-person contact or collaboration for optimal productivity. Consider that some functions and activities must be performed in person due to security or work requirements, while some may be performed 100% virtually. For example, front-line security or classified work will require the employee’s presence on-site at a TSA workspace when performing those activities. For some activities, the requirement may be situation dependent. For example, customer needs may require in-person presence for unique situations, but not for routine day-to-day services.

(c) Generate a list of functions and activities that may require in-person presence and to what extent in-person presence is necessary. Provided below is a sample based on the list of function and activities listed in the above example (1.b.). This is not intended to be an all-inclusive list or prescriptive.

Sample

Functions/ Activities	In-person/ Virtual
Front-line security	In-person only
Classified work	In-person only (subject to information security protocol)
Threat and emergency response	In-person optimal
Onboarding new staff	In-person subject to the maturity of the team (For a high-performing team with an established team culture, there may be less need for in-person contact).
Projects and engagement kick-off	In-person, situation depending. Depending on the nature and scope of the project and engagement, in-person kick-off may be optimal.
Collaboration and culture building	In-person, situation dependent. Occasional in-person contact may augment trust building and strengthen team cohesion.
Innovation and creativity	In-person, situation dependent. In-person meetings may be optimal for co-creating transformational/innovative solutions, but less so when individual subject matter contributions are discrete and distinct.
Alignment/staff meetings	In-person, situation dependent. Occasional in-person meetings may be optimal for alignment of values and to foster connection to TSA and the work unit, etc.
Customer needs	In-person, situation dependent. Occasional in-person contact may be optimal for unique customer needs, but less so for routine, day-to-day service needs.

2. Workforce Experience

(a) Maximize capabilities and capacity: The flexibility to choose how and where work gets done has the potential to elevate the experience of the workforce, and as a result enhance employee engagement and drive productivity. This type of flexibility also expands TSA’s access to and inclusion of a diverse talent pool. These potential gains should be considered when determining how and where work will get done.

	(b) Employee/ work team preference: Work units should consider the extent to which each employee prefers to work on-site at a TSA worksite versus virtually, and explore the combination of an in-person and virtual collaboration that is optimal for the work unit dynamics, current and anticipated mission requirements, and the ability to effectively and efficiently serve their internal and external customers. (c) Employee attributes: While the employee and work team preference should be considered, it is the responsibility of the management to accurately assess the skills and abilities of their employees and adapt their management style to meet the developmental need of each employee and manage their performance accordingly. Supervisors should consider the extent to which closer, in-person supervision and exposure to the TSA workplace experience might be valuable or necessary for development for each employee based on the employee’s experience, performance and conduct.
3.	Leverage Technology
	(a) With advancements in technology and digital connectivity, work units are less reliant on the use of TSA workspace to accomplish individual work or for collaborative interactions. Work units should leverage the existing technology and tools (and the individual employee’s proficiency in using those resources effectively) when considering to what extent certain activities may be effectively and efficiently performed in a virtual environment.
	(b) Over time, technology will continue to advance, and employee adaptation to and proficiency in the use of deployed technology and tools will improve; as such, the process of leveraging technology should be a fluid and on-going process.

Appendix C: Optimal Telework Frequency and Schedule

Optimal Telework Frequency and Schedule
When reviewing individual telework requests, supervisors may consider the extent to which on-site presence may be required for individual and work unit success. The optimal configuration and frequency of telework schedules may vary for each work unit, and may shift intermittently or for sustained periods, subject to internal and external influences, (e.g., onboarding of new employees or turnover of existing staff, implementation of new initiatives or technology, etc.). This is not a static, one-time decision, and employees and managers must remain flexible. When establishing a telework schedule (e.g., when and how many days), supervisors may consider the following:
1.	Does the employee’s performance or conduct warrant closer supervisory direction than telework, or teleworking at the frequency/schedule requested, provides?
2.	Is the employee willing and able to accomplish work without diminished performance in their ability to complete assignments, meet deadlines, and deliver quality products while teleworking or teleworking at the frequency/schedule requested?
3.	Can the work expectations be clearly communicated and managed in the telework environment while teleworking or teleworking at the frequency/schedule requested? For employees in supervisory positions, their supervisory duties and their ability to manage staff’s work in the telework environment may be considered.
4.	Can the communication, teamwork, and work relationships necessary for the work unit performance be maintained while teleworking or teleworking at the frequency/schedule requested? For example, if in-person contact or collaboration is required, can it be scheduled around the telework schedule?
5.	Can the employee’s responsiveness and availability for customers be maintained at the appropriate level while the employee is teleworking or teleworking at the frequency/schedule requested?
6.	Can the appropriate level of office coverage, if required, be maintained while the employee is teleworking or teleworking at the frequency/schedule requested? For example, if there a need for on-site coverage, given the current staffing level, can the appropriate level of coverage be maintained?
7.	Does the employee have access to, and is the employee proficient in the use of, the necessary technology and tools at the alternative worksite to perform successfully while teleworking or teleworking at the frequency/schedule requested?

TSA HANDBOOK 1100.30-5
TELEWORK PROGRAM

8.	Does the requested telework frequency/schedule provide the appropriate level of access to/ use of on-site resources required? If not, to what extent and could it be limited or managed effectively around the telework schedule?
9.	Does the requested telework frequency/schedule allow for the appropriate level of collaboration and innovation for desired productivity and work culture?
10.	Does the requested telework frequency/schedule allow telework opportunities to be offered equitably?

Appendix D: Employee Eligibility

Employee Eligibility
If you say YES to any of these questions, the employee is not eligible to be considered for telework.		Y/N
1.	Has the employee been officially disciplined for unapproved absences charged as absent without leave for more than five workdays in any calendar year?
2.	Has the employee been disciplined for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography on a Government computer, or while performing Federal Government duties?
3.	Was the employee's performance rating of record 'unacceptable' during the past 12 months? For employees who have been employed with TSA for less than 12 months, supervisors may consider their performance to date.
4.	Has the employee's conduct resulted in an adverse or disciplinary action within the past 12 months?
5.	Are there unresolved issues pertaining to their fitness for Federal employment or eligibility to obtain a security clearance or occupy National Security positions?
6.	Optional consideration: For recently assigned or newly-appointed employees who may require closer supervision, supervisors may determine the length of time, if any, during which those employees may be deemed ineligible for telework. For example, a newly hired employee may benefit from closer supervision and on-site experience to learn and become acclimated to the culture and the workplace dynamics, whereas an employee who is reassigned to another position within the same organization and/or to a similar function may not need as much on-site experience before they start teleworking.

Appendix E: Alternative Worksite Considerations

Alternative Worksite Considerations
The alternative worksite that is identified in the telework agreement is the only place TSA has approved the employee to perform telework.
1.	Based on the information provided by the employee, can the supervisor reasonably affirm that the alternative worksite conforms with safety standards?
2.	Based on the information provided by the employee, can the supervisor reasonably affirm that the proposed alternative worksite is adequate for properly safeguarding information security and privacy and GFE?
3.	Does the employee have internet connectivity appropriate to the work effort? Generally, a persistent broad band is required.
4.	Is the alternative worksite within or outside a reasonable commuting area? If the alternative worksite is outside the reasonable commuting area of their regular worksite, supervisors may consider its proximity to the regular worksite, and how the arrangement might affect the work unit’s ability to be flexible and responsive to emerging work demands, distribute telework opportunities equitably, recall the employee and/or adjust telework schedules, as needed. Things to consider: (a) What constitutes a “reasonable commuting area,” is not defined in set mileage, but consider that absent a telework agreement, the employee must be able to physically report to the regular worksite for their regular tour of duty. (b) Telework schedules are subject to change ad-hoc or for sustained periods. Depending on the location of the alternative worksite, it may pose a barrier to recalling the employee to the office or modifying the telework schedules as needed. (c) If the alternative worksite is outside the reasonable commuting area, expectations around telework schedule changes and the employee’s responsibility to physically report to the regular worksite, when instructed to so should be clearly communicated and documented. (d) If an employee is unable to physically report to their regular worksite on a regular, recurring basis at least two days per pay period, the official worksite must be changed to the employee’s alternative worksite. Temporary exceptions may be granted in limited, temporary situations when the employee is prevented from physically reporting to their regular worksite due to reasons outside of their control (i.e., TDY, inclement weather) for employees whose primary residence is within the commuting area.

TSA HANDBOOK 1100.30-5
TELEWORK PROGRAM

Exceptions are not appropriate when the employee has relocated their primary residence and can no longer be viewed as being part of the local commuting area. As such, supervisors should consider the sustainability of the telework arrangement and the potential short-term and long-term impact, and address those issues with the employee, prior to approving the arrangement.

TELEWORK PROGRAM

COMDTINST 5330.4A
October 2022

THIS PAGE INTENTIONALLY LEFT BLANK

COMDTINST 5330.4A
27 OCT 2022

COMMANDANT INSTRUCTION 5330.4A

Subj: TELEWORK PROGRAM

- Ref:
- (a) Telework Enhancement Act of 2010, Public Law 111-292
 - (b) FY 2001 Department of Transportation and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, Section 359, Public Law 106-346
 - (c) Definitions, 5 U.S.C. § 6501(3)
 - (d) Telework Directive, Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Management Directive 123-05
 - (e) 2021 Guide to Telework and Remote Work in the Federal Government, Office of Personnel Management (OPM), dated November 2021
 - (f) Remote Work Program, COMDTINST 5330.11
 - (g) U.S. Coast Guard Civil Rights Manual, COMDTINST M5350.4 (series)
 - (h) Limited Personal Use of Government Office Equipment and Services, COMDTINST 5375.1 (series)
 - (i) U.S. Coast Guard Cybersecurity Policy, COMDTINST 5500.13 (series)
 - (j) Records & Information Management Program Roles and Responsibilities, COMDTINST 5212.12 (series)

1. PURPOSE. The Telework Program, Commandant Instruction 5330.4A establishes the Coast Guard's telework policy for eligible civilian employees and military members leveraging technology advancements to meet the demands of a dynamic work environment in accordance with References (a) through (e). This Instruction is separate from the Coast Guard Remote Work Program, COMDTINST 12630.3 (Reference (f)).
2. ACTION. All Coast Guard unit commanders, commanding officers, officers-in-charge, deputy/assistant commandants, and office chiefs of headquarters staff elements must comply with the provisions of this Instruction.
3. AUTHORIZED RELEASE. Internet release is authorized.
4. DIRECTIVES AFFECTED. The prior version of the Coast Guard Telework Program, COMDTINST 5330.4, is hereby cancelled.
5. BACKGROUND. Telework is a work arrangement where approved employees and military members work at an alternate worksite (e.g., home), but must physically report to their official Coast Guard worksite on a regular and recurring basis. Telework does not include situations where employees and members are working in a temporary duty status (TDY) or traveling to perform work at multiple work sites. Over the years, the use of telework as a workplace tool has evolved from a rarely used arrangement to an arrangement that is relied upon when planning for continuity of operations. Unlike teleworkers, remote workers do not report to a USCG location on a regular and recurring basis. If workers cannot report to a USCG location on regular and recurring basis at least twice a pay period, they are defined as remote workers, as provided in Reference (f). While telework is a human capital tool that can be used to promote effective mission delivery and help attract, recruit, and retain a diverse workforce, it is not an employee right or entitlement. Telework must support Coast Guard operations and must not adversely affect organizational missions and functions (e.g., result in a decrease in performance or productivity, higher costs, etc.).

6. DISCLAIMER. This guidance is not a substitute for applicable legal requirements, nor is it itself a rule. It is intended to provide operational guidance of Coast Guard personnel and is not intended to, nor does it impose legally binding requirements on any party outside the Coast Guard.
7. MAJOR CHANGES. Telework is separate and distinct from remote work with differing statutory frameworks and policy implications (References (e) and (f)). As provided in this Instruction, full-time telework is no longer permitted. The Coast Guard Remote Work policy can be found in Reference (f).
8. SCOPE AND AUTHORTIES.
 - a. This Instruction applies to:
 - (1) Full and part-time, civilian employees meeting the definition of “employee” as defined in 5 U.S.C. § 2105 (Covered Employees). For bargaining unit employees, where this Instruction conflicts with a negotiated agreement, the negotiated agreement prevails. Non-appropriated fund (NAF) civilian employees are not covered by this Instruction. Questions regarding remote work for NAF employees should be directed to the Community Services Command (CG-CSC).
 - (2) Military members eligible to participate as determined by unit commanders/Headquarters office chiefs.
 - b. Commands may include or exclude selected units, categories of civilian positions and military members to meet organizational goals, missions, or needs, and set performance-based pre-requisites for individual participation, consistent with labor-management considerations. Commands are not required to grant or afford telework to all classes of individuals.
9. IMPACT ASSESSMENT. This Instruction is not expected to have any impact on existing operations. No additional resources are necessary to carry out this tasking.
10. ENVIRONMENTAL ASPECT AND IMPACT CONSIDERATIONS. The Office of Environmental Management, Commandant (CG-47) reviewed this Commandant Instruction and the general policies contained within, and determined that this policy falls under the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) categorical exclusion A3. This Commandant Instruction will not result in any substantial change to existing environmental conditions or violation of any applicable federal, state, or local laws relating to the protection of the environment. It is the responsibility of the action proponent to evaluate all future specific actions resulting from this policy for compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), other applicable environmental requirements, and the U.S. Coast Guard Environmental Planning Policy, COMDTINST 5090.1 (series).

11. DISTRIBUTION. No paper distribution will be made of this Instruction. An electronic version will be located Coast Guard Directives System Library internally, and if applicable on the Internet at: www.dcms.uscg.mil/directives.
12. RECORDS MANAGEMENT CONSIDERATIONS. Records created as a result of this Instruction, regardless of format or media, must be managed in accordance with the records retention schedules located on the Records Resource Center SharePoint Online site: <https://uscg.sharepoint-mil.us/sites/cg61/CG611/SitePages/Home.aspx>.
13. DISCUSSION. Telework offers an array of benefits for operating a dynamic work environment such as:
 - a. Recruit and retain a high-quality workforce. Workers value a workplace with forward-thinking opportunities and one that supports a work/life balance. Offering telework is an essential tool to recruit and retain personnel.
 - b. Decrease commuting time. Retain valuable employees by reducing the commuting burden.
 - c. Environmental benefits. Telework arrangements reduce harmful emissions and greenhouse gases, wear and tear on transportation infrastructure, and the Coast Guard's carbon footprint.
 - d. Reasonable accommodation needs. Telework arrangements may accommodate the needs of individuals with disabilities and meet short and long-term accommodation needs.
 - e. Ensure continuity of operations. Telework arrangements help to ensure continuity of essential government functions during national or local emergencies, inclement weather, or other situations disrupting office operations.
 - f. Reduce real property costs. Sharing office spaces or workstations and parking space requirements may reduce real estate costs over time.
 - g. Improved productivity. Teleworking has the potential to improve productivity due to fewer distractions, reduced stress from avoiding the commute, and the ability to work a partial day when an employee would otherwise take an entire day off.
14. DEFINITIONS.
 - a. Telework: A management tool allowing civilian employees and military members to work at alternate worksites. Civilian employees must physically report to their official Coast Guard worksite on a regular and recurring basis at least twice in a pay period; military members must physically report to their official Coast Guard worksite on a regular and recurring basis at least four days each month. Employees unable to meet this reporting requirement at a Coast Guard worksite are defined as remote workers in accordance with Reference (f). Before beginning telework arrangements, employees/members and their supervisors must complete telework training and sign a written agreement.

- b. Alternate worksite. Alternate worksites include:
- (1) An individual's home in a space specifically set aside as an office or work area that meets the safety and security requirements as outlined in this Instruction;
 - (2) A Coast Guard facility other than the individual's Coast Guard worksite and;
 - (3) Any other location approved by the supervisor that meets the safety and security requirements as outlined in this Instruction.
Approved locations are limited to the United States, District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, U.S. Territories, and tribal areas.
- c. Types of Telework. As provided in Reference (e), there are two types of telework:
- (1) Routine telework is where the telework hours are part of an ongoing, regular schedule (e.g., someone teleworks "every Wednesday" or "every Tuesday and Thursday").
 - (2) Situational telework is approved on a case-by-case basis, where the hours worked are not part of a previously approved recurring telework schedule. Examples of situational telework may include: inclement weather, partial days where an individual has a medical appointment, or special work assignments. Situational telework is sometimes referred to as episodic, intermittent, unscheduled, or ad-hoc telework.
- d. Telework Agreement: A written agreement where the terms and conditions of the telework arrangements are signed by teleworkers and supervisors. The agreement includes a statement certifying teleworkers have personal preparedness plans in the event of an emergency. Guidance on developing a preparedness plan may be found at www.ready.gov .
- e. Telework-Ready: "Telework-ready" civilian employees and military members are those with completed telework training, telework agreements, and safety and security checklists. Telework-ready civilian employees and military members must also have telework compatible duties and the necessary equipment, technology, and technical support to telework effectively.
- f. Teleworker: Civilian employees or military members participating in telework arrangements and with a signed telework agreement. Teleworker and telework participant are used interchangeably.

- g. Official Worksite: The official worksite is the Coast Guard duty location for teleworkers where they regularly report to work.
- (1) For civilian teleworkers who must physically report at least twice in the biweekly pay period on a regular and recurring basis, the Coast Guard duty location is the official worksite (e.g., official duty station). Civilian employees who do not meet this reporting requirements are deemed remote workers and must follow the remote work guidance in Reference (f).
 - (2) For active duty and reserve military members, the official worksite is the member's permanent duty station. Reserve military members cannot telework while serving on inactive duty orders except pursuant to a unit reserve telework instruction approved by the first O-5 or above in the chain of command. Unit reserve telework instructions must be consistent with this Instruction. Notwithstanding any other policy or statute, the work schedules and telework agreements of reserve military members serving on active duty orders are subject to the active duty command to which assigned. Military members at locations distinct from their permanent duty station must be annotated as detached on the personnel allowance list and under the administrative control of a local USCG location, such members are not considered teleworkers.
- h. Remote Work: A work arrangement by which a civilian employee is scheduled to perform work at an alternate worksite within or outside the local commuting area of the official worksite and is not expected to report to the Coast Guard worksite on a regular and recurring basis at least two days each pay period. Reference (f) is the Coast Guard Remote Work policy. For the purposes of this Instruction, "full-time telework" is considered remote work, and the guidance in Reference (f) applies.
- i. Continuity of Operations (COOP): Actions taken to ensure essential organizational mission and functions will continue during emergency situations such as: localized acts of nature, accidents, public health emergencies, technological disruptions, or hostile attack. Continuity of Operations, Policy and Planning, COMDTINST 3010.15 (series) is the Coast Guard's continuity of operations policy and supersedes this Instruction in the instance of a COOP event.
15. PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS. Participation in telework arrangements is solely at the discretion on the individual supervisor and not an entitlement or right of employment or military service. Teleworking does not change employment terms and conditions. Employee and member requests to participate in telework arrangements are voluntary. Reference (a) does not obligate employees or members to participate in the telework program. Teleworkers, remote workers, and on-site workers are treated the same including, without limitation, for purposes of: (1) periodic job performance appraisals; (2) training, recognition, reassignments, promotions, reductions in grade, retention, and removal; (3) work requirements; and (4) other acts involving managerial discretion. Commanding

Officers may consider the following factors when establishing a telework program:

- a. Mission Impact. Supervisors must establish specific controls to ensure telework arrangements do not adversely affect organizational missions and functions (e.g. result in a decrease in performance or productivity, higher costs, etc.). When supervisors determine there is an adverse impact resulting from telework, the matter must be discussed with the employee/military member and, if appropriate, the telework agreements should be modified. If the adverse impact resulting from telework is not resolved, supervisors must terminate the telework arrangements, subject to fulfilling any labor-management obligations.
- b. Funding. Currently, there are no central funds to support the telework program. Commands and staffs establishing telework programs must do so within their existing resources.
- c. Telework Eligibility. Supervisors identify positions as eligible for telework, using the characteristics below, and approve requests by employees or military members to participate. Ongoing participation in telework is not automatic, and supervisors may change, modify, or terminate participation due to mission needs or other considerations. Employees or military members must self-identify their interest in telework to support their requests. Employee and military member requests must address the following areas: ability to work with minimal supervision, past and current performance and productivity, organizational and communications skills, and ability to successfully accomplish duties remotely.
 - (1) Appropriate Positions or Billets. Positions or billets that may be appropriate for telework contain the following characteristics:
 - (a) Portable work activities that teleworkers can perform effectively away from the Coast Guard worksite;
 - (b) Quantifiable or project-oriented assignments or job tasks;
 - (c) Unclassified work for which data security, including sensitive, non-classified, and Privacy Act concerns, is adequate (work involving classified data or information must take place only in a government office where adequate controls exist to protect the data);
 - (d) Necessary technology required for off-site work is available.
 - (2) Appropriate Telework Participants. Supervisors should consider the following performance factors before approving an individual's telework agreement:
 - (a) Civilian employees have attained a "Meets" or "Achieved Expectations" summary rating for current and the previous year's civilian performance appraisals.
 - (b) Military members do not have marks below a four (4) on the current and the previous year's Enlisted Employee Review or Officer Evaluation Report, and enlisted military members have a satisfactory conduct mark for current and the previous year's Enlisted Employee Reviews.

- (c) The employee or member's agreement to comply with telework requirements.
 - (d) Employees and military members demonstrate the knowledge, skills, and ability to successfully work off-site independently.
- (3) Positions Ineligible for Telework. Employees and military members whose positions require any of the following on a daily basis are ineligible for telework:
- (a) Direct handling of secure materials determined to be inappropriate for telework.
 - (b) Performing an on-site activity that cannot be handled remotely or at an alternate worksite.
- (4) Not Eligible Under Any Circumstances. Employees and military members may not participate in telework if any of the following apply:
- (a) In accordance with Reference (a), they have been formally disciplined for being absent without leave (AWOL) for more than five (5) working days in any calendar year;
 - (b) They have been formally disciplined for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties or any other inappropriate use of government property;
 - (c) They are on performance probation or have documented misconduct within the past 12 months involving a violation of the Uniform Code of Military Justice to include without limitation non-judicial punishment or conviction by military court-martial/civilian court (except for traffic violations);
 - (d) They have an unacceptable decline in performance during the rating period;
 - (e) They have an unacceptable decline in conduct. Examples of an unacceptable decline in conduct include placement on a performance improvement plan, letter of restriction or reprimand, or greater disciplinary action, within the last year.
 - (f) They do not comply with the terms of the signed telework agreement.
- d. Denial or Termination of Telework Agreements and Appeals. Telework agreements may be terminated by either the supervisor or by the teleworkers. When telework requests are denied or terminated by the supervisor, the supervisor will meet with employees/members and provide a written justification supporting the denial or termination. Written justification must be provided to the employee/member using the original telework agreement document signed by both the employee/member and the supervisor. Temporary cancelation for military members due to administrative or mission requirements does not require written notification from supervisor. Supervisors can continue remarks on a separate sheet of paper and attach it to the telework agreement as needed. The reason provided for denial or termination should be based on participation criteria, business-related, operational needs, or both. If civilian employees appeal a denial or termination of a telework agreement, they may use the applicable administrative grievance/appeals procedure in accordance with Administrative Grievance Procedure, COMDTINST 12771.1 (series), or procedure outlined in the applicable labor agreement. Denial or termination of telework agreements for civilian employees must be provided in writing within 10 business days, and reported to Commandant (CG-122), and identify the reason for the denial or termination. Supervisors of civilian employees must consult with their servicing Commandant (CG-124) employee and labor relations specialist, in consultation with applicable collective bargaining agreement when considering termination of a telework agreement.

16. PROGRAM APPROVAL. Unit commanders, commanding officers, officers-in-charge, deputy/assistant commandants, and chiefs of Headquarters staff elements must:

- a. Establish, or update for compliance with current guidance, the overall telework program covering their respective staffs and units.
- b. Review for approval individual unit telework programs for their respective staffs and units.

17. PROGRAM ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES.

- a. Commandant (CG-122): CG-122 will provide telework program oversight, policy guidance and advisory services for civilian employees. CG-122 will provide training resources to management and civilian employees.
- b. Commandant (CG-133): CG-133 will provide telework program oversight, policy guidance, training resources, and advisory services for military members.
- c. Commandant (CG-124): CG-124 will facilitate employee, labor relations and performance management activities.
- d. Deputy/assistant commandants, unit commanders, commanding officers, officers-in-charge, and chiefs of Headquarters staff elements: Deputy/assistant commandants, unit commanders, commanding officers, officers-in-charge, and chiefs of Headquarters staff elements shall for their area of responsibility (AOR):
 - (1) Review for approval unit program proposals.
 - (2) Submit summary participation data to Commandant (CG-122), via the appropriate chain-of- command, upon request.
- e. Supervisors shall:
 - (1) Complete mandatory supervisory telework training in accordance with Paragraph 19(a) of this Instruction, before completing their first telework agreement.

- (2) Prepare, approve, and retain a copy of telework agreements. Provide a copy of completed telework agreements to Commandant (CG-122) upon request.
- (3) Review telework agreements annually at the beginning of the fiscal year (1 October) or more frequently, including, but not limited to, when there is a change in supervisor, work schedule, or other impacting circumstances.
- (4) Discuss with teleworkers the assignments and tasks to be accomplished under telework arrangements.
- (5) Ensure the telework requirements provided in this Instruction are followed.
- (6) Ensure teleworkers and non-teleworkers are treated equitably, including without limitation, for purposes of periodic job performance appraisals, training, recognition, reassignments, promotions, reductions in grade, retention, and removal, work requirements, and other acts of managerial discretion.
- (7) Ensure civilian employees record telework hours performed in webTA or other appropriate electronic timekeeping system.
- (8) Address any conduct, performance management, or employee/labor relations matters in consultation with Commandant (CG-124) staff as needed.
- (9) Establish contact with employees at least once per day, or more frequently as needed.

f. Employees/members shall:

- (1) Complete mandatory employee telework training before entering into a telework agreement.
- (2) Submit the request to telework by completing the Telework Agreement (Form CG-5330) and Telework or Remote Work Self-Certification Security and Safety Security Checklist (Form CG-12630D) to their respective supervisor.
- (3) Adhere to all requirements in the signed telework agreement.
- (4) Provide and pay for home high-speed internet access, phone service, printer, office supplies and any other equipment that the employee wants to use for the telework worksite.
- (5) Military members must report to PDS for urinalysis or random drug testing, as directed.
- (6) Establish contact with supervisors at least once per day, or more frequently as needed.

18. PROGRAM TERMINATION. Any individual or organization's ability to participate in a telework program may be terminated by the immediate supervisor, seniors in the chain-of-command, or by Commandant (DCMS) as Commanding Officer of Headquarters, in accordance with any applicable labor-management obligations, if determined the agreements:

- a. Do not support mission needs,
- b. Are counter to public service requirements,
- c. Threaten the security of Coast Guard data, information, or equipment,
- d. Are likely to increase long-term costs,
- e. Misconduct or performance-related issues, or
- f. Create other adverse work-related situations.

19. PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS.

- a. Training. In accordance with References (a) through (e), supervisors, employees, and military members must complete mandatory training before entering into a telework agreement. The completion of training is intended to ensure both teleworkers and supervisors of teleworkers are familiar with relevant policies and appropriate practices associated with telework. Mandatory employee and supervisory training is available on the CG Portal Learning Management System (LMS) at the following link: <https://elearning.uscg.mil/>. Additional voluntary training resources are available on the LMS Skillport portal: <https://uscg.skillport.com/skillportfe/main.action>, search “telework.” Where negotiated agreements for telework exist, both supervisors and employees must follow the terms of the negotiated agreements.
- b. Telework Agreements. Each employee/member in a telework arrangement and their immediate supervisor must sign and maintain a written agreement in accordance with records retention schedules. Telework agreements shall not be signed until military members travel and physically report to their permanent duty station (PDS). Telework agreements must be reviewed by the supervisor annually on or before the beginning of the fiscal year (1 October), or more frequently as needed. New telework agreements must be completed and signed by employees and supervisors if there are changes in supervision, work schedules, or other relevant circumstances except where covered by a negotiated agreement, telework agreements in effect before the date of this Instruction must be updated within 90 days of this Instruction’s promulgation.
- c. Work Schedules. Teleworkers must perform scheduled work either in their Coast Guard worksites or at approved telework locations. Teleworkers may also participate in an alternative work schedule under Alternative Work Schedules (AWS) for Coast Guard Civilian and Military Members, COMDTINST 5330.10 (series). Supervisors should review work schedules periodically to ensure the work schedules are consistent with employee and organizational requirements and approve absences from either the Coast Guard worksite or telework location. Supervisors have the authority to require employees to physically report to their Coast Guard worksite if the employee's presence is necessary. Supervisors should provide a reasonable amount of advance notice when requiring employees to report to the Coast Guard worksite. Civilian employee shall use leave in accordance with normal procedure for situations requiring absence from work, such as medical appointments, home repairs, or other situations requiring absence from work.

- d. Unscheduled Telework. Unscheduled telework is an option that allows employees/members to telework from home or a nearby alternative location, when severe weather conditions or other circumstances disrupt commuting. Commands are encouraged to establish "ad-hoc" telework arrangements for employees/members who can telework but typically do not. Unscheduled telework is a form of situational telework as described in Paragraph 14.c. above. Situational teleworkers must have written telework agreements in place.
- e. Office Operating Status. To support continuity of operations during emergency situations, teleworkers are expected to continue working during announcements of office closure, arrival delay, or early dismissal (e.g., due to weather or safety). In accordance with OPM Governmentwide Dismissal and Closure Procedures, weather and safety leave will not be provided to teleworkers who are able to work safely at their alternate worksite. When the office is closed and the telework site is impacted by the emergency, supervisors may exercise their authority to grant excused absence to that affected teleworker on a case-by-case basis (e.g., when power outages or network connection problems prevent telework). In the event of a closure, teleworkers must contact their supervisors to request leave and properly document their status in webTA or other appropriate timekeeping system. Employees/members teleworking within their regular tour of duty during periods of office closures, arrival delays, or early dismissals cannot receive overtime pay, credit hours, or compensatory time.
 - (1) Office Open. Teleworkers are expected to begin telework in accordance with an agreed upon work schedule. Situational teleworkers may request unscheduled leave or unscheduled telework.
 - (2) Office Closure. Teleworkers, including telework-ready employees and military members, are required to telework during office closures or request unscheduled leave, or perform a combination of both for the entire workday.
 - (3) Delayed Arrival (with option for unscheduled leave or unscheduled telework). Teleworkers, including telework-ready employees and military members are not authorized delayed arrival.
 - (4) Early Departure. Teleworkers, including telework-ready employees and military members, who are already performing telework are not authorized early departure.
- f. Reporting Requirement.
 - (1) Civilian Employees. Civilian employees must report physically to their Coast Guard worksite location at least two days per biweekly pay period on a regular and recurring basis to maintain their entitlement to the locality pay of their Coast Guard worksite (i.e., duty location). Employees who do not meet this reporting requirement are deemed remote workers and must follow the guidance provided in Reference (f). Employees and supervisors considering a remote work agreement must discuss with their servicing HR Specialist the impacts of such an arrangement.

- (a) Temporary Exceptions to the Reporting Requirement. In accordance with Reference (g), an employee may be permitted to telework without returning to the office twice per pay period in a situation where an employee is temporarily recovering from an injury or other medical condition but is expected to return to a normal telework schedule upon recovery. Other temporary situations may be: a severe weather emergency or pandemic health crisis, an extended period of approved absence (e.g., paid leave), or a period of temporary duty travel status or detail to work location other than the location covered by the telework agreement.
- (2) Military members. Military members must physically report to their official Coast Guard worksite on a regular and recurring basis at least four days each month. A personnel allowance amendment is required when the change of official worksite results in a change to pay entitlements. Supervisors must submit a personnel reprogramming request that identifies the new detached duty location of the position to Commandant (CG-833), in accordance with the Personnel Resources and Reprogramming Manual, COMDTINST M5312.13 (series).
- g. Time and Attendance (Civilian Employees). Supervisors and employees must correctly report time and attendance documenting telework schedules and absences. Supervisors may visit the employee's alternate worksite (at a pre-arranged time), establish contact, determine reasonableness of work output for the time expended, or use other appropriate certification methods when carrying out time and attendance monitoring. Guidance to record telework schedules in webTA can be found at the following link:
<https://www.dcms.uscg.mil/Portals/10/CG-1/cg12/docs/pdf/How%20to%20Code%20Telework%20in%20WebTA.pdf?ver=2020-04-02-112704-543>
- h. Home Office Workspace. Teleworkers must designate a space for work at home and be able to communicate effectively with the office or customers. The Coast Guard will not provide home office furnishings, except in the case of reasonable accommodation as outlined in Paragraph 19.j below. Teleworkers must ensure their workspaces meet health, safety, building code, physical security, and other requirements. Supervisors shall deny employees the opportunity to participate in or terminate telework agreements based on safety or security problems in the home. Teleworkers will self-certify in the telework agreement the safety and security of the alternate worksite. CG Form 12630D provides a safety and security checklist for use in assessing the home office worksite. Teleworkers unable to work at their telework site due to equipment or power failures etc. must contact their supervisors as soon as possible. Based on the situation, the supervisor will determine the appropriate duty or leave status to account for the scheduled work time and whether the teleworker should report to his/her Coast Guard worksite. While conducting official duties, civilian employees must maintain an appropriate professional work environment (e.g., no loud music, no television, no inappropriate slogans or imagery displayed which contradict CG policy) while conducting virtual meetings at the alternate worksite. Also, when conducting virtual meetings, civilian employees working at the Alternate worksite must maintain the same business attire as would be required at the official Coast Guard worksite. Military members must wear the same uniform as would be required if at the official work site/duty station when videoconferencing or as otherwise directed by the Command.

- i. Family Care. Telework is not a substitute for dependent or other family care but may facilitate dependent care during non-work hours. Employees/members are required to make other arrangements for dependent care in accordance with applicable work scheduling and leave policies.
- j. Telework as a Reasonable Accommodation (Civilian Employees). Telework may be used as a reasonable accommodation for a current civilian employee or for a new hire with a permanent mobility issue or other relevant disability. If there is ambiguity about the request, supervisors should consult with the Office of Civil Rights, Commandant (CG-00H), the Office of General Law, Commandant (CG-LGL), or both as part of the interactive process established by the Rehabilitation Act. Telework as a method of reasonable accommodation must be identified in the telework agreement and conducted in accordance with Reference (h). When telework is approved as part of a reasonable accommodation and termination of telework is being considered, management must take into account the employee's need for telework to effectively perform their essential functions and whether continued telework would be an undue hardship.
- k. Standards of Conduct. Teleworkers must comply with the Coast Guard Standards of Conduct, COMDTINST M5370.8 (series), while teleworking as well as anytime they are using Government-furnished equipment or access.
- l. Travel Reimbursement. Eligibility for reimbursement for official travel expenses is based on employees' Coast Guard worksite. When employees telework, travel reimbursement from the alternate worksite to the official duty station is not authorized. Eligibility for reimbursement is determined by the servicing travel office using the Federal Travel Regulation and the DHS Chief Financial Officer policy, FMPM Section 7.2, Temporary Duty Travel. For military members, travel reimbursement from the telework location to the PDS is not authorized. There may be some exception to travel expenses reimbursement for military members when pre-approved and in accordance with policy.
- m. Evacuation Pay Authority (Civilian Employees). The evacuation pay authority found at 5 CFR part 550, subpart D, enables the Coast Guard to require an employee to evacuate from their assigned worksite and perform work from a designated safe haven. In the case of a pandemic evacuation, where the objective is social distancing, the safe haven could include the employee's home or an alternative location mutually agreeable to the Coast Guard and the employee. An evacuation order to work from home or another alternative location may be issued without regard to whether the employee has a telework agreement in place at the time the order to evacuate is issued. Although the evacuation pay authority is distinct from the telework program, which is a voluntary workplace flexibility, having a vigorous and well-practiced telework program can better prepare the Coast Guard and its employees to be productive during an evacuation such as a pandemic health crisis or other emergency necessitating the performance of duties from a safe haven.

- n. Foreign Assignment. Telework during assignment to foreign countries shall not be permitted unless favorably endorsed by the first flag officer/SES in the chain of command and approved by the Chief Information Officer or their delegated representative. However, military personnel detailed to other components or agencies will follow the telework policy of the host command. Commands are not authorized to establish remote work arrangements with an alternate worksite in foreign areas without Deputy Commandant for Mission Support (DCMS) approval and Deputy Commandant for Operations (DCO) concurrence.
- (1) Before requesting approval from DCMS, commands shall initiate and manage the process to obtain an approved agreement by DHS Office of Strategy, Policy, and Plans, Office of International Affairs and the Department of State (DOS) Chief of Mission using a Domestic Employees Telework Overseas (DETO) agreement.
 - (2) Commands must seek approval from DOS to have employees work in foreign locations through the National Security Decision Directive (NSDD) 38 process for assignments greater than one year. For assignments less than one year, command will use the DOS country clearance process.

20. COMPUTER AND TELECOMMUNICATIONS SUPPORT. The Coast Guard has no obligation or requirement to provide telecommunications resources (e.g., mobile wireless hotspot devices) to support telework. Except as described in Paragraph 20.b. below, the decision to provide or fund telework resources resides with each individual command. All information technology (IT) resources, whether government furnished or personally owned, while being used in an official government capacity when teleworking must comply with Reference (i). Remote access software may be obtained at the following link: <https://www.dcms.uscg.mil/Telework/>. With supervisory approval, local units may reimburse telephone and telecommunications costs, including official long-distance calls, based on statutory authority and availability of sponsoring unit funds in accordance with Pub. L. 104-52, title VI, Sec. 620. Teleworkers should submit Optional Form 1164, Claim for Reimbursement for Expenditures on Official Business, through the appropriate channels, to request reimbursements. The Coast Guard will not pay for any internet service provider or online services to support teleworking arrangements.

a. Government-Furnished Equipment.

- (1) Options for obtaining Government-furnished telework IT resources, based on Reference (j):
 - (a) Teleworkers may be issued a dedicated Coast Guard Standard Workstation (CGSW) laptop, instead of a desktop, for use at the Coast Guard worksite and while teleworking. To furnish laptops for teleworkers with desktops, units can redistribute computers within the command to increase laptop availability or request a laptop through their local IT support staff based on the CGSW desktop recapitalization program.

¹ Per Department of State Standardized Regulations, "foreign area" means any area situated outside the United States, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, and the possessions of the United States.

- (b) For routine telework schedules where teleworkers are away from their Coast Guard worksite for more than two days per week, teleworkers must use Government-furnished equipment as described in Paragraph 20.a.(1)(a) above. If the command is unable to provide CGSW laptops, teleworkers shall adjust their telework schedules to reduce the amount of time away from the office.
- (c) All Government-furnished IT resources, including hardware, software, repair, and replacement costs, will be supported through the normal Coast Guard IT support organizations. To receive the necessary support, teleworkers should contact the Centralized Service Desk through CGFIXIT (<https://cgfixit.osc.uscg.mil/>), at 1-855-243-4948.
- (d) Government-furnished equipment for telework arrangements shall be used solely by the employee/member issued the equipment. Teleworkers issued government furnished equipment for telework arrangements may be held liable for any damage, repairs, or replacement costs, due to neglect, misuse, or inappropriate use by non-government personnel.

b. Personally Owned Equipment and Services.

- (1) While use of personally owned computers is permissible, use of CGSW laptops is recommended to reduce impact on CG bandwidth usage and provide a greater level of security.
- (2) When teleworking from the home or any non-Coast Guard worksite, the Coast Guard is not responsible for the expense to repair, restore, or replace any personal computers, personal IT equipment or services, personal peripherals, or personal media/data files used for telework. Local network connectivity issues associated with teleworkers' internet service providers are the responsibility of the users and not the Coast Guard.
- (3) Storage of Coast Guard information is not allowed on personal computers based on Reference (i).
- (4) Employees and military members using personally owned equipment when teleworking waive expectation of privacy when conducting official duties.

21. SECURITY REQUIREMENTS. Telework and access to Coast Guard computers or networks from alternate worksites create security risks for the U.S. Coast Guard's information systems hardware and software infrastructure. Teleworkers must observe proper Information Security (INFOSEC), Operations Security (OPSEC), and/or Communications Security (COMSEC) practices in accordance with Reference (i) while teleworking.

- a. Classified information, in either hard copy or electronic form, is not authorized for access, processing, or storage through alternate worksites. Teleworkers must report home worksite access to classified material, whether accidental or not, to the appropriate security officers, who will declassify personal computing resources in accordance with Reference (i). Information and records processed are subject to the maintenance and disposition requirements contained in Reference (j) and the Privacy Act of 1974, 5 U.S.C. Section 552a to reduce risks to Coast Guard computers, data, and telecommunications networks.

- b. Teleworkers may access and view electronic For Official Use Only (FOUO) information from home worksites. Processing, storing, or printing hard copy FOUO information from home worksites is strictly prohibited.

22. FACILITIES SUPPORT. Teleworkers who routinely telework and are away from their Coast Guard worksites for more than two days per week are candidates for sharing offices/workspaces. If a sustainable population of regular teleworkers exists at a location, facility managers may implement an “office hoteling” concept where teleworkers schedule days and share office space and equipment. The planning factors and standards for adapting to accommodate teleworkers are outlined in the Coast Guard Shore Facilities Standards Manual, COMDTINST 11012.9 (series).
23. FORMS. The forms referenced in this Instruction are available on the Coast Guard Standard Workstation or on the Internet: www.dcms.uscg.mil/Our-Organization/Assistant-Commandant-for-C4IT-CG-6/The-Office-of-Information-Management-CG-61/Forms-Management/.
24. REPORTS. Reports referenced in this Instruction may be requested from the Office of Civilian Workforce Management, Commandant (CG-122).
25. SECTION 508. This Instruction adheres to Accessibility Guidelines and Standards as promulgated by the U.S. Access Board. If changes are needed, please communicate with the Coast Guard Section 508 Program Management Office at: Section.508@uscg.mil.
26. REQUESTS FOR CHANGES. Units and individuals may formally recommend changes through the chain of command using the Coast Guard Memorandum. Comments and suggestions from users of this Instruction are welcomed. All such correspondence may be emailed to Commandant (CG-122) at: HQS-DG-1st-CG-122@uscg.mil.

/BRIAN K. PENOYER/
Rear Admiral, U.S. Coast Guard
Assistant Commandant for Human Resources

REMOTE WORK PROGRAM

COMDTINST 5330.11

October 2022

THIS PAGE INTENTIONALLY LEFT BLANK

COMDTINST 5330.11
27 OCT 2022

COMMANDANT INSTRUCTION 5330.11

Subj: REMOTE WORK PROGRAM

- Ref:
- (a) Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Memorandum M-21-25, Integrating Planning for A Safe Increased Return of Federal Employees and Contractors to Physical Workplaces with Post-Reentry Personnel Policies and Work Environment, dated June 10, 2021.
 - (b) Office of Personnel Management (OPM) Guide to Telework and Remote Work in the Federal Government, dated November 12, 2021
 - (c) DHS Office of the Chief Human Capital Officer Compensation Guidance CG-2-2021, Remote Work, dated July 15, 2021
 - (d) Coast Guard Telework Program, COMDTINST 5330.4 (series)
 - (e) Determining an Employee's Official Worksite, 5 CFR § 531.605
 - (f) Alternative Work Schedules (AWS) for Coast Guard Civilian and Military Members, COMDTINST 5330.10 (series)
 - (g) Civilian Personnel Actions: Disciplinary, Adverse and Performance Based Actions, COMDTINST M12750.4 (series)
 - (h) Administrative Grievance Procedure, COMDTINST 12771.1 (series)
 - (i) Standards of Ethical Conduct, COMDTINST M5370.8 (series)
 - (j) U.S. Coast Guard Cybersecurity Policy, COMDTINST 5500.13 (series)
 - (k) Coast Guard Shore Facilities Standards Manual, COMDTINST M11012.9 (series)
 - (l) U.S. Coast Guard Civil Rights Manual, COMDTINST M5350.4 (series)

1. PURPOSE. Commandant Instruction 5330.11 establishes the Coast Guard's remote work policy for eligible civilian employees and military members. Current and newly hired civilian employees in eligible positions may be authorized to work remotely, in or outside the local commuting area of their respective work unit, on a temporary or a long-term basis. Military members may be eligible for remote work in certain circumstances when approved by the first Flag Officer or Senior Executive Service (SES) member in the chain of command as outlined in paragraph 18. References (a) through (j) provide the legal authorities and security protocols to leverage technological advancements necessary to implement this Instruction. When applied strategically, remote work can provide the Coast Guard with a competitive advantage in recruiting new talent and help prevent the loss of valued employees who live in a location distant from the agency worksite for personal reasons.
2. ACTION. All Coast Guard unit commanders, commanding officers, officers-in-charge, deputy/assistant commandants, technical authorities and chiefs of headquarters staff elements shall comply with the provisions of this Instruction.

3. AUTHORIZED RELEASE. Internet release is authorized.
4. DIRECTIVES AFFECTED. This Instruction does not supersede Reference (d) or other federal statutes, regulations, ordinances or rules.
5. BACKGROUND. Workplace flexibilities such as remote work allow the Coast Guard and its workforce to remain flexible, resilient and ready to continue its critical work on behalf of the public, no matter the challenge. Remote work is a human capital tool that can serve to promote effective mission delivery and help attract, recruit and retain a diverse workforce; it is not an employee right or entitlement. Remote work arrangements should be used when they support Coast Guard operations and must not adversely affect organizational missions and functions (e.g., result in a decrease in performance and/or productivity, higher costs, etc.). Remote work, as used in this Instruction is defined in accordance with References (a) and (b).
6. DISCLAIMER. This guidance is not a substitute for applicable legal requirements, nor is it itself a rule. It is intended to provide operational guidance for Coast Guard personnel and is not intended to nor does it impose legally binding requirements on any party outside the Coast Guard, except for those employees on external details.
7. SCOPE AND AUTHORITIES.
 - a. This Instruction applies to full and part-time, civilian employees meeting the definition of “employee” as defined in 5 U.S.C. § 2105 (Covered Employees) and to military members where indicated. For bargaining unit employees, where this Instruction conflicts with a negotiated agreement, the negotiated agreement prevails.
 - b. Non-appropriated fund (NAF) civilian employees are not covered by this Instruction. Questions regarding remote work for NAF employees should be directed to the Community Services Command (CG-CSC).
 - c. Alternate worksites under this Instruction include the United States, the District of Columbia, U.S. Territories, and tribal and foreign areas. Remote work in foreign areas must be done in accordance with the procedures outlined in Paragraph 15.e. below. Telecommunications infrastructure at the alternate worksite must be adequate to support remote work.
 - d. Technical authority for a program line of business may provide guidance to establish the remote work approach for personnel to address consistency of application in conjunction with applicable labor-management considerations.
 - e. Commands may include or exclude selected units or categories of civilian employees or positions to meet organizational goals, missions, or needs, consistent with merit principles and labor-management considerations.
8. IMPACT ASSESSMENT. This Instruction is not expected to have any impact on existing operations. No additional resources are necessary to carry out this tasking.

9. ENVIRONMENTAL ASPECT AND IMPACT CONSIDERATIONS. The Office of Environmental Management, Commandant (CG-47) reviewed this Commandant Instruction and the general policies contained within and determined that this policy falls under the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) categorical exclusion A3. This Commandant Instruction will not result in any substantial change to existing environmental conditions or violation of any applicable federal, state, or local laws relating to the protection of the environment. It is the responsibility of the action proponent to evaluate all future specific actions resulting from this policy for compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), other applicable environmental requirements, and the U.S. Coast Guard Environmental Planning Policy, COMDTINST 5090.1 (series).
10. DISTRIBUTION. No paper distribution will be made of this Instruction. An electronic version will be located in the Coast Guard Directives System Library internally, and if applicable on the Internet at www.dcms.uscg.mil/directives.
11. RECORDS MANAGEMENT CONSIDERATIONS. Records created as a result of this Instruction, regardless of format or media, must be maintained and dispositioned in accordance with the records retention schedules located on the Coast Guard Records Resource Center SharePoint site: <https://cg.portal.uscg.mil/units/cg61/CG611/SitePages/Home.aspx>.
12. POLICY DISCUSSION. Supervisors should balance the benefits of recruitment, retention, innovation, and flexibility with mission completeness, collaboration, cost, and equity when determining whether to implement remote work in accordance with this Instruction. Benefits and considerations for remote work policy are discussed below.
 - a. Benefits. Remote work offers the Coast Guard and its civilian employees potential benefits such as:
 - (1) Retention of highly talented employees who reside outside of their unit's geographic location.
 - (2) Recruitment of employees outside the work unit's geographic location who possess specialized skills.
 - (3) Agency cost savings related to transit subsidy benefits, locality pay, real estate, and other facility expenses, paired with employee cost savings related to commuting and local cost of living expenses.
 - (4) Increased employee productivity and engagement, and greater ability to support continuity of operations.
 - (5) More attractive job opportunities for individuals with mobility-related or other qualifying disabilities.
 - b. Considerations. Supervisors must also consider the following associated with remote work, including:

- (1) Need to adjust methods of communication to ensure frequent and productive engagement with all employees across hybrid (on-site and remote) work environments.
 - (2) Level and frequency of supervisor and employee opportunities to engage in and have valuable social interaction, relationship building, and serendipitous exchanges about work when employees work in hybrid environment.
 - (3) Employee responsibility to sustain quality customer service (e.g., accessibility, attentiveness, availability, responsiveness).
 - (4) Supervisor responsibility to equitably distribute work among remote, telework and on-site employees.
 - (5) Additional travel costs when the employee is expected to report to the agency worksite.
- c. Planning. Remote work arrangements require intention, thought, and planning by supervisors authorized to approve remote work. The arrangements raise various logistical and policy issues, including reassignment of official worksite, locality pay, and reimbursement for travel. Supervisors must deliberately evaluate and consider requests for remote work, especially those submitted solely for the convenience of the employee, on a case-by-case basis.
 - d. Voluntary or Mandatory Condition. Remote work arrangements may be requested by the employee or mandated as a condition of employment by the Coast Guard.
 - e. Performance of Duty. Before permitting remote work arrangements, commands must assess how remote work arrangements may impact the short- and long-term performance of business operations, budget, continuity of operations plans, and emergency response group requirements. Remote work arrangements shall not be implemented if they negatively impact performance (e.g., result in a decrease in performance and/or productivity.).

13. DEFINITIONS.

- a. Agency Worksite or Regular Worksite. The physical Coast Guard worksite location where the employee is expected to report in the absence or revocation of a remote work agreement.
- b. Alternate Worksite. The approved geographic location where remote work can be performed. (e.g., an employee's residence).
- c. Official Worksite or Official Duty Station. For civilian employees, the official worksite is the location of an employee's alternate worksite, as agreed to by the supervisor and employee, and documented on an employee's remote work agreement and Standard Form (SF) 50 Notification of Personnel Action, see Reference (e). The official worksite for military personnel is defined in paragraph 18 of this Instruction.

Remote Work Arrangement or Remote Work. A work arrangement by which an employee is scheduled to perform work within or outside the local commuting area of the agency worksite at an alternate worksite and is not expected to report to the agency worksite on a regular and recurring basis (e.g., at least twice each biweekly pay period). As provided in this Instruction, remote work may be temporary (up to one year) or long-term.

- d. Remote Work Agreement. A written agreement where the terms and conditions of the remote work arrangements are agreed upon and signed by employee and the employee's supervisor. Before beginning remote work, employees and their supervisors must complete training and sign a written agreement.
- e. Telework. A work arrangement in which an employee, under a written telework agreement, is scheduled to perform their work at an agency worksite on a regular and recurring basis (e.g., at least twice each biweekly pay period), in accordance with Reference (d).

14. PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS. Participation in remote work is solely at the discretion of management and not an employment entitlement or right. If an employee requests a remote work arrangement, management should ensure the following factors can be accomplished in the remote work arrangement:

a. General Considerations.

- (1) Remote workers, teleworkers, and on-site workers are treated the same including, without limitation, for purposes of: (1) periodic job performance appraisals; (2) training, recognition, reassignments, promotions, reductions in grade, retention, and removal; (3) work requirements; and (4) other acts involving managerial discretion.

b. Command Considerations.

- (1) Commands must be able to develop a sound and consistent business rationale for identifying positions eligible for remote work and allowing employees to work remotely from an alternate worksite (e.g., their residence), another government facility, or another agreed-upon location). In the absence of a business case to authorize remote work, positions are ineligible for remote work but may be eligible for telework in accordance with Reference (d).
- (2) Commands must assess the duties to be performed of the position and the demands of the job to determine whether it is feasible for an employee to effectively perform all or most of their job functions at the remote worksite while delivering mission objectives, maintaining operations, and meeting customer needs.
- (3) Commands must assess their information technology infrastructure needs to determine if authorizing remote work is feasible given their information technology resources.
- (4) For employees selected from Coast Guard job opportunity announcements as remote workers, Commands must provide a Coast Guard Standard Workstation laptop and any required peripherals, as determined by the supervisor, such as monitors, docking station, common access card reader, keyboard, mouse, headphones etc.

- (5) Commands are not authorized to establish remote work arrangements with an alternate worksite in foreign areas¹ without Deputy Commandant for Mission Support (DCMS) approval and Deputy Commandant for Operations (DCO) concurrence.
 - (a) Before requesting approval from DCMS and DCO, commands shall initiate and manage the process to obtain an approved agreement by DHS Office of Strategy, Policy, and Plans, Office of International Affairs and the Department of State (DOS) Chief of Mission using a Domestic Employees Telework Overseas (DETO) agreement.
 - (b) Commands must seek approval from DOS, through Commandant (CG-DCO-I), to have employees work in foreign locations through the National Security Decision Directive (NSDD) 38 process for assignments greater than one year. For assignments less than one year, commands will use the DOS country clearance process.
- (6) Commands must establish processes for including remote workers in their continuity of operations plans for emergencies, including potential evacuation authorities.
- (7) Commands reserve the right to revise remote work agreements, including the location of an employee's alternate worksite (in accordance with Paragraph 17.g. below), based on operational needs.

c. Supervisory Considerations.

- (1) Remote work agreements include an established work schedule, which may include compressed or flexible work schedules, as provided in Reference (f). Remote workers must perform work at the approved alternate worksite locations, in accordance with established work schedule policies and the remote work agreement. Supervisors should review work schedules periodically to ensure they are consistent with employee and organizational requirements.
- (2) Supervisors have the authority to require employees to report to their agency worksite if the supervisor deems the employee's presence is necessary, however the unit must fund any travel costs (local or TDY).
- (3) For purposes of temporary duty travel (TDY), required local travel, travel time as hours of work, etc., travel expenses and travel time are based on the employee's documented official worksite.

¹ Per Department of State Standardized Regulations, "foreign area" means any area situated outside the United States, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, and the possessions of the United States.

d. Employee Considerations.

- (1) Employees may be responsible for using a personal phone and phone number for work communications. Neither telework nor remote work arrangements require the agency to provide a work cell phone or phone number to employees.
- (2) For employees approved for remote work, supervisors must initiate a personnel action designating the alternate worksite as the official worksite, as required on Paragraph 10.e.3 below.
- (3) The alternate worksite listed in the Remote Work Agreement is the employee's official worksite. Employees are required to report to that worksite in accordance with their established work schedule in accordance with Reference (f), regardless of the employee's residence of record or where the employee resides. An employee who fails to report to work at the official worksite as scheduled without proper approval may be subject to discipline, up to and including removal from Federal service.
- (4) While conducting official government duties, employees must maintain an appropriate professional work environment (e.g., no loud background music or television, no inappropriate slogans or imagery displayed which contradict CG policy) while conducting virtual meetings at the alternate worksite. When conducting virtual meetings, employees working at the alternate worksite must maintain the same professional attire as would be required at the official Coast Guard worksite. Military members will wear the appropriate uniform as if they were physically present at the meeting.
- (5) Employees who receive overpayments of locality pay (e.g., through administrative error, noncompliance with this Instruction, etc.) are required to notify their servicing Commandant (CG-123) Office of Civilian Human Resources Operations office as soon as possible after recognizing the overpayment and are responsible for retaining and repaying any excess funds received.
- (6) An employee's locality and other compensation-based payments are effective on the date the remote agreements are signed.
- (7) Leave must be requested and used in accordance with normal procedures for situations requiring absence from work, such as medical appointments, home repairs, or other situations.
- (8) Employees working at an alternate worksite are subject to the same performance expectations as employees working from an agency worksite, or other remote work location.
- (9) Employees must comply with all DHS and Coast Guard policies, including, but not limited to, proper use of government computers, networks, and information technology equipment; data privacy policies; and records retention policies.

- (10) Employees who voluntarily request a change to the remote work agreement, including a personal request to change their residence of record or a change in official worksite, are not eligible for relocation expenses or relocation incentives.
- (11) Employees required to relocate in accordance with a management-directed reassignment will be entitled to relocation expenses or relocation incentives in accordance with the Federal Travel Regulations and Coast Guard policies. If employees are selected for a Coast Guard job opportunity announcement as remote workers, and the remote work requires relocation (e.g., OCONUS to CONUS), these actions are considered management directed. Relocation guidance for military members is provided in Paragraph 18.
- (12) Employees who work remotely are not entitled to additional compensation or reimbursements to cover internet service provider fees, office space, office furniture, or general office supplies. In the case of reasonable accommodation as outlined in Paragraph 17.o. below, assistive devices (ergonomic keyboards, chairs, screen reader, etc.) may be provided.
- (13) A remote work arrangement is not a substitute for ongoing dependent care but may facilitate dependent care during non-work hours. Employees are required to make other arrangements for dependent care in accordance with applicable work scheduling and leave policies.

15. PROGRAM ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES.

- a. Deputy/assistant commandants, unit commanders, commanding officers, officers-in-charge, and chiefs of Headquarters staff elements shall, for an approved remote work program within their AOR:
 - (1) Fund a Coast Guard-issued standard workstation laptop, and peripherals such as monitors, docking station, common access card reader, keyboard, mouse, headphones etc. as deemed necessary by the employee's supervisor and allowed for remote workers.
 - (2) Fund potential increase in temporary duty costs for remote workers. Travel reimbursements (temporary duty and local) are based on the employee's official worksite, as identified on their SF-50. Payment or reimbursement of internet, phone service, repair or replacing personal equipment used by the employee will not be provided.
 - (3) Determine the appropriate level of approval authority for individual remote work agreements.
 - (4) Submit summary participation data to Commandant (CG-122), via the appropriate chain-of command, upon request.

- b. Commandant (CG-122): CG-122 will provide remote work program oversight, policy guidance and advisory services. CG-122 will provide training resources to management and employees.
- c. Commandant (CG-123): CG-123, in conjunction with supervisors, will facilitate processing of personnel actions submitted via the FedHR system designating the remote work location as the official worksite, as required in References (b) through (e).
- d. Commandant (CG-124): CG-124 will provide advice, guidance, and assistance to supervisors involving labor obligations, employee relations matters, and performance management activities.
- e. Commandant (CG-133): CG-133 will provide remote work program oversight, policy guidance, training resources, and advisory services for military members.
- f. Unit commanders, commanding officers, officers-in-charge, deputy/assistant commandants, and chiefs of Headquarters staff elements: may establish, as necessary, unit remote work program instructions covering their respective staffs and units.
- g. Supervisors shall:
 - (1) Complete mandatory supervisory/manager telework and remote work training in accordance with Paragraph 17.f of this Instruction. Telework training must be retaken as a refresher of the requirements and general principles, before completing a remote work agreement.
 - (2) Review and, if approved, retain a copy of remote work agreements, consistent with the delegated authority in this Instruction. Supervisory decisions on remote work requests (approval or denial) must be provided to employees within 10 working days.
 - (3) Provide a copy of completed agreements upon request.
 - (4) Submit personnel actions via FedHR for civilian employees as required in Paragraph 12.d below and References (b) through (e).
 - (5) Review remote work agreements annually at the beginning of the fiscal year (1 October) or more frequently when there is a change in supervisor, work schedule, or other impacting circumstances.
 - (6) Discuss with remote workers the assignments/tasks to be accomplished under their remote work arrangements.
 - (7) Ensure the remote work requirements provided in this Instruction and enclosures are followed. Ensure remote workers and non-remote workers are treated the same, including without limitation, for purposes of performance management, awards and recognition, training and development opportunities, promotions, work requirements, and other acts of managerial discretion.

- (8) Be accessible and responsive during the workday.
- (9) Ensure civilian employees record remote work in webTA or other appropriate electronic timekeeping system.
- (10) Address any civilian employee conduct, performance management or employee/labor relations matters in consultation with Commandant (CG-124) Office of Civilian Workforce Relations staff as needed.

h. Employees shall:

- (1) Complete mandatory employee telework and remote work training. Telework training must be retaken as a refresher of the requirements and general principles, before completing a remote work agreement.
- (2) Submit their remote work request using Remote Work Agreement (CG Form 12630), Remote Work Agreement - Supervisor Checklist (CG Form 12630C), and the Telework or Remote Work Self-Certification Safety and Security Checklist (CG Form 12630D).
- (3) If approved, adhere to all requirements in the signed remote agreement.
- (4) Provide and pay for home high-speed internet access, phone service, office supplies, and any equipment not provided by the Coast Guard that the employee may need for work at the alternate worksite.
- (5) Record remote work in webTA or other appropriate electronic timekeeping system.
- (6) Communicate temporary/permanent changes to signed remote work agreement, including request to change official worksite.
- (7) Communicate work schedules.
- (8) Be accessible and responsive during the workday.
- (9) Communicate IT problems or other impediments to accomplishing work.

16. PROGRAM TERMINATION. Any individual or organization's ability to participate in a remote work agreement may be terminated by the immediate supervisor, seniors in the chain-of-command, or by Commandant (DCMS), in accordance with any applicable labor-management obligations, if determined the agreements:

- a. Do not support mission needs;
- b. Are counter to public service requirements;
- c. Threaten the security of Coast Guard data, information, or equipment;
- d. Are likely to increase long-term costs;

- e. Are not being adhered to by the employee (i.e. misconduct or performance-related issues); or
- f. Create other adverse work-related situations

17. GENERAL PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS.

- a. Remote Work. Remote work occurs when all of an employee's work is performed remotely at an alternate worksite, within or outside the local commuting area, and the employee is not expected to report to the Coast Guard worksite on a regular and recurring basis. The alternate worksite is considered the employee's official worksite. Employees will receive locality pay based on their alternate worksite. Command leadership, or their designees, are delegated the authority to approve local and long-distance remote work agreements in accordance with this Instruction.
- b. Temporary Remote Work. May be a short-term (up to one year) solution for an employee with a significant need to work within or outside of the geographic area of the agency worksite. These requests will be considered on a case-by-case basis, and employees must meet the eligibility requirements.
- c. Remote Work Eligibility. Supervisors identify positions as eligible for remote work, considering the characteristics below, and review for approval requests by employees to participate. Unless specified as a condition of employment, ongoing participation in remote work is not automatic, and supervisors can decide to change, modify, or terminate participation as discussed in Paragraph 15 of this Instruction. Not all positions or employees are eligible to participate in remote work. Employees must self-identify their interest in remote work and prepare a "business case" to support their requests. The requests must address the following areas: the duties of the work can be performed in a remote environment, ability to work with minimal supervision, past and current performance and productivity, organizational and communications skills, and ability to successfully accomplish work remotely.
 - (1) Appropriate Positions. Positions eligible for remote work contain the following characteristics:
 - (a) Portable work activities that can be performed effectively away from the agency worksite.
 - (b) Quantifiable or project-oriented assignments or job tasks.
 - (c) Unclassified work for which data security, including sensitive, non-classified and Privacy Act concerns, is adequate (work involving classified data or information shall take place only in a government office where adequate controls exist to protect the data).
 - (d) Technology required for off-site work is available.

- (2) Appropriate Participant. Supervisors must consider the following employee characteristics prior to approval of an individual's remote work agreement:
- (a) A "Meets" or "Achieved Expectations" or higher summary rating for current and the previous year's performance appraisals, when applicable (i.e., not applicable for new hires).
 - (b) Military members do not have marks below a four (4) or an unsatisfactory conduct mark in the last three years.
 - (c) The employee or military member's agreement to comply with remote work requirements.
 - (d) Demonstrates the knowledge, skills and ability to successfully work remotely.
- (3) Positions Ineligible for Remote Work. Employees whose positions require the following on a daily basis are ineligible for remote work:
- (a) Direct handling of classified information, or
 - (b) Performance of onsite activities that cannot be accomplished remotely or at an alternate worksite.
- (4) Not Eligible Under Any Circumstances. Employees and military members may not participate in remote work if any of the following apply:
- (a) Formally disciplined for being absent without leave (AWOL) for more than five (5) working days in any calendar year;
 - (b) Formally disciplined for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties or any other inappropriate use of government property;
 - (c) Have an unacceptable decline in performance during the rating period, or
 - (d) Have an unacceptable decline in conduct.
- d. Denial or Termination of Remote Work Agreements and Appeals. Remote work agreements can be terminated by either management or by the employee.
- (1) Management Initiated. When civilian employees' remote work requests are denied or terminated by management, supervisors will provide a written justification supporting the denial or termination. The reason(s) provided for the denial or termination of remote work should be based on participation criteria business-case, or operational needs. If an employee appeals the denial or termination, they may use the applicable administrative grievance/appeals procedure in accordance with Reference (h). Denial or termination of remote work agreements for civilian employees must be reported to Commandant (CG-122) and identify the reason(s) for the denial or termination.

Positions deemed ineligible for remote work may be eligible for telework in accordance with Reference (d).

Employee Initiated. An employee may request to terminate a remote work agreement by providing a written notice to their supervisor. Supervisors will consider the request on a case-by-case basis. An approved termination request would require a return to the USCG worksite within 60 calendar days for long-distance remote work arrangements or 14 calendar days for local remote work arrangements. The employee should coordinate the details of their return to the USCG worksite with their supervisor. A remote work agreement will be terminated immediately upon the employee's transfer to a new position within USCG or reassignment to a similar position in a different office, division, or work group within USCG. A new agreement may be established with the new supervisor.

- e. Official worksite. The official worksite generally is the location where the employee regularly performs their duties and is documented as the employee's duty station on the employee's Notification of Personnel Action (SF-50). Certain location-based pay entitlements (such as locality payments, special rate supplements, and non-foreign area cost-of-living allowances) are based on the location of the employee's official worksite associated with the employee's position of record. Under a remote work arrangement, employees who are not scheduled to report on a regular and recurring basis to the agency worksite will require a documented change in official worksite to the alternate worksite, generally the employee's residence. Depending on the location, this change may impact the employee's pay and the Command's budget—positively or negatively. The change in official worksite thus may be a significant consideration when deciding to approve or deny a remote work arrangement.
- f. Training. Supervisors and employees must complete mandatory telework training before entering into a remote work agreement. Mandatory training is available on the CG Portal Learning Management System (LMS). Additional remote work job aids, training, or both will be required as they become available.
- g. Remote Work Agreements. Participation in remote work requires a formal agreement signed by the employee and supervisor, which specifies the employee's work schedule, official duty station, and official worksite. Employees may not change the terms of their remote work agreements without supervisory approval. Employees may request to terminate their remote work agreement. At a minimum, remote work agreements must be reviewed annually, at the beginning of the fiscal year (1 October). Any change in the terms of a remote work arrangement must first be documented with a new agreement before the terms may take effect. The Remote Work Agreement (CG-12630), must be completed, along with the Remote Work Agreement Supervisor Checklist (CG-12630C) and the Telework or Remote Work Self-Certification Safety and Security Checklist (CG-12630D).
- h. Time and Attendance. Supervisors and employees must correctly report time and attendance documenting remote work schedules and absences in webTA or other appropriate electronic timekeeping system. Supervisors may establish contact, determine reasonableness of work output for the time expended, or use other appropriate certification methods when carrying out time and attendance monitoring.

- i. Performance Management and Conduct. Supervisors are responsible for managing, overseeing and evaluating an employee's performance and conduct. This includes:
 - (1) Facilitate ongoing coaching and feedback conversations, as appropriate, with the employee to discuss progress towards established goals, areas where the employee is performing well, and areas in need of improvement,
 - (2) Provide the employee with immediate counseling, consistent with on-site practices, if the employee's performance level declines,
 - (3) Engage the employee, when a decline in performance or conduct is observed, to begin improvement. Examples of a decline in performance include placement on a performance improvement plan, leave letter of restriction or reprimand, or greater disciplinary action, within the last year. If additional efforts to improve performance or conduct are unsuccessful, supervisors are encouraged to collaborate with Commandant (CG-124) for other performance or conduct improvement strategies,
 - (4) Document all efforts if an employee's performance declines below the "Achieved Expectations" level; and
 - (5) Adjust the employee's schedule as necessary to meet mission requirements in compliance with scheduling guidelines.
- j. Office Closures. Remote employees are expected to work during any regional Federal office closures, delayed arrivals, and early dismissals resulting from emergencies, severe weather, natural disasters or other incidents impacting operations. Remote employees must notify their supervisor when emergencies occur that affect their worksite and request leave, excused absence, worksite relocation, or other worksite adjustments. Employees are expected to work when their agency worksite is closed due to emergencies, severe weather, or natural disasters if their alternate worksite is not affected. For further information, please see OPM's Governmentwide Government wide Dismissal and Closure Procedures.
- k. Standards of Conduct. Remote workers must comply with the Coast Guard standards of conduct, in accordance with Reference (h), and other applicable rules of behavior. Employees should remember that workplace policies and performance expectations are the same regardless of the employee's work location.
- l. Travel. Supervisors must be aware of the costs associated with remote work agreements. Travel reimbursements are based on the employee's official worksite, as identified on their SF-50 Notification of Personnel Action. The Coast Guard will pay all approved local travel/TDY travel costs in accordance with the travel policy specified in Coast Guard travel policy or other Coast Guard financial policy guidance. An employee who is required (or officially authorized) to travel to the agency worksite will be compensated for time in a travel status, which includes:

- (1) Time spent traveling between the official worksite and a temporary duty station,
 - (2) Time spent traveling between two temporary duty stations, and
 - (3) The “usual waiting time” preceding or interrupting such travel (e.g., waiting at an airport or train station prior to departure).
- m. Relocation. Relocation to an official worksite that occurs at the employee’s request or is the result of an employee-initiated action may be at the employee’s expense. If the Coast Guard directs an employee who works remotely to change their official worksite, the change may be at the Coast Guard’s expense. Supervisors will adjudicate each circumstance on a case-by-case basis. Supervisors should contact the servicing Commandant (CG-123) Human Resources Specialist for relocation information and to ensure regulatory compliance.
- n. Labor Management Considerations. Before implementation of a remote work agreement, supervisors of civilian employees must contact their servicing Office of Civilian Workforce Relations, Commandant (CG-124) Labor Relations Specialist to discuss labor-management obligations. Changing an employee’s status to or from a remote worker could affect their bargaining unit coverage. It is important to consult Commandant (CG-124) labor relations staff and review the certification of recognition for appropriate coverage of an employee who is approved for remote work.
- o. Remote Work as a Reasonable Accommodation. Remote work may be used as a reasonable accommodation for a current employee or for a new hire with a permanent mobility issue or other relevant disability. Supervisors should consult with the Office of Civil Rights, Commandant (CG-00H), and/or the Office of General Law, Commandant (CG-0944) as part of the interactive process established by the Rehabilitation Act. Remote work as a method of reasonable accommodation must be identified in the written Remote Work Agreement and conducted in accordance with Reference (l).

18. MILITARY PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS.

- a. Program Administration. Military members and commands must comply with all requirements contained within this paragraph when submitting or reviewing requests for remote work for military members.
- (1) Official Worksite. For military members, the official worksite is their permanent duty station (PDS), regardless of an approved remote work agreement.
 - (2) Alternate Worksite. Military members may request an alternate worksite outside of the reasonable commuting distance of their PDS. However, their alternate worksite must be within a four-hour driving distance of their PDS (or alternate PDS, if applicable) to facilitate timely recall, standing duty, reporting for random drug testing, semi-annual body composition screening, etc.
 - (3) Alternate PDS. Military members in receipt of permanent change of station (PCS) orders may request that their PDS be changed from the regular PDS, for the position to which ordered, to an alternate PDS to facilitate geographic stability or relocation to their desired geographic area. The alternate PDS must be either their current PDS or a Coast Guard command with a staffed Personnel and Administration Office (P&A) (i.e., District, Sector, AIRSTA, Base, or TRACEN). When a member desires to relocate to a geographic area that has multiple eligible commands (with a P&A) within a four-hour driving distance, the member must request the closest accepting command for their alternate PDS. For example, a member desiring to relocate to Hartford, CT must request CG Academy, New London, CT as their alternate PDS (as the closest), even though Base Boston, Sector New York, and Sector Delaware Bay are within a four-hour driving distance.

- (4) Routing and Approval of Requests. Military members must route their remote work request through their chain of command to the first Flag Officer or SES for approval and copied to CG-81. Members requesting remote work in conjunction with PCS orders must route their requests through their current command and their new command, to the first Flag Officer or SES for the new command and copied to CG-81. Remote work requests involving an alternate PDS must also be routed through and receive approval from the alternate PDS.
 - (5) Termination of Approved Remote Work Agreements. All requests to terminate an approved remote work agreement, whether command or member initiated, must be routed through the chain of command to the first Flag Officer or SES for approval.
- b. Eligibility. Military members must be on Active Duty, including Reservists on Extended Active Duty Orders (EAD) or Active Duty for Operational Support (ADOS). Reservists may not participate in the Remote Work Program while in an inactive status. Reservists in an inactive status may participate in the Coast Guard Telework Program in accordance with paragraph 7.f.(2) of ref (d). Authorized members:
- (1) May submit a request to remote work for their current position, at an alternate worksite, as defined in this paragraph, near their current PDS.
 - (a) Military members who choose to relocate their residence in conjunction with such an approved remote work agreement do so as a personal choice and at personal expense.
 - (2) Who are in receipt of PCS orders may submit a request to remote work, for the position to which ordered, at an alternate worksite, as defined in this paragraph:
 - (a) Near the new PDS; or
 - (b) Near an alternate PDS.
- c. Entitlements. Military pay and allowances will remain based on the member's PDS, regardless of the alternate worksite location, unless otherwise authorized in accordance with Coast Guard Pay Manual, COMDTINST M7220.29 (series). For approved remote work requests in conjunction with a PCS, travel and transportation entitlements remain based on actual travel performed and the PDS to which ordered.

- d. Military members requesting remote work must utilize the checklist located at: <https://uscg.sharepoint-mil.us/sites/cg13/CG%20133/SitePages/Home.aspx>.
- e. Any exceptions to the above requirements must be routed through the chain of command for approval by CG-13.

19. INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY SUPPORT. The Coast Guard has no obligation or requirement to provide telecommunications resources (e.g., mobile wireless hotspot devices) to support voluntary remote work. Except as described in Paragraph 20.a. below, the decision to provide or fund remote work resources resides with each individual command. With supervisory approval, local units may reimburse telephone and telecommunications costs, including official long-distance calls, based on statutory authority and availability of sponsoring unit funds in accordance with Pub. L. 104-52, title VI, Sec. 620. Remote workers should submit Optional Form 1164, Claim for Reimbursement for Expenditures on Official Business, through the appropriate channels, to request reimbursements. The Coast Guard will not pay for any residential internet service provider or online services to support remote work arrangements.

a. Coast Guard Furnished Equipment.

- (1) Remote workers issued Coast Guard furnished equipment (GFE) for remote work will be held liable for any damage, repairs, or replacement costs, due to neglect, misuse, or inappropriate use of government property. Non-government personnel are prohibited from using GFE.
- (2) All Coast Guard furnished information technology (IT) resources, including hardware, software, repair, and replacement costs, will be supported through the normal IT support organizations. To receive the necessary support, remote workers should contact the Centralized Service Desk through CGFIXIT service.

b. Personally Owned Equipment.

- (1) The use of personally owned computers is permissible.
- (2) When working remotely from the home or any non-Coast Guard worksite, the Coast Guard is not responsible for the expense to repair, restore, or replace any personal computers, personal IT equipment or services, personal peripherals, or personal media/data files used for remote work. Local network connectivity issues associated with the internet service providers are the responsibility of the users and not the Coast Guard.
- (3) Storage of Coast Guard information is not allowed on personal computers based on Reference (f).

- (4) Use of employees' personal cell phones is permissible; however, the Coast Guard is not liable to pay expenses related to repair, replacement, and service.
- (5) Employees waive the expectation of privacy when conducting official duties while using personally owned equipment, including the misconduct provisions of Paragraph 12.c.(4)(b) above.

20. SECURITY REQUIREMENTS. Remote work and access to Coast Guard computers or networks from alternate worksites, creates security risks for the U.S. Coast Guard's information systems hardware and software infrastructure. Remote workers shall observe proper Information Security (INFOSEC), Operations Security (OPSEC), and Communications Security (COMSEC) practices in accordance with Reference (i) while working remotely.

- a. Classified information, in either hard copy or electronic form, is not authorized for access, processing, or storage when an alternate worksite is an employee's residence. Remote workers shall report alternate worksite access to classified material, whether accidental or not, to the appropriate security officers, who will declassify personal computing resources in accordance with Reference (i). Information and records processed are subject to the maintenance and disposition requirements contained in Reference (j) and the Privacy Act of 1974, 5 U.S.C. Section 552a to reduce risks to Coast Guard computers, data, and telecommunications networks.
- b. Remote workers may access and view electronic For Official Use Only (FOUO) information from alternate worksites. Processing, storing, or printing hard copy FOUO information from alternate worksites is strictly prohibited.
- c. All IT resources, whether government furnished or personally owned, while being used in an official government capacity when working remotely must comply with Reference (f).

21. FACILITIES SUPPORT. Remote workers who are routinely away from their agency worksites are candidates for sharing offices/workspaces. The planning factors and standards are outlined in Reference (k).

22. FORMS. The forms referenced in this Instruction are available on the Coast Guard Standard Workstation or on the Internet: www.dcms.uscg.mil/Our-Organization/Assistant-Commandant-for-C4IT-CG-6/The-Office-of-Information-Management-CG-61/Forms-Management/.

23. REPORTS. Reports referenced in this Instruction may be requested from the Office of Civilian Workforce Management, Commandant (CG-122).

24. SECTION 508. This Instruction adheres to Accessibility Guidelines and Standards as promulgated by the U.S. Access Board. If changes are needed, please communicate with the Coast Guard Section 508 Program Management Office at: Section.508@uscg.mil.

25. REQUEST FOR CHANGES. Units and individuals may formally recommend changes through the chain of command using the Coast Guard Memorandum. Comments and suggestions from users of this Instruction are welcomed. All such correspondence may be emailed to Commandant (CG-122) at HQS-DG-1st-CG-122@uscg.mil.

/BRIAN K. PENOYER/
Rear Admiral, U.S. Coast Guard
Assistant Commandant for Human Resources

MANAGEMENT DIRECTIVE

TELEWORK PROGRAM

Effective Date: April 22, 2022

Management Directive No. 123-001.2

I. Purpose

This Management Directive establishes policy and procedural requirements that govern the Telework Program in U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS). The Program promotes a policy under which eligible USCIS employees may participate in telecommuting to the maximum extent possible without diminished employee performance or mission accomplishment. Telework, if used productively and efficiently, can serve as an important workplace flexibility that enables agencies to meet mission-critical and operational needs of the organization. Telework can also help USCIS workers balance work and personal responsibilities and make use of beneficial work environments, thereby enhancing employee satisfaction and well-being, aiding retention, and serving as a recruitment tool.

II. Scope

Unless specifically exempted herein, this directive applies to and binds all USCIS employees, except those excluded by law or Executive order from coverage under the Department of Transportation and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2001, and those employees deemed ineligible by their supervisors and managers to participate in the Telework Program.

III. Authority and Supersession Information

- A. The following laws, regulations, orders, policies, directives, and guidance authorize and govern this directive:
 1. Telework Enhancement Act of 2010;
 2. Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2005;
 3. Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2004;
 4. Department of Transportation and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2001;
 5. Section 630 of the 1999 Omnibus Consolidated and Emergency Supplemental Appropriations Act;
 6. Treasury, Postal Service, and General Government Appropriations Act, 1996;
 7. Federal Tort Claims Act, as amended;
 8. 5 U.S.C. 6502(a), "Executive Agencies Telework Requirement: Telework Eligibility";
 9. 5 U.S.C. 6502(b)(2), "Executive Agencies Telework Requirement: Participation";
 10. 5 U.S.C. 6504(a), "Policy and Support: Agency Consultation with the Office of Personnel Management";
 11. 5 U.S.C. § 552a, "Administrative Procedure: Records maintained on individuals";

12. 5 U.S.C. § 7102, “Labor-Management Relations: Employees’ rights”;
13. 5 U.S.C. § 7106, “Labor-Management Relations: Management rights”;
14. 5 U.S.C. Chapter 81, “Compensation for Work Injuries”;
15. 5 CFR 531, “Pay Under the General Schedule”;
16. 5 CFR 610, “Hours of Duty”;
17. Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973;
18. Office of Personnel Management (OPM) Guide to Processing Personnel Actions;
19. OPM Memorandum, “Establishing Telecommuting Policies,” February 9, 2001;
20. OPM Handbook “Washington, DC Area Dismissal or Closure Procedures”;
21. National Archives and Records Administration;
22. Government Accountability Office (GAO) Guidance GAO-03-352G, “Maintaining Effective Control over Employee Time and Attendance Reporting”;
23. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Federal Continuity Directive 1 (FCD 1), “Federal Executive Branch National Continuity Program and Requirements”;
24. DHS Delegation 0160.1, “Delegation to Department of Homeland Security Organizational Elements”;
25. DHS Directive 123-05, “Telework Directive”;
26. DHS Directive 254-04, “Alternative Work Schedules;”
27. DHS Directive 140-01, “Information Technology Systems Security”;
28. DHS Sensitive Systems Policy Directive 4300A;
29. DHS National Security Systems Policy Directive 4300B;
30. DHS Directive 4600.1, “Personal Use of Government Office Equipment”;
31. DHS Directive 4900, “Individual Use and Operation of DHS Information Systems/Computers”;
32. DHS Directive 9300.1, “Continuity of Operations Programs and Continuity of Government Functions”;
33. DHS Directive 0480.1, “Ethics/Standards of Conduct”;
34. DHS Directive 11042.1, “Safeguarding Sensitive but Unclassified (For Official Use Only) Information”;
35. DHS Directive 11056.1, “Sensitive Security Information (SSI)”;
36. DHS Directive 11010.1, “Issuance and Control of Credentials”;
37. DHS Action Memorandum, “Review of Safeguarding Policies and Procedures for Personnel-Related Data,” June 13, 2007;
38. USCIS Management Directive No. 256-006, “Disability Accommodations for Employees and Job Applicants”; and
39. USCIS Management Directive ADM-5350, “Accountability of Sensitive Personal Property.”

- B. This directive supersedes all prior local, regional, or other USCIS telework directives within USCIS. The applicable Continuity of Operations Plan (COOP), in compliance with the Federal Continuity Directive 1, will supersede this directive to the extent that this directive and the Federal Continuity Directive are inconsistent with one another.

IV. Definitions

- A. Alternative Worksite: A place other than the USCIS worksite where an employee can perform official work; it is generally an employee’s approved telework site, typically an employee’s residence.

- B. Alternative Worksite Inspection: An examination of the alternative worksite by a designated USCIS representative during normal business hours to ensure proper maintenance and storage of Government-furnished equipment (GFE), proper safeguards for data security are in use, and other specifications as provided in this directive. An alternative worksite inspection primarily ensures that the worksite meets acceptable safety standards.
- C. Approving Official: Agency representative authorized to approve the function, or portion thereof, of a position suitable for telework and other responsibilities as outlined in section VI.G below, to include the USCIS Director, Deputy Director, and Chief of Staff; the Associate Directors of the directorates; the Chiefs of the program offices; or their designees.
- D. Continuity of Operations Planning (COOP): An effort to ensure continuation of essential Government functions across a wide range of emergencies and events, including acts of nature, accidents, and technological or attack-related emergencies.
- E. Directorate/Program Office: An organization headed by a Senior Executive Service member, GS-15, or equivalent, who reports directly to the USCIS Director, Deputy Director, or Chief of Staff.
- F. Eligibility Criteria—Employee Related: Criteria, as specified in section II of Appendix A, that an employee must meet to participate in a telework arrangement.
- G. Eligibility Criteria—Position Related: Criteria, as specified in section I of Appendix A, to be used in determining whether functions, tasks, and duties of a specific position are suitable for telework.
- H. Eligible Employee: An employee in a position with tasks identified by the employee's supervisor, and the approving official, where required, as being suitable for telework. Employees must meet the program eligibility requirements provided in section II of Appendix A.
- I. Official Worksite: The USCIS worksite or an alternative worksite for most employees, including teleworkers.
- J. Pandemic: A global disease outbreak.
- K. Reasonable Accommodation: Any change in the workplace or the way things are customarily done that provides an equal employment opportunity to an individual with a disability, including: (i) modifications or adjustments to a job application process that enable a qualified applicant with a disability to be considered for the position such qualified applicant desires; (ii) modifications or adjustments to the work environment, or to the manner or circumstances under which the position held or desired is customarily performed, that enable an individual with a disability who is qualified to perform the essential functions of that position; or (iii) modifications or adjustments that enable a covered entity's employee with a disability to enjoy equal benefits and privileges of employment as are enjoyed by its other similarly situated employees without disabilities.
- L. Telework: A work flexibility arrangement under which an employee performs their duties and responsibilities and other authorized activities from an approved worksite other than the location from which the employee would otherwise work. The employee is required to report to their official worksite at least twice each pay period

- M. Telework-Ready Employee: An eligible employee who voluntarily participates in an agency telework program, has taken the required training, has an approved telework agreement, and has the required work necessities (for example, computer or other equipment) to effectively perform duties at an alternative worksite, including on a routine or situational basis.
- N. Telework Agreement: A written agreement, completed and signed by the participating employee and authorized official(s) in the employee’s organization, that outlines the terms and conditions of the telework arrangement.
- O. Teleworker: An employee (that is permanent, temporary, full-time, or part-time) who works at an alternative worksite (for example, residence or other approved worksite).
- P. USCIS Worksite: The workplace that is documented on the employee’s SF-50, Notification of Personnel Action, and the primary place of the employee’s organization where an employee would usually report for a workday if the employee did not have a telework agreement.

V. Policy, Procedures and Requirements

A. Policy

1. Telework may be classified as “ routine” or “core” or “episodic” or “situational,” as described below.
 - a. Routine or Core Telework: The employee teleworks as part of an ongoing regular schedule on a routine, regular, and recurring basis each biweekly pay period. Employees can conduct core telework on a full- or part-time basis.
 - b. Episodic or Situational Telework: The employee teleworks on an occasional, irregular basis. An authorization to perform situational or episodic telework does not negate compliance with all telework application procedures, including executing an agreement before teleworking. Under extenuating circumstances, such agreements can be arranged in a reasonable time after telecommuting begins.
2. Routine or episodic telework for COOP and emergency response purposes will be done according to applicable procedures; however, whenever the agency is operating under a COOP, the COOP supersedes USCIS’ telework policy.
3. Any employee who asks to telework (regardless of which type) must first successfully complete an interactive telework training program provided by the agency and must enter into a written agreement with their supervisor.
4. Supervisors of teleworking employees must also complete telework training before entering into a telework agreement. The completion of training is intended to ensure both teleworkers and supervisors of teleworkers are familiar with relevant policies and appropriate practices associated with telework.
5. Telework will be made available to the maximum extent possible without negatively affecting employee performance, operational needs, or mission accomplishment. An employee covered by a telework agreement must work at the USCIS worksite at least 2 days during each biweekly pay period.
6. When completing the request for telework, the employee will select either a standard work schedule of 40 hours, 8 hours a day or an alternate work schedule. If choosing the standard (default) work schedule, the employee will indicate 8 hours for each day of the 2-week schedule. If an alternate work schedule is selected, the employee will indicate the hours for - each day they will be working either at the agency facility or the alternate work site.

7. Telework agreements are binding as both the employee and supervisor certify and attest to understanding and adhering to the conditions of the agreement.
 8. Telework is used as a tool to ensure the continuation of USCIS mission essential functions across a wide range of hazard emergencies. During a pandemic, USCIS may use telework as a means to slow the spread of disease by keeping face-to-face contact to a minimum.
 9. Participation in a telework arrangement is not an employee entitlement or right.
 10. Employee participation in the Telework Program is voluntary.
 11. Participation in a telework arrangement must include a written approved telework agreement between the supervisor/manager and the employee.
 12. Telework is not a substitute for dependent care of children or other family members. Employees may not telework with the intent of or for the sole purpose of meeting their dependent care responsibilities while performing official duties. Teleworkers are expected to arrange for dependent care just as they would if they were working in the office.
 13. Although telework is not a substitute for dependent care, it can be a valuable flexibility to employees with caregiving responsibilities by eliminating time required to commute and expanding employees' options in arranging dependent care, such as taking leave, or requesting a maxi flex schedule or other workplace or work schedule flexibility.
 14. USCIS employees are bound by DHS and USCIS standards of conduct and policies while working at the alternative worksite and/or using GFE. Unless otherwise specifically addressed herein, all conditions of Federal employment, performance of assigned duties, adherence to applicable policies, participation in required training, and satisfaction of standards of conduct apply in full measure. Alleged or apparent breaches thereof may subject an employee to formal management review (to include investigation) and appropriate disciplinary procedures.
 15. Teleworkers are subject to ensuring that records subject to the Privacy Act of 1974 (the "Privacy Act"), codified in 5 U.S.C. § 552a, and sensitive data are not disclosed to anyone except those who are authorized access to such information and have a need-to-know in order to perform their duties. Organizations allowing employees access to records subject to the Privacy Act from a remote worksite must require that the employee demonstrates that appropriate administrative, technical, and physical safeguards are available to ensure the security and confidentiality of the records.
 16. Employees may not remove classified data from USCIS worksites to their alternative worksites.
 17. The organization must document an employee's official worksite on the SF-50 or equivalent document according to the OPM Guide to Processing Personnel Actions and 5 CFR 531.605\(a\).
 18. Employees with a disability who are not eligible or approved for telework under the Telework Program may be eligible to telework as a form of reasonable accommodation under USCIS Management Directive 256-006.
 19. Employees must meet additional criteria specified in local supplementing policies, where applicable.

B. Procedures: See Appendix A.

C. Requirements:

1. Reports and Records: In addition to the program requirements specified in Appendix A, the following reports and records are required for the Telework Program.
 - a. The Chief, Employee Programs and WorkLife Services Division, must prepare, maintain, and report any telework data necessary for the Telework Program to DHS, Chief, Human Capital Officer, annually or as required. Such records will be retained in accordance with the National Archives and Records Administration General Records Schedules or until the records are no longer needed, whichever is later.

- b. The USCIS Telework Program Manager must obtain, consolidate, and prepare any telework data necessary for the Telework Program from the local Telework Coordinators annually or as required. Such records will be retained in accordance with the National Archives and Records Administration General Records Schedules, or until the records are no longer needed, whichever is later.
 - c. Local Telework Coordinators must obtain, consolidate, and prepare any telework data for reporting to the USCIS Telework Program Manager annually or as required. Reports are subject to supervisory review and approval. Such records will be retained in accordance with the National Archives and Records Administration General Records Schedules, or until the records are no longer needed, whichever is later.
 - d. Supervisors and managers will maintain telework-related data and records (requests; participant data; productivity data) and report to the local Telework Coordinator, the USCIS Telework Program Manager, and the Chief, Employee Programs and WorkLife Services Division, as applicable annually, or as required. Approved telework requests, telework agreements, records relating to the safety of the worksite, the installation and use of equipment, hardware and software, and the use of data subject to the Privacy Act will be retained in accordance with the National Archives and Records Administration General Records Schedules. Unapproved telework requests will be retained in accordance with the National Archives and Records Administration General Records Schedules.
2. Implementation:
- a. This directive is effective immediately and applies to new telework arrangements and agreements made thereafter. Telework arrangements and agreements effected before this directive will expire at the 1-year anniversary of the arrangement or agreement. Directorates and program offices may establish policies, guidelines, and procedures to supplement this directive during which applicable collective bargaining provisions must be satisfied. Copies of all telework policies and procedures must be forwarded to the Employee Programs and WorkLife Services Division immediately upon issuance.
 - b. In organizations where employees are represented by a labor organization accorded exclusive recognition, management and labor organization pre-decisional consultation is encouraged; the parties must negotiate in good faith, as appropriate. Directorates and program offices should involve labor unions at the earliest stages of local planning and implementation. Nothing in this directive abrogates or overrides any collective bargaining agreements in effect on the date this directive is issued.

VI. Responsibilities

- A. The Director of USCIS is responsible for:
 1. Establishing USCIS policy under which eligible employees may telework;
 2. Exercising full authority, accountability, and responsibility for the Telework Program under the authority vested in the Director, USCIS by DHS Delegation 0160.1 and DHS Directive 123-05;
 3. Re-delegating authority, accountability, and responsibility for the Telework Program to the Chief, Office of Human Capital and Training, as indicated in paragraph VI(B) of this directive; and
 4. Notifying all employees of their eligibility to telework during COOP activation.

- B. The Chief, Office of Human Capital and Training, or designee, is responsible for:
1. Leading the agency in creating a vision of telework as a strategic management tool that supports and aligns with the agency's operational needs and mission;
 2. Providing key stakeholders a clear understanding of the purpose for implementing a telework program and the benefits to the organization;
 3. Ensuring compliance with the Telework Enhancement Act of 2010;
 4. Developing specific guidelines on telework necessary to implement the DHS policy in USCIS (guidelines must include a requirement for a written agreement between the supervisor or manager and the employee);
 5. Consulting with OPM and DHS as needed for policy guidance in various areas such as performance management, pay and leave, recruitment, and retention;
 6. Providing oversight of the administration of the Telework Program; and
 7. Incorporating telework into COOP, with the understanding that, during an actual COOP event, the COOP plan will supersede telework policy (5 U.S.C. 6504\(d\)).
- C. The Chief, Employee Programs and WorkLife Services Division, or designee, is responsible for:
1. Administering the Telework Program per applicable laws, rules and regulations, including the Department of Transportation and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2001, §359, DHS Directive 123-05 and any relevant DHS and USCIS regulations and guidelines. The organization must establish security controls and address them through a telework agreement that outlines the terms and conditions of the telework arrangement;
 2. Providing an interactive telework training program to eligible employees and their managers and require that employees successfully complete the program before entering into a telework agreement;
 3. Providing and interpreting appropriate USCIS regulations, policies, and standards for a telework program;
 4. Providing USCIS officials, supervisors, and managers with advice, technical assistance, and consultative services for teleworking issues;
 5. Preparing, maintaining, and reporting any telework data necessary for the Telework Program to the DHS Chief Human Capital Officer annually or as required; and
 6. Designating a USCIS Telework Program Manager to administer and oversee implementation of the Telework Program in USCIS.
- D. The Chief, Office of Information Technology (OIT), or designee, is responsible for:
1. Issuing and maintaining policies and minimum implementation standards for remote access security, which includes access to information technology (IT) systems required for networks. These policies and minimum implementation standards outline responsibilities of teleworkers to enable an effective working environment for the teleworker and the protection of USCIS systems from undue risk;
 2. Assisting directorates and program offices with the purchase of Government IT equipment, including, but not limited to, notebook or desktop computers, printers, and scanners;
 3. Providing installation, configuration, and repair services for Government IT equipment to the directorates and program offices to ensure effective and secure operations at the alternative worksite—such services will be performed at the USCIS worksite only;
 4. Providing a means for remote users to update equipment to remain aligned with USCIS images;
 5. Providing a means to recover equipment for periodic replacement and reassignment;
 6. Validating a user in the Identity Management System;
 7. Providing a mechanism for adhering to authentication rules;
 8. Validating a user's completion of Information Technology Security Awareness Training; and

9. Providing sufficient security to protect digital and physical USCIS assets.
- E. The USCIS Telework Program Manager as designated by the Chief, Employee Programs and WorkLife Services Division is responsible for:
1. Managing the Telework Program consistent with applicable laws and regulations, and USCIS issuances;
 2. Establishing and administering the USCIS telework training program;
 3. Providing USCIS officials, supervisors, and managers with advice, technical assistance, and consultative services for teleworking issues;
 4. Coordinating USCIS-wide communications and outreach efforts;
 5. Acting as consultant to the local Telework Coordinators; and
 6. Obtaining, consolidating, and preparing any telework data necessary for the Telework Program from the local Telework Coordinators annually or as required basis.
- F. Local Telework Coordinators, through the established chain of command, are responsible for:
1. Conducting the local telework training program;
 2. Acting as a focal point for all telework-related matters in each USCIS office (for example, headquarters office, service center, regional office, district office, asylum office) and coordinating with the USCIS Telework Program Manager; and
 3. Obtaining, consolidating, and preparing any telework data for reporting to the USCIS Telework Program Manager annually or as required—reports are subject to supervisory review and approval.
- G. Associate Director, Program Office Chief, or designee, is responsible for:
1. Managing telework in their organizations, including issuing local telework implementing procedures, day-to-day operations, and modifications to individual telework agreements to meet operational needs or changing circumstances;
 2. Consulting Labor and Employee Relations to implement and negotiate, if applicable, local telework procedures for their organization;
 3. Working to ensure that each eligible employee is authorized to telework during a COOP activation by each employee successfully completing an interactive telework training program before entering into and signing a telework agreement with their supervisor;
 4. Approving the identification of the function, or portion thereof, of a position suitable for telework;
 5. Serving as a higher-level authority for approving, disapproving, reviewing, modifying, or terminating employees' participation in the Telework Program;
 6. Reminding supervisors and managers to treat teleworkers and non-teleworkers the same for certain required purposes, including performance appraisals, training, and work requirements (5 U.S.C. 6503\(a\)\(3\));
 7. Issuing local policies necessary to implement this directive within their organizations;
 8. Evaluating the impact of the program on the efficiency and effectiveness of work operations within their organizations;
 9. Ensuring that all employees are briefed on the basics of the Telework Program; and
 10. Delegating in writing all or part of the responsibilities in this section to the lowest practical levels that best meet organizational or operational needs.
- H. Managers/Supervisors are responsible for:
1. Notifying employees of their eligibility to telework;
 2. Communicating expectations to both emergency and non-emergency employees regarding their roles and responsibilities;
 3. Approving, disapproving, modifying, or terminating employees' participation in

- the Telework Program;
4. Responding to an employee's request to participate in the Telework Program within 20 working days of receipt;
 5. Documenting approval, disapproval, termination decisions, and the reason for such decisions, to comply with management reporting requirements;
 6. Denying or revoking telework for employees handling secure materials inappropriately or whose work requires on-site activity (except in an emergency as determined by the head of the agency) (5 U.S.C. 6502\(b\)\(4\));
 7. Managing teleworkers effectively to maintain compliance with their telework agreements, as required by 5 U.S.C. 6503(a)(3), and taking appropriate steps to terminate the arrangement if non-compliance is not corrected;
 8. Requiring each eligible employee authorized to telework to enter a telework agreement as a pre-condition for the employee to participate in the Telework Program;
 9. Certifying that there are sufficient tasks that can be suitably performed at an alternative worksite—the amount of time an employee is authorized to work at an alternative worksite should be in direct correlation to the anticipated amount of work to be performed at the alternative worksite;
 10. Managing teleworkers effectively so that telework does not diminish employee performance or agency operations, in accordance with DHS/USCIS performance management guidelines;
 11. Contacting the USCIS Disability Accommodation Program Manager in the Office of Equal Opportunity and Inclusion in any and all situations where an employee requests telework because of a medical condition, even if the manager otherwise intends to grant the request under telework procedures;
 12. Conducting alternative worksite inspections, if required for the organization to which assigned;
 13. Maintaining and reporting telework-related data to the local Telework Coordinator, the USCIS Telework Program Manager and/or the Chief, Employee Programs and WorkLife Services Division, as applicable annually, or as required;
 14. Identifying positions or duties suitable to participate in telework and sharing this information with all employees;
 15. Adjusting individual telework arrangements to meet the needs of the organization they supervise;
 16. Ensuring teleworkers follow the required IT security practices outlined in DHS Directive 140-01, and related and derivative policies and procedures;
 17. Reporting all personally identifiable information security violations to the USCIS Command Center, and other appropriate parties, within 1 hour of discovery of the incident;
 18. Coordinating with OIT, procuring the IT tools necessary for teleworkers to continue their productivity at the alternative worksite—the IT equipment, software, and system access provided for at the alternative worksite should be similar to those provided at the USCIS worksite, when possible;
 19. Increasing and promoting alternative worksite safety and health awareness to provide a safe work environment, free of hazards;
 20. Complying with the Federal Employees' Compensation Act, as applicable, when an employee who is directly engaged in performing the duties of their job is injured at the alternative worksite;
 21. Identifying teleworkers who are designated “emergency” and/or “mission critical” employees and ensure that designation appears in their telework agreements;
 22. Completing all required USCIS training related to telework, including Information Technology Security Awareness Training and telework training courses for managers at telework.gov;

23. Ensuring that all potential participants complete telework training before participating in the program;
 24. Participating in required telework surveys;
 25. Designating local Telework Coordinators and points of contact; and
 26. Delegating in writing, all or part of the responsibilities in this section to the lowest practical levels that best meet organizational or operational needs; and
 27. Approving local travel/TDY in accordance with the travel policy specified in the USCIS Financial Management Manual or other OCFO policy guidance.
- I. Employees are responsible for:
1. Completing Form G-1129, Telework Program Application and Agreement, and Form G-1129A, Alternative Worksite Safety Certification, if applicable;
 2. Completing Form-1128 is selecting an alternate work schedule specifying the days and hours the employee will be working at the agency facility or at the alternate worksite. This schedule will also be indicated on the Telework Program Application and Agreement;
 3. Complying with local telework implementing procedures;
 4. Adhering to agreed-upon hours of work in accordance with established policies;
 5. Adhering to established policies on requesting leave when leave is to be taken;
 6. Completing a telework agreement as a pre-condition to participate in the Telework Program and maintaining a current telework agreement;
 7. Ensuring proper and accurate accounting and documenting of time and attendance records, including time spent in telework status;
 8. Using Government office equipment for official purposes, except as provided in DHS Directive 4600.1 and the USCIS Rules of Behavior;
 9. Following the policy for use and operation of information systems and computers in accordance with DHS Directive 4900;
 10. Adhering to and operating under the provisions of the telework agreement;
 11. Informing supervisors promptly of an injury or occupational disease occurring in the course of work-related duties at the alternative worksite;
 12. Being responsible for all operating costs incurred for set-up and maintenance of an alternative worksite when not specifically addressed in the telework agreement;
 13. Being responsible for the security of all official data and records and for the protection of any GFE and property used in carrying out the mission of DHS and USCIS while in transit and at the alternative worksite;
 14. Obtaining written approval from the supervisor or Information Security Systems Manager, as required, to take personnel-related data (in either paper or electronic format) from the USCIS worksite;
 15. Reporting all security violations of personally identifiable information (PII) to their supervisor immediately upon discovery of the incident;
 16. Verifying and certifying that the alternative worksite complies with health and safety requirements and maintaining safety at the alternative worksite. Work must be performed in the designated work area of the alternative worksite;
 17. Ensuring compliance with DHS's Workers' Compensation Program directive;
 18. Allowing for inspections of the alternative worksite, if required by the organization;
 19. Completing all required USCIS training related to telework participation including, but not limited to, Information Technology Security Awareness Training and employee telework training courses in the USCIS learning management system;

20. Participating in all required telework surveys;
21. Ensuring their contact information (for example, address and personal telephone number(s)) is current in the online telework application system—this contact information, some of which may be PII, may be provided to authorized USCIS and DHS personnel, and others with have a need-to-know. PII will be safeguarded from unauthorized disclosure;
22. Notifying a supervisor before a change to the approved alternative worksite, or if the worksite should, at any time, not be in compliance with all applicable safety, health, or security standards; and
23. Ensuring accountability and accessibility of official USCIS files (for example, A- Files, T-Files, C-Files, and Receipt-Files) when removed from the USCIS worksite.

VII. Questions, Comments and Suggestions

Contact the Office of Human Capital and Training at teleworkandremotework@uscis.dhs.gov.

VIII. Appendix A

Telework Program Requirements and Procedures

Note: This USCIS Management Directive, issued in accordance with established USCIS guidance, establishes mandatory agencywide policy that, without compromise, is effective for USCIS operations as stated hereafter and must be observed by all USCIS employees. USCIS Management Directives are not intended to, and must not provide a basis for, any policy or practice that contravenes or supersedes any currently effective Federal or DHS policy or practice.

Neither the proponent office for this directive nor any USCIS official other than the Director or Deputy Director may issue qualifications or revisions to this directive. All revisions to this directive must become effective only upon satisfaction of the USCIS Management Directive process and approval of the Director or Deputy Director.

U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services
Telework Program
Telework Program Requirements and Procedures

I. Eligibility Criteria—Position Related

- A. Although many positions are suitable for telework, not all aspects of all positions can be performed at alternative worksites. Work suitable for telework depends on the tasks of the position, rather than job series or title, type of appointment, or work schedule. However, even jobs not entirely suited for telework may contain functions and tasks that can be performed at an alternative worksite either on a regularly scheduled or intermittent basis. When determining whether a task, function or project may be suitable for telework, consideration should be given to the following factors:
1. Tasks that are portable and can be performed effectively outside the employee’s USCIS worksite;
 2. Tasks that are measurable or project oriented;
 3. Client or customer contacts that are predictable or may be satisfied by frequently checking voice mail for messages;
 4. Work contacts that can be adjusted to allow for telephone communications or conducted when the teleworking employee is at the USCIS worksite;
 5. Materials, data, and communications needed for telework tasks must not present a security risk or breach of confidentiality to DHS or USCIS or its customers. The integrity and confidentiality of any document removed from USCIS must be protected from disclosure;
 6. Tasks do not require extensive face-to-face contact with the supervisor, other employees, stakeholders, customers, or the general public;
 7. Tasks do not involve the employee giving or receiving substantial supervisory oversight, mentoring, or assistance on a continuous basis; and
 8. Work that requires face-to-face client or customer contact, including certain interviews is not amenable to telework; however, an alternative work schedule can be considered.
- B. The immediate supervisor will certify that there are sufficient tasks that can be suitably performed at an alternative worksite. The amount of time an employee is authorized to work at an alternative worksite should be in direct correlation to the anticipated amount of work to be performed at the alternative worksite.

II. Employees Not Eligible Under Any Circumstances

- A. The Telework Enhancement Act of 2010, specifies two categories of Federal employees who cannot telework under this guidance:
1. An employee who has been officially disciplined for being absent without permission for more than 5 workdays in any calendar year. “Official discipline” is disciplinary action that results in the placement of a document in an employee’s electronic official personnel file (eOPF); or

2. If the employee has been officially disciplined for violations of subpart G of the Standards of Ethical Conduct for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties (5 U.S.C. 6502(a)(2)(B)).
- B. The bar on participation would remain in effect as long as the document stays in the employee's eOPF.

III. Employee Participation

- A. Participation in telework is open to all Eligible Employees without regard to race, color, gender, religion, national origin, parent status, age, disability, sexual orientation, or genetic information. Employees must not be subject to reprisal (for having participated in a protected equal employment opportunity activity, political activity, or union activity) when determinations for telework participation are made.
- B. The Telework Enhancement Act of 2010 does not mandate an employee's participation in the USCIS Telework Program or entitle an employee to participate in the program. Participation in the Telework Program requires supervisor approval. Employees voluntarily participating in the Telework Program may withdraw from the Telework Program after providing sufficient advance notice (a minimum of 14 calendar days is generally expected) to afford management and other employees adequate time to plan for the teleworker's return to a the USCIS worksite. Eligible employees participating in the Telework Program may be recalled by their supervisors to the USCIS worksite when warranted for legitimate business reasons.
- C. Employees participating in the Telework Program will be expected to work during the duration of an emergency event or request to use paid (for example, annual leave) or unpaid leave—even if such events fall on days when the employee would not normally telework (5 CFR 630.1605). There are also situations where employees may be compelled to work from home, regardless of whether they are teleworkers. For example, during a pandemic, USCIS may issue an evacuation order and identify the employee's home as their safe-haven worksite (5 CFR 550.409\(a\)).

Similarly, during a catastrophic event that disrupts agency operations and results in the activation of COOP (5 U.S.C. 6504\(d\)\(2\)), employees may be directed to report to an alternative work location, which could be their home. These situations are not true telework arrangements because they are not triggered by participation in a telework agreement (that is, the employee's position may not generally be eligible for telework); however, for emergency events, such as a pandemic or a COOP activation, employees are expected to complete telework training and a temporary emergency telework agreement, with a start and end date, as determined by the USCIS director. The director may adjust the dates as needed.

IV. Establishing, Modifying, Terminating, and Reinstating Teleworking Agreements

- A. Approved teleworkers must complete Form G-1129 and Form G-1129A to start teleworking. The local Telework Coordinators will maintain copies of approved forms for any reporting requirements. For employees who telework on an intermittent basis, a separate agreement for each telework episode is not necessary if the employee has signed an agreement to telework on an intermittent basis. However, each incident of telework must have advance supervisory approval. Additionally, individual telework agreements must be reviewed and renewed at least annually to remain in effect; and an alternative worksite Safety Certification must be updated whenever an employee's address changes.

- B. The operational needs of USCIS are paramount. Employees who have been authorized to telework do not have an automatic right to continue to telework. Telework arrangements may be modified, adjusted, or terminated when deemed necessary by USCIS management for legitimate business needs, including externally driven requirements and security breaches and the like, as well as for performance reasons or when requested by an employee.
- C. Unless legitimate business needs/reasons dictate otherwise, USCIS management must provide a 14-calendar day advance written notification before modifying or terminating a telework agreement to allow the affected employee to make necessary arrangements. The reason for termination will be documented in Part II of Form G-1129, signed by the appropriate supervisor or manager, and furnished to the affected employee. USCIS management may require the employee to report to work on a specific telework day when the needs of the office dictate without providing the 14-calendar day advance written notification.

V. Salary

Telework implementing procedures must establish the USCIS worksites as the employees' official duty stations for pay purposes.

VI. Attendance and Leave

- A. Hours of Duty: Participation in the Telework Program in conjunction with participation in the Alternative Work Schedules Program is permissible. However, it is management's right to limit participation to one program based on legitimate business needs or reasons or modify an approved alternative work schedule as a condition to approving a telework agreement.
- B. Leave: Teleworkers must adhere to all established leave procedures. The procedures for requesting leave remain unchanged for teleworkers.
- C. Time and Attendance: Time spent in a teleworking status must be accounted for and reported in the same manner as if the employee reported for duty at the USCIS worksite. Proper recording, monitoring, and certification of employee worktime is critical to the success of the Telework Program. Under GAO-03-352G, the telework implementing procedures must allow for the proper monitoring and certification of teleworkers' time and attendance ensuring that teleworkers are only paid for work performed and absences from scheduled tours of duty are properly accounted.
- D. Emergency Dismissal or Closure Conditions: Emergency conditions can consist of inclement weather, a pandemic health crisis, or manmade or natural disasters. Although a variety of circumstances may affect individual situations, the principles governing administrative leave, dismissals, and closings remain unchanged.

1. If USCIS announces an early dismissal due to an emergency condition to allow employees to return home safely, employees will be dismissed and granted weather and safety leave only for the amount of time required to commute home. They must notify their supervisor of their intent to telework the remainder of their duty day, or request leave, or a combination of both.
2. If USCIS announces an early dismissal due to an emergency condition to allow employees to return home safely, and the employee is working at an alternative worksite that is other than the employee's home, the employee will follow the dismissal procedures of the alternative worksite.
3. If the employee is working at home when an early dismissal due to an emergency condition is announced for the USCIS worksite, the employee is expected to continue working or request annual leave, other paid time off, or leave without pay, unless the employee is instructed otherwise by their supervisor or manager.
4. When the USCIS worksite closes for an emergency (for example, inclement weather) and it is announced before the beginning of a workday, employees who telework from an alternative worksite not affected by the emergency (for example, home or other alternative worksite) are expected to continue working or notify the supervisor of their intent to telework, use unscheduled leave, other paid time off, or leave without pay, unless the employee is instructed otherwise by their supervisor or manager.
5. When an emergency affects only the alternative worksite for a major portion of the workday, the employee is expected to report to the USCIS worksite or request supervisory approval of annual leave, other paid time off, or leave without pay.
6. When an employee knows in advance of a situation that would preclude working at the alternative worksite, the employee must either report to the USCIS worksite or request supervisory approval of annual leave, other paid time off, or leave without pay.

VII. Facilities and Equipment

- A. Official Worksite: Teleworkers may be provided with alternate workspace at their official or USCIS worksites. Teleworkers may share workspace with other staff members or be assigned to varying workstations on the days they work at their official or USCIS worksites.
- B. Alternative Worksite: It is critical that the alternative worksite is free from distractions and that the employee be free from obligations that would impair the employee's ability to provide the same time and level of attention to the work product as when at the USCIS worksite. The worksite and workstation must be set up to afford secure information processing, including the proper storage of sensitive but unclassified DHS and USCIS proprietary information (in both electronic and paper form), records, and personal property. The workstation must not be the source of vulnerabilities to the DHS and USCIS network. See Section VIII of this appendix for details and guidance governing the proper storage and security of sensitive information, PII, and personal property.
- C. Alternative Office Space: Telework implementing procedures must adhere to the minimum standards established below for workstations at the alternative worksite.

- D. Authorization of an Alternative Worksite: A specific place for performance of telework duties must be identified and authorized in advance.
1. Requirements for the worksite will vary depending on the nature of the work and the equipment needed to perform the work. At a minimum, employees must be able to easily communicate with the supervisor, serviced clients, and co-workers during the telework day.
 2. The place of employment, including alternative worksites, is subject to Federal safety and health policies and should be free from recognized hazards that cause or are likely to cause death or serious injury or illness. Employees are responsible for verifying and ensuring that their alternative work areas comply with health and safety requirements, as reflected on Form G-1129A.
 3. Alternative worksite visits may be conducted to ensure and preserve the integrity of the Telework Program. A supervisor or management official may conduct routine visits of the alternative worksite for compliance with the requirements of this telework directive. Results of compliance visits are a necessary part of the information managers are required to consider assessing the employee eligibility for continued participation in the Telework Program, as outlined in this directive.
- E. Government-Furnished Equipment: Using GFE is required for teleworking at all alternative worksites. Telework implementing procedures must reflect current USCIS procedures regarding the purchase, transfer, and installation of GFE. Such equipment may include a notebook or desktop computer, printer, peripherals (for example, flash drive or disk), server, scanner, network hardware, server software, workstation software, or cellular phone.
1. To purchase GFE, an Information Technology Service Request (ITSR) must be submitted to OIT via the respective pre-approval authority. The ITSR procedures and service request status can be obtained from the OIT intranet website.
 2. OIT will provide installation and configuration services, including the installation of software, encryption of the hard drive. Requests for services can be submitted to OIT or the USCIS Help Desk, as applicable.
 3. Directorates and program offices will provide GFE to its employees for teleworking. Where program funding limitations may constrain employee participation in telework, offices should explore alternative arrangements to permit employees to telework. Consultation with appropriate approving and subject matter officials, (for example, the Chief Financial Officer and Chief, OIT) must occur to ensure that the parameters of governing laws, rules, and regulations are considered.
 4. GFE is to be used for authorized purposes and limited personal use in accordance with DHS policies, including DHS directive 4600.1.
 5. The Government retains ownership and control of hardware, software, and data. In these situations, the Government is responsible for the maintenance, repair, and replacement of such equipment.
 6. Teleworkers must notify their supervisors immediately of any malfunction of GFE and return the equipment to the office for service.
 7. Teleworkers must protect GFE in accordance with established procedures and are accountable to USCIS for any GFE that may be issued to them. If GFE is unsecured and consequently, damaged by non-employees (for example, dependents of the employee) teleworkers may be held liable for the repair or replacement of the equipment, software, and such to the same extent they are presently held to when furnished equipment is damaged due to their negligence.

8. The Government will not provide or install telephone or internet access nor pay for related monthly services.
- F. GFE Computer Security Issues: Directorates and program offices' telework policies and implementing procedures must stipulate that only hardware and software configuration procured by the Federal Government and authorized by an approving official, or designee, for the alternative worksite should be installed. Under no circumstances should employees be allowed to add non-GFE or unauthorized hardware or software to GFE.
 - G. Computer Software Copyrights: Where individual license agreements allow for computer software to be installed on multiple computers, as long as only one is in use at any given time, employees may install Government-licensed computer software on the alternative worksite computer (GFE only) to perform official work. Each software manufacturer's license agreements terms must be examined by the Chief, OIT, on a case-by-case basis, to determine whether or not this is permissible. The Chief, OIT, will consult with the Office of Chief Counsel on the interpretation of any license. This will reduce telework expenses for the employee, while expanding the nature of work that may be performed at the alternative office.
 - H. Commercial Computer Software: Directorates and program offices' telework policies and implementing procedures must identify the official having authority to approve or disapprove an employee's request to use software purchased by the Government at the alternative worksite. In this instance, the approving official should ensure that an employee's use of Government-furnished software is not prohibited by a license agreement.
 - I. Telecommunications and Internet Services: Agency-issued cell phones should only be used as a hotspot for emergencies or while on travel as external wireless access points are not managed, maintained, or monitored by USCIS and are not considered trustworthy.
 - J. Personal Expenses: Teleworkers are expected to pay for costs incurred in operating an alternative worksite in a residence. The Government will not reimburse employees for additional costs, such as utilities or insurance, associated with working at an alternative worksite. Potential savings to the employee resulting from reduced commuting, meals, and such, may offset any incidental increase in costs to teleworkers.

VIII. Secure Operations

- A. Using encrypted hard drives and flash drives is required for Government-furnished computer systems. Using the virtual private network (VPN) is required for access to the Government network. Information about VPN requests is available on the OIT intranet website.
- B. A combination of physical controls, unique user identifiers, passwords, terminal identifiers, access control software, and strict adherence to security procedures is required to protect the information from unauthorized access. Supervisors and employees must ensure that assigned personal IDs, passwords, access codes, and such, are accounted for and maintained properly.

- C. Teleworkers must comply with security procedures to protect Government information stored on magnetic media of the worksite when the computers are repaired or serviced. Where the hard disk of a worksite computer is inoperable, arrangements must be made to remove sensitive information from the hard disk before having the computer serviced.
- D. Directorates and program offices must ensure adequate property management procedures for their accountable property (computers), whether owned or leased, to ensure an immediately retrievable inventory and physical location identification of automated data processing equipment and software.
- E. To ensure file accountability and accessibility, employees who will be away from the alternative worksite for more than 24 hours must return all DHS and USCIS data and materials (excluding hardware, containers, drawers, etc.) to the USCIS worksite. In addition, A-Files, T-Files, C-Files, and Receipt-Files must be available for return to the USCIS worksite within 4 hours, both during normal business hours and, in the event of an emergency, outside normal business hours.
- F. Classified data may not be removed from employees' USCIS worksites to alternative worksites.
- G. Decisions regarding whether to allow the handling or removal of sensitive data, as well as records subject to the Privacy Act, from the USCIS worksite to the alternative worksite for telework purposes are delegated to individual supervisors who permit employees to work at an alternative worksite. The following requirements should be considered when making this decision.
 - 1. Hardcopy and electronic sensitive but unclassified (SBU) information may be transported to and from, and accessed at, an alternative worksite, as long as the employee can safeguard the information under the applicable DHS and USCIS policies and guidance, including DHS directive 11042.1, DHS Directive 11056.1, and the June 13, 2007, DHS Action Memorandum, "Review of Safeguarding Policies and Procedures for Personnel-Related Data." SBU includes PII, SSI, Privacy Act, and For Official Use Only (FOUO) information. Although this information may not always be marked as sensitive, the employee is required to recognize it as such and safeguard it accordingly. Examples of SBU include social security numbers or alien numbers, date and place of birth, biometric records, home addresses and telephone numbers, signatures, and information relating to an individual's financial transactions, education, medical history, criminal record, or employment history.
 - 2. Sensitive personal property (for example, badges, credentials, decision stamps, security ink, sensitive forms, remote access tokens, laptop) may be transported to and from and accessed at an alternative work location as long as the employee can safeguard the information in accordance with the applicable guidance, including DHS Directive 11010.1 and legacy USCIS Management Directive ADM-5350.

3. At a minimum, when SBU or GFE is not being used, the employee must store the sensitive information and personal property under lock and key with sufficient access control measures, such as in a locked room, desk drawer, safe or file cabinet, to afford adequate protection and prevent unauthorized access by other family members, residents, visitors, or other persons without a need-to-know.
 4. When traveling with sensitive property or information by commercial transportation, the employee must not place the material in checked luggage. The employee will keep the sensitive material with them at all times in carryon luggage until it can be secured at the alternative worksite.
 5. When traveling by private conveyance, the employee must keep sensitive property and information in their possession unless locked in a cargo or luggage compartment, the contents of which are not visible from outside the conveyance.
 6. When removed from an authorized storage location and when persons without a need-to-know are present, or where casual observation would reveal SBU information to unauthorized persons, measures such as an unmarked folder, envelope, or SBU cover sheet must be used to prevent unauthorized or inadvertent disclosure.
 7. The employee must obtain written permission from their supervisor, office chief or associate director, or the Information Security Systems Manager before taking PII home. As at the office, emailing PII/SPII both internally within the DHS email network or externally to non-DHS parties is permissible, as a result, of the security features introduced by Microsoft Office 365 and the encryption protection inherent to all emails transmitted within the DHS email network. Full SSN may be sent without encryption or password protection internally when sent within the body of the email or in an attachment. Never send full SSN in the "Subject Line."
 8. Hardcopy SBU information, such as printed or written documents or notes, must be destroyed by shredding, burning, pulping, or pulverizing in a way that assures destruction beyond recognition and reconstruction. SBU material may not be disposed of in regular trash or recycling receptacles unless first destroyed as specified above. Electronic storage media must be sanitized by overwriting or degaussing as specified by governing IT policy.
 9. The employee must know and follow the appropriate notification procedures if the documents or equipment are lost, damaged, stolen, or otherwise compromised, including informing the USCIS Command Center.
 10. The employee's telework agreement should specify safeguarding requirements specific to the individual's duties, as needed.
- H. Care must be taken to ensure records subject to the Privacy Act and sensitive non-classified data are not disclosed to anyone except those who are authorized such access and have a need-to-know to perform their duties. When such information is displayed on a computer screen, it must not be visible to others. Computer privacy screens that block PC screen visibility to others must be used when SSI is displayed on a computer monitor at an alternative worksite. Similarly, PII must be safeguarded from unauthorized disclosure. All PII security violations must be reported to the USCIS Command Center and other appropriate parties within 1 hour of the incident.
- I. Directorates and program offices allowing employees to access records subject to the Privacy Act, or records subject to safeguarding as PII, from a remote worksite must maintain appropriate administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to ensure the security and confidentiality of the records.

- J. Family members and other unauthorized individuals are prohibited from handling or viewing any Government SBU information, including SSI, Privacy Act, and FOUO data.

IX. Standards of Ethical Conduct

All employees, including those who telework, are expected to comply with DHS Directive 0480.1. Failure to comply with the standard while working at an alternative worksite may result in termination of the telework agreement and disciplinary action for misconduct.

Department of Homeland Security
Collective Bargaining Agreement(s) –
Telework Provisions

Master Agreement

Between

National Protection and Programs Directorate
(NPPD)

And

American Federation of Government Employees
Local 918
(AFGE)

Agreement 2011

ARTICLE 16 – DEVELOPMENT AND TRAINING

- A. EMPLOYEE DEVELOPMENT. The Agency and the Union agree that the training and development of employees within the unit is a matter of primary importance to the Parties. The Agency agrees to develop and maintain effective policies and programs designed to achieve this purpose, consistent with its needs and available funding.
- B. EMPLOYEE INITIATIVE. The Agency and the Union recognize that each employee is responsible for applying reasonable effort, time and initiative in increasing his or her potential value to the Agency through self-development and training. Employees are encouraged to take advantage of training and educational opportunities which will add to the skills and qualifications needed to increase their efficiency in the performance of their duties and for possible advancement in the Agency.
- C. FAIR AND EQUITABLE / AGENCY NEEDS. The nomination of employees to participate in training and career development programs and courses shall be based on Agency needs and will be fair and equitable. Merit system principles shall be applied to the process where applicable. When two or more employees compete for the same training opportunity, seniority will be the tie breaker between two equally eligible employees after management takes into consideration factors including duty assignment, previous training opportunities, work requirements, length of service, and other relevant considerations when making selections. When training requests are denied, Management will provide a written explanation for the basis of their decision.
- D. SCHEDULE VARIATIONS. Employees may be granted variations within the normal workweek, including leave without pay, for educational purposes consistent with Agency needs. The use of alternative work schedules, work at home or telework programs will be considered to support educational advancement, where such accommodations do not impede or conflict with Agency mission fulfillment.
- E. INDIVIDUAL DEVELOPMENT PLAN. The Agency shall encourage meaningful participation by the individual employee in the creation of a personal plan for career self-development. In developing this plan, the employees may seek counseling and advice from the supervisor. The Agency will ensure that training opportunities are appropriately communicated via posting to the Professional Development and Training website, NPPD newsletter, direct email to personnel or other communication vehicles. The Agency will assign training for trainee level positions consistent with applicable policy and the needs of the Agency.
- F. ELIMINATED POSITIONS. The Agency agrees that, when an employee is reassigned due to the position previously held having been eliminated, sufficient training as determined by the Agency will be given to the employee to enable him or her to perform the duties of the new position.
- G. OUTSIDE (NON-AGENCY) TRAINING. Employees must be aware that there may be service and training performance requirements, which if not met, may result in financial obligations for the employee. The Agency shall pay authorized expenses for outside training at a facility, approved by the Agency when the following conditions have been met:
 - 1. Merit system principles are applied to the process where applicable;

2. Legal Restrictions. The Parties recognize that the law provides that the Agency may not establish such a schedule or continue such a schedule if the schedule would result in adverse agency impact as defined in 5 U.S.C. § 6131:
 - (a) A reduction in the productivity of the agency;
 - (b) A diminished level of services furnished to the public by the agency; or
 - (c) An increase in the cost of agency operations (other than a reasonable administrative cost relating to the process of establishing an alternative work schedule).
3. If an agency approved AWS program is proposed to be terminated, the Agency will provide Union with appropriate written notice citing adverse agency impact, see C2, above, as the reason for this proposed change in working conditions
4. Employee Participation.
 - (a) After a Region or HQ Program has established an AWS program for an organizational unit or category of employees, those employees may request participation in an agency approved AWS program or continue to work a regular schedule. An employee who wishes to participate in AWS must submit a completed DHS Form 3080-1 (6/05), Request for Alternate Work Schedule, to his or her supervisor. The proposed effective date will not normally be sooner than two full pay periods after the submission of the form. The effective date must coincide with the beginning of a scheduled pay period.
 - (b) All work schedules must be approved or disapproved by the immediate first-line supervisor (or designee) and reviewed by the designated program manager. The completed form must be retained by the immediate supervisor for one year from the date the schedule is terminated or the request is disapproved.
 - (c) An employee will be provided written notice of the reasons a request is disapproved or a schedule is terminated.
5. Overtime. It is understood by the Parties that, under law, none of the hours that constitute an alternative work schedule may be compensated with, or be credited for purposes of premium pay.

ARTICLE 30 – TELEWORK

The subject of telework will be addressed in subsequent bargaining. Any agreement reached by the Parties shall be incorporated into this Agreement as an Appendix.

ARTICLE 31 – LEAVE

A. POLICY. The following shall apply to all types of leave in this Article.

1. Employees are entitled to accrue and use leave in accordance with applicable laws, regulations and this Agreement.
2. Leave requests shall be made and recorded through WebTA (or successor time accounting system). In the event WebTA is temporarily unavailable to an employee or in

ARTICLE 15: TELEWORK

Section 1. Telework (also commonly referred to as flexi place, telecommuting, or mobile work) has the potential to enhance the quality of work life for employees, while also maintaining productivity, mission, and operational continuity during emergencies without compromising employee safety. The policy and procedures contained in this Article memorialize the parties' commitment to continue to enhance the CBP-NTEU Telework Program for all CBP employees.

Section 2. The Agency will continue to make available the procedures, policies, guides, and related forms for all employees on the CBP Telework Program resource center website. Such information will include the impact of the alternative worksite becoming the employee's official duty station, e.g., potential changes in locality pay.

Section 3. Definitions.

- A. Alternate Worksite is a place where official duties are performed away from the traditional worksite. An alternate worksite can be a designated area in a home-based office or other approved location.
- B. Approving Official is a management official with delegated authority to review, modify, approve, deny and/or terminate the Telework arrangement.
- C. CBP Telework Ready Employee: An employee who is on an approved telework arrangement (e.g. core or situational/episodic), is equipped with the appropriate secure and approved technology equipment and has an approved alternate worksite.
- D. Core Telework is a telework arrangement that occurs on a routine, regular, and recurring basis one or more days per work week.
- E. Electronic Telework Program Arrangement Package (e-TPAP): An on-line electronic telework arrangement package that includes the Telework Agreement, Safety Self Certification Checklist, CBP Form 121 and OPM Telework Fundamentals Training, CBP IT Security Awareness and Rules of Behavior Training Certifications, and the Public Transportation Incentive Program (PTIP) form, if applicable.
- F. Federal Government Closures: These are situations that prevent significant numbers of Federal employees from reporting to the office on time or remaining at the office for the full workday and for situations which require Federal offices to close. Situations may include emergencies, severe weather conditions, natural disasters, and other incidents causing disruptions of government operations.

- G. Portable Work: Work normally performed at an employee's official worksite that can be performed at an alternate worksite. This work is part of the employee's regular assignments and does not involve a change in duties.
- H. Situational/Episodic Telework: A telework arrangement that occurs on an ad hoc, occasional, episodic, or short term basis. These arrangements are appropriate for operational requirements, a temporary medical situation/condition or emergencies. The situational/episodic telework arrangement may occur on one or more occasions any time during a pay period and does not require a set work schedule.
- I. Telework Agreement: A written agreement, along with terms and conditions of the agreement between the Agency and an employee, to permit the employee to perform official duties, responsibilities, and other authorized activities away from the traditional worksite.
- J. Traditional Worksite: The worksite where the employee regularly performs his or her duties, absent an approved telework arrangement.
- K. Unscheduled Telework: A form of telework that allows employees to telework in response to specific announcements by OPM or other local government deciding/authorizing officials regarding emergency situations. Employees must be CBP Telework ready, notify and seek approval prior to using the unscheduled telework option.

Section 4. General Policies.

- A. An employee's participation in a telework arrangement is voluntary. Telework is neither an employee entitlement, nor an alternative for child, elder or dependent care or a means to conduct personal business (e.g. home repairs, running a self-owned business, etc.).
- B. An employee (CBP Telework Ready) covered by a telework agreement may be required to telework outside of his/her normal telework schedule during temporary emergency or Federal government closure situations as set forth in Section 5 of this Article.
- C. Telework is appropriate for those positions whose assigned duties, tasks, or other work activities can be performed at an alternate worksite.
- D. In order to participate in telework, employees in eligible positions (see Section 6 below) must have a performance rating of Successful (or equivalent) and may not be on leave restriction, the subject of any pending performance or disciplinary action, or the subject of an allegation of misconduct, that may prevent the performance of the full scope of required duties. Management has the discretion to approve an employee's telework arrangement request prior to the one year performance appraisal period or less than one year of the employee's appointment in the position.

- E. Employees who have been subjected to any final disciplinary or performance action within the last twelve (12) months are ineligible to participate in a telework arrangement. Exceptions to this criterion may be requested by employees in an eligible position and approved or denied by the approving official on a case-by-case basis.
- F. Employee and Supervisor responsibilities during the submission/approval process include:
 - (1) Eligible employees who wish to participate in the Telework Program must complete and submit the on-line electronic Telework Program Arrangement Package (e-TPAP), in its entirety and attach all required documents and certifications to their supervisor.
 - (2) After the supervisor has received the required package above, and within thirty (30) days of the submission, the employee will schedule a discussion with the supervisor regarding the employee's request, eligibility, opportunities and expectations.
 - (3) When considering employee request to telework, the Agency acknowledges its commitment to approve/deny telework requests no later than fifteen (15) calendar days from the date of the discussion.
- G. Eligible employees must adhere to the guidelines set forth in the CBP Telework Program Telework Arrangement, to include the Terms and Conditions, Self-Safety Certification Checklist, and all established CBP policies and procedures, including security, leave, and conduct.
- H. Participating employees must complete the appropriate on-line OPM Telework Fundamentals Training Employees on www.telework.gov. Participating employees must certify their completion of the training by attaching the certificate of completion to their telework arrangement (e-TPAP).
- I. A permanent significant change in the terms of the telework arrangement requires a new telework agreement setting forth such changes. Permanent changes include employee requested changes to the approved telework agreement or a significant change in duties being performed that impact position eligibility. An employee's existing telework arrangement will not be impacted pending the approval of the new telework agreement. If approved, the employee will be exempt from taking the required OPM Telework Fundamentals Training on-line telework training again.

- J. Unless otherwise instructed by an approving official, employee(s) will perform official duties only at the traditional worksite or Agency approved alternate worksite. Upon request, an employee's alternative worksite will be his or her approved home-based office. If other than or in addition to the home-based office, the participating employee must indicate the change on the e-TPAP.
- K. Nothing in this Article prohibits management from approving participating employees to telework up to five (5) days per week and work any of the work schedules established in accordance with Article 14: Alternative Work Schedules.
- L. When considering employee requests to telework, the Agency acknowledges its commitment to approve telework requests consistent with its responsibility for ensuring the successful performance of Agency work at the traditional and alternate work sites.
- M. In the event a telework request is denied by the approving official, the employee will be provided with a written justification supporting the denial.
- N. An employee may opt out of the telework arrangement at any time. The employee must contact their supervisor, in advance and in writing, to terminate his/her telework arrangement (e-TPAP). Unless otherwise agreed, the employee can request a new telework arrangement six (6) months after the effective date of his or her Opt Out Option election.
- O. If a participating employee is designated as a Continuity of Operations (COOP) employee, he/she must at least be placed on a situational/episodic telework arrangement and be telework ready to support the agency in the event of an emergency.
- P. Teleworkers may be required to share workspaces/workstations while working at the traditional or mobile worksite. A workspace/workstation sharing arrangement may involve employees sharing one office/cubicle or use of unassigned workstations set aside for shared use by teleworkers. Absent an existing agreement on workspace sharing, CBP will notify NTEU in accordance with Article 26.

Q. Once per quarter, upon request, NTEU National will receive a report on telework applications submitted by NTEU bargaining unit employees. Requests will be submitted to the CBP Telework Program Coordinator. NTEU may also request and will receive an in-person briefing from CBP. Reports will provide the following information:

- (1) Employee name
- (2) Employee's Field Office/Work Location
- (3) Date application was created
- (4) Date of approval/denial
- (5) Decision: Approved or Denied
- (6) Number of telework days requested
- (7) Number of telework days approved
- (8) Date telework commenced

Section 5. OFFICE DISMISSAL AND CLOSURE PROCEDURES

This section establishes the telework and leave procedures CBP employees will follow in the event the Agency, OPM or the Federal Executive Board determines to close a government office where CBP employees work. All employees within CBP will follow the same procedure, as noted in this section.

A. Three types of employees are identified within: Core telework ready, episodic telework ready and non-telework employees.

For the purposes of this section, the following definitions will apply:

- (1) A core telework ready employee is an employee on a regular and recurring telework schedule who is prepared to telework.
- (2) An episodic telework ready employee is an employee who schedules telework on an ad hoc basis and is prepared to telework.
- (3) A non-telework employee is an employee who does not have an agreement to telework at any time.

B. Policies in the event of an office closure:

- (1) Administrative leave for office closures will be determined on a case-by-case basis in accordance with Article 37, Section 10: Excused Absences.
- (2) Core telework ready employees are expected to work from their approved alternate worksite for the entire work day if the office closure occurs on their approved telework day(s).

- (3) Episodic telework ready employees, as defined above, are expected to work from their approved alternate worksite for the entire work day. Exceptions will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis (e.g., an episodic employee who does not have access to portable work may request to be excused from telework).
- (4) When possible, the Agency will notify employees who have a core or episodic telework agreement in advance of potential office closures. In anticipation of potential office closures, employees on an approved telework agreement will ensure that they are prepared to telework in case of closure.
- (5) In the event an employee who is on a core or episodic telework agreement is not telework ready (i.e., is unable or unprepared to work in a telework status), the employee must notify his/her supervisor (or designee) at the earliest available opportunity, but absent just cause, no later than one (1) hour before the time in which the employee is scheduled to report for duty in a telework status.
- (6) Absent a supervisor's assignment of work, employees will self-certify if they are telework ready during an office closure.
- (7) Employees who are not telework ready will receive the appropriate leave in accordance with the Agency's policy.
- (8) Nothing in this Section prevents an employee from requesting leave in accordance with the terms of the National Collective Bargaining Agreement.

C. In the event an office closure occurs when an employee has pre-approved leave:

- (1) After annual or sick leave has been approved, employees are not expected to work throughout the duration of the leave request.
- (2) If an office closure occurs while an employee is on approved sick or annual leave, the employee will remain in their pre-approved leave status, unless one of the following exceptions apply:
 - a) The employee who was on pre-approved sick leave for a medical appointment no longer requires leave and elects to telework in lieu of continuing approved sick leave.
 - b) The employee who was on pre-approved annual leave elects to telework in lieu of continuing approved annual leave.

- c) An employee under pre-approved sick leave for a medical appointment which is subsequently cancelled, and does not have a core or episodic telework agreement, is not eligible to telework and will receive leave in accordance with the Agency's policy, typically excused absence.
- d) An employee under pre-approved annual leave, whose leave is interrupted by the same event causing the office closure, and does not have a core or episodic telework agreement, is not eligible to telework and may request a cancellation of their annual leave and receive leave in accordance with the Agency's policy, typically excused absence.

Section 6. Position Eligibility.

- A. Eligibility in a Telework arrangement is directly connected to the work duties assigned to an employee. Absent the performance of duties identified in subsection B below, most positions that do not require the wearing of a CBP uniform are presumed to be appropriate for Telework.
- B. Examples of duties that would justify some or all employees in a position being ineligible for Telework arrangements may include one or more of the following:
 - (1) On-site activity that cannot be handled remotely or at an alternative worksite;
 - (2) Office support and phone coverage;
 - (3) Hands-on contact with machinery, equipment, vehicles, etc.;
 - (4) Positions that require the physical presence at all times; or
 - (5) When Customer service or Agency mission would be adversely affected (e.g., workload increase for other employees, team performance is reduced, unable to respond to customers/clients, etc.).
- C. All participating employees, including employees in positions generally excluded from core Telework arrangements, are eligible for situational/episodic Telework arrangements.
 - (1) Determinations as to situational/episodic Telework arrangements will be made on an ad hoc basis based on the employee's ability to perform assigned duties, task or other work activities at the alternate worksite.
 - (2) In the event a request for situational/episodic Telework is denied by the approving official, the employee will be provided with a written justification supporting the denial.

Section 7. Compensation & Benefits.

- A. Unless participating in a full-time arrangement which results in a change in the employee's official duty station, Telework is not a basis for changing salary or benefits.
- B. Upon approval of a core Telework arrangement (i.e., one or more Telework days per week), a participating employee who also participates in the Public Transportation Incentive Program (PTIP) will submit an amended PTIP benefit application to reflect any reduction in actual transportation costs, as appropriate.
- C. The participating employee's timekeeper will have a copy of the employee's work schedule. The employee's time and attendance for hours worked at the traditional worksite and the alternate worksites, which are consistent with the Agency's policy, will be certified by the approving official bi-weekly.
- D. Participating employees may be assigned and approved overtime as determined necessary by the Agency. All applicable employment and labor laws, including but not limited to statutes, regulations, rules, policies, negotiated agreements, etc. governing overtime and/or work scheduling, will continue to be adhered to. Participating employees must ensure that all overtime is authorized/approved, in advance, by his/her supervisor.

Section 8. Leave.

- A. Employees will continue to follow established office procedures and practices for requesting and obtaining approval of leave.
- B. In emergency situations, which require the traditional worksite to close, the employee will continue to perform at his or her alternate worksite unless the work cannot be performed due to the closing of the traditional worksite. When an emergency affects only the alternate worksite for a major portion of the workday, the employee must consult with the supervisor for instructions as whether to report to the traditional worksite or request annual leave or leave without pay.

Section 9. Conduct.

Participating employee(s) are bound by Agency standards of conduct while working at the alternate worksite. Nothing in this Article precludes the Agency from taking any appropriate disciplinary or adverse action against an employee who fails to comply with the provisions of their Telework agreement or Agency policies and procedures.

Section 10. Technology and Security.

- A. Participating employee(s) must certify that the Agency's Security Awareness Training has been completed.
- B. Participating employee(s) must have an internet connection (high-speed connection [e.g., DSL or cable] is recommended) before requesting a Telework arrangement. Employees must be accessible at all times, via telephone, during his/her working hours. Participating employees are responsible for all costs associated for their own Internet connection and telephone.
- C. Employees who Telework will ensure government property and information are kept safe, secure, and separated from his/her personal property and information.
- D. Employees who Telework will be the sole operators of the government-owned equipment they use and will abide by established Agency policy regarding the use of government-owned equipment for personal business.
- E. Technical support will be provided to participating employees when needed. A participating employee's Telework arrangement may be temporarily or permanently terminated, in the event technical problems significantly reduces independence from the traditional worksite that prevents the employee from performing assigned duties at the alternate worksite. In such circumstances, the employee should consult with their supervisor as to whether to report to the traditional worksite or request leave.

Section 11. Liability.

The Agency will not be liable for damages to an employee's personal or real property while the employee is working at the approved alternate worksite, except to the extent the Agency is found liable under by the Federal Tort Claims Act or the Military Personnel and Civilian Employees Claims Act.

Section 12. Alternate Worksite Costs.

- A. Except for costs associated for an employee's own Internet connection and telephone, the Agency will provide the supplies and equipment determined necessary by the Agency for participating employees to perform their assigned duties. Customary office supplies (such as paper, pens, etc.) provided at the traditional worksite will be made available by the Agency to employee(s) participating in a Telework arrangement.

- B. Technical administrative services such as photo-copying, facsimile transmissions, mailing, etc. will normally be conducted during time at the traditional work site. In the event a participating employee desires Agency reimbursement for technical administrative services performed at an alternate work site, advance written approval must be obtained from the Agency.
- C. To support the use of Telework and a mobile workplace, the Agency may replace desktop computers and telephones at the traditional worksite with portable devices and equipment to effectively perform his/her duties while in a telework status.

Section 13. Workers' Compensation.

Participating employee(s) are covered under the Federal Employee's Compensation Act if injured in the course of actually performing official duties at either the traditional or the alternate worksite. The employee will notify the supervisor immediately of any accident or injury that occurs at the alternate worksite and to complete any forms required in connection with claims based upon the accident/injury.

Section 14. Work Assignments/Performance.

- A. An employee on a telework agreement will have their work and conduct evaluated the same as employees at the traditional worksite.
- B. If management determines at any time during the evaluation year that an employee's performance has diminished, and a continued decline could result in an annual performance rating of Unsuccessful (fails to meet expectations), management will give notice to the employee of the performance deficiency, counsel the employee, and give the employee an adequate opportunity to improve. If the employee does not improve after notice, counseling, and an adequate opportunity to improve, it may be grounds for temporarily rescinding an employee's telework agreement. In such cases, the employee will be notified of the deficiencies determined by management and provided instruction on what conditions need to be met to have their telework agreement re-evaluated.
- C. If the employee's performance fails to improve, they will be evaluated pursuant to the procedures set forth in Article 19: Employee Proficiency Review and their telework agreement will remain rescinded.

Section 15. Records Management.

Participating employee(s) will protect U.S. Government and Agency records from unauthorized disclosure or damage and will comply with requirements of the Privacy Act of 1974 (5 U.S.C. § 552(a)).

Section 16. Home Inspection

- A. The Agency reserves the option to inspect alternate worksites for adequacy and compliance with safety requirements.
- B. Absent unusual circumstance, home inspections will be conducted during normal working hours with prior notice of at least two (2) business days.
- C. Upon request by a participating employee, a NTEU representative may be present at a home inspection while in an official time status consistent with Article 30: Union Representatives and Official Time. Home inspections will not be unreasonably delayed to accommodate a request for NTEU presence at the home inspection.

Section 17. Agency Directed Return to Work & Changes to Telework Arrangements.

- A. Participating employee(s) must be available to work at the traditional worksite, normally with a one-day advance notice, when management makes a determination that the employee's presence is required. The employee may request to Telework on an alternate day, in cases where he/she is required to report to the traditional worksite on a regularly scheduled Telework day.
- B. When a participating employee is required to return to the traditional worksite on a temporary basis, the employee must report within a reasonable amount of time. Time required to report to the official worksite, including traveling distance and mode of transportation factors, will be taken into consideration in evaluating what is reasonable.
- C. Requests by the participating employee to change a scheduled Telework day(s) in-a particular week or biweekly pay period must be submitted in advance, prior to the effective date of the change, in writing, and approved by the Agency.
- D. In the event an employee is removed from Telework for cause, i.e., the employee is ineligible pursuant to the policies set forth in Section 4.D above, the employee will be expected to return to the traditional worksite on a permanent basis within a reasonable period of time.

Section 18. Employee Initiated Return to Work.

If a participating employee believes there is a need to return to the traditional worksite, the employee will normally provide their approving official with two (2) weeks advance notice. The notice will indicate if the return to the traditional worksite is temporary or permanent and also include a brief description of the reason(s) prompting the return to the traditional worksite.

Section 19.A. Employee(s) returning to the traditional worksite for any reason may not have the same working conditions they had prior to participating in a Telework arrangement.

- (1) The Agency will attempt to provide the returning employee with the same working conditions (work area space, equipment, etc.) that the employee possessed prior to participating in Telework.
- (2) In the event the returning employee's prior working conditions cannot be accommodated, the Agency, within a reasonable amount of time, will provide similar working conditions as other bargaining unit employees at the traditional worksite.

Section 20. Selection Order.

A. In following through with its commitment to support Telework, the Agency will make a good-faith effort to provide sufficient funding for Telework arrangements. In the event limited funding or resources result in limitations in selections for telework arrangement to fewer than the number of employees volunteering, the following hierarchy will be followed:

- (1) Employee with a disability;
- (2) Employee with temporary or chronic health problems, whom may otherwise choose to leave the Agency; then
- (3) All other selections will be made by seniority. Seniority is defined as time as a CBP employee in a position subject to telework. Ties will be broken by Service Computation Date (SCD), then coin flip. In the event, that selections are between employees in different positions, seniority will be determined by SCD.

B. Conflicts in days worked at the alternate work site will be resolved through seniority. However, seniority does not allow a new telework agreement to negate an existing agreement (e.g. a senior employee may not bump a junior employee who is on an existing agreement.)

Section 21. To foster the growth of and monitor the efficiency of the Telework program,

NTEU will be provided the same Telework data provided by the Agency in compliance with statutory or regulatory reporting requirements.

Section 22. Local Level Variation. By mutual agreement of the parties at the local level, post-implementation bargaining concerning the impact of changes in office space, selection orders, and any other Telework matter not in conflict with this Article or Agreement is permitted. “By mutual agreement” is an understanding that neither party is allowed to take post-implementation bargaining disputes to any method of impasse resolution.

MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE
DHS OFFICE OF STRATEGY, POLICY AND PLANS/
OFFICE OF IMMIGRATION STATISTICS
AND AFGE LOCAL 1924

1. PARTIES.

The Parties to this Memorandum of Agreement ("MOA") are the United States Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Office of Strategy, Policy and Plans/Office of Immigration Statistics (OIS) and the American Federation of Government Employees (AFGE) Local 1924 ("the Union") (collectively, "the Parties").

2. AUTHORITIES.

This MOA is entered into under the authority of the Federal Labor Management Relations Statute found in Title 5, United States Code, Chapter 71.

3. PURPOSE.

The purpose of this MOA is to document approval of, and terms and conditions for, the relocation of OIS bargaining unit employees (BUEs) from the DHS Nebraska Avenue Complex (NAC) to the St. Elizabeths campus.

4. TERMS AND CONDITIONS.

- a. Classification/Seat Selection: A list of non-supervisory OIS positions coded 8888 will be provided to the Classification Branch, where their bargaining unit status will be reviewed and corrected if warranted. For the purpose of the initial OIS seat selection process at St. Elizabeths, all non-supervisory OIS staff will be considered as being in the bargaining unit.
- b. Workspaces: All OIS bargaining unit employees (BUEs) will be in W-1 cubicles for the initial move. Any changes to these working conditions may be subject to impact-and-implementation (I&I) bargaining (e.g., staff who telework more than 50% of the time may be required to share workspaces in the future). Every cubicle will have a space where valuables can be locked. Work stations in offices and/or cubicles will be fitted with desktops and work surfaces that can be adjusted to desirable heights.
- c. Telework/AWS Pilot: The parties agree to complete bargaining over a new Memorandum of Agreement (MOA) on Alternative Work Schedules (AWS) and Telework (TW) as soon as practicable after the move of the office to the St. Elizabeths campus. The anticipated MOA will supersede the pilot MOA that was negotiated in 2016.

ACB
3-29-19
Mgt.

JA 3-29-19
Wet
A.P. 1924
-AT705

- d. LMR Meetings: By mutual agreement, the parties may have regular labor-management relations meetings to discuss the telework pilot and other matters of concern.
- e. Seating Preference: OIS BUEs will be given first preference whenever window cubicles become available in the designated OIS space.
- f. Workspace/Seating Assignments: These assignments in the designated OIS space will be determined by a two-tiered system of considerations. The first tier consideration is for employees who do not telework or only have episodic telework agreements. The second consideration tier is for employees on regular (core) telework agreements. If more than one BUE wishes to select the same workspace, seniority will determine the selection order.
- g. Seniority: For the purposes of OIS seating selection at St. Elizabeths, seniority is defined as:
1. Time in OIS
 2. Time in Federal Service
 3. Time in DHS Component
 4. Coin Toss
- h. Vacant Work Stations: Management will inform BUEs of the opportunity to move to vacant work stations as they become available. Employees may request a move to the vacant work station subject to the two-tiered consideration system and seniority as defined above. New on-boarding staff and employees temporarily assigned to OIS (e.g., Presidential Management Fellows, detailees, etc.) will be assigned to vacant work stations subject to the same rules, but only after first preference for vacant seating selection has been offered to current OIS BUEs.
- i. Seating Selection: OIS employees will be emailed a blueprint of the OIS seating arrangements at St. Elizabeths for review. A paper blueprint will also be provided at a staff meeting to allow the employees to choose their workspace in order of seniority as defined above. An employee may designate (in writing, to their supervisor) another employee (proxy) to request a seating assignment on their behalf.
- j. Ergonomic Assessments: Upon an employee's request to the immediate supervisor, ergonomic assessments will be made to ensure proper posture and the placement/use of equipment in the new work station. Management will inform the BU employees annually of this option by e-mail, with a copy to the president of AFGE Local 1924 and the designated OIS union stewards.
- k. Office Equipment: Employees may request from their supervisor a noise-cancelling telephone/computer headset, computer privacy screens and/or a mirror. Granting these requests is at management's discretion and is dependent on equipment availability and budgetary constraints.

McB
3-29-19
Mgt.

TA. 3-29-19
Went
AP 1924
Alt 706

- i. Transition Attire: Employees may dress casually on their packing and move-in days. Employees will be given a reasonable amount of time to pack and unpack their belongings.
- m. Transition production standards/project deadlines: Management will consider adjusting production standards and/or project deadlines during the moving transition. The moving transition timeframe includes packing date, unpacking date and equipment setup and troubleshooting.
- n. Advance Notice of Move: Management will give the Union and BUEs as much notice as possible on the exact dates of the moves in order for employees to make appropriate arrangements, including, but not limited to area parking. The current date of the OIS move is set for April 5, 2019.
- o. Temporary Workspace Disruption: If office construction or painting is not completed on time and an odor is present, the affected employees will be allowed to telework episodically if they have the necessary agreement or will be designated suitable work space in unaffected locations until the construction is completed and odors are abated.
- p. Union Office: Subject to availability, a hard-walled office with a locking door will be provided for the exclusive use of AFGE Local 1924. The office will contain suitable furniture (locking file cabinets, desk, chairs, and table) and suitable equipment, including a computer, monitor, printer, scanner, and telephone. The office may or may not be located in the Center Building or other suitable locations on the campus. Pending the availability of such an office, management will provide a locking file cabinet and a bulletin board for the exclusive use of AFGE Local 1924 within the designated OIS work area.
- q. Telework Equipment: Commensurate with DHS Telework Instruction 123-05-001, Section VI(E), "Telework Equipment and Services" and other relevant DHS policies, OIS BUEs may request suitable Government Furnished Equipment (GFE) for effective work at their alternative work site (such as one or two computer monitors), subject to the availability of funding and equipment inventory.
- r. Bargaining Teams: The parties were represented by bargaining teams of up to four (4) negotiators. The Union's bargaining team included employees from each of the two bargaining units (non-professional and professional). The parties informed each other of their chief negotiators and bargaining team members prior to the commencement of negotiations.
- s. Official Time: The Union's OIS members of the bargaining team were authorized appropriate official time by OIS management for the duration of the negotiations, including caucuses and actual time at the bargaining table.

MEB
3-29-19
Mgt

TA 3-29-19
Wgt
LF 1924
A1707

- t. Negotiations: The parties met on December 14, 2018, at the St. Elizabeths campus for a tour of the OIS workspace and informal pre-decisional involvement (PDI) discussions. The parties met again on March 8, 2019 at 3801 Nebraska Avenue, NW, to negotiate this Memorandum of Agreement.

5. OTHER PROVISIONS.

- a. Amendment and Modification: The Parties may propose amendments or modifications to this MOA as needed. The proposed amendments or modifications shall be in writing and forwarded to the other Party for consideration. Amendments or modifications to this MOA shall become effective by mutual written consent of the Parties.
- b. Review: The Parties agree that this MOA will be reviewed periodically to evaluate its effectiveness and make any necessary changes or updates.
- c. Effective Date: This MOA is effective upon the signature of all Parties.
- d. Severability: Nothing in this MOA shall be construed to conflict with current law, regulation, or directive of DHS. If a term of this MOA is inconsistent with such authority, that term shall be invalid to the extent of the inconsistency. The remainder of that term and all other terms of this MOA shall remain in effect.
- e. Rights and Benefits: Nothing in this MOA is intended to diminish or otherwise affect the authority of the agency to carry out its statutory, regulatory, or other official functions, nor is it intended to create any right or benefit, substantive or procedural, enforceable by law by any party against the United States, its agencies or offices, state agencies or officers carrying out programs authorized under federal law, or any other person.
- f. Disagreements: Should disagreement arise in the interpretation of the provisions of this MOA, or amendments and/or revisions thereto, that cannot be resolved at the operating level, the area(s) of disagreement shall be stated in writing by each Party and presented to the other Party for consideration. If agreement on interpretation is not reached within thirty (30) days, the Parties shall forward the written presentation of the disagreement to respective higher level officials for appropriate resolution.
- g. Funds Transfer: This MOA, in and of itself, does not result in the transfer of funds or other financial obligations between the Parties. No provision of this MOA shall be interpreted to require obligation or payment of funds in violation of the Anti-Deficiency Act, 31 U.S.C. § 1341. This MOA is subject to the availability of funds.
- h. Period of Agreement/Termination: This MOA will remain in effect until terminated by the Parties. The terms and conditions of this MOA may be amended or modified by the mutual agreement of the parties. Either party may request to re-negotiate these terms and conditions.

MCB
3-29-19
Mgt.

JA. 3.29.19
Wob
40-1524
A1708

6. POINTS OF CONTACT.

The point of contact for Management is the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Immigration Statistics. The point of contact for the Union is the President of AFGE Local 1924.

7. APPROVED BY.

For Management

For the Union

Date

Date

MCB
3-29-19
Mgt.

TA. 3-29-19
Walt
L. 1924

Homeland Security

OCT 22 2019

MEMORANDUM FOR: Celisa Stephens, Executive Director
Human Resources Management and Services
301 7th Street SW
Washington, DC 20024

Michael Knowles
President
AFGE, Local 1924
3408 Cypress Drive
Falls Church, VA 22042

FROM:
Deborah Eldredge
Acting Executive Director
Human Capital Policy and Programs

SUBJECT: Agency Head Review of Memorandum of Agreement between the DHS Office of Immigration Statistics and AFGE Local 1924

Pursuant to title 5, United States Code § 7114 (c)(1), the Memorandum of Agreement between the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Office of Immigration Statistics (OIS), and American Federation of Government Employees (AFGE), Local 1924 signed on September 27, 2019, concerning the Telework and Alternative Work Schedules for OIS bargaining unit professional and non-professional employees, was submitted for review. The Memorandum of Agreement has been reviewed and is hereby approved with the mandatory understanding that consistent with the Telework Enhancement Act of 2010, any employee that is officially disciplined for being absent without permission for more than five days in any calendar year or has been disciplined for violations of subpart G of the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties, will have their telework privileges permanently revoked.

Memorandum of Agreement Between
DHS Office of Immigration Statistics (OIS)
And
American Federation of Government Employees Local 1924

Parties

The parties to this Memorandum of Agreement (MOA) are Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Headquarters (HQ), Office Strategy, Policy, and Plans - the Office of Immigration Statistics (management) and American Federation of Government Employees (AFGE) Local 1924, on behalf of the professionals and non-professionals bargaining units in the Office of Immigration Statistics.

Purpose

The success and mission of the Agency is first and foremost a priority. A productive workforce is part of ensuring that success. Permitting telework arrangements may be an option for an employee to perform work at an approved alternative worksite such as the employee's home or a telework center. In broad terms, these are not mutually exclusive and flexibility should be considered in scheduling and administering telework. Communication of standards of performance, task requirements and management, and completion timelines are key to attaining desired outcomes and performance during telework and alternate work schedules.

This document outlines the terms and conditions of telework and alternate work schedule (AWS) described in section 4(c) of the Memorandum of Agreement regarding the relocation of OIS bargaining unit employees from the DHS Nebraska Avenue Complex (NAC) to the St. Elizabeths campus and supersedes the pilot agreement signed by OIS management and AFGE 1924 (Parties) on October 7, 2016.

Provisions

1. The Parties recognize that the mission of the agency takes priority over employee convenience and telework and AWS may be suspended or cancelled as a result of technological limitations or if customer service, office efficiency, or the agency mission is adversely affected (e.g., workload increase for other employees, team performance is reduced, unable to respond to customers/clients).
2. The Parties agree to utilize telework and AWS following the procedures below. On a quarterly basis, the Parties may mutually agree to meet to assess and evaluate this arrangement and may, by mutual agreement, make enhancements or modifications to these terms and conditions.

MRR 9/27/19

W. 1924
3/27/19

Telework

1. Eligible employees are able to work both regularly scheduled (core) and episodic telework. Eligible employees will be allowed up to three days per week of regular telework and in addition may perform episodic telework at management's discretion. Management may designate a day precluded from selection as a regular telework day on an office- or team-wide basis.
2. Employees may only routinely be out of the office up to three days per week, including regular telework and AWS days off. Telework-eligible employees who work a compressed or Maxiflex schedule may request up to two days of regular telework during the week of their regular AWS day off.
3. Managers will coordinate with individual employees to make determinations on the appropriate arrangement/scheduling of the telework days on a case-by-case basis. Telework days will be arranged so as to ensure adequate on-site coverage of teams for five days per week.
4. With appropriate business need (or pursuant to OPM guidance in the event of inclement weather), employees may request additional episodic telework days. Employees requesting episodic telework days must make an advance request, to the best of their ability, to their supervisor or his/her designee and receive approval for the use of episodic telework. Management will make determinations on the appropriate telework arrangement on a case-by-case basis.
5. Employees may be required to come into the office on scheduled telework days.
 - a. Employees unable to gain the connectivity necessary to perform their work must contact their supervisor or his/her designee. Employees may explore work options with their supervisor to see if any other work can be done without coming into the traditional worksite.
 - b. Participating employees must be available to work at the traditional worksite when management makes a determination that the employee's presence is required. When possible, management will notify employees by the end of their tour of duty the day before their next telework day if the employees need to report to the traditional worksite.
 - c. When an employee is notified to come into the office, the employee is expected to report to the office as soon as possible and should discuss the timing of their arrival with their supervisor. The employee may request to telework an alternate day in cases where the employee is required to report to the traditional worksite on their regularly scheduled telework day.
 - d. If the employee must come into the office after the employee's regular workday has begun, travel time into the office will be considered duty time. Employees

MAR 9/27/19

Wade
LP-1924
9.27.19

may request to use accrued leave or credit hours instead of coming into the office.

6. In the event management is unable to accommodate all requests for the same core telework day(s), priority will be given to employees based on seniority as follows: 1) time at OIS; 2) time in federal service; 3) time in a DHS Component and 4) coin toss. This condition will be applied by the individual OIS team manager to subordinate staff to ensure adequate on-site coverage necessary to meet mission goals.
7. Management will provide laptops, and other equipment as available, for effective performance of the assigned duties of employees while teleworking. Employees are expected to be available for meetings, whether on telework or non-telework days, and management will endeavor to make meetings as accessible as possible for teleworking employees so that teleworking may generally be as effective as working in the office. Teleworking and in-office employees will be accountable and responsible for responding to email messages, phone calls, and instant messenger in a timely manner.

Alternative Work Schedules

1. Employees may request a work schedule from management's schedule offerings which include:
 - Regular Schedule - fixed schedule, 8 hours/day, 5 days/ week
 - Compressed Schedule (5/4-9)
 - Gliding Schedule - 8 hours/day, 5 days/week, variable arrival/departure times
 - Maxiflex Schedule - flexible arrival/departure times, established flexible hours; one non-core day per pay period.
 - Variable Day Schedule - may vary arrival/departure times on a daily basis during the established flexible hours along with the length of the workday. (An agency may limit the number of hours an employee may work on a daily basis.) A full-time employee must work 40 hours a week.
2. Managers will coordinate with individual employees to make determinations on the appropriate arrangement/scheduling of requested AWS days on a case-by-case basis. AWS days will be arranged so as to ensure adequate on-site coverage of teams for five days per week.
3. For employees on a flexible schedule (Gliding, Variable Day, or Maxiflex), the core hours will be 9:30 AM – 3:00 PM, Monday - Friday. For all employees on a flexible schedule, the start time cannot be earlier than 6:00 AM and end time cannot be later than 7:00 PM. For all employees on a fixed schedule, the start time cannot be earlier than 6:00 AM and the end time cannot be later than 6:00 PM. Night differential and overtime pay will not be approved without advance written supervisory approval. Management will sometimes need to ensure an employee is in the office by a certain time to attend meetings or complete work assignments. Management will provide explicit notice, either by discussion, email, or in a meeting request to indicate that an employee will need to be in the office by a certain time. Example: employee on a gliding or flex schedule will need to attend a meeting at 9:00 AM to represent the agency. Nothing in this arrangement will interfere with management's right to assign work.

MRE 7/27/19

2019/12/24
18-9-27-19

4. Employees on a Maxiflex schedule may choose one non-core day per pay period. Management may designate a day precluded from selection as a non-core day. Employees may request to work on their non-core day(s) to make up hours or earn credit hours. Work on a non-core day(s) may be telework or at the traditional office.
5. Management may designate a day precluded from selection as a regular day off for employees on a compressed 5/4-9 schedule.
6. In the event management is unable to accommodate all requests for the same Maxiflex non-core day or compressed 5/4-9 regular day off, priority will be given to employees based on seniority as follows: 1) time at OIS; 2) time in federal service; 3) time in a DHS Component; and a 4) coin toss. This condition will be applied by the individual OIS team manager to subordinate staff to ensure adequate on-site coverage necessary to meet mission goals.
7. Employees on a flexible work schedule (Gliding, Variable Day, or Maxiflex) may work credit hours outside of their regular working hours if they receive advance supervisory approval. Employees may not carry over more than 24 credit hours from pay period to pay period, per OPM rules.
8. Employees may work overtime, compensatory time, or credit hours outside of their regular working hours if they receive advance written supervisory approval.
9. Employees must maintain their leave and telework schedules on the OIS telework and leave SharePoint calendar and designated IM software to indicate when they are working remotely or out of the office. Employees will activate their out of office notifications in their outlook on days when they are not scheduled to work.

Eligibility

1. New employees are limited to episodic telework during their initial time at OIS while inculcating culture, learning immigration and statistical information, and developing relationships with supervisors and coworkers. Employees will be eligible to request one regular telework day after completing three months at OIS. After an additional three months, they may request additional regular telework days.

MRR 9/27/19

9.27.19

2. Members of management are required to treat employees similarly, whether they are in the office or on telework. This includes frequency of contact, provision of opportunities, and oversight of performance. Managers may require employees to work in the office to afford increased engagement, direct/hands-on supervision, and/or work with other employees on projects. Telework schedule should not delay timelines for completion of work.
3. Employees' telework privileges may be suspended or revoked for disciplinary or performance reasons. Employees may request reinstatement of their telework after the issue has been resolved.
4. Eligibility for a telework arrangement is directly connected to the work duties assigned to a position. Examples of duties that may justify some or all employees in a position being ineligible for telework arrangements may include one or more of the following:
 - a. On-site activity that cannot be handled remotely or at an alternate worksite;
 - b. Office support, especially dealing with the public;
 - c. Hands-on contact with machinery, equipment, vehicles;
 - d. Duties that require the physical presence at all times; or
 - e. When customer service or Agency mission would be adversely affected (e.g., workload increase for other employees, team performance is reduced, unable to respond to customers/clients).

Denials and Requests

1. An employee's participation in a telework or AWS arrangement is voluntary and can be cancelled by the employee or revoked by management at any time. Telework and AWS are privileges, not rights.
2. Denials of applications to the telework program, whether regular or episodic, or to the AWS program, will be provided in writing to the employee. Specific reasons for the denial will be provided.
3. In the event an employee is removed from telework or AWS for cause (e.g., the employee is ineligible pursuant to the eligibility requirements stated above), the employee will be expected to return to the traditional worksite.

Points of Contact

Marc Rosenblum
 Deputy Assistant Secretary
 Office of Immigration Statistics
 (202) 447-3581

Michael Knowles
 President, AFGE Local 1924
 (703) 859-4426

MAR 9/27/19

Michael Knowles
 11.1924
 9.27.19

Other Provisions

Effective Date: This MOA will become effective upon agency head review and the date of the last signature.

Amendments: The Parties may propose amendments to this MOA, as needed. The proposed amendments shall be in writing and forwarded to the other Party for consideration. Amendments to this MOA shall become effective by mutual written consent of the Parties and upon incorporation in this MOA.

Review: The Parties agree that this MOA shall be reviewed periodically to evaluate its effectiveness and make any necessary changes, which shall be made only through written amendments.

Severability: Nothing in this MOA or any amendment shall be construed in a fashion that conflicts with law, regulation, or directive of the Parties. If a term of this MOA is inconsistent with such authority, that term shall be invalid to the extent of the inconsistency. The remainder of that term and all other terms of this MOA or any amendment shall remain in effect.

Disputes: The Parties will make best efforts to amicably resolve disputes that may arise under this agreement through discussions between them.

Termination: This agreement will initially remain in effect for three years unless modified or terminated by mutual agreement of the Parties. Following the initial period, it will automatically renew in one-year increments, unless modified or terminated by mutual agreement of the Parties.

APPROVED BY:

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
OFFICE OF STRATEGY, POLICY, AND PLANS

Marc Rosenblum
Deputy Assistant Secretary
Office of Immigration Statistics

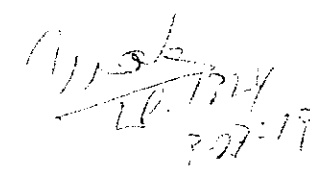

Nov. 25, 2019
Date

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES, LOCAL 1924

Michael Knowles
President
AFGE Local 1924

Date

mer 9/27/19

11/25/19
2019-11-25

ARTICLE 19: TELEWORK

SECTION 1. GENERAL

- A. The Parties agree to follow the policies and procedures set forth in FEMA Manual 123-9-1. Telework, dated January 9, 2013, except as otherwise provided in this Agreement.
- B. The purpose of telework is to complete the duties, responsibilities and other authorized activities (such as online training) of an employee's official position from an alternative worksite, other than at the location an employee normally works. FEMA promotes telework (also known as flexiplace, telecommuting, or work-from-home) as a workplace flexibility for recruiting top talent; retaining current employees; accommodating employees with disabilities; reducing the cost of office space, absenteeism, and use of workers compensation; and to ensure continuity of essential governmental functions in the event of an emergency.

SECTION 2. DEFINITIONS

- A. Emergency: Includes national and local security situations, extended emergencies, or other unique situations when the Agency is closed or access to an employee's official duty station or other agency facilities is limited.
- B. Regular Telework (Core): Work that is performed on an established work schedule at an approved AWL on a regular, recurring, and ongoing basis. Telework arrangements may be determined by the Supervisor to be full-time or part-time based on eligible telework duties and portable work needs (full-time arrangements must consider Section 3-3, Official Duty Station). Employees with Regular Telework agreements may also apply for Situational Telework in order to work on specific projects and/or in response to an emergency.
- C. Situational Telework (Episodic): Telework that occurs on an occasional, non-routine basis and/or during COOP/pandemic health crisis or other emergency situations. Supervisors have discretion to establish timeframes for Situational Telework (Episodic) based on work-related factors such as work priority, deadlines, etc. When making an approval for a situational telework agreement for a medical reason, special project, or accommodation request, the agreement must be reviewed and reapproved every 30 days. Telework arrangements may be determined by the Supervisor to be full-time or part-time based on eligible telework duties and portable work needs (full-time arrangements must consider Section 3-3, Official Duty Station). The definition of situational telework includes "unscheduled telework" as defined separately. Situational telework may be used:
 - 1. To allow an employee to perform work on a specific organizational project or a discrete portion of a project;
 - 2. To permit an employee to perform work at an AWL during inclement weather;
 - 3. To allow an employee to perform work when his/her official worksite is not accessible (e.g., building damage/emergency, or because of traffic disruption due to street closures, conventions, demonstrations, etc.);

4. To enable an employee to perform work at an AWL during an agency closure or early dismissal (see Section 3-9, Emergency Situations for further detail); or
 5. For an employee who is recovering from illness or an injury and is temporarily unable to physically report to the traditional office, as supported by documentation from the employee's physician.
- D. Telework: A flexible work arrangement under which employees perform the duties and responsibilities of their positions from an approved worksite other than the location from which the employee would otherwise work.
- E. Telework Application and Agreement: A written agreement of the terms and conditions of the telework arrangement that is completed and signed by the participating employee and the supervisor or designee(s).
- F. Unscheduled Telework: A term applied in the context of OPM's Washington, DC, Area Dismissal and Closure Procedures, in reference to telework that occurs on day(s) that a telework approved employee was not scheduled in advance to telework. This is considered a type of situational telework and applies to all FEMA locations.

SECTION 3. PROCEDURES

- A. Employees requesting to telework shall:
1. Complete the telework awareness training
 2. Prepare a telework documentation package (FEMA Telework Program Application and Agreement Form and FEMA Telework Health and Safety Checklist) in accordance with FEMA Manual 123-9-1
 3. Submit telework documentation package to supervisor for approval
 4. Submit approved telework documentation package to the Telework Coordinator
 5. Update Transit Subsidy application, if required.
- B. If a telework request is disapproved, the employee will be provided with justification for the disapproval.
- C. The telework arrangement may be terminated in writing by either management or by the employee with reasonable advance notice, generally fourteen calendar days, but not less than seven calendar days. When an arrangement is terminated by management, the supervisor must provide the employee with a brief, written explanation as to why.
- D. Management reserves the right, normally with one day notice, to require employees to return to the official duty location on scheduled telework days, based on operational requirements. Exceptions for a lesser notification may be appropriate in certain unforeseen situations.
- E. With supervisory approval, an employee may report to the office on any regularly scheduled telework day.

- F. Employees may request to have additional alternate work location approved following the procedure in paragraph A above.

SECTION 4. TERMS AND CONDITIONS

- A. Employees who telework must be available to their coworkers, supervisor, and customers in the same manner as if they were in their duty location. Specific communication expectations (e.g. use of Microsoft Lync) shall be addressed in the telework agreement, if necessary.
- B. Employee performance for teleworkers and non-teleworkers will be evaluated using the same performance management program and standards that cover workers at traditional office/duty locations. This includes providing all employees the same opportunities and treatment with regards to work assignments, periodic appraisal of job performance, awards, recognition, training and developmental opportunities, promotions, and retention incentives.
- C. While in a telework status, employees will not be treated differently nor will their administrative or reporting requirements to their supervisors vary from when working in the office (i.e. teleworking employees may only be required to report their status to their supervisor or to report on work accomplished or to be accomplished if required to do so when present in the office).
- D. Teleworkers are responsible for ensuring appropriate arrangements for the care of dependents at home if the home is their official telework duty location. That is, employees may not use telework to personally care for a dependent. However, this does not preclude a teleworker from having a caregiver working in the home providing care to the dependent(s) while he/she teleworks.
- E. Telework may not be used in lieu of sick leave.
- F. Time and Attendance, Work Performance and Overtime.
 - 1. Time spent in a telework status must be accounted for and reported in the same manner as if the employee reported for duty at the official duty station. The employee is required to satisfactorily complete all assigned work, consistent with the approach adopted for all other employees in the work group, and according to standards and guidelines in the employee's performance plan.
 - 2. The employee agrees to follow their normal mission area/agency/staff office procedures regarding the requesting and approval of overtime, credit hours, and leave that are worked while in a telework status.
 - 3. All approved telework hours are to be reported in the WebTA Time Attendance and System.
- G. Teleworking employees continue to be bound by DHS and FEMA standards of conduct and performance directives and policies while working at the alternate worksite.

SECTION 5. EMERGENCIES

- A. Employees shall monitor, read and comply with OPM or Agency announcements unless otherwise directed by their supervisors. In situations of emergency closings, late openings, or early dismissals, employees shall follow the procedures set forth in FEMA Manual 123-9-1, Chapter 3-9.
- B. The Agency may require any employee to telework in accordance with an activated Continuity of Operations Plan (COOP).
- C. Supervisors may excuse telework ready employees from work and grant annual or administrative leave with pay, as appropriate, when an emergency adversely affects the telework site (e.g., disruption of electricity, loss of heat, loss of connectivity, etc.), or if the teleworker faces a personal hardship that prevents him or her from teleworking effectively. Dependent care needs do not ordinarily entitle a teleworker to administrative leave; annual leave will be granted as appropriate.

SECTION 6. OFFICIAL TIME FOR UNION REPRESENTATIVES

In locations where Union office space is not provided, Union representatives may use official time in accordance with the Official Time Article while in a telework status. Union representatives must be on an approved telework agreement for such official time to be approved.

CBA 2019

PROFESSIONAL EMPLOYEES AGREEMENT

U.S IMMIGRATION AND CUSTOMS ENFORCEMENT AND AFGE LOCAL 511

American Federation of Government Employees, AFL – CIO
Effective Date September 1, 2019

ARTICLE 17

TELEWORK PROGRAM

Section 1. Introduction

- A. Telework is a work arrangement in which the employee performs officially assigned duties at an approved worksite or Alternate Duty Station (ADS) away from the employee's primary worksite. Telework is intended to provide benefits to the Agency and employees through increased productivity, flexibility, and reduced commuting time and expenses. Telework also relieves congestion on the nation's transportation systems and conserves resources. Telework may also play a critical role in emergency situations by establishing communication patterns and dispersed offsite capabilities, thereby ensuring the continuity of essential functions following a serious disruption to the Agency's operations. An ADS can include a government or private telework center, the employee's home, or other approved location equipped with the necessary standard office equipment as described in Section 5.F.
- B. Eligible employees may telework to the maximum extent possible without negatively impacting employee performance or mission accomplishment. Eligible employees are employees in a position with tasks determined by the Agency as being suitable for telework. Employees must also meet the Telework Program eligibility requirements described in Section 3.
- C. Decisions to approve telework will be made on a case-by-case basis. Teleworking is not an entitlement or right, and a telework agreement may be terminated by either the employee or the Agency.

Section 2. General Considerations

- A. Telework schedules may vary depending upon the individual arrangements agreed to by the employee and the authorizing Agency official.
- B. This program provides for two (2) types of telework pursuant to a telework agreement:
 - 1. Core Telework. Work scheduled in advance and performed at an ADS on a regular and recurring basis one or more days per pay period.
 - 2. Situational/Episodic. A telework arrangement used on an occasional, non-routine, or irregular basis at the Agency's discretion, for part of a day, for individual days or hours within a pay period, or for several pay periods on a temporary basis for an appropriate purpose, such as:
 - a. temporary incapacitation due to injury or illness;
 - b. more efficient completion of a project;

- c. potential emergency situations;
- d. temporary accommodation of an employee's disability; or
- e. other legitimate reasons as determined by the Agency.

C. Participants in telework may be permitted to use alternative work schedules.

Section 3. Eligibility Criteria

A. When determining whether a task, function, or project may be suitable for telework, consideration should be given to the following position-related eligibility criteria:

- 1. whether tasks are portable and can be performed effectively outside the employee's primary worksite;
- 2. whether tasks are measurable or project-oriented;
- 3. whether client or customer contacts are foreseeable or may be satisfied by frequently checking voicemail for messages;
- 4. whether work contacts can be adjusted to allow for telephone communications or work assignment can be accomplished when the teleworking employee is not at the primary worksite;
- 5. whether materials, data, and communications needed to carry out telework tasks present a security risk or breach of confidentiality to DHS, ICE, or its customers;
- 6. whether the integrity and confidentiality of any document removed from the Agency would be protected from disclosure;
- 7. whether tasks require extensive face-to-face contact with the supervisor, other employees, stakeholders, customers, or the general public; and
- 8. whether tasks involve the employee receiving substantial supervision or oversight or providing mentoring or assistance on a continuous basis.

B. The Authorizing Official has sole discretion to determine the weight to be given to each of the various factors listed in Subsection A.

C. Employees who have worked for the Agency less than one year will not be allowed to participate in the telework program, except on an occasional Situational/Episodic basis.

D. An employee may be authorized to telework if the following eligibility criteria are met:

- 1. the employee has not received disciplinary action within the last 12 months;

2. the employee's most recent performance appraisal reflects a rating of at least "Fully Successful," "Meets Expectations," or the equivalent for each critical element;
3. the employee is not on a Performance Improvement Plan (PIP), as provided in Article 24;
4. the employee is not on leave restriction;
5. the employee has a history of reliable and responsible performance of duties, trustworthiness, professionalism, and subject matter expertise;
6. the employee has the workspace, utilities, and equipment suitable for the work to be performed at the designated ADS as specified in a telework agreement;
7. the designated ADS complies with reasonable safety standards, including, but not limited to, the building's electrical system is grounded and all equipment is free of hazards that would cause physical harm (e.g., frayed, bare, loose, or exposed wiring); telephone lines, electrical cords, and extension wires are secured under a desk or alongside a baseboard; the work area is free of obstructions and hazardous materials; the temperature is conducive to health, comfort, and proper equipment maintenance; equipment and furniture are in good condition and ergonomic;
8. the employee signs and abides by a telework agreement;
9. there is no more than a de minimis adverse impact on other employees in terms of workload, exposure to standby responsibilities, or reassignment of duties;
10. the employee has dependent care arrangements to permit concentration on work assignments and acknowledges that telework is not to be used as a substitute for dependent care; and
11. the employee's absence from the primary worksite would not interrupt normal operations.

Section 4. Approval/Disapproval/Termination of Telework Agreements

- A. Employees desiring to participate in telework will submit a written request to their immediate supervisor using the Telework Program Agreement (Appendix H). The Parties acknowledge that rare circumstances may exist where the Agency may approve an employee's request to telework prior to the execution of a written agreement.
- B. Employees must identify portable work or a specific work project or assignment and will include the proposed work schedule and days to be worked away from the primary worksite.
- C. The Agency will use its best efforts to review and approve or disapprove the request in writing within 14 days of receipt or as soon thereafter as practicable.

- D. If the request is approved, the Telework Program Agreement will be signed and executed. If the request is disapproved, the employee will be provided a written explanation.
- E. Telework agreements for participation on a Core Telework basis are in effect for six (6) months from the date of signing and may be initiated or renewed only during the Employee Decision Period (EDP) set forth in Article 15. Upon entry on duty, a transferee may request participation in telework without waiting for the next EDP. On a case-by-case basis, the employee may be allowed or required, as applicable, to change the established schedule to meet special needs of the employee or the Agency.
- F. The Agency may suspend, modify, or terminate the Telework Program Agreement on account of such factors as employee performance concerns or failure to abide by telework program requirements, operational needs of the Agency, and changed circumstances, such as budget, staffing, workload demands, and availability of portable work. Notice shall be provided to the employee in writing with reasons for the action. The employee must be provided a reasonable opportunity to return to the primary worksite (generally, one pay period for Core Telework participants). Where arrangements to return to the primary worksite cannot be completed within the time established by the Agency, additional time may be authorized. An employee may reapply to participate in a Core Telework schedule during the subsequent EDP.

Section 5. Guidelines

- A. In cases of scheduling conflicts between two (2) or more employees where the employees do not reach agreement, and all factors are equal, the employee with the most seniority, as defined in this Agreement, will be given priority in choosing a telework schedule. In case of a tie, the conflict will be resolved by a toss of a coin in the presence of the employees. Upon request, the supervisor will give the Union an opportunity to be present either in person or by phone during any meeting to resolve the conflict.
- B. In the event that an employee's scheduled workday at an ADS falls on a holiday, the employee may not substitute any other day in the workweek as his or her telework day.
- C. Employees may be required to report to their primary worksite for events, including, but not limited to, training programs, conferences, or meetings, or to perform on a short-term basis work that cannot otherwise be performed at the ADS. When situations occur that require the employee to report to the primary worksite, travel to and from the office is normal commuting time and is not considered hours of work, nor compensable as local travel. In cases requiring that an employee report to the primary worksite, the employee will be provided reasonable advance notice and reasonable time to report. Where notice is given after the beginning of the employee's scheduled workday, the employee's normal travel time will be considered hours of work. The employee should make every effort to report as soon as possible. With good and sufficient reason, the employee will be permitted up to two (2) hours to report.
- D. Except as specified otherwise in this Article, employees performing work at the ADS are eligible for the same benefits and privileges and are subject to the same requirements and other provisions of this Agreement as employees performing work at the primary worksite.

- E. Teleworking employees must be vigilant in maintaining information security. The employee will adhere to DHS and ICE policies and applicable government regulations governing information management and electronic security procedures for safeguarding data.
- F. The Agency will provide, maintain, and repair any electronic equipment it deems necessary (e.g., computers, printers, scanners, FAX machines) for the employee to perform the portable work at the ADS.
- G. The employee will exercise care and due diligence in safeguarding all government equipment.
- H. Where the ADS is the employee's home, the employee will be responsible for home maintenance and any other incidental costs (e.g., electricity, phone, lockable storage, furniture, insurance) associated with the use of the ADS.
- I. On a day when an employee is scheduled to work at the ADS and his or her official duty station building is closed as a result of an emergency situation for all or part of the day, the employee is required to perform work at the ADS unless the emergency situation prevents the work from being performed at the ADS or causes the employee to be unable to perform assigned duties.
- J. If an emergency or other situation occurs at the ADS that affects the employee's ability to perform official duties, the employee will notify his or her supervisor as soon as practicable. The employee will be directed to report to the primary or another worksite, granted leave if requested, or directed to make other arrangements as necessary to meet the needs of the Agency.
- K. Employees working at an ADS are entitled to early dismissals and/or administrative leave granted by the Agency for holidays or other special observances to the same extent as the employees at the primary worksite.
- L. In case of injury, theft, loss, or potential tort liability related to telework arrangements at the employee's home, the teleworking employee will allow timely inspection of the telework site. The Agency will give the employee reasonable notice prior to any inspection of the telework site where the ADS is the employee's home.
- M. The Agency shall provide to the Union President or designee copies of any new or modified Telework Program Agreements that are approved during each EDP for bargaining unit employees who participate on a Core Telework basis.

Section 6. Effect of Telework with Regard to Temporary Assignments

- A. An employee who participates in a telework program may apply for temporary assignments on the same basis as those who are not on a telework schedule.

- B. The Agency may involuntarily assign an employee who is working a telework schedule to temporary assignments on the same basis as those who do not participate in the telework program.

APPENDIX H

TELEWORK PROGRAM AGREEMENT

The following constitutes an agreement between the Agency and _____ [Name of Employee] on the terms and conditions of the employee's participation in the telework program, consistent with Article 17 of the Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA). The employee certifies that:

1. The employee's Alternate Duty Station (ADS) is located at the following address:

Telephone # _____

2. The ADS may not be changed without prior approval of the Authorizing Official.
3. The ADS has the workspace, utilities, and equipment necessary to perform official business.
4. The employee's home ADS complies with reasonable safety standards and is free from obvious safety hazards. This includes, but is not limited to, the following: the building's electrical system is grounded and all equipment is free of hazards that would cause physical harm (frayed, bare, loose, or exposed wiring); telephone lines, electrical cords, and extension wires are secured under a desk or alongside a baseboard; the work area is free of obstructions and hazardous materials; the temperature is conducive to health, comfort, and proper equipment maintenance; and equipment and furniture are in good condition and ergonomic. Additionally, the employee will ensure that the ADS is conducive to productivity, comfort, safety, and health.
5. When performing work at the ADS, the employee will adhere to the work schedule approved pursuant to the EDP (i.e., duty hours and days remain the same).
6. If the employee has children, elderly family members, or other dependents who require care, the employee has made arrangements that permit full concentration on work duties. The employee acknowledges that telework is not to be used as a substitute for dependent care.
7. The employee will record time and attendance for work performed at the ADS in the Agency's system of reporting time and attendance (e.g., WebTA).
8. The employee will follow established procedures for requesting and obtaining approval for leave at the ADS.
9. On a day when the employee is scheduled to work at the ADS and the employee's official duty station is closed for all or part of the day as a result of an emergency, the employee will perform work at the ADS as scheduled unless the emergency prevents the work from being performed at the ADS or causes the employee to be unable to perform his or her duties. If an emergency or other situation occurs that affects the employee's ability to perform official duties at the ADS, the employee will notify a supervisor as soon as practicable.

10. An employee performing work at the ADS on a core basis will work in accordance with an approved Telework Program Work Plan (see Appendix I). Upon reasonable notice, employees may be required to report to the primary worksite for training programs, conferences, meetings, or other Agency needs.
11. The employee will be responsible for home maintenance and any other incidental costs (e.g., furniture, lockable storage, insurance, telephone, electricity) associated with the use of the employee's home as the ADS.
12. The employee retains entitlement to reimbursement for appropriately authorized expenses incurred while conducting business for the Agency, as provided for by law and implementing regulations.
13. The Agency will provide, maintain, and repair any electronic equipment it deems necessary (e.g., computers, printers, scanners, FAX machines) for the employee to perform the portable work at the ADS.
14. Any accident or injury occurring at the ADS must be brought to the attention of a supervisor as soon as practicable. Where the ADS is the employee's home, the employee will allow timely inspection of the telework site. The Agency will give the employee reasonable notice prior to any inspection of the telework site where the ADS is the employee's home. An injured employee will be provided information on submission of a claim to the Office of Workers' Compensation Programs, U.S. Department of Labor.
15. All government-issued equipment will be used for official purposes only. The employee will exercise care and due diligence in safeguarding such equipment.
16. Teleworking employees must be vigilant in maintaining information security. The employee will adhere to DHS and ICE policies and applicable government regulations governing information management and electronic security procedures for safeguarding data. Attachment 1 to this Telework Program Agreement summarizes some of the more pertinent requirements applicable to a telework environment.
17. I have read and will abide by the requirements and conditions for telework as stated above.

EMPLOYEE: _____
 (Signature of Employee)

Date _____

APPROVED: _____
 (Signature of Authorizing Official)

Date _____

SUMMARY STATEMENT OF
U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY AND
U.S. IMMIGRATION AND CUSTOMS ENFORCEMENT
INFORMATION SECURITY ASSURANCE REQUIREMENTS

Teleworking Employees Must Be Vigilant in Maintaining Information Security:

- A. Consistent with government-wide, DHS, and ICE security and information technology policies, only government-furnished computer equipment shall be used to create, store, receive, and transmit government information for all telework. All government-issued equipment such as laptops, desktop computers, or removable media, including mobile devices, USB data ports, thumb drives, and portable or removable hard drives, used in a telework arrangement shall be encrypted in compliance with DHS encryption requirements in order to protect their contents in case of loss or theft. Employees who have been granted the opportunity to telework are responsible for the security of all government information and the protection of all government-issued equipment at the Alternate Duty Station (ADS).
- B. Personally Identifiable Information (PII). PII is DHS-owned information in any form that permits the identity of an individual to be directly or indirectly inferred, including any other information that links or is linkable to that individual regardless of whether the individual is a U.S. citizen, a lawful permanent resident, a visitor to the United States, or an ICE employee or contractor.
- C. Sensitive PII is personally identifiable information that, if lost, compromised, or disclosed without authorization, could result in substantial harm, embarrassment, inconvenience, or unfairness to an individual. Information that is always considered Sensitive PII includes social security numbers and biometric identifiers, such as fingerprints and iris scans. Except when used as a case number, an alien registration number is considered Sensitive PII. In addition, groupings of information which contain an individual's name or other unique identifier plus certain other information (e.g., full date of birth, financial account number, driver's license number, medical information, and account passwords or personal identification numbers) may be considered Sensitive PII. Other PII may be "sensitive" depending upon its context, such as a list of employees with less than satisfactory performance ratings or an unlisted home address or phone number. In contrast, a business card or a public phone directory of Agency employees contains PII but is not "sensitive."
- D. Sensitive but Unclassified or "For Official Use Only" (FOUO) Information. FOUO is information not otherwise categorized by statute or regulation that, if disclosed, could have an adverse impact on the welfare or privacy of individuals, the conduct of federal programs, or other programs or operations essential to the national interest. FOUO is unclassified but due to its nature must be protected from loss, misuse, modification, and unauthorized access.

Examples of FOUO include Sensitive PII, trade secrets, system vulnerability information, pre-solicitation procurement documents, and law enforcement investigative methods.

E. Teleworking employees:

1. shall not remove and transfer any classified data from their primary worksite to their ADS.
2. shall not physically remove Sensitive PII or FOUO from a DHS facility or their primary worksite unless it is properly secured during transport to and storage at their ADS. For information that requires explicit permission for removal, e.g., electronic PII, the information may not be removed from a DHS facility without such permission.
 - a. Sensitive PII and FOUO in electronic form shall be encrypted during transport to and from the ADS and shall be encrypted while stored on government-issued equipment or portable media at the ADS. Portable media that once contained Sensitive PII and FOUO must be destroyed or appropriately wiped of all data once retention of the information is no longer necessary. Portable media may not be reused by employees for other non-work purposes. Program Office Information System Security Officers (ISSOs) can assist employees with appropriate means to encrypt, wipe, or destroy Sensitive PII and FOUO.
 - b. Sensitive PII and FOUO in paper form shall be secured at the ADS by keeping the materials in a locked container when not in use and protecting the information from access by others present at the site (such as family members, roommates, visitors, etc.). Employees shall secure Sensitive PII and FOUO in paper form during transport to and from the ADS by enclosing the paper in a closed container or opaque envelope that is sealed to prevent inadvertent opening and show evidence of tampering. Such documents must remain in the employee's possession or in a safe, locked container at all times. Materials no longer needed at the ADS shall be shredded or returned to the primary worksite for appropriate disposal.
 - c. Sensitive PII and FOUO that was physically removed or extracted from an information technology (IT) system (printouts, CDs, etc.) shall be properly disposed of within 90 days, unless it is appropriately deemed necessary to retain such information for a longer period.
3. must ensure that any records subject to the Privacy Act, DHS Privacy Policy Guidance Memorandum 2007-01, and FOUO are not disclosed to anyone except those who have been authorized to access such information in order to perform their duties.
4. may not, under any circumstances, allow any unauthorized person who may have access to their ADS to use any government-issued electronic equipment.

APPENDIX I

TELEWORK PROGRAM WORK PLAN

(Note: This Telework Program Work Plan is to be completed jointly by the employee and immediate supervisor.)

- 1. The employee’s portable work, as described in Section 3.A of Article 17 of the Collective Bargaining Agreement, is as follows:

- 2. The employee is scheduled to perform work at the ADS on the following day(s) of each pay period (circle as appropriate):

First week: Mon. Tues. Wed. Thurs. Fri.

Second week: Mon. Tues. Wed. Thurs. Fri.

- 3. The following is an inventory of equipment and/or reference material that will be provided by the government in order for the work to be performed at the ADS. The inventory is guided by the responsibilities or assignments, or portion thereof, that the employee will perform at the ADS.

Signature of Employee

Date

Signature of Authorizing Official

Date

MASTER AGREEMENT

AFGE TSA COUNCIL 100 & TRANSPORTATION SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

2024

EFFECTIVE DATE | MAY 24, 2024

A1735

2024 COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT

writing of those schedules in advance of the administrative workweek. Those work schedules must fall within Monday through Friday during the hours of 0600 and 1800.

- b. Union representatives serving on 100% official time will not participate in the shift and annual leave bid(s).
 - i. Union representatives on 100% official time who complete their full-time official time service may select any shift schedule that would have been available to them during the latest shift bid, consistent with their seniority, and will work that schedule. They will then participate in the next applicable shift bid.
 - ii. Union representatives who were on 100% official time and who complete their full-time official time service will be allowed to take all previously approved annual leave. Any subsequent annual leave requests must be made consistent with Article 20: Annual Leave Bid Process.
 - c. The Parties understand that union representatives on 100% official time who want to telework must follow TSA MD 1100.30-5, Telework Program, and associated Handbook.
 - d. Within thirty (30) days of the effective date of this Agreement, all union representatives on 100% official time must complete the required TSA electronic system training. Starting the first pay period after completion of the training, unless the TSA electronic system is not available or the local airport permits the submission of paper time and attendance records, representatives on 100% official time must submit and validate their time and attendance records in the TSA electronic system each pay period. For union representatives designated on 100% official time after the effective date of this Agreement, they must complete the required TSA electronic system training within thirty (30) days from the date they begin 100% official time service and, unless the TSA electronic system is not available or the local airport permits the submission of paper time and attendance records, validate their time and attendance records in the TSA electronic system starting the first pay period after completion of the training.
 - e. Unless the TSA electronic system is not available or the local airport permits leave requests to be submitted in accordance with Article 17: Attendance Management Process, all requests for leave will be submitted to the designated management official in the TSA electronic system.
 - f. Time and attendance records must be annotated appropriately to record a union representative's use of official time.
7. Work schedule assignments, participation in shift and annual leave bid(s), and administrative matters for union representatives on 50% official time:
- a. Union representatives on 50% official time will work with local management to schedule their official time duties and TSA duties.

2024 COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT

- b. Union representatives on 50% official time are required to participate in the shift and annual leave bid(s) consistent with Article 19: Shift Bid Process and Article 20: Annual Leave Bid Process.
- c. The Parties understand that union representatives on 50% official time who want to telework while on official time (i.e., not during the part of their schedule when they are performing screening functions) must follow TSA MD 1100.30-5, Telework Program, and associated Handbook.
- d. When they are performing screening functions, union representatives will be required to use the designated time clock station in accordance with Article 17: Attendance Management Process.
- e. For the part of their schedule when on official time, union representatives will submit a paper time and attendance record (provided by management) to the designated management official.
- f. All requests for leave will be submitted consistent with Article 17: Attendance Management Process and Article 20: Annual Leave Bid Process.
- g. Time and attendance records must be annotated appropriately to record a union representative's use of official time.

E. AD HOC OFFICIAL TIME:

- 1. Union representatives who are not on 100% and 50% official time can request and may be approved for official time on an ad hoc basis consistent with this Article. Union representatives who are on 50% official time can request and may be approved for official time on an ad hoc basis only for up to eighty (80) hours per calendar year for the purpose of attending union trainings.
- 2. The Parties understand that union representatives on ad hoc official time who want to telework while on official time must follow TSA MD 1100.30-5, Telework Program, and associated Handbook.

F. OFFICIAL TIME BANK:

- 1. A bank of 75,000 total official time hours will be allocated for ad hoc use per calendar year, consistent with the requirements of this Article, subject to appropriations.

NOTE: Union representatives on 100% official time are ineligible for ad hoc official time, and Union representatives who are on 50% official time can request and may be approved for official time on an ad hoc basis only for up to eighty (80) hours per calendar year for the purpose of attending union trainings.

2024 COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT

ARTICLE 15: TELEWORK

A. PURPOSE: Although the duties of a bargaining unit employee generally must be performed in-person, the Parties recognize that there are certain tasks (e.g., certain special assignments, representational duties performed by union representatives) which may successfully be performed at an Alternative Worksite. Therefore, the purpose of this Article is to address telework for eligible bargaining unit employees.

B. DEFINITIONS:

1. Telework: For the purposes of this Article, telework is a flexible work arrangement under which an employee performs the duties and responsibilities of such employee's position, and/or other authorized activities, from an approved alternative worksite other than the location from which the employee would otherwise work.
2. Alternative Worksite: A location where management has approved an employee to perform official duties away from the employee's regular worksite. An alternate worksite is the approved telework location (e.g., employee's residence, another TSA worksite, etc.).
3. Official Worksite: The location where the work activities of an employee's position of record are based, as determined by the employing office. An employee's official worksite is the "duty station" documented on the employee's Notification of Personnel Action, Standard Form 50 (SF-50).

C. GENERAL:

1. In addition to this Article, the Parties understand that TSA MD 1100.30-5, Telework Program, and the associated Handbook provide TSA policy and procedures for TSA's Telework Program. In the event of a conflict, the provisions of this Article shall govern.
2. The Parties understand telework participation is at the discretion of management and subject to management approval. Telework participation is not an employee entitlement or right.
3. Bargaining unit employee participation in the telework program is voluntary.
4. Performance standards and performance management practices for employees participating in telework and those who do not participate in telework must be the same and consistent with TSA's performance management system.
5. Teleworkers may not provide dependent care (e.g. childcare, eldercare) during work hours while participating in a telework arrangement; teleworkers must make arrangements for dependent care. This provision will not be interpreted to mean that such dependents may not be present in the teleworker's Alternative Worksite during times of telework.

2024 COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT

6. Bargaining unit employees who telework continue to be bound by TSA standards of conduct and all applicable TSA policies while working at the Alternative Worksite and/or using Government-Furnished Equipment (GFE).
7. The Parties understand that representational duties of Union representatives are suitable for telework.

D. BARGAINING UNIT EMPLOYEE ELIGIBILITY:

1. To be eligible for telework, the bargaining unit employee must:
 - a. not be on a Performance Improvement Plan (PIP);
 - b. [Blank] The Parties did not reach agreement on this provision.
 - c. complete and sign all applicable telework forms;
 - d. complete all mandatory telework training; and
 - e. comply with all other applicable eligibility requirements specified in TSA policy.
2. The Agency may terminate the telework arrangement of any bargaining unit employee who does not continue to meet all eligibility requirements.

E. TELEWORK AGREEMENT:

1. The Agency will require a bargaining unit employee to complete and sign all applicable telework forms prior to beginning work at an Alternative Worksite.
2. The Parties understand TSA may inspect employees' alternative worksites during their normal working hours to ensure proper maintenance of GFE and conformance with safety standards as appropriate.
 - a. [Blank] The Parties did not reach agreement on this provision.

Memorandum of Understanding (MOU)
between the United States Coast Guard (USCG)
and the American Federation of Government Employees, Council 120

Subj: TELEWORK PROGRAM INSTRUCTION, COMDTINST 5330.4A

The United States Coast Guard (Agency) and American Federation of Government Employees, Council 120, (Union), hereinafter jointly referred to as the Parties, enter into this MOU. The term “employee” in this MOU is understood to mean bargaining unit employee(s) represented by the Union. As background, the Agency intends to implement the Telework Program Instruction, COMDTINST 5330.4A. As a result, the Union was notified of the implementation of the Instruction on 20 July 2022. The Union requested a briefing on 25 July 2022, which was conducted 27 July 2022. The Union notified the Agency on 21 July 2022 that it did not wish to bargain, as Telework is currently covered in the Master Labor Agreement (MLA). However, the Union agreed to discuss implementation of the revised instruction. The Parties have agreed to a resolution as follows:

1. Telework for bargaining unit employees will be implemented in accordance with law, regulation, or policy.
2. As referenced in the MLA, Article 3, Section 3.02B, whenever a provision of a policy conflicts with the MLA, the MLA governs.
3. For “COMDTINST 5330.4A, 15. Program Requirements, (c) telework eligibility,” Sections 9.01, 9.02, 9.03, and 9.07 of the MLA will apply.
4. All bargaining unit employees currently engaged in telework will be required to complete a new Telework Agreement using the revised Telework Agreement Form, Form CG-5330 and the Telework Safety and Security Check, Form CG-12630D. For those that currently have an approved telework agreement upon signature of this MOU, completion of the new forms in accordance with implementation of COMDTINST 5330.4 should not be treated as a new telework request, unless the employee requests a change in telework schedule. Approved telework arrangements will be maintained unless there is a business need to adjust or the employee is now considered remote for purposes of reporting requirements. In the case of a remote worker, the remote work instruction and requirements apply.
5. Any new or revised requests for telework will require completion of new forms.
6. Telework agreements will normally be reviewed annually. An agreement will normally remain in effect for one year, but may be adjusted when there is a change in work schedule, or other impacting circumstances. During review, telework arrangements will normally be maintained unless there is a business need to adjust.
7. Employees shall follow leave procedures in accordance with Article 8 of the MLA.

8. For delayed arrivals, teleworkers, including telework-ready employees, who do not to report to the official worksite, must telework the entire day (e.g. they are not authorized delayed arrival), request unscheduled leave, or a combination of both for the entire workday.
9. In accordance with Article 9, Section 9.11(D) of the MLA, employees should take steps to ensure they are prepared for telework (regular and situational teleworkers) if “inclement” weather conditions are imminent. Weather and safety leave may be approved on a case-by-case basis.
10. Employees are encouraged to complete a telework request for situational telework, when needed.
11. Union Representatives. Union representatives who telework while performing union activities are responsible for adhering to applicable policies and negotiated agreements consistent with their performance of union activities at the agency or appropriate alternative worksite.
12. Unscheduled telework is an option that allows employees to telework from home or a nearby alternative location when severe weather conditions disrupts commuting or for other unforeseen circumstances occur. The employee must request unscheduled telework from their immediate supervisor.
13. Employees will not print at their telework location. Employees can print necessary documents on an in-office day.
14. Employees must be accessible and responsive during the work day.
15. The Parties enter into this MOU voluntarily and should any portion of this MOU be found in conflict with law, government-wide regulation or the MLA, the portion in conflict will be rendered unenforceable.
16. This MOU becomes effective upon the date of the last signature of the parties involved.
17. The Parties agree that they may bargain unanticipated impacts during the upcoming Master Labor Agreement negotiations.
18. This MOU will remain in effect until all terms contained herein are executed.

Subj: TELEWORK PROGRAM INSTRUCTION, COMDTINST 5330.4A

For the Agency:

For the Union:

Kristin Lovewell
CG-1241, Labor Relations Lead

Lydell King
President, AFGE Council 120

Date 9/9/2022

Date _____

LaShonna Cabrera
CG-124, ER/LR Specialist

Angela Hicks
Vice President, AFGE Council 120

Date: _____

Date: _____

Memorandum of Understanding (MOU)
between the United States Coast Guard (USCG)
and the American Federation of Government Employees, Council 120

Subj: REMOTE WORK PROGRAM, COMDTINST 5330.11

The United States Coast Guard (Agency) and American Federation of Government Employees, Council 120, (Union), hereinafter jointly referred to as the Parties, enter into this MOU. The term “employee” in this MOU is understood to mean bargaining unit employee(s) represented by the Union. As background, the Agency intends to implement the Remote Work Program, COMDTINST 5330.11. As a result, the Union was notified of the implementation of the Instruction on 20 July 2022. The Union requested a briefing on 25 July 2022, which was conducted 27 July 2022. The Union submitted proposals on 9 August 2022. In consideration of those proposals, the Parties have agreed to a resolution as follows:

1. Remote work for bargaining unit employees will be implemented in accordance with law, regulation, or policy.
2. Bargaining unit employees engaging in remote work are subject to the provisions of the COMDTINST 5330.11, except for the additional terms identified below.
3. All bargaining unit employees wishing to engage in remote work will be required to complete a Remote Work Agreement, Form CG-12630, and the Telework or Remote Work Self-Certification Safety and Security Checklist, Form CG-12630D.
4. An employee will be eligible for remote work if the position is eligible unless they are denied for the reasons in COMDTINST 5330.11, 17.c.(4) “Not Eligible Under Any Circumstances.”
5. For initial eligibility purposes for bargaining unit employees, an unacceptable decline in performance, in accordance with Section 17.c.(4)(c) of COMDTINST 5330.11, is described as currently on a performance improvement plan/demonstration period (PIP/PDP) or having been placed on a PIP/PDP in the last two (2) years. The two (2) year timeline starts on the effective date of the action.
6. For initial eligibility purposes for bargaining unit employees, a decline in conduct, in accordance with Section 17.c.(4)(d) of COMDTINST 5330.11, is described as currently on leave restriction, or having been on leave restriction or formally disciplined for misconduct, which could damage the integrity of the Remote Work Program, in the last three (3) years. The three (3) year timeline starts on the effective date of the action. Impacts the integrity of the program
7. The Agency will normally provide the bargaining unit employee an approval/denial within fifteen (15) days of the remote work request.

8. Bargaining unit employees engaged in remote work are eligible for any early liberty that is granted to teleworkers and in-office workers.
9. The Union will be provided a list of the bargaining unit positions ineligible for remote work within (90) days of the last signature of this MOU. Commands will provide a business reason for all positions ineligible for remote work. If the Union identifies discrepancies with the initial list of bargaining unit positions ineligible for remote work, they may request to meet with CG-124 to discuss. This meeting should be requested within thirty (30) calendar days after the initial list is submitted to the Union.
10. Union Representatives. Union representatives who work remotely while performing union activities are responsible for adhering to applicable policies and negotiated agreements consistent with their performance of union activities at the agency or appropriate alternative worksite.
11. Bargaining unit employees will not print at their remote work location.
12. Bargaining unit employees shall communicate temporary/permanent changes to signed remote work agreement, including request to change to official worksite.
13. Bargaining unit employees must be accessible and responsive during the work day.
14. While on an approved remote work agreement, if a bargaining unit employee is placed on a PIP/PDP, management may, in its sole and exclusive authority, determine that the employee may continue to work remotely during the duration of the PIP/PDP.
15. If a remote work agreement is terminated by the Agency, the employee will normally be provided advance notice of thirty (30) calendar days to report to an Agency designated official worksite. If the employee refuses to report to the Agency designated official worksite, the Agency may initiate a directed reassignment. If the termination of a remote work agreement is at no-fault of the employee, meaning the relocation is management directed, the employee will be entitled to relocation expenses or relocation incentives in accordance with the Federal Travel Regulations and Coast Guard policies.
16. Employees required to relocate in accordance with a management-directed reassignment will be entitled to relocation expenses or relocation incentives in accordance with the Federal Travel Regulations and Coast Guard policies. If employees are selected for a Coast Guard job opportunity announcement as remote workers, and the remote work requires relocation (e.g., OCONUS to CONUS), these actions are considered management-directed.
17. If a bargaining unit employee is mandated to perform remote work, the Agency will notify the Union in accordance with Article 39 of the MLA to fulfill its labor obligations.
18. Nothing in this Agreement restricts management's right to immediately terminate a remote work agreement for egregious concerns of safety, conduct, or performance.

19. Currently, bargaining unit employees have access to Microsoft Teams, which allows for calls/video calls through their computer. As briefed to the union on 7 June 2022, the Agency intends to provide employees the ability to make and receive phone calls using a dedicated phone number from a computer via a software-based telephone.
20. Current bargaining unit status is based on the current Federal Labor Relations Authority (FLRA) Certificate of Recognition. The Union will be notified in accordance with the MLA, Section 2.04(B) for all changes in bargaining unit status. For certificates of recognition that are based on geographic location, the Agency will assist with the process of filing a petition to have the certificate of recognition changed so it is based by Command. The FLRA has the authority to make the final decision on the appropriate unit and certificate of recognition.
21. The Union can submit a request for information for terminated remote work agreements in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 7114. Upon request by the Union, the Agency will provide redacted terminated remote work agreements. This information can be requested up to two (2) times per calendar year.
22. The Parties enter into this MOU voluntarily and should any portion of this MOU be found in conflict with law, government-wide regulation or the MLA, the portion in conflict will be rendered unenforceable.
23. This MOU becomes effective upon the date of the last signature of the parties involved.
24. This MOU will remain in effect until all terms contained herein are executed.

For the Agency:

LOVEWELL.KRISTIN
Digitally signed by
LOVEWELL.KRISTIN.ANN.1300565
081
Date: 2022.09.09 17:45:49 -04'00'

Kristin Lovewell
CG-1241, Labor Relations Lead

Date 9/9/2022

CABRERA.LASHONNA
Digitally signed by
CABRERA.LASHONNA.RENEE.107
7225184
Date: 2022.09.15 10:35:20 -04'00'

LaShonna Cabrera
CG-124, ER/LR Specialist

Date: _____

For the Union:

Dr. Lydell King
Digitally signed by Dr. Lydell King
Date: 2022.09.10 08:19:13 -04'00'

Lydell King
President, AFGE Council 120

Date _____

Angela Hicks
Digitally signed by Angela Hicks
Date: 2022.09.12 11:58:24 -04'00'

Angela Hicks
Vice President, AFGE Council 120

Date: _____

Memorandum of Understanding

Article 12, Telecommuting

Article 12 of the Negotiated Agreement between NFFE Local 1164 and USCG CEU Providence is amended by mutual agreement between the Union and Management to reflect government wide policies, including Public Law 111-292, Telework Enhancement Act of 2010, that offer more flexibilities and options for employee telecommuting.

The following changes to the Negotiated Agreement have been agreed upon by the Union and Management:

Section 1. The Employer recognizes that a traditional office environment is not always necessary to provide a high level of service and quality of work for our customers. The CEU Providence Telecommuting Program is established by the Negotiated Agreement and COMDTINST 5330.4, Coast Guard Telework Program.

This program will be carried out under the provisions established by COMDTINST 5330.4 and the Negotiated Agreement. The Parties recognize that participation in the telecommuting program is a privilege and not an employee entitlement and that all positions are not appropriate for inclusion in the telecommuting program. Telecommuting participant selection is in accordance with Paragraph 8, PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS, of COMDTINST 5330.4.

Should the Employer decide to terminate the telecommuting program in its entirety, the Employer will inform the Union and the Union will request impact and implementation bargaining.

Section 2. Regularly scheduled telework arrangements may vary from 1 or 2 days per week, at least 3 days per week, once a month, or for occasional use on a project basis. Telecommuting options also include unscheduled 'situational' telework during severe weather conditions or conditions and events which disrupt normal commuting and work routines. Situational telework may also be used on a project basis. Such requests will be on a project by project basis and will be coordinated with the supervisor; considering the nature of the project and the employee's access to technology. Teleworkers must report to their official worksite at least 2 days per biweekly pay period. Telework may also be provided as a reasonable accommodation for an employee who is temporarily unable to come to the main worksite but is capable of working, or as a reasonable accommodation for employees with more permanent disabilities or medical conditions. Ongoing participation in telework arrangements is not automatic, and supervisors may change, modify, or terminate participation due to employee performance deficiencies, or specific mission needs. The Employer has final authority on telecommuting schedules and decisions.

Memorandum of Understanding
Article 12, Telecommuting

Section 3. Employees will submit a request to telecommute to their supervisor in writing. Requests will be submitted to the supervisor at least one week prior to the start of telecommuting. The supervisor will approve/disapprove the request in writing. If the request is disapproved, the basis for disapproval will be provided in writing. CEU Providence supervisors shall not create blanket policies banning telework for employees in their respective branches. Employees who are appropriate telework participants, in billets or positions deemed eligible for telework by COMDTINST 5330.4, shall have the right to request telework. Prior to the start of a new telework agreement, both the employee and supervisor must complete the training required by COMDTINST 5330.4, and if intending to work from home, the employee must complete (the supervisor must review and sign) the telework safety and security self-certification checklists contained in COMDTINST 5330.4. Employees and Supervisors may execute a telecommuting agreement prior to completing the training and self-certification checklists, but actual telework may not begin until these steps are completed. An Employee Telework Agreement, form CG-5330, shall be signed by both the employee and the supervisor for all regularly scheduled telework arrangements, and situational telework arrangements that are used on an infrequent basis to facilitate continued productivity during isolated events (such as severe weather) when (for safety reasons) an employee would prefer to not travel to the office for their assigned tour of duty.

Section 4. The CEU Providence telework coordinator will provide oversight of the CEU Providence telecommuting program. The Employer will publicize the CEU Providence telecommuting program on the CEU Providence bulletin board and will annually publicize the program in the All Hands Meeting. The Employer will provide the Union with a copy of the summary Telework Data referenced in COMDTINST 5330.4.

Section 5. Paragraph 12.h. of COMDTINST 5330.4 requires employees that telecommute to complete self-certification checklists (included as enclosures to the instruction) for their home work space to ensure it meets health, safety, building code, physical security, and other requirements. Supervisors may deny employees the opportunity to participate in, or rescind telework agreements based on safety or security problems in the home.

Section 6. To support continuity of operations during emergency situations, teleworkers, including telework-ready employees and military members, are expected to continue working during announcements of office closure, arrival delay, or early dismissal. When the office is closed and the telework site is impacted by the emergency, supervisors may exercise their authority to grant excused absence to that affected teleworker on a case-by-case basis (e.g. when power outages or network connection problems prevent telework). In the event of a closure, and if not teleworking, teleworkers must contact their supervisors to request leave (or excused absence) and properly document their status in WebTA or other appropriate timekeeping system. Employees and military members teleworking within their regular tour of duty during periods of office closures, arrival delays, or early dismissals cannot receive overtime pay, credit hours, or compensatory time.

Memorandum of Understanding
Article 12, Telecommuting

Authorized Representative, NFFE Local 1164

Date

Commanding Officer, USCG CEU Providence

27 MAR 2014
Date

Workforce Relations Advisor, CG-1214

28 MAR 2014
Date

Article 9 – Telework

Section 9.01 – General

- A. The parties recognize the benefits of a teleworking program. Balancing work and family responsibilities, and meeting environmental, financial, and commuting concerns are among its advantages. In recognizing these benefits, both parties also acknowledge the needs of the Agency to accomplish its mission. The teleworking program applicable to bargaining unit employees will be governed by law, government-wide regulations, this Article, and Supplemental Agreement provisions.
- B. All bargaining unit positions will be considered telework eligible unless the Agency determines that such arrangement would diminish employee performance or diminish Agency operations. A supervisor can approve for an employee to telework up to four (4) days a week. The parties recognize that some positions may have duties that make the position eligible for telework on an ad hoc or episodic basis only. The parties recognize that a position may be appropriate for telework but the employee occupying the position may not meet the telework eligibility criteria established by law, regulation, or this Agreement. The Employer will comply with telework notice requirements as established in the Telework Enhancement Act of 2010.
- C. Telework may be done on a regular basis with a pre-determined schedule or on an ad hoc or episodic basis, such as when an employee has a short-term need for uninterrupted time to complete work on a complex project or report, or is recovering from illness or an injury and is temporarily unable to physically report to the traditional office. In all cases, employees wishing to telework must complete an interactive training program, as required by law and government-wide regulation. In addition, employees who wish to telework must have a signed written telework agreement.
- D. Teleworkers and non-teleworkers will be treated the same for purposes of:
 - 1. Periodic appraisals of performance of employees;
 - 2. Training, rewarding, reassigning, promoting, reducing in grade, retaining, and removing employees;
 - 3. Work requirements; and
 - 4. Other acts involving managerial discretion.
- E. Individuals who telework on an ad hoc or episodic basis and may be asked to telework in the event of a national or local emergencies or other situations that may disrupt normal operations are encouraged to practice telework periodically.
- F. Employees with an approved telework agreement should expect to be required to telework during closures or emergencies.

Section 9.02 – Criteria

- A. Employees who meet the following criteria are eligible to request a teleworking work arrangement:
 - 1. The employee has a rating of record of “meets” or higher and is not on a Performance Improvement Plan (PIP);

2. An employee who is not on leave restriction and has not been officially disciplined for being absent without permission for more than five (5) days in any calendar year;
3. The employee must be able to complete assignments in a timely manner without close and frequent supervisor review;
4. The employee has the work space, utilities, equipment and reference materials suitable for the work to be performed at the designated alternative duty station as specified in the Telework Program Agreement;
5. The employee is willing to sign and abide by the Employee Telework Agreement and complete/sign the Self-Certification Safety Checklist and Self-Certification Security Checklist; and
6. An employee serving a probationary period or formal training program will normally be restricted from participating in the telework program. Such determination will be based on supervisory discretion and made on a case-by case basis. Normal progression of an employee through a career ladder, in and of itself, does not necessarily constitute a formal training program.

Section 9.03 – General Position Consideration Criteria

- A. There are some general criteria that would make a position appropriate for teleworking consideration. Those criteria include but are not limited to the following:
 1. Portable work activities that can be performed outside of the office.
 2. Quantifiable or project–orientated tasks.
 3. Unclassified work for which data security is acceptable. Classified information is not allowed at home work sites nor is it permissible to access classified data or messages while teleworking.
 4. Off-site technology to perform the work is readily available.
 5. Customer service needs, including face to face requirements, and meeting participation requirements can be met on non-teleworking days or through other acceptable means.

Section 9.04 – Procedures for Teleworking Requests

- A. Where a teleworking program is implemented, requests will be handled as follows:
 1. Employee requests for either a fixed teleworking schedule or on an ad hoc basis will be made in writing (email is acceptable) to the employee’s immediate supervisor. The employee’s request will state the desired teleworking schedule through the Individual Telework Agreement.
 2. The supervisor will respond to the request in writing (email is acceptable) within seven (7) days. If the request is denied, the supervisor will specify the reason(s) for the denial. The employee may request a meeting with the supervisor to discuss the reasons for denial. If the request is approved, the response will specify the approved teleworking schedule.

Section 9.05 – Individual Telework Agreement

- A. Prior to participating in the telework program, employees are required to complete an Individual Telework Agreement \(ITA\) contained in COMDTINST 5330.4 \(Series\), currently Form CG-5330. Employees are responsible for ensuring the information in the ITA is maintained up to date. The following provisions in the ITA are modified as follows:
1. The employee may consult with his/her Union representative during the joint development of the ITA.
 2. Supervisors may require an employee to attend/participate in staff meetings in person or via telephone with sufficient notice.
 3. Agency will not inspect a person's home for the purposes of this article.
 4. Supervisors have the discretion to require employees to work, request leave approval, or grant excused absence during a facility closure.
 5. Employees are encouraged to have a personal preparedness plan for the telework location following the guidance available at www.ready.gov.
 6. If there is a conflict between the ITA and the Master Labor Agreement (MLA), the MLA prevails.
- B. Employees will signify they have volunteered to participate in the telework program and will certify their intentions to abide by the provisions of this Agreement by signing and dating the ITA. Employees must also complete and sign the relevant checklists contained in COMDTINST 5330.4 \(Series\).
- C. Once an ITA is established, it will normally remain in effect for one year, but may be reviewed and adjusted more frequently as needed. Normally the ITA will be completed within fifteen (15) days of the request, and should include the following:
1. General work assignments, including special priorities
 2. A listing of the necessary equipment and/or resources
 3. The approved telework schedule
 4. Signature of the employee and supervisor

Section 9.06 – Family Care

- Telework is not a substitute for family, child, or elder care. The expectation is that telework time is exclusively for the performance of work.

Section 9.07 – Participation, Denial, or Removal

- A. The Agency may deny participation or remove/suspend an employee from telework program participation for the following reasons:
1. Participation threatens the security of U.S. Coast Guard data, information, or equipment.
 2. The employee has demonstrated inability to adhere to the provisions of the Telework Agreement, to include reduced work production, non-responsiveness to telephone calls or e-mails (as specified), non-availability, failure to maintain a safe alternate duty site, or teleworking has proven to place an undue burden on other office staff.

3. The employee no longer meets the eligibility criteria in Section 9.02, or the position no longer meets the eligibility criteria in Sections 9.01 or 9.03 of this Article.
 4. When participation diminishes Agency operations.
- B. Normally, employees will not be removed/suspended from participation for a single, minor infraction of telework program requirements. Supervisors will make a bona fide effort to counsel employees about specific problems before effecting removal/suspension from the program. When a decision is made to remove/suspend an employee from the telework program, the employee will be advised in writing (e-mail is acceptable). This notice will indicate the reason(s) for the removal/suspension. Unless otherwise indicated, an employee who is removed/suspended from participation due to employee cause (e.g., misconduct, performance, non-responsiveness), may reapply for participation in the program after one (1) year provided the basis for the removal/suspension has been corrected. If the employee's participation has been stopped because of mission-related reasons, the employee can ask for reconsideration once the mission-related basis has changed or ended.

Section 9.08 – Problems Affecting Work Performance

- Employees will promptly inform their supervisor whenever problems arise at the alternate duty site that adversely affects their ability to perform work (e.g., equipment failure, power outages, telecommunication difficulties or outages). If an employee is unable to continue to work that day at the alternate duty site, the employee will be expected to return to the official duty station as soon as possible or may request leave. At the supervisor's discretion, the employee may occasionally be granted short periods of excused absences (less than one (1) hour) for such situations.

Section 9.09 – Hours of Work and Leave

- Employees performing work at the alternate duty site are subject to the same leave and workday requirements as they would be if they were performing work at their regular duty site and continue to be covered by Article 6, Hours of Work, Article 7, Overtime and Standby Duty, and Article 8, Leave of this Agreement. Employees performing work at the alternate duty site are reminded they are not authorized to work overtime or official compensatory time or to adjust their work schedule, except as specifically authorized in advance by their supervisor. Employees shall record telework time in the time and attendance system as part of their normal attendance recording.

Section 9.10 – Temporary Changes

- A. Employees may be required to report to their regular duty site for previously scheduled training, other meetings, or to perform work on a short term basis that cannot otherwise be performed at the alternate duty site or accomplished via telephone or other reasonable alternative methods.
- B. Employees may also be required to report to their regular duty site for unanticipated operational exigencies to perform Agency work which the supervisor has determined cannot otherwise be performed on another workday, at the alternate duty site, via telephone, or other reasonable alternative methods. In such cases, employees will be provided reasonable advance notice when possible, and be provided a reasonable amount of time to report. Employees should make every effort to report as soon as possible.

Section 9.11 – Emergency Closing/Late Opening/Early Dismissals

- A. When a regular duty site is closed due to an emergency for all or part of a day, employees teleworking that day, or who could telework that day, may be required to work rather than being excused from duty. Such requirement should be addressed in the Employee's ITA. The supervisor may excuse a teleworking employee from duty during an emergency closing/dismissal situation if the emergency also adversely affects the alternate duty site, if the employee faces personal hardship that prevents him/her from working successfully at the alternate duty site, or if the employee's duties are such that he/she cannot continue to work without contact with the regular duty site that is closed. Employees, who are required to work during their regular tour of duty on a day when their command is closed or when employees are dismissed early, are not entitled to receive overtime pay or compensatory time.
- B. If employees at the regular duty site are granted early dismissal for a holiday (e.g., Thanksgiving, Christmas Eve, New Years Eve), the employee working at an alternate duty site is considered on duty and will also be dismissed early.
- C. The parties also agree that the provisions of Section C provide the employee the opportunity to request modifications to their ITA, as needed. Employees may request modifications to include Telework during "emergency situations at the employees request", which would provide the employee the option of requesting Telework on any day that the Agency has granted unscheduled leave or unscheduled Telework and/or other personal emergencies. Supervisors may allow employees to Telework during "emergency situations at the employees' request based on the availability of work at the Telework worksite.
- D. When "inclement" weather conditions (snow storm, hurricane, etc) are imminent, supervisors and employees should take steps to ensure that the employee will have sufficient work to do while teleworking and are prepared for Telework. Employees who are on an ITA and who do not have Common Access Card Remote Access Server access will be given a Common Access Card reader and log in instructions or be allowed to take home their Common Access Card reader, which will allow the employee access to web email and Coast Guard portals. The parties recognize that there may be situations where, due to employee absences prior to an "inclement" weather condition, sufficient work may not be available for the employee to Telework. The supervisor will make the determination on whether there is sufficient work available for the employee to Telework on a case-by-case basis.

Section 9.12 – Additional Requirements

- A. Employees participating in telework will be required to:
 - 1. Observe existing policies for requesting leave;
 - 2. Utilize any government owned/leased equipment for official purposes only and safeguard government owned/leased equipment and documents as is required at the regular duty site; and
 - 3. Adhere to applicable government regulations concerning information management, protection of personally identifiable information, protection of Privacy Act information, and safeguarding data and databases.

4. Properly code their timecards

Section 9.13 – Satellite Offices

- The parties will meet periodically, at either party's request, to discuss the feasibility of establishing satellite office locations. Discussions will focus on accessibility of General Services Administration sites, employee interest, and availability of Agency funding. Prior to establishing satellite office locations, the parties will negotiate as appropriate, procedures for working at other established locations.

Section 9.14 – Staff Coverage

- Staff coverage requirements will be determined by each Command. The parties recognize that teleworking does not necessarily detract from coverage requirements for positions that do not require an "in office" presence. The parties recognize that, for some positions, telework may enhance coverage requirements especially in situations where Continuity of Operations is important (e.g., inclement weather, emergencies).

Section 9.15 – Local Emergency Situations

- In the event of a local emergency situation, which adversely affects employees' ability to commute to the workplace (e.g., transit strike, natural disaster), upon the request of either party, the parties will meet to discuss possible temporary telework arrangements for affected employees.

Section 9.16 – Grandfather Clause

- Employees who are teleworking on an approved agreement may remain on telework and will not have to reapply. To the extent that any provisions of those agreements do not conform to this Article, the provisions of this Article will govern.

2. The employee requests representation.
- C. The Employer will advise, in writing, employees of the unit of this right annually.
- D. In some circumstances, a written memorandum may be used as a substitute for an oral examination in connection with an investigation. In such cases, where the criteria of subsection B of this Article are met, the employee is entitled to the opportunity to consult with a Union representative prior to completing the memorandum.
- E. Interviews in connection with misconduct investigations may be conducted at any reasonable hour.

ARTICLE 17

TELECOMMUTING

Section 1. Introduction

- A. Telecommuting is an employee-initiated work arrangement away from the employee's normal duty location. The term "telecommuting" encompasses and supersedes the term "flexiplace."
- B. Employees may telecommute provided that telecommuting 1) meets needs of the telecommuting employee, 2) meets the Employer's needs, and 3) does not adversely affect other employees.
- C. An employee does not have an automatic right to participate in telecommuting. The Employer may approve the request, may approve the request with modifications, or may deny the request. The Employer is expected to make reasonable and reasoned decisions.

Section 2. General Considerations

- A. Telecommuting may vary, depending upon the individual arrangements agreed to by the employee and the supervisor.
- B. This program provides for three types of telecommuting:
 1. Regular. Work scheduled in advance and performed at an alternative workplace on a regular and recurring basis.
 2. Short-term, Situational. A telecommuting arrangement used on an occasional basis, for part of a day, for individual days or hours within a pay period, or for several pay periods on a temporary basis for an appropriate purpose, such as:
 - a. Temporary incapacitation due to injury or illness;

- b. More efficient completion of a project;
 - c. Accommodation of an elderly or disabled employee;
 - d. Meeting environmental, financial, or commuting concerns;
 - e. Accommodation of personal or family responsibilities; or
 - f. Other legitimate reasons.
3. Episodic. This is a third type of telecommuting that is available on an ad hoc, short-term basis. Supervisors retain the authority to authorize episodic use of an alternative work location by which employees are allowed to work at other than their normal duty location to complete a project or other task on an ad hoc, short-term basis. This does not necessitate compliance with all the telecommuting application procedures, including executing an agreement. Supervisors are still required to ensure employees are working their duty hours and are completing the work justifying the alternate work location.
- C. Participants in telecommuting will normally be permitted to use alternative work schedules subject to approval.

Section 3. Eligibility Criteria

- A. The employee must identify sufficient portable work that meets the office's organizational needs.
- 1. Portable work. Portable work is work that is either a part of the employee's regular assignment; and/or an office's regular workload; and may be performed with equal effectiveness at another location.
- B. The employee must have completed the probationary period.
- C. The employee's latest rating of record is "fully successful," "pass," or better; the employee is not on a performance improvement plan.
- D. The employee is not on leave restriction.
- E. The employee has a history of reliable and responsible performance of duties, including dependence and dependability in accomplishing work assignments in the current organization.
- F. The employee has not received any disciplinary or adverse action in the last 12 months that would adversely affect the integrity of the program or the INS, and is not the subject of any pending disciplinary or performance-based action.

- G. The alternate work site complies with reasonable safety standards, and has adequate workspace and equipment needed to perform official business.
- H. Surplus equipment is available for employee's use, or funds are available to provide, install and maintain necessary equipment and services needed to perform work, if the employee does not have or is unwilling to use personal equipment and services for official business.
- I. There is no more than a de minimis adverse impact on other employees in terms of workload, exposure to standby responsibilities, or reassignment of duties.
- J. The employee has dependent care arrangements to permit concentration on work assignments.
- K. The employee's absence from the work site would not unduly interrupt facility operation.

Section 4. Approval/Disapproval/Termination of Telecommuting Agreements

- A. Employees desiring to participate in telecommuting will submit a written request to their supervisor. The written request will identify portable work and will include the proposed work schedule and days to be worked away from the office site.
- B. The supervisor will review the request and respond in writing within 14 calendar days of receipt.
- C. If the supervisor denies the request for telecommuting, the supervisor will provide the employee with a written explanation.
- D. If the request is approved, a written agreement will be signed.
- E. Agreements will be no more than one (1) year in length with an opportunity to execute a new agreement upon expiration.
- F. An employee may make an emergency request orally and the supervisor may grant or deny it orally. The parties will execute a written agreement as soon as possible.
- G. Employee participation in the telecommuting program is voluntary and the employee may terminate the program at any time. The employee's Notice of Termination will be in writing to the approving official who will acknowledge it in writing.
- H. The supervisor may temporarily suspend, modify or terminate the telecommuting agreement for good cause or Employer need. The supervisor may take into account such factors as the success of the arrangement in achieving Employer's objectives, and changed circumstances such as changes in budget, staffing, and workload demands.

Notice shall be provided to the employee in writing with reasons for the required action. The employee must be provided a reasonable opportunity to make arrangements to return to the normal work site. The supervisor will provide written notice of its decision to modify or terminate a telecommuting arrangement in accordance with Article 9 Section 1.A of this Agreement.

Section 5. Guidelines

- A. Whenever a supervisor receives two (2) or more employee requests for approval of overlapping telecommuting arrangements or concludes that the combined absences would have an adverse impact on the Employer or other employees, the supervisor shall inform the employees that both of the requests cannot be approved. The supervisor shall thereafter meet with the employees to determine whether the parties can reach agreement to modify or limit the requests to satisfy the employees' needs and meet the Employer's needs.

The supervisor will give the Union an opportunity to be present (either in person or by telephone) at such meeting. If the parties do not reach agreement, and all factors are equal, the supervisor will give the employee with seniority, as defined in this Agreement, priority in determining which telecommuting schedule will be allowed.

- B. In the event that an employee's scheduled workday at a work site away from the normal duty location falls on a holiday, the employee may not substitute any other day in the workweek as his or her telecommuting day.
- C. A supervisor may, at any time, temporarily suspend the telecommuting privilege for meetings, training, or other Employer need, and require that the employee report without delay to the normal duty location or other location. When situations occur that require the employee to return to the normal duty location, travel to and from the office is normal commuting time and is not considered hours of work.
- D. Overtime and compensatory time for employees participating in the telecommuting program will conform to applicable law and regulations.
- E. Policies and practices for requesting and using leave will conform to applicable law, regulations and this Agreement.
- F. Facilities/Equipment/Supplies.
1. The employee is responsible for providing the equipment necessary to complete all tasks. The Employer will make a good faith effort to provide the necessary equipment, software, supplies, and services required for employees to participate in the telecommuting program subject to the limitations of the Employer's budget.
 2. The Employer will not be responsible for operating costs, home maintenance costs, or any other incidental costs (for example, utilities and insurance) associated with the use of the telecommuting work site. The employee is entitled to reimbursement for appropriately authorized expenses while conducting business for the Employer (for example, official telephone call) as provided for by law and regulations.

- G. Employees participating in the telecommuting program will not be excused from work because workers at the normal duty location are dismissed or not required to report to work due to an emergency, if the emergency does not affect the work being performed at the alternate work location. If an emergency occurs at the alternate work site that affects the employee's ability to perform official duties, the employee will immediately notify his or her supervisor. The supervisor will direct the employee to another work site, grant an excused absence, allow the employee to request leave, or make an arrangement as needed to meet the needs of the Service.
- H. In case of injury, theft, loss, or potential tort liability related to telecommuting arrangements, the telecommuting employee will allow inspection of the telecommuting site. The Employer will give the employee reasonable notice prior to any inspection of the telecommuting site.
- I. The Employer will provide the Local President with copies of telecommuting work agreements of bargaining unit employees at the time the agreement is approved.

Section 6. Effect of Telecommuting with Regard to Temporary Assignments

- A. An employee who is working a telecommuting program may apply for temporary assignments on the same basis as those who are not on a telecommuting schedule.
- B. The Employer may involuntarily assign an employee who is working a telecommuting schedule to temporary assignments on the same basis as those who are not on a telecommuting program.

ARTICLE 18

DISCIPLINARY/ADVERSE ACTIONS

- A. The parties recognize that all individuals make mistakes. The Employer has the right and obligation to identify and correct both conduct and performance deficiencies. Corrective action can include counseling (both oral and written), letters of reprimand, disciplinary actions (suspensions of one (1) to 14 days), and adverse actions (suspension of 15 days or more, reductions of grade or pay, furloughs of 30 days or less, and removal).
- B. Counseling is a non-disciplinary action. Counseling may be accomplished orally or in writing. Counseling shall be used to constructively encourage an employee's improvement in the area of conduct. Oral and written counseling will be conducted in private with the affected employee.
- C. A letter of reprimand is considered the first level of disciplinary action. A reprimand is used to correct misconduct. When the Employer serves a letter of reprimand, the Employer will allow the employee and/or his or her representative 10 calendar days to request a reconsideration. The employee may request reconsideration either orally, in writing, or both.

ARTICLE 29 – TELEWORK

(a) GENERAL

- (1) The Parties agree that telework is an important and critical business model to USCIS that should be utilized to the maximum extent possible.
- (2) Telework is a voluntary program that is authorized when an employee's officially assigned duties can be performed at an alternate location and the criteria specified in this Article can be met. The purpose of this Article is to ensure that eligible employees may participate in telework, if the employee so chooses, to the maximum extent possible without diminishing the employee's performance or mission accomplishment. Participation in a telework arrangement is not an employee right.
- (3) The Parties recognize that core and episodic/situational telework arrangements benefit employees and the Agency by, among other things, providing for Continuity of Operations (COOP). Teleworkers may be called upon to telework during times of COOP and are responsible for being familiar with Agency and workgroup COOP plans and individual expectations during COOP events.
- (4) Teleworkers may not provide dependent care for children and/or other family members during work hours while participating in a telework arrangement; teleworkers must make other arrangements for dependent care. This provision shall not be interpreted to mean that such family members may not be present in the teleworker's alternative work site during times of telework.
- (5) Telework and work schedule flexibilities can provide employees with the flexibility to manage their work-life balance. Managers and supervisors should consider individual employee needs while ensuring that telework does not diminish Agency operations.
- (6) USCIS employees who telework continue to be bound by DHS and USCIS standards of conduct and policies while working at the alternative worksite and/or using government furnished equipment. Teleworkers shall be treated the same as those working at the traditional worksite for all work-related purposes.
- (7) The use of electronic communications technologies and systems may be required to promote effective communication when an employee is on duty. The specific uses of such electronic communication technologies and systems must be bargained with the Union prior to implementation of the use of the electronic communication technology and/or systems as required by laws, government wide-rules and regulations, and Executive Orders.
- (8) Employees with a disability who are not eligible or approved for telework under the Telework Program may be entitled to telework as a form of reasonable accommodation under USCIS MD 3090-1 and may apply for telework under those separate procedures.

(b) POSITION ELIGIBILITY

The Agency will determine which positions are suitable for telework. The Agency will review these determinations on a recurring basis to ensure that positions are included in the telework program to the maximum extent possible, and will communicate any determination changes to affected employees, the Council, and the Local Union(s) of the affected employees. Agency telework position eligibility decisions are made by the actual duties and tasks performed by the position. The appropriate Agency Approving Official or designee is responsible for determining "Position-related" eligibility. The Agency will identify the Agency Approving Official(s), in advance, to the Union. The Parties recognize that some positions are not eligible for telework. These positions involve tasks that are not suitable to be performed away from the traditional work site, including, but not limited to, tasks that:

- (1) require the employee to have daily face-to-face contact with colleagues, clients, or the general public in order to perform their job effectively, which cannot otherwise be achieved via electronic methods and means; and/or
- (2) require daily access to classified information;
- (3) are part of trainee positions.

The Agency may, at any time, determine or re-determine whether job duties or positions are suitable for telework.

The Union may, at any time, request the Agency to review a position for determination on telework eligibility. In such cases, the Agency will have 21 calendar days to review the position and make a determination. The Agency's determination will be in writing. In the event there is no response from the Agency or a negative determination for telework which includes a written determination with specific business reasons for the denial, or where the Union disagrees with the Agency's determination, the Union may file a Step II or National Grievance, whichever is appropriate.

(c) EMPLOYEE ELIGIBILITY

An employee must meet the following eligibility requirements:

- (1) The employee is in a position that has been designated as suitable for telework;
- (2) The employee has signed a written telework agreement;
- (3) The employee has completed all mandatory telework training;
- (4) The Telework Enhancement Act of 2010 specifies two categories of Federal employees who cannot telework/remote work under this guidance:

- (A) An employee who has been officially disciplined for being absent without permission for more than five (5) workdays in any calendar year. “Official discipline” is disciplinary action that results in the placement of a document in an employee’s official personnel file (OPF); or
- (B) If the employee has been officially disciplined for violations of subpart G of the Standards of Ethical Conduct for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties (5 U.S.C. 6502(a)(2)(B)).
- (C) These bars on participation would remain in effect as long as the document stays in the employee’s OPF.

(d) TYPES OF TELEWORK

Telework is defined as core or episodic/situational, as described below. The number of days of telework is based upon workload requirements, ability to maintain effective communications in the workplace, implementation of new work processes, and accomplishment of the mission of the Agency. The Agency has the sole discretion to determine the number of days per week a teleworker is approved to work.

- (1) Core Telework. The employee teleworks on a routine, regular, and recurring basis.
- (2) Episodic or Situational Telework. The employee teleworks on an occasional, non-routine, irregular basis. Episodic or /situational telework for COOP and emergency response purposes will be executed in accordance with applicable laws, rules, regulations, and collectively bargained procedures.

(e) SCHEDULED IN-OFFICE DAYS

- (1) All telework approved employees must have a minimum of two (2) regularly scheduled in-office days at the Agency worksite where they are assigned (as reflected on the approved G-1129 or successor form) per two-week pay period.
- (2) Employees without a business or administrative need to report to the Agency worksite may request unscheduled telework for their scheduled in-office day, subject to management approval.
- (3) For employees who have an operational or administrative need to report to the Agency worksite on their scheduled in-office day (i.e., exchange physical immigration files or meet with supervisor), after all operational and administrative requirements are met, supervisors may approve unscheduled telework for the remainder of the employee’s scheduled workday to be completed at the employees approved alternate worksite. With management approval, employees may start their scheduled in-office day at their alternate worksite, schedule a time to report to the Agency worksite to complete all operational and administrative requirements, and return to their alternate worksite to complete their scheduled workday.

- (4) All travel to and from the Agency worksite, for voluntary employee requested unscheduled telework, will not be duty time. Employees may use multiple flex periods to cover travel time.

(f) TELEWORK APPLICATIONS AND AGREEMENTS

An eligible employee's request to telework for a specific period of time will be approved to the maximum extent possible, as long as approval does not diminish employee performance or agency operations.

(1) Application.

In order to participate in any type of telework as described above, an employee must submit a telework application. Employees may apply for telework at any time.

Employees must include Form G-1129A or successor form, Employee Certification of Safety for the Telework Program, with their telework application.

(2) Decision.

Within fourteen (14) calendar days of receipt of the telework application, the employee's immediate supervisor, or designee, will provide a written decision to the employee by completing Section C of the G-1129 Telework Application. The supervisor or designee will maintain the signed and approved original Agreement and provide a copy to the employee.

If an application is denied, the reason for denial will be clearly documented in writing on the Form G-1129 and a copy will be provided to the employee.

(3) Denials Due to Agency Constraints.

When it is not possible for Management to approve all telework requests due to a lack of government furnished equipment, employees will be ranked in accordance with the Seniority Article of this Agreement or the applicable local agreement for Seniority.

(4) Expiration.

Individual telework agreements will expire one calendar year after the date specified in Section C of the Form G-1129, Telework Application.

(g) GOVERNMENT FURNISHED EQUIPMENT (GFE)

In addition to office supplies routinely used at the traditional worksite, the Agency will provide all necessary GFE, as determined by the Agency, to accomplish work assignments.

Supervisors will approve Administrative Time for employees to resolve issues related to GFE such as training, installation, configuration, and repair services.

(h) COSTS

Except for providing and maintaining GFE, the Agency will not be responsible for operating costs (such as telephone line usage fees, internet installation or connection fees, and monthly service charges), maintenance, or any other costs incurred by the employee as a result of the employee's voluntary participation in the telework program.

(i) ALTERNATIVE WORKSITE

(1) Minimum Requirements.

Employees must have a designated workspace or workstation for performance of their work. Employees are responsible for ensuring that the alternative worksite:

(A) Has internet access; and

(B) Has a designated location in which Sensitive But Unclassified (SBU) materials must be stored under lock and key, when not in use. Examples of sufficient access control measures include a locked room, desk drawer, safe, and/or file cabinet.

These requirements may be waived at the discretion of the Supervisor/Manager depending on the specific nature of the work to be performed at the alternative worksite.

(2) Handling Sensitive Materials.

(A) Teleworkers must comply with the Privacy Act of 1974 (the "Privacy Act"), codified in 5 U.S.C. § 552a, by ensuring that sensitive data are not disclosed to anyone except those who are authorized access to such information and have a need-to-know in order to perform their duties. Employees must demonstrate that the appropriate administrative, technical, and physical safeguards are available at their telework locations to ensure the security and confidentiality of records protected by the Privacy Act.

(B) Files, materials, and equipment shall be handled in accordance with the Agency policies for safeguarding property and sensitive information. If an employee transports files to the alternative worksite, before leaving the traditional worksite, the employee must update the RAILS System (or its equivalent) to reflect that the files are located at the employee's alternative worksite.

(C) Employees may not remove classified data from the traditional worksites to alternative worksite locations.

(j) REPORTING TO THE TRADITIONAL WORKSITE

Employees who telework must be available to work at the traditional worksite on telework days, if necessitated by work requirements. Requests by employees to change scheduled telework days in a particular week or bi-weekly pay period may, to the greatest extent possible, be accommodated by the supervisor consistent with mission requirements.

(1) Employer Request.

Employees may be required to report to their traditional worksite for scheduled trainings, conferences, meetings, or to perform work on a short-term basis that cannot otherwise be performed at the alternative worksite or accomplished via telephone or other reasonable alternative methods. When requested, employees who telework must be available to report to the traditional worksite on telework. Supervisors will make every effort to provide at least 24 hours' notice in such cases.

Separate from an emergency file recall, when advance notice of 24 hours or more is not possible, employees will be provided a reasonable amount of time, to include time to make arrangements and travel, to report to the traditional worksite.

Employees should make every reasonable effort to report as soon as possible. The employee will provide the Agency with an expected amount of time needed to report to the office. The normal commute time for such employees will be taken into consideration in the event they are required to report to the traditional worksite on short notice. In cases in which employees are called into the traditional worksite without 24 hours' notice, employees will be afforded the opportunity to start their regular workday from their alternate worksite before being granted duty time to travel to the traditional worksite in conjunction with service needs and consistent with management's rights.

(2) Employee Request.

Requests by the employee to work at the traditional worksite on scheduled telework days may be accommodated by the supervisor consistent with mission requirements and workspace availability. A permanent change in the telework arrangement must be reflected in the form of a new telework agreement.

(3) Work Interruption.

Before participating in the telework program, all employees and their immediate supervisors will identify tasks that could be completed at the alternative worksite when there is a temporary limitation related to working at the alternate worksite, such as a local power failure, that impacts an employee's ability to complete work on an assigned project. Employees will promptly inform supervisors whenever problems such as equipment failure, power outages, and telecommunications difficulties adversely affect their ability to work at the alternative worksite. In such cases, the employee may be required to report to the traditional worksite or, if requested by the employee and approved by the supervisor, may take appropriate leave.

(k) SUSPENSION OR TERMINATION OF TELEWORK AGREEMENT

(1) Procedures.

- (A) Supervisors or managers may suspend or terminate a telework agreement for the reasons specified below. Unless legitimate business reasons dictate otherwise, the supervisor or manager will provide written notice to the employee at least fourteen (14) calendar days before suspension or termination of a telework agreement. The written notice of suspension or termination will inform the employee when they may re-apply for, or resume telework.
- (B) Outside of an emergent situation, an employee may terminate a telework agreement for any reason by giving written notice to their supervisor at least fourteen (14) calendar days in advance. In such cases, the employee may be assigned a temporary workspace at the traditional worksite until such time as permanent workspace becomes available.
- (C) Regardless of which party initiates termination, the reason for termination will be documented in Part 2 of the Form G-1129, Telework Agreement.

(2) Reasons.

Managers or supervisors may suspend or terminate participation in telework for the following reasons:

- (A) The employee no longer meets the eligibility requirements;
- (B) The employee has breached the telework agreement;
- (C) The telework arrangement diminishes Agency operations;
- (D) On three or more occasions in a twelve (12) month period, the employee fails to contact a manager or supervisor within two (2) hours of the manager's or supervisor's request by email and phone. The responding party must attempt to make contact by phone (text message) or email. However, if contact is made by phone and the party is not reached, the individual initiating contact must leave a voicemail or text message indicating the date and time of the call. Employees are expected to be as available at the alternate worksite as they are at the traditional worksite.
- (E) Reassignment causes a change of work such that the duties cannot reasonably be performed at the alternate worksite. If the reassignment of job duties is permanent, then the telework agreement must be terminated. If the reassignment is temporary, the supervisor or manager may suspend participation in telework for the duration of the project or assignment. Upon completion of the temporary assignment, the employee may resume telework under the original agreement without submitting a new application, provided that the agreement has not expired. The supervisor or manager will determine whether a telework agreement is terminated or suspended as a result of reassignment on a case-by-case basis.

(F) The alternate worksite did not pass a site inspection.

- i. When an alternate worksite fails to pass a site inspection, a supervisor will notify the employee of the failure to pass the site inspection and provide the employee and the employee's Local Union upon request with a copy of the inspection results and specific reason for the failure of the inspection upon request. At the same time, the supervisor will notify the employee of the intent to suspend or terminate the telework agreement fourteen (14) calendar days from the date of the notification.
- ii. Employee rebuttals will be submitted to their immediate supervisor for consideration no later than seven (7) calendar days after issuance of the negative site inspection report. Employees may ask a Union representative for assistance in preparing a rebuttal. Employee rebuttals may include a statement or that the reason for failure to pass a site inspection has been fully remediated, and/or the violation(s) was determined to be unfounded. The supervisor has discretion to extend the rebuttal period for good cause.
- iii. The supervisor will make a final determination no later than seven (7) calendar days after receipt of any rebuttal received or, if no rebuttal received, within fourteen (14) calendar days of the initial notice of failed inspection.
- iv. If the reason the alternate worksite did not pass a site inspection poses an immediate threat to the employee's safety or reveals a failure to comply with privacy protection requirements, the employee may be required to return to the traditional worksite even during the rebuttal period. The employee must be given a reasonable period of time to make necessary arrangements.

(I) EARLY DISMISSALS AND OFFICE CLOSURE

Telework allows a greater number of Federal employees to work during emergency situations and allows the Federal Government to maximize operational efficiency to the extent practicable without compromising the safety of its employees and the general public during heavy snow accumulation, significant road closures due to various events, and other emergency situations.

(1) Emergency Closure of Traditional Worksite.

If the traditional worksite closes due to an emergency (such as inclement weather, pandemic health crisis, and man-made or natural disasters) a telework-ready-employee (an employee with an approved telework agreement and the work and equipment necessary to perform duties) is required to telework, consistent with Agency policy.

If the traditional worksite is subject to early dismissal due to an emergency, employees who are on scheduled telework during that timeframe who are able to perform their assigned work at the alternate worksite, are expected to continue working or request appropriate leave, unless instructed otherwise by the designated Supervisor/Manager.

(2) Non-Emergency.

When the office announces an early dismissal of employees for non-emergency conditions, employees who are scheduled to telework during that same time will be excused from work.

(m) ALTERNATIVE WORKSITE INSPECTIONS

Employees are responsible for allowing for inspections of the alternate worksite, if required by the organization to which they are assigned. Virtual inspections are encouraged.

Standards for home (alternative work site) inspections:

- (1) The inspections will be conducted by Management officials only.
- (2) At the request of the employee under inspection, a Union representative will be allowed to attend the inspection.
- (3) Management will provide reasonable advance notice to employees of not less than two (2) hours.
- (4) The focus of the inspection will be limited to only the designated work area including the designated lockable work storage area(s).
- (5) Upon request, the employee will be provided a copy of the completed site inspection check list or report. The check list or report will include only information that is germane to the compliance inspection.

(n) SHARED WORKSPACE

Telework participants may be required to share workspace at the traditional worksite with other staff members or be assigned to varying workstations on the days they work at the traditional worksite. These shared workspace arrangements will be subject to Local bargaining upon request of the Local Union.

(o) LOCAL SUPPLEMENTAL BARGAINING

The Parties agree that telework may be implemented throughout the Agency consistent with the terms of this Agreement. By mutual agreement or where otherwise required by law, the Parties will negotiate additional telework procedures consistent with this Agreement.

List of Negotiated Agreements Pertaining to Telework/ Remote Work

Subject: Non-Professional Collective Bargaining Agreement

1. USCIS – NCISC 119 Collective Bargaining Agreement (Article 29).

Subject: Telework/Remote

2. EXA LSS Telework MOA

Subject: Local Supplemental Agreements

3. LSA Between USCIS District C32 and AFGE locals 1616, 3928, & 4014
4. LSA Between USCIS District C34 and AFGE locals 46, 2718, & 3928
5. LSA Between NBC District and AFGE

Subject: Multiple Subjects

6. Community Relations Officers Realignment to EXA MOA
7. SCOPS National Supplemental Agreement

Subject: Reasonable Accommodations

8. Negotiated Agreement for OEOI Reasonable Accommodations MOA

Subject: Reassignment

9. FOD ISO ASC Center Transition MOA

Subject: Relocation

10. SCOPS California Center Relocation MOA

Subject: Southwest Boarder Protection Screenings

11. RAIO SWBP Screenings Asylum Details MOA

Subject: Telework and Workspace Sharing

12. Dallas District 33 and Local 3377 Hoteling Telework MOA

Subject: Work Schedules

13. EXA CRO Work Schedule MOA

Subject: Professional Collective Bargaining Agreement

14. AFGE Local 511 Collective Bargaining Agreement (Article 17)

Excerpts of Negotiated Agreements pertaining to Telework/Remote Work

1. USCIS – NCISC 119 Collective Bargaining Agreement – October 1, 2022

ARTICLE 29 – TELEWORK

(a) GENERAL

(1) The Parties agree that telework is an important and critical business model to USCIS that should be utilized to the maximum extent possible.

(2) Telework is a voluntary program that is authorized when an employee's officially assigned duties can be performed at an alternate location and the criteria specified in this Article can be met. The purpose of this Article is to ensure that eligible employees may participate in telework, if the employee so chooses, to the maximum extent possible without diminishing the employee's performance or mission accomplishment. Participation in a telework arrangement is not an employee right.

(3) The Parties recognize that core and episodic/situational telework arrangements benefit employees and the Agency by, among other things, providing for Continuity of Operations (COOP). Teleworkers may be called upon to telework during times of COOP and are responsible for being familiar with Agency and workgroup COOP plans and individual expectations during COOP events.

(4) Teleworkers may not provide dependent care for children and/or other family members during work hours while participating in a telework arrangement; teleworkers must make other arrangements for dependent care. This provision shall not be interpreted to mean that such family members may not be present in the teleworker's alternative work site during times of telework.

(5) Telework and work schedule flexibilities can provide employees with the flexibility to manage their work-life balance. Managers and supervisors should consider individual employee needs while ensuring that telework does not diminish Agency operations.

(6) USCIS employees who telework continue to be bound by DHS and USCIS standards of conduct and policies while working at the alternative worksite and/or using government furnished equipment. Teleworkers shall be treated the same as those working at the traditional worksite for all work-related purposes.

(7) The use of electronic communications technologies and systems may be required to promote effective communication when an employee is on duty. The specific uses of such electronic communication technologies and systems must be bargained with the Union prior to implementation of the use of the electronic communication technology and/or systems as required by laws, government wide-rules and regulations, and Executive Orders.

(8) Employees with a disability who are not eligible or approved for telework under the Telework Program may be entitled to telework as a form of reasonable

(b) POSITION ELIGIBILITY

The Agency will determine which positions are suitable for telework. The Agency will review these determinations on a recurring basis to ensure that positions are included in the telework program to the maximum extent possible, and will communicate any determination changes to affected employees, the Council, and the Local Union(s) of the affected employees. Agency telework position eligibility decisions are made by the actual duties and tasks performed by the position. The appropriate Agency Approving Official or designee is responsible for determining "Position-related" eligibility. The Agency will identify the Agency Approving Official(s), in advance, to the Union. The Parties recognize that some positions are not eligible for telework. These positions involve tasks that are not suitable to be performed away from the traditional work site, including, but not limited to, tasks that:

- (1) require the employee to have daily face-to-face contact with colleagues, clients, or the general public in order to perform their job effectively, which cannot otherwise be achieved via electronic methods and means; and/or
- (2) require daily access to classified information;
- (3) are part of trainee positions.

The Agency may, at any time, determine or re-determine whether job duties or positions are suitable for telework.

The Union may, at any time, request the Agency to review a position for determination on telework eligibility. In such cases, the Agency will have 21 calendar days to review the position and make a determination. The Agency's determination will be in writing. In the event there is no response from the Agency or a negative determination for telework which includes a written determination with specific business reasons for the denial, or where the Union disagrees with the Agency's determination, the Union may file a Step II or National Grievance, whichever is appropriate.

(c) EMPLOYEE ELIGIBILITY

An employee must meet the following eligibility requirements:

- (1) The employee is in a position that has been designated as suitable for telework;
- (2) The employee has signed a written telework agreement;
- (3) The employee has completed all mandatory telework training;
- (4) The Telework Enhancement Act of 2010 specifies two categories of Federal employees who cannot telework/remote work under this guidance:

(A) An employee who has been officially disciplined for being absent without permission for more than five (5) workdays in any calendar year. "Official discipline" is disciplinary action that results in the placement of a document in an employee's official personnel file (OPF); or

(B) If the employee has been officially disciplined for violations of subpart G of the Standards of Ethical Conduct for viewing, downloading, or exchanging pornography, including child pornography, on a Federal Government computer or while performing official Federal Government duties (5 U.S.C. 6502(a)(2)(B)).

(C) These bars on participation would remain in effect as long as the document stays in the employee's OPF.

(d) TYPES OF TELEWORK

Telework is defined as core or episodic/situational, as described below. The number of days of telework is based upon workload requirements, ability to maintain effective communications in the workplace, implementation of new work processes, and accomplishment of the mission of the Agency. The Agency has the sole discretion to determine the number of days per week a teleworker is approved to work.

- (1) Core Telework. The employee teleworks on a routine, regular, and recurring basis.
- (2) Episodic or Situational Telework. The employee teleworks on an occasional, non-routine, irregular basis. Episodic or /situational telework for COOP and emergency response purposes will be executed in accordance with applicable laws, rules, regulations, and collectively bargained procedures.

(e) SCHEDULED IN-OFFICE DAYS

(1) All telework approved employees must have a minimum of two (2) regularly scheduled in-office days at the Agency worksite where they are assigned (as reflected on the approved G-1129 or successor form) per two-week pay period.

(2) Employees without a business or administrative need to report to the Agency worksite may request unscheduled telework for their scheduled in-office day, subject to management approval.

(3) For employees who have an operational or administrative need to report to the Agency worksite on their scheduled in-office day (i.e., exchange physical immigration files or meet with supervisor), after all operational and administrative requirements are met, supervisors may approve unscheduled telework for the remainder of the employee's scheduled workday to be completed at the employees approved alternate worksite. With management approval, employees may start their scheduled in-office day at their alternate worksite, schedule a time to report to the Agency worksite to complete all operational and administrative requirements, and return to their alternate worksite to complete their scheduled workday.

(4) All travel to and from the Agency worksite, for voluntary employee requested unscheduled telework, will not be duty time. Employees may use multiple flex periods to cover travel time.

(f) TELEWORK APPLICATIONS AND AGREEMENTS

An eligible employee's request to telework for a specific period of time will be approved to the maximum extent possible, as long as approval does not diminish employee performance or agency operations.

(1) Application.

In order to participate in any type of telework as described above, an employee must submit a telework application. Employees may apply for telework at any time.

Employees must include Form G-1129A or successor form, Employee Certification of Safety for the Telework Program, with their telework application.

(2) Decision.

Within fourteen (14) calendar days of receipt of the telework application, the employee's immediate supervisor, or designee, will provide a written decision to the employee by completing Section C of the G-1129 Telework Application. The supervisor or designee will maintain the signed and approved original Agreement and provide a copy to the employee.

If an application is denied, the reason for denial will be clearly documented in writing on the Form G-1129 and a copy will be provided to the employee.

(3) Denials Due to Agency Constraints.

When it is not possible for Management to approve all telework requests due to a lack of government furnished equipment, employees will be ranked in accordance with the Seniority Article of this Agreement or the applicable local agreement for Seniority.

(4) Expiration.

